

BEFORE THE OFFICE OF THE CO-INVESTIGATING JUDGES EXTRAORDINARY CHAMBERS IN THE COURTS OF CAMBODIAFILING DETAILS*Case No: 003/07-09-2009/ECCC/OCIJParty Filing: International Co-ProsecutorFiled to: The Co-Investigating JudgesOriginal Language: EnglishDate of Document: 14 November 2017CLASSIFICATION*Classification of the document suggested by the filing party:CONFIDENTIAL WITH 14 CONFIDENTIAL ANNEXESClassification by OCIJ:

សម្ងាត់/Confidential

Classification Status:Review of Interim Classification:*Records Officer Name:*Signature:

INTERNATIONAL CO-PROSECUTOR'S RULE 66 FINAL SUBMISSION

Filed by: International Co-Prosecutor Nicholas KOUMJIAN Copied to: National Co-Prosecutor CHEA Leang	Distributed to: Co-Investigating Judges Judge YOU Bunleng Judge Michael BOHLANDER All Civil Party Lawyers in Case 003	Co-Lawyers for Charged person Meas Muth ANG Udom Michael KARNAVAS
-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------	------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

TABLE OF CONTENTS

I. INTRODUCTION.....	1
II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY	2
Opening of an Investigation	2
Changes of Investigating Judges during the Investigation	3
2011 Notice that the Judicial Investigation had Concluded	3
Disagreements between the Co-Investigating Judges	4
Legal Representation of Meas Muth and Access to the Case File.....	5
Charging Meas Muth	6
Investigative Involvement.....	7
Call for Submissions.....	8
Reduction of Charges.....	8
Closure of the Investigation	9
Outstanding Litigation	10
Evidence on Case File 003.....	11
III. MEAS MUTH’S ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITY.....	11
1. Meas Muth’s Personal Background and Pre-1975 Role	11
2. Meas Muth’s DK Role	12
Member of the CPK.....	12
Member of the Central Committee.....	13
Deputy Secretary of the General Staff	13
Secretary of Division 164	15
Secretary of Kampong Som Autonomous Sector.....	18
Effective control.....	19
3. Meas Muth’s Contributions to Crimes	22
Participation in Persecution and Execution of Enemies	22
Overview	22
RAK.....	23
a) RAK Centre Divisions & Independent Regiments.....	23
b) Division 164.....	26
c) Division 117 & Sector 505.....	29
Vietnamese	31
Thais and Westerners.....	35
Division 164 Security Centres	36
a) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre.....	37
b) Toek Sap Security Centre	38
S-21 Security Centre.....	39
a) RAK General Staff, Centre Divisions and Regiments	41
b) Kampong Som Sector and Sector 505.....	42
Participation in Enslavement at Worksites.....	43
Overview	43
a) Meas Muth’s Implementation of the Enslavement Policy.....	43
b) Meas Muth’s Knowledge of the Enslavement Conditions	45
Ream Worksites.....	46
Stung Hav Worksites	48
Participation in Forced Marriages & Rape.....	49
IV. DIVISION 164 (FORMER DIVISION 3) AUTHORITY STRUCTURE	51
Division 3 (1973/1974 – July 1975)	51
Division 164 (July 1975 – January 1979).....	53

Division 164 Committee.....	56
Composition and Role of Regiments 161, 162, 163 and of the Navy (Regiment 140).....	57
a) Regiment 161 (formerly Regiment 20).....	57
b) Regiment 162 (formerly Regiment 21).....	58
c) Regiment 163 (formerly Regiment 22).....	59
d) Independent Naval Regiment 140.....	61
Independent Battalions.....	63
a) Battalion 165 (Special Forces, formerly Battalion 450).....	63
b) Battalions 166, 167, 168, 169 and 170.....	64
259. Battalion 168 was the largest independent battalion, with 730 to 840 soldiers, and was in charge of transportation.	64
V. COMMUNICATIONS.....	65
1. Introduction	65
2. Internal Communication Within Division 164	65
Radio.....	68
Telegram.....	69
Telephone.....	70
Messengers.....	71
Meetings.....	71
Radar Facilities.....	72
3. Communication Between Division 164 and the Centre	73
4. Communication Between Division 164 and Other Divisions	74
Communication Between Division 164 and Division 1.....	74
Communication Between Division 164 and Division 117.....	75
VI. INTERNATIONAL ARMED CONFLICT.....	75
VII. CPK POLICIES RELEVANT TO THE CASE AGAINST MEAS MUTH.....	77
Elimination of Enemies and Opposition to CPK Leadership.....	78
Agrarian, Economic, and Social Policies.....	79
Establishment of Cooperatives and Worksites.....	79
Forced Marriage and Rape.....	81
VIII. CRIMES AND CRIME SITES.....	82
A. PURGES WITHIN DIVISION 164.....	82
1. The CPK/RAK Policy to Purge The Internal Enemies and Meas Muth's Intent to Purge the Ranks of Division 164	82
2. Screening the Division 164 Soldiers Through Their Biographies	85
3. Categories of Bad and Affiliated Elements Within Division 164 that Were Purged	86
a) Division 3 Soldiers Captured and Detained in Vietnam in 1975.....	86
b) Deserters / Defectors (throughout the Regime).....	87
c) Soldiers "Affiliated" with the former Khmer Republic Regime.....	87
d) Perceived "Traitors" within Division 164 and their Networks.....	87
The Sector 37 (former Battalion 386) Network under Chey Han alias Chhan, Division 164 Committee Member.....	89
The East Zone (Sector 22) Network under Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, Division 164 Deputy Commander.....	91
a) Other Ties with Foreign Countries.....	93
b) Serious and Minor Offences.....	94
4. Reintegration of Some Purged Soldiers into Division 164 only to Fight the Vietnamese	95
B. CRIMES COMMITTED AGAINST THOSE CAPTURED BY THE DK NAVY IN WATERS AND ON ISLANDS CLAIMED BY DEMOCRATIC KAMPUCHEA.....	95
1. Overview	95

2.	Division 164 Orders and Communication Regarding the Capture of Foreign Boats / Nationals at Sea	97
3.	Role of Division 1 in Arrests	99
4.	Meas Muth's Orders Regarding Vietnamese Nationals	99
	Meas Muth's Orders regarding Thai Nationals	101
	Meas Muth's Orders regarding Other Non-Cambodian Nationals	101
	Arrest and Transfer	102
5.	Crimes	104
	Murder, Wilful Killing, and Extermination	104
	a) Killing at Sea	105
	b) Killing on the Islands	105
	c) Killings in Kampong Som	108
	d) Killings at S-21	109
6.	Frequency of Arrests and Killings	111
C.	DIVISION 164 SECURITY CENTRES	112
1.	Security Centre Network	112
	a) Within Kampong Som	112
	b) Wider DK Network	112
2.	Arrests and Detention in Division 164 Security Centres	113
	Execution of Arrests	113
	Lack of Due Process	115
3.	Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre	116
	Location, Site Description and Operation	116
	Period of Operation	116
	Authority Structure	116
	Crimes	118
	Imprisonment	118
	a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers	118
	b) Civilians	119
	c) Foreigners	120
	d) Women and Children	120
	Inhumane Treatment	121
	Torture	123
	Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances	124
4.	Toek Sap Security Centre	125
	Location, Site Description and Operation	125
	Period of Operation	126
	Authority Structure & Communication	126
	Crimes	128
	Imprisonment and Unlawful Confinement	128
	a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers	128
	b) Civilians in the Kampong Som Region	129
	c) Foreigners Captured at Sea	130
	d) Children	130
	Inhumane Treatment and Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury	131
	Torture	133
	Murder, Wilful Killing, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances	134
	Persecution on Political Grounds - Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap	135
	a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers	136
	b) New (17 April) People and Those with Ties to the Lon Nol Regime	136
	c) Foreigners	136
	d) Khmer Krom	136
D.	S-21 SECURITY CENTRE	137
1.	Introduction	137

2.	Location and Operation	137
3.	Authority Structure & Communication	138
	Within the Security Office	138
	Relationship with the General Staff	138
4.	Meas Muth's Responsibility for Prisoners Sent to S-21	139
5.	Crimes	146
	Imprisonment and Unlawful Confinement.....	146
	a) Deprivation of Liberty of Persons Sent to S-21	146
	b) Lack of Due Process	146
	c) Documentation of Prisoner Entries	147
	Other Inhumane Acts, Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury.....	147
	Interrogations and Use of Torture	149
	a) Systematic Use of Torture During S-21 Interrogations.....	149
	b) Methods & Forms of Torture Used at S-21.....	150
	c) Injuries Inflicted on Prisoners During Interrogations.....	151
	d) Use of Torture to Obtain Confessions.....	152
	e) Interrogation and Torture of Prisoners Sent to S-21by Meas Muth	152
	Murder, Extermination, and Wilful Killing.....	153
	a) Systematic Killing of Prisoners Sent to S-21 on a Massive Scale.....	153
	b) Executions at S-21 Compound and Takhmau	153
	c) Executions at Choeung Ek	154
E.	STUNG HAV WORKSITES	156
1.	Site Description	156
2.	Authority Structure	158
3.	Crimes	160
	Enslavement.....	160
	Persecution on Political Grounds	162
	Murder and Enforced Disappearances	165
	Unlawful Imprisonment and Torture.....	166
	Other Inhumane Acts	168
	a) Inhumane Treatment	168
F.	REAM AREA WORKSITES	169
1.	Site Description	169
2.	Authority Structure	172
3.	Crimes	176
	Enslavement.....	176
	Persecution on Political Grounds	179
	a) Demobilised Cadres	180
	b) 17 April People	183
	c) Khmer Krom	183
	Murder, Extermination and Enforced Disappearances.....	183
	a) Durian I Execution Site.....	188
	b) Durian II Execution Site	189
	c) C.I. Execution Site.....	190
	Other Inhumane Acts (Inhumane Treatment).....	191
G.	GENOCIDE OF THE VIETNAMESE	194
1.	Introduction	194
2.	The Vietnamese as a Distinct Ethnic Group	194
	Genocidal Policy Against the Vietnamese	194
	Deport and Smash: The CPK Policy to Destroy the Vietnamese.....	195
	Not a Military Target: The Destruction of the Ethnic Vietnamese	197
	Evidence of the CPK's Animus towards the Vietnamese as an Ethnic Group.....	198

Implementation of the Genocidal Policy Against the Vietnamese	201
Deportation of the Vietnamese	201
Killings of the Vietnamese	202
a) Identifying the Vietnamese Population	203
b) Digging the Root: The CPK's Matrilineal Targeting of Vietnamese	204
Killings Throughout Democratic Kampuchea	204
Meas Muth's Implementation of the Genocide Policy	205
a) Orders to Kill Vietnamese in Division 164	205
b) Meas Voeun's Corroboration of Orders to Kill all Vietnamese	206
c) Killings of Vietnamese Carried Out by Division 164 Personnel – Victims Captured at Sea	208
d) Killings of Vietnamese from Kratie at S-21 during the period Meas Muth controlled Sector 505	209
H. FORCED MARRIAGE AND RAPE	210
1. Introduction	210
2. Establishment of the National Forced Marriage Policy	210
Concept of the Revolutionary Family	211
Need for Population Growth	212
3. Implementation of the National Forced Marriage Policy	213
Organisation	213
Marriages were Forced	213
The Ceremony	215
Rape within Forced Marriage (Forced Consummation)	215
Separation	216
4. Implementation of the Policy in the Kampong Som Area	216
Communication of the CPK Marriage Policy within Division 164 and within Kampong Som Sector	216
Arrangement and Notification	218
a) Organisation	218
b) Ceremony	219
c) Lack of Consent	220
d) Forced Consummation (Rape)	221
e) Physical and Mental Trauma Suffered by the Victims in Kampong Som Sector	222
5. Conclusion	222
I. PURGE OF DIVISION 117 AND SECTOR 505	222
1. Introduction	222
2. Authority Structure	224
Sector 505 (Kratie Province)	224
Division 117	225
3. Purge, Replace, Control	226
4. The Purge Continues	229
5. Crimes	229
Imprisonment	229
Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances	230
Persecution on Political Grounds	231
IX. LAW	231
A. CRIMES	231
1. Genocide	232
The Protected Group	232
Actus Reus	235
Killing Members of the Group	235
Mens Rea	235
a) Intent to Destroy the Group "As Such"	235
b) In Whole or in Part	240

c)	Establishing Intent	240
d)	Applicable Modes of Responsibility	241
2.	Crimes Against Humanity	242
General Requirements.....		243
Attack		243
Widespread or Systematic		243
Directed Against any Civilian Population.....		243
Jurisdictional Restriction		245
Nexus between Acts of the Perpetrator and the Attack		245
Specific Offences		246
Murder		246
Extermination		247
Enslavement		248
Imprisonment.....		249
Torture.....		250
Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds		252
a)	An Act or Omission that Denies or Infringes upon a Fundamental Right.....	252
b)	Discrimination in Fact.....	253
c)	Mens Rea	254
Other Inhumane Acts		254
a)	Inhumane Treatment	256
b)	Attacks against Human Dignity due to Conditions of Detention	256
c)	Forced Marriage.....	257
d)	Rape.....	258
e)	Enforced Disappearances	259
f)	Forced Labour.....	260
3.	Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions	261
General Requirements.....		261
International Armed Conflict.....		261
Protected Persons.....		262
Awareness of Factual Circumstances		263
Specific Offences		263
Wilful Killing		263
Torture or Inhuman Treatment.....		263
Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury to Body or Health.....		264
Wilful Deprivation of a Fair and Regular Trial.....		264
Unlawful Confinement of a Civilian.....		265
B.	MODES OF RESPONSIBILITY	265
1.	Individual Criminal Responsibility	266
Committed		266
a)	Actus Reus	266
b)	Mens Rea	270
Planned		270
Instigated.....		271
Ordered		272
Aided and Abetted		273
2.	Superior Responsibility	274
Superior-Subordinate Relationship		274
Knew or Had Reasons to Know		275
Failure to Prevent or Punish.....		276
C.	STANDARD OF PROOF REQUIRED FOR INCIDENT	276
D.	PERSONAL JURISDICTION	278
1.	Most Responsible	279

2. Senior Leaders.....	280
X. NATIONAL CRIMES AND CRIMES NOT CHARGED.....	280
Crimes under the 1956 Cambodian Penal Code.....	280
Crimes and Modes of Liability Not Previously Charged	281
XI. SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION	282
A. CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY	282
Attack Against a Civilian Population.....	282
Widespread or Systematic	283
Discriminatory Grounds	283
Meas Muth's Knowledge of the Attack.....	284
B. GRAVE BREACHES OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS	284
International Armed Conflict.....	284
Protected Persons.....	285
Awareness of Armed Conflict	286
XII. PERSONAL JURISDICTION.....	286
1. Senior Leader	287
2. Most Responsible.....	288
XIII. INDIVIDUAL CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY	295
A. OVERVIEW	295
B. MODES OF LIABILITY	296
1. Committing via Joint Criminal Enterprise	296
Contribution to the Persecution and Execution of Enemies	298
Within Division 164	299
Within Division 117 and Sector 505.....	300
Of Vietnamese	301
Of Thais and Westerners.....	302
In Connection with Crimes at the Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre	302
In Connection with Crimes at the Toek Sap Security Centre.....	303
In Connection with Crimes at the S-21 Security Centre	304
At All Places.....	304
Contribution to the Enslavement at Worksites.....	304
In Connection with Crimes at the Ream Area Worksites.....	305
In Connection with Crimes at the Stung Hav Worksites.....	306
At All Places.....	306
Contribution to the Forced Marriages and Rapes.....	306
2. Planning, Instigating, Ordering, and Aiding and Abetting.....	308
3. Superior Responsibility.....	309
XIV. CHARGES.....	310

I. INTRODUCTION

1. Meas Muth was a powerful military and political leader during the Democratic Kampuchea regime. He was a member of the ruling party's Central Committee, Secretary of the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, leading authority in Autonomous Sector 505, Commander of the largest division in the DK's army, head of the DK Navy, and member of the General Staff of the armed forces, eventually rising to be one of only two deputies of that influential body.
2. This Submission details how the evidence brought to light by the Case 003 investigation shows that Meas Muth used his power to advance the criminal campaigns of the Khmer Rouge regime. In areas under Meas Muth's control, massive numbers of people were enslaved at worksites, arrested and imprisoned without any legal process, tortured, killed, and/or forced to marry and to consummate the marriage.
3. This Submission explains how the evidence shows that Meas Muth is criminally responsible for the killings, enslavement, arbitrary imprisonment, torture, inhumane treatment, disappearances, forced marriages, and rapes carried out by forces he commanded in the areas he controlled, acting with his knowledge and under his orders.
4. The Submission argues that because of the powerful positions he held, the gravity of the crimes committed, and the direct and critical role Meas Muth played in those crimes, he was clearly a senior leader and one of those most responsible for crimes during the DK regime, and therefore Meas Muth falls within the personal jurisdiction of the ECCC.
5. The ICP asks that the Co-Investigating Judges indict Meas Muth and send him for trial for the most serious crimes proven in the investigation, where the evidence of his guilt is extensive, using criminal charges that best describe his conduct and the suffering of the victims. The ICP recommends Meas Muth be charged with the crime of genocide; the crimes against humanity of extermination, murder, torture, imprisonment, enslavement, other inhumane acts that include forced marriage and rape, and persecution on political grounds; as well as grave breaches of the 1949 Geneva Conventions.

II. PROCEDURAL HISTORY

OPENING OF AN INVESTIGATION

6. On 10 July 2006, the Co-Prosecutors commenced preliminary investigations into crimes within the jurisdiction of the ECCC, pursuant to Rule 50.¹ The Co-Prosecutors conducted witness interviews, field investigations, and collected documentary evidence to determine whether crimes had been committed and to identify suspects and potential witnesses.
7. On 20 November 2008, having found that there was reason to believe that crimes within the jurisdiction of the ECCC were committed by two suspects affiliated with the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea, the then ICP filed the Second Introductory Submission requesting that a judicial investigation be conducted regarding the responsibility of Sou Met and Meas Muth for crimes under ECCC jurisdiction.² The Second Introductory Submission summarised the facts, the offences alleged, and the relevant provisions of the law that define and punish the alleged crimes. However, the NCP was of the view that consistent with the limited personal jurisdiction of the ECCC, no further suspects should be investigated beyond the five named in the First Introductory Submission.³
8. Given the disagreement between the ICP and NCP regarding whether to submit the Second Introductory Submission to the CIJs, the disagreement settlement procedure outlined in the Internal Rules was initiated.⁴ The disagreement was forwarded to the PTC, but as the PTC was unable to reach the supermajority necessary for a decision, the action of the single Co-Prosecutor was authorised to proceed in accordance with the Internal Rules.⁵
9. On 7 September 2009, the Acting ICP forwarded the Second Introductory Submission and the Case File to the CIJs to open a judicial investigation.⁶ The Case File included both inculpatory and exculpatory evidence and was comprised of more than 500 documents, including witness statements, DK reports, and telegrams. The CIJs then opened Case 003 and began investigative action.
10. The ICP subsequently clarified and/or expanded the scope of the investigation on two occasions. First he clarified that the CIJs were not seised of all RAK Division security centres or other crime sites, nor had it been intended to seise them to investigate Au

Kanseng Security Centre.⁷ On the second occasion, the ICP filed a supplementary submission clarifying the scope of the investigation regarding purges in Sector 505 (Kratie) and forced labour and executions in Ream Commune (Prey Nob District), and seising the CIJs to investigate forced marriages and the forced consummation of those marriages (rape) as Other Inhumane Acts.⁸

CHANGES OF INVESTIGATING JUDGES DURING THE INVESTIGATION

11. The Case 003 investigation commenced under NCIJ You Bunleng and ICIJ Marcel Lemonde.⁹ On 1 December 2010, Judge Lemonde was succeeded by Judge Siegfried Blunk, who subsequently resigned on 9 October 2011.¹⁰ Laurent Kasper-Ansermet was sworn in as the Reserve ICIJ before an ECCC plenary assembly on 21 February 2011¹¹ and tendered his resignation in March 2012 with effect from 4 May 2012.¹² On 26 October 2012, Judge Mark Harmon was sworn in as the ICIJ.¹³ In July 2015, Judge Harmon announced his resignation and was subsequently succeeded by the current ICIJ, Michael Bohlander.¹⁴

2011 NOTICE THAT THE JUDICIAL INVESTIGATION HAD CONCLUDED

12. On 29 April 2011, the CIJs notified the Co-Prosecutors that they considered the Case 003 judicial investigation concluded (“April 2011 Notice”).¹⁵ The ICP then issued a public statement announcing, inter alia, that he was of the view that the crimes alleged in the Introductory Submission had not yet been fully investigated and he intended to request further investigative actions.¹⁶ The ICP then submitted his requests and the CIJs rejected them twice, first on procedural grounds and later (after the ICP had remedied the procedural defect and re-filed the requests) for lack of personal jurisdiction.¹⁷ The ICP appealed both decisions.¹⁸ On 2 and 15 November 2011, the PTC declared that it had not assembled a vote of at least four judges to decide the appeals.¹⁹
13. Before the PTC considerations were rendered, ICIJ Blunk resigned.²⁰ On 2 December 2011, Reserve ICIJ Kasper-Ansermet reconsidered the admissibility of the ICP’s three investigative requests and stated that the judicial investigation appeared to be “defective and prejudicial to all parties; [and] deprived suspects, victims and the Prosecution of their rights”.²¹ He declared the ICP’s requests for investigative action admissible and ordered resumption of the judicial investigation.²²

DISAGREEMENTS BETWEEN THE CO-INVESTIGATING JUDGES

14. The CIJs had several disagreements during the Case 003 investigation. First, they disagreed about the Rogatory Letter in which the ICIJ outlined the parameters of an investigative mission and delegated it to OCIJ investigators.²³ Second, they disagreed on the ICIJ's Request for Clarification, which asked the ICP to clarify the scope of the investigation in regard to RAK Division security centres and Au Kanseng.²⁴
15. A third disagreement between the CIJs was registered on 7 February 2013, this time concerning the status of the investigation and the validity of certain documents placed on the Case File after Judge Blunk's resignation.²⁵ Also on that day, NCIJ You Bunleng issued a forwarding order to the Co-Prosecutors that referenced the April 2011 Notice of the conclusion of the judicial investigation and stated that in his view, the Case File included only documents that were placed on the file before Judge Blunk resigned.²⁶ ICIJ Harmon, on the other hand, stated that he had assessed the state of the investigation and had concluded that further investigation was necessary.²⁷ Judge Harmon then placed transcripts onto the Case File and authorised further investigative actions.²⁸ The next day, the ICP returned the Case File to the CIJs, stating that the investigation remained "manifestly incomplete", that Judge Harmon's actions rendered the April 2011 Notice without legal effect, that the investigation was deemed resumed by the CIJs, and that therefore the ICP could not lawfully take custody of the Case File or issue any Final Submission.²⁹
16. Later that month, the CIJs issued a public statement about the status of the Case File, noting their different views.³⁰ Faced again with this difference of opinion and in response to the NCIJ's statement that he would "also consider other submissions by the Co-Prosecutors that might be made within three months starting from 7 February 2013", the Co-Prosecutors requested clarification regarding the status of the Case File and whether to proceed in preparing a Final Submission.³¹ No clarification was issued and investigative acts continued.
17. On 16 July 2014, the parties were notified of a decision that for the first time referenced a fourth disagreement between the CIJs that had been registered on 22 February 2013.³² Two days later, Meas Muth's Co-Lawyers sent a letter to the CIJs requesting general information on the nature of both the 7 and 22 February 2013 disagreements and whether such disagreements were currently before the PTC.³³ Judge Harmon responded that disagreements are ex parte matters and he was not in a position to reveal their content or general nature, but he did clarify that the disagreements were not brought before the PTC for resolution.³⁴

18. A fifth disagreement between the CIJs was registered on 17 July 2014, which seemed to relate to the issuance of a summons for Meas Muth to initially appear before the ECCC to be charged.³⁵ Finally, a sixth disagreement was registered on 16 January 2017,³⁶ but the Parties have no information regarding its nature.

LEGAL REPRESENTATION OF MEAS MUTH AND ACCESS TO THE CASE FILE

19. The Defence Support Section (“DSS”) requested access to Case Files 003 and 004 in letters to the OCIJ on 29 July and 20 September 2010.³⁷ The CIJs responded that access could not be granted because Defence rights are only fully exercisable once a person is charged and becomes a party to the proceedings.³⁸ On 11 February 2011, the DSS notified the CIJs that Kong Sam Onn had been provisionally assigned to represent the interests of the unnamed suspects in Cases 003 and 004.³⁹ Three days after the notification, Kong Sam Onn requested access to the Case Files.⁴⁰ The CIJs rejected the request, finding that the suspects were not yet entitled to defence counsel or to access the Case Files.⁴¹
20. On 24 February 2012, the Reserve CIJ notified Sou Met and Meas Muth that they were being investigated for crimes committed within the jurisdiction of the ECCC and, as suspects, had the right, inter alia, to legal representation of their choice.⁴²
21. On 14 December 2012, a press statement informed the public that the DSS had assigned Ang Udom and Michael G. Karnavas (the “Co-Lawyers”) as defence counsel for a suspect in Case 003.⁴³ Four days later, the head of the DSS notified the CIJs that six months earlier, Meas Muth had selected the Co-Lawyers as his legal representatives and had waived any conflict of interest that might arise from representing him while also representing Ieng Sary in Case 002.⁴⁴
22. On 24 December 2012, the ICP requested that the CIJs reject the appointment of the Co-Lawyers because representing both Ieng Sary and Meas Muth created a conflict of interest.⁴⁵ On 30 June 2014, the PTC recognised Ang Udom and Michael Karnavas as Meas Muth's Co-Lawyers.⁴⁶

CHARGING MEAS MUTH

23. On 14 June 2013, Sou Met died, and the CIJs subsequently dismissed all criminal allegations against him that were before the ECCC,⁴⁷ leaving Meas Muth as the only suspect in Case 003.
24. On 26 November 2014, ICIJ Harmon summoned Meas Muth for an initial appearance on 8 December 2014 at the ECCC.⁴⁸ Meas Muth informed the ICIJ in a letter dated 2 December 2014 that he did not recognise the validity of a summons issued by only one CIJ.⁴⁹ The following day, the PTC issued a decision recognising the validity of a summons issued by a single CIJ,⁵⁰ but Meas Muth failed to appear at the hearing and Judge Harmon issued an arrest warrant against him.⁵¹
25. Meas Muth's Co-Lawyers filed an application requesting that the CIJs seise the PTC with a request to annul the summons,⁵² which was denied by the ICIJ for lack of standing.⁵³ The Co-Lawyers appealed the ICIJ's decision,⁵⁴ but the PTC was divided on whether Meas Muth had standing to appeal because he was still a suspect and not a charged person, and no decision was reached.⁵⁵ In a letter dated 30 January 2015, Judge Harmon stated that he would charge Meas Muth in absentia if he failed to appear before 18 February 2015 or if the arrest warrant had not been executed by that time.⁵⁶
26. Neither event occurred and, on 3 March 2015, Judge Harmon charged Meas Muth in absentia with violations of Articles 500, 501, and 506 of the 1956 Penal Code (torture and homicide); grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions; and the crimes against humanity of murder, extermination, enslavement, imprisonment, persecution, and other inhumane acts.⁵⁷ Upon issuance of the decision, Meas Muth's status changed from "suspect" to "charged person" and he became entitled to access the Case File and fully take part in the judicial investigation.⁵⁸ The Co-Lawyers appealed the decision to charge Meas Muth *in absentia*⁵⁹ and also challenged the Court's jurisdiction over the charges laid against him.⁶⁰
27. A week later, the Co-Lawyers requested that the ICIJ rescind the arrest warrant,⁶¹ but the ICIJ rendered it moot by superseding the old warrant with a new one that ordered the Judicial Police to bring Meas Muth before the ICIJ for an adversarial hearing regarding provisional detention.⁶² The Co-Lawyers then filed a request to the PTC to stay the execution of the new warrant pending a decision of the appeal against the ICIJ's decision to charge Meas Muth in absentia.⁶³ The PTC failed to reach a supermajority so the order to arrest Meas Muth remained in place.⁶⁴

28. On 14 December 2015, Meas Muth appeared before ICIJ Bohlander and was advised of his rights.⁶⁵ Judge Bohlander then charged Meas Muth with genocide, violations of Articles 501 and 506 of the 1956 Penal Code, grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions, and the crimes against humanity of extermination, murder, imprisonment, torture, enslavement, political and racial persecution, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment, attacks against human dignity due to conditions of detention, enforced disappearances, forced labour, forced marriage, and rape within the context of forced marriage).⁶⁶ Judge Bohlander announced that the charges he laid that day were the definitive version of the charges against Meas Muth and the charges previously laid in absentia were rendered moot.⁶⁷ He also advised Meas Muth that he may before the end of the investigation decide to charge Meas Muth with additional crimes based on allegations in the Second Introductory Submission, Supplementary Submission, or any future submissions from the OCP.⁶⁸ The arrest warrant of 4 June 2015 was also rescinded.⁶⁹
29. On 6 January 2016, the Co-Lawyers appealed the charges laid by Judge Bohlander,⁷⁰ but the PTC failed to reach a supermajority vote regarding admissibility⁷¹ and the charges stood.

INVESTIGATIVE INVOLVEMENT

30. The Co-Lawyers for Meas Muth have been actively involved in the judicial investigation of Case 003. For example, they filed 20 requests for the CIJs to perform specific investigative actions,⁷² three requests to receive the work product of OCIJ investigators,⁷³ four requests to clarify or vary investigative techniques being used by investigators,⁷⁴ 13 applications to seise the PTC with requests to annul the investigation in part,⁷⁵ and numerous requests to correct or clarify material already on the Case File.⁷⁶

31. The other Parties to Case 003 also participated in the judicial investigation. The Co-Lawyers for the Civil Parties filed one request for investigative action⁷⁷ while the Co-Prosecutors filed six.⁷⁸

CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

32. On 19 April 2016, ICIJ Bohlander invited the Parties in Cases 003 and 004 and any qualified persons or organisations to make submissions on the legal question of whether, under CIL applicable between 1975 and 1979, an attack by a state or organisation against members of its own armed forces could constitute an attack directed against a civilian population for the purpose of Article 5 of the ECCC Law.⁷⁹ On 19 May 2016, the ICP,⁸⁰ Ao An,⁸¹ Yim Tith,⁸² and Meas Muth⁸³ all filed submissions in response to the call for submissions, as did 11 amici curiae.⁸⁴ Yim Tith⁸⁵ and Meas Muth⁸⁶ filed Responses to the Amici Briefs.
33. On 7 February 2017, the ICIJ found that “under the law of crimes against humanity as it existed between 1975 and 1979, an attack by a state or organisation against its own armed forces amounted to an attack against a civilian population for the purpose of Article 5 of the ECCC Law”, provided the attacked armed forces were not allied with or otherwise providing militarily relevant support to an opposing side to an armed conflict.⁸⁷ Meas Muth appealed the ICIJ’s decision.⁸⁸ While the PTC unanimously found the appeal inadmissible because the Notice of Appeal had been filed after the prescribed deadline, the Chamber noted that timely appeals in the other cases were also found inadmissible because they did not constitute an appealable decision within the meaning of Rule 74(3), the relief sought was declaratory, and the impact of any ruling would be speculative.⁸⁹

REDUCTION OF CHARGES

34. On 16 March 2016, ICIJ Bohlander informed the Parties of his intention not to further investigate seven facts alleged in the Second Introductory Submission and invited the Parties to comment.⁹⁰ The seven facts were: all allegations relating to the S-22 security centre (Fact 1); all allegations relating to the Kampong Chhnang Airport Construction Site (Fact 2); allegations relating to crimes committed in Vietnam, with the exception of the islands claimed by DK and the eastern border region (Fact 3); all allegations relating to Prison 810 (Fact 4); allegations of crimes committed at other unidentified security centres operated by the RAK (Fact 5); all allegations relating to the Stung Tauch execution site (Fact 6); and all allegations relating to RAK involvement in the “purges” of the Central Zone, the New North Zone and the East Zone, excluding the alleged “purges” of members of the RAK units located in those areas (Fact 7).⁹¹

35. The Co-Lawyers immediately responded with their understanding of Rules 66*bis* and 67.⁹² On 29 April 2016, the ICP responded in support of the ICIJ’s intention not to further investigate Facts 1-7, but suggested that it was premature to determine the final application of Rule 66*bis* or 67 at this stage of the investigation.⁹³ The ICP also submitted that he would not object to the ICIJ also discontinuing investigations into the “purges” of Division 502 and 310 (“Fact 8”).⁹⁴ On 24 August 2016, the ICIJ informed the Parties that he would not further investigate Facts 1-7 but would continue to investigate Fact 8, and that the decision on dismissal pursuant to Rule 66*bis* or 67 would be taken at the conclusion of the investigation.⁹⁵
36. The ICIJ further notified the Parties on 22 November 2016 of his intention to exclude Facts 1, 2, 6, and 7 from the investigation pursuant to Rule 66*bis* at the conclusion of the investigation, opining that the remaining facts would be representative of the nature and scale of crimes and the categories of victims set forth in the Second Introductory Submission and Supplementary Submission.⁹⁶ The ICP did not object.⁹⁷ On 10 January 2017, Judge Bohlander notified the Parties that the judicial investigation had concluded and it was therefore appropriate to exclude Facts 1, 2, 6, and 7 from the investigation pursuant to Rule 66*bis*.⁹⁸

CLOSURE OF THE INVESTIGATION

37. On 10 January 2017, ICIJ Bohlander notified the Parties that he considered the judicial investigation in Case 003 to be concluded and granted them 30 days to file any further requests for investigative action.⁹⁹ The Parties filed several investigative requests, including requests to conduct an additional site visit and witness interviews.¹⁰⁰ After responding to these requests, on 24 May 2017, Judge Bohlander issued his second and final notification concluding the investigation against Meas Muth and informing the Parties that no further requests for investigative action may be filed.¹⁰¹

38. Judge Bohlander issued a Forwarding Order in English on 25 July 2017, inviting the Co-Prosecutors to file their final submissions within three months.¹⁰² On 8 August 2017, the ICP requested information on the expected date of notification of the Khmer version of the Forwarding Order pursuant to Rule 66(5), and also requested a modified schedule for filing his Final Submission.¹⁰³ The following day, the Co-Lawyers requested that the same flexibility be afforded to them if allowed for the ICP.¹⁰⁴ The Khmer version of the Forwarding Order was notified on 14 August 2017. On 4 September 2017, the ICIJ instructed the ICP to file his Final Submission in English alone within three months of the date the Forwarding Order had been notified in both English and Khmer.¹⁰⁵ The Co-Lawyers were instructed to file their response in English within 60 days after the date that the full translation of the ICP's Final Submission is notified.¹⁰⁶

OUTSTANDING LITIGATION

39. On 18 November 2016, the Co-Lawyers filed a motion requesting that the CIJs reject the application of forced marriage as an "other inhumane act",¹⁰⁷ which is presently pending before the CIJs. The Parties disagree on whether the motion is premature and should be dealt with at the time of the Closing Order, whether the crime violates the principle of legality, and whether the underlying facts from the DK period meet the gravity requirement.¹⁰⁸
40. The Co-Lawyers have filed two requests for annulment that are still pending before the PTC as of the date of this Submission. The first application asks the PTC to annul four WRIs on the grounds that S-21 biographies were used as investigative leads to locate the witnesses who were then interviewed, arguing that the resulting statements constitute torture-derived evidence.¹⁰⁹ The ICP argues that allowing S-21 biographies to be used as investigative leads does not contravene any of the policies underlying the exclusionary rules applicable to torture-tainted evidence itself, and in fact would promote the prevention and punishment of torture.¹¹⁰ Similarly, the second pending request asks the PTC to disregard what the Co-Lawyers have deemed to be torture-derived sections of 22 WRIs identified in an attached annex.¹¹¹ In the Forwarding Order, Judge Bohlander stated that in his opinion, the first application need not be resolved before the Co-Prosecutors file their final submissions; he also noted that the PTC might deem the application inadmissible for being filed out of time.¹¹² The second pending request was filed more than two weeks after the Forwarding Order was issued.

EVIDENCE ON CASE FILE 003

41. At the close of the investigation, Case File 003 contained around 7,000 documents.¹¹³ This includes more than 900 written records of interview, as well as contemporaneous DK documents; S-21 prisoner lists; civil party applications; DC-Cam interviews and documentation; trial transcripts from Cases 001, 002/01, and 002/02; photographs; maps; media reports; and academic books and articles. The evidence definitively establishes the extent to which Meas Muth was involved in, and is responsible for, the crimes alleged herein.

III. MEAS MUTH'S ROLE AND RESPONSIBILITY

1. MEAS MUTH'S PERSONAL BACKGROUND AND PRE-1975 ROLE

42. Meas Muth was a senior member of the CPK, an experienced military commander, and well-established leader in the Khmer Rouge military when the CPK took power in Cambodia in April 1975.
43. Meas Muth, also known as "Khe Mut", was born in Pou Village, Srey Khnong Commune, Chhuk District, Kampot Province in 1938.¹¹⁴ He joined the Khmer Rouge in May 1970¹¹⁵ and remained with the movement until 1999 when he defected to the Cambodian government.¹¹⁶ Though describing himself as "only a simple member of the Party",¹¹⁷ the evidence demonstrates that Meas Muth rapidly ascended the Khmer Rouge hierarchy to eventually hold senior level positions as he was one of the CPK's most trusted members.
44. After joining the Khmer Rouge in 1970, Meas Muth was assigned as a medic. He was posted first in Pou Village and then in Angkor Chey District (District 102), located in Sector 13.¹¹⁸ At the end of 1970 or early 1971, Meas Muth became the Deputy Commander of Angkor Chey District military where he controlled at least 200 troops.¹¹⁹ Shortly after, he was appointed to Sector 13 Committee in the Southwest Zone,¹²⁰ where he was in charge of the military until at least 1973.¹²¹ At that stage, Meas Muth had already been inducted as a full-rights member of the CPK.¹²²

45. In 1973 or early 1974, Meas Muth was appointed Commander of the newly created Division 3 of the Southwest Zone.¹²³ He was “responsible for food supply, ammunition, and weapons”.¹²⁴ He also acted as a military instructor at Phnom Damrei Romeal Mountain, located at the border of Kampong Speu, Kampot, and Takeo Provinces.¹²⁵
46. On or around 11 April 1975, Meas Muth conducted a meeting at ROUNG DARNEI Village, Trapeang Chhuk District, Kandal Province during which he directed the soldiers under his authority to prepare to attack Phnom Penh. He distributed new weapons to the soldiers and informed them that the attack would occur in three days.¹²⁶ A few days later, Division 3, under Meas Muth’s leadership, became involved in the final offensive against Phnom Penh.¹²⁷ On 17 April 1975, Meas Muth commanded the battlefields north of National Road 4 and organised meetings with chiefs of regiments and battalions to assign battle targets.¹²⁸ Following the Khmer Rouge’s takeover of Phnom Penh, Meas Muth was transferred to Kampong Som along with Division 3.¹²⁹
47. Meas Muth’s meteoric rise through the military ranks and within the Party’s leadership was linked to his close relationship with the Secretary of the Southwest Zone and Standing Committee member Chhit Chhoeun alias Ta Mok. Meas Muth met Ta Mok when he studied at Preah Soramarith Buddhist High School and stayed at a monastery managed by Ta Mok and the CPK.¹³⁰ He was then recruited to join the Khmer Rouge and married Ta Mok’s daughter, Yeay Khom, before 1973.¹³¹ Ta Mok was known for favouring his relatives by appointing them to powerful positions, especially within the Southwest Zone,¹³² and Meas Muth was no exception — Ta Mok was responsible for Meas Muth’s appointment as member of the Sector 13 Committee and as Division 3 Commander.¹³³

2. MEAS MUTH’S DK ROLE

MEMBER OF THE CPK

48. As of at least 1973, Meas Muth had become a full-rights member of what became known as the Communist Party of Kampuchea.¹³⁴ As a senior leader of the CPK, he was required to contribute to the building and development of “Party political, ideological, and organisational stances” and to better and more efficiently implement “Party politics, ideology, and organisation” to achieve the goals of the CPK.¹³⁵

MEMBER OF THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE

49. Meas Muth was a member of the CPK Central Committee as confirmed by Khieu Samphan, the DK Head of State and fellow Central Committee member: “the central committee consisted of more than 30 members [...]. Among them was Meas Mut[h]”.¹³⁶ Accordingly, Meas Muth was one of a small number of Central Committee members who were part of “the highest operational unit throughout the country” between Party Congresses,¹³⁷ and effectively the second highest body within the CPK structure.¹³⁸
50. The members of the Central Committee included full, alternate, and de facto members of the Standing Committee as well as Zone and Sector Secretaries, Ministers, and Division Commanders such as Meas Muth.¹³⁹ Under the CPK Statute, the duties and responsibilities of Central Committee members were amongst the most critical in the CPK and included: (1) implementing the Party political line; (2) instructing all Zone and Sector committees “to carry out activities according to the political line”; and (3) governing and arranging cadres and Party members by “constantly, clearly, and closely grasping personal histories, political, ideological, and organizational stances”.¹⁴⁰
51. S-21 chairman Duch¹⁴¹ and Division 164 soldier Lon Seng¹⁴² confirmed that Meas Muth worked closely with other Central Committee members throughout the DK regime. Meas Muth’s telephone operators reported that he received telephone calls “once per day and sometimes once every two days” from Office K-1,¹⁴³ which at various times was the place of work and residence of Standing Committee members¹⁴⁴ including Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Khieu Samphan. Meas Muth kept CPK leaders, such as Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Vorn Vet informed of the situation in the areas under his authority,¹⁴⁵ communicated frequently with Standing Committee member and General Staff Commander Son Sen,¹⁴⁶ and accompanied Deputy Prime Minister Ieng Sary in meetings with foreign authorities.¹⁴⁷ Meas Muth himself has acknowledged that he would meet with Son Sen “in order to carry out the work of the Central Committee”.¹⁴⁸

DEPUTY SECRETARY OF THE GENERAL STAFF

52. In 1978, Meas Muth was appointed Deputy Secretary of the General Staff Committee of the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea (“RAK”), the central command of the military.¹⁴⁹ The General Staff was responsible for maintaining internal security,¹⁵⁰ monitoring internal and external threats,¹⁵¹ and coordinating the implementation of CPK policies in the RAK units under its command.¹⁵² The General Staff controlled all three branches of the RAK — infantry, air forces, and navy¹⁵³ — and was in charge of effecting Central Committee orders,¹⁵⁴ particularly with respect to the execution of internal enemies.¹⁵⁵

53. Son Sen served as Secretary of the General Staff throughout the DK regime.¹⁵⁶ Men San alias Ya and Seat[h] Chhe completed the General Staff Committee, acting as Deputy Secretary and member, respectively.¹⁵⁷ Meas Muth, as head of the Navy, and other high-ranking military Commanders such as Sou Met, Nath, and Pech Chhan alias Soam were also members of the General Staff.¹⁵⁸ In or around 1977, Seat[h] Chhe was arrested and Men San was transferred to the Northwest Zone.¹⁵⁹ They were not immediately replaced and Son Sen remained the sole member of the General Staff Committee until 1978 when Meas Muth was promoted to the position of one of Son Sen's deputies.¹⁶⁰ He occupied this position alongside Sou Met until DK fell.¹⁶¹ The evidence shows that Meas Muth's influence in the General Staff increased throughout the regime, reaching its peak in late 1978 when he was entrusted with the control over three branches of the military and was assigned to conduct purges within centre divisions and autonomous sectors on behalf of the Centre.
54. As Commander of the Navy and member of the General Staff, Meas Muth reported to and received orders directly from Son Sen¹⁶² and attended monthly meetings at the General Staff headquarters in Phnom Penh.¹⁶³ Contrary to Meas Muth's claims that “in the meetings I attended with Son Sen, we discussed whether there was enough rice or not. [...] I did not attend the secret meetings where the leaders investigated the cases of the enemy”,¹⁶⁴ CPK documents prove that the CPK's enemy policy and its implementation were often the main topics of such meetings.¹⁶⁵
55. Meas Muth's visits to Phnom Penh to participate in the General Staff meetings became more frequent in the later years of the regime. A set of surviving RAK documents prove that Meas Muth attended at least six high-level meetings between 1 June 1976 and 1 March 1977.¹⁶⁶ RAK military personnel confirm that Meas Muth would often travel from Kampong Som to Phnom Penh to meet with Son Sen and other division leaders.¹⁶⁷

56. Meas Muth's commitment to and efficient implementation of CPK's policies led to his promotion to Deputy Secretary of the General Staff.¹⁶⁸ In late 1978, he was assigned to work at the military headquarters in Phnom Penh while maintaining control over Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector.¹⁶⁹ At that stage, the General Staff Committee was formed by Son Sen, Meas Muth, and Sou Met.¹⁷⁰
57. Following his promotion, Meas Muth's duties within the General Staff significantly changed. As a member of the General Staff, his responsibilities were to provide logistics support in mobilising forces, formulating combat strategies, and arranging food supplies and ammunition.¹⁷¹ However, as one of Son Sen's deputies, Meas Muth became involved in overseeing border issues,¹⁷² had authority to make decisions on behalf of the General Staff,¹⁷³ and was in charge of executing orders from the Centre.¹⁷⁴
58. Meas Muth was sent to Memot District, Kampong Cham Province, to lead Division 164 and central troops during the suppression of purported East Zone rebels.¹⁷⁵ He also travelled to Kratie, known as Autonomous Sector 505, in late 1978 to conduct the purges of Centre Division 117 military personnel and of top-level Sector 505 civilian cadres. In Kratie, Meas Muth ordered the arrests of cadres, personally organised the transportation of those arrested to Phnom Penh, and restructured Division 117 and Sector 505 command.¹⁷⁶ Further, as Deputy Secretary of the General Staff, Meas Muth had access to confidential communications between Centre divisions.¹⁷⁷

SECRETARY OF DIVISION 164

59. As Secretary of Division 164, Meas Muth led the largest military division in the RAK which was responsible for internal and external security of Cambodian territorial waters, islands, and Kampong Som Autonomous Sector.
60. Following the announcement of the formation of the RAK in July 1975,¹⁷⁸ Meas Muth's Division 3 was restructured¹⁷⁹ and became a Centre division, reporting directly to the General Staff.¹⁸⁰ Division 3 was combined with other forces¹⁸¹ and renamed Division 164¹⁸² and was also known as the RAK Navy as it was assigned to protect the DK territorial waters.¹⁸³

61. Meas Muth, who had been the Commander of Division 3 since its inception in 1973,¹⁸⁴ remained in control after the division was restructured into Division 164¹⁸⁵ and was in command through to January 1979.¹⁸⁶ Shortly after the CPK's takeover of Phnom Penh, Meas Muth moved to Kampong Som City,¹⁸⁷ which served as a military base for Division 3/164¹⁸⁸ and was mainly occupied by soldiers¹⁸⁹ after the evacuation of its civilian population to nearby villages.¹⁹⁰
62. Meas Muth was officially introduced as the Navy Commander during an assembly held at the Olympic Stadium in Phnom Penh in the presence of Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, Son Sen, and Khieu Samphan.¹⁹¹ At the ceremony, Pol Pot handed out military insignias of each branch of the armed forces to its respective commander. Meas Muth received the Navy symbol and Pol Pot emphasised that it was the Navy's responsibility to "protect the territorial waters and the islands and to reconstruct the country."¹⁹² The territorial waters that Division 164 was required to cover extended over 400 km of coastline and included about 200 islands such as Koh Rong, Kho Thmei, Koh Pring, Koh Tang, and Koh Poulo Wai.¹⁹³
63. Division 164 was responsible for patrolling the DK coastline and islands as well as to provide military support to other divisions and to operate worksites and security centres in the area of its control.¹⁹⁴
64. Meas Muth's division was recorded as having 8,611 soldiers in October 1976 and 8,568 personnel in April 1977, significantly larger than Division 310 which was the second largest Centre division comprising 6,096 soldiers in April 1977.¹⁹⁵ The large size of his division was confirmed by Meas Muth himself who stated that he had 10,000 to 12,000 personnel under his command.¹⁹⁶
65. Division 164 was comprised of four regiments and six independent battalions all of which reported directly to Meas Muth. Division 164 regiments were numbered 161, 162, 163, and 140, the latter of which contained all of the DK's naval ships. Each regiment included at least three battalions; each battalion had three companies or more; and each company had at least three platoons. The six independent battalions were numbered 165 (also known as 450), 166, 167, 168, 169, and 170. Combined, these regiments and battalions were responsible for the protection of DK's territorial waters, the garrisons on DK islands, and the protection of Kampong Som City and surrounding areas. In particular, Battalion 165 (450) was in charge of Kampong Som City including Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre; Regiment 163 was in charge of the Ream area and the Toek Sap Security Centre; and Regiment 162 had control over the Durian I Execution Site located near Ream Beach and the worksites around Stung Hav.¹⁹⁷

66. Meas Muth lived and worked at the Division 164 headquarters from mid-1975 until at least late 1978.¹⁹⁸ The headquarters were at first located in the surroundings of Phsar Leu Market in Kampong Som City and later at another location southeast of the market and northeast of Sokha hotel.¹⁹⁹ The compound included Meas Muth's house, a telegraph office, a broadcasting office, messenger living quarters, and a dining hall.²⁰⁰
67. Meas Muth controlled all decisions affecting Division 164's area of operation.²⁰¹ He personally inspected islands, worksites, and security centres under his authority.²⁰² In addition, Meas Muth frequently provided instructions to and received reports from his subordinates on the situation on the islands and mainland.²⁰³ He was further responsible for monitoring each military unit in the division and coordinating military movements.²⁰⁴
68. Meas Muth was also in charge of providing political training to Division 164 personnel.²⁰⁵ During the study sessions, which were generally conducted at Kampong Som Cinema,²⁰⁶ Meas Muth taught political affairs and ideology, instructing the attendees to "be on the lookout for enemy activities within our ranks".²⁰⁷ As part of a broader purge of the RAK,²⁰⁸ he would screen biographies of the marines and authorise arrests of alleged traitors from Division 164.²⁰⁹ Meas Muth confirmed his leading role in imparting the CPK ideology and policies to division members stating that he "was in charge of politics".²¹⁰
69. Division 164 was "under the absolute leadership monopoly of the CPK".²¹¹ Consequently, Meas Muth was required to have a direct reporting relationship with other senior leaders of the Party,²¹² and he did so through regular reports in relation to the operations of the DK Navy to the General Staff Commander Son Sen and other senior leaders of the CPK, particularly with respect to the capture of any Thai or Vietnamese vessels that entered Cambodian waters.²¹³

SECRETARY OF KAMPONG SOM AUTONOMOUS SECTOR

70. As the Secretary of Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, Meas Muth, with the two other members of the Sector Committee, was responsible for all CPK administrative bodies at the Sector, District and Commune level.
71. The Kampong Som Sector was situated on the DK peninsula adjacent to the Southwest and West Zones' borders, covering an area of approximately 800 square kilometres.²¹⁴ The sector's northernmost point was Stung Hav Port, the eastern boundary was Veal Renh Commune, the southernmost point was Ream Commune, and Kampong Som City was its westernmost point.²¹⁵ The Sector's longest point from north to south was 30 kilometres and from east to west, 35 kilometres.²¹⁶
72. Upon his arrival in Kampong Som, Meas Muth was appointed Sector Secretary whilst retaining command of Division 3/164.²¹⁷ As Kampong Som was an Autonomous Sector,²¹⁸ Meas Muth reported directly to the Standing Committee through Office 870.²¹⁹ The other two members of the Sector Committee were Chea Krin, as Meas Muth's Deputy, and Ta Launh.²²⁰ In particular, Krin was in charge of the Kampong Som Port and Launh of logistics.²²¹ By virtue of their membership of the Sector Committee, Meas Muth, Chea Krin, and Ta Launh were required by the CPK to lead collectively, taking into account their individual responsibilities.²²² Consequently, they were required to participate in meetings and express their ideas on different issues that related to the Sector.²²³
73. Meas Muth's position as Sector Secretary and authority over the Kampong Som administrative area was announced by the Party Centre in a public broadcast on 13 December 1977 which referred to Meas Muth as the "secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee". The broadcast also named the other two members Krin and Launh, announcing "Comrade (Krin), deputy secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; Comrade (Lonh), member of the Standing Committee of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee".²²⁴
74. This broadcast described Meas Muth, Krin, and Launh welcoming a Chinese delegation travelling with Pol Pot and Ieng Sary to Kampong Som City on 12 December 1977. Together, the Committee members escorted the visitors to various islands in the DK territorial waters and hosted a "solemn banquet" in which Meas Muth toasted "the great revolutionary friendship and great military solidarity between our two parties, peoples and countries.”²²⁵

75. Duch told the Co-Investigating Judges that Meas Muth was “a special sector secretary in Kampong Som”²²⁶ and “Chairman of the Kampong Som City Committee”²²⁷ and that “the villages [around Kampong Som] and the port were under the control of Brother Muth.”²²⁸ Pak Sok also confirmed that Meas Muth was “in overall charge of Kampong Som as a whole in terms of military, the workers, and the port.”²²⁹ Meas Muth’s authority over the entire Kampong Som Sector is further demonstrated by the appointment of Division 164 high-level Commanders Long Saroeun and Sok Pheap to the positions of chief and deputy of the Kampong Som Port, respectively, after Krin was sent on an assignment to Hong Kong in or around February 1978.²³⁰
76. As Division 164 and Kampong Som Autonomous Sector Secretary, Meas Muth controlled both military and civilian affairs in the Kampong Som Sector.²³¹ Accordingly, his authority was not limited to Division 164 cadres and the Kampong Som City but it extended over the entire Kampong Som Sector and included civilian cooperatives such as Thmar Thom, Ou Mlou, Lar Ed, Smach Daeng, Pu Thoeung, and Ba-bos and the population living therein.²³²
77. Meas Muth issued and received reports on the area’s population and food production,²³³ and implemented CPK’s directives such as food rations for foreign guests staying in the region.²³⁴ On 19 September 1976, Meas Muth reported on the Kampong Som Sector, stating that there were 17,000 people, including soldiers and civilians, working in the cultivation of crops in the area under his control.²³⁵
78. In late 1978, Meas Muth was assigned to work at the military headquarters in Phnom Penh. However, he maintained control over Kampong Som until the end of the DK regime, giving orders through Tim Seng, chief of Regiment 140, who was appointed to command the areas under the control of Division 164 after Meas Muth’s transfer to Phnom Penh.²³⁶

EFFECTIVE CONTROL

79. During the DK period, Meas Muth had both de facto and de jure control over Division 164 military personnel and Kampong Som Sector administrative personnel. He had the authority to issue orders to these subordinates, to appoint and dismiss military and civilian personnel, and to discipline and punish them. In particular, Meas Muth's authority gave him the power to prevent and punish crimes committed by his subordinates had he intended to do so.

80. The CPK Statute stipulates that the “[l]ower echelon respects the upper echelon” and that they “must carry out” the instructions and orders of their commanders. In practice, through the DK period, Meas Muth's orders were invariably followed by his subordinates who respected and feared him because of his matter of fact and meticulous nature.²³⁷ As a leader, Meas Muth was described as an “authoritarian”, who kept a strict watch on the discipline and behaviour of his subordinates.²³⁸
81. Meas Muth controlled every aspect of the division, issuing orders in respect of military operations,²³⁹ the patrolling and capturing of boats,²⁴⁰ the moving of locations,²⁴¹ demobilisation and transfer of soldiers,²⁴² agricultural production,²⁴³ arrests,²⁴⁴ and executions.²⁴⁵ Meas Muth had the ultimate decision-making authority within Division 164²⁴⁶ and meticulously ensured that his subordinates followed his orders.²⁴⁷
82. Meas Muth also had the power to appoint, promote and dismiss military and civilian personnel in Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector. Throughout the DK period, several Battalion and Regiment Commanders rose through the ranks occupying different positions within the division, which was always under Meas Muth's command.²⁴⁸ These personnel were promoted to replace the extensive list of cadres that Meas Muth “dismissed” by ordering demobilisation, arrests, and executions of perceived traitors.²⁴⁹
83. Meas Muth also had the power and ability to punish his subordinates. He was responsible for ensuring that lower-level cadres followed the Party lines, instructions, and orders²⁵⁰ passed on from the division-level vertically down through to the platoon-level.²⁵¹ He had the power to punish those who failed to abide by his every command and was required to do so by implementing the “Party discipline” through “detailed examination, analysis, and deliberation” of each individual violation.²⁵²
84. In discharging this duty, Meas Muth set up a system of recording and screening biographies of soldiers for enemy traits and suspicious activities.²⁵³ Depending on the gravity of the offence, he would then punish the individuals identified as “enemies” through self-criticism sessions, re-education, demobilisation, arrests, and executions.²⁵⁴

Meas Muth would order similar treatment to be imposed on soldiers who failed to obey his orders or simply made mistakes.²⁵⁵ A former Battalion 386 soldier confirmed that if soldiers “did not follow [Meas Muth], they would have been in trouble [...], they would have been killed.”²⁵⁶

85. Meas Muth’s authority in Kampong Som Sector was unquestioned, and he was feared. His subordinates avoided making “mistakes because all of them were scared”²⁵⁷ as they knew that if a soldier “did something inappropriate, [Meas Muth] did not tell that soldier this or that: he remained silent, and then he beat that soldier unconscious.”²⁵⁸ Meas Muth’s strict approach to discipline was well known through the ranks. Even Southwest Zone Secretary Ta Mok once reprimanded him for ordering the execution of a cadre, asking Meas Muth: “why did you always kill my men?”²⁵⁹
86. Meas Muth issued orders and instructions down the hierarchy (from division to regiment, regiment to battalion, battalion to company, and then from company to personnel).²⁶⁰ Similarly, reports went up the hierarchy — platoons would report to the company commander, companies would report to battalions, battalions reported to the regiments directly, who subsequently summarised and sent daily reports to the division radio operators, who then relayed reports to Meas Muth.²⁶¹ Division 164 personnel were required to provide very detailed reports,²⁶² keeping Meas Muth fully informed of the situation at sea and on the islands, worksites, and security centres operated by his troops, including the crimes committed by them at those places.
87. Meas Muth exercised similar control over Division 117 and Sector 505 towards the end of the DK period. From his position as one of Son Sen’s deputies in the General Staff, Meas Muth gained powers to issue orders to Division 117 military personnel, maintaining direct contact with the division commanders.²⁶³ He exercised powers to punish, dismiss, and appoint members of the division and sector as demonstrated by his visit to Kratie in November 1978 when he personally oversaw the purge of the highest-ranking cadres²⁶⁴ and replaced them with Division 164 soldiers.²⁶⁵ From this point onwards, Meas Muth remained in command and control of both Sector 505 and Division 117,²⁶⁶ issuing orders²⁶⁷ and maintaining a physical presence in Kratie²⁶⁸ until the arrival of Vietnamese troops in the last days of 1978.

3. MEAS MUTH'S CONTRIBUTIONS TO CRIMES

PARTICIPATION IN PERSECUTION AND EXECUTION OF ENEMIES

Overview

88. Throughout the DK period, Meas Muth contributed to the CPK policy to persecute and execute those suspected by the regime of political disloyalty and labelled as “enemies”. In areas under his control and using forces under his authority, Meas Muth ordered, instigated, facilitated, and encouraged the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance, and execution of individuals from groups deemed to be enemies by the CPK. Meas Muth engaged in these crimes with other senior members of the CPK, senior RAK military leaders, and local subordinate military and civilian commanders in Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector.
89. In particular, Meas Muth participated in these crimes in the DK territorial waters and islands, Kampong Som Sector mainland and, in late 1978, Sector 505, all areas where he was the leading DK authority. These areas included Division 164 security centres at Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap; execution sites throughout Kampong Som Sector; and the worksites at Stung Hav and in the Ream area. Meas Muth also sent suspected traitors to the S-21 security centre in Phnom Penh.
90. As outlined in the Elimination of Enemies and Opposition to CPK Leadership section, the Party line against “enemies” during the entire DK regime was extreme and barbaric. The policy was well known to Meas Muth through information available to him as a senior CPK and RAK leader such as the CPK Statute, monthly publications of the Revolutionary Flag and Revolutionary Youth magazines,²⁶⁹ and high-level directives and guidelines²⁷⁰ in which they openly discussed the scope and details of the CPK policies, including the manner in which they were to be implemented.²⁷¹ Meas Muth further received the content of the CPK enemy policy through high level CPK and RAK meetings.²⁷²
91. Meas Muth maintained a close relationship with Standing Committee members throughout the regime which gave him direct access to CPK policymakers. He reported directly to Son Sen in respect of Division 164 matters,²⁷³ and often included Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Ieng Sary in the correspondence, particularly when he reported on the implementation of the

CPK's enemy policy in the areas under his control.²⁷⁴ In fact, as the Secretary of an autonomous sector, Meas Muth was required by the CPK Statute to maintain "a system of reporting to the Central Committee",²⁷⁵ which he did through daily telephone communication with office K-1.²⁷⁶

92. Meas Muth's knowledge of the enemy policy is further evidenced through his attendance at General Staff meetings in which groups of individuals were identified as "bad elements" to be targeted for purging. These groups included: (1) those who opposed the party by committing mistakes such as stealing, sabotaging, poisoning, inciting combatants to drink alcohol or free picking of fruit to eat;²⁷⁷ (3) those who were "lazy", "pretended" to be ill, or expressed discontent with the regime;²⁷⁸ (4) those who were children of soldiers, commune chiefs, or policemen who were previously executed;²⁷⁹ (5) those who were "status and rank-oriented";²⁸⁰ (6) military deserters;²⁸¹ (7) individuals or families from Vietnam;²⁸² and (8) those affiliated with external enemies, including Vietnam.²⁸³
93. As further detailed below, Meas Muth collaborated with other military commanders to implement this policy within the RAK Centre Divisions. He then implemented this policy in his own division and sector, instructing his subordinates to search for and smash "bad elements" in Division 164, Kampong Som Sector, and in DK territorial waters. This relentless search for enemies resulted in thousands of individuals from targeted groups being imprisoned, forced to labour, tortured, and/or executed at Division 164 security centres; execution sites and worksites located throughout Kampong Som, at sea, and at S-21 security centre.

RAK

a) RAK Centre Divisions & Independent Regiments

94. Meas Muth coordinated with the General Staff, Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders to implement the criminal plan to purge the RAK by arresting, imprisoning, torturing and executing RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment members who were suspected of being traitors or otherwise enemies of the CPK without any legal process. In particular, Meas Muth participated in these crimes in his area of responsibility and by sending arrestees to the S-21 security centre in Phnom Penh.

95. As Division 164 Secretary, Meas Muth was a member of the General Staff alongside other Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders.²⁸⁴ He went to Phnom Penh on a monthly basis to meet with General Staff Secretary Son Sen and other RAK high-ranking cadres.²⁸⁵ During those meetings, Son Sen instructed military commanders on the CPK policy to kill RAK individuals who were believed to be enemies of the revolution and to “re-educate” or “refashion” “bad elements”. In turn, the division commanders voiced their agreement and commitment to this CPK policy and reported on their units’ situation in respect to the arrest of internal enemies.²⁸⁶
96. Those attending these meetings with Meas Muth where crimes were planned and discussed included: Sou Met alias Sou Samet (Division 502), Pin (Division 703), Sbauv Him alias Oeun (Division 310), Sok (Division 170), Chea Non alias Suong (Division 450), Tal (Division 290), Pheap (Division 488), Nay (Regiment 377), Men Meng alias Chhin (Division 920), Roeun (Division 801), Sim (Regiment 152), Vin (Regiment 75), and Nun Huy alias Huy Sre (S-21).²⁸⁷ Other Division and Independent Regiment secretaries and deputies that were present in many of those meetings included Division 164 Deputy Dim, and General Staff cadres Nath, Chen, Sim, Yan, Tat, Mum, Rin, Sav, and Euan.²⁸⁸
97. The surviving CPK records show that the internal enemy situation was invariably discussed at length during those General Staff meetings. In fact, of the 16 divisional meeting minutes on the Case File, only three of them do not explicitly deal with the purge of RAK members.²⁸⁹ All regular attendees understood this purge policy and applied “revolutionary vigilance” within their divisions, reporting their progress periodically during those meetings.
98. Meas Muth reported on the search for internal enemies within Division 164, as other commanders did for their own commands. For example, on 19 September 1976, Meas Muth discussed the enemy situation in the Kampong Som region and islands and reported thefts committed by soldiers in Kang Keng.²⁹⁰ Further, on 1 March 1977, Meas Muth informed other division commanders that “[o]ne platoon of depot units of organization has been purged, but they are not yet all gone or reliable”.²⁹¹ In this meeting, Son Sen indoctrinated attendees on the concept of “revolutionary vigilance,” stating that it “means constant absolute storming attacks on the enemies boring from within” and reminding attendees that “it is imperative to continue further with absolute purges”.²⁹² Each one of the 11 division and regiment representatives present at this meeting reported on the purge within their units.²⁹³

99. The open discussions by military leaders at General Staff meetings on the implementation of the enemy policy throughout the country demonstrate that they shared the common objective of purging “absolutely no-good elements” in the RAK.²⁹⁴ The most explicit example of this agreement can be seen in the meeting minutes of a divisional meeting held on 9 October 1976. During this meeting, Son Sen provided a detailed report on the arrests of a number of CPK leaders, stating that the Party had arrested traitors including Chhouk and Chan Chakrei (Division 170 Secretary, Sector 24, East Zone), Men San alias Ya (Northeast Zone secretary) and Keo Meas,²⁹⁵ and urged all present to continue the arrests of “traitors” by ensuring that the army is “clean” and that “the enemy is unable to bore from within”.²⁹⁶
100. All attendees voiced their agreement with “Angkar’s presentation about the enemies’ internal and external situations”; saying that they are now “clearly and fully informed” on the level of “treason” in the Party and “happy about the measures of the Party in discovering and arresting [traitors]”, and that “[i]t is imperative to dare absolutely to conduct purges”.²⁹⁷ Meas Muth confirmed his agreement with a commitment to the Party’s guidelines towards purging the RAK by stating that:

I would like to speak about concern shown with the activities of the traitors within the Party, that this has been a great victory for our Party [...] No-good elements or enemies are still camouflaged and infiltrated in the rank and file. The most important factor is the grasp of the everyday ideology of the core organizations. It is imperative to make arrangements to take measures so as to seize the initiative in advance. On this I would like to be in total agreement and unity with the Party. Do whatever needs to be done in not to allowing the situation to get out of hand and not to let them strengthen or expand themselves at all.²⁹⁸

101. The tragic consequences of this criminal agreement between Meas Muth and other high-level RAK military leaders is evident in the fact that at least 4,900 RAK personnel were sent to S-21 by these senior commanders.²⁹⁹ There, the victims were imprisoned, kept in inhumane conditions, tortured, and executed over a three-and-a-half-year period.³⁰⁰

102. By purging his own Division 164, Division 117 and Sector 505 leadership through the arrest, imprisonment, enslavement, torture, disappearance and execution of these individuals, Meas Muth significantly contributed to the agreement to purge enemies in the RAK across all Centre Divisions and Independent Regiments in the DK. In particular, Meas Muth participated in these purges through crimes committed in security centres at Wat Enta Nhien, Toek Sap, and S-21; in worksites and execution sites located at Stung Hav and in the Ream area; and in Kratie.

b) Division 164

103. Meas Muth's purge of his own division involved the implementation of a system in which perceived traitors would be identified, arrested, imprisoned, enslaved, and often disappeared or executed. Meas Muth carried out this purge on an ongoing basis throughout the DK period. In order to identify who should be arrested, Meas Muth required Division 164 members to record their biographies and created an inspection committee to review those biographies and investigate their validity.³⁰¹
104. This process of recording biographies was in accordance with Party policy and enabled Meas Muth to identify those with capitalist tendencies³⁰² and wrongdoers for imprisonment or execution.³⁰³ As part of this process, for instance, Meas Muth requested investigations into the background of East Zone soldiers for enemy traits.³⁰⁴ If this screening process revealed that a biography contained enemy links or was false, the individual to whom the biography belonged would be punished by either being sent to a worksite to labour (refashioning) or to a security centre for forced labour and/or execution.³⁰⁵
105. To assist in this search for enemies, Meas Muth conducted training sessions where he instructed all Division 164 cadres to actively search for "enemy activity within our ranks" and report to their superiors any suspicious activities.³⁰⁶ Meas Muth discussed the policy of purging and destroying internal enemies at meetings³⁰⁷ and encouraged Division 164 cadres to spy on perceived traitors.³⁰⁸
106. Generally, higher ranked cadres were sent to S-21 for interrogation, torture, and execution while their subordinates were purged in Kampong Som Sector.³⁰⁹ Those purged in Kampong Som were sent to security centres and worksites which were under Meas Muth's supervision through his subordinate units.³¹⁰ As head of Division 164, Meas Muth was required to identify more traitors from the content of purged cadres' confessions taken at S-21 and consider the arrest of implicated persons.³¹¹ Any further arrests would have to be authorised by Meas Muth in consultation with Son Sen.³¹²

107. Meas Muth controlled Division 164 soldiers through fear. He arranged meetings during which he announced the arrest and confessions of “traitors”³¹³ as a constant reminder of the fate of those accused of having links with enemies. Meas Muth discussed the particulars of confessions³¹⁴ and referred to the arrestees as “traitors”, listing their names in a rhyme-like manner³¹⁵ to ensure that his subordinates would not forget the consequences of treacherous behaviour.
108. In particular, Meas Muth announced the purge of senior members of Division 164, such as Division 164 Deputy Dim and committee member Chhan.³¹⁶ Following Chhan's purge in October 1976, Meas Muth ordered the arrest of the entire former Battalion 386 leadership.³¹⁷ He then convened a meeting in late 1976 or early 1977 at Koki village near Kang Keng Airfield, in which he read confessions of the arrestees to thousands of soldiers, including former Battalion 386 members.³¹⁸
109. Shortly after that, in or around April 1977, during the “Victory Commemoration Day”, in a meeting held at the far end of Ochheuteal Beach, Meas Muth once again announced Dim and Chhan's arrest to 1,000 Division 164 soldiers,³¹⁹ claiming that Dim and others had “plans to rebel”.³²⁰
110. Then, during a special meeting at Stung Hav in mid-1977, Meas Muth announced that the former Sector 37 leaders were “traitors”.³²¹ Meas Muth also held special meetings to discuss Division 164 East Zone soldiers, stating that “all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers; therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division.”³²² In addition to those announcements, Meas Muth would also state more generally that there were enemies hiding in the ranks and that they were constantly kept under surveillance.³²³
111. In order to carry out the purge of Division 164, Meas Muth worked closely with his direct superior Son Sen and direct subordinate Dim (until Dim's own arrest in 1977). For example, on 13 August 1976, Meas Muth reported to Son Sen in a telegram that “all our detained people that had problems” were released by two Division 164 combatants.³²⁴ Two weeks later, during an RAK meeting, Meas Muth or his representative deemed these two Division 164 troops “traitorous combatants” for releasing detained members of Division 164.³²⁵

112. In September 1976, Meas Muth’s direct subordinate, Division 164 Deputy Dim, reported to Meas Muth that he had followed Muth’s orders to arrest individuals regarded as enemies or traitors. At the end of that month, Dim sent a telegram to Meas Muth stating: “we took the measure against the enemy that you decided [...] five of them fled into the forest, [and] were pursued and arrested by us”.³²⁶
113. Meas Muth continued to make arrests in collusion with Son Sen as evidenced by a directive sent by Son Sen on 4 November 1976 to Division 164 which instructed Meas Muth to keep recent arrests secret.³²⁷ Throughout 1976 several members of Division 164 were sent to S-21,³²⁸ including Division 164 Committee Member³²⁹ Chey Han alias Chhan.³³⁰ His arrest was followed by the purge of the entire former Battalion 386 leadership³³¹ and many other cadres working under Chhan’s authority within Division 164, including commanders of companies and platoons.³³²
114. In 1977, Meas Muth’s purge of Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector accelerated. Battalion 386 members that had survived the arrests and executions of late 1976 were demobilised and sent to production units operated by Division 164 due to their connection to Chhan.³³³ On 1 March 1977, Meas Muth reported to Son Sen and other division commanders on purges in his division, informing that those arrests were still insufficient to counter the enemy threat.³³⁴ As a consequence, seven weeks later, beginning on 21 April, Meas Muth effected a major purge of high-ranking Division 164 cadres. The purge included the Division 164 Deputy Secretary Hoeng Doeun alias Dim³³⁵ and Members Mom Chim alias Yan³³⁶ and Men Nget.³³⁷
115. At the Kang Keng Airport meeting in which Meas Muth read confessions of purged Division 164 personnel,³³⁸ he also stated that the “former soldiers of [Unit] 86 (386) did not deserve trust” and, shortly after that, more than half of those then disarmed soldiers of Battalion 386 were arrested and disappeared.³³⁹

116. Meas Muth automatically considered subordinates to be “affiliated” or part of the “string” of their military leader³⁴⁰ and because his Deputy Dim implicated numerous Division 164 cadres and soldiers during interrogations at S-21,³⁴¹ Meas Muth ordered the purge of all the East Zone cadres and soldiers within Division 164.³⁴²
117. Throughout 1977, Son Sen requested Meas Muth to review confessions obtained at S-21 as to whether the Division 164 soldiers named within them were traitors. Two confessions from S-21 prisoners contained annotations from Son Sen that show that specific requests to Meas Muth for further investigations were made. After 8 May 1977, Son Sen said that he “would invite Comrade Mut to check this together”³⁴³ and on 10 September 1977 when he instructed cadres to “[c]ontact Comrade Mut so that he can take measures.”³⁴⁴ On 31 December 1977, Meas Muth further confirmed his duty to kill enemies in a telegram to Office 870. He stated that those in the Navy have a duty to sweep “cleanly away and without half-measures” all enemies of the army, including internal enemies.³⁴⁵
118. By 1978, Division 164’s purging process was in full motion with Meas Muth’s subordinates screening, searching, and purging internal enemies as part of their duties. Witnesses confirm that throughout the year biographies of soldiers were taken,³⁴⁶ units were demobilised,³⁴⁷ arrests were ordered,³⁴⁸ and the persecution of East Zones soldiers continued with almost all of them being executed³⁴⁹ as “the sweeping clean was done seriously”.³⁵⁰ As part of this process, in late 1978 or early 1979, Meas Muth ordered the arrest and execution of Kampong Som City Committee Member Launh who survived the execution attempt.³⁵¹
119. As a result of the purge of individuals from Division 164 at security centres and worksites under Meas Muth’s control, thousands of Division 164 members were imprisoned and enslaved with many hundreds being executed or simply disappearing following their arrest.³⁵² Of those arrested, Meas Muth sent 67 to S-21 where they were imprisoned, subjected to inhumane conditions, tortured and executed.³⁵³

c) Division 117 & Sector 505

120. Meas Muth further contributed to the persecution of the RAK and others by personally overseeing the purge of soldiers and officials of Division 117 and Sector 505 in late 1978. In particular, his participation included the search for, arrest and detention of these military and civilian cadres in Sector 505 and then their execution at the S-21 security centre after their transfer to Phnom Penh.

121. Meas Muth gained authority over Division 117 after becoming one of Son Sen's deputies in the General Staff in 1978.³⁵⁴ By October that year, Meas Muth was in personal command and control of Division 117 forces, receiving reports and issuing orders to troops engaged in the fighting along the Vietnamese border.³⁵⁵
122. In order to conduct the purge of Division 117 and Sector 505, Meas Muth travelled to Kratie³⁵⁶ with his forces to take over control of both the division and the sector on behalf of the Party Centre.³⁵⁷ Upon his arrival, Meas Muth ensured that 10 high-level cadres were transferred to S-21.³⁵⁸ He was physically present when some boarded the aircraft bound for Phnom Penh.³⁵⁹ Meas Muth then presided over a meeting with the remaining cadres and announced that he had decided to remove their leadership because they "were traitors"³⁶⁰ who were "not resolute in fighting the Vietnamese" army.³⁶¹
123. Following the purges, in a demonstration of his control over Division 117 and Sector 505,³⁶² Meas Muth replaced the purged cadres with trusted soldiers.³⁶³ He also deployed a considerable number of Division 164 troops to control the other forces in Kratie.³⁶⁴ Throughout December 1978, Meas Muth and his subordinate forces continued the purge, targeting lower-level cadres and civilians.³⁶⁵ In particular, Meas Muth issued direct orders for the execution of a Sector 505 committee member in charge of military affairs,³⁶⁶ Mao Oeung.³⁶⁷
124. Meas Muth is also responsible for the shooting and killing of retreating military forces by his troops pursuant to Centre policy.³⁶⁸ Those soldiers "were accused of being non-patriotic, non-resolute and not strongly committed" for withdrawing from fights at the Vietnamese border.³⁶⁹ Moreover, Meas Muth also acted on behalf of the Centre when he was sent to Memot around the same time to lead Division 164 and Centre forces to suppress rebels in the East Zone.³⁷⁰ Further corroborative evidence of Meas Muth's involvement in the purges of RAK soldiers from divisions other than Division 164 is his own admission that he went to Kratie "on another mission" in 1978.³⁷¹

Vietnamese

125. In furtherance of CPK policy, Meas Muth supported and actively participated in the arrest, imprisonment, torture, and execution of individuals of Vietnamese nationality, those of Vietnamese ethnicity, or anyone else perceived to be Vietnamese. This occurred in Cambodian territorial waters, on its islands, in Kampong Som Sector, and at S-21 security centre in Phnom Penh.

126. As the commander of the Navy, Meas Muth, through Division 164 and, in particular, Regiment 140, utilised radar to monitor the waters off the coast of Cambodia, and dispatched ships to intercept vessels that were perceived to have come within DK territorial waters. Meas Muth issued orders to his subordinates to capture and either transfer or kill foreigners travelling on those vessels. He encouraged and ordered the systematic execution of Vietnamese captives either at security centres or execution sites in the Kampong Som region or at S-21 where he sent at least 194 Vietnamese for execution.³⁷²

127. In particular, the arrests and executions of the Vietnamese in Kampong Som Sector, at S-21, on the islands, and at sea were done in accordance with the CPK national policy to target and execute Vietnamese individuals in DK. Meas Muth was aware of this policy through statements of senior CPK leaders and the main CPK policy documents such as the Revolutionary Flag magazines, in which Vietnamese people were dehumanised and described in a derogatory manner.

128. For example, in April 1977, the Party Centre referred to the Vietnamese as “the cheap running dogs of the enemy” who have “been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water and being chased and struck by the people and annihilated.”³⁷³ In this publication, the Party instructed cadres that: “[w]e must continue to strike them and trample them [...] and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads.”³⁷⁴

129. The hate speech against the Vietnamese continued to worsen after the DK Government broke off diplomatic relations with Vietnam on 31 December 1977. Revolutionary Flag magazines³⁷⁵ and radio broadcasts³⁷⁶ from 1978 include messages such as Pol Pot’s 17 April 1978 speech,³⁷⁷ in which he called on every Khmer to kill 30 Vietnamese.³⁷⁸

130. Meas Muth's intent to further this national policy is manifest in a telegram he sent to the Standing Committee through Office 870 in which he states:

We have received the guiding view and the declaration of the Party about the aggression of the Yuon who have come to swallow the territory of our Motherland. We who have the duty to defend the maritime spearhead would like to: 1. Be in total unity within the Party [...] and to defend the socialist Kampuchean motherland by sweeping cleanly away and without half-measures the uncover[ed] elements of the enemy, whether the Yuon or other enemies.³⁷⁹

131. Meas Muth indoctrinated low-ranking soldiers on the CPK's ideology in respect of external enemies,³⁸⁰ telling his troops not "to be deceived by the Vietnamese".³⁸¹ During meetings and political education sessions, he used inflammatory language designed to provoke hatred towards the Vietnamese. He referred to the Vietnamese as the "Hereditary Enemy" and "Enemy Number One", explaining to his soldiers that "the Thais had not [had] much conflict with Cambodians throughout history, unlike the Vietnamese, who had had much conflict with the Cambodians; that's why the Vietnamese were considered the Hereditary Enemy and Enemy Number One".³⁸²
132. Meas Muth instructed his soldiers to notify him every time they captured Vietnamese nationals at sea³⁸³ and issued orders down through the ranks instructing his subordinates on how they should deal with the arrestees.³⁸⁴ A member of the Navy, Ek Ny, recalled receiving orders from Meas Muth to execute captured Vietnamese:

At the beginning, whenever we had captured any Vietnamese [...] we sent them to Ta Muth in Kampong Som [and all of them] ended up in the durian plantation. [...] later on, Ta Muth ordered us not to waste gasoline to transport them to Kampong Som anymore. He told us that we should make them as fertilizer for the coconut trees on the island.³⁸⁵

133. The enforcement of this policy involved Division 164 cadres targeting perceived Vietnamese people, or those perceived to be affiliated with the Vietnamese, as a whole, ordering the execution of not only soldiers but also refugees arrested in DK waters whilst travelling by boat to seek asylum in other countries,³⁸⁶ fishermen,³⁸⁷ and Khmer Krom accused of having connections with the Vietnamese.³⁸⁸
134. Meas Muth's responsibility for the capture, arrest, and execution of such groups is demonstrated by his division's reports on those matters to Son Sen and other leaders³⁸⁹ and by the fact that Meas Muth's subordinates were required "to report precisely what we captured, for example, whether they were Vietnamese refugees or Thai fishermen or soldiers, we had to report that to upper echelon clearly in advance".³⁹⁰

135. Meas Muth's participation in the persecution and genocide of Vietnamese is seen from his sustained involvement in the capture and execution of those individuals throughout the DK period. The evidence below provides a further example of Meas Muth's commitment to the implementation of this national policy in the areas under his control.
136. Division 164's targeting of the Vietnamese began straight after 17 April 1975 and evolved through the years following the changes in the CPK policy and directives. In April or May 1975, an RAK commander who was seeking "guidance on the disposition of" more than 10 captured Vietnamese refugees³⁹¹ was ordered by the "[t]he High Command in Kampong Som" to kill the refugees. The commander and his deputy carried out the order.³⁹² As Meas Muth was the highest military and civilian authority in Kampong Som since April 1975,³⁹³ he would have been notified of such event and, most likely, was the person who ordered the execution.
137. In line with Party policy, Meas Muth referred to Vietnam as the "enemy" in reports to the upper echelon as seen in the meeting minutes of 3 August 1976 in Kampong Som, which was attended by Pol Pot, Vorn Vet, and Son Sen.³⁹⁴ Later that year, on 9 October 1976, in a meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, Son Sen disseminated that view to division commanders, emphasising that "Before we said they [the Vietnamese] were friends with whom we had contradictions. Now they are genuinely our enemies".³⁹⁵ In that meeting, Meas Muth and his Deputy Dim agreed to execution policies aimed at the Vietnamese and other external enemies.³⁹⁶ In 1976, Meas Muth's forces transferred 30 Vietnamese prisoners to S-21.³⁹⁷
138. From that point onwards, Meas Muth's subordinates organised trainings in all battalions of Division 164³⁹⁸ during which they "were instructed to kill [Vietnamese]" whenever they captured them.³⁹⁹ Battalion and regiment members would attend study sessions at the division level and would then pass these instructions on to all units of the division.⁴⁰⁰
139. On 29 May 1977, Meas Muth sent a telegram to Son Sen discussing the presence of Vietnamese fishing boats that could not be located.⁴⁰¹ Around the same time, Khmer Krom populations were transferred to Toek Sap where they were most likely executed.⁴⁰² Later that year, on 31 December 1977, after the collapse of the DK-Vietnam relationship, Meas Muth vowed in a telegram sent to Office 870 that he was committed to “[sweep] cleanly away” any “Yuon” enemy.⁴⁰³

140. In accordance with Meas Muth’s obligations to follow the CPK policy with respect to the persecution and execution of the Vietnamese, he would report satisfactory results to the Party Centre. For example, on 20 March 1978, Meas Muth reported on the sinking of a Vietnamese boat. He further informed Son Sen of the capture of 76 Vietnamese people — “both young and old, male and female” — at Koh Tang island. The report states that two of these Vietnamese fell into the water after being tied up and the rest were “brought to the mainland”.⁴⁰⁴ A few days later, on 1 April 1978, Meas Muth sent a report copied to Pol Pot and others detailing the capture and execution of 120 “Yuon” in a three-day period at the end of March 1978.⁴⁰⁵
141. Later that year,⁴⁰⁶ three Vietnamese people, an old lady, and two adolescents,⁴⁰⁷ were taken to Meas Muth’s headquarters in Kampong Som. Witness Mut Mao recalled that “those children were crying and screaming”.⁴⁰⁸ They had been “captured along with their boat from the sea”⁴⁰⁹ and were killed just a few metres away from Meas Muth’s house.⁴¹⁰ At least 150 Vietnamese nationals were captured and sent to S-21 by Meas Muth’s division in 1978 for torture and execution, including “spies”, soldiers, fishermen, civilians, and children.⁴¹¹
142. It is clear from Meas Muth’s oral and written statements, his own individual actions and those of his subordinates towards the Vietnamese captured by Division 164, that he not only intended to kill these individuals, but he also intended to destroy the Vietnamese as an ethnic group in Cambodia. Meas Muth’s orders and actions significantly contributed to the genocide of Vietnamese in DK territorial waters, on its islands, and in Kampong Som Sector as part of the country-wide campaign to destroy the Vietnamese as a group. Over one-third of the Vietnamese who were recorded as having entered S-21 came from areas under the authority and control of Meas Muth.⁴¹²

Thais and Westerners

143. Similarly, in accordance with CPK policy, Meas Muth actively participated in the persecution and execution of other foreigners viewed as external enemies, specifically Thais and Westerners captured in DK territorial waters or on its islands.
144. Meas Muth issued a standing order to capture all foreign boats that came into DK territorial waters⁴¹³ and regularly reported on his division's activities in respect to the patrol of the area to the Centre. For example, at a senior divisional meeting held on 19 September 1976, Meas Muth informed attendees of the encroachment of Thai fishing boats on DK waters and the capture of one of those boats a few days earlier.⁴¹⁴
145. Meas Muth also apprised Son Sen of the arrests of Thais by the Navy. He reported, for instance, in August 1977, on the interrogation of five Thai boat people, thereby demonstrating the suspicion with which Thai nationals were held by Meas Muth and the CPK hierarchy.⁴¹⁵ This suspicion is further evidenced by Son Sen's annotation on this report where he states that the entry points into DK must be explored clearly to prevent further entries.⁴¹⁶ Despite this, on 1 March 1978, Meas Muth informed Pol Pot and Nuon Chea about the release of Thai nationals. The release appears to have been arranged by Kampong Som City Committee Member Launh under Meas Muth's supervision and with the consent of Party leaders.⁴¹⁷
146. However, not all Thai arrestees were afforded the same treatment upon their capture. Meas Muth issued direct orders for the execution of Thai people at one Division 164 execution site, Durian I.⁴¹⁸ He also received detailed reports that his subordinates were executing Thai fishermen. For example, Meas Muth's Deputy Secretary reported to Meas Muth and Son Sen that "For the two Thai boats that came close in our water boundary, close to our islands, I sailed our ships and could capture both, one of which was the 300 HP and the other one was 400 HP. For the boat that we captured in the South of Koh Kong, there were two Kolaing, some fish, and oil. Most of the people on the boat had jumped into the water to escape. Our fellow Comrades smashed the rest".⁴¹⁹
147. Many hundreds of Thai nationals disappeared or were executed in Meas Muth's area of responsibility during the DK period,⁴²⁰ including 58 Thai people who were sent from Kampong Som to the S-21 security centre for execution.⁴²¹

148. Meas Muth is also responsible for the arrest and execution of at least ten westerners captured in DK waters by his subordinates. Meas Muth explained that Division 164 would not keep westerners “as long as those from the neighbouring country” because “Pol Pot, Khieu Samphan, Ieng Sary were educated in the West in France [...]. That is why they deal with Westerns quick like that, deal with Westerns quicker than other people, because they were afraid, Pol Pot, Khieu Samphan were afraid”.⁴²²
149. Eight of the 10 non-Asian foreigners that were captured at sea were sent to S-21 where they were detained, tortured, and executed after providing a “confession”.⁴²³ Four were from the United States, two from Australia, one from New Zealand and one from the United Kingdom.⁴²⁴ The other two captured by Meas Muth’s subordinates were American soldiers who were taken to the Kampong Som mainland on Meas Muth’s orders. They have never been seen alive again.⁴²⁵

Division 164 Security Centres

150. Meas Muth established security centres in Kampong Som Sector as part of DK’s network of security offices, which included the S-21 security centre in Phnom Penh. His implementation of “revolutionary vigilance” against every form of enemy activity⁴²⁶ in the areas under his control yielded a constant stream of “enemies” to be processed through those detention centres.
151. Meas Muth’s establishment of Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap security centres was in line with the CPK policy to seek out and kill enemies including perceived “traitors” and “spies”⁴²⁷ without any legal process at security offices which the CPK set up across the country from as early as 1971.⁴²⁸ The methods of torture and interrogation used by Meas Muth’s subordinates at those security centres⁴²⁹ were developed before 1975, pursuant to instructions by the Party leaders.⁴³⁰ These offices were set up to allow the CPK to execute “enemies” in secret in order to avoid negative reactions against the Party.⁴³¹
152. Even though Meas Muth claims that “there was no detention centre in Kampong Som” and that only places “to keep [seized people] at least for one week waiting for officials from Phnom Penh to come and pick them up” existed in the area,⁴³² the evidence demonstrates the opposite. Meas Muth adhered to the CPK’s directives with respect to the need for security offices by establishing at least two prisons in Kampong Som Sector: Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap. They were also known as Division 164 Correctional Offices⁴³³ and were used to “re-educate”, arrest, detain, interrogate, torture and execute those accused of committing offences or suspected of having ties with enemies.

a) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre

153. At Wat Enta Nhien security office, in Kampong Som City, Meas Muth directly supervised Battalion 165 (450) which was responsible for operating this security office.⁴³⁴ Battalion 165 (450) Commander Sar Samoeun alias Ta Moeun⁴³⁵ and soldier Norn⁴³⁶ were the security centre’s chiefs. This battalion was known as the “Special Unit of Division 164”,⁴³⁷ Meas Muth’s “bodyguards” or “his right hand unit”,⁴³⁸ and was in charge of “protect[ing] leaders of the Division” and arresting those who “committed mistakes”.⁴³⁹
154. Meas Muth’s headquarters and residence were located approximately 2.4 km from Wat Enta Nhien which was in the heart of Kampong Som City. The security centre operated from 1975 through to the end of DK regime and consisted of two monks’ houses and one dining hall, where prisoners were detained. The prison population were mostly Division 164 soldiers, however, some women and children were also detained there. Detainees lived in grossly inhumane conditions: they were emaciated, tortured, and shackled during the day and at night. Hundreds of people were imprisoned, forced to work, and then executed at Wat Enta Nhien.⁴⁴⁰
155. Meas Muth maintained absolute control over Wat Enta Nhien security centre.⁴⁴¹ The prison chief Moeun reported directly to and received orders from Meas Muth.⁴⁴² They worked closely together as demonstrated by Moeun’s attendance at Division 164 high-level meetings, despite him being a battalion commander.⁴⁴³ Other Battalion 165 (450) personnel were also under Meas Muth’s direct supervision, as explained by Witness Em Sun: “when I joined the division, I reported directly to Meas Mut because there was no regiment between my Battalion 450 and Meas Mut. I reported to Meas Mut about the result of Meas Mut’s orders”.⁴⁴⁴
156. Meas Muth was personally involved in the security centre’s operation — interrogating prisoners, recording statements, sending detainees “away”, and holding decision-making power.⁴⁴⁵ He witnessed first-hand the poor conditions at Wat Enta Nhien during his regular visits to the security centre.⁴⁴⁶ Meas Muth went there “to see the persons in authority and to examine the situation” at the prison.⁴⁴⁷ His presence at the security office was so frequent that Meas Muth was able to maintain a close relationship with the prison guards, delivering food to them once a month when he stopped by the prison whilst returning from meetings at Stung Hav.⁴⁴⁸

157. Meas Muth was well informed of the killings at Wat Enta Nhien and announced those executions to his subordinates during meetings. For example, Meas Muth told the story of the former Commander of Battalion 386 Rem, who had been killed in front of the security centre: “Ta Mut at that time even used that story along with the confessions of some of the arrested [cadres] to teach us in the meeting. He read the confessions and the story to us and announced that those confessed persons had been in the traitor string.”⁴⁴⁹

b) Toek Sap Security Centre

158. Toek Sap security centre, located in Kampong Som Sector, was administered by Regiment 163 which was under Meas Muth’s direct supervision.⁴⁵⁰ The Regiment headquarters were located near the security centre⁴⁵¹ and Nhen was the prison’s chairman until at least 1977.⁴⁵²
159. Meas Muth’s headquarters and residence were located approximately 17 kilometres from this prison. Meas Muth, through his subordinates, would send Division 164 soldiers and civilians, including Khmer Krom individuals, to this security centre for imprisonment and re-education which often resulted in extrajudicial executions. Detainees were subjected to forced labour, received inadequate food, and were shackled most of the time. In addition, ruthless interrogation methods and torture were frequently used. Although there are no precise numbers available, it is estimated that thousands of prisoners were detained and/or executed at Toek Sap.⁴⁵³
160. Meas Muth was fully aware of the imprisonment, inhumane conditions, torture, disappearances and executions at Toek Sap. He reported to Son Sen on his division’s search, arrest and interrogation of suspected enemies in the vicinity of the Toek Sap security centre. For example, on 22 February 1976, Meas Muth sent a telegram to Son Sen stating that “according to the responses of the one arrested east of Toek Sap the seven persons arrested at Sangvav belonged to his group”.⁴⁵⁴

161. Meas Muth was also aware that confessions were extracted from prisoners at this security centre. On 9 October 1976, for instance, Meas Muth was present at a General Staff meeting when his deputy Dim reported on the confession of a teenager who had been arrested by Division 164: “We seized a 13 year-old girl in the vicinity of the fresh water (Toek Sap) area. She confessed that she was among a group of three, who are probably staying at Ou Phos now”.⁴⁵⁵
162. Meas Muth witnessed the inhumane conditions prisoners were subjected to at Toek Sap during his periodical inspections at the prison, which occurred once every four or five months.⁴⁵⁶ Witness Svay Saman described one of Meas Muth’s visits to the site stating that he “saw [Meas Muth] in the car; then he went down to the port at the edge of Teuk Sap Tributary.”⁴⁵⁷
163. Meas Muth’s knowledge of and authority over the operation of the Toek Sap Security Centre is further demonstrated by his role in the transfer of prisoners by his division from Toek Sap Security Centre to S-21.⁴⁵⁸ As explained by S-21 Chairman Duch, “before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit.”⁴⁵⁹ Meas Muth, Division 164 Commander in charge of Toek Sap security centre, would have been consulted with respect to the transfer of those arrestees to S-21.

S-21 Security Centre

164. Meas Muth also authorised the transfer of individuals deemed enemies to S-21 where, as he intended, they were detained, tortured and executed. As the Secretary of Division 164 and the Chairman of the Kampong Som Committee, Meas Muth had responsibility, together with the Party Centre leaders in Phnom Penh, to determine which persons from Division 164 and Kampong Som would be arrested and sent to S-21.
165. S-21 was the most important prison within the DK’s national security system. It received prisoners from all hierarchy levels; including leading cadres within the CPK, DK ministries and administrative bodies, the RAK, and zone, sector, and district offices. The mistreatment to which prisoners were subjected at S-21 included barbaric conditions of detention, insufficient food and medical care, and physical abuse. Prisoners entering S-21 were systematically interrogated under torture on their biographies, their “accomplices”, and “activities” which led to their arrest. Over 15,000 prisoners entered S-21 during its 3¼ years of existence, with all but a handful being executed.⁴⁶⁰

166. Meas Muth was fully aware of the existence and purpose of S-21 as he would communicate who would be sent there with Son Sen or Nuon Chea.⁴⁶¹ In addition, he attended meetings during which S-21 representatives such as S-21 Committee Member Nun Huy alias Huy Sre⁴⁶² and Duch’s predecessor Nath⁴⁶³ relayed information about activities in respect to S-21.⁴⁶⁴
167. At these meetings, other division commanders would also announce the transfer of prisoners from their divisions to S-21. For instance, on 1 March 1977, Division 502 Secretary Sou Met stated in Meas Muth’s presence that “[m]ore than 50 no-goods have been sent to S-21”.⁴⁶⁵ Meas Muth and other division commanders frequently voiced their consent to the CPK’s purging practices at General Staff meetings⁴⁶⁶ forming an agreement to purge “enemies” within their ranks by sending them to S-21 for torture and execution.
168. Meas Muth contributed to this plan by sending prisoners to S-21 from Kampong Som and Sector 505 in consultation with Son Sen or Nuon Chea. S-21 Chairman Duch explained that all RAK Division Secretaries were responsible for determining which persons from their divisions and areas of control would be arrested and transferred to the S-21 security centre in conference with Party Centre leaders.⁴⁶⁷ This consultation process is in part evident in annotations written by Son Sen on S-21 confessions in which he seeks Meas Muth’s advice in respect to implicated people.⁴⁶⁸
169. Regarding S-21 confessions, Duch explained that “[o]nce the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head”.⁴⁶⁹ Meas Muth received those confessions and used them to encourage the search for enemies within the RAK ranks and to warn his troops of the consequences of treason. Meas Muth read excerpts of S-21 confessions of his deputy Dim and Committee Member Chhan to thousands of Division 164 soldiers,⁴⁷⁰ claiming that Dim and others “had plotted to remove him from his position and administer the division in order to form another government, which would oppose the Democratic Kampuchean Government”.⁴⁷¹
170. Meas Muth’s paranoia about the motives of some of his own subordinates explains his deliberate use of these confessions to encourage “revolutionary vigilance” within his division. By receiving and using these confessions, he intended more “traitors” to be arrested and transferred to S-21, completely disregarding the suffering they would go through as he was aware that these prisoners would also be required to provide “confessions” under torture at the security centre. Meas Muth set in motion a never-ending search for “enemies” who would eventually end up at S-21 or other security centres where they would be tortured and killed.

a) RAK General Staff, Centre Divisions and Regiments

171. As a key member of the joint criminal enterprise to purge the RAK through extrajudicial arrests, detentions, torture and executions, Meas Muth is individually responsible for the imprisonment, ill-treatment, and execution of at least 4,900 RAK personnel sent to S-21. He shared a common purpose with the General Staff and Centre Divisions and Independent Regiment commanders to arrest RAK internal enemies, persecute them, and execute them at S-21.
172. Meas Muth significantly contributed to this joint criminal enterprise by advocating in favour of the policy in meetings of the General Staff, by persecuting and executing his own RAK Division 164 subordinates in Kampong Som and Division 117 leaders in Kratie as well as sending some of these individuals for execution at S-21. There, he knew and intended that the prisoners he sent would be used to bring in more alleged traitors for torture and execution in addition to being tortured and executed themselves. As a result of the implementation of this agreement, at least 4,900 individuals from RAK General Staff, centre Divisions and Regiments, including Divisions 164 and 117, were sent to S-21.⁴⁷² The numbers from each centre unit are summarised as follows:

- (1) General Staff – 453 individuals.
- (2) S-21 – 34 individuals.
- (3) Division 170 – 403 individuals.
- (4) Division 290 – 441 individuals.
- (5) Division 310 – 1,117 individuals.
- (6) Division 450 – 509 individuals.

- (7) Division 502 – 357 individuals.
- (8) Division 703 – 676 individuals.
- (9) Division 164 – 67 individuals (Annex D.1)
- (10) Division 117 – 6 individuals (Annex D.2)
- (11) Division 801 – 35 individuals.
- (12) Division 920 – 395 individuals.
- (13) Division 152 – 291 individuals.
- (14) Regiment 377 – 53 individuals.
- (15) Regiment 488 – 77 individuals.

b) Kampong Som Sector and Sector 505

173. Meas Muth is also responsible for ordering the arrest, detention, torture, and execution of the following 633 individuals whom his subordinates arrested in the Kampong Som and Kratie Sectors, as well as in DK territorial waters and on its islands, and sent to S-21.

- (1) Division 1 & 2 – 2 individuals (Annex D.3)
- (2) Sector 505 – 26 individuals (Annex D.4)
- (3) Vietnamese – 194 individuals (Annex D.5)
- (4) Thai – 58 individuals (Annex D.6)
- (5) Westerners – 8 individuals (Annex D.7)
- (6) Former Lon Nol – 21 individuals (Annex D.8)
- (7) Kampong Som Sector – 73 civilians (Annex D.9)
- (8) Kampong Som Port – 251 workers (Annex D.10)

174. By virtue of Meas Muth's oral and written statements demonstrating his intent to persecute and execute internal enemies, foreigners including Vietnamese, Thais and Westerners and other individuals viewed to have enemy traits; his effective control over subordinates in Divisions 164 and 117 and in Sector 505 as well as other administrative authorities in the Kampong Som Sector; and the continuous arrival of suspected enemies from Kampong Som to S-21 throughout the DK period, Meas Muth must have ordered and authorised the transfer of these individuals to S-21.

175. Meas Muth was the highest individual authority directly responsible for the extrajudicial arrests, detentions, punishment, and executions of individuals deemed to be internal or external enemies in Division 164, in the Kampong Som Sector, in territorial waters and on islands he controlled, and in Division 117 and Sector 505 while he was there.
176. From all of the statements, reports, and communications Meas Muth made to both his subordinates and superiors, and those made to him, and from his actions throughout the DK period, it is evident that Meas Muth willingly and enthusiastically implemented the CPK policy of persecution and execution of “enemies” without legal process, and intended that these crimes be committed. Despite having effective control of the forces under his command, Meas Muth took no steps to prevent the crimes or to punish the perpetrators of the crimes. Rather, he committed these crimes through a joint criminal enterprise, as well as planned, instigated, ordered, and aided and abetted their commission.

PARTICIPATION IN ENSLAVEMENT AT WORKSITES

Overview

177. Meas Muth was the highest authority and established all policies at worksites located in the Kampong Som Sector where civilians and disfavoured soldiers were forced to labour under conditions that fulfilled all elements of the crime against humanity of enslavement. Forces under the control and authority of Meas Muth and acting pursuant to his orders exercised powers of ownership over civilians and demobilised military forces, who were forced to labour without compensation and under inhumane conditions at these worksites. Meas Muth’s forces deprived the workers of all fundamental rights and treated them as disposable assets.

a) Meas Muth’s Implementation of the Enslavement Policy

178. Between June and November 1976, Meas Muth attended at least five high-level RAK meetings in which production policies and goals were discussed.⁴⁷³ At these meetings, Son Sen announced the CPK plans with respect to nation-building and instructed military commanders on the “great leap movement”.⁴⁷⁴ He provided instructions on crop production, building dikes, as well as food rations,⁴⁷⁵ explaining that their “task is to increase production to three tons per hectare and to expand dike systems by 30 percent.”⁴⁷⁶ Meas Muth did not hesitate in pursuing those unrealistic CPK production targets, despite being aware that they could only be achieved through the enslavement of the population under his control.

179. Meas Muth implemented the production policies using his authority as the Secretary of Division 164 and Kampong Som Autonomous Sector. He publicly supported “Angkar’s new plans” with regard to production throughout Kampong Som,⁴⁷⁷ gave orders to Division 164 personnel with respect to work assignments,⁴⁷⁸ met with cooperative chairmen regularly,⁴⁷⁹ and coordinated with village chiefs concerning plans for the region.⁴⁸⁰ Meas Muth’s subordinates frequently mentioned his name at meetings where various forced labour plans were discussed.⁴⁸¹ In those meetings, village chiefs told those assembled that Meas Muth’s “orders must be followed, implemented, and respected; otherwise there would likely be trouble”.⁴⁸²
180. Meas Muth went to islands to “make sure that the decision by the Party [was] effectively implemented”,⁴⁸³ “travelled up and down to monitor each military unit in the division”,⁴⁸⁴ and controlled the movement of those under his authority.⁴⁸⁵ Moreover, Meas Muth ordered demobilised troops to work in production units,⁴⁸⁶ and conferred on his younger brother, Meas Im, powers to oversee worksites and cooperatives in the area.⁴⁸⁷ Meas Muth’s deputy, Dim, and other Division 164 members reported on the worksites directly to Meas Muth,⁴⁸⁸ who kept the Centre informed on his division’s progress through meetings,⁴⁸⁹ written communication,⁴⁹⁰ and monthly reports.⁴⁹¹
181. Meas Muth’s Division 164 consistently achieved its rice production targets⁴⁹² and was lauded by Son Sen as a model division for its production.⁴⁹³ However, in order to achieve these set quotas, Meas Muth implemented drastic measures through the enslavement of the population in Kampong Som Sector. He forced civilians and soldiers who were identified as “bad elements” to do back-breaking labour in inhumane conditions at worksites in the Ream area, as well as at the worksites at Stung Hav.⁴⁹⁴ The cost paid by those working in the cooperatives and worksites to achieve the Party’s unrealistic production goals was extremely high. Meas Muth was aware of the suffering inflicted upon the workers but took no measures to prevent the crimes or punish the perpetrators.

b) Meas Muth's Knowledge of the Enslavement Conditions

182. Meas Muth, following Son Sen's instructions to "go down to the rice paddies [...] to see and to listen to reports to be able to summarize [the] experience clearly",⁴⁹⁵ personally inspected worksites and cooperatives.⁴⁹⁶ During his visits to those sites, he had the opportunity to witness first-hand the poor living and working conditions imposed on the population.⁴⁹⁷ Further, in reports to the Centre, he commented on the insufficiency of food⁴⁹⁸ and medical supplies,⁴⁹⁹ and on the harsh working conditions experienced by labourers at the worksites.⁵⁰⁰
183. For example, in a telegram sent to Son Sen and copied to other leaders, Meas Muth reported that: "The number of patients coming to stay in the hospital on February 20, 1976 is 1300, excluding the number people who have fevers and stay in their work groups. More than 30 comrades have died from January 20 to February 20".⁵⁰¹ Then again on 19 September 1976, he reported that 17,000 troops and people were transplanting rice but there would be a shortage of 61,000 bushels; further stating that many of the people had fevers because they did not "have much rain clothing".⁵⁰²
184. Meas Muth was thus aware that people in the worksites for which he was responsible faced difficult working conditions, lacked sufficient food, and suffered from starvation and disease. Meas Muth's attempt to evade responsibility by denying that there was forced labour in his division⁵⁰³ simply demonstrates his consciousness of the crimes suffered by the workers and his own responsibility. The evidence shows that forced labour was only one facet of the inhumane conditions both soldiers and civilians were subjected to in Kampong Som during the regime.⁵⁰⁴ As Division 164 Commander and Kampong Som Secretary, Meas Muth had absolute control over the entire Kampong Som area, including the worksites and cooperatives located therein,⁵⁰⁵ and bears criminal responsibility for the great suffering inflicted upon the population by subordinates acting under his authority.
185. When asked about the people in his division, Meas Muth explained that "[t]o control the humans is not like controlling the animals. For the animals you can only give them grass to eat. But the humans, they need food and they have feelings as well".⁵⁰⁶ However, victims of the enslavement practices adopted by him in Kampong Som were indeed treated like animals: they were denied of freedom of movement,⁵⁰⁷ provided with little food,⁵⁰⁸ and expected to fulfil onerous quotas⁵⁰⁹ and to work lengthy hours without rest.⁵¹⁰

Ream Worksites

186. In particular, Meas Muth agreed to and actively participated in the enslavement, disappearance and execution of targeted groups through the establishment and operation of worksites in the Ream area. Meas Muth participated in these crimes personally and through his subordinates in Division 164 units who were responsible for supervising the working population at those sites.⁵¹¹
187. The Ream worksites and execution sites were situated both north and south of National Road 4, approximately 15 km from Meas Muth's headquarters in Kampong Som City. This area included dams, canals, a rock quarry, a brick kiln, rice fields, and executions sites. At the worksites, thousands of labourers were subject to inhumane conditions being forced to work for long hours without breaks, forced to meet unreasonable quotas and were provided with insufficient food.⁵¹²
188. Meas Muth maintained absolute control over Ream area and was involved in the operation of the worksites and cooperatives located therein. He issued orders with respect to those sites as demonstrated in the telegram of 24 September 1976 in which Meas Muth's deputy Dim informed him that "in Riem and Babos Py sub-districts we have taken measures as you, brother, have decided. Five enemies managed to run into the forest. But now we have arrested all of them".⁵¹³ Dim also apprised Meas Muth of the death of a Regiment 162 soldier whilst "doing farming in the vicinity of Chamkar Daung"⁵¹⁴ and of key developments at the Kang Keng site: "the rice in all places is in progress. But in Kang Keng there are 12 hectares with deep water. However our brothers [combatants] are helping save the rice [from the flood]. As for the land, it has been cleared as planned. And it has been ploughed one time already. But we have to rake one more time."⁵¹⁵
189. Documentary evidence recording Meas Muth's meetings at the divisional level prove that he was fully informed of all aspects of the resources, productivity and enemy activities including arrests of suspect individuals in Division 164 at those worksites. For example, on

3 August 1976, Meas Muth reported on defence force preparation in Kampong Som to Pol Pot, Son Sen, and other CPK leaders. He stated that there were six cannons placed at Ream and Kang Keng which he had in three sizes 105 mm, 37 mm, and 12.8 mm.⁵¹⁶ On 9 September 1976, during a Division 164 meeting it was relayed to Son Sen that “the local people in Kang Keng showed some unusual patterns of activities includ[ing]: For example, they cut a piece of buffalo meat. They put some stones in the brick kiln. Thefts have increased significantly. Among those local people there were not-good soldiers. Two Lieutenants have been identified and arrested.”⁵¹⁷

190. Ten days later on 19 September 1976, Meas Muth, while reporting on the enemy situation stated, “[i]n Kang Keng there is also [theft] which [was] mainly committed by soldiers”.⁵¹⁸ Moreover, on 9 October 1976, Meas Muth’s Deputy informed him of the enemy situation in Kang Keng, namely that Division 164 had “managed to arrest bandits one after another around Ream’s Kang Keng. They were among those who had just gone into the forest recently”.⁵¹⁹
191. The few surviving CPK records reveal the frequency of these military meetings and the level of detail discussed, demonstrating that Meas Muth had knowledge of the conditions and crimes being committed at the worksites around the Ream area. His knowledge of the conditions under which workers were forced to labour and the disappearances and executions of those considered by the authorities as not useful or politically suspect can be further adduced from the statements of witnesses who confirm that Meas Muth conducted inspections of the Kang Keng area (particularly at the brick kiln), that he regularly attended a house in the co-operative located close to the airport for meals, and passed by on the national highway from where he had a view of the worksites.⁵²⁰
192. Witnesses also confirmed that Meas Muth visited cooperatives located in the Ream area to enquire whether further resources were required, and communicated with cooperatives chiefs through written correspondence.⁵²¹ When requests for supplies were made, he personally advised cooperative chiefs to collect the requested items.⁵²² Meas Muth also had meetings once a month to discuss “Angkar’s new plans” with village chiefs who would then be responsible to pass on his orders to their subordinates at village meetings.⁵²³ He also maintained frequent contact with the supervisors of the worksites, instructing cooperative chiefs at the Ream slope to attend meetings in Kampong Som City via written requests delivered by his messengers.⁵²⁴

Stung Hav Worksites

193. The worksites at Stung Hav were directly supervised by Meas Muth's subordinates who kept him informed of the construction of the port, pier, and road at that location. Hundreds and possibly thousands of Division 164 cadres were forced to engage in back-breaking labour that lasted for long hours under deplorable conditions. Workers were frequently arrested, tortured, disappeared, and executed because of their presumed enemy status.⁵²⁵
194. To supervise these worksites, Meas Muth appointed cadres within his control such as his brother Meas Im,⁵²⁶ Regiment 162 Secretary Iek Manh,⁵²⁷ and, before they were purged, to his deputies, Dim and Chhan.⁵²⁸ Surviving CPK documentation relating to Stung Hav demonstrates Meas Muth's specific knowledge and active participation in the perpetration of these crimes.
195. On 20 February 1976, Meas Muth advised Son Sen that in Stung Hav his division had "stopped a 7-horse-power motorboat carrying people, three sacks of rice and two AKs [rifles]. [We] are not sure whether the people are soldiers or [travellers]. [We] are investigating this matter. More report will be sent later when the information is confirmed".⁵²⁹ Later that year, on 9 September, at a meeting of Division 164 Comrades, Son Sen received information about a group of 40 people who discussed an escape plan from Stung Hav due to the conditions therein. The Division 164 Committee had "divided the not-good people and singled them out so that they don't mingle with the good ones".⁵³⁰
196. Son Sen advised the division to interrogate the leader of the group immediately, saying that it "appears to be no gain in separating those who had made the escape to other units. As long as there are enemies amongst them they could still carry out their activities. Their biography shall be well grasped and that they need to be put in group to do farming".⁵³¹ Further, on 24 September 1976, Division 164 Deputy Dim informed Meas Muth that "[a]nother two (combatants) had deserted a Unit in Sang Hav, They will be transferred from Unit 63".⁵³²

197. Meas Muth also regularly went to Stung Hav on inspections or for meetings from mid-1976⁵³³ until at least 1977⁵³⁴ and, most likely, 1978.⁵³⁵ He was there as often as once a week.⁵³⁶ In some of those visits, Meas Muth met with Chinese technicians and guests, staying overnight at the site on a number of occasions.⁵³⁷

PARTICIPATION IN FORCED MARRIAGES & RAPE

198. Meas Muth implemented the CPK policy to increase the population through forcing individuals to wed and then consummate their marriage in Kampong Som. The policy was thoroughly explored in the Revolutionary Flag and Revolutionary Youth magazines⁵³⁸ and broadcast in speeches of Nuon Chea, Khieu Samphan, Ieng Sary, and Pol Pot.⁵³⁹
199. The idea that the Party regulated every aspect of marital arrangements was openly discussed in those publications. For example, a CPK publication dated 2 June 1975 stated that:

When marrying, it is imperative to honestly make proposals to the Organization, to the collective, to have them help sort things out [...] Organizational discipline must be absolutely respected. In the matter of building a family, no matter the outcome of the Organization's and the collective's assessments and decisions, they must be absolutely respected.⁵⁴⁰

200. The motivation behind this policy was likewise publicly propagated by CPK top leaders such as Pol Pot who announced that the CPK “policy to increase the population” was “not yet sufficient when compared to the objective of the Party”, which was to “increase the population to 15 to 20 million within ten to 15 years.”⁵⁴¹
201. Meas Muth disseminated this policy in his area of responsibility and instructed his cadres to organise marriages for Division 164 soldiers. For example, in 1978 during a study session held at Ochheuteal beach in Kampong Som Meas Muth presented “an annual marriage plan on the number of couples to be wed”.⁵⁴² In that meeting, Meas Muth and Division 164 member Ta Nhan “reviewed all the requests that had been made and determined the number of couples to be wed”.⁵⁴³
202. Meas Muth then instructed cadres to “review all the marriage requests and marry them off” and explained publicly that this was necessary to achieve the party’s goal to increase the population to 20 million people.⁵⁴⁴ These instructions were followed by Division 164

high ranking cadres who enforced the annual marriage plan within their units.⁵⁴⁵ The Chairman of the Anti-Submarine Section Liet Lan⁵⁴⁶ confirmed that his “plan was to marry off all the members of my unit” and that he had married many of them as ordered by Meas Muth.⁵⁴⁷

203. All weddings that took place in Kampong Som during the regime had to be authorised by Division 164 leaders.⁵⁴⁸ Meas Muth, as the Division Commander, had the power to not only authorise marriages but also to determine whether a person that had refused to wed would be punished. As stated by soldier Lon Seng:

There were a few arrangements for me while I was in Kampong Som, but I refused because I did not love any of [the women]. [...] Back then, some people who rejected such arrangements were punished, but some were not. [...] Meas Mut understood me as we had served together and had had fun together. That was why I could always get off.⁵⁴⁹

204. While some witnesses deny that marriages in the Kampong Som area were “forced”, their statements often reveal the absolute control the division’s highest echelon had over the pairing process and the lack of free consent from at least one of the parties involved in those arrangements.⁵⁵⁰ Forced marriages were imposed even upon high-ranking cadres such as Liet Lan who was forcibly married to the relative of Meas Muth’s deputy Tim Seng.⁵⁵¹ The wedding took place at Meas Muth’s place⁵⁵² and was conducted by the Division 164 member in charge of logistics Ta Nhan.⁵⁵³
205. Meas Muth’s enforcement of the CPK policies on marriage and family building resulted in forced marriages and mass weddings being conducted in Kampong Som Sector throughout the regime.⁵⁵⁴ As many as 50 to 70 couples were married at the same time,⁵⁵⁵ in weddings sometimes arranged by Meas Muth⁵⁵⁶ and presided over by top Navy leaders such as Division 164 Committee Member Ta Nhan.⁵⁵⁷ Many of those ceremonies were conducted in Kampong Som City,⁵⁵⁸ near Meas Muth’s house and office.⁵⁵⁹ The right to marry or not to marry a partner of one’s choice was removed for all individuals under Meas Muth’s control⁵⁶⁰ causing hundreds of people to be coerced into marriages in the Kampong Som Sector.⁵⁶¹
206. Meas Muth failed to take any steps to prevent his subordinates from committing the crimes of forced marriage or rape. Rather, his own personal involvement by ordering, authorising and organising such forced marriages and forced consummation (rape) in Kampong Som incited his subordinates to further the criminal policy of forcing individuals to marry and engage in sexual intercourse without free consent.

IV. DIVISION 164 (FORMER DIVISION 3) AUTHORITY STRUCTURE

207. Meas Muth commanded Centre Division 164, based in Kampong Som from 1975 to 1979, after leading Division 3 in the Southwest Zone.

Division 3 (1973/1974 – July 1975)

208. Division 3 was created in 1973, or by early 1974 at the latest,⁵⁶² as part of the Southwest Zone army.⁵⁶³ It comprised thousands of troops.⁵⁶⁴ Ta Mok, the powerful Southwest Zone Secretary and member of the CPK Standing Committee,⁵⁶⁵ appointed his trusted son-in-law Meas Muth as Division 3 Commander (and Political Officer).⁵⁶⁶ Men Nget alias Nget and Long Saroeun (Sarin)⁵⁶⁷ alias Roeun/Rin were Meas Muth's deputies.⁵⁶⁸ However, soon after their arrival in Kampong Som, Saroeun and Nget were demoted from their positions as Division 3 Deputy Commanders and replaced by Hoeng Doeun alias Doem (Dim) and Chey Han alias Chhan (Norng Chhan). Saroeun became Regiment 140 Commander⁵⁶⁹ while Nget remained a member of the Division Committee and a Regiment 20/161 leader.⁵⁷⁰
209. Within Division 3, each military unit received orders from, and regularly reported to, its immediate superior level: the group (around three soldiers) received its orders and reported to the squad (around 12 soldiers), the platoon (more than 30 soldiers) to the company (100-150 soldiers), the company to the battalion (more than 300 soldiers), the battalion to the regiment (around 1,000 soldiers or more), and the regiment and independent battalions to the Division, commanded by Meas Muth.⁵⁷¹ The subjects of regimental reports were battlefield news, conduct and discipline of cadres and soldiers, and agricultural and health issues.⁵⁷² Reporting was considered the "absolute" most important duty.⁵⁷³ Reports were made orally, in writing, or over the radio.⁵⁷⁴ Prior to 17 April 1975, Meas Muth himself reported to Zone secretary Ta Mok, who then reported to the Centre.⁵⁷⁵ After the capture of

Phnom Penh, Meas Muth, as Commander of the Navy and Secretary of the independent sector of Kampong Som, reported directly to the General Staff for military matters and to the Party Centre for sector administrative issues.⁵⁷⁶

210. Prior to the final attack on Phnom Penh which started on 1 January 1975, Division 3 troops fought in Kampot area, Longveak, and other locations along National Road 4.⁵⁷⁷ In early 1975, Meas Muth issued orders to his Division 3 troops while fighting for Phnom Penh from his headquarters of Phnum Tmat Pong.⁵⁷⁸ Although Division 3 effectively participated in the capture of Phnom Penh on 17 April 1975 via Thnal Totoeung and Stung Meanchey,⁵⁷⁹ it was never stationed inside the town and remained in the Chom Chau area near Pochentong Airfield.⁵⁸⁰
211. In the hours following the capture of Phnom Penh, the entire Division 3 was transferred to commence garrison duties in the Kampong Som area, leaving the city via National Road 4 using various means of transport.⁵⁸¹ Once in Kampong Som, various Division 3 units were posted at Ream Naval base,⁵⁸² Kang Keng Airport,⁵⁸³ and Ochheuteal.⁵⁸⁴ Division 3 moved its headquarters to Kampong Som city.⁵⁸⁵
212. In Kampong Som, the Division 3 troops were immediately joined by Sector 37 forces, particularly Battalion 386.⁵⁸⁶ These forces were attached to Division 3 and placed under Meas Muth's authority, although they were not formally incorporated into the Division until late July 1975.⁵⁸⁷ Meas Muth himself declared that, in May 1975, Division 3 already comprised a subordinate regiment made up of forces from Sector 37.⁵⁸⁸ As Division 3 lacked personnel who were familiar with the islands and ships, Battalion 386 troops stationed at Ream Naval base first helped to operate the boats and defend the islands off the coast, including the distant Koh Tang and Koh Poulo Wai.⁵⁸⁹
213. Before 17 April 1975, Division 3 had three regiments. Nearly all witnesses stated that their numerical designations were 20, 21, and 22,⁵⁹⁰ although some others, including Meas Muth, identified these regiments as either 13, 14, 15 or 16⁵⁹¹ or even 31, 32 or 33.⁵⁹² Evidence shows that Regiment 20 comprised at least four battalions – 310, 320, 330 and 370.⁵⁹³ Regiment 21 had authority over Battalions 410 (formerly known as 103 under Sector 33),⁵⁹⁴ 420 (formerly known as 102 under Sector 33),⁵⁹⁵ 430, 480 and likely 415 as well.⁵⁹⁶ Subordinate to Regiment 22 were at least the four Battalions 520, 530, 540, and

550 (sometimes called 560) and possibly Battalion 580 as well.⁵⁹⁷ Meas Muth mentioned that, between 17 April 1975 and the creation of Centre Division 164, Division 3 had a fourth Regiment comprising former Sector 37 troops.⁵⁹⁸ In addition, there were some independent battalions, including Battalion 450 (special forces), directly placed under the authority of Meas Muth.⁵⁹⁹

Division 164 (July 1975 – January 1979)

214. On 22 July 1975, at a large meeting at the Olympic Stadium in Phnom Penh, Pol Pot announced the formation of the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea in a speech to 3,000 soldiers.⁶⁰⁰ As part of this reorganisation, some of the zone military divisions were reorganised into nine new Centre divisions,⁶⁰¹ which reported directly to the General Staff and its leader Son Sen, who officially became Minister of Defence shortly after.⁶⁰² Therefore, the former Division 3 from the Southwest Zone formally became Centre Division 164 on 22 July 1975,⁶⁰³ as Meas Muth announced to Division 3 and Battalion 386 troops on Koh Tang shortly thereafter.⁶⁰⁴ However, Meas Muth erroneously recalled that it was not until the end of 1975 that Division 164 was created.⁶⁰⁵
215. In addition to all former Division 3 soldiers⁶⁰⁶ and the remaining troops from Sector 37 (Battalion 386 in particular),⁶⁰⁷ Division 164 comprised, since its creation, at least 700⁶⁰⁸ (and up to 1,000 – 1,500)⁶⁰⁹ East Zone troops from Sectors 22 and 24 (in particular from Regiment 152), who followed their regiment commander Dim in Kampong Som. Dim became Division 164 First Deputy Commander⁶¹⁰ while Meas Muth retained his position as Political Officer and overall Commander of the division,⁶¹¹ although he alone denied it.⁶¹²
216. The Division 164 headquarters were referred to as ‘M-164’,⁶¹³ the ‘Internal or Inner Office’,⁶¹⁴ or simply the “Division Office” or “Ta Mut’s Office”.⁶¹⁵ It was located in Kampong Som city,⁶¹⁶ but its exact location changed over time from the immediate surroundings of Phsar Leu market in town⁶¹⁷ to a slightly more distant area southeast of the market and northeast of the Sokha hotel,⁶¹⁸ in a compound where Meas Muth resided.⁶¹⁹ According to contemporaneous documents, between 85 and 319 cadres and combatants worked in M-164 in late 1976⁶²⁰ under Keng and Ieng’s authority,⁶²¹ in addition to soldiers of the Special Unit (Battalion 165, formerly Battalion 450) who were posted nearby.⁶²² The cinema close to Phsar Leu was used for Division 164 political meetings, study sessions and marriage ceremonies,⁶²³ while other meetings and training sessions were held in Ochheuteal.⁶²⁴

217. After the incorporation of Sector 37 and East Zone forces, Regiments 20, 21, and 22 of Division 3 (also called 13, 14, and 15 or 16)⁶²⁵ were redesignated as Regiments 161, 162, and 163,⁶²⁶ which were commonly called Regiments 61, 62, and 63.⁶²⁷ Those regiments were responsible for garrison on the off-shore islands (Koh Poulo Wai, Koh Tang, Koh Pring, Koh Rong, Koh Rong Samloem, Koh Seh, Koh Thmei and some other minor islands) as well as on the mainland (Kang Keng, Ream, Toek Sap, Stung Hav, Kampong City; and also a distant radar station on Bokor mountain, near Kampot).⁶²⁸ In August 1975, after Division 3 became Centre Division 164, an independent naval unit called Regiment 140 was also formally created and constituted the Navy sensu stricto.⁶²⁹ As Division Commander, Meas Muth presided over regular meetings between the four regiment commanders and independent battalions.⁶³⁰
218. Each Division 164 regiment was composed of at least three battalions (usually more than 300 members each), each battalion had three or four companies (over 100 members each),⁶³¹ and each company had three or four platoons (more than 30 members each, up to 50)⁶³² and one sapper.⁶³³ Each platoon was divided into three 10 to 12-man squads.⁶³⁴ Subordinate to Regiment 61 were Battalions 611, 612, and 613.⁶³⁵ Battalions 621, 622, 623, and possibly 624 were under Regiment 62.⁶³⁶ Regiment 63 comprised Battalions 631, 632, and 633.⁶³⁷ Regiment 140 (the Navy) had four battalions: 141, 142, 143 and 144.⁶³⁸ In addition, there were six independent battalions placed directly under the authority of Meas Muth and his Division 164 committee: Battalions 165 (formerly Special Battalion 450), 166, 167, 168, 169 and 170.⁶³⁹ Similarly to Division 3 (see above, para. 209), orders and reports were communicated by and to the Division 164 Committee through the chain of command.⁶⁴⁰
219. According to Meas Muth himself, the number of Division 164 soldiers totalled between 10,000 and 12,000 in late 1975.⁶⁴¹ Monthly standing forces statistics provided by Commander Meas Muth to Son Sen show that the number of Division 164 troops was 8,728 in May 1976,⁶⁴² 8,716 in July 1976,⁶⁴³ 8,887 in August 1976,⁶⁴⁴ 8,611 in October

1976,⁶⁴⁵ 8,685 in November 1976,⁶⁴⁶ and 8,568 in March 1977.⁶⁴⁷ Each of the Regiments 61, 62 and 63 had 1,450 or more troops, while Regiment 140 comprised more than 1,150 soldiers.⁶⁴⁸ As for the independent battalions, the number varied between 241 and 841 soldiers according to the battalion concerned and the period.⁶⁴⁹ The March 1977 monthly report shows that Division 164 troops outnumbered any other Centre RAK Division, with their troops ranging from 3,528 to 6,096.⁶⁵⁰ The difference in figures provided by Meas Muth in interviews in 2001 and those he reported to Son Sen in 1976-1977 might be partly attributable to the purge of Division 164 troops which started in 1975 when 400-700 soldiers captured by the Vietnamese Army were released from Koh Tral (Phu Quoc).⁶⁵¹ Thousands of soldiers were removed from their respective units in Division 164 between April 1975 and late 1978, and were disarmed before being forced to work in various worksites, imprisoned and/or executed.⁶⁵² Others were transferred to reinforce the Division 164 forces,⁶⁵³ which may also partly explain Meas Muth's higher total estimates.

220. Division 164 took over missions assigned to Division 3, and was hence in charge of the DK Navy patrolling the territorial waters (in particular Regiment 140 deployed in Kampong Som and near Koh Kong) of about 200 Cambodian sea islands,⁶⁵⁴ the entire Cambodian coastline; and the mainland area around Kampong Som, which extended from Tuek Sab area in the northeast to Stung Hav port in the northwest, and included, among others, Ream, Kang Keng, Bet Trang, and Kampong Som city itself.⁶⁵⁵ According to 1976 documents issued by Meas Muth, in addition to Division 164 troops, Meas Muth's direct authority extended to 8,000 – 9,000 civilians⁶⁵⁶ working in villages and cooperatives of the Kampong Som area.⁶⁵⁷ Contrary to what Meas Muth said in an interview,⁶⁵⁸ those people were not only family members of Division 164 soldiers but comprised peasants from the area, 'new people' from Kampong Som City or Phnom Penh as well as disarmed / purged soldiers.⁶⁵⁹ Administratively, the Kampong Som area was an independent sector chaired by Meas Muth and directly placed under the Party Centre.⁶⁶⁰ Militarily, the sector controlled by Division 164 has been described as the autonomous Military Zone number 7.⁶⁶¹

221. Division 164 was in charge of the protection and security of the Kampong Som port.⁶⁶² The port and the kerosene refinery workers themselves were hierarchically placed under Thuch Rin alias Krin, from the Ministry of Commerce,⁶⁶³ from the moment he arrived in Kampong Som in April 1975⁶⁶⁴ until late February 1978 when he was reassigned as DK ambassador to Hong Kong (and, later on, as the chairman of the Ren Fung company as well).⁶⁶⁵ The evidence shows that Meas Muth and his high-ranking subordinates from Division 164 named (Long) Saroeun, Sok Pheap and Suong, fully controlled the Kampong Som Port and its workers from at least late February 1978 until the arrival of the Vietnamese in early January 1979.⁶⁶⁶ In addition, as regards the management of the Kampong Som sector itself, Meas Muth was the secretary of the “Kampong Som Town CPK Committee”, and was therefore superior to Krin (deputy secretary) and Launh (member, from the State fisheries).⁶⁶⁷

222. As Commander of a Centre Division and therefore as member of the General Staff Committee (and later deputy),⁶⁶⁸ Meas Muth had authority regarding the Cambodian territorial waters over all zone army divisions deployed on the mainland along the sea shore, in particular Division 1 in the West Zone.⁶⁶⁹

Division 164 Committee

223. The composition of Division 164 varied over time due to the successive purges conducted by Meas Muth and the General Staff / Party Centre within the Division.⁶⁷⁰ In July 1975, when Division 164 was created, the Committee was composed of Meas Muth, Commander; Dim, First Deputy Commander;⁶⁷¹ Chhan, Deputy Commander;⁶⁷² Men Nget (also Commander of Regiment 61)⁶⁷³ and Mom Chim alias Yan (also Regiment 63 Commander),⁶⁷⁴ members. Except for Meas Muth, these high-ranking cadres were all arrested, transferred to S-21 between late 1976 and mid-1977, and then executed after their confessions were deemed complete: Chhan was the first to enter S-21 for treason in around October 1976,⁶⁷⁵ followed by Dim on 21 April 1977,⁶⁷⁶ Yan on 28 April 1977⁶⁷⁷ and Men Nget in early June 1977.⁶⁷⁸

224. In the period following these purges, at least three other high-ranking cadres were part of the Division 164 Committee:

- (a) Long Saroeun alias Roeun/Rin (formerly Division 3 Deputy Commander,⁶⁷⁹ Regiment 140 Commander),⁶⁸⁰ Division 164 Deputy Commander from mid-1977 until he was assigned to be Kampong Som Port Chairman in June or July 1978;⁶⁸¹

(b) Kim Nhan alias Nhan (also Regiment 63 Commander), Division 164 Committee member or Deputy Commander in charge of logistics / economics, from mid-1977 or early 1978 until November or December 1978,⁶⁸² the moment when he was sent to Kratie by Meas Muth to replace the purged Division 117 Commander;⁶⁸³

(c) Tim Seng alias Seng, Deputy Commander then Commander of Regiment 140, who replaced Ta Saroeun as Division 164 Deputy Commander when the latter was officially nominated Chairman of the Kampong Som Port instead of Thuch Rin alias Krin in June or July 1978;⁶⁸⁴ at that time, he was acting Division Commander when Meas Muth was away in Phnom Penh or near the Vietnamese front line (including in Kratie),⁶⁸⁵ however, Meas Muth continued to issue his orders to the division through Seng during that period.⁶⁸⁶

225. As the purges progressed within the Division, the role played by Meas Muth's younger brother Meas Im (Oem),⁶⁸⁷ although he was not formally in the division committee, became more important: Meas Muth gave him logistics responsibilities for the entire Division 164. In addition to the role he played in the Stung Hav Committee, he was responsible for building Ochheuteal dam and the Kang Keng worksites (rice fields and Put Thoeung dam).⁶⁸⁸

Composition and Role of Regiments 161, 162, 163 and of the Navy (Regiment 140)

a) Regiment 161 (formerly Regiment 20)

226. Leaders of Regiment 161 were constantly reshuffled, which renders it difficult to determine the exact periods during which its various commanders exercised their authority over the troops.⁶⁸⁹ After 17 April 1975, Tim Seng was the Regiment 20 Commander⁶⁹⁰ until August 1975, when he became Deputy Commander of the newly-created Regiment 140 in Division 164.⁶⁹¹ As far as his activities as Division 164 Committee member permitted, Men Nget continued to play a leadership role in Regiment 20/161 as Commander or Political Commissar after 17 April 1975; he was arrested and transferred to S-21 in June 1977.⁶⁹²

227. Later on, two other cadres became Regiment 161 Commanders: Mao(t) Son alias Son, the former Battalion 370 Commander in Division 3;⁶⁹³ and Sok Pheap.⁶⁹⁴

228. The core tasks of Regiment 161 troops were to defend the coastline and control the islands of Koh Kong and Koh Rong (Koh Rong Thom and Koh Rong Sanloem).⁶⁹⁵ The Regiment 161 headquarters were in Ochheuteal until 1976.⁶⁹⁶ Once the Party Centre decided to build a military harbour in Stung Hav starting in 1976, the Regiment 161 headquarters were relocated there, which facilitated the coordination and surveillance of the labour of hundreds of Division 164 purged soldiers.⁶⁹⁷
229. Although Regiment 20 comprised at least Battalions 310, 320, 330 and 370 between 17 April 1975 and August 1975,⁶⁹⁸ Regiment 61 included only three battalions: Battalions 611, 612 (formerly 370), and 613.⁶⁹⁹ This can be explained by two factors: about 300 Battalion 310 soldiers were disarmed and purged after their release by the Vietnamese Army from Koh Tral in mid-1975, while some other Regiment 20 troops incorporated the newly formed Navy (Regiment 140).⁷⁰⁰ Where Regiment 161 was usually referred to as “61”, Battalions 611, 612 and 613 were sometimes called “1”, “2” or “3”.⁷⁰¹
230. The investigations into this case did not reveal who the leaders of Battalion 611 were. Long Phansy succeeded Mao Son as the commander of Battalion 612 until 1977 or 1978.⁷⁰² This battalion was stationed at Stung Hav.⁷⁰³ Lan was Battalion 613 Secretary⁷⁰⁴ and Sek Hieng or Sek Phieng was Deputy Secretary.⁷⁰⁵ A cadre named Yeang was described as being first a Battalion commander in Regiment 61, before his transfer as Commander of Regiment 162.⁷⁰⁶ Vanni and Pheng were other battalion leaders (mortar unit) in Stung Hav.⁷⁰⁷

b) Regiment 162 (formerly Regiment 21)

231. Iek Mienh (or Moeun/Meanh/Manh/Meahk) was the First Commander of Regiment 21/162 after 17 April 1975,⁷⁰⁸ and Son was his deputy.⁷⁰⁹ After Meanh was transferred out of Regiment 162 in 1976 (and imprisoned at Toek Sap security centre),⁷¹⁰ Son served as the interim Commander of Regiment 162 until Yeang (or Yang) became the Commander and Saroeun the Deputy Commander.⁷¹¹ S-21 records also indicate that a cadre named San Seab alias Sam had been Deputy Secretary of Regiment prior to his arrest in April 1977.⁷¹²
232. Regiment 162 comprised Battalions 621, 622, 623 and 624,⁷¹³ while the previous Regiment 21 denominations were 410, 415, 420, 430, 450 and 480.⁷¹⁴ Immediately after 17 April 1975, this regiment was first headquartered near Ream⁷¹⁵ and its soldiers were deployed to islands close to Ream and to various distant southern islands including Koh Poulo Wai

Chas, Koh Poulo Wai Thmei, Koh Tang, Koh Pring (and, for a couple of weeks, the disputed Koh Krachak Ses).⁷¹⁶ After the redesignation of Regiment 21 as Regiment 162 in July-August 1975, Infantry Regiment 162 controlled the distant southwestern islands of Koh Tang, Koh Poulo Wai (Thmei and Chas – new and old), Koh Pring, Koh Veal (Ver) and a number of smaller islands.⁷¹⁷ It was headquartered at Koh Tang Island.⁷¹⁸

233. Battalion 480 became Battalion 621 following redesignation.⁷¹⁹ Nop Norn was Battalion 621 Commander until he was arrested in May 1977.⁷²⁰ After he disappeared, Svay Sameth alias Met, his deputy, became Commander in mid- to late-1977.⁷²¹ Battalion 621 troops were first deployed to Ream and various islands before settling on Koh Poulo Wai Thmei,⁷²² where it was headquartered.⁷²³ At Koh Poulo Wai Thmei, Battalion 621's four companies received captured boats and crew.⁷²⁴
234. Yeun alias Yoeun was the original Commander of Battalion 622⁷²⁵ until Samnang replaced him in around late 1975.⁷²⁶ According to Witness Nop Hal, Soeun was the Battalion 622 secretary at some point.⁷²⁷ Battalion 622 comprised three companies⁷²⁸ which were stationed on Koh Poulo Wai Chas.⁷²⁹ The procedure of seizing boats on Koh Poulo Wai Chas entailed the battalion reporting to Regiment 62 at Koh Tang, and then the regiment reporting to the division via their port.⁷³⁰
235. Torn, Koem Men and Samnang alias Kauv were the main leaders of Battalion 623 (which included former Battalion 420).⁷³¹ Although Koem Men stated that Samnang was the commander and Torn and himself were his deputies, two other witnesses declared that Torn was the battalion commander with Koem Men as deputy.⁷³² Battalion 623 was stationed mainly at Koh Pring, Koh Ver, and Koh Tang islands.⁷³³ Witness Nop Hal claimed that Regiment 62 also encompassed another battalion based on Koh Tang, namely Battalion 624, commanded first by Nhan, then Chum.⁷³⁴

c) Regiment 163 (formerly Regiment 22)⁷³⁵

236. Immediately after 17 April 1975, Yan was the commander, Sras the Deputy Commander and Nhan the member of Regiment 22/63.⁷³⁶ Yan, also a Division 164 Committee member since its creation, was arrested and transferred to S-21 on 28 April 1977 (see above, Division 164 Committee);⁷³⁷ Sras was similarly arrested.⁷³⁸ Sin Chorn replaced Yan as Regiment 163 commander before Yan's arrest, likely in late 1976.⁷³⁹ Despite having killed people without the authorisation of Meas Muth,⁷⁴⁰ Kim Nhan was first promoted to Regiment 163 Deputy Commander under Chorn's authority,⁷⁴¹ then commander⁷⁴² after Chorn himself was arrested in 1977.⁷⁴³ Nhan occupied this position until Meas Muth ordered him to go to Kratie to replace the Division 117 Commander who had been arrested and sent to S-21.⁷⁴⁴

237. Regiment 163's headquarters were first located at Kang Keng,⁷⁴⁵ then at Toek Sap until the end of the regime.⁷⁴⁶ Regiment 163 managed the adjacent Toek Sap security centre⁷⁴⁷ as well as the worksites in Ream Commune (including Kang Keng and Bet Trang).⁷⁴⁸ Regiment 163 troops were also stationed on Koh Seh and Koh Thmei islands close to Koh Tral (Vietnam).⁷⁴⁹
238. After 17 April 1975, Battalions 520, 530, 540, 550 (560) and probably 580, were subordinate to Regiment 22.⁷⁵⁰ In July 1975, Battalion 520 was transferred to be part of the new naval regiment (140), Battalion 530 became Battalion 631, Battalion 540 became Battalion 632, and Battalion 550 (560) was then called 633.⁷⁵¹ Most members of these battalions continued to call them by their previous designations.⁷⁵² Battalion 580 was likely absorbed into Battalion 632 after July 1975 as the coconut plantation where it was stationed was in the Kang Keng / Au Mlou area covered by Battalion 540/632.⁷⁵³
239. Most of the soldiers of Battalion 520, which was under Han's control, were incorporated into Regiment 140 at the time of its creation.⁷⁵⁴ Han became the Regiment 140 Commander in late 1978 (see below, d) Independent Naval Regiment 140).
240. The Battalion 631(530) Commander was Kung Kien alias Oeng Vet (or usually just "Vet"), who was arrested and imprisoned in S-21 in April 1977,⁷⁵⁵ and Mon was its Deputy Commander.⁷⁵⁶ First stationed at Kang Keng Airfield,⁷⁵⁷ then shortly in Toek Sap in 1975,⁷⁵⁸ the Battalion 631 troops were stationed on Koh Seh from 1976 onwards.⁷⁵⁹ After Oeng Vet's arrest, some Battalion 631 troops were then transferred to the battlefield in the East Zone.⁷⁶⁰
241. The Commander of Battalion 632 (540) was Nhet Sary.⁷⁶¹ Its headquarters were located in Au Mlou near Kang Keng.⁷⁶²

242. Battalion 633 (550)'s Commander was Tep Chhoeun (Witness Mak Chhoeun).⁷⁶³ After being deployed to various islands,⁷⁶⁴ this battalion was posted to Koh Thmei from 1975 and Koh Seh from 1977 (after the arrest of Battalion 631 Commander Vet), until the end of the regime.⁷⁶⁵ Meas Muth ordered Battalion 633 (550) to defend these islands and Cambodian waters against any incursion by the Vietnamese stationed close by on Koh Tral (Phu Quoc island).⁷⁶⁶

d) Independent Naval Regiment 140

243. Division 164's naval unit, Regiment 140, operated since July-August 1975, i.e. since Centre Division 164 was created.⁷⁶⁷ It comprised soldiers from the three Division 3 regiments, some Sector 37 soldiers, and a contingent from the East Zone.⁷⁶⁸ Regiment 140's core mission was to protect the islands and sea borders through its control of all navy boats and battleships,⁷⁶⁹ which were stationed at various locations.⁷⁷⁰

244. Saroeun was the first Regiment 140 Commander⁷⁷¹ under the immediate authority of Meas Muth.⁷⁷² He remained in this position until he became Division Deputy Commander in 1977, after Dim was arrested.⁷⁷³ Sam (from the East Zone) was the First Deputy Commander for a short period of time as he was arrested then forced to make a confession at S-21 as early as July 1976,⁷⁷⁴ well before Saroeun's promotion. Seng was the Second Regiment 140 Deputy Commander from 1975 or 1976.⁷⁷⁵ After Sam's arrest and Saroeun's promotion, Tim Seng officially became Regiment 140 Commander, for about one year starting in mid-1977⁷⁷⁶ and ending with his appointment, after a period of technical training in China,⁷⁷⁷ as Division 164 Deputy Commander in June-July 1978.⁷⁷⁸ After Tim Seng was transferred to the Division 164 Committee, Han was promoted to Commander of Regiment 140.⁷⁷⁹ Moeun (Battalion 141 chief, formerly Special Battalion 450 Commander), Chhav, Chhin Sambath alias Bau and Uoch worked under Han.⁷⁸⁰ However, Witness Pak Sok claimed that Bau became Regiment 140 military Commander towards the end of the regime.⁷⁸¹

245. Ochheuteal port became Regiment 140's command location.⁷⁸² Naval trainings were conducted annually at Ochheuteal for Regiment 140 members, each for three to six months.⁷⁸³ Training focused on machinery, weapons, telecommunications, maintenance, course plotting, and navigation.⁷⁸⁴ The port was used to harbour and prepare military

battleships⁷⁸⁵ and as a place where persons captured at sea were disembarked, including Thai and Vietnamese.⁷⁸⁶

246. Regiment 140 was divided up into four fleets: pursuit, defence, anti-submarine, and minesweeper.⁷⁸⁷ These fleets corresponded to Regiment 140's four Battalions: 141, 142, 143, and 144.⁷⁸⁸
247. Battalion 141 was the Chase Vessel unit,⁷⁸⁹ commanded by Sar Moeun alias Moeun⁷⁹⁰ assisted by Kun Dim, Deputy Secretary,⁷⁹¹ until the latter was arrested on 20 April 1977 in April 1977 and executed at S-21 on 19 September 1977.⁷⁹² Battalion 141 comprised a dozen armed pursuit/floating vessels,⁷⁹³ which were designed to shoot large enemy targets including submarines.⁷⁹⁴
248. Battalion 142, known as the Defense Vessel unit,⁷⁹⁵ was commanded by Kung Sean alias Sang (San),⁷⁹⁶ after Han had been transferred to Battalion 144 and from there to the Regiment 140 Committee.⁷⁹⁷ Kung Sean was also arrested in April 1977 and "died of disease" at S-21 in February 1978.⁷⁹⁸ Battalion 142's defence vessels included former U.S. Patrol Craft Fast or Swift (PCF) boats and Chinese fast attack boats,⁷⁹⁹ which were used to intercept and fight enemies.⁸⁰⁰ The vessels were stationed at Ream port⁸⁰¹ and at various islands rather than at Ochheuteal, including Koh Tang, Koh Kong, and Koh Rong Samloem.⁸⁰² The 12-men PCF boats were modern, fast, and well-armed and engaged in combat and captured many foreign boats found in Cambodian-claimed waters.⁸⁰³ The armed Chinese vessels (30-40 crew members)⁸⁰⁴ were used to attack larger warships as their shells carried almost a ton of explosives.⁸⁰⁵ Whatever the ship type, direct orders from the Division were required for these vessels to attack enemies and capture boats⁸⁰⁶
249. Battalion 143 controlled two anti-submarine ships. Liet Lan alias Nam Lan was its chairman, and Chhorn its other ship leader in 1978.⁸⁰⁷ Previously, Neav Rem (Ren) was the Secretary of Battalion 143 (formerly in Battalion 386),⁸⁰⁸ he was shot dead by Meas Muth's Special Battalion 165 bodyguards, according to Witness Ek Ny.⁸⁰⁹
250. Battalion 144 was under Han's command until mid-1978, when he became Regiment 140 Commander.⁸¹⁰ The Battalion maintained four minesweepers which were brought out to sea after destroying mines in the Mekong river.⁸¹¹ Two were stationed at Kep,⁸¹² and the rest at Koh Rong Samloem.⁸¹³ Those fast ships were used to protect the sea waters and assist in capturing foreign boats.⁸¹⁴

251. Each of the four Regiment 140 battalions was trained and organised to be responsible for patrol vessels at sea and around the Cambodian islands.⁸¹⁵ The patrol zones were divided and the battalions would take turns to patrol their respective zones.⁸¹⁶

Independent Battalions

a) Battalion 165 (Special Forces, formerly Battalion 450)

252. Battalion 165 (formerly Battalion 450 under Division 3) was a Division 164 special and independent unit (also called “Special Forces” or special intervention unit) that reported directly to Meas Muth rather than being under the command of a regiment.⁸¹⁷
253. Before the creation of Division 164, Battalion 450 was charged with diverse tasks such as assisting regiments on the battlefield before April 1975, guarding the Kampong Som port warehouses, or being deployed on Koh Tang island between April and August 1975.⁸¹⁸ The new Independent Battalion 165’s tasks were refocused after July-August 1975 on security and defence missions alone: this elite battalion was in charge of the protection of Meas Muth at all times, of security at the division headquarters and Kampong Som town, of the management and security of Wat Enta Nhien security centre, and of investigating on and arresting most of the Division 164 combatants who were deemed to be traitors or ‘bad elements’.⁸¹⁹
254. Independent Battalion 165 personnel included Meas Muth’s messengers and bodyguards. Statistics provided by Meas Muth in late 1976 establish that the Battalion comprised 265 elite soldiers.⁸²⁰
255. Sar Moeun alias Moeun became the first Battalion 450 Commander before 17 April 1975, and continued to hold that position until the creation of Regiment 140 in August 1975 (he was then assigned as Battalion 141 Commander).⁸²¹ Thean, and Em Sun also held leadership roles at the time.⁸²² Battalion 165 leaders after August 1975 included Chhun Lun alias Sam-At alias Sun, Deputy Commander, who entered S-21 in June 1976 after Meas Muth reported his case to Son Sen and was executed on 1 October 1976;⁸²³ and Norn, chief of the Battalion 165 guards posted at the entrance of Meas Muth's house and division headquarters.⁸²⁴

b) Battalions 166, 167, 168, 169 and 170

256. Division 164 also included Independent Battalions 166, 167, 168, 169, and 170, placed under the direct authority of Meas Muth and the Division 164 Committee members. This included in particular Kim Nhan alias Nhan, who was responsible for the logistics in 1977-1978 and took care of logistical tasks for the Division, including those relating to artillery, transport, health etc.⁸²⁵
257. Independent Battalion 166, with over 240 soldiers,⁸²⁶ was in charge of the artillery.⁸²⁷
258. Independent Battalion 167 was a unit of more than 400 women including many medics,⁸²⁸ commanded by Neang or Leang as Secretary.⁸²⁹ The battalion included four companies, including two stationed in Stung Hav and one in Otres.⁸³⁰ When there were no patients to treat, Battalion 167 female medics were put to work.⁸³¹ they first helped build Ochheuteal dam until 1976, then harvested rice in Smach Daeng,⁸³² and, in late 1977, moved to Chamkar Trabek to assist in building Stung Hav port.⁸³³
259. Battalion 168 was the largest independent battalion, with 730 to 840 soldiers, and was in charge of transportation.⁸³⁴ There is no clear evidence in relation to its authority structure.
260. Battalion 169 was a military medical/hospital section comprising 320 to 380 members.⁸³⁵
261. Battalion 170 was a lathing/repair unit made up of more than 320 soldiers.⁸³⁶ There was a hundred-member unit within Battalion 170 that cleaned, repaired, and stored Division 164's weapons at Kampong Som.⁸³⁷ Pen Ham was the secretary of Battalion 170 until his incarceration at S-21 on 27 April 1977 and his execution on 14 February 1978.⁸³⁸ Nguon Lak(k) alias Sarat was its deputy secretary, but was similarly arrested and imprisoned in S-21 on 28 April 1977 and executed on 13 March 1978.⁸³⁹

V.COMMUNICATIONS

1. INTRODUCTION

262. In the process and aid of carrying out his crimes, Meas Muth and those under his command sent and received communications and orders through various methods to and from those in the Party Centre, and to and from those who were his and their subordinates. Communications were sent and received in various ways, including telegraph, telephone, messengers, meetings, two-way radio, one-way radio broadcasts, and publications.

2. INTERNAL COMMUNICATION WITHIN DIVISION 164

263. The evidence detailed below demonstrates the existence of a robust communications system within Division 164 that: 1) provided Meas Muth with extensive knowledge of matters within his area of control, including crimes; 2) allowed him and those under his control to issue orders, including orders related to the perpetration of crimes; and 3) allowed him and those under his control to coordinate with others in perpetrating crimes.

264. Division 164 headquarters, where Meas Muth was primarily based, was the communications nerve centre for the Kampong Som area and for Division 164. It had its own messengers,⁸⁴⁰ radio operators,⁸⁴¹ and telephone operators,⁸⁴² all of them at Meas Muth's disposal. As Witness Em Sun stated, "M-164 was the division head office, where many sections such as inventory, documentation, courier, and communication sections were located."⁸⁴³ Also within Division 164 headquarters were residential quarters for messengers and a communications training facility where Division 164 troops would attend training on radio communication.⁸⁴⁴ In short, by design, all communications eventually either reached or passed through Meas Muth's Divisional headquarters, where operators and messengers kept Meas Muth and other Division 164 leaders fully informed, and distributed Meas Muth's and other Divisional leaders' orders. Division 164 messengers and radio operators personally assigned to Meas Muth included Sary alias Khan, Mon, Kol, Yan, and Ngoy.⁸⁴⁵ Witness Heang Reth explained that there were 103 persons at Division headquarters "who were tasked with managing the communication system to the islands, daily commands to the radar, reports, forward commands to the islands and Bokor Mountain. I think it was called K-1 or Office 1 which was tasked with managing all documents of the division”.⁸⁴⁶

265. In total, Division 164 had approximately 400 personnel with communication duties divided amongst units at the headquarters, regiment, and battalion levels. In November 1976, the Division 164 communications staff comprised 337 messengers, 66 radio operators, and 26 telephone operators.⁸⁴⁷ After the CPK initially took power, Division 3 troops relied on Lon Nol soldiers to instruct them in the use of the telegraph, radio, and signal systems but they soon learned to operate these systems on their own.⁸⁴⁸
266. Almost always, requests, orders, and reports flowed up and down the Division 164 chain of command hierarchically, with Meas Muth’s headquarters at the apex.⁸⁴⁹ “[C]ommunication was from the units to the battalions and finally to the division. Orders were issued from the division to the lower units.”⁸⁵⁰ Prum Sarat explained more specifically: “Orders were transmitted from division to regiment, from regiment to battalion, from battalion to company, and from company directly to the personnel.”⁸⁵¹ Pak Sok described the life-cycle of a transmission up and down the chain of command: “Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons.”⁸⁵²
267. On rare occasions, such as during the Mayaguez Incident, Meas Muth dispensed with the hierarchy and communicated with the engaged units directly.⁸⁵³ Likewise, in an emergency—such as a ship deemed to be entering the territorial waters of Cambodia—units were allowed to skip over the hierarchy if their direct superiors were not available, and report directly to the Divisional headquarters.⁸⁵⁴ However, Regiments and Independent Battalions within Division 164 never received orders other than from Division 164 leaders.⁸⁵⁵
268. This hierarchical reporting structure was consistent across RAK divisions, and generally within the CPK.⁸⁵⁶ The orders that were transmitted almost always initiated with Meas Muth; only in his absence would a designated subordinate be allowed to communicate orders to the top levels of the Division:

All of the decisions came from the senior leader. His deputy could issue the orders only when Ta Mut was absent. In the battalion, Han issued the orders. Other people could speak, communicate, or write down the orders, but decision-making was chairman's work. In a case where the deputy chairmen, the members, and chairman were absent, everyone discussed the measures to be taken, but decisions were made by the chairman.⁸⁵⁷

269. Ou Dav stated that while Meas Muth would receive some orders from the Party Centre, he also "made decisions by himself. Meas Muth's subordinates did not dare make decisions by themselves."⁸⁵⁸
270. In order for Meas Muth to remain continuously informed of matters within Division 164 and within his area of control, Regiment and Independent Battalion commanders were required to make at least daily reports to Division headquarters after receiving and processing reports from the units under their command.⁸⁵⁹ Hing Uch provided a window into the bureaucratic regularity with which reports were conveyed upwards to Meas Muth after receiving reports from lower units: "we summarised each point, wrote the important points into the report in the order of their significance, and wrote all of the points into that one report."⁸⁶⁰ These reports were regular, frequent, precise, and inclusive and required to be detailed. Nop Hal explained: "The orders stated clearly that we had to report every detail of our investigations on the sea of Cambodia; those orders were from higher level."⁸⁶¹ These thorough reports would ultimately be conveyed to Meas Muth and his deputies, leaving no doubt that Meas Muth had extensive knowledge of matters occurring within his area of control: "I reported to a radio operator in the division, who then relayed my report to the the Division Commanders, Ta Mut and Ta Dim."⁸⁶²
271. Meas Muth was no passive recipient of these reports. A witness explained, "As the most senior commander in overall charge, Meas Mut wanted to know what happened in the division."⁸⁶³ Meas Muth was, in today's parlance, a micromanager of Division 164 as they carried out their crimes:

Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons.⁸⁶⁴

272. Meas Muth's desire to have extensive and comprehensive knowledge of what transpired within his area of authority is reflected in the evidence of the varied topics reported on, from the important to the mundane. Reports covered topics including the military situation,⁸⁶⁵ the numbers of dead and wounded after a battle,⁸⁶⁶ whether boats were captured and people arrested,⁸⁶⁷ problems that occurred in units,⁸⁶⁸ whether plans and assignments were implemented,⁸⁶⁹ logistical problems such as lack of fuel or repair for ships,⁸⁷⁰ construction,⁸⁷¹ rice production,⁸⁷² health problems,⁸⁷³ and "mistakes".⁸⁷⁴ Even when Meas Muth was away from Kampong Som Sector, Dim, his deputy, would send him reports to keep him updated.⁸⁷⁵
273. Meas Muth continued to give orders via radio and telegraph to Division 164 after he was sent to Phnom Penh and then to Kratie. One instance of this occurred when Meas Muth gave the order to destroy Division 164 vessels so that the Vietnamese could not use them when they entered.⁸⁷⁶ Indeed, until the very last days of the DK regime, Meas Muth either gave orders to Division 164 units by telegram,⁸⁷⁷ or he relayed the orders through Tim Seng, the acting chairperson of Division 164.⁸⁷⁸
274. The reporting structure just described utilised a number of communication methods, including radio, telegrams, telephones, messengers, and meetings, and also conveyed information from a radar system.

RADIO

275. Radio communication was used within Division 164,⁸⁷⁹ and was available shortly after Division 3's arrival in Kampong Som.⁸⁸⁰ Division 164's radio communication headquarters was located at division headquarters and included two to three radio communication operators,⁸⁸¹ including Keng and Kol.⁸⁸² Over time, there were different persons in charge of the radio communication unit, including Kol, Sary,⁸⁸³ and Phal.⁸⁸⁴ Yan and Ngoy were Meas Muth's personal radio operators.⁸⁸⁵
276. The head of the radio communication unit, as well as other radio operators and messengers, would also act as go-betweens for Meas Muth and the radio unit, both receiving messages for Meas Muth and sending his messages out to the intended recipients.⁸⁸⁶ The Division 164 radio system used call signs to identify particular individuals including Meas Muth, whose call sign was “63”.⁸⁸⁷ In Meas Muth’s absence, other cadres such as Tim Seng alias Seng would relay orders to cadres in the field through their own call signals.⁸⁸⁸

277. Multiple radio operators were typically attached to all of the Regiments, and some of the Independent Battalions. Regiment 62 had sixteen radio operators in November 1976.⁸⁸⁹ Radio communication among various units was used throughout the day as needed,⁸⁹⁰ and Regiments and Independent Battalions reported to Division headquarters “from the morning to the night”.⁸⁹¹ “We reported our situation by radio to Meas Mut’s division every day.”⁸⁹² Reports of the communications would then be entered into a log for Meas Muth to reference.⁸⁹³
278. Radios were widely dispersed throughout the Kampong Som area and islands. Division 164 vessels were equipped with radios,⁸⁹⁴ through which they reported daily to the Regiment or Division,⁸⁹⁵ and there were also radios on the islands.⁸⁹⁶ Regiment 140’s headquarters on the mainland had two radio operators⁸⁹⁷ and there were also radio stations located at various other places on the mainland. For instance, a radio station was located at Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre for a period, along with a dedicated radio operator and messenger.⁸⁹⁸ This station later moved to Ochheuteal.⁸⁹⁹
279. The radios in the field were always kept on, ready to receive messages, and the units had multiple radios so that if one overheated, another one could be turned on while the first cooled.⁹⁰⁰ There were different types of radios in use, with those on the islands having a range of 25 kilometres.⁹⁰¹

TELEGRAM

280. Division 164 utilised telegram communication,⁹⁰² and Division headquarters provided training for telegraphing.⁹⁰³ Meas Muth frequently communicated orders by telegraph from Division 164 headquarters.⁹⁰⁴
281. In addition to Division 164 headquarters, there were a number of telegraph offices throughout Kampong Som Autonomous Sector. For instance, there was a telegraph office near Ochheuteal for Regiment 140, which would communicate with ships and, through the ships, units stationed on islands.⁹⁰⁵ Most Division 164 ships were equipped with one or two

Chinese-made telegraph machines that were used to receive orders and to communicate with other units.⁹⁰⁶

282. Division 164 Regiments and Independent Battalions sent daily telegrams to the division headquarters after collecting and summarising reports from within their area of operation.⁹⁰⁷ Telegrams, as opposed to radio, were also used for the dissemination of information considered sensitive because it could be encrypted through secret codes.⁹⁰⁸ Urgent telegrams were used to disseminate important information such as travel of troops to Kampong Som City to study, boating accidents, bombings, and killings.⁹⁰⁹
283. There was also a telegraph office near Koh Kong port, which would allow for coordination between Division 1 radar and Division 164 ships.⁹¹⁰

TELEPHONE

284. Division 164 had an internal telephone network, whose centre office, led by Keng, was located within the Division 164 headquarters.⁹¹¹ Telephone lines were used for communication between Division headquarters, and Regiment or Battalion Commanders.⁹¹² There were 12 young female cadres at the division telephone office that were trained by the Chinese to operate a switchboard and to repair telephones.⁹¹³ Code numbers attached to various lines on the switchboard were used to connect people.⁹¹⁴ Meas Muth had his own extension number on the switchboard, and calls from battalion commanders could be routed directly to him.⁹¹⁵ However, he would often send a messenger to the switchboard office to make outgoing calls for him.⁹¹⁶
285. Cadres in the field used telephone to communicate with Division headquarters and other superiors, and to carry out various functions, such as requesting supplies.⁹¹⁷ For instance, Iek Manh had telephone and telegram equipment in his house in Stung Hav to facilitate communication with Meas Muth.⁹¹⁸ At least Regiments 61 and 62, as well as Battalion 169, all had dedicated telephone operators, with Regiment 62 having the largest number of operators at 15 in November 1976.⁹¹⁹ One witness, however, stated that all battalions on the mainland had a telephone line.⁹²⁰ A telephone line also connected Division headquarters to the radar station in Bokor.⁹²¹ There was no regular telephone reporting schedule, it was used on an as-needed basis.⁹²²

MESSENGERS

286. Messengers were a common method of communication within the Division. Division 164 had a messenger unit, and two to four messengers always accompanied Meas Muth.⁹²³ “The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time.”⁹²⁴ When Meas Muth would travel, he would always take a messenger with him.⁹²⁵ “When Meas Mut attended any major meetings or training courses, [his messenger] always accompanied him.”⁹²⁶ Phal, Ieng, Kung, and Mon all served as Meas Muth’s personal messengers at various times.⁹²⁷ While Phal was Meas Muth’s messenger, he was also in charge of the radio section at the Divisional headquarters.⁹²⁸ Phal would act as a go-between for Meas Muth and the radio unit for radio communications coming in from Division 164 field offices, and orders going out by radio to the field offices.⁹²⁹
287. Division 164 Regiments and Independent Battalions had messengers as well.⁹³⁰ A list of forces from November 1976 shows varying numbers of messengers distributed amongst all of the Division 164 Regiments and Independent Battalions except for Battalion 169, with the largest contingent, 65 messengers, attached to Regiment 63.⁹³¹ There were messengers attached to the radar station at Bokor as well.⁹³² Messengers would be used to deliver both oral and written messages, and messages sent by messenger were usually of high importance.⁹³³

MEETINGS

288. Division 3/164 began holding regular meetings almost immediately after their arrival in Kampong Som Sector, where information and orders were conveyed to lower level cadres.⁹³⁴ Meas Muth would frequently preside over these meetings.⁹³⁵ “Sometimes the orders were relayed via communication radio. In other cases we were called to attend meetings or trainings where the orders were raised.”⁹³⁶ Division 164 plenary meetings “attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164,”⁹³⁷ were held once a month or once every two months in Kampong Som, which addressed, among other topics, country construction, and defence of the maritime borders.⁹³⁸ These meetings were typically chaired by either Meas Muth or his deputy, Dim.⁹³⁹

289. Meas Muth also organised and chaired smaller meetings for regiment commanders at his headquarters for “work planning” three times a month,⁹⁴⁰ while battalion commanders also had regular meetings with their regiment commander.⁹⁴¹ Meetings were also organised for battalion, company, and platoon commanders at various locations, and Meas Muth would frequently attend even these lower-level meetings.⁹⁴²
290. Indeed, a wide variety of meetings were held. In addition to those already mentioned, there were political training sessions often taught by Meas Muth and Dim,⁹⁴³ Party Member and Youth League meetings which discussed topics such as the conflict with Vietnam,⁹⁴⁴ Regiment 140 Navy training sessions,⁹⁴⁵ and “livelihood” meetings.⁹⁴⁶ There were also “special meetings” to discuss topics such as the purge of East Zone members.⁹⁴⁷
291. While meetings did not include all Division 164 cadres at one time, the senior members of units who attended meetings with Meas Muth and/or others would typically return and convey the information they obtained to those under their command. Heang Reth explained that he “did not participate in the meetings with Meas Muth directly. The battalion chief directly participated in the meetings with Meas Muth and he passed the information onto [his] unit”.⁹⁴⁸ Information was thus passed on dutifully: “[e]ach representative of the units further conveyed the events to their respective units. However, the message that was further conveyed was not different from the original plan that the division received”.⁹⁴⁹ Similarly, unit leaders would typically gather information from their subordinates before they attended meetings.⁹⁵⁰
292. Meetings were not only held in a variety of places in Kampong Som City and on the islands, but also in other locations in Kampong Som Sector, including Stung Hav,⁹⁵¹ and in Ream.⁹⁵² Battalion and Regiment leaders were sometimes called to meetings or study sessions where they were arrested,⁹⁵³ and at meetings Meas Muth and others would sometimes announce the arrests of traitors.⁹⁵⁴

RADAR FACILITIES

293. Division 164 established radar facilities at Bokor Mountain, and Koh Tang, and coordinated with the Division 1 radar station at Koh Kong.⁹⁵⁵ The radar facilities at these locations were operated by dedicated units,⁹⁵⁶ and the one at Bokor Mountain was overseen by Uk Nang.⁹⁵⁷

294. These radar facilities were established to identify foreign ships and planes that navigated in and around Cambodian waters and airspace.⁹⁵⁸ When a foreign ship was detected, the radar facilities would communicate with Division 164 units in order to intercept and apprehend the ship.⁹⁵⁹ (See VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea.)

3. COMMUNICATION BETWEEN DIVISION 164 AND THE CENTRE

295. Division 164 was one of the divisions under the control of the Centre.⁹⁶⁰ The General Staff was in overall command of the Centre Divisions and dealt with military affairs, including supply, logistics, arms, personnel, communications, and information.⁹⁶¹ Meas Muth, as Division 164 commander, reported directly to the General Staff.⁹⁶² His direct superior was Son Sen, chairman of the General Staff and Deputy Prime Minister in charge of Defence.⁹⁶³
296. There was constant communication between divisions and the Centre, with several contacts each day.⁹⁶⁴ The General Staff used radio to communicate with divisions.⁹⁶⁵ Telephone or telegram was utilised when confidentiality was required.⁹⁶⁶ For example, telegrams were sent to summon commanders to confidential meetings.⁹⁶⁷
297. Meas Muth participated in monthly meetings of the General Staff in Phnom Penh to discuss military matters.⁹⁶⁸ For example, on 3 August 1976, Meas Muth reported on the deployment of Division 164 forces in Kampong Som and received instructions including to “[s]trengthen and expand both human and weapon forces” in a meeting attended by Son Sen, Vorn Vet, Comrade Dim, and Comrade Nget.⁹⁶⁹ Meas Muth has acknowledged attending meetings with Son Sen, but claims they only discussed rice production.⁹⁷⁰ Meas Muth also met with CPK leaders in Kampong Som.⁹⁷¹
298. Larger military meetings were held at Olympic Stadium in Phnom Penh and attended by senior CPK figures and military commanders, including those at the division level.⁹⁷² In mid-1977, Meas Muth attended a large meeting in Phnom Penh with, inter alia, Pol Pot, Ta Mok, Nuon Chea, Son Sen, Sok Chhean, Ieng Phan, Dy, and Thy to discuss the purge of the eastern cadres.⁹⁷³ Meas Voeun testified that division level cadres were called by the Centre to attend meetings where the policies of screening for and sweeping clean enemies were discussed.⁹⁷⁴

299. In addition to meetings,⁹⁷⁵ Meas Muth regularly communicated with the Centre by telegram,⁹⁷⁶ telephone,⁹⁷⁷ letter,⁹⁷⁸ and messenger.⁹⁷⁹ Monthly reports to and from Meas Muth were occasionally delivered by train.⁹⁸⁰ Many telegrams, letters, and reports of telephone calls sent by Meas Muth to Son Sen (Brother 89) were copied to Nuon Chea (Brother Nuon, Grand Uncle or Grand Uncle Nuon), Vorn Vet (Brother 87), Brother Nat, Brother Saom, Seat Chhe (Brother 81), and Brother Tat.⁹⁸¹
300. Meas Muth reported to the Centre on topics including: military engagements;⁹⁸² enemy activities and vessels;⁹⁸³ discoveries of internal enemies and subversive activities within units;⁹⁸⁴ growing of rice;⁹⁸⁵ the health of soldiers;⁹⁸⁶ and progress of construction projects.⁹⁸⁷
301. The General Staff issued commands to Meas Muth in writing and in person,⁹⁸⁸ including instructions on the need to “absolutely destroy” enemies entering DK waters or territory.⁹⁸⁹ Son Sen forwarded copies of the reports he received from the RAK military divisions to K-1 through its radio communication unit.⁹⁹⁰
302. Reports and telegrams show the RAK implementing instructions from Angkar (the Centre leadership) or seeking clarification from the Centre’s political or military leaders.⁹⁹¹ For example, Meas Muth reported to Son Sen regarding incidents of firing at and capturing Vietnamese boats and sought advice on what measures to take.⁹⁹²

4. COMMUNICATION BETWEEN DIVISION 164 AND OTHER DIVISIONS

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN DIVISION 164 AND DIVISION 1

303. Division 164 and Division 1 controlled contiguous areas and cooperated so as to not interfere with each other’s responsibilities.⁹⁹³ Division 1 controlled parts of the sea between Cambodia and Thailand, while other parts were controlled by Division 164.⁹⁹⁴
304. Division 1 was based around the Koh Kong region⁹⁹⁵ and used binoculars and radars to scan for illegal fishing boats.⁹⁹⁶ Division 1 and Division 164 shared information in order to facilitate the capture of Thai and Vietnamese boats.⁹⁹⁷ When Division 1 located a target, they contacted Division 164.⁹⁹⁸ Division 1, as a ground force, only had small boats for patrol and transport and did not have any warships to handle naval conflicts.⁹⁹⁹ Military forces under Meas Muth thus piloted boats in cooperation with Division 1.¹⁰⁰⁰

305. Meas Muth sent orders to the telegram operators at Koh Kong, who then sent the orders back to the ship commanders with instructions regarding how to deal with targeted ships.¹⁰⁰¹ If an incident occurred during joint operations, Ta Soeung would have to discuss this with Meas Muth before giving orders to Division 1.¹⁰⁰² After a boat was captured by Division 1, the detainees were sent to Division 164 in Kampong Som.¹⁰⁰³
306. Meas Muth also communicated with Soeung by radio regarding the vessels and military forces in Koh Kong.¹⁰⁰⁴ Meas Muth occasionally met with Soeung to give instructions to Division 1.¹⁰⁰⁵ Division 164 had a different status to Division 1, as Division 164 was under the Centre while Division 1 was under the West Zone.¹⁰⁰⁶ According to Meas Voeun, Meas Muth thus had the authority to advise military units such as Division 1 on operations.¹⁰⁰⁷

COMMUNICATION BETWEEN DIVISION 164 AND DIVISION 117

307. Meas Muth held a meeting in Kratie where he announced traitors within Division 117 and called for a change in its leadership.¹⁰⁰⁸ He gained responsibility for Cambodia's eastern border when Vietnamese forces began invading in 1978.¹⁰⁰⁹

VI. INTERNATIONAL ARMED CONFLICT

308. An international armed conflict existed between Cambodia and the Socialist Republic of Vietnam (SRV) from about May 1975 until 6 January 1979, the end of this Court's temporal jurisdiction. Immediately after the Khmer Rouge victory over Lon Nol forces on 17 April 1975, DK deployed its military to guard the DK-SRV land and maritime borders.¹⁰¹⁰ Armed clashes commenced in May 1975 when DK forces seized the Vietnamese islands of Phu Quoc ("Koh Tral" in Khmer) and Tho Chu ("Koh Krachak Seh" in Khmer), kidnapping and murdering the inhabitants.¹⁰¹¹ The Vietnamese retook the islands two weeks later, killing many Khmer Rouge soldiers and taking around 300 prisoner.¹⁰¹² In further retaliation, the Vietnamese captured the island of Poulo Wai in June 1975,¹⁰¹³ returning it a few months later.¹⁰¹⁴ Clashes between the two countries continued into early 1976 on the islands and surrounding waters in the Gulf of Thailand.¹⁰¹⁵
309. On the mainland, DK forces encroached on Vietnamese territory from Ha Tien to Tay Ninh in May 1975,¹⁰¹⁶ and in May and June, disputes erupted along the border, particularly in the

Parrot's Beak area of Svay Rieng Province.¹⁰¹⁷ In November, DK began mobilising its forces to attack Vietnam,¹⁰¹⁸ and in December, they carried out attacks 10 kilometres inside Vietnam in the provinces of Gia Lai-Kontum and Darlac.¹⁰¹⁹

310. Land and maritime border incursions and attacks continued throughout 1976,¹⁰²⁰ with clashes in Monduliri,¹⁰²¹ Svay Rieng,¹⁰²² and Takeo¹⁰²³ provinces. From early February, Vietnamese troops deployed along the Eastern border, particularly in Ratanakiri, Svay Rieng, and Kandal provinces, entering as far as three kilometres into DK territory and engaging in armed clashes.¹⁰²⁴ At the sea demarcation line, Vietnam opened fire whenever DK forces approached, and DK forces were ordered to seize any boat that entered their territory.¹⁰²⁵ Clashes at Phu Quoc island persisted.¹⁰²⁶
311. Fighting continued throughout 1977 along the border and coastal areas,¹⁰²⁷ with arrests of Vietnamese forces occurring every month at Koh Tang and Poulo Wai islands.¹⁰²⁸ In January 1977, DK infantry forces attacked Vietnam's Tay Ninh Province, and the Vietnamese counterattacked.¹⁰²⁹ On 30 April 1977, DK troops again crossed the border and killed hundreds of civilians in Tinh Bien District and in a string of villages in An Giang Province in South Vietnam.¹⁰³⁰ The DK, in turn, attacked border areas using landmines and artillery, rocket, and mortar fire, resulting in the temporary evacuation of two Vietnamese towns, Chau Doc (An Giang Province) and Ha Tien (Kien Giang Province).¹⁰³¹ While both sides had agreed to attempt peace negotiations in June,¹⁰³² these were postponed.¹⁰³³ DK military attacks and encroachments upon Vietnamese territory continued,¹⁰³⁴ and Vietnam responded with intrusions into DK and occasional air strikes.¹⁰³⁵
312. From March to September 1977, the ongoing conflict widened along the border, extending from Ratanakiri to Kampot provinces with particular intensity in Svay Rieng and in the Vietnamese provinces of Kien Giang, Long An, Tay Ninh, Dong Thap, and An Giang.¹⁰³⁶ Vietnamese air strikes continued.¹⁰³⁷ The conflict further escalated on 24 September 1977 when DK launched a large-scale attack into Vietnam, killings hundreds of civilians in villages in Tay Ninh Province.¹⁰³⁸ In response, approximately 20,000 Vietnamese troops¹⁰³⁹ attacked across the border into the East Zone provinces of Kampong Cham, Prey Veng, and 24 kilometres into Svay Rieng.¹⁰⁴⁰ In December, Vietnamese forces backed by air, armour, and artillery support attacked along the border in Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng, Takeo, and

Kampot provinces,¹⁰⁴¹ penetrating up to 30 kilometres into Svay Rieng¹⁰⁴² and inflicting major defeats on DK forces.¹⁰⁴³ DK leaders publicly severed diplomatic relations with Vietnam on 31 December 1977.¹⁰⁴⁴

313. On 6 January 1978, Vietnam withdrew its forces from Kampuchea,¹⁰⁴⁵ but armed clashes continued.¹⁰⁴⁶ In early 1978, DK leaders sent thousands of troops to the border,¹⁰⁴⁷ where they crossed into Vietnam and carried out attacks at locations such as Binh Phuoc, An Giang, Kien Giang, Tay Ninh, Gia Lai, Kon Tum, and Dong Thap provinces.¹⁰⁴⁸ In the attack on the town of Ha Tien in Kien Giang Province in March 1978, the DK brutally killed hundreds of civilians.¹⁰⁴⁹ At sea, Meas Muth reported on 20 March 1978 that DK forces had sunk a Vietnamese boat in the vicinity of Koh Khyang island and attacked two others, capturing 76 individuals and transporting them to the mainland.¹⁰⁵⁰ Meanwhile, there were repeated Vietnamese incursions into the DK provinces of Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng, Prey Veng, Kratie, and Ratanakiri, and bombings along the DK-SRV border.¹⁰⁵¹
314. Media reports, witness statements, and testimony demonstrate an increase in the tempo of the conflict between the two countries from mid-1978, particularly in Svay Rieng Province.¹⁰⁵² In October, Meas Muth led more than half of the military forces from Regiments 61, 62, and 63 to assist the DK forces already fighting at the border.¹⁰⁵³ Meanwhile, Vietnamese offensives continued with attacks in Kratie Province, the bombing of the coastal city of Kampong Som,¹⁰⁵⁴ and further attacks in Takeo, Kampot, and Kampong Speu.¹⁰⁵⁵ On 25 December 1978, Vietnam sent over 100,000 troops deep into Cambodia.¹⁰⁵⁶ Resistance was ineffective and Vietnamese forces captured Phnom Penh on 7 January 1979.¹⁰⁵⁷

VII. CPK POLICIES RELEVANT TO THE CASE AGAINST MEAS MUTH

315. Meas Muth and other members of the joint criminal enterprise implemented various criminal policies designed to maintain the Party leadership in power and advance its political agenda. Two of the most central policies are discussed below: the targeting of perceived political enemies through extrajudicial arrests, detentions, executions, and other forms of persecution, and the exercise of the powers of ownership (enslavement) of vast numbers of individuals who were forced by the regime to labour in horrendous conditions, to marry, and to procreate.

ELIMINATION OF ENEMIES AND OPPOSITION TO CPK LEADERSHIP

316. As early as the first Party Congress in 1960, the Khmer Rouge resolved to use armed violence to crush the “enemy” and increasingly over time applied this policy not just to military opponents but also to any individual or group opposed to the DK regime or deemed to be a threat.¹⁰⁵⁸ Such people included those from the “bourgeois”, “feudalist” or “capitalist” classes;¹⁰⁵⁹ those accused of being agents for the CIA, KGB, or Vietnam;¹⁰⁶⁰ those with ties to the Lon Nol regime or foreign countries;¹⁰⁶¹ “April 17” people or “new people”;¹⁰⁶² those deemed to be “bad elements” or “internal enemies” both inside and outside the military;¹⁰⁶³ and foreigners, particularly Thai and Vietnamese or those perceived to be affiliated with either group, such as Khmer Krom, current or former military personnel, civilians, and foreigners travelling within DK territory.¹⁰⁶⁴ The CPK stirred hatred against all of these groups as “traitors” or “the enemy” and emphasised the need to maintain “revolutionary vigilance” against them.¹⁰⁶⁵
317. A vast network of security offices was created that allowed cadres across the country to implement the policy of targeting perceived opponents through summary detentions.¹⁰⁶⁶ “Enemies” were imprisoned and subjected to inhumane conditions, interrogation, torture, and/or execution.¹⁰⁶⁷ None were afforded any form of legal process, as the CPK abolished all judicial and legal structures.¹⁰⁶⁸ Torture and interrogation often involved coerced confessions that implicated others, creating a cycle of extrajudicial arrests and killings.¹⁰⁶⁹ Family members of “enemies” were also frequently eliminated, as they were considered to be part of the “enemy network”.¹⁰⁷⁰ As for the power to decide who should be killed, a 1976 Central Committee decision gave the Zone Standing Committee, the Central Office Committee, the Standing Committee, and the General Staff the power to “smash”,¹⁰⁷¹ which, during the DK regime, referred to extrajudicial execution.¹⁰⁷²
318. The policy of “smashing enemies” and arresting “bad elements” was disseminated via the CPK’s internal publications,¹⁰⁷³ speeches of CPK leaders,¹⁰⁷⁴ and meetings at all echelons,¹⁰⁷⁵ and was also advocated and acknowledged in Revolutionary Flag and

Revolutionary Youth magazines between 1975 and 1979.¹⁰⁷⁶ Telegrams between various levels of the CPK hierarchy also reported “enemy activity” and details of people killed.¹⁰⁷⁷

319. One of the main ways the CPK eliminated “traitors” and “enemies” was through mass purges coordinated by the Centre.¹⁰⁷⁸ Son Sen and the General Staff Committee, which included Meas Muth and the other Centre division commanders, discussed and fully endorsed the Centre’s policy to eliminate internal enemies.¹⁰⁷⁹ They implemented this policy by conducting an extensive purge across the ranks of the RAK, including Divisions 164, 117, and Sector 505.¹⁰⁸⁰ Those suspected of disloyalty or who had bad biographies were labeled “bad elements” and were generally sent to be “re-educated” or “refashioned” in prisons or worksites, while those deemed to be “enemies” or “traitors” were ultimately “smashed”.¹⁰⁸¹

AGRARIAN, ECONOMIC, AND SOCIAL POLICIES

Establishment of Cooperatives and Worksites

320. From 1972, the CPK established cooperatives and worksites in areas under its control¹⁰⁸² and abolished currency and private markets.¹⁰⁸³ In 1973, the CPK adopted a policy of forcibly moving civilian populations out of urban areas to work in cooperatives and worksites in the countryside.¹⁰⁸⁴ The Party’s cooperatives policy sought (i) to attack the economic power of the “land owners and capitalists”;¹⁰⁸⁵ (ii) to disperse, monitor, control, and kill any people opposed to the CPK and the revolution;¹⁰⁸⁶ and (iii) to rapidly increase agricultural production.¹⁰⁸⁷
321. After the CPK gained control of the country, cooperatives and worksites were established nationwide.¹⁰⁸⁸ Civilians and demobilised cadres were forced to work in farming cooperatives,¹⁰⁸⁹ salt fields,¹⁰⁹⁰ worksites to construct irrigation networks and dams,¹⁰⁹¹ airfields,¹⁰⁹² roads, and ports.¹⁰⁹³ Mobile units were created to work on multiple worksites and agricultural cooperatives.¹⁰⁹⁴ Cooperatives and worksites were required to adopt a similar structure and method of operation across the country,¹⁰⁹⁵ and policies regarding issues relating to cooperatives and worksites were disseminated through directives,¹⁰⁹⁶ meetings at all echelons,¹⁰⁹⁷ publications,¹⁰⁹⁸ and radio broadcasts.¹⁰⁹⁹

322. The criminal aspect of the CPK's economic policies lay in the way individuals were treated – the CPK controlled all aspects of their lives, denied workers all fundamental freedoms, forced them to work for no monetary remuneration in often appalling and unhealthy conditions, and simply disposed of those deemed not useful to the CPK's agenda ("no gain in keeping, no loss in weeding out"¹¹⁰⁰). Workers were treated like economic assets rather than human beings. In later years, CPK leaders acknowledged that during the DK regime, Cambodians were compelled to work and "were not free" in the cooperatives.¹¹⁰¹ Indifferent to the human cost, Party leaders set unrealistically high production quotas, demanding that workers produce roughly three times the average annual production of rice of the 1960s.¹¹⁰² These quotas were to be achieved "at all costs".¹¹⁰³
323. Forced population transfers rapidly expanded the population of the cooperatives and worksites,¹¹⁰⁴ where every facet of life was controlled. The CPK dictated people's housing,¹¹⁰⁵ prohibited their movements,¹¹⁰⁶ forced them to work excessive hours to satisfy the high quotas,¹¹⁰⁷ separated family members,¹¹⁰⁸ restricted freedom of expression through various forms of psychological control,¹¹⁰⁹ and provided insufficient food¹¹¹⁰ and inadequate medical care.¹¹¹¹ Backbreaking labour was done almost exclusively without the assistance of machinery.¹¹¹² Anyone who complained, stole food because they were malnourished from the inadequate rations provided, went anywhere without permission, broke a tool or even a spoon, or made any other sort of "mistake" were deemed traitors to the revolution and were harshly punished, even killed.¹¹¹³
324. In an August 1976 meeting with Division and Independent Regiment commanders, Minister of Defence and Chief of the General Staff Son Sen set out the CPK's plan for the army regarding rice production, which was to be implemented by a 40,000-person force.¹¹¹⁴ In numerous General Staff and military meetings, Son Sen and his military commanders, including Meas Muth, discussed production efforts, shortages, and other problems faced in trying to meet the Party's ambitious targets.¹¹¹⁵ To achieve the set quotas, Meas Muth and the other commanders fully applied the extreme measures being implemented across DK, enslaving civilians and cadres in the areas under their control. For example, civilians and demobilised soldiers were enslaved at Kampong Chhnang airfield under the command of Division 502 Secretary Sou Met.¹¹¹⁶ In Meas Muth's area of authority, civilian workers and demobilised cadres (from Division 164 and other units) who were identified as "bad elements” were forced to do backbreaking labour in inhumane conditions at the Stung Hav and Ream area worksites.¹¹¹⁷

325. The inhumane treatment meted out by the DK regime was widely known and reported.¹¹¹⁸ CPK leaders at various levels visited worksites,¹¹¹⁹ and food shortages and disease were acknowledged at meetings,¹¹²⁰ in CPK publications,¹¹²¹ and reported to the upper echelons.¹¹²² For example, Meas Muth reported that in his area, 17,000 troops and people were transplanting rice but there would be a shortage of 61,000 bushels, and many of the people had fevers because they did not have much rain clothing.¹¹²³
326. Yet despite insufficient food rations at worksites and cooperatives, the Party Centre remained focused on exporting rice to other countries.¹¹²⁴ Much later, Khieu Samphan admitted, “Depriving the people of rice in order to transport rice to the State to meet quotas led to a great loss of life.”¹¹²⁵

Forced Marriage and Rape

327. The Party’s policy to quickly increase the population to 15 to 20 million people led to forced marriage and forced consummation (rape) for the specific purpose of producing future workers and soldiers.¹¹²⁶ The CPK aimed to double or triple the country’s population in a very short time,¹¹²⁷ but birth rates were affected because women had difficulty conceiving due to depressed fertility from stress, starvation, and family separation.¹¹²⁸ Just as the vision for rice production had failed, the CPK’s plan for growing the population was also an abject failure. Nevertheless, it is another clear example of the CPK’s enslavement of the population. Party leaders claimed ownership over the people’s choice of whether and to whom they would marry and their right to bodily integrity, forcing thousands of people to marry and have sexual intercourse without their true consent. This CPK policy is set out in detail in the Forced Marriage and Rape section of this Submission.¹¹²⁹

VIII. CRIMES AND CRIME SITES

A. PURGES WITHIN DIVISION 164

1. THE CPK/RAK POLICY TO PURGE THE INTERNAL ENEMIES AND MEAS MUTH'S INTENT TO PURGE THE RANKS OF DIVISION 164

328. Meas Muth implemented the Party Centre policy to “re-educate,” “refashion” and to frequently “smash” members of the military that it suspected of being disloyal to the leadership of the Party and labelled them “enemies” or “bad elements”.
329. Minutes of meetings of Son Sen, General Staff chairman, with Centre Division commanders and deputy commanders, record Meas Muth and his colleagues expressing their support for Son Sen's plans to purge any perceived enemy hiding within the ranks of the RAK, including Division 164. On 9 October 1976, Son Sen stated that the Party had arrested traitors including Chhouk and Chan Chakrei (Sector 24, East Zone), Men San alias Ya (Northeast Zone secretary) and Keo Meas,¹¹³⁰ and that it was necessary to ensure “that the enemy is unable to bore from within, and [do] whatever needs to be done to make our army clean [...] It is imperative to purge absolutely no-good elements”.¹¹³¹ Following Son Sen's statement, Meas Muth's subordinate, Division 164 Deputy Commander Dim, declared, “if you want unsullied faith that the army is clean, it seems not yet to be clean, and it is imperative to follow up with more purges”.¹¹³² Meas Muth fully supported the call for more purges of traitors and internal enemies. The meeting minutes recorded that Meas Muth told the commanders:

No-good elements or enemies are still camouflaged and infiltrated in the rank and file. The most important factor is the grasp of the everyday ideology of the core organizations. It is imperative to make arrangements to take measures so as to seize the initiative in advance. On this I would like to be in total agreement and unity with the Party. Do whatever needs to be done in not allowing the situation to get out of hand and not to let them strengthen or expand themselves at all.¹¹³³

330. At that same 9 October 1976 meeting, Son Sen's final observations concluded that “no-good elements” of the Centre divisions had to be “absolutely purged.” The meeting minutes also recorded that Son Sen instructed his commanders to distinguish three categories of bad elements, each of which had a corresponding form of punishment (killing, re-education and refashioning):

It is imperative to purge no-good elements absolutely in the sense of an absolute class struggle. The purge is premised on three principles: - Category 1: The dangerous category: they must be absolutely purged. - Category 2: The ordinary liberal category: they must be educated again and again in our education schools. - Category 3: The category of those who have merely been incited by the enemy, merely believing in the enemy incitement. As a first step, they should undergo refashioning to get them to no longer believe the enemy.¹¹³⁴

331. In March 1977, as the purges accelerated, Son Sen confirmed this 3-part categorical distinction,¹¹³⁵ but insisted that mere political and ideological education was “not enough: it is imperative to continue further with absolute purges” and explained that “each and every one of the traitorous forces in our country is connected to the enemies on the outside”.¹¹³⁶ In an answer to his own rhetorical question, “For what reason are we continuously eliminating one enemy after another?” Son Sen boasted: “It is because we are constantly launching storming attacks on the enemy.”¹¹³⁷
332. Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch testified that purging was an important CPK policy, which reflected the “revolutionary absolutism to build democratic socialism”.¹¹³⁸ The mundane attitude of the Party toward extrajudicial killings of its own soldiers is reflected in the CPK’s Central Committee decision of 30 March 1976. In this notorious decision, the Central Committee delegated the power to “smash” enemies inside and outside the military ranks to the General Staff.¹¹³⁹ Meas Muth and the other Centre division commanders, all members of the General Staff committee,¹¹⁴⁰ were explicitly encouraged by Son Sen¹¹⁴¹ and also through the Party Centre publication (Revolutionary Flag)¹¹⁴² to identify, purge and, smash “internal enemies”. Within Division 164 however, only Meas Muth had the power to decide to smash enemies; he did not delegate that power to any subordinate but blamed (without punishing) Nhan for killing people without his authorisation.¹¹⁴³ Heang Ret mentioned that killing ordinary soldiers was a decision to be made by Meas Muth and that his division committee required the approval of the General Staff to kill any battalion commander.¹¹⁴⁴

333. The General Staff meeting minutes list many categories of no-good elements who needed to be purged from RAK Centre Divisions, including Division 164: deserters;¹¹⁴⁵ those who came from Vietnam;¹¹⁴⁶ the children of soldiers, commune chiefs, or policemen who were previously executed;¹¹⁴⁷ those affiliated with external enemies including Vietnam;¹¹⁴⁸ “the status- and rank-conscious”;¹¹⁴⁹ those who opposed the party by committing mistakes such as stealing, sabotaging, poisoning, inciting combatants to drink alcohol, or freely picking fruit to eat;¹¹⁵⁰ those who were “lazy”, “pretended” to be ill, or expressed discontent with the regime;¹¹⁵¹ those who were previously removed from their positions;¹¹⁵² and “those who have not internalized the revolutionary movement and can’t keep up with the rest”.¹¹⁵³ At the 9 October 1976 meeting, Son Sen himself confirmed that those who attack the revolution by trivial activities “such as stealing and speaking in hints that attack the Revolution” belonged to traitorous links.¹¹⁵⁴
334. Meas Muth zealously implemented this CPK policy to purge its own military.¹¹⁵⁵ In a telegram to the “Committee M-870”, the Party’s central leadership, on the last day of 1977, Meas Muth vowed his determination:
- to fashion forces who are a tool absolutely to defend the Party to defend the state power of the collective worker and peasants and to defend the socialist Kampuchean motherland by sweeping cleanly away and without half measures the uncover elements of the enemy whether the Yuon or other enemies.¹¹⁵⁶
335. Instructions to follow this policy of purging internal enemies were provided at Division 164 meetings,¹¹⁵⁷ and the evidence proves that the policy was particularly brutally implemented with regard to Division 164. Soldiers from the division were purged en masse.¹¹⁵⁸ Those targeted from the division were disarmed and “refashioned” (enslaved) at specific worksites where the living and working conditions were extreme, imprisoned in “re-education centres” (security centres),¹¹⁵⁹ disappeared or were executed.¹¹⁶⁰
336. Official reports show that Division 164 military cadres were purged on a continuous basis.¹¹⁶¹ In the surviving monthly statistical reports sent by Meas Muth or by his division, a significant number of Division 164 members are shown to have been purged each month. In the tables of statistics contained in these reports, soldiers who had “disappeared from the units” were identified as “taken”, “removed”, “withdrawn” or “retired”.¹¹⁶² The persons purged had been identified either through their biographies, because their names were denounced by prisoners under torture in security centres, because they were the subordinates of arrested cadres, or because of the mistakes they had committed.

2. SCREENING THE DIVISION 164 SOLDIERS THROUGH THEIR BIOGRAPHIES

337. In implementating the purge policy, Meas Muth put in place procedures to screen the biographies of the troops he commanded in Division 164.¹¹⁶³ Biographies were compiled and analysed in order to track down the ‘bad or no-good elements’ among the military cadres and soldiers.¹¹⁶⁴ Bad or impure biographies were those of soldiers who either had relatives, affiliations or acquaintances that were officials of the former Khmer Republic regime,¹¹⁶⁵ belonged to the upper social classes,¹¹⁶⁶ or had political tendencies (family ties or work relationships with “traitors” who had been arrested and/or had contact with external enemies).¹¹⁶⁷ Meas Muth personally forced participants at a study session in Kampong Som cinema to declare in their biographies whether they had been closely associated to Mom Chim alias Yan, a Division 164 Committee member who had just been secretly arrested for treason.¹¹⁶⁸ This screening system was also applicable in other RAK Centre divisions as per Son Sen’s instructions.¹¹⁶⁹
338. In Division 164, it was required that biographies be made on a regular basis for all military personnel (at least at every change of assignment). Once updated, biographies were to be sent up the chain of command to the division headquarters.¹¹⁷⁰ The forms and instructions on how to draft, compile and check these biographies were sent down from Division 164 headquarters.¹¹⁷¹ Each biography included the name of the military cadre, his or her revolutionary name, current position, his or her home address, the date he or she joined the revolution, the social class, political connections and tendencies and past activities of the individual and of all his/her siblings and close relatives.¹¹⁷²
339. Biographies were reviewed at the Division 164 headquarters by expert staff from an Inspection Committee formed by Meas Muth,¹¹⁷³ teams of investigators would cross-check the information from multiple sources, and field missions by the Inspection Committee would aim to determine if a soldier had been dishonest.¹¹⁷⁴ Having a bad biography or hiding information in a biography resulted in the disarmament of the soldier, followed by forced labour (refashioning), or imprisonment in a division re-education centre or security centre. At those centres soldiers were forced to work and often killed.¹¹⁷⁵

340. Analysing biographies was not the only tool at Meas Muth's disposal to identify the enemies that had "infiltrated within the ranks"; he also instructed all Division 164 cadres to actively search for such enemies and report their activities.¹¹⁷⁶ As the purges proceeded within Division 164, a general feeling of fear spread throughout the ranks. Everyone feared whether they would be the next person to be removed or killed.¹¹⁷⁷ The permanent terror was well expressed in the parting words of the Division 164 medic Ret, to his friend Sam Saom, upon being sent for re-education in Kampong Som: "If you do not meet me again, tell my parents and relatives that they have killed me".¹¹⁷⁸

3. CATEGORIES OF BAD AND AFFILIATED ELEMENTS WITHIN DIVISION 164 THAT WERE PURGED

341. The various categories of "bad elements" who were purged by Meas Muth within Division 3/164 or in military units under his authority are detailed below.

a) Division 3 Soldiers Captured and Detained in Vietnam in 1975

342. Between 300 and 720 soldiers and cadres of RAK Division 3 (mainly from Battalions 310, 386, 410 and 420) were captured by Vietnamese forces on Koh Krachak Ses,¹¹⁷⁹ Koh Poulo Wai Thmei and Koh Poulo Wai Chas and at sea around those islands in late May or early June 1975. Those soldiers were detained for a few months by the Vietnamese as prisoners of war in Koh Tral (Phu Quoc island in Vietnamese).¹¹⁸⁰ Upon their release and return to Kampong Som, they were viewed with distrust by the Division 3/164 leadership who suspected them of having been indoctrinated by the Vietnamese. These released soldiers were not reinstated and were purged,¹¹⁸¹ most were forced to work under strict surveillance and in harsh conditions in mobile units in the fields of Kang Keng and Ream Commune, or in Stung Hav¹¹⁸² while their leaders were accused of betrayal and disappeared.¹¹⁸³ Because they were no longer trusted, the slightest mistake at work would often result in their arrest and imprisonment at Toek Sap security centre.¹¹⁸⁴

b) Deserters / Defectors (throughout the Regime)

343. Division 164 deserters or defectors were regularly arrested by Meas Muth's men throughout the DK regime.¹¹⁸⁵ Those caught were considered to be traitors and were immediately or ultimately executed.¹¹⁸⁶

c) Soldiers "Affiliated" with the former Khmer Republic Regime

344. In conformity with DK policy,¹¹⁸⁷ every effort was made by Meas Muth to identify soldiers within Division 3/164 who had ties to the Lon Nol regime. If a biography, or the review of a biography after inspection, indicated that an individual was related to anyone who had worked as a Khmer Republic official (public servant or military), she/he was considered to be an enemy or a "bad element", and was no longer trusted.¹¹⁸⁸ In addition, soldiers who were identified as having been wealthy or "capitalist" were deemed to be affiliated to the Khmer Republic regime and were similarly purged.¹¹⁸⁹

345. Division 3/164 soldiers considered "affiliated" with the Khmer Republic regime either disappeared or were imprisoned and killed, often at Wat Enta Nhien security centre,¹¹⁹⁰ or were forced to labour at worksites, such as Kang Keng and Bet Trang (including the adjacent village of Putthi / Puth Te / Put Thoeung where a dam was built)¹¹⁹¹ under conditions that amounted to enslavement.

d) Perceived "Traitors" within Division 164 and their Networks

346. Those Division 164 personnel who were perceived as internal enemies were taken to security centres such as Wat Enta Nhien, Toek Sap and S-21. At the security centres, they were interrogated under torture in order to obtain detailed confessions identifying purported "networks" of enemies.¹¹⁹² Veteran RAK and CPK leaders were forced to confess to wild conspiracies involving CIA, KGB, and Vietnamese agents and to name all of their associates.¹¹⁹³ Anyone connected to such arrestees by work or family relations was considered part of the "string" and was likely to be arrested as the regime spiralled into self-destructive violence. When cadres were implicated in confessions, arrests would only take place after the unit commander, (e.g., zone secretaries, RAK division commanders and ministers) approved. Commanders were further requested to actively identify additional "traitors" within their respective units and anyone affiliated with "traitors".¹¹⁹⁴

For Division 164, it was the responsibility of Meas Muth to screen out, arrest and transfer those cadres implicated, and to purge their entire networks. Most of the highest-ranked cadres purged from Division 164 were transferred to S-21 for in-depth interrogation,¹¹⁹⁵ while their subordinates would be purged in Kampong Som.¹¹⁹⁶

347. Surviving documents show that at least 67 Division 3/164 cadres and combatants were imprisoned, interrogated and executed in S-21 between 7 May 1976 and the end of 1978.¹¹⁹⁷ To avoid any resistance or rebellion of their respective armed units, those selected to be taken to S-21 were usually invited to attend study sessions in either Kampong Som or Phnom Penh. There they were arrested and transferred to S-21.¹¹⁹⁸ Meas Muth admitted in a VOA interview, that he knew that some of his subordinates were taken to S-21 by the General Staff after taking part in training sessions in Phnom Penh.¹¹⁹⁹ Some cadres transited by Wat Enta Nhien or Toek Sap security centres before their transfer to S-21.¹²⁰⁰ Among those imprisoned and executed at S-21 were high level cadres from the Division. These cadres were the close associates of Meas Muth and other subordinates, including his Deputy Commander, Hoeng Doeun alias Dim,¹²⁰¹ Division 164 committee members Chey Han alias Chhan,¹²⁰² Mom Chim alias Yan (Regiment 63)¹²⁰³ and Men Nget (Regiment 61),¹²⁰⁴ the Division hospital chief Soem Neam alias Sok (Sokh) and his wife,¹²⁰⁵ and commanders, deputy commanders and committee members of regiments,¹²⁰⁶ battalions,¹²⁰⁷ companies and platoons.¹²⁰⁸ Direct subordinates of those cadres and their family members were also considered part of the “traitorous network” and were purged.¹²⁰⁹
348. The purges of all the subordinates of Chey Han alias Chhan (Norng Chhan) and of Hoeng Doeun alias Dim were all the more thorough and systematic as those soldiers did not originate from the trusted Southwest Zone Division 3 placed under Meas Muth’s authority since 1973-1974. Rather, these commanders were originally part of Sector 37 (Chhan) and the East Zone (Dim).¹²¹⁰ Purging those commanders was a way for Meas Muth to consolidate his power and authority over his troops. Further, the arrest and interrogation of these cadres held minimal risk for any direct implication of Meas Muth because they did not belong to his own network.

THE SECTOR 37 (FORMER BATTALION 386) NETWORK UNDER CHEY HAN ALIAS CHHAN, DIVISION 164 COMMITTEE MEMBER

349. Ta Chhan, called either Norng Chhan or Chey Han alias Chhan,¹²¹¹ a Sector 37 committee member in charge of the sector army (before 17 April 1975)¹²¹² which counted several battalions (385, 386, 387 and 388).¹²¹³ Most of Battalions 385, 387 and 388 members were transferred to the West Zone after 17 April 1975¹²¹⁴ while the rest of the Sector 37 troops, mainly Battalion 386, remained under the authority of Chhan in Division 164, and were assigned to guard various islands.¹²¹⁵ Battalion 386 was under the authority of the Division 3 leadership since 17 April 1975 before being formally incorporated into the new Division 164 in July 1975.¹²¹⁶ Until his transfer to Phnom Penh and subsequent arrest, Chhan was the Second Deputy Commander of the Division 164 Committee.¹²¹⁷
350. Norng Chhan was transferred from Division 164 to S-21, undoubtedly with the approval of Meas Muth,¹²¹⁸ after a short period of work at the General Staff in Phnom Penh.¹²¹⁹ He was formally arrested by Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch at the request of Son Sen¹²²⁰ and entered S-21 in October 1976.¹²²¹ Following the arrest of Chhan and his confessions under torture at S-21, Meas Muth ordered the arrest of the entire former Battalion 386 leadership (e.g., Ta Rem, Ta Yeun, Ta Yean)¹²²² and many other cadres working under Chhan's authority within Division 164, including commanders of companies and platoons. Those targeted disappeared after being called for "study" or convened to "attend a meeting" in Kampong Som or Phnom Penh.¹²²³ Following his confession, former Sector 37 leaders in the West Zone were also arrested as well as the father of Norng Chhan.¹²²⁴
351. Witness Ek Ny stated that Rem, the former Battalion 386 political commissar within Division 164, tried to escape when arrested by bodyguards from Meas Muth's Special Unit and was shot dead in front of Wat Enta Nhien security centre.¹²²⁵ Rem's pregnant wife chose to abort their unborn child after his arrest, as "she wanted to show her loyalty and that she was a true revolutionary, who did not want to have any connection with Rem's blood".¹²²⁶ Like Rem, other Battalion 386 cadres knew too well that an arrest for treason meant imprisonment, torture and execution. Anticipating their own arrest after the purge of former Battalion 386 leaders began, company leaders Thoeun and Bun Than chose to commit suicide on Koh Tang.¹²²⁷

352. In late 1976 or more likely early to mid-1977, Meas Muth announced the arrests of CPK and RAK leaders to cadres in several large meetings of Division 164 personnel in Ochheuteal, Stung Hav and Kang Keng. Meas Muth claimed that Norng Chhan was arrested because he was a traitor. He also spoke to the arrests and alleged treason of: Koy Thuon alias Thuch, former North Zone secretary and Minister of Commerce; Mes San alias Ney Saran alias Ya, former Northeast Zone secretary; and Division 164 Deputy Commander Hoeng Doeun alias Dim; other important Division 164 cadres (Mom Chim alias Yan and Kung Kien alias Vet or Ing Vet); and former Sector 37 leaders.¹²²⁸ Meas Muth read excerpts of Chhan's S-21 confessions before thousands of Division 164 troops,¹²²⁹ including soldiers subordinated to Chhan who had been previously been disarmed by Meas Muth's own special unit.¹²³⁰ Prior to his arrest, Dim also played an audio recording of Chhan's confessions to his subordinates in Stung Hav.¹²³¹
353. In addition to not being trusted anymore within Division 164, former Sector 37 (Battalion 386) troops were also deemed to be traitorous as they were considered part of Chhan's network.¹²³² Therefore, former Battalion 386 was entirely dissolved and the low-ranking cadres or combatants were enslaved and treated inhumanely at forced labour sites, such as Kang Keng,¹²³³ other sites in Ream commune¹²³⁴ or Stung Hav.¹²³⁵ They lived and worked in constant fear of being arrested and executed, as the goal pursued by the Division 164 leadership was to test and screen out any disloyal soldiers by subjecting them to harsh work and life conditions.¹²³⁶ Due to their affiliation to Chhan, the Battalion 386 soldiers were arrested, severely beaten or killed whenever they tried to run away, or failed to complete an assigned task, complained or committed the slightest mistake (such as "stealing" fruit or potatoes because they were starving).¹²³⁷
354. According to Ek Ny, a former Battalion 386 combatant, twenty ordinary single female soldiers, who were working closely with Chhan as cooks, assistants or messengers, were taken to Toek Sap security centre and tortured. The women were addressed as "the contemptible" ("A" in Khmer) and were accused of being Chhan's mistresses. Although he does not know whether and under which circumstances those women were eventually executed, Ek Ny received confirmation from family members of one of those women named Cham that she never returned home after 1979.¹²³⁸

THE EAST ZONE (SECTOR 22) NETWORK UNDER HOENG DOEUN ALIAS DIM, DIVISION 164
DEPUTY COMMANDER

355. Soon after 17 April 1975, Centre Division 164, which included all DK naval forces, was formed by combining former Division 3 with some of Chhan's Sector 37 troops, and former East Zone forces under the command of Hoeng Doeun alias Dim ("Dim"),¹²³⁹ including from Independent Regiment 152.¹²⁴⁰ Dim, who was previously a military commander in Sector 22, East Zone,¹²⁴¹ became Meas Muth's First Deputy Commander.¹²⁴²
356. Before he was himself arrested, Dim acted under the authority of Meas Muth in the conduct of purges of internal enemies within Division 164,¹²⁴³ including within his group from the East Zone. On 9 October 1976, at a meeting where Son Sen stated that some cadres (Chan Chakrei and Chhouk) from the East Zone were traitors,¹²⁴⁴ Dim zealously declared to Son Sen and the other Division and Deputy Commanders that, "From an examination of my forces, some 90 to 95 per cent of them are reliable, those who are loyal to the Party [...] it is imperative to follow up with more purges".¹²⁴⁵ In fact, as early as 15 June 1976, S-21 records show that a group of 11 East Zone soldiers from Dim's former Regiment 152 were imprisoned, including a platoon commander.¹²⁴⁶ They were executed or "died of diseases" in S-21 later in 1976.¹²⁴⁷ Significantly, Sam, the Regiment 140 Deputy Commander who came with Dim from the East, was arrested in early 1976 and was forced to make a confession at S-21 in July 1976.¹²⁴⁸
357. In early 1977, a few months after the arrest of Chey Han alias Chhan, Meas Muth approved the arrest of his First Deputy Commander Dim. As confirmed by Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, "Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head",¹²⁴⁹ and "before making any decisions, Son Sen always asked for comments and assistance from the heads of the divisions".¹²⁵⁰
358. S-21 documentation shows that Dim was imprisoned at S-21 at the same time as a large group of other high-ranking cadres of Division 164, including Kun Dim, a mid-level cadre from the East Zone.¹²⁵¹ Hoeng Doeun alias Dim entered S-21 on 21 April 1977 and was executed on 8 December 1977.¹²⁵² Like Chhan and other Division 164 cadres, he was forced under torture¹²⁵³ to confess to participating in “traitorous activities” and to denounce dozens of “traitorous forces” within Division 164 (and Independent Regiment 152).¹²⁵⁴ Although the date of entry into S-21 is certain, the exact date of his arrest remains undetermined. However, there are indications that he was not immediately transferred to S-21 after his arrest.¹²⁵⁵

359. In mid-1977, Meas Muth received the S-21 confession of his deputy Dim and of one of his East Zone subordinates (Kun Dim) and discussed their content with Son Sen. This is established by annotations made by Son Sen on those two confessions in May and September 1977.¹²⁵⁶ Dim’s arrest and treason was then announced by Meas Muth himself at some meetings during which the treason of Chey Han alias Chhan and others was divulged. Excerpts of their S-21 confessions were read aloud by Meas Muth¹²⁵⁷ who claimed that Dim and others “had plotted to remove him from his position and administer the division in order to form another government, which would oppose the Democratic Kampuchean Government”.¹²⁵⁸ Whether they were present at one of those meetings chaired by Meas Muth or learnt it through their hierarchy, all Division 164 cadres and soldiers knew that Dim was arrested and killed because he was considered a traitor by Meas Muth and the RAK / CPK leadership.¹²⁵⁹
360. Because subordinates were automatically considered to be “affiliated” or part of the “string” of their military leader,¹²⁶⁰ and because Dim implicated numerous Division 164 cadres and soldiers at S-21,¹²⁶¹ Meas Muth ordered the purge of all 700-1,000 East Zone cadres and soldiers within Division 164.¹²⁶² he announced in a meeting that “all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division.”¹²⁶³ It is in this context that all Division 164 soldiers from the East Zone who had been sent to China for a technical training were abruptly requested to come back before completing their studies.¹²⁶⁴ Once removed, the former East Zone soldiers who were not immediately arrested and killed were forced to labour at worksites (Ream commune, Kang Keng, Bet Trang, Stung Hav)¹²⁶⁵ in conditions that amounted to enslavement. Many died due to the harsh conditions or punishment and imprisonment.¹²⁶⁶ The situation of the former East Zone contingent of Division 164 worsened as the East Zone itself was targeted. Purges in the East Zone of civilian and military authorities began in 1977 and climaxed in May 1978 when Sao Phim and his subordinates were accused of treason.¹²⁶⁷ Almost all Division 164 soldiers in the Kampong Som area who originated from the East Zone were ultimately subjected to extrajudicial arrest, imprisonment and/or execution or simply disappeared between mid-1977 and January 1979.¹²⁶⁸ As summarised by Witness Dol Song, “the sweeping clean was done seriously”.¹²⁶⁹

a) Other Ties with Foreign Countries

361. Meas Muth stated in an October 2011 interview, “If you oppose me, I will certainly not keep you [...] there are a lot of people who have the idea of opposing the Khmer Rouge regime, like the US and Vietnam. Therefore, there were a lot of their agents infiltrating, who were actively making the regime loose”.¹²⁷⁰ Indeed, Division 164 policy was to purge any soldier who had affiliations with foreign countries or were accused of serving foreign interests (Vietnam, U.S.S.R, Thailand or the U.S.).¹²⁷¹ As explained above, this was the case of the soldiers who returned to Kampong Som upon release by the Vietnamese army after months of detention on Koh Tral.¹²⁷² Suspicion of ties with such foreign countries, particularly Vietnam, also played a major role in the purge of the former Battalion 386 and East Zone troops within Division 164.¹²⁷³ Similarly, soldiers tied to the Lon Nol regime through their family members were often considered to be CIA agents.¹²⁷⁴ Apart from those groups of soldiers, others were still accused of such affiliations.

362. Meas Muth supported and took steps to implement the DK policy to smash the internal enemies associated with foreign regimes. This policy is illustrated by the content of the CPK monthly publication Revolutionary Flag, which was distributed to every CPK member.¹²⁷⁵ For example, the April 1977 issue of the Revolutionary Flag clearly stated the CPK’s position for that year and future years:

as for the enemies that are CIA,” “KGB,” and “Y[uon]” agents [...] we must continue to strike them and trample them from our position of absolute advantage and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads. By doing this, we will create the preconditions for us to attack the enemy even stronger during 1978, and in future we will achieve additional victories.¹²⁷⁶

363. As developed in VIII.G. Genocide of the Vietnamese below, Meas Muth and his close subordinates explained in Division 164 meetings that the Vietnamese were the hereditary enemies (“enemies no. 1”) while internal enemies were the “enemies no. 2”. Anyone supporting the “Yuon” or refusing to implement orders to kill them had to be smashed.¹²⁷⁷

364. Division 164 soldiers who were accused of being spies or having connections with the KGB, the CIA or the Vietnamese, were taken away and disappeared or were taken to security centres (Wat Enta Nhien, Toek Sap or S-21) or to smaller prisons such as Stung Hav where they were mistreated and tortured.¹²⁷⁸ Their family members and close acquaintances were often arrested as well.¹²⁷⁹

365. Interrogation of Division 164 soldiers in Kampong Som aimed at confirming that those arrested were effectively CIA, KGB and ‘Yuon’ agents or at identifying others;¹²⁸⁰ discovering such agents, including among all RAK Centre Divisions, and their networks was also the purpose of S-21 and the obsession of the CPK and RAK leadership.¹²⁸¹

b) Serious and Minor Offences

366. Division 164 cadres and soldiers were arrested, imprisoned or executed without any judicial process if they were suspected of committing one or repeated mistakes or offences, including breaching the military discipline, stealing, sabotaging, being lazy, opposing the CPK or taking a stance against the revolution.¹²⁸² Those who committed minor offences were taken to worksites such as Ream, Bet Trang, Kang Keng or Stung Hav for tempering or refashioning.¹²⁸³ The soldiers accused of committing moral offences or other mild or serious ‘wrongdoings’ were arbitrarily imprisoned in security offices such as Wat Enta Nhien or Toek Sap,¹²⁸⁴ which were infamous for their inhumane conditions, the forced labour imposed on the prisoners, the torture inflicted upon serious wrongdoers,¹²⁸⁵ and for the executions at nearby execution sites.¹²⁸⁶ The Division 164 soldiers, who for various reasons were labelled “bad elements” and had previously been disarmed and enslaved for refashioning purposes in worksites, were also arrested and imprisoned in those security centres for any slight additional mistake or were executed.¹²⁸⁷ Like all those arrested and imprisoned in DK, none were allowed any judicial process.¹²⁸⁸ Most of the Division 164 combatants were arrested by the members of the Special Battalion 165 (previously Battalion 450, also called “Special Forces” or special intervention unit). Special Battalion 165 included Meas Muth’s messengers and bodyguards and was under the direct and personal command of Meas Muth. The unit was in charge of his security at the division headquarters and of Wat Enta Nhien security office.¹²⁸⁹

367. Meas Muth was known to physically beat his own soldiers when they committed mistakes in his presence. For example, he hit a carpenter on the forehead with an axe for an alleged error made in building a house roof in Kampong Som, then prevented anyone to help the wounded man.¹²⁹⁰ Due to his absolute power and renowned bad temper, Meas Muth was feared by his Division 164 troops.¹²⁹¹

4. REINTEGRATION OF SOME PURGED SOLDIERS INTO DIVISION 164 ONLY TO FIGHT THE VIETNAMESE

368. As the armed conflict with Vietnam became increasingly serious and threatened the CPK leadership, many Division 164 soldiers who had been disarmed and enslaved at worksites or imprisoned for being “bad elements” or being affiliated to traitors or enemies, although in poor health,¹²⁹² were rearmed by Meas Muth and the division leadership in late 1978.¹²⁹³

B. CRIMES COMMITTED AGAINST THOSE CAPTURED BY THE DK NAVY IN WATERS AND ON ISLANDS CLAIMED BY DEMOCRATIC KAMPUCHEA

369. The evidence below demonstrates that Meas Muth is individually responsible for the following crimes in relation to those persons captured by Division 164 and Division 1 in waters and islands claimed by the DK: the crimes against humanity of murder, extermination, imprisonment; persecution on political grounds; enforced disappearance and inhumane treatment as other inhumane acts; and the grave breaches of wilful killing, unlawful confinement, torture, and wilfully causing great suffering.

1. OVERVIEW

370. Upon arrival in Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, Division 3 troops were immediately sent by Meas Muth to occupy and defend various islands off the coast that were claimed by Cambodia. Those included Koh Rong, Koh Rong Samloeu, Koh Ruessei, Koh Thmei, Koh Ses, the southern islands of Koh Tang, Koh Poulo Wai and Koh Prins.¹²⁹⁴ In May

1975, Meas Muth's forces attacked Vietnamese who were occupying the disputed islands of Koh Krachak Ses¹²⁹⁵ and Koh Tral, kidnapping and murdering the inhabitants.¹²⁹⁶ Troops of former Sector 37 led by Chey Han alias Chhan¹²⁹⁷ (in particular Battalion 386)¹²⁹⁸ were placed under the authority of Meas Muth and reinforced Division 3 positions on the islands.¹²⁹⁹ In addition to protecting all of the DK-claimed islands in the Cambodian sea (about 200 in total),¹³⁰⁰ the Navy forces patrolled to ensure no foreigners entered Cambodian waters. Meas Muth gave clear instructions regarding any intrusion of foreign boats or ships within those waters: they had to be captured, and if they tried to flee or resist, should be sunk.¹³⁰¹

371. The implementation of these instructions was complicated by the fact that Division 3/164 military units based on the islands received no training with respect to the location of Cambodia's maritime boundaries. They were not told which zones and islands (including Koh Krachak Ses) were under dispute with Vietnam or Thailand or where international waters started.¹³⁰² As a result, the division interpreted their territorial waters broadly and many foreign boats were captured without any certainty they had entered DK waters.¹³⁰³
372. After the creation of Centre Division 164¹³⁰⁴ and the redesignation of Regiments 20, 21 and 22 into Regiments 61, 62 and 63 in July 1975, Regiment 61 troops controlled the islands of Koh Kong and Koh Rong (Koh Rong Thom and Koh Rong Sanloem);¹³⁰⁵ Regiment 62 was posted on the southwestern islands of Koh Tang, Koh Poulo Wai (Thmei and Chas – new and old), Koh Pring, Koh Veal (Ver) and a number of smaller islands;¹³⁰⁶ and Regiment 63 was stationed on Koh Seh and Koh Thmei islands close to Koh Tral (Vietnam).¹³⁰⁷
373. Initially, the regiments and battalions stationed on the islands had only a few former U.S. Patrol Craft Fast or Swift (PCF) boats at their disposal.¹³⁰⁸ After Regiment 140 (the Navy) was set up in July 1975,¹³⁰⁹ China began providing the Navy with supplementary boats and battleships, including chase, defence, anti-submarine vessels, and minesweepers.¹³¹⁰
374. Small vessels belonging to Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were instructed to defend the islands and the coast and to capture small boats entering territorial waters,¹³¹¹ while bigger ships including military ships would generally be chased, destroyed or captured by the Regiment 140 vessels.¹³¹² This necessitated permanent coordination and communication between those entities and the Division 164 headquarters. The Division 164 Committee commanded by Meas Muth played the major role in this communication system, as anything concerning the pursuit of foreign vessels, the use of force, the destruction or capture of foreign vessels, or the fate of the people on board could only be decided by Meas Muth or his deputies.¹³¹³

2. DIVISION 164 ORDERS AND COMMUNICATION REGARDING THE CAPTURE OF FOREIGN BOATS / NATIONALS AT SEA

375. A Navy ship could only depart on a mission after an order was received from Meas Muth via telegraph or radio-telephone.¹³¹⁴ Meas Muth would send the order to the telegraph operators on the island, who then sent those orders to the ship commanders.¹³¹⁵ The commanders of the ships had to get orders from the upper level of the Division before pursuing or capturing vessels.¹³¹⁶ Similarly, the vessel commanders or the chiefs of units based on islands did not have any authority to make decisions by themselves on any boat captured, but had to strictly follow the orders communicated by the division headquarters.¹³¹⁷ For example, Nop Hal testified that when they received the order to capture a boat, they could not refuse to follow the order.¹³¹⁸ Insubordination was punished by death.¹³¹⁹
376. Whenever a Division 164 unit based on an island or a patrolling Navy vessel spotted a foreign boat approaching,¹³²⁰ the commander's instructions were to report this to the next level of authority,¹³²¹ usually the company or the battalion headquarters. Upon receiving the information, the battalion's headquarters in turn reported the presence of the boat to its regiment leadership, who relayed the information to the division headquarters in Kampong Som City.¹³²² Meas Muth's orders would then be immediately communicated by radio down through the chain of command to the unit concerned or, in case of emergency, directly to the ships responsible for capturing the foreign vessel.¹³²³ Meas Muth's default instructions were that the foreign vessels had to be chased and captured or, if the crew did not cooperate or resisted capture, be attacked and sunk.¹³²⁴
377. After capturing a ship, units then had to wait for orders as to how to proceed, which included orders to take the ships and/or prisoners to islands or to the mainland (Kampong Som Sector).¹³²⁵ Whenever Division 1 soldiers captured a foreign ship in their area of Koh

Kong, they were required to hand over the boat and captives to Division 164 forces who would bring them to Kampong Som.¹³²⁶

378. The fate of the foreign crew and passengers captured (mostly Thai and Vietnamese nationals) was decided on a case-by-case basis by Meas Muth himself or by one of his deputies acting on his behalf.¹³²⁷ Because the fate of the foreign people on board largely depended on their citizenship, it was essential that the Division 164 cadres communicating with the division leadership describe in detail whether the people arrested at sea were Vietnamese or Thai.¹³²⁸

379. Depending upon circumstances in which the boat was captured, its flag, and the nationality, status, or number of people aboard, Meas Muth's orders were to:

- (a) execute the crew and passengers, leaving those who jumped overboard in the sea without any assistance,¹³²⁹ and either sink the boat¹³³⁰ or seize the ship,¹³³¹
- (b) detain and transfer the prisoners to one of the surrounding islands before killing them;¹³³²
- (c) transfer the prisoners to the mainland (Ream or Ochheuteal)¹³³³ where they were received by forces under Meas Muth's authority¹³³⁴ and subsequently executed either in the Kampong Som area or at S-21, sometimes after a detention period in a Division 164 security centre,¹³³⁵ or,
- (d) for some Thai fishermen, to release or exchange them for goods.¹³³⁶

380. The Division leadership's orders were given in simple and explicit language, such as "shoot them dead" or "send them to the mainland".¹³³⁷ A witness stated that the orders from Division 164 were generally: "Do what you want. Don't keep them' [...] It would only be a waste of rice".¹³³⁸ Pak Sok recalled that when fewer than 20 Vietnamese civilians were captured at sea, Meas Muth ordered that they be killed on the islands or at sea while larger groups needed to be transferred to Ochheuteal for execution.¹³³⁹

381. Meas Muth issued orders by radio in relation to the capture of foreign boats.¹³⁴⁰ After fully implementing such orders, the unit responsible for the capture, arrest, transfer, or killing had to report back to Meas Muth or his deputies through the same chain of command.¹³⁴¹ As Moul Chhin testified: "They used phrases such as 'It is done.' or 'They have already finished off those people.'"¹³⁴²

382. Communications within Division 164 were mostly conducted by radio for urgent situations,¹³⁴³ or via telegrams for more thorough reports.¹³⁴⁴ For example, telegram reports from battalions based on the islands were sent each evening to the division headquarters through their respective regiment to “summarize the work on all the islands”. Those reports discussed security issues as well as food supplies, health problems, and construction.¹³⁴⁵ Regiment 140 (Navy) also reported to the Division 164 headquarters.¹³⁴⁶ Meas Muth reported all security incidents, including the pursuit and capture of foreign vessels, to Son Sen at the General Staff headquarters, either in writing or orally during meetings he regularly attended in Phnom Penh.¹³⁴⁷

3. ROLE OF DIVISION 1 IN ARRESTS

383. Division 1 of the West Zone (not under the authority of Meas Muth) conducted operations along the coast of Koh Kong Province.¹³⁴⁸ Its role was to defend the territory along the border in the West Zone.¹³⁴⁹ Division 1 controlled the coastal area bordering Thailand, and therefore had authority over some parts of the sea borders between Cambodia and the international waters between Cambodia and Thailand.¹³⁵⁰ The responsibilities of Divisions 1 and 164 thus partially overlapped. Division 1 had its own motorboats to patrol the maritime boundaries,¹³⁵¹ but Division 1 did not have large naval vessels.¹³⁵²

384. From their land bases, Division 1 monitored the sea for foreign vessels using binoculars and radar. When they located a target they alerted Meas Muth, who would then send his orders to Division 164 vessels to capture foreign vessels.¹³⁵³ Sometimes, Division 1 forces themselves captured a foreign boat. When this happened, the unit in question reported the fact to division commander Ta Soeung. He then ordered them to bring the arrestees to Kampong Som Sector,¹³⁵⁴ where they were turned over to the Navy.¹³⁵⁵

4. MEAS MUTH’S ORDERS REGARDING VIETNAMESE NATIONALS

385. The evidence demonstrates that Meas Muth’s orders regarding the Vietnamese people captured at sea during the entire period extending from late April 1975 to 6 January 1979, were to: kill them on the spot¹³⁵⁶ or transfer them to islands or mainland to kill them.¹³⁵⁷ Meas Muth admitted in an interview that Vietnamese boats were captured about once every three months.¹³⁵⁸

386. Testimonial evidence suggests that the treatment of the Vietnamese people intercepted at sea was indiscriminate. Whether those captured were military or ordinary citizens, young, old, male or female, they were either shot immediately or taken into detention and later killed.¹³⁵⁹ Witnesses and surviving S-21 records demonstrate that the large majority of the Vietnamese captured at sea were ordinary people fleeing their country on small boats.¹³⁶⁰ The number of Vietnamese refugees in each boat varied between a few persons¹³⁶¹ and up to 50 - 70,¹³⁶² with an average of 30 persons.¹³⁶³ The majority of the refugees tried to reach Thailand¹³⁶⁴ while some others claimed that they wanted to reach the Philippines, Singapore or even Taiwan.¹³⁶⁵ Although it was obvious they were not Vietnamese spies or soldiers,¹³⁶⁶ they were all treated as such.¹³⁶⁷ Occasionally, witnesses have said that those captured were Vietnamese soldiers, although a number of these may have been civilians armed to defend themselves.¹³⁶⁸
387. S-21 records show that, from 1976 onwards, Vietnamese nationals arrested at sea and detained in the security centres of Kampong Som Sector were transferred to S-21.¹³⁶⁹ Pak Sok stated that, as early as 1976, Meas Muth ordered his troops to kill Vietnamese people whenever they were captured.¹³⁷⁰ Ek Ny confirms in his testimony that “it was the law set up by the upper levels that we had to absolutely smash the Vietnamese race regardless of whether they were just ordinary citizens or fishermen.”¹³⁷¹ The Division 164 leadership taught the Navy soldiers that the Vietnamese were the “Hereditary Enemy” and “Enemy Number One”.¹³⁷² Those Vietnamese enemies, either soldiers or civilians (fishermen and “boat people” fleeing Vietnam towards Thailand were often described as “Vietnamese spies”)¹³⁷³ had to be eliminated either on their boat,¹³⁷⁴ on a nearby island,¹³⁷⁵ in Kampong Som Sector,¹³⁷⁶ or were sent to S-21 to get their confessions extracted and broadcast on the DK radio prior to their execution.¹³⁷⁷ The treatment reserved by Meas Muth and his Division 164 subordinates for Vietnamese people arrested at sea is fully consistent with the CPK’s genocidal policy towards the Vietnamese in Cambodia, particularly in the period 1977-1979.¹³⁷⁸ There are no credible accounts of Vietnamese people arrested at sea who were sent back to Vietnam or released. The rare military cadres who claimed that some Vietnamese refugees were released and allowed to continue their journey to Thailand lack credibility on this point.¹³⁷⁹

MEAS MUTH'S ORDERS REGARDING THAI NATIONALS

388. Son Sen called Thailand the “enemy from the west”, capable of conquering the sea and Cambodian land.¹³⁸⁰ In August 1976, Meas Muth reported to, inter alia, Pol Pot, Son Sen, Ta Mok, and Vorn Vet on the “enemy situation” – noting the increase in Thai fishing vessels from “one or two [to] now in a fleet of 30 to 40 ships”.¹³⁸¹ A month later, he told Son Sen that “there have been major changes” as “Thais have increasingly sneaked into the fisheries in our waters” in convoys of “100 or 150”.¹³⁸²
389. Prum Sarat testified that when Thai boats were spotted, action was taken to pursue or “to stop them”.¹³⁸³ Meas Muth ordered that fishing boats from Thailand be seized,¹³⁸⁴ with such seizures occurring regularly.¹³⁸⁵ Meas Muth sent and received reports regarding Thai boats being fired upon¹³⁸⁶ and captured;¹³⁸⁷ and Thai nationals being arrested,¹³⁸⁸ killed,¹³⁸⁹ interrogated,¹³⁹⁰ or having jumped/fallen into the sea when their boats were attacked.¹³⁹¹ Those captured were usually male fishermen,¹³⁹² though females were also arrested and interrogated.¹³⁹³ Those who tried to escape Meas Muth's forces were not rescued from the sea.¹³⁹⁴

MEAS MUTH'S ORDERS REGARDING OTHER NON-CAMBODIAN NATIONALS

390. Other Asians and Westerners were also captured at sea or on islands and sent to the mainland before being transferred either to Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre, Kampong Som,¹³⁹⁵ or S-21.¹³⁹⁶ In carrying out Division 164 instructions, the DK Navy captured a number of persons from countries such as Malaysia¹³⁹⁷ and India¹³⁹⁸ in the territorial waters claimed by the DK.¹³⁹⁹ Testimonial evidence and S-21 records establish that these captives were later executed.¹⁴⁰⁰
391. S-21 records and testimonial evidence also prove that a number of Westerners were captured on their boats or sailing ships by the DK Navy under the authority of Meas Muth.¹⁴⁰¹ These arrestees were then transferred to S-21 with the approval and facilitation of the Division 164 leadership.¹⁴⁰² In an interview, Meas Muth first denied he had any knowledge or gave orders regarding the arrest of Westerners at sea, claiming he had already left Kampong Som for Kratie in February 1978.¹⁴⁰³ However, he later admitted, and the evidence shows, that he was still the Division 164 commander for the rest of 1978.¹⁴⁰⁴ Although he was fulfilling his functions as the General Staff Deputy Commander and also had other responsibilities in Sector 505 (Kratie area) from mid-to late 1978,¹⁴⁰⁵ Meas Muth continued to receive reports from Division 164 and to make decisions in relation to its affairs.¹⁴⁰⁶ When asked what happened to the Westerners arrested at sea in August 1978, Meas Muth gave detailed answers, which indicated that he knew what had happened to them. He stated that the Westerners were kept on Bamboo island (Koh Russey) for “two nights, before people from Phnom Penh come to pick them up”,¹⁴⁰⁷ and that this relatively short detention period was due to the fact that Pol Pot, Khieu Samphan and Ieng Sary were afraid that foreign states would learn about their arrest.¹⁴⁰⁸ According to Meas Muth, they were detained in “an open, small building”, without walls, “covered by thatch”, they cooked for themselves and “slept on the hammock made with a fishing net”.¹⁴⁰⁹ Meas Muth said they were not mistreated or interrogated by Division 164 cadres “because no one could speak English” and that they were free to move around on the island.¹⁴¹⁰ Then, after two nights, they were transferred to Ochheuteal where an English speaking Ministry of Foreign Affairs official picked them up by car or truck and accompanied them to Phnom Penh.¹⁴¹¹ In an attempt to exonerate himself, Meas Muth claimed that the commander responsible for the capture of the Westerners’ boat off Koh Tang island in 1978 would have been Dim.¹⁴¹² However, this was obviously a lie intended to hide his own responsibility as Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, Division 164 Deputy Commander, was purged and entered S-21 on 21 April 1977, so could not have been involved. Dim was subsequently executed on 8 December 1977.¹⁴¹³

ARREST AND TRANSFER

392. The people captured at sea who were not immediately killed were arrested by the Navy or the battalion soldiers posted on the DK islands.¹⁴¹⁴ Evidence suggests that there was an order to arrest and capture all those that were intercepted at sea and seize their boat¹⁴¹⁵ (including those that had not yet entered the Cambodian maritime territory).¹⁴¹⁶ Subsequent to their arrest these persons were either executed at sea or transferred to one of the DK islands where they were temporarily detained before their execution or transfer to Kampong Som.¹⁴¹⁷
393. The Vietnamese people arrested at sea were seriously mistreated during their transfer to the islands or to the mainland.¹⁴¹⁸ Pak Sok recalled that for their transfer to the mainland, the captured Vietnamese were placed in closed compartments of the Navy motorboat to prevent them from resisting. Because the enclosed compartments were very hot, some of them suffered from convulsion and nearly died.¹⁴¹⁹ On 20 March 1978, Meas Muth reported that two Vietnamese motor-driven boats with 76 Vietnamese people – young and old, male and female – were captured at Koh Tang island. The people were tied up, and two of them fell into the water (and presumably died). The arrested people were brought to the main land.¹⁴²⁰ Some Vietnamese were beaten upon their arrival at the shore in Kampong Som before being taken away.¹⁴²¹ Witness Ing Chhon also recalls his unit arresting 23 Vietnamese people including an old Vietnamese grandmother, a Vietnamese widow, nine Vietnamese boys, nine Vietnamese girls, and a Khmer couple with their seven-year-old son.¹⁴²²

394. Attacks on Thai fishing boats frequently led to the arrest of the boats' occupants.¹⁴²³ On 9 September 1976, Meas Muth recorded two incidents of Thai nationals being captured in the previous seven days.¹⁴²⁴ He reported that a Thai fishing boat was captured in the area off Koh Kong and Koh Sdech on 2 September, with nine crew members arrested while seven others had jumped into the sea.¹⁴²⁵ He also claimed that five Thai nationals and one Cambodian national, captured in a small boat on 5 September, had admitted to being spies.¹⁴²⁶ Meas Muth's reporting of such incidents continued throughout the regime. In a confidential telephone conversation in March 1978, he informed Son Sen that a Thai boat was captured with 21 people on board, three kilometres from Koh Chas island.¹⁴²⁷

395. Witnesses detail the arrest, detention, and transfer of Thai fishermen. For example, Dol Song – a Regiment 140 soldier who worked on a warship – witnessed the arrest of 30 Thai fishermen, who were brought to Poulo Wai island in 1977.¹⁴²⁸ Meu Ret stated that he saw ten Thai fishermen that had been captured and brought to Koh Ta Keav (the island close to Ream) in 1976.¹⁴²⁹ Witness Nou Saroeun was in a children's unit when he saw 25 Thai fishermen being taken to the Durian I plantation in Ream Commune after soldiers had impounded their two boats and confiscated the fish from the boats.¹⁴³⁰ Koch Tuy testified that he and his unit seized a Thai fishing boat off Koh Yar island. Having emptied the boat of its fish, they were ordered by their battalion commander to bring the boat and its occupants to Kampong Som.¹⁴³¹ There they were received by soldiers from Division 164.¹⁴³²

396. The lives of some Thai nationals were spared where they could be used for the purpose of an exchange for goods.¹⁴³³ For example, Meas Muth reported to Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Ieng Sary in April 1978, that Division 164 had exchanged Thai detainees for three cartons of cigarettes and a bottle of palm oil.¹⁴³⁴ Witness Soem Ny saw 40 Thai fishermen who were detained at Pory Barang (Thma Sa Commune, Thma Bang District, Koh Kong Province) in late 1975 or early 1976. He was told by a member of the sector military that the fishermen people were returned to Thailand after diplomatic negotiations.¹⁴³⁵
397. Similarly, Witness Ou Dav detailed his involvement in two incidents where Thai fishermen were captured and exchanged for goods. In around June 1975, Ou Dav and his unit captured a Thai fishing boat and were ordered to take it to Kampong Som and hand it over to Meas Muth's deputy commanders.¹⁴³⁶ Additionally, they were ordered to keep the arrested Thai fishermen alive in order to exchange them for gasoline.¹⁴³⁷ Later that year, Ou Dav and his unit captured two large fishing boats with approximately 15 Thai nationals on board.¹⁴³⁸ Ou Dav reported the capture via radio to the battalion commander who ordered him to bring the boats to Kampong Som immediately.¹⁴³⁹ The boats and Thai prisoners were then handed over to soldiers under Meas Muth's authority.¹⁴⁴⁰ Ou Dav heard that the detainees were freed in return for gasoline.¹⁴⁴¹ Witness Lay Bunhak stated that while his unit was not involved in the arrest of Thai or Malaysian fishermen, he heard about it on the radio every few months.¹⁴⁴² He stated that soldiers guarding the islands were responsible for the arrests of these people,¹⁴⁴³ a number of whom were sent to the headquarters while others were freed after negotiations with the Thai embassy.¹⁴⁴⁴ Other evidence details how Thai fishermen were released having been first forced to labour at Ream worksites.¹⁴⁴⁵
398. Nop Hal describes the capture of two Westerners, one white man and one black, on a yacht in early 1978, in the Southwest of Koh Poulo Wai. The two Westerners were arrested, transferred through Koh Tang where they were examined, and then sent to Kampong Som Sector.¹⁴⁴⁶

5. CRIMES

MURDER, WILFUL KILLING, AND EXTERMINATION

a) Killing at Sea

399. On 19 March 1978, Division 164 fired at and sank a Vietnamese motor boat one kilometre south of Koh Kyang island. Meas Muth reported this event to Son Sen in a confidential telephone conversation on 20 March 1978.¹⁴⁴⁷ On another occasion, a Division 164 soldier witnessed a soldier kill a crying baby by throwing it into the sea.¹⁴⁴⁸ Moul Chhin, a Battalion 386 soldier who was stationed on Koh Rong Sanloem in 1975-1976, stated that most of the time the Vietnamese refugee boats were fired at immediately and sunk so that the people on board would die before being brought in or, alternatively, that they were shot and thrown into the sea.¹⁴⁴⁹ Such killings of Vietnamese fishermen or refugees were confirmed by Pak Sok.¹⁴⁵⁰
400. Pak Sok described the killing of thousands of persons at sea, including Thai fishermen.¹⁴⁵¹ Official reports also record such killings. For example, in September 1977, the chief of Division 164 in Koh Kong, Sim, reported leading the capture of two Thai boats containing fish and fuel. He stated that while some people on the boats jumped into the water, others “were killed [by our brothers]”.¹⁴⁵²

b) Killing on the Islands

401. When people were captured at sea, they were brought to the nearest naval headquarters.¹⁴⁵³ Arrested people brought into the port of Koh Rong Sanloem were killed as soon as they arrived.¹⁴⁵⁴ People captured at sea close to Koh Poulo Wai were usually brought to the island.¹⁴⁵⁵ Detainees were kept in a house close to the dock for two or three days,¹⁴⁵⁶ then divided among the units stationed on the island.¹⁴⁵⁷ Soldiers would be chosen to execute the prisoners who were beaten to death and buried.¹⁴⁵⁸
402. Thousands of people,¹⁴⁵⁹ Vietnamese refugees and Thai, were arrested at sea and brought to Koh Tang island in order to be killed. Some were interrogated.¹⁴⁶⁰ They were detained for a maximum of one night before being executed.¹⁴⁶¹ The victims were bound with ropes and then beaten to death with wooden sticks; infants were struck against trees.¹⁴⁶² They were later buried under coconut trees as fertiliser.¹⁴⁶³
403. Meas Muth reported to CPK Centre leaders that between 27 March 1978 and 30 March 1978, 120 Vietnamese people were arrested and shot to death.¹⁴⁶⁴ These victims came from five boats.¹⁴⁶⁵ Som Soam, a member of Battalion 623 in Regiment 162, witnessed the Navy (Regiment 140) seize a Vietnamese boat and arrest its passengers while he was stationed at Koh Tang during the dry season period between 1977 and 1978.¹⁴⁶⁶ The Navy brought the detained refugees to Koh Tang; they included men, women, and children.¹⁴⁶⁷ Som Soam heard from other soldiers that the Vietnamese were killed afterwards.¹⁴⁶⁸

404. Som Soam also described how, in the same period, a Vietnamese boat was captured by the Navy. The passengers were all civilian, and included men, women and children. They were brought to Koh Tang and executed.¹⁴⁶⁹ Witness Chum Chy stated that, on another occasion, there was an arrest of a boat with seven or eight Vietnamese refugees, which were brought close to the stone port, east of Poulo Wai island. The witness heard later that these refugees were killed.¹⁴⁷⁰ These victims were travelling in small or medium-sized wooden boats and wearing non-military clothing.¹⁴⁷¹
405. In another incident on Poulo Wai Thmei island in April or May 1975, Khmer Rouge forces captured a boat carrying more than 10 Vietnamese refugees, including women and children. They were brought to the eastern side of the island and were housed and fed for two or three days. After their capture, the commander of Battalion 408 “contacted Kampong Som for guidance on the disposition of the refugees. The high command in Kampong Som ordered the commander to kill the refugees. The commander and his deputy carried out the order”.¹⁴⁷²
406. Witness Ek Ny stated that while Vietnamese and Thai prisoners were normally sent to be killed at Kampong Som Sector, Meas Muth also “ordered us not to waste gasoline to transport them to Kampong Som [and] told us that we should make them as fertilizer for the coconut trees on the Island.”¹⁴⁷³ Ek Ny was told by unit chiefs: “no need for us to send the captured persons to Kampong Som anymore because brother Division chairman had told us just finish them on site”.¹⁴⁷⁴ Such instructions were followed and executions were carried out on the islands. For example, Dol Song, a Regiment 140 soldier, witnessed the arrest of 30 Thai fishermen at sea in 1977. The fishermen had their arms tied and were brought to Poulo Wai island where they were beaten to death by Division 164 forces.¹⁴⁷⁵

DIFFERENCE OF TREATMENT BETWEEN VIETNAMESE AND THAI PEOPLE

407. Though both Thailand and Vietnam were considered an “enemy”, the Vietnamese and Thai captured at sea were treated differently by Meas Muth’s forces.¹⁴⁷⁶ The Vietnamese were considered the “hereditary enemy”:¹⁴⁷⁷ invaders who could not be spared and had to be smashed.¹⁴⁷⁸ This idea was disseminated by the upper level and was followed by the lower echelons.¹⁴⁷⁹ Thai nationals, by contrast, were targeted for arrest, detention and killing, but would also be spared when it was in Meas Muth’s forces’ interest to do so.¹⁴⁸⁰

THE MAYAGUEZ INCIDENT

408. The SS Mayaguez, a large American civil cargo ship, was captured by Division 3/164 forces on 12 May 1975 in accordance with Meas Muth’s instructions.¹⁴⁸¹ The DK claimed it had entered Cambodian territorial waters.¹⁴⁸² The Mayaguez was brought to anchor close to Kampong Som Port.¹⁴⁸³ Meas Muth ordered that the crew be arrested and brought to Kampong Som, then taken back to their cargo ship.¹⁴⁸⁴ After the Mayaguez had been released,¹⁴⁸⁵ Koh Tang island was bombed in reprisals by U.S. helicopters.¹⁴⁸⁶ The Division 3 troops posted on Koh Tang and the American troops engaged in conflict on 14-15 May 1975, causing casualties on both sides. Two helicopters transporting American soldiers were shot down during the fighting.¹⁴⁸⁷ Ek Ny saw the two helicopters crash and the remains of US troops inside one of them.¹⁴⁸⁸ During this period, the troops on Koh Tang communicated with the division headquarters and received instructions from Meas Muth.¹⁴⁸⁹ Some American soldiers who did not die in the second helicopter crash were still alive on the island after their troops retreated, while the corpses of those who had been killed were left unattended.¹⁴⁹⁰ Em Sun, a Battalion 450 leader based on Koh Tang, stated that three U.S. soldiers were arrested on Koh Tang island some time after the battle but one was shot dead as he tried to escape. He stated that the two others surrendered, were tied up and brought to the base.¹⁴⁹¹ After his report to the division, Meas Muth ordered Em Sun to bring the Americans to Kampong Som.¹⁴⁹² Once in Occheuteal, he handed over the two Americans to the Division 164 Office staff then orally reported the events to Meas Muth three days later.¹⁴⁹³ A few weeks later, Em Sun reported that he found the bodies of the two Americans on two different beaches of Kampong Som; both had had their skulls smashed.¹⁴⁹⁴

409. Evidence shows that Meas Muth was in full control of the troops posted on the islands and in the Kampong Som area at the time the Mayaguez was captured and in the following weeks,¹⁴⁹⁵ despite his claim that he was hospitalised in Phnom Penh at the time.¹⁴⁹⁶

c) Killings in Kampong Som

410. If those captured by naval units were not killed at sea or on one of the islands, they were transferred to the mainland. Depending on the orders, the captured persons would be taken to Ream,¹⁴⁹⁷ or to Kampong Som¹⁴⁹⁸ (Ochheuteal Beach,¹⁴⁹⁹ Division 164 headquarters, or the King's residence).¹⁵⁰⁰ Arrestees who were not yet tied up were bound upon arrival at the port.¹⁵⁰¹ Evidence suggests that some captured Thai people were sent to Ream and were put to work, at least temporarily,¹⁵⁰² before being sent back to Thailand.¹⁵⁰³ Other arrestees were sent to Toek Sap, east of Ream.¹⁵⁰⁴ A witness states that most of the Vietnamese arrestees were brought to Kampong Som and not to the islands.¹⁵⁰⁵ Vietnamese would sometimes be picked up at Ochheuteal by the "internal office" of Division 164 and sent to Kampong Som together with their confiscated valuables and other belongings.¹⁵⁰⁶

411. In some instances, the boats and their passengers were sent to one of the islands for "checking and reporting" before being sent to Kampong Som Sector.¹⁵⁰⁷ Eventually, captured and arrested fishermen, soldiers, refugees and other foreigners were brought to various places on the mainland and executed on Division 164 orders.¹⁵⁰⁸ Captured Vietnamese were systematically executed.¹⁵⁰⁹ Execution sites included the Durian I, Coconut, and Orange plantations,¹⁵¹⁰ which were in close proximity to each other.¹⁵¹¹ A large number of Thai and Vietnamese arrestees were killed there and their bodies subsequently used as fertiliser for orchard trees.¹⁵¹²

412. One witness testified that he saw bones and clothes at a durian plantation. He could recognise the Cambodians by their black clothes, while the clothes of the Thai bodies were in a wide range of colours.¹⁵¹³ Additionally, Lak Saphan saw two soldiers walking a group of four or five people who were tied up towards the Toek Sap durian plantation along National Road 4 in the rainy season of 1975. He says he heard people saying that these people were Thai fishermen captured at sea and that they were being killed there.¹⁵¹⁴ When the witness went back to the durian plantation after 1979, he saw bones and clothes there, which he believes are the remains of the Thai people.¹⁵¹⁵

413. On another occasion, in late 1978,¹⁵¹⁶ three Vietnamese people: an old lady and two adolescents,¹⁵¹⁷ were walked to Meas Muth headquarters in Kampong Som city. Witness Mut Mao stated that “those children were crying and screaming”¹⁵¹⁸ and learned that the people “were captured along with their boat from the sea”.¹⁵¹⁹ They were killed just a few metres away from Meas Muth’s house near fruit trees.¹⁵²⁰ The witness saw two or three pits in which the Vietnamese were buried.¹⁵²¹
414. Meas Muth ordered the execution of Thai nationals at the durian plantation in Kampong Som and their burial under the durian trees as fertiliser.¹⁵²² Ek Ny stated that after Thai people were captured at sea, they were brought to be killed at the durian plantation where their bodies would subsequently be cut into two pieces and buried under the trees.¹⁵²³ Multiple witnesses provide similar evidence of such killings.¹⁵²⁴ In late 1976, Nou Saroeun, who worked in a children’s unit in Ream Commune, saw 25 Thai fishermen who had been captured at sea being walked to a durian plantation.¹⁵²⁵ There, they were were executed.¹⁵²⁶ Nou Saroeun did not witness the execution, but saw burial pits and graves there in 1979.¹⁵²⁷
415. Prom Kem learned from Khmer Rouge naval personnel that a Thai fishing boat with ten people on board had been captured in 1976. He states that the fishermen were taken off the boat, stripped of their clothing, had their arms tied up with hammock string and were taken to the Durian Plantation.¹⁵²⁸ The villagers in the area believed that the fishermen had been killed and buried at the foot of durian trees as fertiliser.¹⁵²⁹
416. Pen Sarin worked at the Ream naval base in 1976 and saw two groups of 15-20 Thai fishermen tied up and taken into one of the barracks buildings on the base.¹⁵³⁰ The fishermen were captured off Koh Tang and Koh Rong islands. Pen Sarin believed that they were executed.¹⁵³¹

d) Killings at S-21

417. Some arrestees captured at sea were transported to S-21 in Phnom Penh and killed.¹⁵³² Both Vietnamese and Thai people were trucked away from Ream by a police/security unit from Phnom Penh.¹⁵³³ Heang Ret, deputy chairman of Unit 4 of Battalion 165 within Division 164, recalls that Vietnamese fishermen who were brought to Kampong Som Port were transported away in Division 164 trucks. He did not know where the trucks were taking them.¹⁵³⁴ Every one or two months, Vietnamese civilians were brought to S-21.¹⁵³⁵ Witness

Prum Sarat frequently heard on the radio of the arrest at sea of Vietnamese refugees, soldiers and fisherman who were sent to the Division 164 Office and then transferred to S-21.¹⁵³⁶ In 1978, a number of Vietnamese people who were captured at sea were transferred to S-21 from Kampong Som to be interrogated in order to obtain their confessions for propaganda purposes.¹⁵³⁷ These confessions were often broadcast over Phnom Penh's national radio.¹⁵³⁸ For example, on 27 March 1978, the confession of a Vietnamese "spy" arrested on 10 February on Poulo Wai island was broadcast.¹⁵³⁹

418. Entire Vietnamese families, including men, women, elderly, adolescents, and children transferred from Kampong Som Sector, entered S-21 in 1978.¹⁵⁴⁰ Not all names of incoming Vietnamese were recorded. The names of elderly and children older than 15 were sometimes omitted from the list of prisoners, while the names of children younger than 15 years old were completely omitted.¹⁵⁴¹ Most of the Vietnamese fishermen were not interrogated but were sent away for execution soon after they were brought to S-21.¹⁵⁴²
419. Witness Kork Sras, who worked as a guard at S-21, testified that he saw Indians, Thais and Vietnamese at S-21 who were executed at Choeung Ek.¹⁵⁴³ He also heard over the radio about the capture of Vietnamese people in the vicinity of Koh Tang and Koh Poulo Wai.¹⁵⁴⁴ This happened almost every month over a period of two years. Arrestees were first sent to the Division and some of them were then sent to S-21.¹⁵⁴⁵ S-21 records also establish that at least 58 Thai fishermen arrested at sea were detained then executed, between May and November 1976.¹⁵⁴⁶
420. With respect to the Western prisoners at S-21, Nuon Chea ordered that "the long nose people had to be smashed" and their bodies "burned completely so that there was no evidence left behind."¹⁵⁴⁷ According to Witness Prak Khan, who worked at S-21, Duch personally interrogated Western prisoners who were later taken to be killed.¹⁵⁴⁸ S-21 records confirm the presence of these Westerners at S-21.¹⁵⁴⁹ Westerners¹⁵⁵⁰ were generally detained separately from other prisoners¹⁵⁵¹ and executed in the vicinity of S-21.¹⁵⁵² Their bodies were burned after their execution, so as not to leave any evidence of their remains.¹⁵⁵³

6. FREQUENCY OF ARRESTS AND KILLINGS

421. Arrests and killings at sea occurred on a regular basis.¹⁵⁵⁴ Accurate estimates of the total killed are not possible as the practice was spread over a long period and large territory. Witness Ek Ny estimates that at least 1,200 or 1,300 Vietnamese and Thai people were killed “at sea by naval forces during that regime”.¹⁵⁵⁵ Apart from the frequent capture of Vietnamese boats (which often had 50-60 passengers), Ek Ny gave the example of four large Thai boats captured during a single incident. According to his estimation, “there were at least 150 people on the four boats.”¹⁵⁵⁶ Hing Uch personally observed the capture of Thai boats once or twice and Vietnamese boats three times.¹⁵⁵⁷ Witness Neak Yoeun stated that he heard about the capture of Vietnamese boats every two or three months but acknowledges that he only heard about some of “those events”.¹⁵⁵⁸ Sao Sam testified he witnessed the capture of boats three times.¹⁵⁵⁹
422. Pak Sok also estimated that thousands of people were captured at sea and sent to Ochheuteal Port.¹⁵⁶⁰ According to Ou Kim, around 1,000 (Thai and Vietnamese) people were killed at Koh Poulo Wai.¹⁵⁶¹ Witness Meas Voeun recalls capturing around 50 to 60 fishing boats but claims that only around ten fishermen were captured because most fishermen jumped into the water to escape.¹⁵⁶² No attempts were made to rescue those who jumped into the water.¹⁵⁶³ According to Meas Voeun, the frequency of captures of Thai boats varied: sometimes two boats were captured in one week and sometimes only one in the whole month.¹⁵⁶⁴
423. Prum Sarat kept a logbook on board his ship about the arrests of Vietnamese boats. He estimated that more than a hundred Vietnamese people were arrested while he was there.¹⁵⁶⁵ He stated that he witnessed the capture of Vietnamese boats twice while he was stationed on Koh Poulo Wai island.¹⁵⁶⁶ He also heard over the radio about the capture of Vietnamese people in the vicinity of Koh Tang and Koh Poulo Wai, which happened almost every month over a period of two years.¹⁵⁶⁷ Prum Sarat also recalled one event where a Thai fishing boat was captured close to Koh Tang. He does not know how many Thai boats were captured in total.¹⁵⁶⁸
424. Shat Chak stated that he saw foreign boats being captured by the Navy fewer than ten times but also acknowledged that he was stationed on one side of Poulo Wai island and did not know the overall situation.¹⁵⁶⁹ Moul Chhin stated that “there were many captures of fishing boats. Generally, they captured three to four boats per day”. He saw the boats “dropping fishing nets to catch fish” and on average there were about six people on small boats and up to 20 to 30 people on larger vessels.¹⁵⁷⁰

C. DIVISION 164 SECURITY CENTRES

1. SECURITY CENTRE NETWORK

425. Meas Muth and Division 164 operated a network of security centres, or “re-education centres” in the Kampong Som region. The most significant of these were the facilities at Wat Enta Nhien¹⁵⁷¹ and Toek Sap.¹⁵⁷² A prison was also operated in Stung Hav.¹⁵⁷³ Meas Muth’s subordinates arbitrarily imprisoned Division 164 military personnel and civilians from the Kampong Som autonomous region, as well as Vietnamese, Thai and other foreign nationals captured at sea and on islands claimed by the DK at these sites. The prisoners were detained in grossly inhumane conditions, often tortured, and in most cases ultimately executed, all without any legal process. Division 164 operated Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap as part of the wider national DK security system, with some prisoners first detained in these Kampong Som institutions before being transported to Phnom Penh for detention, torture and execution at S-21.

a) Within Kampong Som

426. The fact that all of the Division 164 detention facilities were part of a single organised and interconnected system of DK security centres is exemplified by the fact that former prisoners have described being moved from one facility to another in the course of their “re-education”. Long Phansy, Chief of Battalion 612 until his arrest in 1977 or 1978, was sent to Toek Sap security centre after spending several months in the Stung Hav jail.¹⁵⁷⁴ Similarly, Division 164 transferred former Battalion 386 combatant Moul Chhin back and forth over the course of several days between Toek Sap security centre and Wat Enta Nhien.¹⁵⁷⁵

b) Wider DK Network

427. Some prisoners were detained temporarily in Kampong Som, before being sent elsewhere, usually to S-21. A number of witnesses have described both Wat Enta Nhien¹⁵⁷⁶ and Toek

- Sap¹⁵⁷⁷ as “temporary facilities” used for those destined elsewhere, usually “Phnom Penh”, i.e. S-21. Witness Ek Ny described seeing trucks travelling towards Phnom Penh in 1977, with prisoners inside constrained and under armed guard “moaning,” “crying”, and “screaming” in conditions that they themselves considered worse than death.¹⁵⁷⁸
428. Surviving S-21 records also demonstrate that Thai and Vietnamese nationals arrested at sea,¹⁵⁷⁹ including children,¹⁵⁸⁰ as well as DK citizens¹⁵⁸¹ were moved en masse around 7 May 1976 from Kampong Som to S-21, where they were then killed. There is evidence that many of them had been arrested between September and December 1975,¹⁵⁸² and were therefore held in Kampong Som for several months before the transfer. At least some of these had been detained to work at Toek Sap.¹⁵⁸³
429. The Division hospital chief Soem Neam alias Sok (Sokh) and his wife, Hem Ang alias Sin, were sent to Toek Sap before being detained and executed at S-21.¹⁵⁸⁴ As outlined in the Purges Within Division 164 section, there are clear indications that Division 164 Deputy Commander, Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, was also arrested well before his transfer to S-21 on 21 April 1977.¹⁵⁸⁵
430. These examples demonstrate an established and systematic detention policy that relied on collaboration between individual security centres and the central security centre in Phnom Penh.¹⁵⁸⁶ Imprisonment operations followed a recognised system of incarceration that was utilised to address the perceived threat of internal enemy and alien influences. Meas Muth regularly reported to the Party Centre and ruthlessly implemented the enemy policy at the security centres under his control.¹⁵⁸⁷

2. ARRESTS AND DETENTION IN DIVISION 164 SECURITY CENTRES

EXECUTION OF ARRESTS

431. As the Secretary and overall Commander of Division 3/164,¹⁵⁸⁸ and Secretary of Kampong Som Autonomous Sector,¹⁵⁸⁹ Meas Muth possessed the ultimate power of arrest, detention, release and execution¹⁵⁹⁰ of Division 3/164 military personnel and their families, civilians living in the Kampong Som region and individuals captured at sea and on the islands controlled by Democratic Kampuchea (including Koh Poulo Wai, Koh Tang, Koh Pring, Koh Rong, Koh Rong Samloem, Koh Seh, Koh Thmei and other minor islands).

432. Many Division 164 combatants were arrested by members of Special Battalion¹⁵⁹¹ 165 (previously Battalion 450 under Division 3),¹⁵⁹² a unit under the direct and personal command of Meas Muth.¹⁵⁹³ Originally an elite combat unit assisting regiments on the battlefield before April 1975,¹⁵⁹⁴ Battalion 165/450's primary function changed after the Khmer Rouge captured Phnom Penh, when it assumed responsibility for security on behalf of Division 164.¹⁵⁹⁵ Special Battalion 165/450 provided Meas Muth's messengers and bodyguards,¹⁵⁹⁶ ensured security at both the division headquarters¹⁵⁹⁷ and the Wat Enta Nhien security centre in Kampong Som,¹⁵⁹⁸ and conducted arrests across Meas Muth's area of authority.¹⁵⁹⁹
433. When Battalion 165/450 arrived in Kampong Som with the rest of Division 3 on 18 April 1975,¹⁶⁰⁰ Sa(r) Moeun was its commander.¹⁶⁰¹ He reported directly to Meas Muth.¹⁶⁰² Thean and Witness Em Sun also held leadership roles at the time.¹⁶⁰³ In August 1975, when Regiment 140 was created, Sa Moeun was transferred to the Navy (Commander of Battalion 141)¹⁶⁰⁴ and Norn assumed command of the Special Battalion,¹⁶⁰⁵ and became the chief of Wat Enta Nhien security centre.¹⁶⁰⁶ Chhun Lun alias Sam-At alias Sun was Deputy Commander for a short period before Meas Muth sent him to S-21 in June 1976.¹⁶⁰⁷ Witnesses would regularly see Norn go in and out of Meas Muth's house.¹⁶⁰⁸ In 1978, Norn was arrested for raping female prisoners at Wat Enta Nhien.¹⁶⁰⁹
434. As the purges escalated, the role played by Battalion 165/450 in arrests of Division 164 personnel became so renowned that the mere sight of its members, and especially Norn, made people afraid. Sa Moeun's former messenger Touch Soeuli said, "wherever Ta Norn's car arrived, people were usually worried because they did not know who would be arrested next."¹⁶¹⁰
435. Many Division 164 cadres were arrested by their unit commanders.¹⁶¹¹ Demobilised cadres working in one of the Kampong Som worksites were often arrested by one of their former comrades who for the time being remained an "active cadre"¹⁶¹² and provided armed guard over them.¹⁶¹³
436. Civilians were generally arrested by Division 164 soldiers,¹⁶¹⁴ or co-operative chiefs.¹⁶¹⁵
437. As regards arrests at sea, vessels belonging to Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were instructed to capture small boats entering territorial waters.¹⁶¹⁶ The armed PCF boats of Regiment 140, which were the defence vessels and pursuit vessels, were stationed either in Kampong Som, Koh Poulo Wai or Koh Tang island and were also charged to capture the foreign boats.¹⁶¹⁷ Meas Muth, as Division 164 Commander and Chief of the Navy, decided the fate of the crew and passengers captured on a case-by-case basis.¹⁶¹⁸ If he was absent, one of his deputies acted on his behalf.¹⁶¹⁹ Meas Muth's decisions were immediately communicated down through the chain of command to the relevant battalion, company or unit level.¹⁶²⁰

LACK OF DUE PROCESS

438. In what one Division 164 combatant described as a “dictatorial time”,¹⁶²¹ there were no courts, criminal codes, or legal processes when Meas Muth administered the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector.¹⁶²² Nor were there any legal institutions, processes or protections anywhere else in the DK regime.¹⁶²³ There was no judicial authorisation for, or review of, any of the arrests, detentions or executions. Detainees were not informed of the charges against them. None of the detainees was entitled to challenge arrest and imprisonment through any judicial mechanism, or offered any kind of trial.
439. Not only were the arrests without due process, in almost all cases there was no evidence that the person had done anything to justify any punishment. In many cases, the regime's “suspicion” about the arrested individuals was based solely on the confessions obtained through the torture of those who had gone through S-21 and other DK security centres before them.¹⁶²⁴ As the CPK leadership knew,¹⁶²⁵ confessions extracted in these circumstances are inherently unreliable. In line with the CPK policy to “dig out the root” of perceived enemy networks, mere affiliation with a purged commander or cadre was often sufficient to motivate arrests. Commanders were requested to actively identify within their respective units additional “traitors” and anyone affiliated with “traitors”,¹⁶²⁶ and Meas Muth organised study sessions at which attendees were required to write biographies identifying their past involvement with cadres who had already been purged.¹⁶²⁷
440. Prisoners were never told why they were arrested. To avoid any resistance or rebellion of their respective armed units,¹⁶²⁸ those targeted for detention were often invited to attend study sessions,¹⁶²⁹ or told they were moving to a new cooperative.¹⁶³⁰

3. WAT ENTA NHIEU SECURITY CENTRE¹⁶³¹

LOCATION, SITE DESCRIPTION AND OPERATION

441. Wat Enta Nhien, also known as Wat Kraom,¹⁶³² was located in Kampong Som City,¹⁶³³ in close proximity to both sites of the Division 164 Headquarters,¹⁶³⁴ where Meas Muth resided.¹⁶³⁵
442. When the Khmer Rouge took control of the site, some of the original buildings, including the sacred temple, were destroyed, leaving three primary buildings which constituted the security centre: two monks' houses and one dining hall.¹⁶³⁶ The first monks' building was the house where the Battalion 450/165 commander resided,¹⁶³⁷ and it also housed a medic, radio communications operator, and a messenger.¹⁶³⁸ As detailed below,¹⁶³⁹ all three buildings were used for detention purposes. One witness also described around 20 huts in the grounds of the pagoda that were used as additional detention facilities.¹⁶⁴⁰ During the DK period, a lemon plantation, which served as an execution site,¹⁶⁴¹ covered an area on a lower level east of the security centre, which has largely been built upon in the intervening years.¹⁶⁴²

Period of Operation

443. Immediately after Division 3 forces entered Kampong Som on 18 April 1975,¹⁶⁴³ Meas Muth's troops expelled the resident monks from Wat Enta Nhien,¹⁶⁴⁴ and occupied the site.¹⁶⁴⁵ While the evidence suggests the presence of isolated prisoners at Wat Enta Nhien in May-June 1975,¹⁶⁴⁶ it began fully functioning as a security centre in the second half of 1975, likely around August 1975 when Norn assumed the role of Special Battalion 450/165 commander.¹⁶⁴⁷ Wat Enta Nhien continued to be used as a security centre until the end of the DK regime.¹⁶⁴⁸ Indeed, Witness Moul Chhin was detained at Wat Enta Nhien until days before the arrival of the Vietnamese in 1979.¹⁶⁴⁹

Authority Structure

444. Wat Enta Nhien was a security and detention centre of Division 164 under Meas Muth,¹⁶⁵⁰ and clearly situated within his area of responsibility.¹⁶⁵¹ Meas Muth was "responsible exclusively" for Wat Enta Nhien,¹⁶⁵² and was intimately involved with its operations.

445. As detailed above, Meas Muth's own elite Special Battalion 165/450 ran the centre¹⁶⁵³ as part of its remit for Division 164 security.¹⁶⁵⁴ Meas Muth visited Wat Enta Nhien at least once a month¹⁶⁵⁵ to "examine the situation at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda",¹⁶⁵⁶ and possibly to bring food for the guards.¹⁶⁵⁷ The Division 164 office and his own living quarters were in close proximity to the site,¹⁶⁵⁸ and Meas Muth often combined his visits with meetings at other sites operated by Division 164, such as Stung Hav,¹⁶⁵⁹ Ream or Kang Keng.¹⁶⁶⁰ Witness Soem Ny, who stated that he worked at a plantation outside Wat Enta Nhien from mid-1976 to early 1977,¹⁶⁶¹ explained that he personally saw Meas Muth visit the pagoda twice.¹⁶⁶² He recalled Meas Muth being driven in a Chinese Jeep,¹⁶⁶³ just as another witness has done.¹⁶⁶⁴ Fellow Kampong Som Town CPK Committee member Launh (from the State fisheries)¹⁶⁶⁵ also used to visit the security centre, sometimes with Meas Muth,¹⁶⁶⁶ to bring food supplies.¹⁶⁶⁷
446. Meas Muth was the one who "sent the people away" and also conducted interrogations of detainees to produce evidence of their supposedly treacherous activity.¹⁶⁶⁸ Indeed, a 1977 telegram shows Meas Muth reporting on the interrogations of Thai fishermen in Kampong Som:

Yesterday, on August 11, 1977 when operating a patrol, we caught two machine boats: 350-horsepower and 175-horsepower. The latter carried five people with no fishing equipment [...] *Later we questioned them [...] Now the five men in question have been convoyed to Kampong Som. We are questioning them more.*¹⁶⁶⁹

Son Sen responded:

We request that questions be put to identify the internal networks.¹⁶⁷⁰

447. Despite, and perhaps because of, the level of his personal involvement with the site, Meas Muth has been less than candid about his knowledge of Wat Enta Nhien, asserting in an interview with David Kattenberg that "there were no detention centres in Kampong Som"¹⁶⁷¹ when he had told investigators seeking information on missing American military members in 2001 that he knew about "Tinean Pagoda", adding, "Why would we use it as a prison for Americans when we did not capture any Americans?"¹⁶⁷²

CRIMES

Imprisonment

448. Deprivation of liberty without due process: Prisoners were completely deprived of their liberty and freedom of movement at Wat Enta Nhien. The pagoda was surrounded by a barbed wire fence.¹⁶⁷³ Prisoners were detained under guard,¹⁶⁷⁴ in the first¹⁶⁷⁵ and second¹⁶⁷⁶ monks' buildings and in the dining hall.¹⁶⁷⁷ One witness also described seeing 40-50 prisoners in huts in the pagoda grounds.¹⁶⁷⁸ As detailed in the Inhumane Treatment section below, prisoners at Wat Enta Nhien were shackled from the moment they arrived, including at night.

449. Categories of detainees:

a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers

450. The majority of prisoners at Wat Enta Nhien were soldiers from regiments and battalions across Division 164.¹⁶⁷⁹ Wat Enta Nhien was used as a detention facility for those accused of “treason or disloyalty”.¹⁶⁸⁰ Anyone deemed to have engaged in “suspicious activities,”¹⁶⁸¹ or to have made “any mistake”¹⁶⁸² – whether serious¹⁶⁸³ or minor¹⁶⁸⁴ – would fall into this category. Witness Soem Ny explained that Meas Muth was especially intolerant of mistakes:

Meas Muth was different. He would not let them make two or three mistakes. Q: Instant punishment? A: If they made a mistake, they were in trouble.¹⁶⁸⁵

451. Traitors or “bad elements” also included those with “tendencies”,¹⁶⁸⁶ meaning that “they were associated with the political tendencies of those who had appointed them”.¹⁶⁸⁷ As Soem Ny explained further:

Tendencies were like [...] For example, it was connected to the organizational line from the district or sector committees. They investigated us based on our biographies, so they knew the reasons. Consequently, they removed us from the unit, sent us there and shackled us in chains.¹⁶⁸⁸

452. Division 164 soldiers, who were labelled “bad elements”, for example, because they belonged to a suspect “network” associated with one of the purged Division 164 leaders, such as the Sector 37 (former Battalion 386) network under Norng Chhan, or former East

Zone troops under Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, were at particular risk of being arrested and imprisoned. “When [a] superior was accused of being the traitor all his subordinates would automatically be perceived as the traitors.”¹⁶⁸⁹ A former East Zone cadre bemoaned the universal suspicion: “they suspected the lot of us, that all the Easterners were traitors.”¹⁶⁹⁰

453. As Ek Ny explained:

In practice, when a soldier committed a mistake; for example, when a soldier slept when they were on guard, that soldier would be called to be re-educated at the battalion, later released and returned to his unit, but when that soldier repeated mistakes several times, that soldier would be taken for execution. As for soldiers who did not have their commanders linked to traitorous networks, that soldier would be re-educated several times when he committed a mistake, before he was taken away. As for soldiers in my unit [Battalion 386], we did not have [a] second chance if we happened to sleep when we were on guard.¹⁶⁹¹

454. There is evidence that both former East Zone cadres¹⁶⁹² and former members of Battalion 386 were detained at Wat Enta Nhien. Rem, the former Battalion 386 political commissar within Division 164, was killed resisting arrest outside Wat Enta Nhien during the purge of former Sector 37 cadres (as described further in the Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances section) and demobilised former Battalion 386 combatant Witness Moul Chhin was held in the security centre for three days after he left his cooperative to visit his parents.¹⁶⁹³

455. Division 164 authorities sent some persons to the security centre because of “moral offences”.¹⁶⁹⁴

If I loved a woman and that woman also loved me and we were discovered, both of us would be sent to another location to do farming. On the other hand, if the woman did not love me, and I loved her alone, it would be abuse. Consequently, they would send me to Wat Enta Nhien.¹⁶⁹⁵

b) Civilians

456. Although some witnesses suggest that no civilians were detained at Wat Enta Nhien,¹⁶⁹⁶ the evidence supports the existence of at least some civilian detainees from the Kampong Som region. Witnesses have reported the presence of workers from the port, who had had “problems with the authorities”,¹⁶⁹⁷ and fishermen brought from Launh’s fishing unit.¹⁶⁹⁸

c) Foreigners

457. There is also evidence that foreigners captured at sea were detained in Wat Enta Nhien. After the Mayaguez Incident in May 1975, which is described in further detail in VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea, Special Battalion 450/165 commander Em Sun¹⁶⁹⁹ stated in his interview to the OCIJ that two US soldiers were captured on Koh Tang island,¹⁷⁰⁰ and on Meas Muth's orders,¹⁷⁰¹ he took them to the mainland and personally handed them over to Division 164 in Kampong Som.¹⁷⁰²
458. In the book The Last Battle, Ralph Watterhahn records Em Sun receiving orders "from Kampong Som", pursuant to which he transported the two American servicemen from Koh Tang to the mainland and on to Wat Enta Nhien where they were killed "more than a week later" and buried at coastal points to the north and south of the pagoda.¹⁷⁰³ Witness Em Sun confirmed this account of transporting the captives to the mainland, although he now denies knowledge of the Americans' immediate fate after he handed them over to Meas Muth's office.¹⁷⁰⁴ Em Sun stated in his WRI that he found the bodies 20 days after he turned them over to Meas Muth's men: one of them next to the Kampong Som beach behind the 7-storey hotel (also known as the Sokha Hotel),¹⁷⁰⁵ and the other one in the west beneath the former King's Residence,¹⁷⁰⁶ about 1 kilometre from Wat Enta Nhien.¹⁷⁰⁷
459. Although Em Sun's account to the OCIJ differs to that recorded by Ralph Wetterhahn regarding the detention of the servicemen at Wat Enta Nhien, the Co-Prosecutor notes that it is not inconsistent with such detention in the 20 days Em Sun no longer accounts for after he says he turned them over to Meas Muth's forces. Moreover, the burial locations cited by Em Sun to the OCIJ and those in Ralph Wetterhahn's book are identical.
460. The detention of other foreigners at Wat Enta Nhien is evidenced by the discovery of two corpses buried close to the site in 1979: one a female corpse which the witness considered much larger than an average Cambodian, and a second with "African-like short curly hair".¹⁷⁰⁸

d) Women and Children

461. Women and children were detained,¹⁷⁰⁹ tortured¹⁷¹⁰ and executed¹⁷¹¹ at Wat Enta Nhien.

462. Number of prisoners: Evidence indicates that the security centre had the capacity to hold more than 200 prisoners at any one time. In the first monks' building, Pauch Koy reported seeing five detention cells, each capable of holding 20 prisoners.¹⁷¹² As detailed below in the Murder, Extermination and Enforced Disappearances section, Nuon Yoem witnessed around 100 corpses shackled in the dining hall when he arrived at the site in mid-1979.
463. It is impossible, however, to accurately ascertain the total number of prisoners detained at Wat Enta Nhien over the course of the DK regime. Some witnesses have provided isolated evidence of numbers: Soem Ny provided an estimate of 70 to 80 detainees being held at any one time in the 1976-1977 period;¹⁷¹³ Em Sun saw around 20 prisoners working outside the prison, but could not account for those inside;¹⁷¹⁴ and Moul Chhin counted 20 fellow prisoners in the dining hall with him when he was detained at Wat Enta Nhien at the very end of the DK regime.¹⁷¹⁵ However, each of these pieces of evidence is a mere snapshot of a particular time, or of a particular segment of the Wat Enta Nhien centre. It does not take into account the turnover of detainees. Moreover, as Soem Ny indicated, prisoner numbers fluctuated.¹⁷¹⁶
464. However it can safely be stated that the numbers detained at Wat Enta Nhien far exceeded the estimated 500-1000 bodies found at the site immediately after the fall of the DK regime.¹⁷¹⁷ First, as detailed in the Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances section, not every grave pit at the Wat Enta Nhien site was excavated in 1979, with new burial areas reportedly discovered at the site in 1992 and 2003. More may still remain undiscovered. Second, there must be added to these figures the prisoners who were released during and at the end of the DK regime, or later sent on to S-21 for execution.

Inhumane Treatment

465. From the moment they passed through the gate to Wat Enta Nhien, prisoners were subjected to inhumane conditions and left without dignity or hope.
466. Use of shackles and chains: Prisoners were detained as soon as they arrived,¹⁷¹⁸ by day and by night.¹⁷¹⁹ Most prisoners were held in the dining hall with at least 20,¹⁷²⁰ possibly up to 100¹⁷²¹ fellow detainees, shackled together by the ankle to an iron bar, usually with their hands tied behind their backs.¹⁷²² Other detainees were held in cramped cells in the first monks' house together with up to 20 prisoners shackled in each cell.¹⁷²³ One witness also described seeing shackles in the free-standing detention huts when he visited the site during the DK regime.¹⁷²⁴ Another who visited the site in 1979 saw a wall where detainees could be shackled by the neck.¹⁷²⁵ Witnesses reported seeing blood in the detention areas.¹⁷²⁶

467. Being restrained by leg-shackles and hand ties for long periods of time caused prisoners' hands and legs to swell.¹⁷²⁷ If a prisoner needed to relieve him/herself, the shackles were sometimes removed briefly,¹⁷²⁸ but often only for them to be replaced by hand ties.¹⁷²⁹ Similarly, when prisoners were sent out of the prison to work,¹⁷³⁰ their shackles were exchanged for chains.¹⁷³¹ As prisoners' hands and legs were bound and shackled at night, they were forced to try to sleep on their arms. This made achieving restful sleep difficult and exacerbated the swelling of their limbs.¹⁷³² As they were permanently immobile, the prisoners were unable to swat away the mosquitoes that were biting them.¹⁷³³
468. Lack of hygiene: Sanitation at Wat Enta Nhien was grossly inadequate. With a few exceptions, many prisoners' hair was never cut,¹⁷³⁴ and they were provided inadequate clothing that became torn from the chains they were forced to wear.¹⁷³⁵ Although prisoners were sometimes permitted to urinate and defecate outside,¹⁷³⁶ guards would sometimes refuse, so prisoners were forced to relieve themselves onto the floor of the detention rooms.¹⁷³⁷ When Moul Chhin first arrived at the dining hall, the smell of urine immediately accosted him.¹⁷³⁸ Human blood was also found on the walls of both the first monk's building and the dining hall.¹⁷³⁹
469. Even defecating outside the hall was neither private nor dignified. Armed guards with AK-47s watched on,¹⁷⁴⁰ hurrying prisoners if they did not relieve themselves quickly enough.¹⁷⁴¹
470. Inadequate food rations: Detainees were offered only half of the already meagre rations given to the average DK citizen.¹⁷⁴² Moul Chhin received only "watery porridge with few rice grains mixed with potato leaves".¹⁷⁴³ As a result, prisoners were left "very thin"¹⁷⁴⁴ and "the shape and face of those prisoners did not look as normal persons".¹⁷⁴⁵ They were so desperate for food that those who were lucky enough to leave the compound to work begged soldiers working in nearby fields for food, but had to ensure they washed their hands and mouths thoroughly so as not to be caught by prison officials on their return.¹⁷⁴⁶

471. Treatment of female detainees: Female prisoners were subjected to the utmost inhumane treatment. As detailed in the Torture section below, they were subjected to repugnant forms of torture, and at least one female prisoner was raped by Wat Enta Nhien security chief, Norn.¹⁷⁴⁷
472. Forced Labour: Prisoners at Wat Enta Nhien were forced to work for the benefit of the regime.¹⁷⁴⁸ Awoken at 4 a.m. and put in chains,¹⁷⁴⁹ they were required to clean the prison,¹⁷⁵⁰ before moving to their respective work places.¹⁷⁵¹ Many were sent into fields neighbouring the pagoda to farm cassava (tapioca),¹⁷⁵² to clear forest in a nearby potato plantation,¹⁷⁵³ or to plant trees.¹⁷⁵⁴ Others were required to cook inside the prison.¹⁷⁵⁵
473. Environment of Fear: Prisoners experienced severe mental suffering and loss of dignity as a result of the inhumane conditions and other mistreatment at Wat Enta Nhien. As soon as Moul Chhin entered the “dark and quiet” dining hall, saw the other shackled prisoners, and smelt the stench of urine, he “immediately felt scared”.¹⁷⁵⁶ After only three days’ detention, Moul Chhin was left without hope of survival: he “thought only about death”.¹⁷⁵⁷ Other witnesses described seeing prisoners looking frightened and distressed.¹⁷⁵⁸

Torture

474. Interrogations incorporating the same methods of torture as those used at S-21 and other security centres in the DK network were carried out at Wat Enta Nhien at the instigation and with the knowledge of Meas Muth.¹⁷⁵⁹ In addition to the severe mental suffering inflicted upon the detainees as a result of their inhumane treatment and fear of torture, prisoners were also subjected to physical torture by officials at Wat Enta Nhien in an effort to extract information during interrogations or as a form of punishment.
475. According to Witness Pen Sarin, torture was performed on prisoners in one large hall in the monastery.¹⁷⁶⁰ Witness Ek Ny gave a graphic account of the torture of female prisoners that he had received directly from soldiers in Special Battalion 450/165:

Those soldiers had told me that during the time of interrogation and torturing, the female prisoners were completely stripped [of] their clothes. [...] After being stripped [of] their clothes, the female prisoners were put inside a jar containing of water and leeches. At that time those prisoners were terrified because they were scared of leeches biting, and so they chose to confess as they were traitors even they were not.¹⁷⁶¹

Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances

476. Prisoners were said to be sent to Wat Enta Nhien to be “educated” and “corrected,”¹⁷⁶² but this is no more than a euphemistic misnomer. Although there is evidence that some prisoners were released from the security centre,¹⁷⁶³ in reality, more than a thousand killings occurred at Wat Enta Nhien. As outlined above,¹⁷⁶⁴ countless others were taken away from the prison to S-21 and other unknown destinations.
477. During the purge of former Battalion 386, its political commissar within Division 164, Rem, was killed by members of Meas Muth’s special unit, Battalion 450/165, in front of Wat Enta Nhien pagoda while trying to resist arrest.¹⁷⁶⁵ In one of his written records of interview, Ek Ny stated that Meas Muth taught Rem’s story when he read confessions of other purged cadres to Division 164 troops in a meeting.¹⁷⁶⁶ Indeed, “almost all the soldiers knew about Rem’s story.”¹⁷⁶⁷
478. Civilians entering Wat Enta Nhien in 1979 soon after the fall of the DK regime, found around 100 shackled and decomposing corpses in the dining hall.¹⁷⁶⁸ Large water jars near the dining hall, identified by a former combatant familiar with the site during the regime,¹⁷⁶⁹ were later discovered filled with corpses.¹⁷⁷⁰ The number of bodies inside the pagoda complex was so extensive it took 15 monks and civilians between 2 weeks and a month to collect the bones.¹⁷⁷¹ Bones, clothes and more decaying bodies were scattered around the compound, in the open and in shallow pits.¹⁷⁷² Further individual graves were discovered by local residents.¹⁷⁷³ The stench in and around the Wat Enta Nhien compound and the presence of maggots suggested that at least some of these victims had died fairly recently.¹⁷⁷⁴ Some of the bodies appeared to belong to women¹⁷⁷⁵ and children.¹⁷⁷⁶ Some were still tied with hammock/nylon cord or chains¹⁷⁷⁷ and some wore black clothes.¹⁷⁷⁸ Military equipment was also found in burial pits.¹⁷⁷⁹ In addition, some of the skulls found showed signs of blunt trauma,¹⁷⁸⁰ suggesting execution by a blow to the head with a blunt instrument. Indeed, remains of hoes were found at the site.¹⁷⁸¹
479. The remains of many of the victims have subsequently been stored in a large four-storey stupa located within the pagoda complex.¹⁷⁸²
480. Two witnesses who visited the site in 1979 estimated that the number of bodies found at the Wat Enta Nhien site was around 1000. In the words of one, there were “about hundreds

[of] skeletal remains, at most 1,000” in total.¹⁷⁸³ The other estimated that “there were about 400 to 500 skulls on the ground in the pagoda compound,”¹⁷⁸⁴ and the same number again collected from pits in the compound.¹⁷⁸⁵ It is likely that not every pit around Wat Enta Nhien has been excavated.¹⁷⁸⁶ Indeed, further pits were discovered around 1992¹⁷⁸⁷ and in 2003.¹⁷⁸⁸

4. TOEK SAP SECURITY CENTRE¹⁷⁸⁹

LOCATION, SITE DESCRIPTION AND OPERATION

481. Toek Sap was a security or “re-education” centre and execution site¹⁷⁹⁰ situated in a larger compound accommodating numerous facilities used by Division 164. The Toek Sap site (also known by its literal English translation, “the fresh water site”) was located in the area of Prey Nop District that was incorporated into the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector,¹⁷⁹¹ between Kang Keng and Veal Renh,¹⁷⁹² around 20 kilometres from Kampong Som city and Wat Enta Nhien security centre.¹⁷⁹³ It lay northeast of the Ream cooperatives and the Kang Keng Airfield.¹⁷⁹⁴
482. The site occupied a former Lon Nol military base,¹⁷⁹⁵ situated near the Toek Sap bridge,¹⁷⁹⁶ largely in the northeast quadrant created where National Road 4 crosses the Toek Sap River.¹⁷⁹⁷ After briefly stationing in Kang Keng,¹⁷⁹⁸ the headquarters (and logistics hub) of Regiment 22/63¹⁷⁹⁹ and Battalion 530/631¹⁸⁰⁰ were located at the site, with their ancillary facilities, such as soldiers’ living accommodation and a kitchen.¹⁸⁰¹ Consonant with its role in Division 164 logistics, the site also housed an ammunition depot.¹⁸⁰² Access to the Toek Sap site was restricted and strictly monitored. Civilians were not allowed to approach the compound or enter the premises,¹⁸⁰³ nor were they permitted to approach any prisoners they saw.¹⁸⁰⁴
483. The main prison was located in a long wooden building,¹⁸⁰⁵ on the eastern edge of the Toek Sap compound at the foot of a mountain.¹⁸⁰⁶ On the west bank of the Toek Sap river, close to and north of National Road 4, there was a sawmill and abandoned house¹⁸⁰⁷ where prisoners were detained and forced to work.¹⁸⁰⁸ To the north and west of the sawmill were rice fields where detainees also worked on an ad hoc basis.¹⁸⁰⁹

484. Durian, coconut, rambutan and pepper plantations, frequently described by witnesses as belonging to Mr Chhan,¹⁸¹⁰ covered up to 30 hectares of the Toek Sap site,¹⁸¹¹ including areas in the lower section of the compound near the ammunition warehouses,¹⁸¹² and across the entire upper/northern area.¹⁸¹³ None of the DK-era buildings remain,¹⁸¹⁴ and the grave sites in the plantations have been flattened, excavated and filled.¹⁸¹⁵

Period of Operation

485. Before April 1975, Toek Sap and neighbouring Ou Kambot had marked the frontline between Lon Nol and Khmer Rouge troops.¹⁸¹⁶ Almost immediately after Division 3 forces entered Kampong Som on 18 April 1975,¹⁸¹⁷ there is evidence that Meas Muth's troops occupied the Toek Sap site.¹⁸¹⁸ Division 164 had begun operating a detention facility centre in Toek Sap by at least mid-November 1975, when surviving S-21 documents show that Vietnamese fishermen captured at sea were detained there and put to work in the durian and rambutan plantations, before their transfer to S-21 in early May 1976.¹⁸¹⁹ The security centre continued to operate until the end of the DK period.¹⁸²⁰ Although some witnesses have suggested that prisoners were released before the end of the Khmer Rouge era,¹⁸²¹ three witnesses, Moul Chhin, Nguon Lay and Long Phansy were all released from Toek Sap only when the Vietnamese arrived in Cambodia in January 1979,¹⁸²² thus confirming its use to the very end of the regime.

Authority Structure & Communication

486. Toek Sap was situated within Division 164 and Meas Muth's area of authority,¹⁸²³ and the security centre fell under their jurisdiction.¹⁸²⁴ A 1976 telegram from Meas Muth to Son Sen demonstrates Meas Muth's control of the area, stating:

Enemy situations: according to the responses of the one arrested east of Toek Sap, the seven persons arrested at Sangvav belonged to his group.¹⁸²⁵

487. In turn, at a meeting of Division leaders, Son Sen issued instructions to Division 164 in respect of the Toek Sap area.¹⁸²⁶ RAK meeting minutes also show that Meas Muth was present when his deputy, Dim, reported on arrests in the vicinity of Toek Sap:

We seized a 13 year-old girl in the vicinity of the fresh water (Toek Sap) area. She confessed that she was among a group of three, who are probably staying at Ou Phos now.¹⁸²⁷

The references in Meas Muth's telegram to the "responses" of an arrestee, and in the military meeting minutes to the 13-year-old girl's "confession" are indicative that Meas Muth was well informed of the results of the interrogation practices in the area he controlled. Further, Meas Muth visited Toek Sap on a regular basis.¹⁸²⁸

488. At the regimental level, Regiment 63 of Division 164 (formerly Regiment 22 of Division 3)¹⁸²⁹ controlled the Toek Sap site,¹⁸³⁰ including, as discussed above, the Regiment's own headquarters, as well as the detention facilities, execution sites and worksites. The prison guards were from a special (security) unit under Regiment 63,¹⁸³¹ and one witness named his brother-in-law Nhen as the prison chairman, at least until 1977.¹⁸³²
489. Division 3/164 committee member¹⁸³³ Mom Chim alias Yan was the first commander of Regiment 22/63, Sras the Deputy Commander and Kim Nhan was initially the member.¹⁸³⁴ Yan worked at the Toek Sap headquarters,¹⁸³⁵ and was regularly seen eating rice in the dining hall there.¹⁸³⁶ After Yan's arrest and transfer to S-21 in April or May 1977,¹⁸³⁷ Meas Muth made announcements to cadres in several large meetings of Division 164 regarding the arrest and Yan's alleged treason.¹⁸³⁸ Sras was similarly arrested.¹⁸³⁹ Before these arrests, likely in late 1976, Yan was replaced as Regiment 63 commander by Sin Chorn,¹⁸⁴⁰ who lived in the Toek Sap area.¹⁸⁴¹ Chorn "got orders directly from Meas Mut".¹⁸⁴² Indeed, as Division Commander, Meas Muth presided over regular meetings with the regiment commanders.¹⁸⁴³
490. Despite the fact that in July 1975, at a meeting for Division 3/164 leaders, Meas Muth had scolded Kim Nhan for not asking his permission to execute people,¹⁸⁴⁴ Nhan was one of Meas Muth's most trusted cadres, who continued rising within the ranks of Division 164 throughout the DK regime. He shared with Meas Muth the desire to purge Division 164 of "internal enemies". The two led study sessions together at which attendees were required to complete biographies aimed at rooting out and arresting the "network" of former Regiment 63 commander, Yan.¹⁸⁴⁵ When Chorn took over as Regiment 63 commander, Nhan became his deputy.¹⁸⁴⁶ After Chorn was himself arrested in 1977,¹⁸⁴⁷ Nhan was again promoted, this time to Regiment 63 commander.¹⁸⁴⁸ Battalion 633 commander, Witness Mak

Chhoeun, explained that “Ta Nhan was responsible for communicating with the Division,”¹⁸⁴⁹ and it was clear that he acted as a conduit to Meas Muth.¹⁸⁵⁰ After he purged two of the Division 164 committee members (Dim and Chhan), Meas Muth appointed Nhan to the Division 164 committee as Deputy Commander in charge of logistics.¹⁸⁵¹ By this time, Nhan had also taken up residence at Meas Muth’s compound in Kampong Som,¹⁸⁵² and was often seen representing the Division.¹⁸⁵³ By late 1978, Meas Muth assigned Kim Nhan to Kratie to serve as Division 117 Secretary after he had purged the previous Division leadership.¹⁸⁵⁴

CRIMES

Imprisonment and Unlawful Confinement

491. The Toek Sap security centre was used by Division 164 to detain both military personnel and civilians whom they considered “enemies” of the revolution.
492. Deprivation of liberty without due process: As described above,¹⁸⁵⁵ there is no credible evidence that those arrested and detained and/or executed by Division 164 were guilty of any offence. In any event, none were afforded even a modicum of due process.
493. Categories of Detainees: Prisoners at Toek Sap were both military and civilian.¹⁸⁵⁶
 - a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers
494. Division 164 cadres who were accused of making “mistakes” or committing “offences”, whether minor or serious,¹⁸⁵⁷ criticised the regime’s policies,¹⁸⁵⁸ or protested against work¹⁸⁵⁹ were arrested and sent to Toek Sap security centre. Low-ranking soldiers would generally be detained in Toek Sap prison, rather than being sent to S-21.¹⁸⁶⁰ Regiment 21/162 commander¹⁸⁶¹ Iek Mienh (or Meanh) was also imprisoned there.¹⁸⁶² As discussed above,¹⁸⁶³ Division 164 hospital chief Soem Neam alias Sok (Sokh) and his wife were also sent to Toek Sap before being transferred to S-21 for execution.¹⁸⁶⁴
495. In line with the CPK policy to “dig out the root” of perceived enemy networks such as those of the purged Division 164 committee members, Norng Chhan or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, mere affiliation with a purged commander or cadre could be a ticket to Toek Sap. According to Ek Ny, 20 female soldiers, who were working closely with Chhan as cooks, assistants or messengers, were taken to Toek Sap security centre.¹⁸⁶⁵

496. Many cadres considered to be “no-good elements” from Division 164 who had previously been disarmed and enslaved for refashioning purposes in worksites or in cooperatives, such as in Ream or Kang Keng,¹⁸⁶⁶ were detained and/or executed at Toek Sap for the slightest mistake.¹⁸⁶⁷ One former Battalion 386 soldier working in rice fields near Ream¹⁸⁶⁸ witnessed fellow demobilised combatants arrested for making minor mistakes. One was arrested for stealing a potato.¹⁸⁶⁹ Another was arrested for killing a cow with his plough on the pretext of being taken for dental treatment.¹⁸⁷⁰ Former Battalion 386 combatant,¹⁸⁷¹ Witness Moul Chhin, was arrested and sent to Toek Sap security centre because he tried to visit his parents.¹⁸⁷² Another witness saw demobilised Sector 37 soldiers sent to farm in Smach Daeng who tried to flee being “arrested, shackled, and sent to Teuk Sab”.¹⁸⁷³ Indeed, Ek Ny saw prisoners working at Toek Sap who were from his own Battalion 386.¹⁸⁷⁴

b) Civilians in the Kampong Som Region

497. Civilians taken to Toek Sap for detention and/or execution included 17 April evacuees, including those considered “intellectuals” and former Lon Nol affiliates.¹⁸⁷⁵ Workers in surrounding cooperatives, such as the Babos cooperative,¹⁸⁷⁶ (whose chairwoman, Comrade Ri, reported to Regiment 63 in Toek Sap),¹⁸⁷⁷ from Smach Deng or Ream or from the Cheng Heng coconut plantation¹⁸⁷⁸ who committed minor mistakes while performing their work, failed to meet harsh working quotas, stole food, or found themselves otherwise branded as traitors were removed and taken to Toek Sap.¹⁸⁷⁹
498. Khmer Krom populations, or at least those perceived by the Khmer Rouge to be Khmer Krom, were also transferred from local mobile units to Toek Sap for detention and/or execution.¹⁸⁸⁰ As detailed in the VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites section,¹⁸⁸¹ Witness Kuy Sambath recalls an incident in April or May 1977¹⁸⁸² when around 360 civilians – men, women and children, including new-born babies and the elderly – attempted to escape the terrible living conditions in Ream cooperatives by registering themselves as Kampuchea Krom. They had hoped to be granted safe passage to Vietnam. Instead, they were taken to Toek Sap for execution.
499. Before April 1975, the Toek Sap area had marked the front line between Lon Nol and Khmer Rouge troops.¹⁸⁸³ After Phnom Penh fell, and the Khmer Rouge took control of Kampong Som,¹⁸⁸⁴ many Lon Nol soldiers retreated to Kang Keng airport,¹⁸⁸⁵ and surrendered.¹⁸⁸⁶ They were taken in large numbers to be executed at the Toek Sap plantation sites.¹⁸⁸⁷ Indeed, Lon Nol military uniforms, helmets, and boots belonging to soldiers of the former Khmer Republic were found at Toek Sap site in 1979.¹⁸⁸⁸ Hostilities between the Khmer Rouge and the Lon Nol regime ceased on 17 April 1975. These former soldiers were not captured or killed in battle, but rather had surrendered to Meas Muth's forces after they arrived in the Kampong Som area on 18 April 1975. Thus they were no longer combatants and had regained their civilian status.

c) Foreigners Captured at Sea

500. Some of those captured at sea were sent to Toek Sap for detention, work and/or execution. As detailed above,¹⁸⁸⁹ S-21 records demonstrate that a number of Thai and Vietnamese were brought to work in the durian and rambutan plantations at Toek Sap before their transfer to S-21. A number of witnesses described hearing that Thai, Vietnamese and other foreign nationals captured at sea were taken to Toek Sap for execution.¹⁸⁹⁰ Lak Saphan, a civilian working at a dam construction site near Toek Sap, saw two soldiers walking a group of four or five tied-up people towards the Toek Sap durian plantation along National Road 4 in the rainy season of 1975. He says he heard the soldiers saying that these people were Thai fishermen, captured at sea.¹⁸⁹¹ He identified Oeng Krapum Phkar's durian plantation (Durian II) and the Toek Sap durian plantation as execution sites well known among the base people.¹⁸⁹² At the time of the event, he also heard from the cooks in the communal dining hall who had children who were Khmer Rouge soldiers in Ream and Toek Sap that people captured at sea who were brought to Kampong Som port were taken to Durian II to be killed, whereas those who were brought through Ream Port were transported up to Toek Sap for execution.¹⁸⁹³
501. Witness Soeng Noch saw two foreigners he believed to be Australian or American being walked along National Road 4 to Toek Sap.¹⁸⁹⁴

d) Children

502. There is also considerable evidence that children, including Vietnamese children captured at sea,¹⁸⁹⁵ were detained at Toek Sap.¹⁸⁹⁶ As detailed in the Murder, Wilful Killing, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances section below, several witnesses found remains of children in the Toek Sap plantations.

503. Numbers of prisoners: Evidence shows that the main prison held up to 100 detainees at any one time.¹⁸⁹⁷ By the end of the regime, the figures may have been lower as Long Phansy described being held with only 12 other prisoners when he was there in late 1978.¹⁸⁹⁸ Isolated sightings of Toek Sap prisoners working around and near the site support this estimate.¹⁸⁹⁹ Witnesses detained at the sawmill report there being up to an additional 60 prisoners there.¹⁹⁰⁰ As described in the Murder, Wilful Killing, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances section, countless others were arrested and taken to Toek Sap for execution, possibly without passing through the detention facility.
504. As at Wat Enta Nhien, it is impossible to accurately quantify the total number of prisoners subject to arbitrary arrest and imprisonment at Toek Sap during the entirety of the DK period. The evidence suggests a high turnover of detainees, particularly after the “period of intense killings” began in 1976, when civilians were taken from cooperatives and villages to be executed at Toek Sap.¹⁹⁰¹ Witness Prak Bunny stated that around 10 people from his district were taken to Toek Sap security centre every month.¹⁹⁰²
505. It can be stated with certainty however, that the number of victims at Toek Sap far exceeds the number (already over 1,000) whose bodies were discovered at the Toek Sap site.¹⁹⁰³ Witness Chet Bunna stated that some bodies were simply dumped in the Toek Sap river,¹⁹⁰⁴ and it is possible that additional grave sites went unidentified prior to the land being excavated and re-filled after the DK period. Account must also be taken of the prisoners who were released during and at the end of the DK regime, or subsequently sent to S-21 for execution.

Inhumane Treatment and Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury

506. Use of shackles and restraints: Prisoners at Toek Sap described being shackled and cuffed,¹⁹⁰⁵ with “serious crime prisoners being tied with their hands behind their backs and with one of their ankles shackled to a pillar”.¹⁹⁰⁶ Leg shackles were found at the site after the end of the DK regime.¹⁹⁰⁷ Witness Ek Ny, a demobilised former Sector 37 soldier assigned to farm paddies near Toek Sap,¹⁹⁰⁸ witnessed prisoners working there:

Some prisoners were pierced through the ear to make a hole so that they [soldiers] could insert a rope through the hole to tie them together in group. They inserted a rope through the ears of 5 to 10 prisoners together to prevent them from escaping. [...] It was a barbaric place because the prisoners' ears had been pierced.¹⁹⁰⁹

507. Without exception,¹⁹¹⁰ detainees in Toek Sap received insufficient food and became emaciated from malnutrition.¹⁹¹¹ Guards insulted the detainees, calling them “contemptibles”,¹⁹¹² meaning that they had “no right at all”.¹⁹¹³ As set out in detail below, Toek Sap prisoners were subjected to interrogation and torture,¹⁹¹⁴ leaving them with “bruises on their face and lumps on their limbs”.¹⁹¹⁵ Some sustained permanent physical scarring.¹⁹¹⁶
508. As a result of their detention at Toek Sap, prisoners also experienced severe mental suffering. They were “frightened and terrified,”¹⁹¹⁷ and left wishing for execution to relieve their misery.¹⁹¹⁸
509. Forced Labour: Forced labour for the benefit of the regime was used as a form of punishment at the Toek Sap security centre. Tasks were diverse. In the early years of the DK regime, Vietnamese fishermen captured at sea were required to work – mainly clearing grass and carrying fertiliser – in the durian and rambutan plantations.¹⁹¹⁹ Other detainees worked at the sawmill.¹⁹²⁰ Prisoners also worked on both sides of the Toek Sap river, performing tasks such as ploughing the rice fields, transplanting rice seeds,¹⁹²¹ digging earth,¹⁹²² carrying timber, or building houses.¹⁹²³ Witness Long Phansy described digging vegetables and being forced to taste faeces which was used as fertiliser as part of his work.¹⁹²⁴
510. In addition to work assignments related to the operation of the security centre, prisoners were sometimes assigned to neighbouring worksites. Ek Ny and Chet Bunna both worked in the rice fields to the west of the Toek Sap river.¹⁹²⁵ Ek Ny confirmed that prisoners would assist them when extra manpower was required.¹⁹²⁶ Chet Bunna thought that the prisoners seemed to be used to intimidate workers in the nearby worksites, “in order to show and scare us so that we would not want to try to make any mistake”.¹⁹²⁷
511. Prisoners at Toek Sap “had to work very hard in order to survive”¹⁹²⁸ under gruelling conditions, and without breaks.¹⁹²⁹ Detainees were chained while they worked,¹⁹³⁰ and guards constantly watched over them, threatening them to work faster.¹⁹³¹ Witness Long Phansy explained that he was tortured more if he was perceived to have failed in his assignments.¹⁹³²

Torture

512. As Meas Muth knew,¹⁹³³ Division 164 cadres interrogated detainees at Toek Sap,¹⁹³⁴ inflicting severe physical and psychological suffering to get detainees to “confess” to their crimes and implicate others. Interrogation techniques used in Toek Sap were particularly ruthless. In the words of Ek Ny:

Teuk Sap was a place where the prisoners were severely tortured. It was a prison. It was not a security center.¹⁹³⁵

513. Former inmate Long Phansy described the constant torture he endured during his time at Toek Sap,¹⁹³⁶ where cadres shackled and tortured him with electric whips.¹⁹³⁷ If he was perceived to have somehow failed in his work as a taster of faeces fertiliser, they “tortured [him] more, in addition to the daily torture”.¹⁹³⁸ Other prisoners were beaten during the interrogation process.¹⁹³⁹ And indeed, a range of torture instruments, such as hammers, fingernail-removing tools, clubs, sticks and hoes were left behind after the DK period.¹⁹⁴⁰
514. The torture authorised at Toek Sap caused severe physical and mental pain and suffering to those interrogated. Witnesses described seeing Toek Sap inmates bearing physical scars and wounds that were consistent with torture. Witness Soeng Noch observed a man being released from Toek Sap with “scars left from torture on both of his thighs”.¹⁹⁴¹ Ek Ny saw women arrested for their association with Chhan with “bruises on their face and lumps on their limbs.”¹⁹⁴²
515. In addition to the sustained physical trauma experienced at Toek Sap, prisoners experienced severe mental suffering and were left with long term mental health disability.¹⁹⁴³ Detention at Toek Sap had led Long Phansy to the point of suicidal desperation:

If the Vietnamese had not come in, I think the only way for my life would have been death [...] I didn’t care about anything anymore; I just wanted them to take me to be killed because I was tired of my life, and it was too terribly difficult.¹⁹⁴⁴

Indeed, he considered death to be “only a lightening of [his] punishment there at Tuek Sab”.¹⁹⁴⁵

Murder, Wilful Killing, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances

516. Hundreds of prisoners sent to Toek Sap were killed or taken away and never seen again, with scant information provided about their disappearances. In a regime often referred to as the ‘regime of secrecy’¹⁹⁴⁶ disappearances were rarely discussed due to a fear of subsequent personal repercussions.¹⁹⁴⁷ There was no court or other system to complain of disappearances.¹⁹⁴⁸
517. There were a few survivors of “re-education” at Toek Sap. Some demobilised former soldiers were released and rearmed to fight the Vietnamese.¹⁹⁴⁹ Witnesses Moul Chhin, Nguon Lay and Long Phansy and their fellow inmates¹⁹⁵⁰ were saved by the invasion of the Vietnamese.¹⁹⁵¹ A few witnesses recounted isolated individuals who made it out of Toek Sap alive.¹⁹⁵² But these are the lucky exceptions. There is overwhelming evidence that the vast majority of those taken to Toek Sap were executed either on arrival, or after a period of inhumane detention.
518. The Toek Sap site,¹⁹⁵³ and more particularly the durian, pepper and rambutan plantations there,¹⁹⁵⁴ were well-known as an execution site among military and civilians alike. As Witness Lak Saphan explained, “everybody knew that if the Khmer Rouge arrested people and took them to Tuek Sab, that was the end of them”.¹⁹⁵⁵ The threat of disappearance resulted in constant fear for both civilians and Khmer Rouge cadres during the period of Democratic Kampuchea.¹⁹⁵⁶ Indeed, many of those sent to Toek Sap “never returned,” “never survived” or “disappeared”.¹⁹⁵⁷ In the opinion of former Toek Sap detainee Moul Chhin:
- there was little chance that the prisoners who were detained there could have survived, that is they may have been killed or died from having insufficient food.¹⁹⁵⁸
519. Many family members of those sent to Toek Sap were never reunited with their loved ones; some heard rumours that those relatives had died there.¹⁹⁵⁹ Many witnesses described victims being sent to Toek Sap for immediate execution.¹⁹⁶⁰

520. Eyewitnesses told of killings at the Toek Sap site. Chet Bunna, who had been demobilised and sent to work in a nearby rice field,¹⁹⁶¹ described seeing emaciated corpses floating down the Toek Sap river near the prison.¹⁹⁶² Lin Sarin, a member of a children's unit across the river from the Toek Sap compound,¹⁹⁶³ had previously heard that Toek Sap was a killing site.¹⁹⁶⁴ He then witnessed for himself victims at Toek Sap being "pulled off lorries and struck on the base of their necks until they died",¹⁹⁶⁵ as well as those who were "beaten multiple times but did not die immediately".¹⁹⁶⁶ He "heard people being struck with clubs and heard their screams."¹⁹⁶⁷ As a result, he also assumed that other people from his commune, whom he saw being taken to Toek Sap, or who simply disappeared, were taken there for execution.¹⁹⁶⁸
521. In 1979, after the fall of the DK regime, human remains and bodies were found at the Toek Sap execution sites, which were located in the durian, rambutan, and pepper plantations, in pits and laying on exposed ground.¹⁹⁶⁹ Many of the pits were positioned next to durian and rambutan trees ostensibly to fertilise them, but the number of corpses was so great that all the trees and crops died.¹⁹⁷⁰ There were about four graves under every durian tree, amounting to hundreds of graves.¹⁹⁷¹
522. Pits included remains from whole families including children.¹⁹⁷² Witness Kuy Sambath saw "a great number of pits and graves" as well as about 1,000 skeletons including children's and babies' skulls.¹⁹⁷³ Others bodies were found in and around a concrete basin used for making fertiliser.¹⁹⁷⁴ Bullets and nylon strings were also found on the ground.¹⁹⁷⁵ Some of the victims' limbs were bound, which demonstrates that the victims were in fact executed and did not die in combat.¹⁹⁷⁶ This area was not used as a burial site before the Khmer Rouge took control of the Toek Sap site; it had been an orchard belonging to Mr Chhan.¹⁹⁷⁷ In addition, some of the skulls found at the durian plantation had visible cracks, suggesting execution by a blow to the head with a blunt instrument.¹⁹⁷⁸ Indeed, remains of hoes were found at the site.¹⁹⁷⁹

Persecution on Political Grounds - Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap

523. At Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap, Meas Muth and Division 164 imprisoned in inhumane conditions, tortured and killed individuals they perceived to be political enemies: in other words, those perceived to be opposed to CPK rule and disloyal to its leadership. As described in greater detail in VII. CPK Policies Relevant to the Case Against Meas Muth - Elimination of Enemies and Opposition to CPK Leadership, this policy was applied to any individual or group perceived to be opposed to the DK regime or deemed to be a threat.

a) Division 164 Cadres and Demobilised Soldiers

524. The majority of prisoners detained, tortured and executed at the two security centres were Division 164 cadres targeted because they were considered “internal enemies” or traitors by the CPK, RAK and Meas Muth. Those in their professional and personal “networks” were likewise considered traitors and “internal enemies”.

b) New (17 April) People and Those with Ties to the Lon Nol Regime

525. As Seng Srun testified, the first targeted enemies of the Khmer Rouge were New People or 17 April People and those who had served in the Khmer Republic and royalist regimes.¹⁹⁸⁰

526. “New People”, sometimes called “17 April people” were distrusted by the DK regime, denied the rights and benefits given to “Base People”,¹⁹⁸¹ and feared for their lives.¹⁹⁸²

c) Foreigners

527. Foreigners from countries whose governments were distrusted by the DK, including the Thai, Vietnamese and Americans, were deemed a threat to the DK regime, and their nationals were considered “enemies”. As announced in a 1976 meeting of Central Division and Independent Regiment Commanders:

In our status as an army, we must know the subjects that we must attack, namely American imperialism, and the Vietnam revisionists and their traitorous henchmen.¹⁹⁸³

d) Khmer Krom

528. Khmer Krom were also sent to Toek Sap. The CPK’s definition of enemies includes the Khmer Krom simply because they originally came from territory now within the borders of Vietnam. As Witness Prak Sokha explained, “[t]hey were accused by the Khmer Rouge that they had connection with the Yuon as they lived in Vietnam.”¹⁹⁸⁴

D. S-21 SECURITY CENTRE

1. INTRODUCTION

529. S-21 was the largest DK security office in Democratic Kampuchea in terms of staff.¹⁹⁸⁵ It worked directly under the supervision of and reported to the senior leaders of the CPK,¹⁹⁸⁶ and received prisoners from throughout the country and every RAK Division, Zone and Ministry.¹⁹⁸⁷ S-21 was an independent regiment under the RAK General Staff, where Meas Muth was eventually Deputy Secretary. S-21 was also discussed frequently in meetings of division commanders attended by Meas Muth and was an essential tool of the internal purges of the RAK in which Meas Muth participated. Many of those killed at S-21 were sent there by Meas Muth including subordinates of Meas Muth who were victims of the RAK internal purges, foreigners captured at sea and other “enemies” from Kampong Som, Cambodian islands and Kratie.

2. LOCATION AND OPERATION

530. S-21 was established following a meeting on 15 August 1975, at which General Staff Chairman Son Sen instructed RAK Division 703 Secretary In Lon alias Nath and Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch to set up the security office.¹⁹⁸⁸ It commenced operations in the fall of 1975,¹⁹⁸⁹ and remained fully functional until 7 January 1979, when Vietnamese forces reached Phnom Penh.¹⁹⁹⁰
531. In the early months of its existence, S-21 used temporary facilities: initially, interrogations were carried out in a house on the corner of Streets 163 and 360, while the surrounding houses were used to detain prisoners.¹⁹⁹¹ In November 1975, S-21 was moved to the Police Judiciaire compound on Street 51.¹⁹⁹² Two months later, in January 1976, due to concerns that Chinese visitors could see the prison’s operations at that location, S-21 returned to its original premises on Streets 163 and 360.¹⁹⁹³
532. During the initial phase of S-21, prisoners were also detained at the Takhmau prison, formerly part of Division 703,¹⁹⁹⁴ and were sent to Phnom Penh for interrogation at the Police Judiciaire compound and other sites.¹⁹⁹⁵ Takhmau, then referred to as S-21C,¹⁹⁹⁶ was used by S-21 for detention and execution until mid-1976,¹⁹⁹⁷ and was supervised by Khim Vat alias Hor (the future S-21 deputy chief).¹⁹⁹⁸

533. In April 1976, following his appointment as Head of S-21, Duch moved the security office to its permanent location at the Lycee Ponhea Yat, known today as Tuol Sleng.¹⁹⁹⁹ Later in 1976, concerned about the proliferation of mass graves in the area and the risk of disease, Duch decided to establish a new site for the execution and burial of prisoners, and chose a Chinese cemetery called Choeung Ek located in Kandal Province, 15 kilometres southwest of Phnom Penh.²⁰⁰⁰ S-21 began to use Choeung Ek as its main execution site in early 1977.²⁰⁰¹

3. AUTHORITY STRUCTURE & COMMUNICATION

WITHIN THE SECURITY OFFICE

534. S-21 Committee: As with other DK organisations, S-21 was managed by a three-person committee.²⁰⁰² During Nath's period as Secretary of S-21,²⁰⁰³ Duch held the position of Deputy Secretary overseeing interrogations.²⁰⁰⁴ In March 1976, when Nath was transferred to the General Staff, Duch was appointed Secretary of S-21, a position he retained until the end of the regime.²⁰⁰⁵ Hor became Deputy Secretary,²⁰⁰⁶ and Nun Huy alias Huy Sre was the third member of the Committee,²⁰⁰⁷ responsible for Prey Sar (also known as S-24 or S-21D).²⁰⁰⁸

535. S-21 Units: The S-21 office was comprised of a number of units subordinate to the S-21 Committee, including: (i) a Defence Unit headed by Hor,²⁰⁰⁹ with an inside guard team, outside guard team, and a "special unit" responsible for transporting and executing prisoners;²⁰¹⁰ (ii) an Interrogation Unit that had about 30 interrogators prior to purges in 1978;²⁰¹¹ (iii) the Documentation Unit, led by Suos Thy;²⁰¹² (iv) a Photography Unit, led by Nim Kimsreang;²⁰¹³ and (v) a Medical Unit, headed by Try.²⁰¹⁴ Organisation charts prepared by Duch show the structure of the various S-21 units.²⁰¹⁵

RELATIONSHIP WITH THE GENERAL STAFF

536. S-21 was an independent regiment under the RAK General Staff. The RAK General Staff was responsible for ensuring S-21 logistics, personnel, rice production, and other administrative matters.²⁰¹⁶ S-21 representatives participated in Division Secretary meetings,²⁰¹⁷ and attended General Staff study sessions²⁰¹⁸ at which they were instructed on enemies²⁰¹⁹ and the policy that all persons sent to S-21 were enemies to be "smashed."²⁰²⁰

537. The S-21 Chairman reported to and operated directly under the supervision of members of the CPK Standing Committee.²⁰²¹ For the first two years of operations, the S-21 Chairman reported directly to General Staff Chairman Son Sen.²⁰²² Duch had a daily phone call with Son Sen in the late afternoon, in which he reported on prison matters and received instructions,²⁰²³ and would also meet Son Sen at his General Staff office.²⁰²⁴ On a few occasions, Son Sen went to meet Duch at S-21.²⁰²⁵
538. During the second half of 1977, after Son Sen left Phnom Penh to oversee the armed conflict against Vietnam, Nuon Chea took over the direct supervision of S-21, and Duch reported directly to him until the end of the DK regime.²⁰²⁶ Duch would meet Nuon Chea in person every three to five days, usually at Nuon Chea's office at the Suramarith Buddhist School on Street 240, to "report and receive instructions."²⁰²⁷ Duch regularly sent written reports and annotated confessions both to Son Sen and Nuon Chea,²⁰²⁸ and received back letters containing instructions from his superiors.²⁰²⁹

4. MEAS MUTH'S RESPONSIBILITY FOR PRISONERS SENT TO S-21

539. As the Secretary of Division 164 and the Kampong Som City Committee, Meas Muth shared responsibility with the Party Centre leaders in Phnom Penh to determine which persons from Division 164 and Kampong Som would be arrested and sent to the S-21 security office. The key role played by RAK Division Secretaries (and other organisation heads) in deciding which prisoners would be sent to S-21 is proven beyond any reasonable doubt by the testimony of S-21 Chairman Duch²⁰³⁰ and other former high-level CPK cadres,²⁰³¹ and by surviving contemporaneous documents, including: annotations on S-21 confessions showing they were forwarded to the heads of the organisations whose cadres were implicated,²⁰³² minutes of meetings in which RAK Secretaries participated in decisions on arrests of their cadres,²⁰³³ and correspondence sent to Duch by RAK Secretaries regarding cadres who had been arrested and sent to S-21.²⁰³⁴
540. Meas Muth's receipt of S-21 confessions and participation in decisions relating to Division 164 cadres is proven by annotations written by Son Sen on two S-21 confessions, including a note by Son Sen that he would "invite comrade Mut to check" whether persons implicated in the S-21 confession of Division 164 Deputy Secretary Hoeng Doeun alias

Dim were the “right people”.²⁰³⁵ Meas Muth’s knowledge of S-21 is also evidenced by minutes of RAK meetings he attended at which representatives of S-21 were present²⁰³⁶ or Division Secretaries reported on prisoners that had been sent to S-21.²⁰³⁷ Notwithstanding this clear evidence, Meas Muth has been inconsistent and less than candid about S-21 in his post-DK interviews. On one occasion he claimed that “no one” in his Division was ever arrested or sent to S-21,²⁰³⁸ but in another interview he admitted that members of Division 164 were arrested by S-21 chairman Duch.²⁰³⁹

541. Contemporaneous documents also confirm Meas Muth’s knowing and willing participation in the purge of RAK cadres. At meetings between Son Sen and the RAK Division Secretaries and in written reports to his superiors, Meas Muth expressed his agreement with the plan to purge RAK Divisions of all persons perceived as opponents or enemies of the CPK, including “no-good elements or enemies” who were “still camouflaged and infiltrated in the rank and file.”²⁰⁴⁰ At a 9 October 1976 Division Secretaries meeting that was attended by both Meas Muth and Deputy Secretary Dim, General Staff Chairman Son Sen provided a detailed report on the arrests of a number of CPK leaders, including Division 170 Secretary Chan Chakrei,²⁰⁴¹ and instructed that it was “imperative to purge absolutely no-good elements.”²⁰⁴² All of the Division Secretaries and Deputies present, including Meas Muth and Dim, stated their agreement and reported on arrests in their respective organisations and regions.²⁰⁴³
542. Some of the Division 164 cadres purged by Meas Muth were sent to the S-21 security office in Phnom Penh, while others were imprisoned and executed at the Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap security centres in Kampong Som (as discussed in those sections). Many of those sent to S-21 held important positions in the Division and Meas Muth would certainly have known of their arrests. In total, sixty-seven (67) cadres from Division 164 have been identified in S-21 prisoner lists, including:

- (a) Division Deputy Secretary Hoeng Doeun alias Dim;²⁰⁴⁴
- (b) Division Committee Members Mom Chim alias Yan²⁰⁴⁵ and Men Nget;²⁰⁴⁶
- (c) Chey Han alias Chhan, son of Agriculture Minister Chey Suon,²⁰⁴⁷ who was a Committee Chief of Kampong Som City and Member of Division 164;²⁰⁴⁸

- (d) Regiment 62 Deputy Sann Seap alias Sam²⁰⁴⁹ and Regiment 140 Commander Sam;²⁰⁵⁰
- (e) Division Hospital chief Soem Neam alias Sok²⁰⁵¹ and medic Hem Ang;²⁰⁵²
- (f) Vorng Sam Kol, the chairman of the Division guest office;²⁰⁵³
- (g) Nine Battalion Secretaries, Deputies or Members;²⁰⁵⁴
- (h) 10 platoon, company or unit chiefs;²⁰⁵⁵
- (i) 20 combatants;²⁰⁵⁶ and
- (j) Eight Chinese translators.²⁰⁵⁷

543. The S-21 entry records for these prisoners show a number of dates on which mass arrests of Division 164 cadres took place, including a group of six combatants who entered on 7 May 1976,²⁰⁵⁸ eleven cadres on 15 June 1976,²⁰⁵⁹ five cadres on 18 December 1976,²⁰⁶⁰ and six Chinese translators in April 1978.²⁰⁶¹ On 29 June 1976, two cadres from Battalion 165, whose names had been reported by Meas Muth to Son Sen in a telegram sent earlier that month regarding an alleged conspiracy, were sent to S-21.²⁰⁶² A major purge of high-ranking Division 164 cadres took place in April 1977 that included the Division Deputy and Member, a Regiment Deputy, and six Battalion Secretaries or Deputies.²⁰⁶³ Meas Muth held meetings at which he accused the purged Division 164 cadres of being traitors and discussed or read from their confessions.²⁰⁶⁴
544. The S-21 prisoners for whom Meas Muth was responsible also included Vietnamese and Thai nationals who were captured or arrested at sea by Division 164, and former Lon Nol soldiers and civilians arrested in Kampong Som.²⁰⁶⁵ Meas Muth's responsibility for the capture, arrest, and execution of such groups is evidenced by his Division's reports on those matters to Son Sen.²⁰⁶⁶
545. On 7 February 1976, a group of five Vietnamese civilians captured off Poulo Wai island was sent to S-21.²⁰⁶⁷ On 7 May 1976, in addition to six Division 164 combatants (identified above), 105 other prisoners from Kampong Som were sent to S-21, including: 25 Vietnamese nationals, most of whom are identified in S-21's records as purported spies,²⁰⁶⁸ 43 Thai nationals, mostly identified as fishermen and/or alleged spies;²⁰⁶⁹ seven people identified as soldiers from Divisions 1, 2 or 3 of the Southwest Zone (some of whom are likely to have been Division 164 cadres at the time of their arrest);²⁰⁷⁰ six former Lon Nol soldiers or spouses of former soldiers;²⁰⁷¹ and 24 civilians from Kampong Som.²⁰⁷²

546. Many of the Vietnamese and Thai nationals sent from Kampong Som to S-21 on 7 May 1976 are identified in the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List as having been arrested months earlier (in September or December 1975) at sea or on the islands (Koh Rong, Tang, Poulo Wai, Kapi or Thas),²⁰⁷³ including six Thai fisherman from the Seri Chhaok fishing boat arrested on 6 September 1975²⁰⁷⁴ and nine Thai fishermen from the Harin Phanich fishing boat arrested on 21 or 22 December 1975.²⁰⁷⁵ These prisoners would have been detained for months at security centres in Kampong Som, such as the Toek Sap prison operated by Regiment 63 of Division 164,²⁰⁷⁶ before their transfer to S-21. This is specifically confirmed in the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List and by S-21 biographies for a number of the detainees.²⁰⁷⁷ The prisoners who were arrested in 1975 and detained for months at Toek Sap or other Kampong Som security centres included 15- and 16-year-old children.²⁰⁷⁸ Almost all of the Vietnamese and Thai prisoners transferred from Kampong Som to S-21 on 7 May 1976 were killed within a few weeks of their arrival in a mass execution conducted on 24 May 1976.²⁰⁷⁹
547. Twenty-one (21) former Lon Nol soldiers, police, officials, their relatives,²⁰⁸⁰ at least eight Division 3 combatants,²⁰⁸¹ and hundreds of other civilians²⁰⁸² were sent to S-21 from Kampong Som on other dates over the course of the DK regime, including a group of eight former Lon Nol officers sent on 21 August 1976.²⁰⁸³ The prisoners sent to S-21 from Kampong Som also included 10 former railway workers and their spouses, six of whom entered S-21 on the same day, 27 December 1976.²⁰⁸⁴
548. In 1978, at least 150 Vietnamese nationals were captured and sent to S-21 by Division 164, after the DK Government broke off diplomatic relations with Vietnam on 31 December 1977, and Meas Muth vowed in a telegram sent to Office 870 that same day that he would “[sweep] cleanly away and without half-measures the uncover[ed] elements of the enemy, whether the Yuon or other enemies.”²⁰⁸⁵ The Vietnamese prisoners who were sent from Kampong Som to S-21 in 1978 include:

- (a) Vu Dinh Ngor, a Vietnamese marine captured and sent to S-21 on 3 January 1978,²⁰⁸⁶ who Duch recalled was the first Vietnamese soldier arrested after the cessation of relations between DK and Vietnam,²⁰⁸⁷ and whose confession was broadcast on DK Radio later that month,²⁰⁸⁸

- (b) a Vietnamese lieutenant captured at sea and sent to S-21 on 18 January 1978,²⁰⁸⁹ two soldiers from Koh Tral (Phu Quoc) island arrested at sea on 24 and 25 January 1978,²⁰⁹⁰ three corporals and two lieutenants sent in February 1978,²⁰⁹¹ and another three corporals and two lieutenants captured at sea and sent to S-21 in March 1978,²⁰⁹²
- (c) a 50-year-old Chinese man who had fled to Vietnam in 1970, a 54-year-old boat mechanic, an 18-year-old Chinese fisherman from Vietnam and a Khmer Krom fisherman sent to S-21 on 5 February 1978;²⁰⁹³
- (d) two Vietnamese children aged 15 and 17 captured at sea and accused of being “spies,” who were sent to S-21 on 11 and 16 February 1978 and executed on 27 March 1978;²⁰⁹⁴
- (e) three Vietnamese sent to S-21 on 14 February 1978,²⁰⁹⁵ a group of 16 Vietnamese sent to S-21 on 21 February 1978²⁰⁹⁶ that included 15 and 16-year-old boys,²⁰⁹⁷ five Vietnamese men sent on 24 February and 10 March 1978,²⁰⁹⁸ and one other captured at sea in March 1978;²⁰⁹⁹
- (f) 15 Vietnamese or Chinese-Vietnamese business people²¹⁰⁰ and five Khmer Krom fishermen or rice farmers²¹⁰¹ from Koh Tral (Phu Quoc island) sent to S-21 on the 21st of March 1978;
- (g) a group of 30 Vietnamese men and women, many from Poulo Wai island, who were captured at sea on 28 or 30 March 1978 and sent to S-21 on 1 April 1978;²¹⁰²
- (h) a group of seven Vietnamese, some identified as “Bandits of Binh Nhy” (former soldiers), sent to S-21 on 18 April 1978 and executed ten days later;²¹⁰³
- (i) two Vietnamese corporals sent to S-21 on 27 April 1978;²¹⁰⁴
- (j) three “Doing Ricefield” Vietnamese sent to S-21 on 28 April 1978 and executed one week later,²¹⁰⁵ 12 Vietnamese sent on 1 May 1978²¹⁰⁶ (a number of whom were executed within five days of their arrival²¹⁰⁷), and another 11 persons sent on 12 May 1978,²¹⁰⁸ which group included a 14-year-old student,²¹⁰⁹

(k) six ethnic Chinese from Vietnam who were sent to S-21 on 13 July 1978;²¹¹⁰

(l) a 49-year-old purported “spy” captured at Poulo Wai island on 2 September 1978,²¹¹¹ and nine Vietnamese fishermen sent to S-21 on 6 September 1978,²¹¹² including a 15-year-old boy,²¹¹³ and

(m) four purported Vietnamese spies sent to S-21 on 12 November 1978.²¹¹⁴

549. The S-21 prisoners sent by Division 164 also included a number of Westerners who were arrested at sea by the DK Navy and sent to S-21,²¹¹⁵ namely:

(a) American nationals Lance (or Lee) McNamara and James William Clark, who entered S-21 on 23 April 1978;²¹¹⁶

(b) Kerry George Hamill from New Zealand and John Dawson Dewhirst from Britain, who were captured on the Foxy Lady yacht near Koh Tang on 13 August 1978;²¹¹⁷

(c) Australians Ronald Keith Dean and David Lloyd Scott, captured near Poulo Wai island on 2 November 1978;²¹¹⁸ and

(d) Americans Christopher Edward Delance and Michael Scott Deeds, who entered the S-21 prison on 26 November 1978.²¹¹⁹

550. In addition, the S-21 prisoners for whom Meas Muth was responsible included 38 people from Kratie Province whose arrest was overseen by Meas Muth in December 1978,²¹²⁰ as discussed in detail in VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505. The prisoners who were sent to S-21 from Sector 505 and Division 117 as part of this late 1978 purge included:

(a) Sector 505 Secretary Meas Moeun (cousin of Meas Muth)²¹²¹ and Sector Deputy Secretary Chhim Khon,²¹²²

(b) Snuol District Secretary Chhum Chin (or Chen) alias Phoan, and Kratie District Secretary Huon Yeng,²¹²³

(c) Division 117 Secretary Khun Rum or Rom (nephew of Meas Muth), Deputy

Secretary Roat Leang and Division Office Chief Svay Naunh,²¹²⁴

- (d) three Regiment commanders from Division 117: Regiment 15 Secretary Kel Sophan alias Phan, Regiment 81 Secretary Chap Hoeun, and Regiment 82 Secretary By Ry (or Vy);²¹²⁵
- (e) 22 others from Sector 505, including a number of commune and cooperative chiefs, all of whom entered S-21 on 27 December 1978 and were executed four days later on 31 December 1978;²¹²⁶ and
- (f) six persons purported to be Vietnamese spies, also sent from Kratie on 27 December 1978.²¹²⁷

551. In total, as detailed above, at least 706 prisoners were sent to S-21 from or by the DK organisations for which Meas Muth was responsible: 67 cadres from Division 164 or former Southwest Division 3; two cadres from Division 1 and 2; 32 people from Kratie (Division 117 and Sector 505, excluding the six Vietnamese spies arrested in Kratie); 194 Vietnamese or Khmer Krom (including the six Vietnamese spies arrested in Kratie), 58 Thais, and eight Westerners captured at sea or on the islands; 21 former Lon Nol soldiers or officials from Kampong Som; 73 Kampong Som civilians; and 251 Kampong Som port workers.²¹²⁸

552. Moreover, as evidenced by the minutes of the RAK Division Secretaries meetings he attended,²¹²⁹ Meas Muth shared the goals of a common criminal plan to purge (arrest, detain and usually execute without any legal process) all RAK Divisions, Independent Regiments and the General Staff of those suspected by the CPK of political disloyalty. As detailed above, Meas Muth made his own substantial contributions to this plan, and he understood and intended that substantial numbers of people from other Divisions would also be arrested, imprisoned, and executed at S-21 and other RAK security centres.²¹³⁰ As a member of this JCE, Meas Muth therefore also bears responsibility for the roughly 4,800 other RAK prisoners who were sent to S-21.²¹³¹

5. CRIMES

IMPRISONMENT AND UNLAWFUL CONFINEMENT

a) Deprivation of Liberty of Persons Sent to S-21

553. Prisoners entered S-21 handcuffed and blindfolded,²¹³² remained so while registered,²¹³³ and were then taken by guards to cells and placed in shackles.²¹³⁴ As detailed in the Other Inhumane Acts section below, the prisoners remained permanently shackled in their cells the entire time they were at the S-21 compound, except when taken out for interrogation or execution.
554. S-21 typically held between 1,000 and 1,500 persons.²¹³⁵ Prisoners were detained in the three-story school buildings located within the S-21 compound. Buildings B, C and D were used for the detention of ordinary prisoners,²¹³⁶ and contained both large detention rooms and small cells only 2 by 1.5 metres in size.²¹³⁷ Senior CPK cadres, foreigners, and Vietnamese prisoners were processed and detained at the Special Prison,²¹³⁸ which was initially located in houses to the south of the compound, but later in Building A (which was also used for interrogation).²¹³⁹ S-21 lists confirm that the high-ranking CPK cadres detained at the Special Prison included some of the prisoners for whom Meas Muth was responsible,²¹⁴⁰ as discussed in the preceding section.
555. The prison compound was surrounded by a corrugated zinc outer fence²¹⁴¹ and a wrought iron inner fence “covered with barbed wire.”²¹⁴² One of the prison fences was electrified.²¹⁴³ Detainees were also prevented from escaping by the three levels of guards²¹⁴⁴ who were assigned to patrol inside the prison,²¹⁴⁵ outside the walls of the compound²¹⁴⁶ and in the surrounding neighbourhood.²¹⁴⁷ As a result of these security measures, almost no one was ever able to escape from S-21.²¹⁴⁸

b) Lack of Due Process

556. There was no due process or any legal process at all in the DK regime. Decisions to arrest and imprison people at S-21 were made at the whim of those in power such as Meas Muth, without the involvement or oversight of any judicial body. Individuals were often arrested solely on the basis of torture-induced confessions that named long lists of purported traitors or enemies of the regime.²¹⁴⁹ Regardless of how prisoners wound up at S-21, they were not informed of their rights or the charges against them, or even of the reason for the arrest.²¹⁵⁰ Nor were they entitled to challenge their arrest and imprisonment through any judicial mechanism, as DK authorities did not establish courts, criminal codes, or legal processes.²¹⁵¹

557. Duch has acknowledged the innocence of people imprisoned at S-21, admitting that many of the prisoners he personally knew were “wrongly” arrested.²¹⁵² As affirmed by Duch and other S-21 cadres, once these victims were branded enemies by the CPK leaders and sent to S-21, their fate was sealed.²¹⁵³

c) Documentation of Prisoner Entries

558. S-21 used a meticulously detailed record system to keep track of prisoners, including daily entry lists,²¹⁵⁴ photographs,²¹⁵⁵ prisoner biographies,²¹⁵⁶ interrogation logs²¹⁵⁷ and execution lists.²¹⁵⁸ Most of these records were prepared by Suos Thy and the Documentation Unit,²¹⁵⁹ which was based in Building E and registered the names, positions, and places of origin of prisoners upon their arrival at S-21,²¹⁶⁰ recorded the building and cell numbers in which each person was imprisoned,²¹⁶¹ and prepared individual files for each prisoner that included their biographical information and photograph.²¹⁶² These contemporaneous records establish both the number and identity of the victims imprisoned at S-21.
559. Based on a review of available S-21 records that focused primarily on prisoner entry lists,²¹⁶³ an OCIJ analyst compiled a list identifying a total of 15,101 people who are documented as being detained at the S-21 security office.²¹⁶⁴

OTHER INHUMANE ACTS, WILFULLY CAUSING GREAT SUFFERING OR SERIOUS INJURY

560. S-21 prisoners were subjected to conditions so inhumane that survivors have said they felt they were no longer human beings.²¹⁶⁵ Duch has admitted that “inhumane detention and living conditions” were among the crimes committed at S-21.²¹⁶⁶ The evidence establishes that all prisoners detained at S-21, including those sent from Division 164 and Kampong Som, were subject to such inhumane treatment. Moreover, the conditions at S-21 were of the same nature to those at the Division 164 security centres for which Meas Muth was responsible that are addressed in other sections of this Submission.

561. Use of Shackles: Most prisoners were held in large common cells with between 20 and 40 prisoners who were shackled by the ankle to long iron bars in rows of 10.²¹⁶⁷ They remained permanently shackled in their cells, 24 hours a day,²¹⁶⁸ even while eating,²¹⁶⁹ sleeping,²¹⁷⁰ going to the bathroom,²¹⁷¹ being washed by hoses,²¹⁷² or receiving medical treatment.²¹⁷³ Prisoners' ankle shackles remained on when they were taken for interrogation, so they could be restrained in the interrogation room.²¹⁷⁴ Some prisoners still bear scars from their shackles decades later.²¹⁷⁵
562. Other S-21 prisoner regulations were also strictly imposed.²¹⁷⁶ Prisoners were not allowed to talk to each other or make any noise.²¹⁷⁷ Even while sleeping at night, if prisoners "moved and then the chain made sound," they would be beaten.²¹⁷⁸ Prisoners were not allowed to go outside their cells for fresh air, sunlight, or exercise.²¹⁷⁹ They were not allowed to stand, sit up, or move without permission from the guards.²¹⁸⁰
563. Food Rations: Prisoners at S-21 were subjected to starvation while surplus food produced at Prey Sar was being delivered to the Standing Committee.²¹⁸¹ They received two small meals a day, usually consisting of a few spoonfuls of thin gruel.²¹⁸² As a result of the meagre food rations, the detainees experienced severe hunger,²¹⁸³ and became skinny, ill, and weak.²¹⁸⁴
564. Lack of Hygiene: Hygiene conditions at S-21 were appalling. Prisoners were forced to relieve themselves in ammunition boxes and plastic containers inside their cells²¹⁸⁵ while remaining shackled.²¹⁸⁶ The cells were only cleaned when the stench became intolerable.²¹⁸⁷ If urine or faeces leaked onto the floor from the containers, prisoners were beaten or forced to lick up the overspill.²¹⁸⁸ Prisoners were not permitted to clean themselves, and instead were hosed down in groups by guards when the cells were washed.²¹⁸⁹
565. Disease-Ridden Prisoners: Many prisoners fell ill as a result of these conditions, suffering from diarrhoea, dysentery, beriberi, malaria, and other diseases.²¹⁹⁰ They developed skin rashes and were infested with lice.²¹⁹¹ S-21 prisoners died from illness almost every day, particularly during the 1977-78 period when the prison was at its most crowded.²¹⁹² Their corpses remained in the cells shackled next to the other prisoners for hours.²¹⁹³ The deceased prisoners were eventually taken away and buried by S-21 cadres in the vicinity of the compound.²¹⁹⁴

566. The prisoners who died from disease at S-21 included eight of the thirteen prisoners from Kampong Som and Division 164 who entered on 21 and 28 August 1976, all of whom died within a few days or weeks of their arrival at S-21,²¹⁹⁵ indicating that this group of prisoners was sent by Meas Muth in extremely poor health condition.

567. Lack of Medical Care: S-21 detainees did not receive proper medical care for their illnesses and injuries. Medical care was usually only administered to keep prisoners alive long enough to complete their interrogations.²¹⁹⁶ The medics who worked at S-21 were inadequately trained and equipped.²¹⁹⁷ Medicines were in short supply, and often consisted of ineffective locally produced products.²¹⁹⁸ Many S-21 medics were arrested and imprisoned, including the unit chief and 20 other medics arrested in mid-1978.²¹⁹⁹ By the end of the regime, only child medics remained.²²⁰⁰

568. Environment of Fear/Suicides: The inhumane conditions and other mistreatment stripped S-21 prisoners of all dignity and hope.²²⁰¹ Prisoners regularly heard other prisoners being tortured,²²⁰² and saw them return to their cells with visible injuries.²²⁰³ The prisoners' state of complete despair led many to attempt suicide, sometimes successfully,²²⁰⁴ including Division 164 hospital chief Soem Neam alias Sok, who hung himself on 4 May 1977.²²⁰⁵

INTERROGATIONS AND USE OF TORTURE

569. As admitted by the prison chairman and S-21 interrogators and recorded in annotations and surviving notebooks of those interrogators, torture was systematically used on all prisoners interrogated at S-21 in order to obtain their confessions.

a) Systematic Use of Torture During S-21 Interrogations

570. Interrogations at S-21 were conducted in a highly coercive environment. Prisoners were handcuffed and blindfolded when they were removed from their cells and walked by guards to the interrogation rooms,²²⁰⁶ where they were shackled to a table while questioned.²²⁰⁷ They were interrogated, sometimes for months, in sessions that began at 7 a.m. and ended at 10 or 11 p.m.,²²⁰⁸ in a weakened condition due to lack of food and sleep.²²⁰⁹ Depending on the status of their interrogation, prisoners were assigned either to: (i) the hot group, which beat and tortured prisoners to obtain answers; (ii) the chewing group, otherwise known as the documentation group, which conducted long interrogations in which the prisoner was asked the same question over and over and subjected to physical torture to get the desired response; or (iii) the cool group, which used verbal cajoling, harassment and threats, but no physical mistreatment.²²¹⁰

571. S-21 interrogators were instructed to take an “absolute stance” that all prisoners were enemies from whom confessions must be extracted.²²¹¹ As S-21 Chairman, one of Duch’s admitted duties was to train interrogators to “dare to torture,”²²¹² and he conducted regular training sessions at which S-21 interrogators were instructed on how to interrogate and torture prisoners.²²¹³

572. Duch admitted that the use of physical torture was “inevitable,” and that there were only one or two cases in which S-21 detainees were not tortured when interrogated.²²¹⁴ Other S-21 cadres also confirmed that torture was regularly used during interrogations of detainees.²²¹⁵ As instructed at one of the S-21 interrogators’ study sessions:

The enemy does not confess to us easily. When they confess when we do politics, they confess at the very lowest level. Torture cannot be avoided. It only differs as to whether it is a little or a lot, that’s all.²²¹⁶

b) Methods & Forms of Torture Used at S-21

573. Duch testified there were four types of torture primarily used at S-21, as authorised by his superiors: (1) beatings; (2) electric shocks; (3) suffocation using plastic bags; and (4) waterboarding.²²¹⁷

574. Beating detainees with whips, wire, and sticks was the predominant method of torture at S-21.²²¹⁸ S-21 interrogators also regularly used electrocution.²²¹⁹ They administered shocks by attaching electric wires to the ears, toes, and genitals of prisoners,²²²⁰ often rendering them unconscious.²²²¹ David Chandler states that electrocution was used “so commonly” at S-21 that prisoners received an instruction “not to scream when electric shocks were applied.”²²²²

575. Special Zone Secretary (and future Standing Committee member) Vorn Vet taught Duch the technique of using plastic bags to suffocate prisoners during interrogation.²²²³ S-21 interrogators confirm they were instructed on and used this method of torture.²²²⁴ Duch admits that one prisoner died while being suffocated.²²²⁵ Duch also testified that Son Sen approved a form of waterboarding, in which interrogators covered prisoners' mouths with a scarf or towel and poured water on them.²²²⁶

576. Other methods of torture used at S-21 included: burning with cigarettes and electric lamps;²²²⁷ freezing with cold water and fans;²²²⁸ puncturing or ripping out fingernails and toenails;²²²⁹ force-feeding of excrement and urine;²²³⁰ driving a stick into female genitalia;²²³¹ and tightening the shackles of the prisoner.²²³²
577. Some of the so-called "cold method" forms of interrogation were designed to inflict severe trauma, distress and severe mental suffering, and therefore also constituted torture. The psychological torture employed by interrogators included: threatening the "welfare" of the prisoner's spouse and children;²²³³ forcing prisoners to pay homage to images of dogs bearing the heads of Ho Chi Minh and the U.S. President;²²³⁴ and "[t]hreatening, distracting, breaking them skillfully, arranging small scenes to make them docile and hopeless, seeing that they cannot resist any longer."²²³⁵

c) Injuries Inflicted on Prisoners During Interrogations

578. The authorised forms of torture commonly used at S-21 caused severe pain and suffering, physical and mental, to the prisoners being interrogated. Bou Meng was repeatedly beaten, whipped, and electrocuted with wires attached to his inner thighs near his genitals.²²³⁶ The beatings to his back and head have left him with permanent scars and hearing loss.²²³⁷ Chum Mey was interrogated and tortured for 12 days and nights.²²³⁸ He was beaten,²²³⁹ electrocuted,²²⁴⁰ and had his toenails ripped from his feet.²²⁴¹ As a result, Chum Mey suffers from both hearing and vision loss.²²⁴²
579. The infliction of serious injuries on prisoners undergoing interrogation is also confirmed by admissions of S-21 cadres and surviving prison records. S-21 guards testified that prisoners returning from interrogation had visible wounds and marks from their beatings.²²⁴³ S-21 medics, who were assigned to treat the injuries of tortured prisoners so their interrogations could continue,²²⁴⁴ confirm that such prisoners "underwent great suffering," with "wounds on their backs" that "cut through the outer skin," missing toenails and fingernails, and "torn" ears.²²⁴⁵ Surviving S-21 records contain references to the injuries sustained by prisoners due to beatings and other routinely used forms of torture.²²⁴⁶

d) Use of Torture to Obtain Confessions

580. The purpose of the torture inflicted on S-21 prisoners was to force them to provide confessions and identify purported networks of traitors. As plainly stated in one S-21 interrogator's notebook:

The objective of torturing is to get their answers; it is not done for fun. Therefore, we must make them feel pain so that they will respond quickly. Another objective is to make them afraid. [...] Therefore, beat them to make them scared, but absolutely do not let them die. When torturing, it is imperative to check their health in advance and to inspect the whip. Do not get greedy and want to be quick; that leads to death and the loss of a document.²²⁴⁷

581. S-21 cadres confirm that torture was used for the purpose of extracting confessions.²²⁴⁸ Duch admits that interrogators in the hot unit were authorised to “beat the prisoners immediately if the confession [was] not extracted as they wanted.”²²⁴⁹ S-21 interrogator Prak Khan testified that “99 per cent” of the prisoners initially denied any wrongdoing, and would only confess after days or weeks of interrogation using “cold methods” and other forms of torture.²²⁵⁰ Interrogators were expected to obtain the names of other persons in the “network” of the prisoner.²²⁵¹ Contemporaneous documents clearly show the use of torture by S-21 interrogators to extract confessions.²²⁵² Accounts from surviving detainees also provide a vivid picture of how torture was deployed at S-21 to force ordinary Cambodians, who had never heard of the CIA or KGB, to confess that they were spies for those organisations.²²⁵³

e) Interrogation and Torture of Prisoners Sent to S-21 by Meas Muth

582. As confirmed by the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, many of the prisoners sent from Division 164, Kampong Som, Sector 505, and Division 117 underwent interrogations at S-21 and provided confessions.²²⁵⁴ The evidence detailed above clearly establishes that such prisoners undergoing interrogations at S-21 were systematically subjected to the crime of torture.

583. The evidence also establishes Meas Muth's knowledge of interrogations of the persons his division captured who were sent to S-21. As discussed in detail in VIII.D.4. Meas Muth's Responsibility for Prisoners Sent to S-21 above, S-21 confessions were circulated to Meas

Muth and read by him to cadres at Division 164 meetings.²²⁵⁵ The S-21 confessions circulated to CPK leaders often included summary reports by interrogators expressly describing the use of torture,²²⁵⁶ as confirmed by S-21 Chairman Duch and other sources.²²⁵⁷ Moreover, S-21 confessions of Vietnamese prisoners captured at sea by Division 164 were broadcast on the DK radio throughout 1978,²²⁵⁸ and propaganda films were made of the Vietnamese soldiers captured and detained at S-21.²²⁵⁹ A number of witnesses have specifically confirmed that torture was employed during interrogations of the Vietnamese prisoners sent to S-21.²²⁶⁰

MURDER, EXTERMINATION, AND WILFUL KILLING

a) Systematic Killing of Prisoners Sent to S-21 on a Massive Scale

584. Duch and other S-21 cadres confirm that virtually every person detained at S-21 was killed.²²⁶¹ The only exception was a handful of people who were deemed useful for their skills and escaped death at the time of the Vietnamese arrival in early 1979.²²⁶² Thus, almost all prisoners sent to S-21 (including those sent from Division 164 and Kampong Som) were victims of extrajudicial murder.

585. The evidence also clearly demonstrates that killing on a massive scale took place at S-21. Execution lists prepared by S-21 Deputy Chief Hor and Suos Thy²²⁶³ record at least 27 instances of mass executions exceeding 100 prisoners, mostly during the intense purges of 1977 and 1978.²²⁶⁴ The executions on these 27 days alone took the lives of over 5,000 S-21 prisoners.²²⁶⁵ With regard to regular day-to-day executions, the S-21 guard responsible for transporting prisoners out of S-21 to Choeung Ek testified that the “average” execution was “from 50 prisoners up to 100 of them.”²²⁶⁶ One of the mass executions at S-21, which took place on 24 May 1976, consisted of the Vietnamese and Thai prisoners who had been captured by the DK Navy and transferred from Kampong Som to S-21 on 7 May 1976.²²⁶⁷

b) Executions at S-21 Compound and Takhmau

586. In the initial phase of S-21, executions of prisoners were conducted at the Takhmau prison site.²²⁶⁸ After the prison began operations at the Ponhea Yet school in April 1976, executions were conducted in the area around the S-21 compound.²²⁶⁹ The guard unit took prisoners out of the compound at night and killed them in the same manner as at Choeung

Ek: prisoners were struck in the head, their throats slit open, and their bodies dumped into pits and buried.²²⁷⁰

587. Even after Choeung Ek was established, certain groups of prisoners continued to be killed in the area outside the main S-21 compound in Phnom Penh. High-ranking CPK cadres and other important prisoners who were separately detained at the Special Prison were not sent to Choeung Ek for execution, but instead were killed in the vicinity of Tuol Sleng.²²⁷¹ Photographs were taken of corpses of important prisoners and sent to Son Sen or Nuon Chea as proof of their execution.²²⁷² The S-21 prisoners whose executed bodies were photographed included Division 164 Deputy Secretary Hoeng Doeun alias Dim and other high-ranking RAK cadres.²²⁷³
588. Vietnamese, Westerners and Thai prisoners, including those captured by Division 164, were also killed in the area around the S-21 compound, rather than being sent to Choeung Ek.²²⁷⁴ S-21 Chairman Duch has admitted that the Thai fishermen captured by Division 164 were all executed,²²⁷⁵ as were the “hundreds” of Vietnamese prisoners sent to S-21.²²⁷⁶ The Vietnamese prisoners were typically killed soon after their arrival at S-21,²²⁷⁷ including the group discussed above that was sent from Kampong Som on 7 May 1976 and executed on 24 May 1976. The Vietnamese executed at S-21 included babies²²⁷⁸ and other children.²²⁷⁹ A mass execution of Vietnamese prisoners on 27 March 1978 included three Vietnamese children captured at sea aged 15, 16 and 17.²²⁸⁰
589. The Westerners who had been captured at sea and sent to S-21 by Division 164 were also executed in the vicinity of the Tuol Sleng compound.²²⁸¹ Their bodies were burned after their execution so as not to leave any evidence of their remains.²²⁸²

c) Executions at Choeung Ek

590. After S-21 began using Choeung Ek as an execution site in early 1977, most prisoners were executed there and buried in large pits dug by a team of guards stationed at the site.²²⁸³ Executions usually took place at night.²²⁸⁴ After receiving the names of the prisoners to be executed from S-21 Deputy Chief Hor, Suos Thy would prepare a list for the guards to use to collect those prisoners.²²⁸⁵ Him Huy’s guard unit took the listed prisoners from their cells, placed them on trucks handcuffed and blindfolded, and transported the prisoners from the S-21 compound to the wooden house at Choeung Ek.²²⁸⁶

591. At Choeung Ek, the prisoners were received by Tay Teng's unit and taken from the wooden house, one at a time, to be killed.²²⁸⁷ The victims were ordered to sit or kneel down at the edge of a pit, and were struck on the back of the neck with an "iron bar," "oxcart axle," "pipe" or similar club-like instrument, after which their throats were slit with a knife, their cuffs and clothes removed, and their bodies dumped into the grave pit.²²⁸⁸ Executions at Choeung Ek "took hours,"²²⁸⁹ and were overseen by S-21 Deputy Chief Hor.²²⁹⁰ Him Huy recorded the names of each executed prisoner, and delivered the list back to Suos Thy.²²⁹¹
592. The massive scale of killing at Choeung Ek was confirmed by an exhumation conducted between 1981 and 1983, in which 86 of the 129 mass graves at Choeung Ek were exhumed and a total of 8,985 corpses recovered.²²⁹² The bones remained on the ground next to the pits for at least two years²²⁹³ and then were stored in an open, unprotected wooden hut for another three to four years.²²⁹⁴ As a result, only 7,500 skulls remained when they were counted by a Vietnamese forensics team in 1988 before being placed in an encased memorial.²²⁹⁵ Further loss of bones occurred over the ensuing decades, as the stupa was not adequately sealed against rats and insects,²²⁹⁶ and some skulls were removed for exhibitions or studies and never returned.²²⁹⁷
593. From 2013 to 2015, a team led by expert Voeun Vuthy conducted a comprehensive analysis of the bones in the Choeung Ek stupa.²²⁹⁸ Of the 6,426 crania examined by Voeun Vuthy's team, "only one skull" did not contain evidence of trauma.²²⁹⁹ A total of 28,000 marks of trauma were identified on the skulls, with each skull containing multiple fractures, holes or other such markings.²³⁰⁰ The most common forms of trauma observed on the skulls were consistent with the victims having been struck in the head with clubs, sticks, axles, or similar such instruments: 9,802 marks consistent with "wood or bamboo sticks"; 5,806 marks consistent with a steel bar or axle bar; and 2,435 marks consistent with "square sticks."²³⁰¹ The evidence from Voeun Vuthy's study helps quantify the scale of killing that took place at Choeung Ek, and corroborates the testimony of S-21 cadres as to the usual method by which victims were killed at the site.

E. STUNG HAV WORKSITES

1. SITE DESCRIPTION

594. During the DK period, Stung Hav (transliterations include Stung Hau, Stung Hay, Stung Hav, Steung Hav, or Stoeung Hao) was a group of worksites and related facilities that operated under Division 164 in the north of Kampong Som Sector, in Stung Hav Commune.²³⁰² There were two main projects in Stung Hav during the DK regime: the construction of a new military port,²³⁰³ including a pier at the most northerly point of Stung Hav commune;²³⁰⁴ and a road connecting the new port to the oil refinery to the west.²³⁰⁵ The construction of the port, pier, and road entailed a number of worksites and subsidiary projects. These included, in addition to the construction of the road and pier, projects to: clear and level land; reinforce and shape the shoreline; quarry, break, and transport rock for the use in port, pier, and road;²³⁰⁶ construct a new railway; build a water reservoir; and, farm various crops.
595. Buildings in Stung Hav included a Division 164 Regimental field headquarters,²³⁰⁷ an office for Chinese technical advisors,²³⁰⁸ a jail, housing for the labourers,²³⁰⁹ and potentially a medical facility of some sort.²³¹⁰
596. Work began in Stung Hav from the middle or end of 1975 or early 1976,²³¹¹ and continued until the Vietnamese overthrew the Khmer Rouge.²³¹² DK authorities continued to send workers to Stung Hav through 1978.²³¹³ Construction on the port²³¹⁴ and road both began in 1976. The road was completed in 1976, whereas the work on the port and pier had not been completed by the time of the fall of the DK regime.²³¹⁵ The road from the pier to the oil refinery was 13 kilometres long and took six months to build.²³¹⁶ At least one of the rock quarries was still in use when the DK regime fell.²³¹⁷
597. The pier was at the end of the road leading from the Stung Hav oil refinery, which was located to the west on a promontory near Kampong Som City.²³¹⁸ By the time the Vietnamese overthrew the DK regime, the pier had a length of 400 metres, a width of 12 metres and up to around 5 metres in depth. The shore line at the port had been cleared, and straightened with rocks at a length of 300 metres and a depth of 50 metres.²³¹⁹ It is possible that to the east of the pier the Khmer Rouge constructed breakwater, known as the Tumnob

Rolok Thmei Dam (New Wave Dam), to protect the pier and port, or this evidence may be discussing the construction of the pier itself.²³²⁰

598. There were multiple rock quarries that produced stone for the port, road, and pier and/or breakwater.²³²¹ One witness stated that during the DK regime each of the quarries was known by the name of the unit stationed there.²³²² There were at least three quarries to the west of the north/south road leading to the pier,²³²³ as well as quarries farther west to the south of the road to the refinery (including one known as Mountain 103)^{2324 2325}. The three quarries to the west of the north/south road were themselves situated on a north-south axis and located less than 100 metres from each other. They were of varying size, ranging up to 44 metres wide, 40-60 metres deep, and six metres high.²³²⁶ The Khmer Rouge may have intended to ultimately convert some of the quarries into storage areas.²³²⁷
599. Not all of the quarries were operational for the entire duration of the work in the area. In addition, there is evidence that rock was brought in from other quarries outside of Stung Hav, including from Au Mlou (near Kang Keng),²³²⁸ Khleang Leu,²³²⁹ Slab Ta Aon, and Kampong Trach.²³³⁰ There were also multiple rock-breaking sites at Stung Hav, where the quarried rock would be broken into varying sizes depending on the need of the project before being transported to the site.²³³¹
600. Some machinery provided by the Chinese was in use at Stung Hav, and it seems that the use of machinery may have increased over time.²³³² Evidence shows that trucks were sometimes used to transport rocks, machines were available to crush rocks,²³³³ and rollers, excavators, and bulldozers were used on the road.²³³⁴ In addition, dynamite was used to assist in quarrying rocks.²³³⁵ However, the evidence also shows that much of the quarrying, construction, and other work was done by hand.²³³⁶ As one witness stated, “I experienced hardship and suffering when I worked and stayed at the rock-breaking worksite. They did not use machinery to lift the rocks; they used human labour. We had to use all our energy to carry those rocks”.²³³⁷
601. There were two water tanks built in the south of Stung Hav, likely in 1977 or 1978.²³³⁸ The first water tank facility was along the main village road and east of the rock quarries.²³³⁹ It was completed over a one month period with the assistance of Chinese advisers.²³⁴⁰ The second water tank facility was about one kilometre away and farther south than the first.²³⁴¹

602. Approximately 40 Chinese advisors²³⁴² to Division 164 were stationed in a house approximately two kilometres south of the pier²³⁴³ close to the regimental field headquarters.²³⁴⁴ The advisors²³⁴⁵ provided expertise regarding various technical matters including surveying,²³⁴⁶ methods of quarrying rock,²³⁴⁷ road construction,²³⁴⁸ and construction of the pier²³⁴⁹ and/or breakwater.²³⁵⁰
603. There were multiple encampments for labourers. One encampment held a group of about 100²³⁵¹ labourers labelled “bad elements”. The group, possibly named Company 17, was located just south of the quarries to the west of the north/south road.²³⁵² But there were other locations where labourers lived as well.²³⁵³ The workforce was primarily composed of demobilised cadres,²³⁵⁴ however, there may have been a small number of civilians sent to Stung Hav for tempering as well.²³⁵⁵ Although only males worked at the quarries, women also worked at Stung Hav, including at the road and port construction sites.²³⁵⁶
604. Aside from demobilised cadres, active Division 164 cadres were stationed at Stung Hav to carry out supervisory and security functions.²³⁵⁷

2. AUTHORITY STRUCTURE

605. The Stung Hav worksites operated under the supervision of Division 164.²³⁵⁸ Multiple witnesses confirmed that Meas Muth visited Stung Hav on a number of occasions, sometimes as frequently as weekly,²³⁵⁹ where he would meet with the Chinese advisors within sight of the road, pier, port, rock breaking locations, and quarries.²³⁶⁰ Meas Muth’s younger brother, Meas Im, who worked at the site, told OCIJ investigators that Meas Muth consistently visited Stung Hav from at least mid-1976²³⁶¹ until Meas Muth moved to Phnom Penh and the East Zone.²³⁶² Meas Muth would also occasionally stay at Stung Hav overnight when he visited.²³⁶³
606. Meas Muth held meetings at Stung Hav when he was there.²³⁶⁴ In mid-1977, Meas Muth held a meeting in a location approximately two kilometres from the port²³⁶⁵ to convey Party policies to cadres. At the meeting, he announced the existence of the CPK,²³⁶⁶ and “spoke about those who betrayed the Party, and he said that those accused of treason had to be rounded up and put in one place”.²³⁶⁷ In his speech, Meas Muth accused particular

Division 164 soldiers of being “traitors” including Norng Chhan alias Chhan, and Hang Doeun alias Dim.²³⁶⁸ Meas Muth talked for 2-3 hours and was the sole speaker.²³⁶⁹

607. Stung Hav was discussed in Division 164 meetings.²³⁷⁰ Extant meeting minutes show that, in relation to Stung Hav, Meas Muth was apprised of matters concerning targeting “bad people,” arrests of persons who attempted to escape, the categorisation of persons as “enemies”, the utilisation of “biographies” to determine who was an enemy, arrest and interrogation of enemies, that enemies who are “soldier elements must be rounded up”, and workers’ complaints that the conditions at Stung Hav were so terrible, “[w]e all will be dead!”²³⁷¹
608. Meas Im worked in the construction unit of Stung Hav. In his WRI, he said that the chief of his unit was Regiment 62 Secretary Iek Manh,²³⁷² who reported to Meas Im’s brother Meas Muth.²³⁷³ Meas Muth gave orders to Meas Im through Manh.²³⁷⁴ Iek Manh had telephone and telegram equipment in his house in Stung Hav to facilitate communication with Meas Muth, and that equipment was used to receive orders from him.²³⁷⁵ Meas Muth’s orders included instructions to construct the road to the oil refinery and to the pier and to level the ground “from the foot of the mountain to the Stung Hav beach”.²³⁷⁶ In addition to travelling to Stung Hav himself, Meas Muth received telegrams concerning matters at Stung Hav.²³⁷⁷ Prior to their arrests, both of Meas Muth’s deputies, Dim and Chhan, had some responsibility for Stung Hav,²³⁷⁸ and they and others would hold meetings there where it was emphasised that everyone had to work hard.²³⁷⁹
609. At least a portion of Regiment 61 of Division 164 was stationed at Stung Hav for a period.²³⁸⁰ One witness said that a battalion within Regiment 61 was the guard unit at Stung Hav.²³⁸¹
610. Meas Im also had some authority at Stung Hav. He first stated that he had been promoted by Dim to the position of chief mechanic of the Division at Stung Hav,²³⁸² but later claimed that he “managed only two or three tractors”.²³⁸³
611. Members of various units, all ultimately under Meas Muth’s authority, served or worked at Stung Hav over its existence. Sometimes demobilised cadres from different Division 164 units were put in, new, mixed, “production units”²³⁸⁴ when they arrived at Stung Hav. Units present at Stung Hav in either an active or demobilised capacity included: units within

Regiment 63, under Secretary Sin Chorn alias Chorn,²³⁸⁵ and Deputy Secretary Kim Nhan alias Nhan;²³⁸⁶ independent Battalion 165/450;²³⁸⁷ Regiment 140 under Sun Mot;²³⁸⁸ Regiment 460 under Chhan²³⁸⁹; independent female Battalion 167²³⁹⁰ under Lim Leang²³⁹¹ including Company 32²³⁹² and Company 33;²³⁹³ Battalion 20;²³⁹⁴ Battalion 21;²³⁹⁵ Battalion 386;²³⁹⁶ Battalion 612;²³⁹⁷ and, “Bad Element” units Company 17,²³⁹⁸ Company 18,²³⁹⁹ Company 19,²⁴⁰⁰ and Company 23.²⁴⁰¹ Other Stung Hav supervisors at the regimental or battalion level named in the evidence include Hoeun,²⁴⁰² Lan,²⁴⁰³ Kan,²⁴⁰⁴ Dan,²⁴⁰⁵ and Phan.²⁴⁰⁶

612. Meetings were regularly held amongst the supervisors at Stung Hav, which were attended by the heads of the hundred-member units and fifty-member units and groups.²⁴⁰⁷ Witness Long Phansy, Battalion 612 commander in Stung Hav, described attending meetings at Stung Hav with the chiefs of the regiments at the regimental headquarters, which were held either on a daily basis or once every three days.²⁴⁰⁸ He would first meet with his company chiefs before attending these meetings.²⁴⁰⁹

3. CRIMES

ENSLAVEMENT

613. Stung Hav was a tempering site where hundreds and possibly thousands of primarily demobilised Division 164 cadres²⁴¹⁰ who had fallen under suspicion were forced to live and work in conditions that amounted to the crime of enslavement.²⁴¹¹ Exact numbers of workers at the Stung Hav site varied over the years that it operated. Meas Im testified that there were 800 workers at the Stung Hav worksite at one time.²⁴¹² Other witnesses provided evidence of hundreds of people at Stung Hav, including three entire battalions,²⁴¹³ and approximately 250 cadres demobilised from positions on the islands.²⁴¹⁴ Witnesses described “a lot of people” working at the rock quarries,²⁴¹⁵ and estimated that there were around 100 workers in individual units at various places in Stung Hav.²⁴¹⁶ For instance, at the quarries, there were different groups of workers including a truck driving group, a drilling and detonation group, and a rock transport group.²⁴¹⁷
614. Pen Sarin estimated that about 30 unskilled labourers were normally working on the road project at any time, and an additional quantity of technicians operated the machinery.²⁴¹⁸

Numbers varied, however, and an additional group of 40-50 women would also be occasionally sent to work on the road as well.²⁴¹⁹

615. The DK regime exercised various powers attached to the right of ownership over workers at Stung Hav.²⁴²⁰ The regime restricted all fundamental freedoms for the workers and forced them to labour under harsh conditions for the benefit of the regime. Workers could not speak²⁴²¹ or move about freely.²⁴²² As one victim stated “[l]iving conditions were like in a jail because we were not allowed to go anywhere besides the worksite”.²⁴²³ Witnesses observed armed guards as they worked,²⁴²⁴ and those who tried to escape would be arrested and killed.²⁴²⁵ The regime would transfer workers to other locations and workers had no option to refuse.²⁴²⁶ Some victims were sent directly to Stung Hav after falling under suspicion, from places such as Chrouy Changva,²⁴²⁷ Ream port,²⁴²⁸ and Koh Tang,²⁴²⁹ while others were transferred there from other worksites.²⁴³⁰
616. Once sent to Stung Hav,²⁴³¹ victims were forced to work every day without any rest,²⁴³² in all weather.²⁴³³ Witnesses stated that the Khmer Rouge “regarded and treated us as slaves”, and like animals.²⁴³⁴ Victims could not refuse to work for fear of punishment or death,²⁴³⁵ nor could they ask for a reduction in their workload.²⁴³⁶ “We had to leave every morning for work. Whenever they told us to stop, we stopped, and whenever they told us to work, we worked”.²⁴³⁷ Victims felt compelled to do work they did not want to do out of fear for their lives.²⁴³⁸ One witness stated, “the best way for us to stay alive was to keep silent and follow the orders”.²⁴³⁹ Another witness stated, “[t]he work was hard, but we had to endure it”.²⁴⁴⁰ Witness Nong Net felt that they were literally being worked to death: “[a]s a human being who worked in such conditions, I think that the Khmer Rouge wanted to force the people to work beyond their strength until they died. The Khmer Rouge was very cruel. They behaved like this because they wanted the people to die without using other ways”.²⁴⁴¹
617. Truckloads of workers were brought to the quarries every day²⁴⁴² to quarry, break, and transport rock.²⁴⁴³ Workers used picks, crowbars, steel clubs, and hammers.²⁴⁴⁴ Some rocks were so big that two or three people needed to carry them onto trucks, and they could break only a truckload of rocks per day.²⁴⁴⁵ As work at Stung Hav progressed, however, some rock-breaking machinery, cranes, and explosives were introduced by the Chinese.²⁴⁴⁶ Some workers described work quotas that had to be fulfilled.²⁴⁴⁷ For example, the rock transport group was expected to transport ten truckloads per day.²⁴⁴⁸ A witness assigned to quarry rock stated that if they met their quotas, the quotas were increased.²⁴⁴⁹

618. Labourers were not only required to work at the quarries and rock-breaking sites, but also on the road,²⁴⁵⁰ port construction sites,²⁴⁵¹ and pier and/or breakwater²⁴⁵² construction sites. Road construction encompassed both the road from the oil refinery²⁴⁵³ to Stung Hav, and “the up-and-down road(s) in Stung Hav Worksite”.²⁴⁵⁴ In addition, work included: loading trucks,²⁴⁵⁵ clearing stone blocks,²⁴⁵⁶ making gravel,²⁴⁵⁷ clearing forests and brush,²⁴⁵⁸ building shelters and other structures,²⁴⁵⁹ repairing military ships,²⁴⁶⁰ building railway,²⁴⁶¹ fishing,²⁴⁶² digging pits,²⁴⁶³ digging ponds,²⁴⁶⁴ digging wells,²⁴⁶⁵ growing rice and other crops,²⁴⁶⁶ and minding livestock.²⁴⁶⁷

619. Victims were generally required to work from 6 or 7 a.m. to 11 a.m.²⁴⁶⁸ and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.²⁴⁶⁹ However, there were labourers who had to wake up at 4 a.m.,²⁴⁷⁰ and worked continuously until 9.00 p.m.²⁴⁷¹ Witness Nong Net explained that workers were only afforded two ten-minute breaks per day.²⁴⁷² After the regular workday, some workers were required to farm sugar cane and cassava until 7 p.m.,²⁴⁷³ and other witnesses mention night shifts as well, including in the rain.²⁴⁷⁴ As one witness stated, “[w]e did hard labor day and night.”²⁴⁷⁵

620. Additional elements of the Khmer Rouge’s expression of ownership of those enslaved at Stung Hav is also described in the other crimes in this crime site.

PERSECUTION ON POLITICAL GROUNDS

621. Stung Hav was a tempering site,²⁴⁷⁶ and the vast majority of the enslaved labourers at Stung Hav were there because they were being persecuted on political grounds as suspected enemies.²⁴⁷⁷ While senior cadres deemed enemies were sent directly for execution or to security centres,²⁴⁷⁸ Stung Hav was utilised as a place where the DK sent suspect cadres “so they could screen them, separate them out, and find out if we were loyal to them or not.”²⁴⁷⁹ As part of this process, while at Stung Hav workers’ biographies continued to be investigated.²⁴⁸⁰ The Khmer Rouge used various euphemisms for those they had deemed under suspicion of being political “enemies”, including “bad elements”,²⁴⁸¹ and those with “bad tendencies”.²⁴⁸² Categories of military personnel suspected as enemies included all those who had come from the East Zone, Sector 37, all subordinates of purged Division

164 leaders, and those discovered to have ties to the former Lon Nol regime either personally or through family members.²⁴⁸³ At Stung Hav, “bad elements” were singled out for the hardest, and most dangerous, work of breaking and carrying rocks.²⁴⁸⁴

622. Witness Oem Sokhan described what it meant to be tempered at Stung Hav:

When they took us to be tempered, we faced problems. One problem was we did not have enough to eat. When we were sick, there was not enough medicine. We had to work long hours every day. We needed to show the truth if we were sick or not. We could only rest if we were really sick. We had to work if we were not very sick. [...] If we could not finish our assigned work, we would be arrested, mistreated, or taken to be killed.²⁴⁸⁵

623. Meas Muth was well aware of the categorisation of persons at Stung Hav into “bad” and “good” elements and personally participated in identifying and separating them. A set of Division 164 Meeting Minutes from September 1976 noted that a group that had attempted to escape Stung Hav were “bad people”.²⁴⁸⁶ The minutes then note, “Recently, the Division commander separated the bad people and sent them to stay at the different places so that they were not mixed with the good people.”²⁴⁸⁷ At that same meeting, Son Sen instructed that the leader of the group be “arrest[ed] and interrogate[d]”, and that the others be put to work while the Khmer Rouge worked to “grasp their biography clearly”.²⁴⁸⁸ Son Sen concluded “The soldier elements must be rounded up.”²⁴⁸⁹

624. Those who fell under suspicion had no opportunity to be redeemed and the harsh treatment they suffered could become even worse if they were suspected of committing various infractions.²⁴⁹⁰ If they were determined to be unreformable enemies, they were arrested or killed.²⁴⁹¹ If “anyone was accused of being an enemy, that person would be officially regarded as an enemy and be taken for execution immediately”.²⁴⁹² Other situations that could cause those already under suspicion to be arrested or killed included discovery of additional negative biographical information,²⁴⁹³ being accused of stealing,²⁴⁹⁴ being accused of being lazy,²⁴⁹⁵ or committing “mistakes” while working.²⁴⁹⁶ In so-called “life-view meetings” that the Khmer Rouge held, those who had committed mistakes, were accused of stealing, or were discovered to come from comparatively well-off backgrounds were identified, removed, and taken to be killed.²⁴⁹⁷

625. Cadres who had fallen under suspicion as enemies were generally demobilised²⁴⁹⁸ and disarmed,²⁴⁹⁹ and then transferred to a “production unit”.²⁵⁰⁰ There were noticeable differences between life as an active cadre in Division 164 and as a demobilised one living under a cloud of suspicion. In addition to being disarmed, demobilised cadres’ living conditions worsened dramatically.²⁵⁰¹
626. Demobilised cadres were stripped of their previous authority in the chain of command. “They removed us from our positions. We were no longer subordinates or superiors. We had the same status.”²⁵⁰² Indeed, being sent to work at Stung Hav was “a kind of punishment because our authority was completely undermined.”²⁵⁰³ Some hierarchy was re-created for some former cadres in the work units at Stung Hav, but nevertheless under the control of the active cadres there. Long Phansy, previously Secretary of Battalion 612, fell under suspicion and was sent to Stung Hav to “run a battalion that was building a port”.²⁵⁰⁴ He stated that it was his belief that he “was in the ranks of the military the same as before, and I still possessed a gun the same as before,”²⁵⁰⁵ even though he did not actually have access to that gun as “the weapons were kept at a warehouse.”²⁵⁰⁶ Moreover, he admitted that he was not treated as before. The Khmer Rouge “kept [him] under surveillance and examination”,²⁵⁰⁷ and eventually they decided he was a full-fledged enemy when members of the unit he supervised broke some equipment and they discovered that his “family was that of the rich, which was a target for them to eliminate” and which rendered him a “CIA-KGB”.²⁵⁰⁸ They then arrested him.²⁵⁰⁹
627. In contrast to the treatment of demobilised cadres, active cadres stationed at Stung Hav “could move around freely.”²⁵¹⁰ “They were healthier than us, and they were not demobilised either. They ate enough. My unit was demobilised because we were affiliated with Ta Chhan, so we did not get enough to eat”.²⁵¹¹ Active cadres acted as supervisors at Stung Hav. “They assigned good elements people to manage us. They said we were traitorous, but we did not know what wrongs we had done”.²⁵¹²
628. One large group of persecuted workers at Stung Hav was former East Zone cadres and Sector 37 cadres.²⁵¹³ When higher-level former East Zone cadres and Sector 37 cadres in Division 164 were purged, the ordinary soldiers under them fell under suspicion and were sent for tempering in Stung Hav.²⁵¹⁴ One witness stated that sector and company leaders were removed, whereas subordinates were sent to Stung Hav.²⁵¹⁵

629. Witness San Chuon, who was originally from the East Zone and who was sent to Stung Hav, stated that he was branded an enemy after a ship he was tasked with minding sank. In his mobile unit “every last one” of the members “was connected to tendencies like me, for breaking hoes and the like, sinking ships and the like, and being accused of being enemies.”²⁵¹⁶ The “unit” he was placed in was called “the unit of the accused, the concentration unit”.²⁵¹⁷ San Chuon was eventually imprisoned at Stung Hav, and while he was tortured and interrogated he was accused of being an “enemy” and “in league with the Yuon.”²⁵¹⁸
630. Another group of former cadres targeted for their perceived affinity for the Vietnamese was a group of Khmer Rouge soldiers who had been captured by the Vietnamese from an island off of Democratic Kampuchea’s coast that they had been defending.²⁵¹⁹ After being detained for three months, they were released back to DK.²⁵²⁰ Once they returned, they “were no longer trusted”²⁵²¹ because the Khmer Rouge “feared that the Vietnamese had educated us and we had already become KGB or Vietnamese agents”.²⁵²² They were removed from their positions,²⁵²³ and a portion of the soldiers that were captured and returned were eventually sent to work at Stung Hav.²⁵²⁴
631. In addition to demobilised cadres, some “17 April” or “New” people were also sent to work at Stung Hav.²⁵²⁵
632. Other examples of persecutorial conduct towards those sent to Stung Hav for tempering can be seen in the other crimes in this crime site.

MURDER AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES

633. Killings and disappearances of workers at Stung Hav were common.²⁵²⁶ “Stueng Hav was a site for reeducating those people before deciding whether they would be killed or be kept”.²⁵²⁷ Witness Iem Phong described one such event that he witnessed:

One night at 7.00 p.m. or 8.00 p.m., they came to take my unit chief. They did not say they were taking him to be killed. They said they took him to be re-educated. After that, his wife came to ask for her husband, and I said that he had been away a long time ago, but I did not know where they took him.²⁵²⁸

634. Multiple witnesses testified that various circumstances would result in those who were already in the perilous “tendencies” category being taken away to be killed,²⁵²⁹ or never to be seen again.²⁵³⁰ These included attempts to escape from Stung Hav.²⁵³¹ When victims disappeared or were killed, the Khmer Rouge sometimes stated that they were taken to be reeducated,²⁵³² taken for studies,²⁵³³ or sent to work at other places.²⁵³⁴ “If they suspected us, they would take us away, and we never knew where they would take us. I never saw the personnel taken away return”.²⁵³⁵ Victims detained at Stung Hav prison also disappeared.²⁵³⁶ It is likely that those who disappeared met the same fate as the persons detained with Nong Net, who were led out and killed after being arrested.²⁵³⁷
635. Approximately one week before the Vietnamese arrived, male workers from the East Zone were arrested by members of a special battalion at Stung Hav and placed on a truck.²⁵³⁸ Some of this group managed to escape into the forest.²⁵³⁹ Witness Oem Sokhan confirmed that one week before the Vietnamese arrived there was a mass killing of workers at Stung Hav that attempted to escape into the forest.²⁵⁴⁰

UNLAWFUL IMPRISONMENT AND TORTURE

636. Arrests at Stung Hav were common, and yet there was no justifiable legal basis for these arrests, nor any judicial process within which to challenge them.²⁵⁴¹ There was at least one jail in use at Stung Hav, which had been built after the Khmer Rouge took control.²⁵⁴² The jail was located in or near Stung Hav village,²⁵⁴³ and had approximately 20 cells, each one-meter across and one-and-a-half meters in length, with one prisoner per cell.²⁵⁴⁴ Suspected enemies were arrested, imprisoned, and interrogated and tortured there.
637. Witnesses San Chuon, Nong Net, and Long Phansy were all imprisoned and tortured in Stung Hav, and others heard about the prison there.²⁵⁴⁵ The events that occurred to Nong Net are a shocking example of not only the intentional persecution of victims at Stung Hav, but also what happened to anyone that protested the life-threatening conditions there. Nong Net was amongst a group of workers who rebelled against the lack of sufficient food²⁵⁴⁶ and detained their supervisor, Hoeun, who was in charge of the kitchen,²⁵⁴⁷ and whom they erroneously believed was independently making the decision to starve them.²⁵⁴⁸ “[T]he other workers and I thought that if we continued to live in such conditions, we would surely die. That was why we rebelled against Hoeun”.²⁵⁴⁹ They naively brought Hoeun to the cadres supervising Stung Hav, believing he would be reprimanded. “The reason we took Hoeun to the soldiers was because we wanted the soldiers to instruct Hoeun to give us enough food”.²⁵⁵⁰ Fifty of those workers who participated in detaining Hoeun were in turn arrested by the Khmer Rouge.²⁵⁵¹ When they stated that they “did not have enough rice to eat”²⁵⁵² to the cadres, “Khmer Rouge cadres said that Hoeun was right, and we were wrong because we rebelled”.²⁵⁵³ “They defended their associates. They said it was alright to give us insufficient food”.²⁵⁵⁴ Hoeun was released, and they were lectured about “the method of work fulfillment for the Party”.²⁵⁵⁵ They were then arrested,²⁵⁵⁶ imprisoned,²⁵⁵⁷ starved,²⁵⁵⁸ interrogated,²⁵⁵⁹ and tortured with beatings, electric shocks, suffocation, and red ants.²⁵⁶⁰ They were held for 13 days and nights,²⁵⁶¹ and were eventually taken to be killed (although according to the witness’s account the killing occurred after the jurisdictional period of the ECCC).²⁵⁶²

638. Witness Long Phansy was arrested while attending a meeting at the regimental headquarters in Stung Hav.²⁵⁶³ He testified that regimental leaders Moeurn and Lan were responsible for carrying out his arrest,²⁵⁶⁴ and that they also ran the prison and interrogated prisoners.²⁵⁶⁵ Long Phansy was interrogated regarding his “CIA-KGB” connections and his “rank” while he was tortured.²⁵⁶⁶ He was handcuffed and chained, and then beaten, whipped, and electrocuted until he fainted.²⁵⁶⁷ The restraints were abrasive, causing gangrene in some prisoners,²⁵⁶⁸ and left him with lasting scars.²⁵⁶⁹ He had to remain in his cell at all times including while relieving himself,²⁵⁷⁰ and he was shackled “all day and all night.”²⁵⁷¹ Occasionally, a vehicle would arrive at the prison at night, and prisoners would have disappeared by the following morning.²⁵⁷² Long Phansy was held in the jail at Stung Hav for approximately seven months before he was transferred to Toek Sap Security Centre.²⁵⁷³

639. Witness San Chuon, a former East Zone cadre, was arrested after being told he was going to be taken “for studies in the East Zone”.²⁵⁷⁴ He stated that prisoners were taken out of the Stung Hav jail repeatedly for beatings, whippings, interrogation, and labour while shackled.²⁵⁷⁵

In the Stueng Hav jail, hand as well as leg chains were used. When time came to go out to work, they were wrapped around the waist, and they had us hop or walk very slowly like this. When it gets to this, I can barely get the words out.²⁵⁷⁶

640. San Chuon stated that while he was imprisoned, tortured, and interrogated he was accused of being an “enemy” and “in league with the Yuon”.²⁵⁷⁷ His interrogators took notes while they tortured and interrogated him.²⁵⁷⁸ San Chuon was also eventually transferred to Toek Sap.²⁵⁷⁹
641. These three prisoners were not alone in the Stung Hav jail. Nong Net stated that he was imprisoned with approximately 50 other victims.²⁵⁸⁰ San Chuon saw approximately 10 prisoners in the jail when he was there,²⁵⁸¹ and Long Phansy stated that he saw between 20 to 30 prisoners there.²⁵⁸²
642. Victims who worked in Stung Hav were also transferred to S-21.²⁵⁸³

OTHER INHUMANE ACTS

a) Inhumane Treatment

643. The victims at Stung Hav were overworked²⁵⁸⁴ and underfed.²⁵⁸⁵ Workers were provided only two meals per day,²⁵⁸⁶ one at 11 a.m. and one at 5 p.m.,²⁵⁸⁷ consisting of two spoons of porridge²⁵⁸⁸ or a small plate of rice,²⁵⁸⁹ which was occasionally supplemented with fish.²⁵⁹⁰ Some witnesses recalled that they also received a piece of sugar cane, cassava, or sweet potato in the morning.²⁵⁹¹ Despite the starvation, if someone tried to steal food and was caught, they would have been killed:

When we were too hungry, we looked for fruit or potatoes to eat, and they would kill us if they caught us. [...] if they saw us stealing, they would beat us to death. I personally saw them arrest a man and order a child only this tall (150 centimetres tall) to beat the man. That child beat him until he lost consciousness. When he awoke, they took him away.²⁵⁹²

644. The starvation was intentional. As the supervising cadres stated to Nong Net when he and others complained that they were being starved to death: “They said it was alright to give us insufficient food”.²⁵⁹³
645. Meas Muth was aware of the poor food conditions at Stung Hav. He ordered a ship of active Division 164 cadres that had docked at Stung Hav to return to Kampong Som

“because the food at Stueng Hav was insufficient. He said that when military personnel ate insufficient food like that, how could they fight on the battlefield?”²⁵⁹⁴

646. Each labourer was provided with only two sets of clothes per year,²⁵⁹⁵ there was insufficient medical care,²⁵⁹⁶ and tight sleeping quarters.²⁵⁹⁷ Those who got sick were not allowed to rest and were accused of being lazy and “deserting the Party’s work”.²⁵⁹⁸ Victims missed their families and loved ones, but did not dare to ask to visit them.²⁵⁹⁹
647. The work itself was dangerous, and difficult, and workers were often injured or killed in work accidents.²⁶⁰⁰ For real or perceived infractions of the CPK’s draconian rules, workers were subjected to beatings²⁶⁰¹ and punishment.²⁶⁰²
648. All of those forced to work at these sites suffered from all-pervading anxiety and mental anguish. Each victim was aware that he or she had no rights, was already under suspicion, and that real or perceived missteps could mean harsh punishment or death.²⁶⁰³

F. REAM AREA WORKSITES

1. SITE DESCRIPTION

649. The Ream area worksites were the primary crop production area under Meas Muth’s control. The worksites and three execution sites that are the focus of the Ream crime site are located north and south of National Road 4 as it passes between Toek Sap in the east and what was then Kampong Som City in the west. In the present day, the sites are divided between Bet Trang Commune and Ream Commune, Prey Nob District, Preah Sihanouk Province, however Bet Trang Commune was not established until after the collapse of the DK regime.²⁶⁰⁴ The main labour at these worksites consisted of farming, primarily of rice, but also of other crops, and building water irrigation systems (e.g., dams, canals) to support that agriculture. Other work in the area included brick making, rock quarrying, and metal smelting.
650. The main dam project in the area is today commonly known as “Bet Trang Dam”. This was a large dam that had one leg proceeding roughly northeast from National Road 4²⁶⁰⁵ (sometimes referred to as “Bet Trang Dam” by itself,²⁶⁰⁶ and also referred to by various villages it passes through²⁶⁰⁷ as the Tomnob Pu Thoeang Dam/Put Thoeung Dam/Tomnob Bet Trang Dam,²⁶⁰⁸ Tumnup Au Prai/ Aur Pray/ O’Braï Dam/ Ou Prai,²⁶⁰⁹ Bobos Dam,²⁶¹⁰ or Preaek Chak Dam²⁶¹¹), and a second leg proceeding roughly southwest from National Road 4, generally referred to as the Chamnaot Ream Dam²⁶¹² (but also referred to as Tomnob Phum Chamnaot Ream Dam,²⁶¹³ or Ream Slope Dam²⁶¹⁴). The Bet Trang Dam encompassed a number of canals, and at least one concrete sluice gate, and there were other, smaller dam projects in the area as well.²⁶¹⁵ Water was meant to be held on the western side of the dam as it flowed down from the higher elevations, and was stored to irrigate crops on the eastern side during the dry season.²⁶¹⁶ Combined, the two legs of the dam were approximately four kilometres in length, roughly evenly divided by National Road 4.²⁶¹⁷ The bottom of the dam is about 25 metres wide and the top of the dam about 10 metres wide.²⁶¹⁸

651. Vast rice fields, fruit plantations, and areas for other crops were arrayed on both sides of National Road 4, some of which were serviced by the Bet Trang Dam.²⁶¹⁹
652. Wat Bet Trang was located where the northeast portion of the Bet Trang Dam met National Road 4.²⁶²⁰ It was used as a metal smelting site,²⁶²¹ and occasionally to hold meetings.²⁶²²
653. South of National Road 4, and connected to it by a road, lies the Kang Keng Airfield, today known as Sihanoukville International Airport. In addition to farming that occurred in areas all around the airfield, there were three notable worksites. First, the Cheng Heng Coconut Plantation, named after the former owner,²⁶²³ was located between the Kang Keng Airport and Ream beach,²⁶²⁴ and was approximately 10 square kilometres in size.²⁶²⁵ It was close to an Orange Plantation (Chamkar Krauch),²⁶²⁶ and to the Durian I Execution Site²⁶²⁷ (described below).
654. Second, close to the Cheng Heng Coconut Plantation, there was a brick kiln located on the road connecting National Road 4 to Ream beach (today identified as road 45).²⁶²⁸ At the brick kiln, more than 100 workers made bricks and tiles for use in Division 164's dams, floodgates, and other construction projects.²⁶²⁹
655. And third, there was a rock quarry at Au Mlou, also located between Kang Keng Airfield and Ream port, close to the Cheng Heng Coconut Plantation.²⁶³⁰ At least some of the stone extracted from this quarry were used to build the port in Stung Hav.²⁶³¹

656. Workers lived at a number of cooperatives in the area,²⁶³² including Put Thoeung Cooperative,²⁶³³ Babos Cooperative,²⁶³⁴ Koki (Korki/Korky/Kokir) Village Cooperative,²⁶³⁵ and Smach Daeng Cooperative.²⁶³⁶ Thousands of people lived in these cooperatives,²⁶³⁷ and “[p]eople in the cooperatives were divided into small teams of 15-20 people.”²⁶³⁸ Demobilised cadres sometimes lived with civilians in the cooperatives,²⁶³⁹ but workers, including demobilised cadres, lived in a number of other places as well.²⁶⁴⁰ In addition, various active Division 164 military units were based at locations around the Ream worksites and execution sites, as further described in IV. Division 164 (Former Division 3) Authority Structure above.
657. Portions of the Ream area worksites became operational almost immediately after the CPK’s 17 April 1975 victory, and farming and irrigation work was ongoing at the time that the Vietnamese overtook the area in 1979.²⁶⁴¹ The Bet Trang Dam was largely completed in two years. Construction began in June 1975 and was completed by mid- to late-1977.²⁶⁴² Other dams and canals continued to be built until the Vietnamese entered.²⁶⁴³
658. There were four principal execution sites in the Ream area. The Toek Sap Security Centre was located immediately east of the Ream worksites on National Road 4 across the Toek Sap bridge (see VIII.C.4. Toek Sap Security Centre). There were two durian plantations used as execution sites south of National Road 4 (the generic “Chamkar Thuren”, meaning “Durian Orchard” in Khmer, is sometimes used in English transliteration on the Case File²⁶⁴⁴), which were located approximately 3.5 kilometres from each other on separate sides of a hill chain northwest of Kang Keng Airfield.²⁶⁴⁵ The fourth execution site was located north of National Road 4 at the site of a former Lon Nol military facility. Proceeding south to north, additional information on the locations of these execution sites is as follows.
659. The “Durian I” execution site was located along the base of a mountain northwest of Kang Keng Airport and close to the Ream beach.²⁶⁴⁶ It covered an area of approximately 500 hectares,²⁶⁴⁷ and is sometimes called the “Cheng Heng Durian Plantation”²⁶⁴⁸ (it is adjacent to the coconut plantation of the same name,²⁶⁴⁹ as they likely previously had a common owner). The orange plantation (sometimes referred to by the transliteration “Chamkar Krauch” on the Case File) was also nearby.²⁶⁵⁰ Durian I was located next to the beach —

from which it is “easily accessible”²⁶⁵¹ — on the side of the hill chain facing Kang Keng Airfield. Durian I was not only used as an execution site for persons taken from the Ream area worksites, but also as an execution site for foreigners — including Thai and Vietnamese — captured at sea and on islands.²⁶⁵² There was a nearby dock at Moat Peam where victims brought in from the sea would sometimes be transferred to units on land before being brought to be executed.²⁶⁵³ There was also an access road to Durian I stretching down from National Road 4,²⁶⁵⁴ and there were several military checkpoints and houses located outside the plantation and along this road.²⁶⁵⁵

660. The “Durian II” execution site was also known as “Ou Trav Durian Plantation”.²⁶⁵⁶ It is on the opposite, northern, side of the hill chain in relation to the Durian I plantation, and is located much closer to National Road 4,²⁶⁵⁷ from which it is accessible by dirt road.²⁶⁵⁸ The plantation that Durian II was within covered an area of about 500 hectares.²⁶⁵⁹ There was a Khmer Rouge ammunition warehouse nearby, which was burned down subsequent to the regime.²⁶⁶⁰ Durian II was guarded by armed cadres and surrounded with “thorn bamboo”.²⁶⁶¹

661. The “C.I.” (short for “Centre d’Instruction”)²⁶⁶² execution site, also known as “C.I. 5” or “C.I. Slope”²⁶⁶³ (and sometimes transliterated on the case file as “Se I”),²⁶⁶⁴ was north of National Road 4 and west of the Bet Trang Dam, near the location of a former Lon Nol military base.²⁶⁶⁵ There were Khmer Rouge forces stationed at C.I. shortly after the Lon Nol regime fell.²⁶⁶⁶ The execution site was located up the slope from the pre-existing Lon Nol barracks.²⁶⁶⁷

2. AUTHORITY STRUCTURE

662. Meas Muth had ultimate control over all of the Ream area worksites and cooperatives.²⁶⁶⁸ A telegram to Meas Muth from his deputy, Dim, shows Meas Muth’s control of the area, stating:

Mainland situation: In Riem and Babos Py sub-districts, we have taken measures as you, brother, have decided. Five enemies managed to run into the forests. But now we have arrested all of them. [...] I have taken both political and consciousness measures. For assignment action, I have organized more patrol Units for hunting down more.²⁶⁶⁹

663. The same telegram shows that Meas Muth was kept informed of even a single death amongst the workers, and small details regarding the progress of rice cultivation in the area.²⁶⁷⁰ Meas Muth's close supervision and detailed knowledge of matters at the Ream worksites is further demonstrated by extant DK-era meeting minutes. At a meeting of Division leaders, Meas Muth reported on the quantity of different types of rice transplanted, harvested, yielded, and shipped, as well as dates on which that occurred.²⁶⁷¹ A set of Division 164 meeting minutes reflects discussion of "some strange activities among people in the Kang Keng base", as well as arrests of an individual found to be a former Lon Nol military officer,²⁶⁷² and RAK meeting minutes show that Meas Muth was present when his deputy, Dim, reported on arrests in the Kang Keng area.²⁶⁷³ Meeting minutes also show that Meas Muth reported on "thievery" at Kang Keng,²⁶⁷⁴ and the placement of artillery in Ream and Kang Keng.²⁶⁷⁵
664. Such detailed knowledge is in keeping with Son Sen's instructions to Division leaders: "[We] must go down close to lead, not just go down to meetings. [We] must go down to the rice paddies, to the rice, to the water pumps. Go down to see and to listen to reports to be able to summarize experience clearly."²⁶⁷⁶ And indeed, Meas Muth would often travel to the Ream area²⁶⁷⁷ and visit worksites²⁶⁷⁸ and cooperatives²⁶⁷⁹ there. During some of those visits, Meas Muth would give speeches at large meetings near Kang Keng airfield where he would read "confessions" of "traitors".²⁶⁸⁰ One attendee, a cadre who had been demobilised, recounted: "He [Meas Muth] sent us to work in a production unit after the meeting. In this unit we were treated like prisoners because we did not have any weapons. We were made to do farming like ordinary people."²⁶⁸¹ At meetings, Meas Muth specifically named cadres who had been based at Kang Keng and who were alleged to be traitors. Yeun, a regimental commissar at Kang Keng, was said by Meas Muth to have "insulted our revolution movement by saying that our revolution movement was a flame revolution movement and bloodthirsty movement."²⁶⁸² Similarly, Meas Muth announced that Oeng Vet, the commander of Battalion 631 stationed in Kang Keng airport, was "traitorous".²⁶⁸³ Oeng Vet was subsequently arrested²⁶⁸⁴ and sent to S-21.²⁶⁸⁵
665. Meas Muth also presided over meetings where he identified East Zone cadres as cadres who had to be demobilised because they were regarded as "bad element soldiers", and those cadres were then sent to production units in the Ream area worksites.²⁶⁸⁶ According to that witness, only Meas Muth would have had the authority to send the 1500 East Zone cadres to join the Big Production Unit at the Ream worksites.²⁶⁸⁷ A former cadre stated that the order to demobilise troops who had fallen under suspicion “clearly was issued by Ta Muth. Ta Muth’s men gathered us for a meeting and told us we would be sent to different worksites.”²⁶⁸⁸

666. Meas Muth’s name was frequently invoked by supervisors in meetings discussing the labour that had to be carried out at the Ream worksites.²⁶⁸⁹ Leaders stated that Meas Muth’s “orders must be followed, implemented, and respected; otherwise there would likely be trouble”.²⁶⁹⁰ One cooperative chief told a witness that “Ta Muth was ‘Senior Angkar’ in this area.”²⁶⁹¹ Meas Muth would send messengers to the cooperative chairpersons informing them of meetings they had to attend with him,²⁶⁹² village chiefs announced in meetings that they met with Meas Muth once a month where he told them “about Angkar’s new plans”,²⁶⁹³ and the cooperative chairpersons would also frequently meet with Kim Nhan, a Regiment 63 leader,²⁶⁹⁴ who would serve as a conduit to Meas Muth.²⁶⁹⁵

667. Moreover, Meas Muth, and indeed all others, who travelled between Kampong Som City and points east including Phnom Penh via the most direct route on National Road 4, would have necessarily passed within eyesight of many of the Ream area worksites.

668. Many witnesses testified that Sari and Chhoeun, of Regiment 63, were the primary supervisors over the Ream worksites.²⁶⁹⁶ They made regular visits to the worksites accompanied by armed bodyguards.²⁶⁹⁷ Sari led meetings at the cooperatives that discussed how the Khmer Rouge had “removed the wealthy class and kept only the worker and peasant classes”.²⁶⁹⁸ Meas Im, Meas Muth’s younger brother, also had some authority over the worksites,²⁶⁹⁹ while Launh oversaw the smelting activities at Wat Bet Trang.²⁷⁰⁰ More generally, witnesses were aware that “senior Khmer Rouge leaders” would come to inspect the dam sites, and set deadlines for completion of work, but were not sure who they were.²⁷⁰¹

669. Each cooperative had a chairperson,²⁷⁰² who were often wives of Khmer Rouge cadres,²⁷⁰³ and cooperative chairpersons often attributed decisions and instructions to Angkar. “Ta Laut always mentioned Angkar, saying Angkar wanted the brothers and sisters to put up a dam, do this, or do that”.²⁷⁰⁴ Lower-level leaders often referred to orders coming from Meas Muth as coming from the “upper echelon.”²⁷⁰⁵

670. Demobilised cadres were under the supervision of Division 164,²⁷⁰⁶ and also formed their own “production units”. For instance, Battalions 20 and 21 were mobile units in Prek Chak (near the Bet Trang Dam) composed of demobilised cadres.²⁷⁰⁷ According to one witness, Battalion 20 was for “serious offenders” whereas Battalion 21 was for “light offense prisoners.”²⁷⁰⁸ Koeun, a regimental commander and unit chief in Division 164, had approximately 300 demobilised soldiers, all men, under his command.²⁷⁰⁹
671. Although some work units were segregated between civilians and demobilised cadres, cooperative chairpersons and leaders of cadres nevertheless coordinated their work, and demobilised cadres often worked, and sometimes lived, alongside civilians.²⁷¹⁰ One witness described the mixed nature of the workers in a single mobile unit: “There were between 50-60 East zone people, 30-40 17 April people, and there were about 10-20 Khmer Krom people. The rest was all members of Battalion 310 and other soldiers who were sent from other units.”²⁷¹¹
672. In addition to demobilised cadres sent to the Ream worksites as labourers, active Division 164 cadres were posted at various places in the area for supervisory and defensive functions. Regiment 22/63 was continuously stationed at positions in the vicinity of Kang Keng Airfield beginning almost immediately following the collapse of the Lon Nol government. At first they were based southwest of the airfield,²⁷¹² but then moved to be based from the airfield itself and at a location nearby in Thma Thom village, just southeast of where the road leading down to Ream naval base meets National Road 4.²⁷¹³ (There is a dragon statue at this roundabout, which is an identifier for many witnesses.) Regiment 63 Secretaries Sin Chorn and Kim Nhan had offices there,²⁷¹⁴ and Nhan further had responsibility over the Au Mlou rock quarry as part of his work concerning logistics.²⁷¹⁵ Mom Chim alias Yan may also have been based at the Regiment 63 offices near Kang Keng for a period.²⁷¹⁶
673. At least one battalion of Regiment 21/62, consisting of approximately 150 cadres, was located near Ream Beach,²⁷¹⁷ where one of their functions was receiving prisoners captured on the islands and at sea, and bringing them for execution at the Durian I Execution

Site.²⁷¹⁸ Indeed, a witness explained that Durian I was under the control of Iek Manh, Secretary of Regiment 62, who stayed there between 1975 and 1976.²⁷¹⁹ Manh had a house in the Cheng Heng Durian Plantation where he stayed when not on the islands.²⁷²⁰ Manh was later removed and replaced by Son.²⁷²¹

3. CRIMES

ENSLAVEMENT

674. The workforce at the Ream worksites consisted of, as Meas Muth termed it, both “the army and the people”²⁷²², with those from the “army” primarily consisting of demobilised cadres who had fallen under suspicion, and therefore were no longer considered, nor treated, as active cadres (this is further described in relation to persecution).²⁷²³ Cumulatively, thousands of labourers worked at the Ream area worksites at any one time,²⁷²⁴ comprised of men, women, children, and the elderly.²⁷²⁵ One witness stated “no one was idle, meaning only three or four month old infants were idle. The grandmothers were assigned to look after the children, and the grandfathers were put to work growing crops. All the people were sent to work in the fields or to build dams.”²⁷²⁶
675. In September 1976, Meas Muth reported that 17,000 persons were engaged in rice production alone in Kampong Som,²⁷²⁷ farming 2,000 hectares.²⁷²⁸ Witness testimony confirms that thousands were engaged in rice farming in the area.²⁷²⁹ In addition to rice farming, and consistent with Son Sen’s instructions that “Division 164 absolutely must hold water in the foothills and dam fresh water creeks. [We] must make water reservoirs”,²⁷³⁰ thousands of people worked on dam and canal construction.²⁷³¹
676. At Wat Bet Trang, demobilised cadres²⁷³² were put to work destroying the temple to extract metal, after which they smelted it for use in dam construction.²⁷³³ Workers at the pagoda were subsequently forced to smelt iron and aluminium to make pots, pans and other materials during the regime.²⁷³⁴ Workers at the Cheng Heng Coconut Plantation collected coconuts,²⁷³⁵ and there was also a brick and tile making kiln nearby where workers laboured,²⁷³⁶ as well as a rock quarry at Au Mlou.²⁷³⁷
677. In addition to these tasks, victims were forced to perform a number of other types of work including growing vegetables, building structures, clearing forests, making charcoal, and making fertiliser.²⁷³⁸ They were not allowed to refuse orders to work,²⁷³⁹ and they were paid, “[n]ot a single cent.”²⁷⁴⁰

678. Workers were often moved between, and serviced, different Ream area worksites.²⁷⁴¹ Prum Sambath, when asked whether “the workers in Kang Keng, Bet Trang and Smach Daeng [were] the same people”, responded “Yes, they were. All of them worked at the rice fields in these areas.”²⁷⁴² As already described, demobilised cadres and civilians often worked alongside one another.²⁷⁴³

679. Victims at the worksites had no choice but to work,²⁷⁴⁴ were not allowed to go anywhere without permission,²⁷⁴⁵ and had to go where they were told.²⁷⁴⁶ “At that time, it was as if they measured the distance in which we had to walk.”²⁷⁴⁷ They were brought directly to the worksite in the morning, and straight back to where they stayed in the evening.²⁷⁴⁸ Witnesses stated, “[p]eople were not allowed to go anywhere freely”,²⁷⁴⁹ and “it was like we were detained in an open space.”²⁷⁵⁰ Those who tried to flee worksites “were arrested, shackled, and sent to Teuk Sab.”²⁷⁵¹ As one victim stated: “If I ran and was caught, I definitely would have been killed.”²⁷⁵²

680. At many worksites, daily quotas were set for workers,²⁷⁵³ including for child labourers.²⁷⁵⁴ At the dam sites, this quota was commonly set at three cubic metres of soil that had to be dug and carried each day,²⁷⁵⁵ although some witnesses recall the quota being set at one or two cubic metres per day, while others recall it being as high as five cubic metres per day.²⁷⁵⁶ Quotas were also applied to other types of work, for example: hoe one hectare of soil per day per group,²⁷⁵⁷ collect 1,600 coconuts per day,²⁷⁵⁸ quarry seven cubic metres of rock per day,²⁷⁵⁹ or build 20 meters of dam within ten days.²⁷⁶⁰

681. Quotas were enforced by punishment, and often this punishment took the form of additional work: “They pushed us to finish. If we could not finish, they did not allow us to take a rest.”²⁷⁶¹ Another frequent form of punishment for failure to finish assignments was the withholding of food. One witness explained that if workers were not able to finish their assigned work, they were told: “You did not finish the assigned tasks, are wasteful, and do not pay attention. If you cannot complete the assigned tasks today, you will get no food: there is no need for you to get food or water.”²⁷⁶² Sometimes it was both more work and less food: “They absolutely required us to complete the assigned task within the day without fail. In the case the quota was not met they permitted neither rest nor food.”²⁷⁶³ “If anyone failed to complete the quota by that time that person had to continue working through the night. The person would not be given any food until the work was fully completed.”²⁷⁶⁴

682. One victim described how the quota was enforced at the Cheng Heng Coconut Plantation: “At the meetings they said ‘Angkar has set a quota. Each person has to pick up 200 ripe coconut fruits per day.’ If we could not fulfil that quota, they would punish us by putting us to stand under the scorching sun or under the rain, or they would assign us to do hard labour.”²⁷⁶⁵ Failing to fulfil quotas could also mean execution: “Only those who could fulfil the [work quota] remained alive. Those who were lazy, sick, or opposed to carrying dirt were removed and vanished.”²⁷⁶⁶ Workers, including children, were occasionally beaten to make them work.²⁷⁶⁷
683. The workers were guarded by cadres²⁷⁶⁸ and forced to work day and night,²⁷⁶⁹ without any days of rest.²⁷⁷⁰ They were sent to the worksites at around 4 or 5 a.m. and worked until 11 a.m. Work resumed at 1 p.m. and lasted until 6 or 7 p.m.²⁷⁷¹ However, some workers had to rise as early as 3 a.m.,²⁷⁷² and some had to do a third shift of work later in the evening, sometimes until 11 p.m. or later.²⁷⁷³ “There was no break. We worked all week every month.”²⁷⁷⁴
684. Regardless of how tired or hungry labourers became, they were forced to keep working, often until they collapsed.²⁷⁷⁵ The wife of a cooperative chief confirmed: “We could not just rest at home and claim [...] to be sick. We stayed in the unit.”²⁷⁷⁶ Anyone who refused to work, tried to leave, complained, or was considered lazy, disappeared or was killed.²⁷⁷⁷ “[W]e did not have the right to make any complaints. We worked very hard and were very thin”.²⁷⁷⁸ Cooperative leadership were required to report on workers who made “mistakes” or were sick so that they “would be re-educated”.²⁷⁷⁹ From just one work site, “[e]ach month there were about 10 people who did something wrong and were taken there. [...] The most common mistakes were related to work. For [instance], some people were lazy at work or stole things.”²⁷⁸⁰

685. Work was coerced out of the victims through fear that not to work, or not working enough, meant punishment or death. If they refused to work “[t]hey would have taken us to be killed.”²⁷⁸¹ Witnesses repeatedly expressed this view:

- “I simply followed the order so that I could live. Whatever work that was assigned to me I had to complete it”;²⁷⁸²
- “I did not like it. I worked because I wanted to survive”;²⁷⁸³
- “I was not satisfied with the tasks, yet we did them out of a fear of death. We were not paid, nor were we given sufficient rice”;²⁷⁸⁴ and
- “I tried [my] best to survive as I did not want them to send me to Teuk Sap.”²⁷⁸⁵

686. Workers at the Ream area worksites were often transferred to other worksites as well, including Stung Hav.²⁷⁸⁶

PERSECUTION ON POLITICAL GROUNDS

687. Almost everyone forced to do labour at the Ream area worksites was there because Meas Muth and forces under his control considered them to be “enemies” of the CPK, and therefore in need of ideological “tempering”.²⁷⁸⁷ Thus, the selection of who would be forced to live and work under the egregious circumstances in the Ream area worksites was itself a persecutorial act. Once designated among the categories of people who were suspect and in need of tempering, victims lived on a knife’s edge. For the smallest mistake, the discovery of unfavourable information about them, or for no reason at all except the capricious whim of those who had complete control over them, victims could find themselves punished, arrested, or killed.²⁷⁸⁸ As one victim stated, “I was spared. But I was under close watch. If I had made a mistake, they would have immediately accused me.”²⁷⁸⁹ Another explained: “If we did not fully believe in them or if [we] wavered away from them even a little bit, they would remove us immediately.”²⁷⁹⁰

688. Enemies were designated by various terms such as “suspicious” people,²⁷⁹¹ “bad elements”,²⁷⁹² those with “problems or bad trends”,²⁷⁹³ “no-good elements”,²⁷⁹⁴ “traitors”,²⁷⁹⁵ persons “linked to an unclean tendency”,²⁷⁹⁶ and persons “linked to political tendency”.²⁷⁹⁷ Referring to a cooperative near the Bet Trang Dam, one witness stated: “Most of the people sent to Put Te Cooperative were considered to be involved [with traitors].”²⁷⁹⁸ One witness explained his understanding of the CPK’s paranoid taxonomy of enemies like this:

The ‘infiltrated enemy’ referred to persons within the ranks who did not take their assigned tasks seriously. ‘Consciousness enemies’ were persons who were reluctant to work and, therefore, could not complete their assigned tasks. ‘Bad elements’ referred to persons who had worked in the previous regime or who had relatives who used to work in the previous regime.²⁷⁹⁹

689. Those persecuted by being sent to live and work in the Ream worksites included: cadres who had been deemed “no good elements” for different reasons; “17 April” people; and Khmer Krom. Brak Sokha described a work unit composed of persons from these groups: “There were between 50-60 East [Z]one people, 30-40 17 April people, and there were about 10-20 Khmer Krom people. The rest was all members of Battalion 310 and other soldiers who were sent from other units.”²⁸⁰⁰

a) Demobilised Cadres

690. Cadres considered to be “no-good elements” from Division 164 were demobilised and placed within units that worked at the Ream worksites for tempering.²⁸⁰¹ This policy was stated explicitly by RAK military leaders:

Ta Vey who was the commander of [an] artillery unit called a meeting where other soldiers and I attended. We were told that we were to be transferred from the unit to be placed in a mobile unit at Prek Chak because our unit contained no-good elements and that we had to be sent for tempering.²⁸⁰²

691. As a result of these policies, “thousands of troops, [were] [...] demobilised. The demobilised troops were assigned to work in different production units and were sent to different work spearheads.”²⁸⁰³ One witness, referring to a site near the Bet Trang Dam, stated: “Preaek Chak had been a site where suspicious people were sent for a long time. [...] Some military officers who had a bad consciousness or did not have absolute determination were sent to Preaek Chak”.²⁸⁰⁴ Once branded suspect and demobilised, members of Division 164 would rarely be permitted to return to becoming active cadres,²⁸⁰⁵ but they could be arrested or killed, and at least for some, their biographies continued to be investigated.²⁸⁰⁶

692. A cadre who was demobilised explained how “bad elements” would be sent to work at Ream area worksites:

[T]hey withdrew confidence from me, I was considered as a suspected element, an unclean element in the unit. So they removed me and sent me to the rice field near the orange plantation. [...] [T]hey withdrew confidence from me and sent me to do rice farming because they considered me as a suspected element of KGB [and] of the Vietnamese.

[...]

Those who were linked to bad elements would be put in one group. For instance, if I had parents, had a father who was linked to American CIA, “Yuon’s” or KGB agents, then, I was no longer trusted. Subsequently, I would be removed into a mobile unit which was tasked with working the fields near Bo Bos, to the north of Kang Keng and Smach Daeng. That was the place to house those who were linked to the tendency of [the] former regime.²⁸⁰⁷

693. As described above in relation to the authority structure for the Ream worksites, Meas Muth was actively involved in the targeting of cadres considered “no-good elements” there. Witness Long Sen attended a meeting where Meas Muth announced “that all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers; therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division.”²⁸⁰⁸ Those soldiers were then transferred to the Big Production Unit at the Ream area worksites.²⁸⁰⁹ A set of Division 164 Meeting Minutes notes a view that “there are bad movements in the military” in Kang Keng.²⁸¹⁰ Meas Muth presided over meetings in which cadres were demobilised and sent to the worksites,²⁸¹¹ as well as over Ream area worksite meetings in which he identified various “traitors” such as Chhan and Dim, read their “confessions”, and listed “the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level.”²⁸¹² At least some of those in attendance were demobilised cadres who Meas Muth then sent to work in production units.²⁸¹³

694. Included among the categories of suspect cadres sent to work at Ream worksites were those originally from the East Zone,²⁸¹⁴ those from Sector 37,²⁸¹⁵ those whose family members had connections to the Lon Nol regime,²⁸¹⁶ those who were captured by the Vietnamese and then released back to Democratic Kampuchea,²⁸¹⁷ and others.²⁸¹⁸ While more senior cadres who were considered enemies would be sent to security centres or killed after removal (see, generally, VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164), their subordinates were usually rendered suspect, demobilised, and sent to worksites.²⁸¹⁹ Many witnesses noticed this pattern. “It is true that when our superior was accused of being the traitor all his subordinates would automatically be perceived as the traitors.”²⁸²⁰ “After [Dim’s] arrest, many companies and units were collected to work at Kang Keng.”²⁸²¹ “My commanders were sent to study and disappeared. We ordinary soldiers were transported to the mainland and brought into mobile units to farm rice.”²⁸²² “When a group chief had been arrested, his subordinates would be sent to grow rice.”²⁸²³

695. Cadres who had been demobilised were often placed into “production units” that were forced to labour in the Ream area worksites.²⁸²⁴ The “Big Production Unit at Puth Te” (near the Bet Trang Dam) included at least 1,500 demobilised cadres from the East Zone.²⁸²⁵ Another witness explained that “those in trouble would be taken to work at the production unit.”²⁸²⁶

696. While some of those cadres who had been demobilised and sent to work in the Ream area worksites were placed in units that mimicked military structure,²⁸²⁷ it was clear that they were no longer considered equals with active cadres. As one witness stated: “We were not treated as soldiers anymore. We were treated as sub-citizen[s] for we had some affiliation with the old regime. Ordinary citizens were allowed to ask permission to go to this or that place, but we were not.”²⁸²⁸ They were sometimes escorted to the worksites by armed cadres,²⁸²⁹ their weapons were confiscated,²⁸³⁰ they received less food than when they were active,²⁸³¹ and the leadership “stopped trusting us”.²⁸³² As one cadre said, when he was demobilised, “I did not hold any position. I was an ordinary citizen”²⁸³³ and indeed, they were often sent to work alongside civilians at the worksites.²⁸³⁴

697. One witness starkly contrasted the situations before and after he was demobilised:

We had no fears before Dim and Chhan were arrested because we were the full-right soldiers. We had rifles to use, and we could move anywhere. However, after the announcement of the arrests of Dim, Chhan, and the Battalion and Regiment Commanders (namely Ta Ham and Ta Vet) was made we became frightened. We did not know when they would come to arrest us.

[...]

My life changed in many ways. First, they did not give us sufficient food. Second, they made us overwork. We worked from 0500 or 0600 to 1100, and we resumed at 1230. We would continue working until 1700. We were ordered to build dams, dig up canals and do farming. We were not paid for our work. We were ordered to work 30 days per month without rest. Third, they spied on us regularly; there were spies everywhere. Lastly, they took away all of our freedom; they curtailed our freedom of movement. We could only stay at the place to which we were designated. At night time, we had to stay in long halls which they built for about 10 to 20 people.²⁸³⁵

698. Demobilised cadres at the Ream area worksites “worked under the surveillance of armed guards”²⁸³⁶ who were active cadres,²⁸³⁷ i.e., the “good elements”,²⁸³⁸ who “were well-fed and armed”.²⁸³⁹ The active cadres at the worksites “could move around freely” whereas the demobilised cadres “constantly stayed wherever they placed us”.²⁸⁴⁰

b) 17 April People

699. “New people” or “17 April people” sent from Kampong Som and other areas were among those also considered to be enemies and sent to work at the Ream area worksites.²⁸⁴¹ One witness, Brak Sokha, described how there were “30-40 ‘17 April’ people” within his mobile unit.²⁸⁴² Another witness, Pak Sok, was assigned to work with “new people” in the Ream area.²⁸⁴³ One witness incisively observed: “I also noted that there was discrimination. The ‘base people’ were treated differently from the ‘new people’ or the ‘17 April people’. And we could not do anything about this.”²⁸⁴⁴

c) Khmer Krom

700. Also targeted by being sent to work at Ream area worksites were Khmer Krom.²⁸⁴⁵ Khmer Krom were targeted because “[t]hey were accused by the Khmer Rouge that they had connection with the Yuon as they lived in Vietnam.”²⁸⁴⁶
701. Additionally, demobilised cadres, “17 April” people, and Khmer Krom were persecuted through killings and enforced disappearances as described in the following section.

MURDER, EXTERMINATION AND ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCES

702. Arrests, disappearances, and killings occurred frequently at the Ream area worksites.²⁸⁴⁷ “During the day, they ordered people to work. They carried out the arrests only at night. One or two families disappeared each night.”²⁸⁴⁸ Multiple witnesses described people in their units being taken away and not returning.²⁸⁴⁹ “Ordinary people were taken away one after another. They were taken away without any explanations, and were not told about their mistakes. Sometimes, they were told that Angkar needed to meet them”.²⁸⁵⁰ Other times, people were purportedly taken to hospitals and never returned,²⁸⁵¹ or were said to have gone to study or to be re-educated.²⁸⁵² “My eldest son lived with me for about two months before he was sent to live in a children’s unit. We were told that he was [sent] to study. After that, he disappeared.”²⁸⁵³ Witnesses were not in doubt as to the fate of those who disappeared: “[E]verybody knew that if the Khmer Rouge took you away, you were finished.”²⁸⁵⁴

703. Meeting minutes on the Case File reflect Dim advising attendees, including Meas Muth, that arrests had been conducted frequently in Kang Keng,²⁸⁵⁵ and other Division 164 minutes record that a former Lon Nol soldier had been “discovered and arrested” in the area.²⁸⁵⁶ And indeed, witnesses attest that arrests of one, two, or three families occurred nightly in Ream and Smach Daeng.²⁸⁵⁷ “Since arrests took place every single night, we were constantly afraid, and we always wondered when our turn would come.”²⁸⁵⁸
704. After removal “no one returned. Only their wives, their widows, remained”.²⁸⁵⁹ It was the understanding of many witnesses that those taken away were killed,²⁸⁶⁰ and that death was the punishment for a variety of infractions. “At that time if someone broke a plough or rake during their work, they would be considered to be an enemy and would be taken and killed.”²⁸⁶¹ One witness observed that: “those who were lazy, sick, or opposed to carrying dirt were removed and vanished”.²⁸⁶² “Inactive” workers would be criticised at evening meetings, and repeated criticism meant death,²⁸⁶³ as did perceived disloyalty to Angkar.²⁸⁶⁴ One witness recalls that anyone who was perceived as opposing Angkar was “regarded as an enemy and was killed”.²⁸⁶⁵ Workers could also be executed for simply complaining about the work load or the work conditions,²⁸⁶⁶ being accused of committing “moral offences”, such as speaking to members of the opposite sex during work,²⁸⁶⁷ or for eating food without permission.²⁸⁶⁸
705. Many “17 April” people disappeared: “many of 17 April people coming from the cities and market towns who had never before done such work disappeared”.²⁸⁶⁹ The people were starving, but if they “stole something or competed to get food, he or she would disappear.”²⁸⁷⁰ Witness Ung Chanthea, who lived in a cooperative of 17 April people, “saw the chief of the Khmer Rouge village militia fling a child around one or two years old against the trunk of a palm tree and the child died instantly.”²⁸⁷¹ He also saw a 17 April person tortured to death by the unit chief, who placed the victim’s head through a basket with a hole cut in it, and then spun the basket which cut into the victim’s neck “until the person’s throat was cut and the person died instantly.”²⁸⁷² While the unit chief was torturing the victim, he interrogated him “to see if that person had ever been involved with any Lon Nol Soldier or had been a Lon Nol soldier.”²⁸⁷³

706. One witness who lived in Kokir Village tells of how the Khmer Rouge searched villages for those they believed to be secret Lon Nol agents, also known as “Second Bureau spies”.²⁸⁷⁴ The witness describes how “[s]ome villagers were arrested and they disappeared. Anyone accused of being a Bureau 2 agent or spy disappeared. They were not imprisoned. They disappeared and did not return home”.²⁸⁷⁵
707. Multiple witnesses describe disappearances of Khmer Krom (or those perceived to be Khmer Krom or to have an affinity for Vietnam) at different times, involving a consistent pattern of Khmer Rouge registering Khmer Krom under the guise that they would be “returned” to Vietnam. Witness Snguon Chhum was in Bet Trang and testified that in late 1975,²⁸⁷⁶ the unit chief²⁸⁷⁷ “told all the Khmer Krom to register their names so that they could return to their home villages.”²⁸⁷⁸ About two months²⁸⁷⁹ after the registration, “two Khmer Krom families left one night, three other families the following night, and two or three other families the night after. Those families kept leaving one after another.”²⁸⁸⁰ In addition, a number of other families of persons who were not Khmer Krom but who had registered their names in the hope of going to Vietnam also disappeared.²⁸⁸¹ “All of the family members, including women and children, disappeared.”²⁸⁸² The families were all taken away at night, and in the morning the families that lived in the houses with them²⁸⁸³ “whispered to others that this family or that family had been taken away the previous night.”²⁸⁸⁴ The families were taken away by cadres accompanied the cooperative chairman.²⁸⁸⁵
708. Snguon Chhum saw some of the families as they were leaving and stated: “The people who were called to leave looked as if their souls had departed from their bodies; they could not even walk properly.”²⁸⁸⁶ He was not in doubt as to what had happened to the families he saw taken away:

[T]hose people must have been being taken to be killed. If they were alive, they would have come to visit me because we had lived together. Several families disappeared; none of them returned. If they were alive, they, either the wives or husbands, would have come to visit us.²⁸⁸⁷

709. Witness Prom Kem (Snguon Chhum’s cousin)²⁸⁸⁸ saw similar events transpire in 1976 in Kokir Village, Ream Commune.²⁸⁸⁹ He recalled that his cooperative chairman and deputy chairwoman instructed the Khmer Krom to identify themselves so they could return to Vietnam.²⁸⁹⁰ “The Kampuchea Krom were happy with this news. They felt that when returning to Kampuchea Krom or Vietnam, their food would be better. They put their hands up and registered.”²⁸⁹¹ Prom Kem stated that there was a “special military unit” at the meeting that registered them.²⁸⁹² Those that had registered, consisting of about 100 “men, women, the young, the old, and the sick”²⁸⁹³ from his cooperative,²⁸⁹⁴ then arrived on the day they were appointed to leave and boarded Chinese-made trucks that were waiting for them, driven by men dressed in military uniforms.²⁸⁹⁵ Some of these people were not Khmer Krom, but pretended to be so that they could go to Vietnam.²⁸⁹⁶ Three days later, a truck returned and distributed clothes, which were so scarce at the time, that given “the choice of either gold or clothes, then they would have taken the clothes.”²⁸⁹⁷ The people in the village immediately recognised the clothes because each person had very few clothes, and worked alongside each other every day.²⁸⁹⁸

After the villagers received the clothes, they immediately were able [to] identify the clothes. They knew the clothes had belonged to this or that person who had transported by truck to Vietnam. The people did not dare talk about this or let it be heard by outsiders. They discussed this matter only among themselves. We did not dare to let soldiers or the cooperative chairman know that we recognized those clothes.²⁸⁹⁹

710. Prom Kem testified that there were no survivors: “All the Khmer Krom put their hands up. No one returned home, and no one survived.”²⁹⁰⁰
711. In May or April 1977,²⁹⁰¹ Witness Kuy Sambath observed similar events. Once again, Khmer Krom were invited to register to “return” to Vietnam,²⁹⁰² and once again, a number of Khmer falsely claimed to be Khmer Krom, hoping they would be sent to Vietnam.²⁹⁰³

Indeed, Kuy Sambath estimated that only 20 percent of the group was actually Khmer Krom: “As with the other people, they were ordinary people who hoped to liberate themselves from the Democratic Kampuchea regime and to live in better conditions.”²⁹⁰⁴ After the registration had taken place, an announcement was made that trucks would be sent to carry people to Vietnam the next day.²⁹⁰⁵ Kuy Sambath observed six Chinese-made trucks that “were the military ones from Kampong Som Province”²⁹⁰⁶ arrive at Smach Daeng village on National Road 4 to transport the people.²⁹⁰⁷ It appeared that not only those who had registered, but anyone who wished could board. According to Kuy Sambath: “[T]hey announced that the trucks had come to transport the people to Vietnam and that those who wished to go there could get on them.”²⁹⁰⁸ He estimated that about 360 people boarded the trucks,²⁹⁰⁹ including “the old, the young, men, women, children and the new-born babies with their mothers”,²⁹¹⁰ and “[a] number of families were from Bet Trang Commune”.²⁹¹¹

712. Later, as he was transplanting rice in Toek Sap (west of Toek Sap canal, i.e., on the opposite bank from the Toek Sap Security Centre), Kuy Sambath observed the trucks travel down National Road 4, cross Toek Sap bridge, and turn left towards Toek Sap Security Centre.²⁹¹² Although he could not see the trucks once they turned off of National Road 4, he “could hear their engines and could see the dust being blown across the road.”²⁹¹³ The same trucks then returned to the Smach Deng cooperative that evening around 6 p.m.,²⁹¹⁴ and the cadres aboard distributed the clothes of those who had been taken away, saying that “the boats that had carried those Kampuchea Krom people sank at sea and that all the passengers on board had drowned.”²⁹¹⁵ Kuy Sambath was not fooled:

We knew that this was not true and that the Kampuchea Krom people had been taken to be killed. Everyone knew this, but no-one dared to say anything. I also knew this. We did not dare to refuse to take the clothes. Anyway, the ‘base people’ supported these events. The people who had been taken to be killed were the ‘new people’. The ‘base people’ told us that there was no need for us to search for the enemies elsewhere. The registered people were all Angkar’s enemies.²⁹¹⁶

713. After 1979, Witness Kuy Sambath went to the area in Toek Sap where he saw the trucks headed and saw “a great number of pits and graves” as well as about 1,000 skeletons including children’s and babies’ skulls.²⁹¹⁷ Relatedly, Witness Snguon Chhum stated that, in addition to the events he observed in 1975, he knew a family—husband, wife, and children—that had also left later whose wife was from Kampuchea Krom and who travelled through Smach Deng.²⁹¹⁸ He added: “In fact, none of the families who went away could escape. [...] I knew some of the families well; they were local people. However, after they were taken away, none of them returned.”²⁹¹⁹

714. Multiple other witnesses also provided evidence regarding the transfer of arrested persons from the Ream area worksites to Toek Sap²⁹²⁰ (see also VIII.C.4. Toek Sap Security Centre). “At that time it was commonly known to the villagers that when someone was arrested and taken from the Pu Thoeang Village Cooperative, they would be taken and killed at CI, but if someone was arrested from the village cooperative of Babos, they would be taken to be killed at Tuek Sab.”²⁹²¹ One witness described how Khmer Krom in his mobile unit were taken away and brought to Toek Sap after 4-5 months,²⁹²² and how “[w]hoever was sent to Teuk Sap never survived.”²⁹²³ Another witness stated: “The period of intense killings began in early 1976, when the Khmer Rouge took civilians from the cooperatives and villages to be killed at Tuek Sab.”²⁹²⁴ “[A]fter being sent to be imprisoned there, they would never return. They all were taken to be executed.”²⁹²⁵

715. In addition to Toek Sap Security Centre, victims were also arrested from the Ream worksites and sent to S-21 (see, generally, VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre),²⁹²⁶ and to other execution sites in the area.²⁹²⁷ Three of the largest execution sites within the Ream worksites area were Durian I, Durian II, and C.I.

a) Durian I Execution Site

716. The evidence shows that Durian I execution site was used as a place to kill those captured on the islands or at sea (see VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea), and also as an execution site for “enemies” brought from the surrounding Ream worksites.²⁹²⁸ Civilians and “17 April” persons were known to be brought there to be killed.²⁹²⁹ “[O]rdinarily no one could have survived after being sent there.”²⁹³⁰

717. Following the DK regime, witnesses saw burial pits and graves²⁹³¹ and bodies buried under the durian trees as fertiliser.²⁹³² One witness describes seeing two mass graves.²⁹³³ The first pit was thigh deep and about four metres in diameter.²⁹³⁴ Four or five skeletal remains were on the ground and the pit was covered with dirt.²⁹³⁵ Another observed “at least four pits surrounding each durian tree. The farm was so big. [...] There was one corpse in each pit.”²⁹³⁶ A witness concluded that many of the victims were killed by being struck in the head with hoes, based on the pieces of hoes he saw scattered around Durian I.²⁹³⁷

718. Witness Pak Sok, who lived near Durian I, testified that the Regiment 62 cadres told him about the executions they carried out there.²⁹³⁸ “I asked them and those soldiers told me that the executions really happened.”²⁹³⁹

b) Durian II Execution Site

719. It was well known by the people in the area that Durian II was used for executions.²⁹⁴⁰ Lak Saphan testified that “[a]ll the base people there knew that there were two killing sites”, Durian II, and Toek Sap.²⁹⁴¹ He testified that Lon Nol soldiers were brought to these two killing sites after the Khmer Rouge took power,²⁹⁴² and that some prisoners brought in through Kampong Som Port were also taken to be killed at Durian II.²⁹⁴³
720. Chairwomen of nearby cooperatives would announce in meetings that “[t]hose two or three families were taken to be killed at the durian plantation” in order to scare workers into not committing “mistakes”.²⁹⁴⁴ A witness heard the chairwoman of Babos Cooperative²⁹⁴⁵ say that the people arrested from that cooperative would be sent to Toek Sab, while people arrested from Pu Thoeang Cooperative and other cooperatives would be sent to Durian II²⁹⁴⁶ and C.I.²⁹⁴⁷
721. Victims from nearby cooperatives were taken to Durian II for various infractions, such as digging up and eating potatoes without permission.²⁹⁴⁸ After executions at the durian plantation, cadres would bring the victims’ clothes back to the villages to distribute.²⁹⁴⁹ When cadres took victims to Durian II, “they took entire families, including parents and children.”²⁹⁵⁰
722. Witness Ung Chanthea, who lived in a cooperative in Prey Nob village, testified that many members of his family were arrested one day when a cadre came and “tied their hands behind their backs, put them in a vehicle, and took them away.”²⁹⁵¹ In addition, he saw arrests of victims three other times.²⁹⁵² “All of them were arrested and their hands were tied behind their backs [...] Most of those arrested were 17 April people who grew rice [...] none of those people came back.”²⁹⁵³ He heard from cadres “that they took all of those people to Chamkar Thuren (The Durian Plantation) at Prey Nob [...] No one could escape from that place.”²⁹⁵⁴

723. Witnesses reported seeing burial pits and graves at Durian II after the fall of the DK regime.²⁹⁵⁵ A witness who visited Durian II after 1979 described walking past “pits full of dead bodies. We saw bones and skulls all over the ground there and there was a strong odour”.²⁹⁵⁶ A second witness visiting Durian II in May 1979 saw “many bones, skulls, and clothes scattered all over the ground.”²⁹⁵⁷ There were pits surrounding each durian tree, and there was one body or more in each pit.²⁹⁵⁸ Some bodies had their hands tied with nylon strings.²⁹⁵⁹ Witness Kuy Nen saw scraps of black and mixed-coloured clothing²⁹⁶⁰ and believed that the coloured clothing belonged to base people from the cooperatives.²⁹⁶¹ The area where the graves and bones were observed had not been used as a graveyard prior to the DK, nor was it an area for fighting with the Vietnamese, indicating that the remains were victims of the Khmer Rouge.²⁹⁶²

c) C.I. Execution Site

724. Witness Pak Sok recalled that in 1976, Division 164 cadres “moved all 17 April people from Smach Daeng Village, Koki Village, and Chamnaot Ream alias Bet Trang to be killed at Chamnaot Ream.”²⁹⁶³ He explained that he had been demobilised and sent to farm rice alongside civilians in the area.²⁹⁶⁴ He noticed that many of his fellow workers began to disappear, and when he asked some cadres what had happened to them they told him: “Those 17 April People were transported [in] two or three trucks and killed at Se-I site.”²⁹⁶⁵ The cadres told him that about three truckloads of people had been taken to be killed at C.I.²⁹⁶⁶ Other evidence corroborates that 17 April people were taken to be killed at C.I.²⁹⁶⁷ Pak Sok also testified that former East Zone cadres were executed near Chamnaot Ream (Ream Slope) after Dim was arrested.²⁹⁶⁸
725. The chairwoman of a nearby cooperative told one witness that persons arrested from Pu Thoeang Village Cooperative were commonly taken to be killed at C.I.,²⁹⁶⁹ and indeed multiple witnesses stated that relatives of theirs were arrested from Pu Thoeung cooperative or nearby cooperatives and brought to C.I. to be killed. Witness Kuy Nen’s younger sibling was arrested in Pu Thoeang Cooperative and taken to be killed at C.I.²⁹⁷⁰

Relatives of Witness Sao Men were similarly taken from worksites near the Bet Trang Dam and brought to C.I.²⁹⁷¹ “Those taken there [...] never came back.”²⁹⁷²

726. After the collapse of the DK regime, many locals who knew about the killings at C.I. went to excavate the site, looking for gold.²⁹⁷³ During this search, they unearthed many human skulls and several mass graves²⁹⁷⁴ and, as a consequence, skulls were visible from the road and “spread all over the ground”.²⁹⁷⁵ One witness recalled visiting the site in 1979 and seeing two grave pits, the first approximately 15 square metres, and the second 10 square metres.²⁹⁷⁶ Another witness recalls that in 1983 and 1984 he saw two large, thigh-deep graves holding about eight to ten corpses.²⁹⁷⁷ The same witness stated that the site also contained around 100 smaller graves.²⁹⁷⁸ These smaller graves contained between one and five corpses each,²⁹⁷⁹ and scattered around the graves were skulls, bones, civilian clothes, and army uniforms.²⁹⁸⁰ When a witness went to visit the site in early 1979, there was still a very strong odour from the decaying corpses.²⁹⁸¹

OTHER INHUMANE ACTS (INHUMANE TREATMENT)

727. In addition to the enslavement and executions described above, persons living and working within the Ream area worksites were subjected to additional forms of appalling treatment that often resulted in death. “People died every day in the cooperative.”²⁹⁸² For those that were able to survive, their lives were wretched. “It was miserable. Everyone faced miseries. We were tempered. We had to struggle extremely hard to survive.”²⁹⁸³ One witness summarised the conditions they faced:

The people were hungry, tired, sick, thin and pale, suffering from malaria and other diseases. They forced the people [to] work until they could no longer walk. They slept on mats. Sick people who could not work were taken to be killed. The slogan was “To keep you is no gain. To remove you is no loss!”²⁹⁸⁴

728. The case file is replete with evidence of the lack of sufficient food resulting in starvation. Rations were rarely sufficient.²⁹⁸⁵ “People were just skin and bones; their heads were all bones.”²⁹⁸⁶ Workers were typically only provided with a small portion of rice gruel to eat, twice a day.²⁹⁸⁷ “We were rationed to only watery porridge two times per day. We were provided a small plate of watery porridge per time. I was extremely hungry during that time; I became so exhausted that I could not hold a hoe to dig earth.”²⁹⁸⁸ Victims at the

Ream worksites “did not want to work there, but they had no choice. They were emaciated because they did not have enough to eat.”²⁹⁸⁹

729. Although people were starving, those that took food without permission would be arrested or executed.²⁹⁹⁰ Moreover, the Khmer Rouge would sometimes punish workers by reducing their already meagre food rations if they could not complete their work quotas²⁹⁹¹ or were too sick to work.²⁹⁹² “I became emaciated. I was living in fear. However I tried my best to survive as I did not want them to send me to Teuk Sap.”²⁹⁹³
730. The lack of sufficient food was compounded by the arduous labour that was required of the workers every day,²⁹⁹⁴ much of which was done without the aid of machinery or livestock, particularly when building dams.²⁹⁹⁵ “Both the young and elderly were exhausted and hungry every day.”²⁹⁹⁶ Nevertheless, victims toiled until they collapsed out of fear.²⁹⁹⁷ “I lost weight to the point that I could barely walk. But I had to work. Otherwise I would have been killed.”²⁹⁹⁸
731. Due to the inadequate living and working conditions, people were often sick and died from illness.²⁹⁹⁹ Women who had just given birth were forced to do strenuous labour resulting in sickness and death.³⁰⁰⁰ A witness who worked at the Coconut Plantation stated that “[a]lmost all the children in that area suffered from malaria”, resulting in some deaths.³⁰⁰¹ While seriously ill persons were sometimes sent to rudimentary medical facilities,³⁰⁰² many peoples’ illnesses went untreated and they were forced to continue working.³⁰⁰³ Many compelled themselves to continue working through illnesses due to the harsh consequences, including execution, that could result from claiming illness.³⁰⁰⁴ “They said that those who were sick, tired, and could not work were lazy, pretended to be sick, and served enemy tricks. Those people were taken to be killed in the forest behind the cooperative.”³⁰⁰⁵ Of those few who were sent to medical facilities, some never returned,³⁰⁰⁶ and “many people died daily” there.³⁰⁰⁷
732. Victims were also physically mistreated by those who had power over them. Witness Nav Sokhan described seeing four women taken into a hut and hearing later from others that they had been raped.³⁰⁰⁸ Supervisors beat workers, including children.³⁰⁰⁹ “He beat all of the children in the unit. He did not beat me with a simple stick, but with a ray’s tail. This caused my whole back to bleed.”³⁰¹⁰ One witness stated that Chhoeun, the Division 164

deputy and supervisor of the Bet Trang forced labour sites, would beat soldiers and civilians “without compromise”, including with a whip.³⁰¹¹ More physically demanding work was also used as punishment. For example, one witness, who was at first a cook, was assigned to dig two cubic metres of canal per day as a punishment for being “disloyal to Angkar” after she cooked extra rice.³⁰¹² “It was extremely hard labour. We worked without any rest.”³⁰¹³

733. People living in the cooperatives lived in constant fear of being arrested and executed.³⁰¹⁴

“For us, with every small mistake we made, they pressured and victimized us in every way, and they could educate, criticize, and refashion us in the cooperative; and for serious mistakes, they took us to the upper echelon to be educated, and we disappeared forever.”³⁰¹⁵ The fear that they would be punished, arrested, or killed was heightened by their awareness of the many arrests and removals that took place around them.³⁰¹⁶ “We lived in fear, especially my group who were collected and sent to live at [...] Kang Keng Airport. [...] Our concern was that we did not know when we too would be arrested.”³⁰¹⁷ Cooperative chairpersons threatened workers with arrest and execution for missteps,³⁰¹⁸ and workers were forced to criticise each other at regular meetings. “At intervals of three days, we had meetings to criticize one another in relation to who had worked less and who had worked more.”³⁰¹⁹

734. Victims had no ability to voice any complaints or to refuse work, and feared doing so.³⁰²⁰

“After we heard [that Dim was arrested], we did not dare to make any complaints. We did whatever they ordered. We stayed wherever they ordered us to stay. [...] I was afraid of being harmed because all of the senior cadres had been arrested.”³⁰²¹ One witness described how a man disappeared after complaining that the lack of food made him weak and unable to work vigorously.³⁰²² “Everything we faced from Angkar, the supreme institution, we had to suffer, we had to struggle to endure, and we could not complain to anyone or any institution at all.”³⁰²³ A victim described the sense of helplessness that accompanied their fear and mistreatment:

We all knew that no one could help us and that we could not make a complaint to anyone. If we had made a complaint, or said anything about the transfer, things would have turned out even worse; they would have accused us of being the traitors as well. In short, our life was in their hands. Therefore, in such a situation, the best way for us to stay alive was to keep silent and follow the orders.³⁰²⁴

735. Under these horrid conditions, victims were even denied core human comforts such as family³⁰²⁵ or religion.³⁰²⁶ Indeed, people who expressed emotion when loved ones were taken away were punished.³⁰²⁷ As summarised by one victim, “[i]n that era, the other people and I had the impression that life had no benefit or purpose at all. [...] Life seemed to have not one ray of light”.³⁰²⁸

G. GENOCIDE OF THE VIETNAMESE

1. INTRODUCTION

736. The genocide of the Vietnamese carried out by Meas Muth, his co-perpetrators, and subordinates was part of a nationwide campaign of genocide orchestrated at the highest levels of the DK regime and carried out across the territory of Cambodia. The genocidal policy of the regime is demonstrated both by public statements of leaders encouraging the complete annihilation of the Vietnamese population of Cambodia, as well as by consistent evidence of a blanket policy in the later years of the regime of killing all Vietnamese across the country.

737. The result of this policy was “the successful completion of a genocide”,³⁰²⁹ with “virtually all” of the Vietnamese who remained in DK killed by the end of the regime.³⁰³⁰ Pol Pot himself boasted about these results: in a speech in April 1978, he said, “There are no Yuon in Kampuchean territory. Formerly there were nearly 1,000,000 of them. Now there is not one seed [...] of them to be found.”³⁰³¹

2. THE VIETNAMESE AS A DISTINCT ETHNIC GROUP

738. The Vietnamese are a separate ethnic group in Cambodia, distinguished from other groups by traits such as physical features, language, and customs. As the evidence discussed throughout this section demonstrates, they perceived themselves, and were perceived by Cambodian society, to be a distinct ethnic group.

GENOCIDAL POLICY AGAINST THE VIETNAMESE

739. From the beginning of the DK regime, CPK leaders planned to eliminate the ethnic Vietnamese community from Cambodia. However, the strategy to eradicate the Vietnamese from Cambodia took two forms and evolved over time: in the early years the regime relied primarily on deporting Vietnamese from the country,³⁰³² while in later years all those that could be found were simply killed. The Khmer Rouge expelled up to 150,000 ethnic Vietnamese civilians in approximately the first year of the DK regime,³⁰³³ some of whom were massacred en route to Vietnam.³⁰³⁴ An estimated 20,000 persons of Vietnamese or mixed Khmer-Vietnamese ethnicity remained in Cambodia after the expulsions. Almost all of these people were killed by the end of the DK regime.³⁰³⁵
740. As noted by expert Alexander Hinton, “everybody suffered [during the DK regime] but there were certain groups that suffered more and certain groups that were explicitly targeted for destruction.”³⁰³⁶ Ethnic Vietnamese were constantly portrayed by the Khmer Rouge as enemies who were a threat to Cambodia. Simply being ethnically Vietnamese was sufficient reason for CPK cadres to kill a man, woman, or child.³⁰³⁷

Deport and Smash: The CPK Policy to Destroy the Vietnamese

741. The plan to remove all Vietnamese from Cambodia was announced to Khmer Rouge leaders at the 20-25 May 1975 mass meeting in Phnom Penh.³⁰³⁸ Pol Pot “stressed the importance of evacuating all of the Vietnamese people out of Cambodian territory”.³⁰³⁹ Nuon Chea said, “We cannot allow any Vietnamese minority” to live in Cambodia.³⁰⁴⁰
742. According to Meas Voeun, who was Deputy Commander of West Zone Division 1,³⁰⁴¹ “[t]he important thing” about CPK policy was “that ‘Yvon’ were not allowed to live in Kampuchea.”³⁰⁴² The April 1976 Revolutionary Flag charted the progress of the removal of the Vietnamese from Cambodia, noting that the Khmer Rouge had “swept hundreds of thousands of these foreigners clean and expelled them from our country”.³⁰⁴³
743. Killings occurred in tandem with expulsions.³⁰⁴⁴ In the period April to May 1975, a commander’s request to the hierarchy in Kampong Som sought “guidance on the disposition of” more than 10 captured Vietnamese refugees.³⁰⁴⁵ In response, “[t]he High Command in Kampong Som ordered the commander to kill the refugees. The Commander and his deputy carried out the order.”³⁰⁴⁶ In 1976, local authorities began taking away

Vietnamese under pretexts such as re-education, relocation, work, or arrest — with the Vietnamese disappearing thereafter.³⁰⁴⁷ Meas Voeun confirmed that between 1975 and 1979 “[the Vietnamese] had to be gathered up and sent to the upper echelon.”³⁰⁴⁸ Witnesses testified that those “gathered up” were killed pursuant to the CPK’s policy.³⁰⁴⁹ Almost all of the Vietnamese prisoners transferred from Kampong Som to S-21 on 7 May 1976 were killed within a few weeks of their arrival in a mass execution conducted on 24 May 1976.³⁰⁵⁰

744. By 1977, the regime relied on killings as the means of cleansing Democratic Kampuchea of all ethnic Vietnamese.³⁰⁵¹ Meas Voeun testified: “we were instructed that Vietnamese had to be smashed because they did not return to their country.”³⁰⁵² Pak Sok, a member of DK naval Division 164³⁰⁵³ and thus a subordinate of Meas Muth, provided further evidence corroborating the instruction to kill all Vietnamese that remained in DK. He stated that there were mandatory trainings in all battalions in Division 164 in early 1977³⁰⁵⁴ at which: “We were instructed to kill [the Vietnamese], even if it was a baby, because they are our hereditary enemy, so we must kill them.”³⁰⁵⁵
745. The Vietnamese policy was disseminated through meetings, speeches, and written material. The contents of Revolutionary Flag, a party propaganda and policy magazine, were brought to the lowest echelons to be studied collectively and individually.³⁰⁵⁶ The Centre received regular updates of the implementation of the policy.³⁰⁵⁷ Telegrams detailed the capture, interrogation, and killing of Vietnamese.³⁰⁵⁸ For example, on 1 April 1978, Meas Muth sent senior DK leaders a telegram detailing the capture and execution of 120 “Yuong” in a three-day period at the end of March 1978.³⁰⁵⁹ By contrast, the same report details the release of individuals from Thailand who had been arrested.³⁰⁶⁰
746. The CPK guided the development of the policy’s implementation. In May 1978, Ros Nhim requested advice from Office 870 on what to do with “elements like [...] Vietnamese people--a Khmer husband with a Vietnamese wife or a Vietnamese husband with a Khmer wife--and half-bred Cambodian-Vietnamese people.”³⁰⁶¹ While awaiting Angkar’s instructions on how to deal with these people, Ros Nhim noted that if any such person did something, “let him/her be swept off [killed].”³⁰⁶²

747. Evidence shows that individuals of mixed Vietnamese-Khmer heritage were indeed “swept off”.³⁰⁶³ Uch Sunlay testified that his children were killed because they were considered Vietnamese descendants and the policy of the Khmer Rouge was “to uproot the grass”.³⁰⁶⁴ He understood this to mean that “they had to eradicate everything”.³⁰⁶⁵ Expert Alexander Hinton explained that Pol Pot’s use of the word “seed” in his April 1978 speech to describe the expulsion of Vietnamese was “a root metaphor” for “the destruction of what might be called a race”.³⁰⁶⁶
748. The methodical implementation of the CPK’s genocidal policy against the Vietnamese is evident in a 1978 Sector 37 report to the Centre leaders. In August 1978, Office 401 reported to Angkar that it had applied the Party’s “guideline and assignment” to take steps to “remove, screen out, and sweep” enemies, by screening for “Vietnamese emigrants”.³⁰⁶⁷ The result of this screening: “100 Vietnamese people--small and big, young and old--have been smashed.”³⁰⁶⁸
749. The CPK continued to pursue its Vietnamese policy to the end of the regime. An Office 870 report of 1 January 1979 instructed that the CPK, the RAK, all cadres, and the Kampuchean people must continue to “track down and search out Yuon enemy agents and not allow them to hide anywhere at all, to eliminate them”.³⁰⁶⁹

Not a Military Target: The Destruction of the Ethnic Vietnamese

750. The DK regime’s policy to kill Vietnamese was aimed at all ethnic Vietnamese, military or civilian. Pol Pot’s April 1978 speech leaves no doubt that he regarded all people of Vietnamese ethnicity, both in DK and in Vietnam, as mortal enemies. Referring to the total populations of Vietnam and DK he asked, “the Yuon have a population of 50,000,000 and Kampuchea has only 8,000,000 [...] can 8,000,000 fight 50,000,000 aggressors?”³⁰⁷⁰ Pol Pot described a “people’s war [...] to defeat the enemy”, wherein “The Party made the determination to fight and smash large numbers of the enemy’s life forces and to protect our forces to the maximum.”³⁰⁷¹ The forces in question being smashed were civilian and not military, as is clear from the repeated reference to the entire Vietnamese population: “Up until today we have implemented 1 against 30, meaning we lose 1, the Yuon lose 30 [...] So when we have 2,000,000 we already have more than we need to fight them because they only have 50,000,000.”³⁰⁷² The speech emphatically concludes that this is not a war between military adversaries, but a war between peoples: “I against 30. If we cannot implement this slogan, we cannot seize victory. This issue does not just apply to the Army: the entire Party, the entire Army, the entire people absorb this line and view and stance.”³⁰⁷³ Expert Alexander Hinton characterised this speech as indicative of “genocidal incitement” and noted that the term “Yuong” was “being used both against people from the country of Vietnam, but as well against people who are identified as ethnic Vietnamese”.³⁰⁷⁴

751. Those listening to Pol Pot’s speech, which was also broadcast on DK radio on 11 May 1978,³⁰⁷⁵ understood it as a call to war against ethnic Vietnamese civilians, not just a military war against Vietnam. Meas Voeun testified that all Vietnamese people regardless of their status or age were considered “hereditary enemies”.³⁰⁷⁶ Nuon Chea underlined that the Vietnamese being targeted were not soldiers coming across the border. In July 1978, Nuon Chea told a visiting delegation that “Vietnam, in particular is trying to undermine our party by military, political, economic and ideological means. The Vietnamese also try to infiltrate our party. We are not worried about the external military aggression. We worry most of all about the enemy inside.”³⁰⁷⁷

Evidence of the CPK’s Animus towards the Vietnamese as an Ethnic Group

752. Expert Alexander Hinton testified that a “pre-existing animus” towards ethnic Vietnamese “was mobilized almost from the start”³⁰⁷⁸ of the DK regime and “led toward their targeting and elimination”.³⁰⁷⁹ Various CPK documents classify the Vietnamese as “enemies”.³⁰⁸⁰ Prak Khan testified that, between 1977 and 1978, S-21 staff were told by Duch and Son Sen at a political study session that the Vietnamese were “the hereditary enemy” of the CPK.³⁰⁸¹ The July 1978 Revolutionary Flag declared that the “Yuong” “have been our national enemy from the beginning up through the present, and will be our enemy in the protracted future as well.”³⁰⁸² In September 1978, Nuon Chea referred to “Vietnamese enemy’s acts” against “the Kampuchean people” in a speech.³⁰⁸³ The propagation of such statements was effective. Meas Voeun testified that people described Vietnam as the number one enemy of DK.³⁰⁸⁴ “Everyone heard of it, that they were hereditary enemies.”³⁰⁸⁵

753. Characterisation of the Vietnamese as enemies was coupled with the CPK continuously calling for their destruction. Division 164 cadre Pak Sok testified that soldiers were instructed to kill all Vietnamese, even children, “because they are our hereditary enemy”.³⁰⁸⁶ At an April 1978 meeting marking the anniversary of the Khmer Rouge capture of Phnom Penh,³⁰⁸⁷ attendees pledged “to exterminate the enemies of all stripes, particularly the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese enemy, in order to preserve the nation and Cambodian race forever”.³⁰⁸⁸
754. Repeated references to the struggles of the “Kampuchean race”³⁰⁸⁹ and “Kampuchean nation” reflect CPK dogma that there could only be a single race in DK,³⁰⁹⁰ and the strategy to eliminate all ethnic Vietnamese in the country. In April 1976, Revolutionary Flag declared that:

Our people are called the ‘Kampuchean people.’ However, there were many foreigners, hundreds of thousands, and one type of foreigner that was very strongly poisonous and dangerous to our people. These people have what is called a poisonous composition since they came to wolf us down, came to nibble at us, came to swallow us, came to confiscate and take away everything, and came to endanger our nation and our people.³⁰⁹¹

755. Alexander Hinton testified that this document relates to “ethnic Vietnamese who were living in Cambodia at the time the DK regime took power”,³⁰⁹² and suggested that the CPK was “talking about a purification”³⁰⁹³ of the ethnic Vietnamese.
756. Such messages were repeated throughout the DK regime. In September 1978, Nuon Chea praised the RAK for crushing the Vietnamese strategy of “exterminating the Kampuchea’s race”.³⁰⁹⁴ Khieu Samphan evoked similar images while referring to the need for Cambodians to unite to “smash the acts of aggression, expansion and anti-Kampuchean genocide” by Vietnam.³⁰⁹⁵ According to David Chandler, this pitting of Khmer against Vietnamese was part of the CPK’s policy of a “race war against the Vietnamese”.³⁰⁹⁶ The July 1978 issue of Revolutionary Flag made it “[t]he national duty of all of us” to “fight to eliminate our aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy”, the “genocidal Yuon enemy of the Kampuchean race.”³⁰⁹⁷
757. The Vietnamese were also portrayed as “traitorous”, with the May-June 1978 Revolutionary Flag detailing that “traitorous networks” within Cambodia needed to be attacked and that “[o]ur sharpest attack is on the aggressive, territory-swallowing Yuon”.³⁰⁹⁸ Through this constant demonising, the CPK actively sought to incite animosity against ethnic Vietnamese. On 3 January 1978, Office 870 disseminated instructions emphasising that: “It is imperative [...] to constantly stir up national and class anger among the people toward the Yuon enemy invader in order to turn such anger into material anger, to carry out all types of concrete activities”.³⁰⁹⁹ These instructions were distributed down the echelons of the Party.³¹⁰⁰ If implemented well, the document concluded, then “the Yuon invader will definitely leave piles of their bones on our soil.”³¹⁰¹

758. CPK internal propaganda emphasised highly emotive and negative descriptions of Vietnamese. The April 1977 issue of Revolutionary Flag referred to CIA, KGB, and “Y[uon]’ agents” as “the cheap running dogs of the enemy” who have “been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water and being chased and struck by the people and annihilated.”³¹⁰² The document instructed cadres that: “We must continue to strike them and trample them [...] and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads.”³¹⁰³

759. Terms such as eradicate,³¹⁰⁴ smash,³¹⁰⁵ sweep away,³¹⁰⁶ wipe out,³¹⁰⁷ exterminate,³¹⁰⁸ and liquidate³¹⁰⁹ were frequently used in CPK documents to describe what cadres should do to the Vietnamese. CPK documents used derogatory and dehumanising descriptions of the Vietnamese, with terminology such as the “[t]he Yuon stunk to high heaven and are degradingly despised as nothing”,³¹¹⁰ that they were “criminal”,³¹¹¹ “noxious”,³¹¹² “greedy”,³¹¹³ “savage”,³¹¹⁴ “oppressors”,³¹¹⁵ “rats”,³¹¹⁶ “running-dogs”,³¹¹⁷ “germs”,³¹¹⁸ and invoking the image of parasites, describing the Vietnamese as “enemies boring from within”.³¹¹⁹ The Vietnamese were also depicted as sexually deviant, being accused of raping Cambodian girls³¹²⁰ and selling Vietnamese girls in order to achieve their annexationist ambitions.³¹²¹

760. The CPK also targeted civilians in cross-border attacks into Vietnam.³¹²² Khieu Samphan would later describe these attacks as “medieval-type cruelties”, stating that “[t]here is no doubt that the Khmer Rouge made forays into Vietnamese villages along the border, committing appalling crimes against Vietnamese civilians.”³¹²³

761. CPK units involved in cross-border attacks made no distinction between Vietnamese soldiers and ordinary civilians.³¹²⁴ An 8 April 1978 report from Son Sen to Ieng Sary detailed the killing and wounding of “many hundreds” and the burning of “hundreds of houses” in an attack on a “population center” and a “market” across the Vietnamese border.³¹²⁵ The notebook of an S-21 interrogator covering January 1978 to July 1978 details how “[w]e attacked inside the Yuon territory” and claimed that Khmer Rouge units “[a]chieved the principle of 1 - 30”,³¹²⁶ demonstrating that CPK forces sought to implement Pol Pot’s policy that each Khmer should kill 30 Vietnamese.

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE GENOCIDAL POLICY AGAINST THE VIETNAMESE

Deportation of the Vietnamese

762. The CPK plan to cleanse DK territory of all Vietnamese inhabitants resulted in some 150,000 Vietnamese being deported in the early part of the DK regime.³¹²⁷
763. In 1976, the Vietnamese and DK governments implemented an exchange, through which Vietnamese living in Cambodia were sent back to Vietnam, and Khmers living in Vietnamese territory were sent back to DK.³¹²⁸ Former Tram Kak District Secretary Pech Chim testified that the programme represented a solution to the issue of the Vietnamese.³¹²⁹
764. Some Cambodians who had fled to Vietnam following the Khmer Rouge takeover of the country returned to Cambodia, unaware of the dire situation under the DK regime.³¹³⁰ They were exchanged for an equal number of Vietnamese expelled from Cambodia under the exchange programme.³¹³¹
765. The deportation effort was carried out throughout the country and was effective. The April 1976 Revolutionary Flag declared that “our democratic revolution swept hundreds of thousands of these foreigners clean and expelled them from our country, got them permanently out of our territory.”³¹³² The same document described these forced removals as having “sorted this issue out cleanly and sorted it out entirely”.³¹³³
766. Nevertheless, expulsions continued. Prak Doeun testified that, having been forcibly relocated to Ta Mov island in 1977, the unit chief announced that the Vietnamese were subject to be returned to Vietnam and if anyone wished to go — they should.³¹³⁴ This was no real choice, however, as the alternative was to stay and be killed. Prak Doeun witnessed

20 to 30 Vietnamese people³¹³⁵ being rounded up and put into a covered boat.³¹³⁶ He testified that one Vietnamese woman remained in the cooperative but was beaten by cadres for speaking Vietnamese and she too was subsequently sent to Vietnam.³¹³⁷

767. Witness Choeung Yaing Chaet was deported from Kampong Chhnang to Vietnam via Prey Veng in exchange for rice.³¹³⁸ Two months earlier his family had been killed.³¹³⁹ He travelled on a boat to Phnom Penh, with 50 or 60 other boats carrying Vietnamese.³¹⁴⁰ Then he was transferred to a motorboat with 60 other Vietnamese people which travelled on to Prey Veng.³¹⁴¹ When they arrived at Neak Leung, cadres counted the people on the ferry and in exchange, the Vietnamese provided salt and rice.³¹⁴²

768. Some of those rounded up and told they were being sent to Vietnam were, in fact, killed.³¹⁴³ Uch Sunlay's Vietnamese mother-in-law boarded a truck with other Vietnamese persons in Kratie having been told they would be sent to Vietnam.³¹⁴⁴ Uch Sunlay testified that the driver of the truck told him that these people were executed.³¹⁴⁵ Similar reports of individuals being killed instead of being transported to Vietnam come from Sector 37.³¹⁴⁶ Author Ben Kiernan conducted interviews during which he recorded reports of massacres of Vietnamese who volunteered for repatriation in 1977.³¹⁴⁷

Killings of the Vietnamese

769. Even while deportations were ongoing, from the beginning of the DK regime, the CPK also killed Vietnamese to ensure that the group was eradicated from Cambodian territory. In April-May 1975, Division 164 requested information from higher echelons on how to deal with detained Vietnamese:

[U]nit captured a boat carrying more than 10 Vietnamese refugees, including women and children. [...] The 408th Commander contacted Kampong Som for guidance on the disposition of the refugees. The High Command in Kampong Som ordered the Commander to kill the refugees. The Commander and his Deputy carried out the order.³¹⁴⁸

770. Following the mass expulsions, there were many Vietnamese who had not returned to Vietnam and who, in line with CPK policy,³¹⁴⁹ had to be smashed.³¹⁵⁰ Individuals of Vietnamese ethnicity were sought out and executed throughout the country.³¹⁵¹

a) Identifying the Vietnamese Population

771. Ros Saroeun, a mechanic interviewed by Expert Ben Kiernan, was in the district office in Oudong on 1 April 1977 when he read a “Directive from 870” that instructed local officials to arrest all ethnic Vietnamese, and all Khmers who spoke Vietnamese or had Vietnamese friends, and hand them over to state security forces.³¹⁵² Witness testimony and documents have demonstrated that this policy was implemented.
772. In July 1977, Meas Voeun attended a congress of the West Zone with senior CPK leaders.³¹⁵³ He testified that the purpose of the meeting was to instruct attendees about smashing enemies including the “Yuon” and that the CPK “wanted to search out the infiltrated enemies that were within the army or cooperatives.”³¹⁵⁴ This instruction from senior leaders was carried out at the lower echelons. Meas Voeun testified that villagers knew who the “Yuon” were and gave this information to soldiers.³¹⁵⁵
773. Both military and civilian cadres were tasked with identifying Vietnamese in their midst.³¹⁵⁶ Prum Sarun, chief of a platoon in Banan District after 1975,³¹⁵⁷ testified that his battalion chief told him to report any Vietnamese in his unit, and the battalion chief would then pass the report on to the upper echelon — meaning the chief of the district.³¹⁵⁸ Prum Sarun was told that the upper echelon would “handle” the Vietnamese, meaning they would kill them.³¹⁵⁹
774. Office 401 reported to Angkar in August 1978 that it had screened for “Yuon aliens” pursuant to the Party’s policy³¹⁶⁰ and executed them.³¹⁶¹ Likewise, Prak Doeun testified that he was asked by CPK cadres on Ta Mov island³¹⁶² if his wife was Khmer or Vietnamese.³¹⁶³ He was also questioned whether there were any Vietnamese in his cooperative.³¹⁶⁴
775. People of Vietnamese descent sought to hide their ethnicity in fear for their lives. Prak Doeun, whose wife was Vietnamese, testified that he did not use the Vietnamese name of one of his daughters from mid-1976,³¹⁶⁵ as he was afraid she would be killed if her Vietnamese name was known.³¹⁶⁶ Despite his efforts, Prak Doeun’s daughter was subsequently killed.³¹⁶⁷ The campaign against people of Vietnamese ethnicity was so blatant and brutal, Khmer people feared speaking to ethnic Vietnamese, fearing that they too would be taken away and killed.³¹⁶⁸

776. Cadres in the provinces sought directions from Angkar in Phnom Penh as to what to do with Vietnamese once they had been detained. A telegram sent by Division 801 on 15 June 1977 reported the capture of a group of Jarai who had come from Vietnam, whom the telegram described as “209 Yuon troops, among whom there were nine women”. The telegram, copied to Nuon Chea and others, requested a decision from “the highest level” on the individuals.³¹⁶⁹

b) Digging the Root: The CPK’s Matrilineal Targeting of Vietnamese

777. Lower echelons sought guidance from the CPK centre on the policy towards families where Vietnamese and Khmer had wed or had children together. In May 1978, Ros Nhim made a request in which he asked Office 870 what to do with ethnic Vietnamese with Khmer spouses and the “half-bred Cambodian-Vietnamese people”.³¹⁷⁰ Pursuant to its policy to “dig up the root” in order to forever destroy its enemies, the CPK targeted the children of such mixed marriages if the mother was Vietnamese, believing that ethnicity was matrilineal.³¹⁷¹

778. Uch Sunlay’s wife and three children were killed during the DK regime. He testified that his children were killed because they were considered Vietnamese descendants.³¹⁷² Doung Oeurn, whose Vietnamese husband was killed, testified that their daughter was not taken away because she was the offspring of a Cambodian mother.³¹⁷³ Some Khmer men whose Vietnamese wives were killed were encouraged to remarry with a Khmer woman.³¹⁷⁴ Targeting very young children who were believed to carry Vietnamese ethnicity and ensuring that Khmer married Khmer were manifestations of the Party leaders’ intent to erase future generations of Vietnamese or part-Vietnamese and to destroy the group as such.

Killings Throughout Democratic Kampuchea

779. In addition to the genocidal rhetoric and policy statements of CPK leaders at all levels, a consistent pattern of killings throughout the territory of Democratic Kampuchea demonstrates the existence of the CPK and DK policy to commit genocide against the Vietnamese.

780. Killings of Vietnamese occurred in the North Zone,³¹⁷⁵ the Northeast Zone,³¹⁷⁶ the Northwest Zone,³¹⁷⁷ the East Zone,³¹⁷⁸ including particularly Sectors 23³¹⁷⁹ and 24,³¹⁸⁰ Sector 505 (Kratie),³¹⁸¹ the West Zone,³¹⁸² the Southwest Zone,³¹⁸³ and at S-21.³¹⁸⁴

Meas Muth's Implementation of the Genocide Policy

a) Orders to Kill Vietnamese in Division 164

781. The evidence proves that Meas Muth was well aware of the CPK policy to destroy the Vietnamese in Cambodia as a distinct ethnic group. Meas Muth disseminated that policy to his subordinates in Division 164. Further, Meas Muth implemented the policy through mass killings of Vietnamese captured in areas controlled by forces under his command.
782. The Division 164 leadership was involved in the killing of Vietnamese captured in waters claimed by Cambodia in two ways. First, a general policy of killing all Vietnamese was promulgated throughout the Division. Second, division leadership was informed of the capture of particular vessels and issued specific orders to kill Vietnamese captured on each occasion, thus reinforcing and confirming the general policy.
783. Two of Meas Muth's Division 164 subordinates give powerful evidence of the promulgation of the general policy of killing Vietnamese. In Case 002/02, Division 164 soldier Pak Sok testified that members of Division 164 received instructions to kill all Vietnamese, even babies, because they were the “hereditary enemy” of Khmer people.³¹⁸⁵ He also gave evidence that the concept of Vietnamese as the “hereditary enemy” and “enemy number one” originated from trainings at the divisional level, and that Meas Muth was in charge of political education in the division.³¹⁸⁶ Pak Sok also stated in his DC-Cam interview that the order to kill Vietnamese refugees came from Meas Muth.³¹⁸⁷
784. Division 164 soldier Ek Ny stated that “it was the law set up by the upper levels that we had to absolutely smash the Vietnamese race regardless of whether they were just ordinary citizens or fishermen. We had to arrest them all”.³¹⁸⁸ Meas Muth also issued the following chilling instruction to Ek Ny and his Division 164 colleagues: “Ta Muth ordered us not to waste gasoline to transport [Vietnamese and Thai prisoners] to Kampong Som anymore. He told us that we should make them as fertilizer for the coconut trees on the island. Each corpse was cut into two pieces, and one piece was buried under one coconut tree as fertilizer.”³¹⁸⁹

785. Meas Muth stayed closely informed of specific incidents in which boats were captured and issued additional specific orders to kill Vietnamese prisoners. When Division 164 personnel observed a foreign vessel, they were required to report up the chain of command, with such reports ultimately reaching the divisional level.³¹⁹⁰ Because the fate of captured foreigners frequently depended on their nationality, Division 164 personnel had to carefully report this information.³¹⁹¹ Once the reports reached the divisional level, orders would be issued in simple language such as “shoot them dead” or “send them to the mainland.”³¹⁹² These orders were sent out in plain language, unencoded, over the radio.³¹⁹³ In fact, Meas Muth’s orders regarding the Vietnamese people captured at sea during the entire period extending from late April 1975 and 6 January 1979, were to either systematically kill them on the spot³¹⁹⁴ or transfer them to islands or mainland in order to kill them.³¹⁹⁵ Pak Sok stated that it was “the standard operational procedure” for Meas Muth to issue the orders to kill,³¹⁹⁶ and on one occasion in 1975 Meas Muth publicly criticised a subordinate for killing without explicit permission from Meas Muth to do so.³¹⁹⁷ When Meas Muth was absent, orders to capture or kill could be issued by his deputies.³¹⁹⁸

b) Meas Voeun’s Corroboration of Orders to Kill all Vietnamese

786. Meas Voeun, the Deputy Commander of West Zone Division 1,³¹⁹⁹ gave testimony that strongly corroborates the evidence of Division 164 soldiers Pak Sok and Ek Ny that Division 164 received orders to kill all Vietnamese. Although Meas Voeun was not in Division 164 but rather in the West Zone’s Division 1,³²⁰⁰ he testified that Division 1 and Division 164 received the same orders.³²⁰¹ His evidence about the orders received by his division and the policy behind the orders therefore corroborates direct evidence of the orders received in Division 164.
787. Meas Voeun testified unequivocally that there was a policy to eliminate the Vietnamese living in Cambodia between 1975 and 1979, stating:

Yes, I heard about that. I heard about the Vietnamese living in Kampuchea. Vietnamese who lived in Cambodia did intend to cause troubles to the Kampuchean people and did not do an honest living. Initially, from -- stating from 1970, they were peacefully sent to -- sent back to their country by the Cambodian government, and that continued until 1975. So then for us, later on we were instructed that Vietnamese had to be smashed because they did not return to their country. There were then clashes along the border due to this issue.³²⁰²

788. Asked whether there were many Vietnamese who had not returned to Vietnam and who had to be smashed, Meas Voeun responded:

Yes, there were. When they were allowed to return to their country not every one of them returned. Some of them remained living in Kampuchea or married with Kampuchean people. The majority of them who decided to remain living in Cambodia were living in Kampong Chhnang, that is along the riverbanks. And then that's why there were later on clashes between the Vietnamese and the Kampuchean people. And it also happened in the West Zone.³²⁰³

789. The day after giving this testimony, Meas Voeun attempted an implausible retreat from his evidence, claiming instead that "we had to gather all those 'Yvon' who had lived in Kampuchea and they should be gathered in one place."³²⁰⁴ However, he failed to explain why if there had not been a plan to destroy all of the Vietnamese in Cambodia, he would have testified to receiving such instructions just the previous day. It appears that recognising overnight the significance of his testimony which implicated both himself and his former CPK colleagues in a genocide, Meas Voeun tried to disassemble his admission without any credible explanation for the sudden change in his account.

790. Further supporting Meas Voeun's admission of a CPK policy to smash all Vietnamese, he admitted to having attended a congress of the West Zone with senior CPK leaders in July 1977 in Chbar Mon District, Kampong Speu Province.³²⁰⁵ The purpose of the meeting was to discuss smashing enemies³²⁰⁶ which included highlighting the "'Yvon's' tricks".³²⁰⁷ Meas Voeun testified that "Yvon" referred to Vietnamese people regardless of their status as civilian or soldier.³²⁰⁸ The point of the meeting was clear according to the witness, "they wanted to search out the infiltrated enemies that were within the army or cooperatives."³²⁰⁹

791. The August 1977 Revolutionary Flag provides further details of this West Zone meeting, corroborating Meas Voeun's testimony. According to the account set out in Revolutionary Flag, the meeting emphasised that "[i]t is imperative to prepare forces to attack, attack and smash the enemy"³²¹⁰ and that "[i]f we whip [the people] up like this the enemy [outside] will not be able to enter. The enemies embedded inside will be unable to do anything."³²¹¹

c) Killings of Vietnamese Carried Out by Division 164 Personnel – Victims Captured at Sea

792. Many of the Vietnamese victims of the genocide perpetrated by Meas Muth and his Division 164 subordinates were individuals captured at sea and subsequently executed on board boats, on one of the islands within Division 164's area of responsibility, in Kampong Som, or at S-21. Although the victims of extrajudicial killings carried out by Division 164 were not exclusively Vietnamese, hundreds or thousands were. Evidence shows that the treatment of Vietnamese was consistently harsher than that of Thais captured in Cambodian waters, who were sometimes released in exchange for food or other supplies. The disparate treatment of Thais and Vietnamese captured in similar circumstances demonstrates a policy of killing captives simply because they were Vietnamese.
793. Division 164 soldier Pak Sok's evidence gives an indication of the scale of the killing of those captured in waters claimed by the DK authorities. When asked how many civilians, refugees and fishermen captured in Cambodian waters were killed between 1975 and 1979, he answered, "Thousands. They included Thai fishermen and Vietnamese fishermen and refugees, who were arrested and killed [at] sea, on the islands, or on the mainland."³²¹² Similarly, when Division 164 soldier Ek Ny was asked to estimate how many people were killed at sea by naval forces during the DK regime, his answer was, "According to my estimation, around over 1,000 people were killed. [...] Regarding the minimum number: it must not have been fewer than 1,200 or 1,300 people."³²¹³
794. The number of Vietnamese victims will never be precisely known, but evidence demonstrates that these estimates are reasonable. On 1 April 1978, Meas Muth reported to Pol Pot, Nuon Chea and others that "the number of Yuon who have been captured and shot to death from 27 March 1978 to 30 March 1978 is 120 head."³²¹⁴ These victims came from a total of five boats captured during that period.³²¹⁵ The fact that 120 Vietnamese were killed in just a four-day period supports Pak Sok's and Ek Ny's estimates of the total number of victims.
795. These estimates are further supported by the fact that boats of Vietnamese refugees bound for Thailand³²¹⁶ or elsewhere³²¹⁷ carried an average of 30 persons,³²¹⁸ with some carrying up to 50 to 70 refugees.³²¹⁹ Estimating the number of boats of Vietnamese he saw being captured, Division 164 soldier Ek Ny said, “For the Vietnamese, there were three to four boats per month. Sometimes, there were three to four boats per day. It was not regular.”³²²⁰ Even taking the lower estimate of three to four boats per month, and keeping in mind that Ek Ny is reporting only on those incidents he personally witnessed, it is clear that the number of Vietnamese arrested and killed by Division 164 soldiers was very large.

796. Evidence shows that the treatment of the Vietnamese people intercepted at sea was indiscriminate to their status, and all persons, whether they were military or ordinary citizens, young, old, male or female, were either shot immediately or taken to land and ultimately killed.³²²¹ Generally speaking, when Division 164 soldiers captured fewer than 20 Vietnamese people, they would be ordered to kill them on the spot, while if more than 20 were captured, they would be taken to Ochheuteal and would be killed later.³²²² If Vietnamese soldiers were captured, they would always have to be sent to shore so their confessions could be recorded before they were killed.³²²³ When killings had been completed, reports were sent back to the divisional headquarters by radio, using explicit phrases such as “[it] is done” or “They have already finished off those people.”³²²⁴
797. Numerous witnesses and documents discuss specific examples of the arrest and execution of Vietnamese captured at sea either on the islands or in the Kampong Som sector, especially at the Durian I and Toek Sap execution sites,³²²⁵ including at least one situation in which victims were murdered just a few metres from Meas Muth’s house in Kampong Som.³²²⁶ Others were transported to S-21, where they were also killed.³²²⁷ At least a portion of those transferred to S-21 were detained at security centres in the area under Meas Muth’s control, where some were forced to work.³²²⁸ These killings are discussed in more detail elsewhere in this Submission.³²²⁹

d) Killings of Vietnamese from Kratie at S-21 during the period Meas Muth controlled Sector 505

798. During the period in which Meas Muth controlled Sector 505 (Kratie), at least six Vietnamese were arrested and sent to S-21, where they were executed.³²³⁰ These crimes are discussed further elsewhere in this Submission.³²³¹

H. FORCED MARRIAGE AND RAPE

1. INTRODUCTION

799. Meas Muth is charged with the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts in relation to forced marriages and rape (the forced consummation of these marriages) in Kampong Som Sector. Forcing individuals to wed partners chosen by the regime and then to consummate the marriage was part of a national policy of the CPK leadership. Meas Muth ensured that this policy was implemented in the areas he controlled. As such, forced marriages were prevalent in Kampong Som Sector, where Meas Muth's subordinates forced couples to marry and then coerced them into having sexual relations. Couples obeyed these orders out of fear that they would be killed if they refused.

2. ESTABLISHMENT OF THE NATIONAL FORCED MARRIAGE POLICY

800. Before the CPK took control of the country, marriage in Cambodian society was anchored in rich tradition, entailing sacred rituals,³²³² the participation and control over the marriage process by the couple's family members,³²³³ and, most crucially, the consent of both bride and groom.³²³⁴ These practices changed drastically once the CPK came into power.³²³⁵ Between late 1975 and the end of the regime, the concept of the revolutionary family was formed. In order to meet the goals set by the CPK with respect to national defence and agricultural production, the Party Centre adopted a policy of choosing spouses and arranging marriages so that the couples would procreate and rapidly increase the population. Authorities selected groups of men and women to wed in mass ceremonies devoid of Cambodian tradition.

801. After the marriage took place, couples were expected to consummate the union and authorities monitored their compliance. Most of these DK-arranged marriages lacked consent from one or both spouses. CPK leaders intentionally forced, threatened with force, or coerced civilians and members of the military to marry and subsequently consummate their marriages. These events were very traumatic for the victims at the time and often had lifelong consequences, including both physical and mental injuries.

802. Although there were minor regional variations, the practice of screening the couples' backgrounds before pairing them, the arrangement and notification of impending marriages, the ceremonies themselves, and the monitoring of consummation were carried out across DK by local CPK cadres in a similar, organised fashion. The large-scale occurrence of forced marriages and forced consummation and the similar way they were implemented across the country establishes that these crimes were carried out pursuant to a Party policy and were part of the DK regime's widespread and systematic attack on Cambodian civilians.³²³⁶ All of these practices were further manifestations of the DK regime's exercise of power and ownership over individuals.³²³⁷

CONCEPT OF THE REVOLUTIONARY FAMILY

803. As explained in a 1975 issue of Revolutionary Youth, to serve the revolution, one had to sacrifice “private possessions such as housing, paddy-farm, garden, family, parents, relatives and other properties”, including “sentiment”.³²³⁸ Since family relationships were “private possessions”, they had to be sacrificed in exactly the same way as material wealth. It also meant that the CPK felt entitled to take absolute control over “family building”.³²³⁹
804. The CPK first published its views on family building in the February 1974 issue of Revolutionary Youth. Six weeks after capturing Phnom Penh, the Party reprinted the document for wider circulation.³²⁴⁰ Central to this document and subsequent pronouncements of the Party's stance was the concept of a new form of family, the revolutionary family. Building a family was no longer about following “whatever your heart sees,” or “personal interests”.³²⁴¹ Instead, absolute loyalty to Angkar was mandatory, and love for the Party replaced love for one's relatives. All other familial ties were rendered insignificant.³²⁴² The sole purpose of the “revolutionary family” was to advance the country's revolutionary goals.³²⁴³ It was dictated that the Party would only prosper by “handing over the family [to] the Organization” and to the “collective, to help educate and build”.³²⁴⁴ Thus, in serving the goal of rebuilding the country, families no longer needed to live together and were typically separated and sent to different worksites.³²⁴⁵ Very young children were separated from their mothers so that the mothers could focus on work, while the children were trained as “children of Angkar”, often tasked with spying on their own parents and denouncing their wrongdoings.³²⁴⁶
805. When explaining the CPK marriage policy, a former member of the Youth League of Kampuchea³²⁴⁷ said: “There were two phases. From 1970 to 1975, marriages were postponed in the liberated zones. In the second phase, from 1976 to 1978 people were forced to get married.”³²⁴⁸

806. The CPK removed the right of Cambodian people to marry freely to their partner of choice.³²⁴⁹ Seeking spouses out of love, family interest, or happiness was viewed as “private ownership” that contravened the collective interests of the country.³²⁵⁰ Those who valued family interests were deemed to be deceiving and renouncing the revolution,³²⁵¹ and would constitute easy targets for enemy agents.³²⁵² As journalist Elizabeth Becker explained: “the Khmer Rouge were threatened by all expressions of love — between husband and wife, parents and children, friends and colleagues. Everyone had to renounce personal intimacies.”³²⁵³

NEED FOR POPULATION GROWTH

807. Cambodia’s population was quickly dwindling as a direct result of CPK policies. Death rates increased during the DK regime due to executions and inhumane living and working conditions,³²⁵⁴ while birth-rates were plummeting due to overwork, malnourishment and other health complications,³²⁵⁵ strict prohibitions on sexual relations,³²⁵⁶ and separation of married couples who were rarely allowed to see each other.³²⁵⁷
808. The CPK leadership sought to drastically stimulate the birth-rate in an attempt to double or triple the workforce.³²⁵⁸ This imperative was twofold: 1) the country needed more manpower to develop the labour-intensive agricultural economy;³²⁵⁹ and 2) the leaders needed more soldiers to defend the country and, in particular, to fight their war against Vietnam.
809. CPK leaders publicly discussed such exigencies, announcing that the DK required a population of 15 to 20 million within five to 10 years to “meet the needs of [the] land,”³²⁶⁰ a utopian goal. Pol Pot and Khieu Samphan explained during the DK period that this goal was to be achieved mainly through the organisation of marriages,³²⁶¹ and relevant instructions were passed down to cadres for organising such marriages and ensuring their consummation.³²⁶² According to Chuon Thy, this policy was in force as early as 1975.³²⁶³ As hostilities with Vietnam intensified in 1977-1978, the matter became more urgent, and the number of wedding ceremonies across the country increased accordingly.³²⁶⁴ Ruos Suy, a cadre from the Ministry of Commerce, explained that his ministry unit was assigned monthly minimum quotas for marriages in 1977 and 1978.³²⁶⁵ Therefore, when people reached a certain age (20 years for women and 25 years for men), “they had to marry”,³²⁶⁶ although the age limit was reduced over time³²⁶⁷ and there were several cases of much younger girls being forcibly married everywhere in the country, including in Kampong Som.³²⁶⁸

810. In keeping with the goal of inflating the population, couples were typically monitored immediately after their weddings to ensure that the unions were consummated.³²⁶⁹

3. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE NATIONAL FORCED MARRIAGE POLICY

ORGANISATION

811. During the DK regime, any form of tradition was gone and, generally, families no longer played any role in marriages.³²⁷⁰ Instead, Angkar determined whether, when, and whom couples would marry. Whilst the specifics of the process varied, the common denominator was the complete control wielded by Angkar.³²⁷¹
812. Whenever authorities had to pair couples, they were instructed to do so on the basis of identical political class, ethnicity, and background.³²⁷² Recommendations were then made and approved or rejected by the higher-level RAK/CPK authorities.³²⁷³ Sector and zone cadres were kept apprised of the number of couples married in their areas through reports sent up the chain to their attention; reports on marriages were also made by the zones to the Party Centre.³²⁷⁴

MARRIAGES WERE FORCED

813. In numerous cases, mass weddings of cadres, military, and ordinary civilians were organised solely by Angkar with little to no prior consultation with the intended spouses. Typically on the day of the ceremony or shortly before, work unit chiefs or other local authorities informed individuals that they would be getting married and asked them to report for the ceremony.³²⁷⁵ Often, this occurred after those chosen to marry were told they must obey Angkar’s orders.³²⁷⁶ Some chosen to marry had no advance notice at all, arriving for what they thought would be a meeting and leaving with a spouse.³²⁷⁷ Many had never met their spouse before the ceremony and some were unable to recognise him or her afterwards.³²⁷⁸ Among the victims were reluctant young women and sometimes ageing former monks who were forcibly paired by Angkar.³²⁷⁹ Male RAK soldiers with disabilities were told to choose or were given a wife they did not choose as a “reward from Angkar” for their sacrifice. The selected brides typically met their disabled spouses for the first time at the ceremony.³²⁸⁰ Victims were deeply upset and/or traumatised by marrying people they did not know.³²⁸¹

814. The regime’s frequent use of violence and demand for blind obedience from individuals intentionally created a general atmosphere of terror and coercion, where refusal of any order or suggestion by Angkar was seen as gravely dangerous or even suicidal. In that context, genuine individual consent to marry was generally not possible.³²⁸² In fact, decisions from Angkar regarding marriages had to be “absolutely respected,”³²⁸³ and objections were normally not permitted.³²⁸⁴
815. Often the threats were implicit. Those who were instructed to marry legitimately feared that any refusal would brand them an enemy and could result in severe punishment for “disrespecting Angkar”, such as being sent for refashioning, re-education or execution.³²⁸⁵ Some had also heard of or seen people who were punished for refusing to marry.³²⁸⁶ The large majority of those chosen by Angkar to marry did not take the risk of voicing their objection and were therefore forced into conjugal relationships.³²⁸⁷ Kul Nem, a victim of forced marriage in the Northeast Zone, testified, “I did that in order to survive so that I could see the open sky again”.³²⁸⁸
816. The final decision on marriage belonged solely to Angkar.³²⁸⁹ The central policy document on family building pronounced:

When marrying, it is imperative to honestly make proposals to the Organization, to the collective, to have them help sort things out. Organizational discipline must be absolutely respected. In the matter of building a family, no matter the outcome of the Organization’s and the collective’s assessments and decisions, they must be absolutely respected. Do not have hard feelings. Do not be disappointed. This is because only the Organization and the collective are able to make a thorough assessment from every aspect.³²⁹⁰

817. Refusals of marriage proposals made by one or both partners³²⁹¹ were often followed by forced marriages to other individuals selected by the Party.³²⁹² Frequently, those who hesitated or refused the order to marry were expressly threatened³²⁹³ or punished.

Punishment included re-education, hard labour and imprisonment,³²⁹⁴ physical violence,³²⁹⁵ rape,³²⁹⁶ and execution.³²⁹⁷

THE CEREMONY

818. Sacred Cambodian traditions and rituals of the wedding ceremony that were intended to forge, celebrate, and bless the coming together of two families were not part of Khmer Rouge weddings.³²⁹⁸ Family members were generally excluded from the ceremony,³²⁹⁹ and cadres and militiamen took their place.³³⁰⁰ The couples took part in hand-holding ceremonies that more closely resembled a meeting than a significant life event.³³⁰¹ These ceremonies were called ceremonies of “resolution” or “exchange of vows”.³³⁰² Most frequently, the pairs were announced by name or were aligned in facing rows and instructed to hold hands with the person across from them.³³⁰³ The matched couples were then required to make a “resolution” or “commitment” to 1) serve Angkar or obey Angkar, and 2) to commit to their respective mates forever.³³⁰⁴ Cadres routinely instructed the couples to “get along” or “have children for Angkar”.³³⁰⁵

RAPE WITHIN FORCED MARRIAGE (FORCED CONSUMMATION)

819. DK authorities throughout the country were unequivocal in their message that the primary purpose of the couples’ marriage was to procreate.³³⁰⁶ After the ceremony, officials typically required the newlyweds to spend a few nights together to consummate their marriage before sending them back to their respective worksites.³³⁰⁷ Frequently, huts were arranged for their use, where they were expected to have sex.³³⁰⁸ To enforce consummation, Khmer Rouge militiamen were often stationed around or under the huts to monitor the couples’ night-time activities and conversations.³³⁰⁹ Fearing retribution and punishment for disrespecting Angkar, couples felt compelled to have intercourse with the person with whom they had just been paired.³³¹⁰ While many of the men were themselves victims and only engaged in sexual relations because of the coercion, some grooms forced themselves upon their new wives, either through fear of repercussions or simply because they felt entitled.³³¹¹ Those who continued to refuse to consummate the marriage and were discovered were re-educated, threatened with execution,³³¹² or harshly punished for their disobedience and sometimes disappeared, were tortured, and/or were executed.³³¹³

SEPARATION

820. Once a short period of time had passed for consummation to be achieved in order to increase the population, newlyweds were sent back to work, often far from their respective spouses, to serve the other revolutionary goal of rebuilding the country.³³¹⁴ However, in order to produce babies for Angkar, couples were ordered, allowed, or encouraged to see each other, usually once or twice a month, but the express authorisation of their superiors was required.³³¹⁵

4. IMPLEMENTATION OF THE POLICY IN THE KAMPONG SOM AREA

821. Marriage in Kampong Som during the DK period presents some unique features that were absent in other parts of the country. Kampong Som Sector's inhabitants (both civilians and military) were under the authority of a Centre Division commander. Division 164 was the largest Centre Division of the country with over 8,600 soldiers in its ranks in 1976 (and numerous single males of marrying age).³³¹⁶ It had just one female battalion (Battalion 167) comprised of about 400 soldiers,³³¹⁷ which created a serious numerical imbalance between men and women. Most of the male soldiers did not originate from Kampong Som and had no opportunity to meet, know, or even see any local women. This was also the case for those who were stationed on islands or were patrolling at sea. Due to the deficit of women within the division, Meas Muth decided to have his soldiers marry civilian women either working in cooperatives and worksites in Kampong Som³³¹⁸ or living outside the Kampong Som boundaries, particularly in the Southwest Zone of his father-in-law, Ta Mok. Quite frequently, young women were specifically selected in Takeo or Kampot (in particular among the salt field workers) to marry Division 164 soldiers and work in the Kampong Som cooperatives and plantations, as witnesses Seng Ol, Nav Sokhan alias Ken, Yoem Sroeung and Vun Bunna testified to investigators.³³¹⁹

COMMUNICATION OF THE CPK MARRIAGE POLICY WITHIN DIVISION 164 AND WITHIN KAMPONG SOM SECTOR

822. There is evidence that the policy to increase the population in the Kampong Som area was presented during at least one political training session chaired by Meas Muth and Kim Nhan alias Nhan in Ochheuteal in 1977 or 1978.³³²⁰ Battalion 143 Commander Liet Lan reported that during this session:

[Ta Muth and Ta Nhan] laid out an annual marriage plan on the number of couples to be wed. They reviewed all the requests that had been made and determined the number of couples to be wed. Their plan was intended to increase the population to 20 million [...] Their plan was to arrange marriages for all those who had requested to marry.³³²¹

In particular, Meas Muth said that cadres:

should review all the marriage requests and marry them off. In so doing, we could achieve our two goals. The first was to increase the population to 20 million and the second was to satisfy the disgruntled people who had requested to marry a long time before but to no avail.³³²²

823. However, the Division 164 leadership did not marry only those who wanted to get married. For example, Liet Lan was married in a ceremony presided over by Division Committee member Kim Nhan, although both the bride and groom had refused to exchange their vows.³³²³

824. The same directive to organise marriages in order to increase the population was repeated by the Division 164 leadership to its soldiers. Battalion 633 commander Mak Chhoeun testified in the Case 002/02 trial:

the upper echelon's direction was to increase and organise forces such as producing children [...] Yes, the information was from the upper echelon down to the local levels, that our country was small, with less population but our land was big, so we had to increase our force in order to defend our country, that only when we had enough force that we can defend our country [...] We received the information down the chain of command; from down to the division level and then down to the other levels.³³²⁴

825. Meas Muth instructed his subordinates to arrange and celebrate vow ceremonies (weddings).³³²⁵ Deputy Division 164 Commanders Hang Doeun alias Dim,³³²⁶ Tim Seng and Kim Nhan (also Regiment 63 commander), as well as Regiment 140 commander Han³³²⁷ all implemented these instructions by organising and chairing forced marriage ceremonies, with Nhan playing a very active role. Mak Chhoeun stated that he was ordered to get married and that Meas Muth presided over weddings at the Division level.³³²⁸

ARRANGEMENT AND NOTIFICATION

a) Organisation

826. Weddings were organised in the Kampong Som Sector on a regular basis from late 1975³³²⁹ until the very end of the regime,³³³⁰ both for military and civilians.³³³¹ A large number of mass marriages were organised in Kampong Som, during which multiple couples were wed at the same time.³³³² Sometimes there were so many couples that people married someone other than their intended partner because of confused identities or, after the wedding, identified the wrong person as their spouse.³³³³
827. At the end of the regime, nearly all of the female soldiers of Battalion 167 (medics or workers from the transportation unit) had been married,³³³⁴ except for a handful who managed to evade such fate.³³³⁵ The large majority of the female soldiers who married did not choose their husbands but did not dare to refuse what the upper echelon had decided for them.³³³⁶ As the number of female soldiers available was not enough to satisfy the “disgruntled soldiers”, female civilians were also picked to become soldiers’ spouses.³³³⁷ Among the latter, a few had been previously engaged to Division 3 soldiers in their area of origin and were brought to Kampong Som in order to marry.³³³⁸ However, as in other parts of DK, the majority of the couples did not know each other at all or had barely seen their future spouse before the ceremony, as Angkar had decided who would marry whom.³³³⁹ Still, they had no choice but to accept to marry the person imposed by Angkar.³³⁴⁰
828. Mirroring patterns that were playing out across the country,³³⁴¹ many couples who were forcibly married in the area under Meas Muth’s control received little to no advance notice of their impending nuptials, sometimes not finding out about the marriage until the ceremony itself.³³⁴² Meas Saran did not know about the marriage arrangement in advance when she was invited to join a meeting at the Kampong Som Cinema in late 1975 or early 1976 with 70 other couples and was then married to a man she had never met before.³³⁴³ Others also called to work or to join a meeting or study session were then forcibly married.³³⁴⁴ Some women were forced to marry disabled soldiers they had never seen before.³³⁴⁵
829. Sometimes male soldiers were granted the privilege of seeking permission from the upper echelon to marry a specific woman.³³⁴⁶ In a society where any physical contact between unmarried men and women was strictly prohibited and punished,³³⁴⁷ these proposals were typically made on the basis of biography or physical appearance only, as the soldiers did not have the opportunity to get to know the person they chose.³³⁴⁸

830. For all matches — from those sought after by one or both partners, to the others that were the choice of neither partner — cadres, including high-level cadres, were required to seek authorisation from the upper echelons.³³⁴⁹ Authorities from all echelons took part in arranging marriages, including unit chairpersons and cooperative chairpersons,³³⁵⁰ as well as battalion, regiment, and division commanders.³³⁵¹
831. A request to marry had to be accompanied by the male's biography, which would be reviewed by the upper echelons.³³⁵² Before organising the wedding, the male's superior contacted the unit chief supervising the requested woman.³³⁵³ In all cases, any request or proposal to marry a woman had to first be accepted, as the final decision belonged to the Division 164 leadership.³³⁵⁴ Some specific proposals were denied and Angkar required the person to marry someone else.³³⁵⁵

b) Ceremony

832. Witnesses from Kampong Som Sector recounted the drastic differences between weddings prior to and during the DK regime, including the elimination of spiritual and cultural rituals and lack of family involvement.³³⁵⁶ Only the brides and grooms and the authorities representing Angkar were present at the ceremony.³³⁵⁷
833. The weddings were structured similarly to those occurring throughout the rest of the country.³³⁵⁸ First, men and women were typically seated in separate rows and notified of whom they would be marrying through the announcement of their names.³³⁵⁹ Couples were then instructed to hold hands and make vows, which encompassed promises to work hard for Angkar and to commit to their new spouse.³³⁶⁰ To save time, those presiding over mass weddings designated representatives to make vows on behalf of all couples.³³⁶¹ The wedding ceremonies were no more significant or personal to the brides and grooms than “a meeting”.³³⁶²
834. The locations where these weddings took place are significant, as the Division 164 headquarters (M-164, or “Ta Muth’s house”) and logistics office of Nhan were used,³³⁶³ as well as the two largest Division 164 meeting places (the cinema hall near Phsar Leu and the Regiment 140 training facility in Ochheuteal).³³⁶⁴ This establishes the participation and knowledge of the division leadership in those events and the official and exemplary character of those ceremonies. Other ceremonies were held in a house in Stung Hav, where Nav Sokhan alias Ken was forcibly married to one high-ranking cadre of Division 164,³³⁶⁵ at Toek Sap;³³⁶⁶ or in buildings close to cooperatives.³³⁶⁷

c) Lack of Consent

835. Like thousands of other victims across the country,³³⁶⁸ the men and women forced to marry in Kampong Som did not genuinely consent to their marriages.³³⁶⁹ Even in cases where individuals were not expressly threatened, the general atmosphere of terror made many believe that they would be punished, beaten, arrested, or killed for disrespecting the military orders or the Party if they refused.³³⁷⁰ They therefore had no choice but to accept the marriage.³³⁷¹ Because Angkar's decision was supposed to be infallible, it had to be absolutely respected (and similarly, divorces were prohibited).³³⁷² As Sam Vuthy, a mobile unit worker, explained, "their plan was that we had to get married that evening whether we agreed or disagreed".³³⁷³
836. Widespread fears regarding the consequences of refusal were not unfounded, as some who protested incurred threats or punishments.³³⁷⁴ Tae Ry was sent for re-education and guns were pointed at her.³³⁷⁵ She was brought to a quiet location and "the unit chief told the two soldiers that they could do whatever they wanted to me because I did not follow his order. They beat me until dawn and then they ordered me to work".³³⁷⁶ One week later, the wedding was organised after she was threatened that she would not be allowed to see her mother again if she continued to refuse to marry.³³⁷⁷
837. Even when Division 164 male soldiers were authorised (or forced) to petition their immediate superiors for permission to marry specific women, their choice was often restricted to a small group of females. Some women were brought out to the islands to be shown to soldiers stationed there.³³⁷⁸ Witness Koem Men, one of the Battalion 623 commanders, said that he asked his soldiers "whether they liked those women or not",³³⁷⁹ before they made their requests. Like other high-ranking cadres who had the responsibility to match couples, Koem Men claimed that those women and men freely agreed to be married.³³⁸⁰ However, Meas Saran, a woman forcibly married, explained, “No one dared to refuse because we were afraid they would not let us stay alive”.³³⁸¹ Koem Men himself admitted that there were some forms of pressure exercised on the brides and grooms to accept the decision made by Angkar.³³⁸² He also stated that he himself met his future wife only once and actually “did not know her before the wedding” arranged by Ta Nhan.³³⁸³

838. Participants in the ceremonies typically included both those who were forced to marry as well as others who “accepted” the situation or even married “voluntarily”.³³⁸⁴ People who dared to refuse to marry believed they could be killed for disobedience. However, one group of female soldiers managed to successfully resist forced marriage thanks to the solidarity of its members. An entire female unit refused to be married to Division 164 soldiers in Stung Hav because their parents were not involved in the process. This group of former Kampot (Srae Ambel) salt field workers claimed that they would rather die than be forcibly married. As the soldiers plotted to abduct or drug the women (one of them was found dead), they locked themselves in a house. Three days later, Ta Mok sent them back to the Southwest Zone.³³⁸⁵

d) Forced Consummation (Rape)

839. The CPK policy of forcing victims of forced marriage to consummate their marriages without their free consent (rape) in order to increase the population was thoroughly implemented by Meas Muth and his forces in Kampong Som. Officials in charge of weddings ordered newlyweds to “get to know each other”, “sleep together” or “fulfil our vows”,³³⁸⁶ obvious euphemisms for consummating the marriage.
840. Witnesses were ordered to live together for a few days and nights in a place especially dedicated for their use.³³⁸⁷ The couples were expected to use the time to consummate their marriages whether they wanted to or not.³³⁸⁸ Although there were barely any commune militiamen in the Kampong Som area as opposed to other independent sectors or zones, witnesses still recall that newlyweds were monitored in order to verify that they were consummating the marriage, as planned by Angkar.³³⁸⁹
841. Meas Muth’s subordinates employed a range of measures to force newlyweds to consummate their marriages, with the result that men and women generally believed they would be punished, arrested, or killed for “opposing Angkar” if they did not have sex.³³⁹⁰

In some cases, authorities “re-educated” or used explicit threats to coerce newlyweds into consummating their marriages, particularly when male soldiers reported the refusal of their spouse to have sexual intercourse.³³⁹¹ Most of the women then consummated the marriage out of fear of further punishment.³³⁹²

842. The men and women who were victims of the CPK forced marriage policy in Kampong Som were often also victims of rape, as they were coerced to have sexual relations without their free consent.

e) Physical and Mental Trauma Suffered by the Victims in Kampong Som Sector

843. The victims of forced marriage and of forced consummation (rape) in Kampong Som Sector were affected by multiple forms of trauma. Several reported experiencing physical distress when they realised they were being forced to marry someone they did not know or love and when they had to have sexual intercourse with him/her.³³⁹³ Some still have trouble accepting today that they were forcibly married in Kampong Som and have even tried to conceal it.³³⁹⁴ Many forcibly married couples separated or divorced after 1979.³³⁹⁵

5. CONCLUSION

844. The victims of the CPK’s forced marriage and forced consummation policies paid a high price for the regime to pursue its revolutionary goals. Many are still paying that price some 40 years later. Forced marriage and rapes committed (through the forced consummation of these marriages) by DK officials, including Meas Muth and his subordinates in Kampong Som independent sector, were widespread, systematic, and of a gravity equal to other enumerated crimes against humanity.

I. PURGE OF DIVISION 117 AND SECTOR 505³³⁹⁶

1. INTRODUCTION

845. Meas Muth was assigned to take charge of Division 117 and Sector 505 in Kratie Province in late November 1978, adding both the Sector and the Division to his increasing authority base. By this time, Meas Muth had already been promoted to Deputy Secretary of the General Staff and still retained his role as Secretary of Division 164. He first implemented the Party Centre’s decision to decapitate the previous Division and Sector leadership, organising the transportation of senior Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres to Phnom Penh, where they were arrested and incarcerated in S-21. Meas Muth then replaced those purged cadres, appointing his own Division 164 regiment commanders as secretaries of both Division 117 and Sector 505, and placing cadres from the Southwest Zone into other high-ranking positions under their control. As a mark of Division 164's dominance, Meas Muth also stationed Division 164 troops in Sector 505 to oversee the border fighting.

846. Once Meas Muth's complete authority over the Division and Sector had been established, his forces continued to purge the lower ranks, including Sector 505 commune chiefs, civilians and lower-ranked Division 117 soldiers throughout December 1978. Meas Muth personally ordered the immediate execution of at least one Sector 505 official. The purge was only halted by the Vietnamese invasion at the very end of 1978 which caused the Khmer Rouge control of Kratie to collapse.
847. This purge represented one of the CPK leadership's final desperate and self-destructive attempts to cleanse its ranks of those suspected of political disloyalty towards the Pol Pot regime. Following a series of defeats at the hands of the Vietnamese army in late 1978, the CPK leadership once again perceived treachery, assuming the Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres to be guilty of collusion or affiliation with Vietnam, the so-called "Yuon territory-swallowers".³³⁹⁷ Like previous purges in Kratie and the East Zone, the majority of the victims it alleged were conspiring with foreigners to overthrow the regime were the very individuals fighting to defend the DK border against Vietnamese advances.
848. The CPK leaders,³³⁹⁸ including General Staff and RAK Division commanders,³³⁹⁹ and Meas Muth,³⁴⁰⁰ shared the long-standing goal of the joint criminal plan to purge (arrest, detain and usually execute without any legal process) cadres suspected of such political disloyalty. By the time he was assigned to Kratie, Meas Muth's devotion to the leadership's criminal policies and his own previous contribution to this plan in Kampong Som had earned him the respect and trust of Pol Pot and the highest CPK leaders.
849. Meas Muth is also responsible, as the ultimate commander of the Division 117 and Sector 505 military, for the transfer of six purported Vietnamese "spies" to S-21 on 27 December 1978, pursuant to the Khmer Rouge's nationwide genocidal campaign against the Vietnamese.³⁴⁰¹ Meas Muth implemented the genocide enthusiastically, and worked to destroy the Vietnamese group in Kratie as he did for those Vietnamese captured in Cambodia's seas and on its islands.³⁴⁰²

2. AUTHORITY STRUCTURE

SECTOR 505 (KRATIE PROVINCE)

850. Located in the north-east of Cambodia,³⁴⁰³ Kratie occupied a strategically important border with Vietnam during the DK period. Although initially part of the Northeast Zone, in late 1976 or early 1977 much of Kratie Province became Autonomous Sector 505.³⁴⁰⁴ Sector 505 consisted of three districts: Kratie, Snuol and Sambor.³⁴⁰⁵ While Chhlaung District was part of Kratie Province prior to Khmer Rouge control of the area, and is so today, when Sector 505 was formed it had been ceded to the East Zone.³⁴⁰⁶ It was only in late 1978 after the East Zone purge that Chhlaung District was reintegrated into Sector 505.³⁴⁰⁷
851. In accordance with the CPK's strong hierarchical structure and organisational discipline,³⁴⁰⁸ Sector 505, like the zones and other autonomous sectors,³⁴⁰⁹ reported directly to the Party Centre,³⁴¹⁰ including General Staff Secretary Son Sen.³⁴¹¹ The Sector leadership reported "on various situations on a monthly basis," including "enemy situations [...] and general people situations," as well as the sector military's operations.³⁴¹² They also had monthly meetings with the Party Centre in Phnom Penh.³⁴¹³ In turn, the Sector received instructions from Office 870,³⁴¹⁴ including summonses to cadres to attend meetings in Phnom Penh.³⁴¹⁵
852. Within Sector 505, the sector committee, as the highest operational organisation,³⁴¹⁶ was charged with controlling both the population as a whole and the district and commune organisations that were subordinate to it.³⁴¹⁷ It administered discipline,³⁴¹⁸ and was responsible for the sector military.³⁴¹⁹ In autonomous sectors like Sector 505, the sector secretary played a key role in coordinating with the Centre leadership and identifying individuals to be arrested and sent to S-21.³⁴²⁰
853. At the next level, the district committees reported directly to the sector committee and in turn received orders from them.³⁴²¹ Similarly, multiple commune chiefs reported to and took orders from the district committees.³⁴²² District secretaries also had other subordinates, such as district security and military chiefs,³⁴²³ who were often responsible for carrying out orders related to arrests and killings³⁴²⁴ and overseeing security centres.³⁴²⁵ Where arrests were carried out by cooperative chiefs, they first met district officials to receive guidance.³⁴²⁶ All these individuals are subordinates of the sector secretary and his superior.

854. Kratie's proximity to Vietnam, the escalating armed conflict between DK and its neighbour,³⁴²⁷ and the CPK leadership's growing paranoid belief that "internal enemies" were colluding with the Vietnamese to overthrow the regime,³⁴²⁸ led the Centre to purge the Sector 505 leadership several times. After the first Sector Secretary, Ta Yem alias Sun, was transferred to Pyongyang in 1976,³⁴²⁹ Born Nan alias Yi succeeded him as Sector 505 Secretary.³⁴³⁰ Yi oversaw purges in 1977, which included sending Sector 505 Deputy Secretary Ban Saroeun alias Kang along with other high-ranking Sector 505 officials to S-21.³⁴³¹ Less than a year later, Yi himself was then arrested, along with his deputy and sector military chief, Kuon,³⁴³² as part of a massive purge in late March and early April 1978.³⁴³³ Several district committee members, worksite and hospital chiefs were taken to S-21.³⁴³⁴ Fifty-one lower-ranking Sector 505 cadres entered S-21 over a two-day period from 30 March to 1 April 1978.³⁴³⁵ After completing this purge, the Party Centre congratulated itself in Revolutionary Flag for the massacre.³⁴³⁶
855. Importantly, this 1978 purge marked the consolidation of the RAK's control of Sector 505,³⁴³⁷ under Meas Moeun,³⁴³⁸ the newly installed Sector Secretary, and his deputy, Khon.³⁴³⁹ Cadres from Centre military divisions, including Division 117 itself, were drafted in to fill vacancies in the Sector 505 leadership. Sector Secretary Meas Moeun, Kratie District Secretary Huon Yeng,³⁴⁴⁰ Snuol District Secretary Chhum Chin alias Phoen³⁴⁴¹ and Sam Voeun, Sambour District Secretary³⁴⁴² were all RAK military cadres appointed to fill these formerly civilian positions.³⁴⁴³

DIVISION 117

856. In 1977, in response to the demand for an increased military presence at the Vietnamese border, Division 117 was created at Longveaek, Kampong Chhnang, as a branch of West Zone Division 1.³⁴⁴⁴ Shortly after its creation, this new division moved to Kratie Province (Sector 505), was placed under the command of the Centre, and began reporting to the General Staff.³⁴⁴⁵ Any orders emanating from Office 870 would be sent to the division through the General Staff.³⁴⁴⁶ Division 117 was headquartered in Snuol District,³⁴⁴⁷ close to the Vietnamese border, with a second office located near Kratie town.³⁴⁴⁸

857. By the time Division 117 moved to Kratie, Khun Rum (Khun Rom or Khun Sarom) had been appointed commander, with Roath Leang as his deputy.³⁴⁴⁹ Svay Naunh was the Division 117 Office Chairman,³⁴⁵⁰ while Witness Moeng Vet was deputy chief of the Kratie town office.³⁴⁵¹ Division 117 was composed of three regiments, designated Regiments 15, 16 and 17,³⁴⁵² which each comprised three battalions, numbered 120 through 128.³⁴⁵³ Regiment 15 was commanded by Phan,³⁴⁵⁴ Regiment 16 by Nim,³⁴⁵⁵ and Regiment 17 by Chhut.³⁴⁵⁶ From its foundation, and particularly as casualties increased, Division 117 was a melting pot for soldiers from many Centre and regional military divisions.³⁴⁵⁷
858. In collaboration with Sector 505 military units,³⁴⁵⁸ Division 117 defended the DK-Vietnamese border in Kratie.³⁴⁵⁹ During 1977 and 1978 there was frequent fighting in the sector, with DK and Vietnamese forces making regular incursions into each other's territory.³⁴⁶⁰ DK forces routinely captured³⁴⁶¹ and killed³⁴⁶² Vietnamese nationals. Captured Vietnamese nationals, often declared by the CPK to have been engaged in espionage,³⁴⁶³ were transferred from Kratie to Phnom Penh, where they were interrogated in S-21³⁴⁶⁴ and their confessions broadcast over Khmer radio.³⁴⁶⁵

3. PURGE, REPLACE, CONTROL

859. By October 1978, Meas Muth had assumed his position as one of Son Sen's deputies on the General Staff.³⁴⁶⁶ He commanded Division 117 forces, receiving reports and issuing orders to troops engaged in fighting along the Vietnamese border.³⁴⁶⁷ Around this time, the border conflict between the DK and Vietnam began to intensify and Vietnamese forces made significant incursions into Cambodian territory.³⁴⁶⁸ DK forces could not successfully resist the attack of the militarily superior³⁴⁶⁹ Vietnamese and began to retreat.³⁴⁷⁰ At the same time, Vorn Vet was implicating the most senior Division 117 and Sector 505 leaders under torture at S-21.³⁴⁷¹ As a result, the Centre yet again suspected the region's leadership of treachery.³⁴⁷²
860. In response, around late November 1978, Meas Muth went to Kratie³⁴⁷³ on behalf of the Party Centre³⁴⁷⁴ to coordinate the transfer of almost all of the highest-ranking cadres from

Division 117 and Sector 505 to Phnom Penh,³⁴⁷⁵ where they were detained at S-21. These men were taken away by aeroplane³⁴⁷⁶ on the common pretext of attending work or study meetings.³⁴⁷⁷ The evidence suggests that they were transported in small groups over the course of around two weeks, filling spare seats on aircraft used to transport wounded soldiers for treatment in Phnom Penh.³⁴⁷⁸ The replacement Sector 505 Office Chief, Seng Soeun, provided an eyewitness account of Meas Muth being present as two of the purged cadres boarded an aircraft bound for Phnom Penh.³⁴⁷⁹ As he explained, Meas Muth was there to “organize and call those they wanted to board the plane”.³⁴⁸⁰

861. Specifically, Meas Muth ensured the transfer to Phnom Penh of at least the following senior cadres, who were subsequently detained and executed at S-21:

- (a) Sector 505 Secretary Meas Moeun³⁴⁸¹ and Deputy Secretary Chhim Khon;³⁴⁸²
- (b) Snuol District Secretary Chhum Chin (or Chen) alias Phoan, and Kratie District Secretary Huon Yeng;³⁴⁸³
- (c) Division 117 Secretary Khun Rum,³⁴⁸⁴ Deputy Secretary Roath Leang,³⁴⁸⁵ and Division Office Chief Svay Naunh,³⁴⁸⁶ and
- (d) Three Regiment commanders from Division 117: Regiment 15 Secretary Kel Sophan alias Phan,³⁴⁸⁷ Regiment 81 Secretary Chap Hoeun, and Regiment 82 Secretary By Ry (or Vy).³⁴⁸⁸

862. Given that both Division 117 and Sector 505 forces were defending the Vietnamese border,³⁴⁸⁹ and the military background of the senior Sector 505 cadres,³⁴⁹⁰ it is no surprise that the purge of both occurred at the same time and followed the same pattern. As the most striking example, the two top leaders, Sector 505 Secretary Meas Moeun and Division 117 Secretary Khun Rum boarded the same plane to Phnom Penh, and entered S-21 together on 8 December 1978.³⁴⁹¹ The purge of these two individuals is noteworthy for the further reason that Meas Moeun was Meas Muth’s cousin, and Khun Rum was Meas Muth’s nephew.³⁴⁹² Such was Meas Muth’s loyalty to the Party and his commitment to the policy to cleanse it of internal enemies, that he was willing to purge and send his own relatives to S-21.

863. Meas Muth's involvement in Kratie was not confined to overseeing the purge of its elite cadres. Rather "[t]hey had Meas Muth come to organise both the military and civilian side in Kratie Sector",³⁴⁹³ a euphemistic account of Meas Muth and Division 164's takeover of Division 117 and Sector 505.³⁴⁹⁴ Meas Muth knew that the old cadres would not return from Phnom Penh, so as the purge was implemented, he convened a meeting of the remaining Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres, at which he announced that the former leaders had been "traitors",³⁴⁹⁵ who were "not resolute in fighting the Vietnamese" army,³⁴⁹⁶ and confirmed their replacements.³⁴⁹⁷
864. Meas Muth filled the two most important positions with his own regiment commanders from Division 164: Regiment 61 Commander Pheap (full name Kong or Sok Pheap)³⁴⁹⁸ replaced Meas Moeun as Sector 505 Secretary,³⁴⁹⁹ and former Regiment 63 Commander and Division 164 Committee Member Kim Nhan³⁵⁰⁰ was assigned to take over as the new Secretary of Division 117.³⁵⁰¹ Meas Muth also deployed a considerable number of Division 164 troops to control the other forces in Kratie.³⁵⁰² Indeed, Division 164's control could not have been felt more acutely than when they began to shoot and kill DK forces retreating from the attacking Vietnamese,³⁵⁰³ in accordance with Centre policy.³⁵⁰⁴
865. Around five Southwest Zone cadres were also flown in to fill senior positions left by purged cadres,³⁵⁰⁵ with Phon alias Ti appointed the new Deputy 505 Secretary,³⁵⁰⁶ and Leng Pak replacing Yeng as Kratie District Secretary.³⁵⁰⁷ San became the army chief of Kratie District³⁵⁰⁸ and Khon took responsibility for agriculture.³⁵⁰⁹ Witness Seng Soeun was put in charge of the sector office.³⁵¹⁰ Each of these new appointees reported upon their arrival to Meas Muth,³⁵¹¹ who assigned them their new appointments.³⁵¹²
866. From this point onwards, Meas Muth maintained a physical presence in Kratie, enjoying a close relationship with the Sector elite.³⁵¹³ At the same time, he continued his General Staff duties in Phnom Penh,³⁵¹⁴ and commanded Division 164 in Kampong Som.³⁵¹⁵ In addition to his own Division 164 personnel, he remained in command and control of both Sector 505 officials and Division 117 commanders,³⁵¹⁶ as evidenced by the orders he issued.³⁵¹⁷ As Seng Soeun explained, "[t]he Sector military and the divisions were in the hands of Muth".³⁵¹⁸

4. THE PURGE CONTINUES

867. Throughout December 1978, Meas Muth and his subordinates continued the purge, arresting lower-level cadres and civilians, some of whom were called away and simply “disappeared forever”.³⁵¹⁹ Meas Muth personally ordered the killing of the Sector military cadre,³⁵²⁰ Mao Oeung,³⁵²¹ telling Seng Soeun that “he had already solved the matter”.³⁵²² Witness Em Sarin, Sector 505 Office Secretary,³⁵²³ was sent to Phnom Penh with Division 117 Deputy Regiment Commander Pheng,³⁵²⁴ under orders from the new Sector 505 Deputy Secretary, Ti.³⁵²⁵ There he was detained for three days near Pochentong Market by Division 502.³⁵²⁶
868. Twenty-two (22) Sector 505 cadres, including commune and cooperative chiefs, and Sector 505 civilians – likely villagers fleeing from advancing Vietnamese troops³⁵²⁷ – were transferred to Phnom Penh and entered S-21 together on 27 December 1978. They were executed four days later, on 31 December 1978.³⁵²⁸ Other Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres and civilians were sent to local security centres in Kratie Province,³⁵²⁹ including Kok Kduoch Security Centre in Sambour District,³⁵³⁰ while more fled, fearing arrest.³⁵³¹
869. In addition, six purported Vietnamese “spies” were sent from Kratie on 27 December 1978,³⁵³² coinciding with a massive Vietnamese military incursion into Kratie.³⁵³³

5. CRIMES

IMPRISONMENT

870. As described above, in late November and throughout December 1978, many Division 117 and Sector 505 officials as well as Sector 505 civilians and purported Vietnamese “spies” were arrested, and either imprisoned at S-21, near Pochentong Market in Phnom Penh, or within security centres located in Kratie Province, including Kok Kduoch security centre.
871. The arrest and detention of Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres, civilians and Vietnamese “spies” took place without any legal process and was therefore arbitrary. DK authorities did not establish courts, criminal codes, or legal processes.³⁵³⁴ As a result, there was no judicial authorisation for, or review of, the arrests and detention. Detainees were not informed of the charges against them. Instead, many of the Khmer Rouge cadres were detained under the pretence that they were being sent away to study or work. None of the detainees was entitled to challenge his or her arrest and imprisonment through any judicial mechanism, or offered any kind of trial.

872. In the majority of cases, the regime's "suspicions" about the arrested individuals resulted only from the confessions obtained through torture of those who had gone through S-21 and other DK security centres before them.³⁵³⁵ The fact that Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres were implicated in S-21 interrogations by detainees like Vorn Vet,³⁵³⁶ or other cadres, is patently unreliable and fails to provide any justification for subsequent arrests, detentions or executions. As the CPK leadership knew,³⁵³⁷ confessions extracted in these circumstances are inherently unreliable. In any event, it is clear that the decision as to which high-level cadres to arrest had already been made when Meas Muth went to Kratie.
873. As discussed further in VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre,³⁵³⁸ once at S-21, all prisoners were deprived of their liberty in the most inhumane fashion. They were brought into the inescapable facility handcuffed and blindfolded, and remained permanently shackled except when taken out for interrogation or execution. Similarly, prisoners at Kok Kduoch Security Centre were handcuffed and shackled to others on arrival, with serious level prisoners permanently shackled and handcuffed throughout their detention.³⁵³⁹ Em Sarin also described his detention by Division 502 at Pochentong Market under guard.³⁵⁴⁰

Murder, Extermination, and Enforced Disappearances

874. In addition to the unlawful killing of Mao Oeung in Kratie, which Meas Muth himself ordered,³⁵⁴¹ at least 32 Division 117 and Sector 505 officials, civilians and six alleged Vietnamese "spies" were ultimately unlawfully executed in S-21. The circumstances of the deaths at S-21 are discussed further in VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre.
875. In a regime often referred to as the "regime of secrecy",³⁵⁴² little or no information was given about individuals who had been arrested. As far as those left behind were concerned, these people had simply "disappeared".³⁵⁴³ There was no court or other system to complain of disappearances.³⁵⁴⁴

Persecution on Political Grounds

876. Moeng Vet described a meeting at which Meas Muth characterised the purged Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres as “traitors” to the DK regime, because they were distrusted after they retreated from the border during Vietnamese attacks.³⁵⁴⁵ Seng Soeun similarly testified to being told that the previous cadres in Kratie had been arrested for “being part of the traitorous network”.³⁵⁴⁶ Former Division 117 soldier Cheang Chuo spoke of alleged “collaborat[ion] with the Yuon”.³⁵⁴⁷ Other witnesses, including relatives of the purged cadres, attributed the allegations of treachery levied against the purged cadres to their failure to successfully repel the Vietnamese incursions.³⁵⁴⁸ Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres were targeted because they were considered by the CPK leaders, including Meas Muth, to be “traitors” or “internal enemies” who were a threat to the CPK leadership and perceived to be affiliated with an enemy state, Vietnam, and opposed to CPK rule.
877. Vietnamese “spies” arrested in Kratie and sent to S-21 were targeted by Meas Muth and his subordinates on the basis of their classification by the CPK as enemies of the DK regime. As announced in a 1976 meeting of Central Division and Independent Regiment Commanders:

In our status as an army, we must know the subjects that we must attack, namely American imperialism, and the Vietnam revisionists and their traitorous henchmen.³⁵⁴⁹

IX. LAW

A. CRIMES

878. Meas Muth is charged with crimes set out under articles 4, 5, and 6 of the ECCC Law, which confer jurisdiction on the ECCC over genocide, crimes against humanity (“CAH”), and grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions 1949 (“GC” or “GCs”), respectively. The commission of any of these crimes may occur through act or omission³⁵⁵⁰ and is not limited to direct physical perpetration.³⁵⁵¹

1. GENOCIDE

879. Article 4 of the ECCC Law confers jurisdiction on the Court over the crime of genocide as defined in the 1948 Genocide Convention. The actus reus of genocide consists of the commission³⁵⁵² of at least one of the listed categories of acts of genocide (detailed below).³⁵⁵³ The mens rea comprises both the requisite intent to commit the listed act and the specific intent (dolus specialis) of genocide: “the intent to destroy, in whole or in part, a national, ethnical, racial or religious group as such”.³⁵⁵⁴

THE PROTECTED GROUP

880. Consistent with the Genocide Convention, the ECCC Law prescribes four categories of protected group: national, ethnical,³⁵⁵⁵ racial, and religious. The protected group must be defined positively, by reference to a common identity, not negatively, by reference to its lack of any particular identity.³⁵⁵⁶ Where more than one group is targeted, the elements of genocide must be considered in relation to each group separately.³⁵⁵⁷

881. Any attempt to differentiate each of the group categories on the basis of scientific criteria would be inconsistent with the object and purpose of the Genocide Convention.³⁵⁵⁸ In its Resolution 96(I), the UN General Assembly defined genocide as “a denial of the right of existence of entire human groups”.³⁵⁵⁹ This was followed by the UN Secretariat (1948),³⁵⁶⁰ and the ICJ (1951),³⁵⁶¹ and was later reconfirmed by the ICJ,³⁵⁶² ICTY,³⁵⁶³ and ICTR.³⁵⁶⁴ The ICTY Trial Chamber in Krstić noted:

The preparatory work of the Convention shows that setting out such a list was designed more to describe a single phenomenon, roughly corresponding to what was recognised, before the second world war, as ‘national minorities’, rather than to refer to several distinct prototypes of human groups.³⁵⁶⁵

882. As such, tribunals and commissions implementing the Convention have largely avoided providing concrete definitions or delineating precise boundaries of the protected groups, and have emphasised their preference for a flexible interpretation of the categories. The ICTY,³⁵⁶⁶ ICTR,³⁵⁶⁷ and Darfur Commission³⁵⁶⁸ have all confirmed that it falls within the Genocide Convention and Customary International Law (“CIL”) to punish as genocide acts intended to destroy stable and permanent human groups, to which individuals belong regardless of their own desires, even if they do not fit neatly into one of the four group titles named in the Convention.

883. The determination of what constitutes a protected group in any given case is conducted on the basis of both objective and subjective criteria.³⁵⁶⁹ The objective criteria include the relevant political, social, historical, and cultural context.³⁵⁷⁰ The subjective criteria include the stigmatisation or singling out of a group by the perpetrator(s) on the basis of the group's perceived characteristics,³⁵⁷¹ including by the use of derogatory epithets.³⁵⁷² In some instances, the victim may perceive himself to belong to the group.³⁵⁷³ As the ICTR pointed out in Bagilishema:

A group may not have precisely defined boundaries and there may be occasions when it is difficult to give a definitive answer as to whether or not a victim was a member of a protected group. Moreover, the perpetrators of genocide may characterize the targeted group in ways that do not fully correspond to conceptions of the group shared generally, or by other segments of society. In such a case, the Chamber is of the opinion that, on the evidence, if a victim was perceived by a perpetrator as belonging to a protected group, the victim could be considered by the Chamber as a member of the protected group, for the purposes of genocide.³⁵⁷⁴

884. International courts have consistently adopted a flexible approach to fitting targeted populations into the Convention's four group categories. In Akayesu, the ICTR Trial Chamber defined a national group as "a collection of people who are perceived to share a legal bond based on common citizenship, coupled with reciprocity of rights and duties."³⁵⁷⁵ However, the Co-Prosecutor submits that this definition is unduly narrow and incomplete. When espousing this jurisdictional definition, the ICTR expressly relied on a dictum of the ICJ in the Nottebohm Judgment, yet in this context, the ICJ was interested in defining the meaning of "nationality" in the context of the right of a state to exercise diplomatic protection. It had no concern with the meaning of "national group" within the meaning of the Genocide Convention. "Nations" are not founded purely on common citizenship; nationality is not synonymous with a "national group", some of whom may actually hold the nationality of another State or who may be stateless.³⁵⁷⁶ As Oppenheim cautioned, "nationality" in the sense of citizenship of a state must not be confused with membership in a certain nation in the sense of "race".³⁵⁷⁷

885. Indeed, the ICTY, when applying the “national group” concept in Krstić and later cases, has been reluctant to analyse group citizenship or clearly distinguish the targeted group’s nationality from other groups. Despite the lack of a unique citizenship, it held that the Bosnian Muslims were a “national group” based on their recognition as a “nation” by the Yugoslav Constitution of 1963, and the fact that the Bosnian Serb political and military authorities viewed the Bosnian Muslims as a specific national group.³⁵⁷⁸ The finding that the Bosnian Muslims constituted a “protected group” was then followed without further analysis in Blagojević,³⁵⁷⁹ Brđanin,³⁵⁸⁰ Popović,³⁵⁸¹ Karadžić,³⁵⁸² and Tolimir.³⁵⁸³ In fact, in the majority of these subsequent cases, there is no reference to the “national group” designation made in Krstić and many of them devote more time discussing Bosnian Muslims, Bosnian Croats, and Bosnian Serbs in terms of distinct ethnicities.³⁵⁸⁴ The ICJ also accepted Bosnian Muslims as a “targeted group” without confirming which, if any, of the four categories it considered them to fall into.³⁵⁸⁵
886. An ethnic group has been characterised as one “whose members share a common language or culture.”³⁵⁸⁶ However, in Akayesu, the same Trial Chamber that posited this definition found the Tutsi to be a distinct “ethnic group” even though the Tutsi and Hutu cannot be distinguished on the basis of either language or culture. It based its decision on identity cards referencing Rwandans’ ethnic group, various mentions of these ethnic groups in national and international instruments, and the fact that trial witnesses “answered spontaneously and without hesitation” regarding their ethnic identity (self-perception).³⁵⁸⁷ In the Al Bashir case, the ICC has found the Fur, Masalit, and Zaghawa constitute distinct ethnic groups for the purposes of the Genocide Convention, as each has its own language, tribal customs and traditional links to their lands.³⁵⁸⁸
887. A racial group has been defined as being “based on the hereditary physical traits often identified with a geographical region, irrespective of linguistic, cultural, national or religious factors.”³⁵⁸⁹ However, “race” has proved difficult to characterise. The IMT referred to the Jewish people as a “racial group” rather than a “religious group” without any meaningful analysis.³⁵⁹⁰ Highlighting both this definitional challenge and the interrelationship between the protected groups, the International Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Racial Discrimination (“ICEAFRD”) defines the term “racial” discrimination, partly in terms of other group designations, as “any distinction, exclusion, restriction or preference based on race, colour, descent, or national or ethnic origin”.³⁵⁹¹

888. A religious group is “one whose members share the same religion, denomination or mode of worship.”³⁵⁹² The recent Syria Commission Report classified the Yazidis as a religious group, based on both objective and subjective criteria.³⁵⁹³

ACTUS REUS

889. Article 4 of the ECCC Law, reflecting the Genocide Convention, lists the following acts of genocide: (1) killing members of the group; (2) causing serious bodily or mental harm to members of the group; (3) deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part; (4) imposing measures intended to prevent births within the group; and (5) forcibly transferring children from one group to another group. As only the first is relevant to the Meas Muth case, the Co-Prosecutor confines his analysis accordingly.

Killing Members of the Group

890. The material elements of killing as an act of genocide are the same as those for murder as a CAH.³⁵⁹⁴ Numeric assessment of the number of people killed is not required for the actus reus to be established.³⁵⁹⁵ The victim must have belonged to a protected group,³⁵⁹⁶ or the perpetrator of the crime believed that he did.³⁵⁹⁷ Killing in the context of genocide does not need to have been premeditated.³⁵⁹⁸

MENS REA

a) Intent to Destroy the Group “As Such”

891. It is the intent “to destroy, in whole or in part, a [protected group] as such”³⁵⁹⁹ that distinguishes genocide from other crimes.³⁶⁰⁰ As set out above,³⁶⁰¹ the Genocide Convention was enacted with the object and purpose of promoting the survival of human groups and punishing those who seek to eradicate them. The crime of genocide was not conceived because otherwise mistreatment or murders of members of a group would go unpunished – these crimes were already criminalised and punishable as murder, extermination and/or persecution. Rather, the Convention recognises the particular harm suffered when an entire group is targeted:

the ultimate victim of genocide is the group, although its destruction necessarily requires the commission of crimes against its members, that is, against individuals belonging to that group.³⁶⁰²

892. Consonant with genocide's underlying rationale, the requirement that the perpetrator intend to destroy a group "as such" means to destroy it as a "separate and distinct entity",³⁶⁰³ such that even where members of the group or their descendants live on, they cannot be identified and do not identify themselves as belonging to the group. It has been posited that the wording "as such" signifies the requirement that a prohibited act will only amount to genocide if it was committed against a victim "specifically because" of his membership in a protected group,³⁶⁰⁴ with the "effet utile of drawing a clear distinction between mass murder and crimes in which the perpetrator targets a specific group because of its nationality, race, ethnicity or religion."³⁶⁰⁵ Yet this interpretation would render the wording "as such" otiose, since the intention to destroy the group in whole or in part already encompasses the notion of the victim's perceived membership in the targeted group. At the same time, it falls short of capturing the essence of genocide. As the ICJ explained, the mens rea for genocide goes beyond the targeting of some individuals merely because of their membership in a particular group.³⁶⁰⁶ Such discriminatory intent suffices for the CAH of persecution, but not for genocide in which the perpetrator must seek to destroy the distinguishable community as such.³⁶⁰⁷

893. The requirement of genocidal intent — to destroy the group in whole or in part as a separate and distinct entity — is analytically distinct from the requirement for an underlying prohibited act, or actus reus, of genocide.³⁶⁰⁸ As Judge Shahabuddeen noted in Krstić, one must not "overlook a distinction between the nature of the listed 'acts' and the 'intent' with which they are done."³⁶⁰⁹ Therefore, while the perpetrator's "intent to destroy" the protected group will often be manifested through his participation in one of the listed acts constituting the actus reus, and indeed, participation in one of those acts is required in order to fulfil the material elements of genocide, nothing in the Convention requires the perpetrator to plan the destruction of the group, in whole or in part, solely through one or more of those acts.

894. Some international jurisprudence has found that the intended “destruction” of a group must be “physical or biological”.³⁶¹⁰ Yet, a group’s existence is a separate issue from the mere survival of its individual members; a group is a unit, which exists both physically and socially. It is indeed comprised of its people, but also of, inter alia, its history, traditions, the relationship between its members, the relationship with other groups, and the relationship with the land that binds the individual members of the group.³⁶¹¹ The destruction of a group identifiable as a separate and distinct entity may thus take many other forms, which may involve neither the physical destruction (death) of its individual members, nor even of their individual ability to produce future generations. A group can be deprived of its existence through the destruction of its specific traits, or dispersal of its members, leading to the dissolution of its unity and/or collective identity in a fundamental and irremediable manner. Judge Shahabuddeen articulated this in Krstić:

The stress placed in the literature on the need for physical or biological destruction implies, correctly, that a group can be destroyed in non-physical or non-biological ways. It is not apparent why an intent to destroy a group in a non-physical or non-biological way should be outside the ordinary reach of the Convention [...], provided that that intent attached to a listed act [...].³⁶¹²

It is the group which is protected. A group is constituted by characteristics – often intangible – binding together a collection of people as a social unit. If those characteristics have been destroyed in pursuance of the intent with which a listed act [...] was done, it is not convincing to say that the destruction, though effectively obliterating the group, is not genocide because the obliteration was not physical or biological.³⁶¹³

895. Indeed, the Convention itself reflects this viewpoint, given that the acts of genocide listed in the Convention do not themselves necessarily involve physical or biological destruction. For example, “forcibly transferring children of the group to another group” is considered a genocidal act.³⁶¹⁴ Where the children are transferred without physical harm, and even where they are provided a higher standard of material life in the new group,³⁶¹⁵ transferring children is an effective method to destroy the group characteristics “binding together a collection of people as a social unit.”³⁶¹⁶ If a government were to transfer all of the children from families belonging to an isolated minority group to state institutions or families outside the group, within a generation or two the group “as such” would disappear. Drafters of the Genocide Convention themselves acknowledged that forcibly indoctrinating children into the customs, language, religion, and values of a foreign group was “tantamount to the destruction of the [children’s] group, whose future depended on that generation of children.”³⁶¹⁷ This is precisely what a recent report of the Commission of Inquiry on Syria warning of an ongoing genocide of Yazidis by ISIS has found is happening to the Yazidi children: by removing the children from their families, “ISIS intentionally seeks to destroy Yazidi children’s concept of themselves as Yazidi, erasing their attachment to the Yazidi religion. Whereas Yazidi girls are prevented from practising their religion, Yazidi boys are fully indoctrinated into ISIS ideology.”³⁶¹⁸ So, while the transfer of children does nothing to “physically or biologically” destroy the group given that the children live on, it does destroy the group “as such” in that the transferred children will no longer identify themselves with the group.

896. Similarly, acts like deportation/forced transfer of a particular group, which does not fall within the listed acts constituting the actus reus of genocide, can bring about the destruction of the group “as such”, and therefore be probative of mens rea, demonstrating the perpetrator’s intent to destroy the group. As the Blagojević Trial Chamber explained:

physical or biological destruction of the group is the likely outcome of a forcible transfer of the population when this transfer is conducted in such a way that the group can no longer reconstitute itself — particularly when it involves the separation of its members. In such cases [...] the forcible transfer of individuals could lead to the material destruction of the group, since the group ceases to exist as a group, or at least as the group it was.³⁶¹⁹

Here, the Blagojević Trial Chamber accepted prior ICTY jurisprudence that “physical or biological” destruction was required, but interpreted physical destruction to include situations where the members of the group live on but are so dispersed as to destroy the possibility of the continued existence of the group.

897. In this vein, the Krstić Appeals Chamber held that the transfer of women, children and elderly from the Srebrenica enclave to Bosnian government controlled territory unharmed “could be an additional means by which to ensure the physical destruction of the Bosnian Muslim community in Srebrenica” as it eliminated “even the residual possibility that the Muslim community in the area could reconstitute itself.”³⁶²⁰ Indeed, before 1975, some States had listed the forced transfer of adults, in addition to children, as genocidal acts.³⁶²¹

898. Likewise, forced conversions, or forced renunciations of religion, demonstrate an intent to destroy the religious group “as such”. If no one practises a religion, the group ceases to exist as a religious group. The Syria Commission found that “Yazidi men and older boys were forced to convert or die, in either case leading to their destruction as Yazidis.”³⁶²² Of course, conversions through philosophical, moral or economic persuasion, or even through forms of discrimination outside of the listed genocidal acts, will not amount to genocide by itself. Genocide can only occur when the destruction of the group is undertaken, at least in part, through one of the five genocidal acts, the necessary actus reus. However, when the conversions are accomplished by, for example, killing those who refuse to convert, however few in number, with the intent to destroy the religious group, this is clearly genocide.
899. Additionally, non-listed acts may be considered evidence confirming the intent to destroy the group.³⁶²³ As Judge Shahabuddeen noted, “[t]he destruction of cultural property may serve evidentially to confirm an intent, to be gathered from other circumstances, to destroy the group, as such”.³⁶²⁴ The ICJ endorsed the Krstić Trial Judgment statement that “where there is physical or biological destruction there are often simultaneous attacks on the cultural and religious property and symbols of the targeted group as well, attacks which may legitimately be considered as evidence of an intent to physically destroy the group.”³⁶²⁵
900. In sum, the Genocide Convention and ECCC Law is to be read to mean that, provided that the perpetrator has committed a listed act (actus reus), the intent to destroy the group “as such” is capable of being proved by evidence of an intent to cause the destruction of the group through acts not listed in the Genocide Convention or ECCC Law. It therefore behoves the Court to look at the complete matrix of acts against the protected group in considering the accused’s mens rea. In this way, the transfer of women and children at Srebrenica could not be overlooked since it “was part – an integral part – of one single scheme to commit genocide, involving killings, forcible transfer and destruction of homes.”³⁶²⁶

b) In Whole or in Part

901. A person committing a prohibited act will be guilty of genocide if he intended the destruction of the targeted group in whole, or in part. There is no numeric threshold of victims necessary to establish genocide.³⁶²⁷
902. As for the intent to destroy a group in part, the accused must be shown to have intended to destroy a substantial part of the protected group.³⁶²⁸ Numbers alone are “not in all cases the ending point of the inquiry”.³⁶²⁹ The determination of whether the targeted part is substantial will depend on a number of quantitative and qualitative factors. Size should be assessed not only in absolute terms, but also relative to the total population of the group: if the part is sufficiently large in relative terms, is emblematic of or prominent in the group, or essential to its survival, it may be deemed a substantial part.³⁶³⁰ These criteria are not exhaustive.³⁶³¹ The part must be significant enough that its destruction will have an impact on, or threaten, the survival of the group as a whole.³⁶³² This requirement may be established where, for example, the leadership of a group is targeted for destruction.³⁶³³
903. The intent to destroy a group in part may extend only to a limited geographical area such as the region of a country or a municipality.³⁶³⁴ The area of the perpetrators’ activity, control, and the possible extent of their reach are each factors relevant to the assessment of intent to destroy a substantial part of a protected group.³⁶³⁵ The applicability of these factors and their relative weight will vary depending on the circumstances of a particular case.³⁶³⁶

c) Establishing Intent

904. In Krstić, the ICTY Appeals Chamber noted that genocidal intent is not usually susceptible to direct proof, but could often be inferred from the facts and circumstances of the case.³⁶³⁷ Such facts need not form part of the actus reus of the crime.³⁶³⁸
905. Factors relevant to this analysis may include the general context; the perpetration of other culpable acts systematically directed against the same group (whether committed by the same offender or others); the scale of atrocities committed, the weapons employed and the extent of bodily injuries inflicted; the systematic targeting of victims on account of their membership of a particular group; the repetition of destructive and discriminatory acts, the use of derogatory language towards members of the targeted group; the methodical planning of systematic killings;³⁶³⁹ speeches or projects laying the groundwork for and justifying the acts aimed at undermining the foundation of the targeted group;³⁶⁴⁰ and the political doctrine which gave rise to the acts referred to.³⁶⁴¹ In assessing evidence of genocidal intent, the Court should consider whether all of the evidence, taken together, demonstrates a genocidal mental state, instead of considering separately whether an accused intended to destroy a protected group through each of the relevant acts of genocide.³⁶⁴²

906. The crime of genocide does not require the existence of a policy or plan,³⁶⁴³ although the existence of either may facilitate proof of intent and of the crime itself.³⁶⁴⁴ Provided it can be shown that there was intent to destroy the group as such in whole or in part, the motive that led to the decision to commit the crime (such as political, military or economic gain, fear, hatred, or revenge) is irrelevant.³⁶⁴⁵ Making exceptions for certain individuals or sub-populations within the protected group does not necessarily preclude the existence of genocidal intent, as long as the protected group is still targeted for destruction, in substantial part.³⁶⁴⁶
907. The actual destruction of the group, or even of a large number of persons, is not a prerequisite to a finding of genocidal intent; a single killing, if committed with the requisite intent to destroy the group in whole or in part, can amount to a genocidal act.³⁶⁴⁷ Similarly, a perpetrator's failure to implement his intent to the fullest, leaving the act of destruction incomplete, does not preclude a finding of genocidal intent.³⁶⁴⁸ There is no requirement that the perpetrator chose the most efficient method to accomplish the objective of destroying the targeted group or part thereof.³⁶⁴⁹

d) Applicable Modes of Responsibility

908. Article 4 of the ECCC Law states that attempts and conspiracy to commit acts of genocide, as well as participation in acts of genocide may be punished at the ECCC. As neither attempts nor conspiracy have been charged in the Closing Order, the Co-Prosecutor confines his analysis to the meaning of "participation in acts of genocide".
909. Read together with article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law, the phrase "participation in acts of genocide" indicates that the common forms of criminal participation listed in article 29^{new} (committing, planning, instigating, ordering, aiding and abetting, and superior responsibility) are equally applicable to article 4.

910. The term “participation” is not a term of art; its ordinary meaning is “the act of taking part in something, such as [...] a crime”.³⁶⁵⁰ “Participation” has been used to refer collectively to the modes of liability of committing, planning, ordering, instigating, and aiding and abetting, including in relation to acts of genocide.³⁶⁵¹ Moreover, article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law expressly makes these forms of criminal participation applicable to the crime of genocide: “Any Suspect who planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, or committed the crimes referred to in article [...] 4 [...] of this law shall be individually responsible for the crime.”³⁶⁵² Under the same provision, an accused may be responsible as a superior for genocide.³⁶⁵³
911. The statutes of the ad hoc tribunals similarly contain, in addition to a list of punishable acts in their genocide provisions (in the case of the ICTY, article 4(3)), forms of criminal participation similar to those found in article 29^{new} (ICTY Statute, articles 7(1) and 7(3)) which the ICTY Statute expressly states are applicable to genocide. In dealing with this “overlap,” the ICTY Appeals Chamber has held that the “modes of participation” should be “read into” the ICTY Statute’s genocide provision, “because the Statute must be interpreted with the utmost respect to the language used by the legislator”.³⁶⁵⁴
912. Accordingly, Meas Muth may be responsible for genocide under all the modes of criminal participation listed in article 29^{new}.³⁶⁵⁵ The Co-Prosecutor notes that participation in a joint criminal enterprise (“JCE”) amounts to “commission” within the scope of article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law,³⁶⁵⁶ and responsibility for participation in a JCE is a form of responsibility relevant to genocide.³⁶⁵⁷ Indeed, a number of ICTY and ICTR defendants have been convicted of genocide pursuant to the basic form, JCE I.³⁶⁵⁸

2. CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

913. Article 5 of the ECCC Law confers jurisdiction on the ECCC over CAH. CAH formed part of CIL during the period of the ECCC’s temporal jurisdiction.³⁶⁵⁹ The specific offences include murder, extermination, enslavement, imprisonment, torture, persecutions on political, racial and religious grounds, and other inhumane acts. The elements of each of these offences are discussed below.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

914. CAH under Article 5 of the ECCC Law are distinguished by the general requirement that they are committed “as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against any civilian population, on national, political, ethnical, racial or religious grounds.”³⁶⁶⁰ Under CIL in 1975, the definition of CAH did not require a nexus to an armed conflict, war crimes, or crimes against peace.³⁶⁶¹ The individual components of the chapeau requirement are addressed in turn below.

Attack

915. An “attack” is a course of conduct involving the multiple commission of acts of violence, or any mistreatment of the civilian population, including that reflected by the underlying offences in Article 5 of the ECCC Law.³⁶⁶² The acts which constitute an attack need not themselves be punishable as CAH, and are not limited to the use of armed force.³⁶⁶³ Moreover, an “attack” on a civilian population is a separate concept from an armed conflict. If there is an armed conflict, an attack may precede, outlast or continue through it, without necessarily being part of it.³⁶⁶⁴

Widespread or Systematic

916. The attack must be widespread or systematic; either is sufficient.³⁶⁶⁵ The term “widespread” refers to “the large-scale nature of the attack and the number of victims”³⁶⁶⁶ and may be established by the “cumulative effect of a series of inhumane acts or the singular effect of an inhumane act of extraordinary magnitude.”³⁶⁶⁷ The term “systematic” does not require the attack to be large-scale but relates to the “organised nature of the acts of violence and the improbability of their random occurrence.”³⁶⁶⁸ Systematicity may be established by evidence of a “non-accidental repetition of similar criminal conduct.”³⁶⁶⁹

Directed Against any Civilian Population

917. The attack must be “directed against any civilian population”. This requires that the civilian population be the primary object, rather than an incidental victim, of the attack.³⁶⁷⁰

918. The notion of “civilian” for the purposes of this element refers to all persons who are not members of any enemy armed forces taking an active part in hostilities and therefore includes persons such as members of the armed forces who have laid down their arms and those persons placed hors de combat by sickness, wounds, detention or any other cause.³⁶⁷¹ As noted by the Blaškić Trial Chamber, “the specific situation of the victim at the moment the crimes were committed, rather than his status, must be taken into account in determining his standing as a civilian.”³⁶⁷² As the laws of war recognise the legitimacy of targeting one’s enemies in a conflict, it is logical that the lawful killing of enemy combatants who have not been rendered hors de combat is excluded from the scope of CAH. In all other instances, those entitled to protection should be regarded as “civilian” for the purposes of article 5. The Co-Prosecutor therefore respectfully disagrees with the jurisprudence of the Trial Chamber and SCC, which found that “civilian” should be defined so as to exclude soldiers hors de combat.³⁶⁷³ The term “any” ensures that CAH are not restricted in their application to a particular group of civilians, distinguished by their nationality, ethnicity or any other factor.³⁶⁷⁴
919. CAH may include a state’s attack on its own population.³⁶⁷⁵ This includes a state or organisation’s own armed forces, who qualify as civilians for the purposes of CAH.³⁶⁷⁶ This position accords with the pre-WWII evolution of CAH,³⁶⁷⁷ all post-WWII jurisprudence,³⁶⁷⁸ pre-1975 international instruments dealing with CAH,³⁶⁷⁹ and pre-1975 international human rights norms protecting the same fundamental rights as CAH,³⁶⁸⁰ which apply to all of a State’s subjects, irrespective of their occupation.³⁶⁸¹ The result is a logical imperative. Where the victims belong to the perpetrator’s own armed forces, their combatant quality is entirely irrelevant. The IHL definitions of “combatant” and “civilian” were written to regulate armed conflicts, whether international or non-international, between opposing forces to establish their rights and duties with regard to each other, primarily to determine which persons may be legitimately targeted and who must be protected. Where the perpetrators and victims are not engaged in armed conflict with each other, whether or not this takes place in the context of an armed conflict, mechanically transferring the terms “combatant” and “civilian” as they are defined in IHL into the law of CAH is wholly inapposite. Moreover, this approach would produce the absurd result of permitting a government or organisation to commit mass atrocities with impunity simply by conscripting those among its subjects it is targeting into its armed forces; it would also mean that armed civilian police would be protected, while unarmed soldiers would not.

920. It is not necessary to show that the entire population of the relevant geographical entity was subject to the attack. A “civilian population” may also include non-civilians without forfeiting its civilian character, as long as the population is predominantly civilian.³⁶⁸²
921. Where it is established that a widespread or systematic attack on a civilian population has taken place, it is not necessary to show that individual victims of CAH themselves were “civilians”.³⁶⁸³ Soldiers hors de combat can also be victims of CAH.³⁶⁸⁴

Jurisdictional Restriction

922. Article 5 of the ECCC Law requires that the attack against a civilian population be based on national, political, ethnical, racial or religious grounds.³⁶⁸⁵ This requirement is a jurisdictional one that narrows the scope of the ECCC’s jurisdiction over CAH when compared with CIL applicable between 1975 and 1979.³⁶⁸⁶ Whilst the broader attack must therefore be committed on one of these grounds, there is no requirement that it be discriminatory.³⁶⁸⁷ Indeed, except in the case of persecution, discriminatory intent is not required by CIL as a legal ingredient for CAH.³⁶⁸⁸

Nexus between Acts of the Perpetrator and the Attack

923. The acts of the perpetrator must constitute part of the attack. The required nexus between the acts of the perpetrator and the attack consists of two elements: the commission of an act which, by its nature or consequences, is objectively part of the attack;³⁶⁸⁹ coupled with the knowledge on the part of the perpetrator that there is an attack on the civilian population and that his act is part thereof.³⁶⁹⁰
924. In relation to the first element, the act need not be committed in the midst of the attack to be sufficiently connected to it. An act committed before or after the main attack, or away from it, could still, if sufficiently connected, be considered to be part of it. The crime must not, however, be an isolated act. A crime would be regarded as an isolated act when it is so far removed from that attack that, having considered the context and circumstances in which it was committed, it cannot reasonably be said to have been part of the attack.³⁶⁹¹

The acts of the accused persons – even where they are not the direct perpetrators — must form part of the attack.³⁶⁹²

925. As for the second element, knowledge of the details of the attack is not required,³⁶⁹³ it is sufficient that the perpetrator knows of the overall context within which his acts take place.³⁶⁹⁴ The motive of the perpetrator is irrelevant,³⁶⁹⁵ and it is not necessary for the perpetrator to share the purpose or goal behind the attack.³⁶⁹⁶ It is also irrelevant whether the perpetrator intends his acts to be directed against the targeted population or merely against his victim.³⁶⁹⁷

SPECIFIC OFFENCES

Murder

926. Murder was well-established as a CAH under CIL by 1975.³⁶⁹⁸ Moreover, it was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for murder as a CAH.³⁶⁹⁹
927. The actus reus of murder as a CAH requires proof of two elements: (1) the death of the victim and (2) that the death was caused by an act or omission of the perpetrator.³⁷⁰⁰ The victim's body is not required as evidence to prove death.³⁷⁰¹ With regard to the causation requirement, the specification that the victim's death was "caused by" the perpetrator's act or omission does not mean that it needs to be the sole cause of death; it is sufficient that the perpetrator's conduct contributed substantially to the death of the person.³⁷⁰² Both the fact of the victim's death and the causation element may be inferred from the circumstances of the case, provided it is established that the only reasonable inference is that the victim is dead as a result of acts or omissions of the perpetrator.³⁷⁰³ A conviction for murder is not precluded because of the impossibility to accurately establish the total number of deaths or to identify, case-by-case, the direct perpetrators and their victims.³⁷⁰⁴ The suicide of a person may amount to his murder where the perpetrator's acts or omissions "induced the victim to take action which resulted in his death".³⁷⁰⁵
928. Execution without legal process or compliance with due process guarantees constitutes murder, not capital punishment.³⁷⁰⁶ The right not to be arbitrarily deprived of one's life may not be derogated from in any circumstances, including national emergency,³⁷⁰⁷ and life may never be extinguished to effect genocide.³⁷⁰⁸

929. As to mens rea, there is no requirement that the killing be premeditated.³⁷⁰⁹ The mental element includes direct intent to kill as well as killing with dolus eventualis.³⁷¹⁰

Extermination

930. Extermination was recognised as a CAH by 1975.³⁷¹¹ It was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for extermination as a CAH.³⁷¹²

931. The crime of extermination is the act of killing on a large scale.³⁷¹³ The actus reus of extermination as a CAH consists of an act or omission, or a combination of each, which contributes to the death of persons on a massive scale.³⁷¹⁴ The perpetrator's role may be remote or indirect,³⁷¹⁵ and may include creating conditions of life aimed at destroying part of a population, such as withholding food or medicine.³⁷¹⁶ There is no requirement that the victims "must have been subjected to conditions inevitably leading to death".³⁷¹⁷

932. A conviction for extermination requires satisfaction beyond reasonable doubt of the occurrence of mass killings.³⁷¹⁸ There is no requirement that each individual killing be proved beyond reasonable doubt, so long as on the totality of the evidence it is established beyond a reasonable doubt that killing on a massive scale took place.³⁷¹⁹ Precise identification, description or designation by name of the victims is not an element of the crime of extermination.³⁷²⁰ As the Ntakirutimana Appeals Chamber pointed out, "[t]o require greater identification of those victims would [...] increase the burden of proof to such an extent that it hinders a large number of prosecutions for extermination." Nor is a determination of the specific number of deaths required.³⁷²¹

933. There is no minimum number of victims required to satisfy the requirement that the scale of deaths must be "massive".³⁷²² While extermination as a CAH has been found in relation to the killing of thousands,³⁷²³ it has also been found in relation to fewer killings.³⁷²⁴ A particularly large number of victims can be an aggravating circumstance in relation to the sentence if the extent of the killings exceeds that required for extermination.³⁷²⁵ The existence of a "vast murderous enterprise" is not an element of extermination.³⁷²⁶

934. The requirement of scale must be assessed on a case-by-case basis taking into account the circumstances in which the killings occurred.³⁷²⁷ Relevant factors include, inter alia, the time and place of the killings,³⁷²⁸ the selection of the victims and the manner in which they were targeted,³⁷²⁹ and whether the killings were aimed at the collective group rather than victims in their individual capacity.³⁷³⁰ However, there is no requirement that the group or (part of the) population of people killed share any common characteristics,³⁷³¹ or that the perpetrator intend to destroy a group or part of a group to which the victims belong.³⁷³² The preparation and organisation of the crime may also be considered when determining the actus reus of extermination.³⁷³³
935. The scale element of the crime of extermination may be established on an aggregated basis, so long as the killings derive from the same course of conduct of the accused,³⁷³⁴ such as killings taking place in a system of state-run security centres. Where killings on a large scale are the result of a single policy, devised and co-ordinated from central government, by the same individuals, who intended that killings take place on a massive scale, it would be absurd to determine that those individuals were not responsible for extermination, simply because the killings took place at multiple sites.
936. According to the SCC, the mens rea consists of the intent to kill persons on a large scale or to create conditions of life calculated to bring about the death of a large number of people.³⁷³⁵ Knowledge of certain death is not required.³⁷³⁶ Neither intent to kill a certain threshold number of victims,³⁷³⁷ nor knowledge of a “vast murderous enterprise”³⁷³⁸ are elements of extermination.

Enslavement

937. It is undisputed that enslavement was recognised under CIL as a CAH by 1975.³⁷³⁹ Moreover, it was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for enslavement as a CAH.³⁷⁴⁰
938. Enslavement is defined as the exercise over a person of any or all powers attaching to the right of ownership.³⁷⁴¹ Indicia of enslavement include: “the control of someone’s movement, control of physical environment, psychological control, measures taken to prevent or deter escape, force, threat of force or coercion, duration, assertion of exclusivity, subjection to cruel treatment and abuse, control of sexuality and forced labour.”³⁷⁴² The elements of enslavement may be satisfied without evidence of additional ill-treatment.³⁷⁴³

939. In examining these indicia, one must above all identify the indicia of “ownership”,³⁷⁴⁴ that is, facts pointing to the victim being reduced to a commodity, such that the person is an object of “enjoyment of possession”; that he or she can be used (for example, for sexual or other purposes), economically exploited, and/or ultimately disposed of.³⁷⁴⁵ Implicit in the ownership powers is an effort to accrue some gain through the exercise of those powers, though this is not an additional element of the crime.³⁷⁴⁶ The period of duration of enslavement is not an element of the crime, but duration may be relevant in determining the nature of the relationship.³⁷⁴⁷
940. Forced or involuntary labour may also constitute enslavement.³⁷⁴⁸ It must be established that the relevant person had no real choice as to whether they would work, which is a factual determination that must be made in light of the indicia of enslavement identified.³⁷⁴⁹ The absence of remuneration is not an element of enslavement, but may constitute a relevant evidentiary factor in determining whether the labour was forced.³⁷⁵⁰
941. Lack of consent is also not an element of the crime of enslavement, as enslavement is characterised by the perpetrator’s exercise of power, but it may be evidentially relevant to proof of the exercise of powers of ownership.³⁷⁵¹ The absence of consent may be presumed where the expression of consent is impossible,³⁷⁵² such as where victims live in “a climate of fear”.³⁷⁵³ In these circumstances, lack of resistance or the absence of clear and constant lack of consent will not be interpreted as a sign of consent.³⁷⁵⁴ It has been found that severely overcrowded conditions, deplorable sanitation, lack of sleep, insufficient food, locked doors, frequent beatings, psychological abuse and brutal living conditions rendered it impossible for detainees to consent to work and that their labour was forced.³⁷⁵⁵
942. As to the mens rea, it must be shown that the perpetrator intentionally exercised any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership.³⁷⁵⁶

Imprisonment

943. Imprisonment was recognised as a CAH by CIL by 1975.³⁷⁵⁷ Moreover, it was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for imprisonment as a CAH.³⁷⁵⁸

944. The actus reus of imprisonment³⁷⁵⁹ requires that an individual be deprived of his or her liberty arbitrarily, i.e. without a justifiable legal basis and without due process of law.³⁷⁶⁰ If national law is relied upon, the relevant provisions must not violate international law.³⁷⁶¹ A state of emergency cannot justify arbitrary imprisonment.³⁷⁶²
945. In determining whether the grounds and procedure for the initial deprivation of liberty were lawful, the Court may take into account factors including whether: (i) the arrest was based on a valid warrant;³⁷⁶³ (ii) the detainee was informed at the time of the arrest of the reasons for the arrest;³⁷⁶⁴ (iii) the detainee was promptly informed, in detail, of any charges against him and/or formally charged;³⁷⁶⁵ (iv) the detainee was informed of his procedural rights,³⁷⁶⁶ including access to legal counsel;³⁷⁶⁷ and (v) the detainee was brought promptly before a person authorised by law to exercise judicial power (and that person was independent, impartial and objective).³⁷⁶⁸ The detainee is entitled to proceedings by which the lawfulness of his detention is decided speedily by a court, and to release if the detention is found to be unlawful.³⁷⁶⁹ He is also entitled to a fair and public trial within a reasonable time, or to release;³⁷⁷⁰ and to the presumption of innocence until proven guilty.³⁷⁷¹ Therefore, mere “suspicion” that a person may be involved in treason is insufficient as a legal basis to justify detaining individuals without due process – without charges, with no judicial review of evidence, no defence counsel, and with no right to any trial.
946. As to mens rea, it must be shown that the perpetrator intended to arbitrarily deprive the individual of liberty, or that he acted in the reasonable knowledge that his actions were likely to cause the arbitrary deprivation of physical liberty.³⁷⁷²

Torture

947. The crime of torture was recognised as a CAH by 1975,³⁷⁷³ and was also a crime under Cambodian law at that time.³⁷⁷⁴ It was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for torture as a CAH.³⁷⁷⁵
948. Both the PTC and SCC have determined that the definition and elements of torture contained in the 1975 Declaration on Torture reflected CIL in 1975.³⁷⁷⁶ Moreover, by 1975, the prohibition on torture was a norm of jus cogens,³⁷⁷⁷ from which derogations were therefore not permitted under any circumstances, including public emergency or in the name of national security.³⁷⁷⁸

949. The actus reus of torture requires an act or omission inflicting severe pain or suffering, whether physical or mental.³⁷⁷⁹ In determining whether an act or omission constitutes severe pain or suffering, it is necessary to consider all subjective and objective factors.³⁷⁸⁰ Objective factors include the severity of the harm inflicted. Subjective criteria may include the age, sex, state of health of the victim, or the physical or mental effect of treatment on a particular victim.³⁷⁸¹ In addition, the nature and context of the infliction of pain, the premeditation and institutionalisation of the ill-treatment, the physical condition of the victim, the manner and method used, and the position of inferiority of the victim are all relevant factors.³⁷⁸² To the extent that an individual has been mistreated over a prolonged period of time, or that he has been subjected to repeated or various forms of mistreatment, the severity of the acts should be assessed as a whole.³⁷⁸³
950. There is no exhaustive classification of the acts that may constitute torture.³⁷⁸⁴ The consequences of the act or omission need not be visible on the victim,³⁷⁸⁵ there is no minimum level of pain that must be inflicted,³⁷⁸⁶ nor is there a requirement that the injury be permanent.³⁷⁸⁷
951. Acts that are sufficiently severe to constitute torture may arise from conditions imposed upon prisoners and have included beating, sexual violence, prolonged denial of sleep, food, hygiene and medical assistance, being kept in constant uncertainty, simulated executions, and threats to torture, to rape, or to harm or kill relatives.³⁷⁸⁸ Living in a constant state of anxiety and uncertainty as a result of physical abuse and confinement constitutes mental suffering amounting to torture.³⁷⁸⁹ Similarly, credible threats to physically torture, harm, or kill the victim constitute psychological torture.³⁷⁹⁰ Moreover, a person may suffer serious mental harm by witnessing acts against others.³⁷⁹¹ Certain acts are considered by their nature to constitute severe pain and suffering. These include rape,³⁷⁹² sexual violence,³⁷⁹³ and mutilation of body parts.³⁷⁹⁴
952. Although under ICTY/ICTR jurisprudence, the perpetrator need not have acted in an official capacity,³⁷⁹⁵ the SCC has found the definition of torture found in the 1975 Declaration on Torture, including the public official requirement, to be declarative of CIL

in 1975.³⁷⁹⁶ Pursuant to that definition, the act or omission must have been carried out “by or at the instigation of a public official”.³⁷⁹⁷

953. As regards mens rea, the pain and suffering amounting to torture must be inflicted intentionally.³⁷⁹⁸ The act or omission must also have been done or made in order to attain a certain result or purpose. Such purposes include obtaining information or a confession, punishment, coercion or intimidation, or discriminating, on any ground, against the victim or a third person.³⁷⁹⁹ These purposes do not constitute an exhaustive list under CIL and are instead representative.³⁸⁰⁰ There is no requirement that the act is committed exclusively for a particular prohibited purpose: that purpose must be “part of the motivation behind the conduct, and it need not be the predominant or sole purpose”.³⁸⁰¹

Persecution on Political, Racial or Religious Grounds

954. Persecution as a CAH existed under CIL by 1975.³⁸⁰² It was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that he could be prosecuted for persecution as a CAH.³⁸⁰³
955. The actus reus of persecution is an act or omission which discriminates in fact and which denies or infringes upon a fundamental right laid down in international customary or treaty law.³⁸⁰⁴

a) An Act or Omission that Denies or Infringes upon a Fundamental Right

956. “Persecutory acts” can include the other underlying offences for CAH, as well as other acts or omissions that are of equal gravity or seriousness, whether in isolation or in conjunction with other acts.³⁸⁰⁵ These other acts or omissions may be,³⁸⁰⁶ but need not necessarily be³⁸⁰⁷ international crimes in and of themselves. Whether the acts actually constitute persecution is a fact-specific inquiry.³⁸⁰⁸
957. The context in which an act or omission takes place is important for the purpose of assessing its gravity or severity.³⁸⁰⁹ Other factors that should be considered in that assessment include (i) whether it was committed in the context of, or as part of a chain of events in a larger persecutory campaign, the ultimate goal and end result of which was extremely grave, resulting in gross violation of fundamental rights;³⁸¹⁰ and (ii) the discriminatory effect it seeks to encourage within the general populace against a targeted group.³⁸¹¹

958. Following an extensive review of jurisprudence from the IMT and tribunals acting pursuant to CCL 10, the SCC held that “the other acts not found in the instruments constituted a broad range of breaches of individual rights including rights to property, a fair trial, equal protection of the law, citizenship, work, education, marriage, privacy and freedom of movement”.³⁸¹² In the same vein, the following acts not explicitly listed in article 5 of the ECCC Law have been considered acts of persecution at the ICTY and ICTR:³⁸¹³ the destruction of religious buildings;³⁸¹⁴ acts of harassment, humiliation, degradation and psychological abuse, including forcing a victim to witness or hear torture, interrogation and random brutality in a prison camp;³⁸¹⁵ wanton destruction of private and public property, including cultural monuments and sacred sites;³⁸¹⁶ forced labour;³⁸¹⁷ forced displacement;³⁸¹⁸ inhumane living conditions;³⁸¹⁹ enforced disappearances;³⁸²⁰ the denial of the rights to employment, freedom of movement, proper judicial process and proper medical care;³⁸²¹ and hate speech and calls to violence.³⁸²²

b) Discrimination in Fact

959. The act or omission must “discriminate in fact”,³⁸²³ that is, it must have actual discriminatory consequences.³⁸²⁴ The SCC has held that “discrimination in fact” occurs where a victim is targeted because of his real or perceived membership in a group defined by the perpetrator on specific grounds, namely on a political, racial or religious basis,³⁸²⁵ and the victim belongs to a sufficiently discernible political, racial or religious group.³⁸²⁶ The group may be defined broadly by the perpetrator. This can be in negative terms and can include affiliates and sympathisers as well as suspects.³⁸²⁷ Persecution might target aggregated groups without any common identity or agenda.³⁸²⁸

960. With regard to persecution on political grounds, there is no requirement that the targeted group actually hold a particular political view at all.³⁸²⁹ Political persecution may occur where the discrimination is effected according to political motivations or agenda against a group based on a subjective assessment as to the group’s political threat or danger to the perpetrator.³⁸³⁰ The group or groups persecuted on political grounds may include various categories of persons, such as: officials and political activists; persons of certain opinions, convictions or beliefs; persons of certain ethnicity or nationality; or persons representing certain social strata (e.g. “intelligentsia”, clergy or bourgeoisie).³⁸³¹

c) Mens Rea

961. As to mens rea, persecution requires deliberate perpetration of an act or omission with the specific intent to discriminate on political, racial or religious grounds.³⁸³² Discriminatory intent requires that the perpetrator acted with the specific intent to harm the victim because he belongs to a particular community or group.³⁸³³ There is no requirement that the perpetrator possess a persecutory intent — that is, intent to remove targeted persons from society or humanity — over and above a discriminatory intent.³⁸³⁴
962. Intent has been inferred “through a perpetrator’s knowing participation in a system or enterprise that discriminated on political, racial or religious grounds.”³⁸³⁵ However, the existence of a discriminatory policy is not a requirement for proving persecution.³⁸³⁶ Evidence of some affiliations between the perpetrator and the target group does not necessarily preclude a trier of fact from reasonably finding the requisite intent to commit persecution.³⁸³⁷

Other Inhumane Acts

963. “Other inhumane acts” was established as a CAH under CIL before 1975.³⁸³⁸ Moreover, it was foreseeable and accessible to Meas Muth that conduct rising to the level of “other inhumane acts” could be prosecuted as a CAH.³⁸³⁹ “Other inhumane acts” is in itself a crime under international law.³⁸⁴⁰ There is no requirement that each sub-category be criminalised as a distinct CAH from 1975-1979. To require this would be to render the category of “other inhumane acts” meaningless.³⁸⁴¹ Rather, “other inhumane acts” is a residual category of CAH that criminalises conduct which meets the criteria of a CAH but does not fit within one of the other specified underlying crimes.³⁸⁴² The act or omission must be sufficiently similar in nature and gravity to other enumerated CAH.³⁸⁴³
964. The SCC has recently held that to qualify as an other inhumane act, the following elements must be satisfied: (i) there was an act or omission of similar seriousness to the other acts enumerated as [CAH]; (ii) the act or omission caused serious mental or physical suffering or injury or constituted a serious attack on human dignity; and (iii) the act or omission was performed intentionally.³⁸⁴⁴

965. Whether conduct meets the criteria for characterisation as an “other inhumane act” is therefore a mixed question of law and fact.³⁸⁴⁵ The seriousness of the act is to be assessed on a case-by-case basis, taking account of the individual circumstances of the case,³⁸⁴⁶ and the facts must be assessed for their gravity holistically.³⁸⁴⁷ The individual circumstances may include the nature of the act or omission; the context in which it occurred; the personal circumstances of the victim including age, sex and health; and the physical, mental and moral effects of the act upon the victim.³⁸⁴⁸ There is no requirement that the victim suffer long-term effects, although this may be relevant to the seriousness of the acts.³⁸⁴⁹ The gravity requirement can be fulfilled by showing that analogous rights and prohibitions were contained in international human rights instruments applicable at the relevant time.³⁸⁵⁰ The emergence, after 1975, of new, more specific human rights norms, including those of international criminal law, may serve to provide additional confirmation of the unlawfulness of the prior specific conduct charged as “other inhumane acts” and be used as a tool to assess whether the conduct in question reaches the requisite level of gravity.³⁸⁵¹
966. The underlying acts do not therefore require “specific legal definitions and elements”.³⁸⁵² The SCC recently explained that “the guiding issue [...] was whether the conduct in question, in light of all the specific circumstances of the case at hand, actually fulfilled the definition of other inhumane acts.”³⁸⁵³ It is therefore not necessary to test the facts against purported elements of crimes underlying other inhumane acts, but solely whether the facts taken together in their “nature and gravity [were] similar to that of enumerated crimes against humanity.”³⁸⁵⁴
967. In addition to the acts surveyed in more detail below, “other inhumane acts” have been found to include: cruel, humiliating, inhumane or degrading treatment;³⁸⁵⁵ forced prostitution;³⁸⁵⁶ serious physical and mental injury;³⁸⁵⁷ mutilation, beatings and other types of severe bodily harm;³⁸⁵⁸ deplorable detention conditions;³⁸⁵⁹ sexual violence;³⁸⁶⁰ using detainees as human shields;³⁸⁶¹ the witnessing of criminal acts against family or friends;³⁸⁶² forcible circumcision or castration;³⁸⁶³ killings in front of children;³⁸⁶⁴ injuries to demonstrators;³⁸⁶⁵ and forced nudity.³⁸⁶⁶
968. At his Initial Appearance, Meas Muth was charged with Other Inhumane Acts based on enforced disappearances, forced marriages and rapes that occurred as the authorities required consummation of those marriages, inhumane treatment, attacks on human dignity due to conditions of detention, and forced labour.³⁸⁶⁷ How the conduct involved in each of these satisfies the legal elements of “other inhumane acts” as a CAH is discussed below.

a) Inhumane Treatment

969. Inhumane treatment³⁸⁶⁸ is specifically prohibited by numerous human rights instruments, including the UDHR, the ICCPR, and the ECHR.³⁸⁶⁹ Each considers inhumane treatment, degrading treatment, and torture as different prohibited conduct,³⁸⁷⁰ which are distinguishable by the degree, circumstances, and purpose of the treatment or punishment.³⁸⁷¹
970. The ICTY has recognised that inhumane treatment as an other inhumane act has the same elements as cruel treatment as a war crime and inhuman treatment as a grave breach of the GCs, where the perpetrator’s intentional conduct has caused serious physical or mental harm or suffering, or a serious attack on human dignity.³⁸⁷² Acts that have been found to constitute either cruel treatment, inhuman treatment, or underlying acts of the CAH of persecution have included beatings,³⁸⁷³ head-banging,³⁸⁷⁴ the use of restraints and stress positions,³⁸⁷⁵ and confinement under inhumane conditions.³⁸⁷⁶ As a matter of principle, similar conduct amounting to inhumane treatment would satisfy the gravity requirement for classification as an “other inhumane act”.

b) Attacks against Human Dignity due to Conditions of Detention

971. Attacks against human dignity can result from deprivations of adequate food, water, shelter, medical assistance and minimum sanitary conditions. The Trial Chamber has held that such deprivations may, depending on the facts, be of similar gravity to the enumerated CAH and thus fall within the ambit of “other inhumane acts”.³⁸⁷⁷ According to ECCC and international jurisprudence, similar deprivations in the context of detention can constitute other inhumane acts as CAH.³⁸⁷⁸ They have been found to rise to the level of gravity of the other crimes enumerated in Article 5 of the ECCC Law and amount to persecution as a CAH,³⁸⁷⁹ as well as constituting the offence of cruel treatment as a violation of the laws or customs of war under the ICTY Statute.³⁸⁸⁰ In the context of genocide, the same deprivations have been considered to evidence conditions of life that would bring about a group’s physical destruction.³⁸⁸¹

972. Such deprivations may therefore be of similar gravity to the enumerated CAH and thus may fall within the ambit of “other inhumane acts”.

c) Forced Marriage

973. The OCIJ and SCSL have recognised that forced marriage may be of similar gravity to the enumerated CAH and thus fall within the purview of “other inhumane acts”.³⁸⁸² The right to be free of a coerced marriage is so fundamental that it was recognised in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights adopted by the UN General Assembly on 10 December 1948.³⁸⁸³ Numerous other instruments in place by 1975 also recognise the importance of consent before entering into marriage.³⁸⁸⁴

974. Forced marriage occurs when the perpetrator compels a person by force, threat of force, or coercion to serve as a conjugal partner.³⁸⁸⁵ ‘Marriage’ implies a relationship of exclusivity between the ‘husband’ and ‘wife’.³⁸⁸⁶ The ‘marriage’ may, depending on the circumstances, involve a variety of duties such as sexual intercourse, domestic labour, enduring pregnancy and caring for the children of the ‘marriage’,³⁸⁸⁷ and may involve the commission of one or more international crimes such as enslavement, rape, sexual assault or sexual slavery, among others.³⁸⁸⁸ However, forced marriage is not predominantly a sexual crime, and forced marriage occurs regardless of whether the ‘husband’ and ‘wife’ engage in sexual relations.³⁸⁸⁹

975. Force used to compel a person to marry is not limited to physical force, but includes the threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment.³⁸⁹⁰ Where it is shown that the environment is so coercive that the free exercise of choice is impossible, the parties cannot have consented to a marriage. Circumstances prevailing in most cases charged as war crimes or CAH “will be almost universally coercive,” thus rendering genuine consent impossible.³⁸⁹¹ Similarly, a climate of fear³⁸⁹² or situations of captivity or detention³⁸⁹³ have been recognised as vitiating genuine consent. In an environment of coercion, any relative benefits that victims of forced marriage may receive from perpetrators neither signifies consent to the forced conjugal association, nor vitiates the criminal nature of the perpetrator’s conduct.³⁸⁹⁴

d) Rape

976. Although rape is enumerated as a CAH in its own right under article 5 of the ECCC Law, both the PTC and SCC have held that rape was not a distinct CAH during the ECCC's temporal jurisdiction.³⁸⁹⁵ However, the PTC has confirmed that facts characterised as CAH in the form of rape can additionally be categorised as the CAH of "other inhumane acts".³⁸⁹⁶ Moreover, the ICTY, ICTR, SCSL, and ICC have all recognised rape as a discrete CAH.³⁸⁹⁷ Rape may also constitute torture where the elements of torture are established.³⁸⁹⁸ The gravity requirement for classification of facts constituting rape as "other inhumane acts" is therefore clearly met.
977. As to what is meant by "rape", there has been some divergence in its definition among the ECCC Chambers and international tribunals. In the Case 002 Closing Order, the OCIJ largely adopted the broad definition adopted by the ICTR Trial Chamber in Akayesu,³⁸⁹⁹ finding that "by imposing the consummation of forced marriages,³⁹⁰⁰ the perpetrators committed a physical invasion of a sexual nature against a victim in coercive circumstances in which the consent of the victim was absent."³⁹⁰¹ Both men and women can be subject to physical invasion,³⁹⁰² and Meas Muth is charged with acts of sexual violence constituting rape, through enforced consummation of forced marriage, against both men and women.
978. Other narrower definitions of rape have been posited. In Case 001, the Trial Chamber followed the ICTY in defining the physical element more narrowly as the sexual penetration, however slight of: (a) the vagina or anus of the victim by the penis of the perpetrator or any other object used by the perpetrator; or (b) the mouth of the victim by the penis of the perpetrator; where such sexual penetration occurs without the consent of the victim.³⁹⁰³ The ICC definition falls between the two, requiring that "the perpetrator invaded the body of a person by conduct resulting in penetration, however slight, of any part of the body of the victim or of the perpetrator with a sexual organ, or of the anal or genital opening of the victim with any object or any other part of the body."³⁹⁰⁴
979. The Co-Prosecutor submits that the definitions used at the ICTY, ICC, and by the Trial Chamber in Case 001 are unduly narrow as they were written to fit the specific facts where a perpetrator was penetrating, or (at the ICC only) was being penetrated by, a body part of the victim without the victim's consent. A more enlightened, inclusive, and gender-neutral definition of rape would require the penetration, however slight, of the vagina or anus of one individual by any object or a body part of another person, or any touching of a sexual organ of a person by any part of the mouth of another person, without the consent of either one or both participants in the sexual act. In any event, regardless of whether or not it fits prior legal definitions of the crime of rape, forcing any person or couple to engage in sexual relations without their consent is clearly a crime of equal seriousness to other CAH.³⁹⁰⁵ This conduct manifestly fits within the definition of “other inhumane acts” as a CAH, having caused serious mental or physical suffering to the victim and constituted a serious attack on his and/or her human dignity.

980. Consent for this purpose must be given voluntarily, as a result of the victim’s free will, assessed in the context of the surrounding circumstances.³⁹⁰⁶ Force, or threat of force, may provide evidence of non-consent, but force is not an element of rape, and there are factors other than force which would render an act of sexual penetration non-consensual or non-voluntary on the part of the victim.³⁹⁰⁷ Proof of resistance (or continuous resistance) by the victim is also not required.³⁹⁰⁸ A person may be incapable of giving genuine consent if affected by natural, induced or age-related incapacity.³⁹⁰⁹ The circumstances prevailing in most cases charged as war crimes or CAH “will be almost universally coercive,” thus rendering genuine consent impossible.³⁹¹⁰ Circumstantial evidence may be used to demonstrate rape.³⁹¹¹

e) Enforced Disappearances

981. The OCIJ, the ECCC Trial Chamber, the ICTY, and the SCSL have all recognised that enforced disappearance may be of the requisite gravity to constitute “other inhumane acts”, all other conditions being satisfied. The ICC also recognises enforced disappearance as a discrete crime underlying CAH.
982. Enforced disappearance has been found to occur when (i) an individual is deprived of his liberty, such as through arrest, detention or abduction; and (ii) the deprivation of liberty is accompanied or followed by the refusal to disclose information regarding the fate or whereabouts of the person concerned, or to acknowledge the deprivation of liberty, and thereby deny the individual recourse to the applicable legal remedies and procedural guarantees; and (iii) the first and second elements were carried out by state agents, or with the authorisation, support or acquiescence of a State or political organisation.

f) Forced Labour

983. International law and human rights instruments widely prohibit forced or involuntary labour.³⁹¹² Moreover, the ICTY and SCSL have both recognised that forced labour is clearly capable of meeting the gravity requirement to constitute an “other inhumane act”.³⁹¹³ As discussed above, forced labour may constitute enslavement when accompanied by indicia of ownership.³⁹¹⁴ Acts of forced labour that were imposed with discriminatory intent and which had a cumulative effect that rises to the level of gravity of the crimes enumerated in Article 5 of the ECCC Law have been found to constitute persecution as a CAH.³⁹¹⁵
984. Whether labour was forced is a factual determination which has to be considered in light of all relevant circumstances on a case-by-case basis.³⁹¹⁶ In short, it must be established that the victims had no real choice as to whether or not they would work.³⁹¹⁷ The absence of consent to work may be presumed where the expression of consent is impossible,³⁹¹⁸ such as where victims live in “a climate of fear”.³⁹¹⁹ In these circumstances, lack of resistance or the absence of clear and constant lack of consent will not be interpreted as a sign of consent.³⁹²⁰ For example, it may neither be expected that a detainee voice an objection nor that a person in a position of authority threaten him with punishment for refusal to work.³⁹²¹
985. While coercive circumstances may render true consent to work impossible, the subjective belief of labourers that they were forced to work must also be supported by objective evidence in order to establish lack of consent.³⁹²² Other factors considered in the determination have included lack of compensation, the vulnerable position of the workers, consequences that would allegedly befall those who were unable or unwilling to work, claims of longer term consequences of the labour, the fact that workers were detainees, and inhumane conditions present in the detention centre.³⁹²³ It has been found that severely overcrowded conditions, deplorable sanitation, lack of sleep, insufficient food, locked doors, frequent beatings, psychological abuse, and brutal living conditions rendered it impossible for detainees to consent to work and that their labour was forced.³⁹²⁴ Two chambers also considered the Pohl case from World War II to be relevant, which found that even if victims were otherwise treated well, compulsory uncompensated labour was still slavery.³⁹²⁵

986. It is important to note that there are, in fact, circumstances where individuals in detention may be lawfully made to work without compensation. Such work must be conducted in the ordinary course of lawful—not extrajudicial—detention, and may not cause serious mental or physical suffering or injury, constitute a serious attack on human dignity, nor be connected with war operations or have a military character or purpose.³⁹²⁶

3. GRAVE BREACHES OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS

987. Article 6 of the ECCC Law gives the ECCC jurisdiction over grave breaches of the GCs. Grave breaches were crimes under international law during the period of the ECCC's temporal jurisdiction, which were foreseeable and accessible to the Accused.³⁹²⁷ The specific offences listed in Article 6 include wilful killing, torture or inhuman treatment, wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health, wilfully depriving a prisoner of war or a civilian the rights of fair and regular trial, and unlawful deportation or transfer or confinement of a civilian. The elements of these offences are discussed below.
988. For the commission of these offences to constitute grave breaches, certain general requirements must be met: 1) the specific offences must be committed in the context of an international armed conflict ("IAC"); 2) the perpetrator must be aware of the factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict; 3) the acts must be committed against persons or property protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949; and 4) the perpetrator must be aware of the factual circumstances that established this protected status.³⁹²⁸ 989. The requirement of an IAC contains two elements: 1) there must be an IAC; and 2) there must be a nexus between the conflict and the crimes alleged.

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

International Armed Conflict

990. An IAC must exist in fact.³⁹²⁹ An armed conflict exists “whenever there is a resort to armed force between States or protracted armed violence between governmental authorities and organised armed groups or between such groups within a State.”³⁹³⁰ An armed conflict assumes an international character when it involves two or more States.³⁹³¹ The geographic and temporal application of the GCs extends beyond the vicinity of the actual hostilities and the cessation of fighting.³⁹³² once it is established that an IAC existed at the place and time relevant to the charges, IHL will apply to the whole territory of the relevant States, whether or not actual combat takes place there, and will continue to apply beyond the cessation of hostilities until a general conclusion of peace is achieved.³⁹³³
991. There must be a nexus between the IAC and the crimes alleged.³⁹³⁴ The nexus requirement is met when it is shown that the alleged crimes were “closely related” to the armed conflict as a whole.³⁹³⁵ To this effect, “[t]he armed conflict need not have been causal to the commission of the crime, but the existence of an armed conflict must, at a minimum, have played a substantial part in the perpetrator’s ability to commit it, his decision to commit it, the manner in which it was committed or the purpose for which it was committed.”³⁹³⁶ It is not necessary to establish that there were actual combat activities in the area where the acts are alleged to have occurred or that they were part of a policy or practice tolerated by one of the parties to the armed conflict.

Protected Persons

992. Article 6 of the ECCC Law grants the ECCC jurisdiction over “acts against persons [...] protected under provisions” of the GCs.³⁹³⁷ This reference covers “protected persons” as defined pursuant to article 4 of GC IV (as regards civilian persons) and article 4A of GC III (as regards prisoners of war).
993. GC III extends protection to, inter alia, “members of the armed forces of a Party to the conflict as well as members of militias or volunteer corps forming part of such armed forces” who have “fallen into the power of the enemy”.³⁹³⁸ There is no requirement that such persons are captured during combat.³⁹³⁹
994. As to civilians, GC IV extends “protected person” status to civilians who are “in the hands of a Party to the conflict or Occupying Power of which they are not nationals.”³⁹⁴⁰ This protects, inter alia, civilians who find themselves on territory controlled by an enemy state or in a combat zone, or who are stateless persons.³⁹⁴¹ However, a person may be accorded protected status notwithstanding the fact that he is of the same nationality as a party to the conflict.³⁹⁴² The protected status of an individual does not depend on formal bonds and purely legal relations, but on the substance of relations that exist between the individual and the State.³⁹⁴³ The crucial consideration when analysing these substantive relations is the allegiance — or lack thereof — that an individual has to a party to the conflict,³⁹⁴⁴ which may depend more on ethnic identity than nationality.³⁹⁴⁵ Civilians may thus be considered as protected persons for the purpose of GC IV where they are viewed by the State whose hands they are in “as belonging to the opposing party in an armed conflict and as posing a threat to [that] State.”³⁹⁴⁶

Awareness of Factual Circumstances

995. The perpetrator, in addition to having the requisite mens rea for the specific crimes, must be aware of the factual circumstances establishing: 1) the existence of an IAC; and 2) the victim’s protected status.³⁹⁴⁷ Knowledge that a foreign State was involved in the armed conflict will satisfy the first element.³⁹⁴⁸ Knowledge that the victim belonged to an adverse party to the conflict will satisfy the second element³⁹⁴⁹ (although, as noted above, this is not the only scenario covered under CIL).

SPECIFIC OFFENCES

Wilful Killing

996. The elements of the offence of wilful killing³⁹⁵⁰ under Article 6 of the ECCC Law (grave breaches) are the same as those of murder under Article 5 of the ECCC Law (CAH).³⁹⁵¹

Torture or Inhuman Treatment

997. The grave breach of “torture or inhuman treatment”³⁹⁵² comprises two distinct sub-offences: (a) torture; and (b) inhuman treatment. The elements of the offence of torture under Article 6 of the ECCC Law (grave breaches) are the same as those of torture under Article 5 of the ECCC Law (CAH).³⁹⁵³ Inhuman treatment is defined as an intentional act or omission which causes serious physical or mental harm or suffering, or constitutes a serious attack on human dignity.³⁹⁵⁴ This category is an umbrella clause under which those violations of sufficient seriousness that are not expressly enumerated in Article 6 may be considered to be grave breaches.³⁹⁵⁵ Whether any particular act constitutes inhuman treatment is a question of fact to be judged in light of all the circumstances.³⁹⁵⁶

998. Acts which constitute torture or wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health will simultaneously constitute inhuman treatment. The offence extends also to encompass other acts which violate the principle of humane treatment, in particular respect for human dignity.³⁹⁵⁷ Acts not meeting the threshold of torture because of the failure to prove that they were carried out for a prohibited purpose may also constitute inhuman treatment.³⁹⁵⁸ The inhumane treatment of detainees has been deemed to fall within the scope of this category of grave breaches.³⁹⁵⁹ Acts such as mutilation and other types of severe bodily harm, beatings and other acts of violence,³⁹⁶⁰ rape and sexual violence,³⁹⁶¹ and serious physical and mental injury³⁹⁶² have been considered inhuman treatment.

999. As to mens rea, the perpetrator must intend the act or omission, acting with intent or dolus eventualis with regard to the infliction of the serious physical or mental suffering or serious attack on human dignity as a result of his act or omission.³⁹⁶³

Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury to Body or Health

1000. This crime is defined as an intentional act or omission causing great mental or physical suffering or serious injury to body or health, including mental health.³⁹⁶⁴ This offence includes acts which do not fulfil the requirements of torture — for example, by requiring a particular purpose — although all acts of torture could fall within the scope of this offence.³⁹⁶⁵ Although the victim must be “seriously” harmed, there is no need to prove that the physical or mental injury is permanent or irremediable,³⁹⁶⁶ but it must go beyond temporary unhappiness, embarrassment or humiliation,³⁹⁶⁷ and beyond harm relating solely to the victim’s human dignity.³⁹⁶⁸ As with inhuman treatment, the mens rea incorporates intent and dolus eventualis regarding the injury or suffering inflicted.³⁹⁶⁹

Wilful Deprivation of a Fair and Regular Trial

1001. Wilfully depriving a prisoner of war or a civilian of the rights to a fair and regular trial by denying judicial guarantees as defined in GC III and GC IV is a grave breach of those conventions.³⁹⁷⁰ These judicial guarantees include: (1) the right of the accused to be judged by an independent and impartial court;³⁹⁷¹ (2) the right to be promptly informed of the offences with which the accused is charged;³⁹⁷² (3) the protection against collective penalty;³⁹⁷³ (4) the right to protection under the principle of legality;³⁹⁷⁴ (5) the freedom from moral or physical coercion to enforce a confession to the charged offence;³⁹⁷⁵ (6) the rights and means of defence;³⁹⁷⁶ (7) the right not to be punished more than once for the same act or on the same charge (ne bis in idem);³⁹⁷⁷ (8) the right to be informed of the right to appeal;³⁹⁷⁸ and (9) the right not to be sentenced or executed without previous judgment pronounced by a regularly constituted court.³⁹⁷⁹

Unlawful Confinement of a Civilian

1002. The elements of unlawful confinement as a grave breach of the GCs are analogous to the elements of imprisonment as a CAH.³⁹⁸⁰ The confinement of a civilian in armed conflict may be lawful in some limited circumstances, but “only in the conditions prescribed by Article 42 [of GC IV]” and “where the provisions of Article 43 [of GC IV] are complied with.”³⁹⁸¹

1003. Thus, confinement of a civilian is lawful only where there are reasonable grounds to believe that the security of the detaining power “makes it absolutely necessary”.³⁹⁸² Such a decision must be made only after careful consideration of each individual case, and never on a collective basis.³⁹⁸³ The mere fact that a person is a national of, or aligned with, the enemy cannot be considered as threatening the security of the country where he lives,³⁹⁸⁴ nor can the fact that a person is of military age alone justify confinement.³⁹⁸⁵ An initially lawful internment becomes unlawful if the detaining party fails to respect the detainee’s basic procedural rights and does not establish an appropriate court or administrative board to conduct detention reviews as prescribed in Article 43 of GC IV.³⁹⁸⁶

B. MODES OF RESPONSIBILITY

1004. Article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law provides for individual criminal liability of accused who:

- 1) planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, or committed crimes within the jurisdiction of the ECCC; and
- 2) superiors who failed to prevent or punish the commission of crimes enumerated in the ECCC Law by their subordinates. These forms of criminal responsibility are described in more detail below.

1. INDIVIDUAL CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

COMMITTED

Joint Criminal Enterprise

1005. JCE is a mode of responsibility that imposes criminal responsibility on individuals for actions perpetrated by a group of persons in furtherance of a common criminal design. Participation in a JCE amounts to commission within the scope of article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law.³⁹⁸⁷ International jurisprudence has identified three different but interrelated forms of JCE: the Basic form (“JCE I”) where all participants act pursuant to a common criminal purpose, and share the necessary intent for a crime within the ECCC’s jurisdiction when doing so;³⁹⁸⁸ the Systematic form (“JCE II”) which is a variant of the basic form, characterised by the existence of an organised system of ill-treatment, such as internment or concentration camps;³⁹⁸⁹ and the Extended form (“JCE III”) which has been held to be inapplicable to ECCC proceedings.

1006. The SCC, PTC, and TC have all found that, by 1975, both JCE I and JCE II were recognised as modes of responsibility under CIL,³⁹⁹⁰ and that criminal responsibility pursuant to these modes was both foreseeable and accessible.³⁹⁹¹ The same chambers have held that JCE III did not exist in CIL by 1975.³⁹⁹²

a) Actus Reus

1007. JCE I squarely fits the facts of Case 003. The actus reus is comprised of three elements. First, a “plurality of persons” is required.³⁹⁹³ The group of people need not be organised in a military, political, or administrative structure.³⁹⁹⁴ Whilst it is necessary to identify the plurality of persons participating in the JCE, the participants may be identified by category and need not be named individually.³⁹⁹⁵

1008. Second, there must be a common³⁹⁹⁶ purpose that amounts to³⁹⁹⁷ or involves³⁹⁹⁸ the commission of a crime over which the ECCC has jurisdiction.³⁹⁹⁹ The SCC recently held that it is not necessary that those who agree on the common purpose actually desire that the crime be committed, as long as they recognise that the crime is to be committed to achieve an ulterior objective. This may include crimes that are foreseen as means to achieve a given common purpose, even if their commission is not certain. [...] Thus, if attaining the objective of the common purpose may bring about the commission of crimes, but it is agreed to pursue this objective regardless, these crimes are encompassed by the common purpose because, even though they are not directly intended, they are contemplated by it. Whether a crime was contemplated by the common purpose is primarily a question of fact that – absent an express agreement – has to be assessed taking into account all relevant circumstances, including the overall objective of the common purpose and the likelihood that it may be attained only at the cost of the commission of crimes. What is of note is that the common purpose may encompass crimes in which the commission is neither desired nor certain [...].⁴⁰⁰⁰

What deserves emphasising is that in all the scenarios described above, there is a meeting of minds – express or implicit – in respect of this of those who agree on the common purpose. *Thus, the members of the JCE must accept the commission of the crime either as a goal, as an inevitable consequence of the primary purpose or as an eventuality treated with indifference.*⁴⁰⁰¹

1009. It is therefore not necessary that the ultimate objective of the common plan be a crime, as long as the participants anticipate that the plan will be implemented through criminal means; both the objective and means contemplated to achieve the objective constitute the common design or plan.⁴⁰⁰² A common purpose will thus be criminal where it was intrinsically linked to policies the implementation of which amount to the commission of crimes.⁴⁰⁰³ There is no limit to the scope of a JCE, geographically or otherwise; an accused's liability "may be as narrow or as broad as the plan in which he willingly participated".⁴⁰⁰⁴ Finally, the purpose need not have been previously arranged or formulated. It may materialise extemporaneously and be inferred from the facts.⁴⁰⁰⁵

1010. Third, the accused must participate in the common purpose.⁴⁰⁰⁶ The accused need not have been involved in the formulation of the common plan⁴⁰⁰⁷ or in the commission of a crime; he need only assist or contribute (directly or indirectly) to the execution of the common plan or purpose.⁴⁰⁰⁸ Unlike aiding and abetting, for example, where it must be proven that the accused made a substantial contribution to the specific crime charged, joint criminal enterprise requires only that it be proven that the accused made a significant contribution to further the joint criminal enterprise in order to hold him responsible for all crimes within the plan.⁴⁰⁰⁹ Neither the accused's position of authority,⁴⁰¹⁰ nor his presence at the time when a crime is committed,⁴⁰¹¹ are required. Moreover, the fact that the accused's participation amounted to no more than his "routine duties" will not exculpate him.⁴⁰¹² All that is required is that he participate in some way in the furtherance of the common purpose,⁴⁰¹³ which in turn has a direct or indirect effect on the commission of the crimes.⁴⁰¹⁴ That contribution may be in whole or in part by way of omission.⁴⁰¹⁵ As the SCSL Appeals Chamber explained, "the manner in which the members of the JCE interact and cooperate can take as many forms as conceived by the participants to pursue the realisation of their shared common criminal purpose."⁴⁰¹⁶

1011. The accused's contribution must be significant,⁴⁰¹⁷ but it is not required to be necessary or substantial.⁴⁰¹⁸ As such, it need not be a sine qua non for the commission of any crime.⁴⁰¹⁹ The significance of the contribution to the JCE is to be determined on a case-by-case basis, taking into account a variety of factors, including: the size, seriousness and scope of the criminal plan and crimes committed; the de jure or de facto position of the accused; the level and efficiency of his participation; any relevant public comments made by him; and any efforts to prevent crimes.⁴⁰²⁰ In making this assessment, a Chamber should consider the totality of the accused's activities; particular contributions should not be assessed in isolation.⁴⁰²¹ The contribution must be made to the commission of crimes, but need only further and support the commission of those crimes indirectly. As such, even activities that are on their face unrelated to the commission of crimes may be taken into account when determining whether the accused made a significant contribution thereto.⁴⁰²²

1012. The SCC has held⁴⁰²³ the following types of conduct to constitute significant contributions to a JCE:

- (a) Formulating, initiating, promoting, participating in, and/or encouraging the development and implementation of [...] governmental policies intended to advance the objective of the joint criminal enterprise;
- (b) Participating in the establishment, support or maintenance of [...] government bodies at the [national], regional, municipal, and local levels [...] through which [he] could implement the objective of the joint criminal enterprise;

(c) Supporting, encouraging, facilitating or participating in the dissemination of information to [...] win support for and participation in achieving the objective of the joint criminal enterprise;

(d) Directing, instigating, encouraging and authorizing [...] [f]orces to carry out acts in order to further the objective of the joint criminal enterprise;

[...]

(f) Engaging in, supporting or facilitating efforts directed at representatives of the international community, non-governmental organizations and the public denying or providing misleading information about crimes.

1013. Participants in a JCE can incur liability for crimes committed by direct perpetrators who were not JCE members, provided that it has been established that the crimes can be imputed to at least one JCE participant, and that this participant, when using a direct perpetrator, acted to further the common purpose.⁴⁰²⁴ The establishment of the link between the crime in question and the JCE member is to be assessed on a case-by-case basis.⁴⁰²⁵ The link may be established on showing that the JCE member (i) closely cooperated with the physical perpetrator or intermediary perpetrator in order to further the common purpose,⁴⁰²⁶ (ii) explicitly or implicitly requested the non-JCE member to commit a crime,⁴⁰²⁷ or (iii) instigated, ordered, encouraged, or otherwise availed himself of the non-JCE member to commit the crime.⁴⁰²⁸ It may also be relevant whether the crimes were committed by forces under the control of the JCE member,⁴⁰²⁹ or acting in coordination with forces under the control of the JCE member.⁴⁰³⁰

1014. It is, however, not required that the JCE member exercised effective control,⁴⁰³¹ or indeed any “control and influence”⁴⁰³² over the perpetrator. Nor do the perpetrator of the crime and the accused need to have an express understanding or agreement between them as regards the commission of the crime.⁴⁰³³ The relevant question in the context of JCE I liability is whether the JCE member used the non-JCE member to commit the actus reus of the crime forming part of the common purpose. The SCC has characterised this as a form of delegated authority for the direct perpetrator to make a decision as to the ultimate implementation of the actus reus, noting that this bears resemblance to the concept of dolus eventualis.⁴⁰³⁴ It is not determinative whether the non-JCE member shared the mens rea of the JCE member, or that he knew of the existence of the JCE.⁴⁰³⁵ For example, it is not necessary for the direct perpetrators of the crime to possess genocidal intent in order for members of the JCE linked to the crime who do have such intent to be held responsible for genocide.⁴⁰³⁶

1015. Conflicts among leaders in a large organisation do not impact on the question of criminal responsibility under JCE as long as all elements for this mode of liability have been established.⁴⁰³⁷ It is inherent in the very notion of JCE that its members make various contributions to the implementation of the common purpose; the fact that some members have a degree of autonomy as to the implementation of aspects of the common purpose does not extinguish the responsibility of other members of the JCE.⁴⁰³⁸

b) Mens Rea

1016. To incur responsibility pursuant to JCE I, the accused must share with the other JCE participants both the relevant mens rea to commit the crimes within the common purpose⁴⁰³⁹ at the time of their commission,⁴⁰⁴⁰ and the intent to participate in a common plan aimed at its commission.⁴⁰⁴¹ For specific intent crimes such as persecution or genocide, the accused must also share the relevant specific intent.⁴⁰⁴² Shared criminal intent does not require the accused's personal satisfaction or enthusiasm or his personal initiative in contributing to the JCE.⁴⁰⁴³ Moreover, the accused is not required to know about the specific criminal incidents in question.⁴⁰⁴⁴ Intent can be inferred from a person's knowledge, combined with continuing participation in the crimes.⁴⁰⁴⁵ The significance and scope of the material participation of an individual in a JCE may also be relevant in determining whether that individual possessed the requisite mens rea.⁴⁰⁴⁶

PLANNED

1017. The actus reus of "planning" requires that one or more persons participate in the design of an act or omission and thereby have a substantial effect on the commission of a crime that is in fact perpetrated.⁴⁰⁴⁷ An accused need not therefore design the conduct alone.⁴⁰⁴⁸ Nor need he be the originator of the design or plan;⁴⁰⁴⁹ it is sufficient to endorse a plan proposed by another.⁴⁰⁵⁰ Circumstantial evidence may provide proof of the existence of the plan.⁴⁰⁵¹ A conviction for planning does not require a finding of a position of authority.⁴⁰⁵²

1018. The plan must precede and substantially contribute to the criminal conduct.⁴⁰⁵³ Whether particular acts amount to a substantial contribution is to be assessed on a case-by-case basis in light of the evidence as a whole.⁴⁰⁵⁴

1019. As to the content of the plan, it need not necessarily devise the commission of a particular crime; the planning can be of an objective that is to be achieved by the commission of crimes. As such, the legitimate character of an operation does not exclude an accused's criminal responsibility for planning crimes committed in its course if the goal is to be achieved by the commission of crimes.⁴⁰⁵⁵ Where an accused plans conduct that has the predominant purpose of indiscriminately attacking civilians, he plans conduct that constitutes crimes.⁴⁰⁵⁶

1020. As to mens rea, the accused must intend, or be aware of the substantial likelihood of, the commission of a crime upon the execution of the plan.⁴⁰⁵⁷ The accused's mens rea may be inferred from the circumstances.⁴⁰⁵⁸ Where it has been determined that the principal perpetrators were aware of the factual circumstances establishing the status of the victims (e.g. civilian, soldiers hors de combat, etc.), such findings are not necessary for a conviction for planning.⁴⁰⁵⁹

INSTIGATED

1021. To be held responsible for instigating, an accused must, by way of an act or omission, prompt another person to act in particular way that has a substantial effect on the commission of the crime.⁴⁰⁶⁰ This mode of liability has also been described as "urging or encouraging."⁴⁰⁶¹ There is no requirement for the instigation to be "direct and public".⁴⁰⁶² Both positive acts and omissions can constitute instigation,⁴⁰⁶³ which may ensue through implicit, written, or other non-verbal prompting by the accused.⁴⁰⁶⁴ It is not necessary to prove the exact instigating language or conduct used by an accused.⁴⁰⁶⁵

1022. For an accused to be criminally liable on the basis of instigation, a crime must be shown to have actually been committed,⁴⁰⁶⁶ although the specific identification of the principal perpetrators of the particular crime is not required.⁴⁰⁶⁷ Further, the act of instigation must precede and substantially contribute to the commission of the crime.⁴⁰⁶⁸ However, it is not necessary to prove that the crime would not have occurred without the accused's involvement.⁴⁰⁶⁹ Indeed, the accused need only prompt another to act in a particular way, and not necessarily to commit a crime or underlying offence per se.⁴⁰⁷⁰

1023. The mens rea for responsibility on the basis of instigation is intent to instigate the commission of the crime, or awareness of the substantial likelihood that the crime will be committed as a result of the instigation.⁴⁰⁷¹ Where it has been determined that the principal perpetrators were aware of the status of the victims (e.g. civilian, soldiers hors de combat, etc.), such findings are not necessary for a conviction for instigating.⁴⁰⁷²

ORDERED

1024. The act of ordering occurs when a person in a position of authority instructs another person to carry out an act or engage in an omission that has a substantial effect on the commission of the crime.⁴⁰⁷³ There is no requirement that the person issuing the order and the direct perpetrator be in a formal superior-subordinate relationship,⁴⁰⁷⁴ or that the accused exercise effective control over him,⁴⁰⁷⁵ but there must be proof of a position of authority on the part of the accused in law or in fact that would compel another person to commit a crime.⁴⁰⁷⁶ That authority may be informal or of a purely temporary nature.⁴⁰⁷⁷

1025. The order need not be given in writing or in a particular form.⁴⁰⁷⁸ The order can be either explicit or implicit, and can be proved circumstantially.⁴⁰⁷⁹ The existence of an order may be inferred from a variety of factors, including the number of illegal acts, the number and type of personnel involved, the effective control and command exerted over these personnel, the logistics involved, the widespread occurrence of similar illegal acts, the tactical tempo of operations, the modus operandi of similar acts, the location of the superior at the time, and his knowledge of criminal acts committed under his command.⁴⁰⁸⁰

1026. The accused need not give the order directly to the physical perpetrator. Liability for ordering may ensue where the accused issues, passes down, or otherwise transmits the order, including through intermediaries.⁴⁰⁸¹ The order must precede and substantially contribute to the commission of a crime that is later perpetrated.⁴⁰⁸² But it is not necessary to prove that the crime or underlying offence would not have been perpetrated but for the accused's order.⁴⁰⁸³

1027. As to the content of the order, it need only order an act or omission; it is not necessary to prove that the order was illegal on its face,⁴⁰⁸⁴ or explicit in relation to the consequences it would have.⁴⁰⁸⁵ The legitimate character of an operation does not exclude an accused's criminal responsibility for ordering crimes committed in the course of that operation if the goal is to be achieved by the commission of crimes.⁴⁰⁸⁶

1028. As to mens rea, the accused must intend, or be aware of the substantial likelihood, that the execution or implementation of the order will result in the commission of the crime.⁴⁰⁸⁷

AIDED AND ABETTED

1029. Aiding and abetting⁴⁰⁸⁸ consists of practical assistance, encouragement, or moral support that has a substantial effect on the commission of the perpetrated crime.⁴⁰⁸⁹ 'Specific direction' is not an element of aiding and abetting liability under CIL.⁴⁰⁹⁰

1030. An aiding and abetting conviction does not require proof that the perpetrator of the crime has been tried or even identified.⁴⁰⁹¹ No plan or agreement between the aider and abettor and the principal perpetrator is required for responsibility on the basis of aiding and abetting;⁴⁰⁹² indeed, it is unnecessary for a principal perpetrator to even be aware of the aider and abettor's contribution.⁴⁰⁹³

1031. Although the aiding and abetting must have a substantial effect on the commission of the crime,⁴⁰⁹⁴ there is no requirement for a cause and effect relationship, or that such conduct was a condition precedent to the commission of the crime.⁴⁰⁹⁵ Whether a particular contribution qualifies as "substantial" is a fact-based inquiry.⁴⁰⁹⁶ The conduct constituting aiding and abetting can occur before, during or after⁴⁰⁹⁷ the commission of the crime, and in a different place from the crime.⁴⁰⁹⁸

1032. An individual can be found liable for aiding and abetting a crime when it is established that his conduct amounted to tacit approval and encouragement of the crime and that such conduct substantially contributed to the crime.⁴⁰⁹⁹ While in such cases the authority of the accused is a factor,⁴¹⁰⁰ it is not otherwise necessary to show the accused had authority over the direct perpetrator.⁴¹⁰¹

1033. An accused may also aid and abet by omission, in which case, the actus reus and mens rea requirements are the same as for aiding and abetting by a positive act.⁴¹⁰² It must be demonstrated that the accused has “the ability to act, or in other words, that there were means available to the accused to fulfil this duty”.⁴¹⁰³ This aspect of aiding and abetting by omission has been interpreted to mean that had the accused acted, the commission of the crime would have been substantially less likely.⁴¹⁰⁴

1034. As to mens rea, an accused must know, at the time he provides the assistance,⁴¹⁰⁵ that a crime will probably be committed, and that his conduct assists or facilitates the commission of a crime.⁴¹⁰⁶ It is unnecessary for the aider and abettor to know the precise crime to be committed by the principal. It suffices that he is aware that one of a number of crimes will probably be committed, and one of those crimes is in fact committed.⁴¹⁰⁷ The accused must also be aware of the essential elements of the crime, including the perpetrator’s state of mind, but need not share the perpetrator’s intent to commit the crime.⁴¹⁰⁸ Specific intent crimes, such as persecution or genocide, require that the aider and abettor must know of, but need not share, the principal perpetrator’s specific intent.⁴¹⁰⁹ This knowledge can be inferred from the circumstances.⁴¹¹⁰

2. SUPERIOR RESPONSIBILITY

1035. Superior responsibility, applicable to both military and civilian superiors, was recognised in CIL by 1975.⁴¹¹¹ By that time, the doctrine was not only applicable to both international and non-international armed conflicts,⁴¹¹² but also to CAH.⁴¹¹³ Under article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law and CIL, superior responsibility is based on the existence of the following three elements:

- (1) a superior-subordinate relationship between the accused and the person who committed the crime. The superior must have had effective control over the subordinate;⁴¹¹⁴
- (2) that the superior knew, or had reason to know, that the subordinate had committed or was about to commit a crime; and
- (3) that the superior failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent the commission of the crime or to punish the perpetrators.⁴¹¹⁵

SUPERIOR-SUBORDINATE RELATIONSHIP

1036. Regardless of whether an accused is a civilian or military superior,⁴¹¹⁶ the superior-subordinate relationship between the accused and the perpetrator of the crime can exist either formally or informally, i.e. de jure or de facto.⁴¹¹⁷ It must be shown that the superior had “effective control” over his subordinate,⁴¹¹⁸ or in other words, the “material ability” to prevent or punish the subordinate’s commission of a crime.⁴¹¹⁹ The superior-subordinate relationship can be direct or indirect, and need not be exclusive.

1037. The test of effective control is the same for both military and civilian superiors.⁴¹²⁰ When superior responsibility is applied to a civilian, there is no requirement that the control exercised by him be of the same nature as that exercised by a military commander; it need only be of the same degree.⁴¹²¹

1038. The indicators of effective control are a question more of fact than of law, and should be assessed on a case-by-case basis.⁴¹²² Factors that would demonstrate that an accused exercised effective control over a subordinate include: the nature of the accused’s position, including his position within the military or political structure;⁴¹²³ the procedure for appointment and the actual tasks performed;⁴¹²⁴ the accused’s capacity to issue orders and whether or not such orders are actually executed;⁴¹²⁵ the authority to invoke disciplinary measures;⁴¹²⁶ and the authority to release or transfer prisoners.⁴¹²⁷ The concept of material ability necessarily also takes into account all factors that might impede a superior’s ability to prevent and punish.⁴¹²⁸

KNEW OR HAD REASONS TO KNOW

1039. As for the knowledge requirement, the term “knew” refers to actual knowledge that the relevant crimes had been committed or were about to be committed, which may be established through direct or circumstantial evidence.⁴¹²⁹ A superior need not know the precise identity of the subordinates who perpetrate(d) the crimes.

1040. The “reason to know” test requires that the superior had general information available to him that would put him on notice of possible unlawful acts by his subordinates.⁴¹³⁰ The standard is met if the information was sufficiently alarming to justify further inquiry.⁴¹³¹ There is no requirement that there be a “substantial likelihood” or the “clear and strong risk” of subsequent crimes.⁴¹³² The “reason to know” standard does not impose a duty to obtain information; it is not the same as “should have known”, i.e. a negligence standard. A superior cannot be held criminally responsible for failing to seek out the relevant knowledge.⁴¹³³ However, criminal responsibility will be imposed on an accused who deliberately refrains from finding out the relevant information.⁴¹³⁴

1041. The information received does not need to provide specific information about unlawful acts committed or about to be committed.⁴¹³⁵ For the purposes of showing that the information was in the superior's possession, it is not necessary to show that he actually acquainted himself with the information, it needs only to have been provided or available.⁴¹³⁶ An accused's position of command can be a factor demonstrating his knowledge of the crimes committed by his subordinates.⁴¹³⁷ The superior need not share his subordinate's intent.⁴¹³⁸

FAILURE TO PREVENT OR PUNISH

1042. A superior's duty is discharged when he has taken "necessary and reasonable" measures to prevent or punish the commission of a crime by a subordinate in the context of a particular situation. Hence, liability arises when he fails to do so.⁴¹³⁹ The existence of a separate legal obligation to act under domestic law is not required.⁴¹⁴⁰ The duties to prevent and punish are distinct and separately entail criminal responsibility. The duty to prevent a crime arises prior to its commission, as soon as the superior knew or had reason to know of the crimes about to be committed. There is no need to show a causal link between the superior's failure to prevent his subordinate's crimes and their occurrence.⁴¹⁴¹ The failure to prevent or punish crimes may be inferred from factors such as the continuing or widespread nature of the violations committed by the subordinates.⁴¹⁴²

1043. The determination of what constitutes necessary and reasonable measures must be made on a case-by-case basis.⁴¹⁴³ The determination of what is materially possible in terms of fulfilling the duty should be assessed in light of the degree of the superior's effective control.⁴¹⁴⁴ The existence of a crisis situation does not relieve the superior of his duty.⁴¹⁴⁵

1044. A superior's duty to punish the perpetrator of a crime includes at least an obligation to investigate possible crimes, to establish the facts, and either sanction the perpetrator personally, or report him to the competent authorities, as appropriate.⁴¹⁴⁶

C. STANDARD OF PROOF REQUIRED FOR INCIDENT

1045. Rule 67(3)(c) of the Internal Rules states that the Co-Investigating Judges shall issue a Dismissal Order, inter alia, where "there is not sufficient evidence against the Charged Person”.⁴¹⁴⁷ Similarly, Article 247(3) of the Code of Criminal Procedure of the Kingdom of Cambodia provides that an investigating judge will issue an order of non-suit where “[t]here is insufficient evidence for a conviction of the charged person”.⁴¹⁴⁸ Neither document defines what “sufficient evidence” means in practice.⁴¹⁴⁹

1046. The CIJs have applied the standard of “sufficient evidence” in Cases 001⁴¹⁵⁰ and 002⁴¹⁵¹ to send the Charged Persons forward for trial. They held that the applicable standard of proof encompassed by the term “sufficient evidence” is probability of guilt rather than mere possibility of guilt.⁴¹⁵² The CIJs explained that “the evidentiary material in the Case File must be sufficiently serious and corroborative to provide a certain level of probative force”.⁴¹⁵³ The ultimate determination of guilt beyond reasonable doubt remains to be assessed by the Trial Chamber.⁴¹⁵⁴

1047. In support of this definition of “sufficient evidence”, the CIJs referred, inter alia, to French law and international criminal law jurisprudence.⁴¹⁵⁵ With regard to French law, Article 177 of the French Code of Criminal Procedure contains the same standard of proof of “charges suffisantes” (“sufficient evidence”),⁴¹⁵⁶ but offers no definition. In the French system, Investigating Judges are afforded unfettered discretion in making the determination in practice.⁴¹⁵⁷

1048. International criminal jurisprudence provides more guidance for assessing the requisite standard of evidence for committal to trial. At the ICC, Article 61(5) governing the confirmation of charges states that “the Prosecutor shall support each charge with sufficient evidence to establish substantial grounds to believe that the person committed the crime charged”.⁴¹⁵⁸ In its recent decision in the Al Mahdi case, Pre-Trial Chamber I stated that the purpose of confirming charges is to ensure that “‘only those persons against whom sufficiently compelling charges going beyond mere theory or suspicion have been brought’ are committed for trial.”⁴¹⁵⁹ It added that the applicable evidentiary standard is established where the Prosecutor offers “concrete and tangible proof demonstrating a clear line of reasoning underpinning [...] specific allegations”.⁴¹⁶⁰

1049. The Rules of Procedure and Evidence of the Residual Mechanism for the International Criminal Tribunals for Rwanda and the former Yugoslavia provide that the Prosecutor shall proceed to indictment if “there is sufficient evidence to provide reasonable grounds for believing that a crime [...] has been committed”.⁴¹⁶¹ The ICTR previously held that “‘reasonable grounds’ can be interpreted as facts and circumstances, which could justify a reasonable or ordinary prudent person in believing that a suspect has committed a crime. There must be facts which raise a clear suspicion that the suspect is guilty of committing the offence, for reasonable grounds to exist”.⁴¹⁶²

1050. Additionally, the Statutes of both the ICTY and the ICTR require a Trial Chamber Judge to be “satisfied that a prima facie case has been established” in order to confirm the charges.⁴¹⁶³ The ICTY defined a “prima facie case” as “a credible case which would (if not contradicted by the Defence) be a sufficient basis to convict the accused on the charge”.⁴¹⁶⁴

D. PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1051. Both the ECCC Agreement and ECCC Law provide that the purpose of establishing this Court is to “bring to trial senior leaders of Democratic Kampuchea and those who were most responsible” for the crimes within the ECCC’s jurisdiction committed from 17 April 1975 to 6 January 1979.⁴¹⁶⁵

1052. The terms “senior leader” and “most responsible” are not further defined in either the ECCC Law or Agreement. Based on extensive analysis of the preparatory work and negotiating history of the ECCC Agreement,⁴¹⁶⁶ the SCC in Duch found that the ECCC had personal jurisdiction only over Khmer Rouge officials,⁴¹⁶⁷ and that the terms “senior leaders” and “most responsible” referred to two separate categories of Khmer Rouge officials:

One category is senior leaders of the Khmer Rouge who are among the most responsible, because a senior leader is not a suspect on the sole basis of his/her leadership position. The other category is non-senior leaders of the Khmer Rouge who are also among the most responsible.⁴¹⁶⁸

Accordingly, if a Charged Person was a Khmer Rouge official, he or she need not be a senior leader in order to be among those most responsible.

1053. The ICIJ has held that findings as to whether a Charged Person was a “senior leader” and/or one of the “most responsible” Khmer Rouge officials “are to be made at the conclusion of the investigation, based on the totality of the evidence on the Case File.”⁴¹⁶⁹

1. MOST RESPONSIBLE

1054. In determining whether a person is among those most responsible for international crimes, the ECCC and international criminal courts and tribunals have adopted two criteria: (i) the gravity of the crimes alleged against the person, and (ii) the level of responsibility of the person alleged to have committed those crimes.

1055. The ICTY was mandated as part of its completion strategy to focus on “the most senior leaders suspected of being most responsible for crimes,”⁴¹⁷⁰ whilst referring the remaining perpetrators to be prosecuted at the national level.⁴¹⁷¹ In evaluating those who are most responsible, the ICTY Referral Bench considered the “gravity of the crimes charged” and the “level of responsibility of the accused”.⁴¹⁷² These dual principles are reflected in decisions of the SCSL,⁴¹⁷³ statements of the ICC Office of the Prosecutor (“OTP”),⁴¹⁷⁴ and have been adopted by the ECCC Trial Chamber,⁴¹⁷⁵ SCC,⁴¹⁷⁶ and the CIJs.⁴¹⁷⁷ The application of these two principles does not require a comparison and ranking of the responsibility of all possible perpetrators,⁴¹⁷⁸ but instead should have regard to the other cases tried by the Court and the particular circumstances and context in which the crimes were committed.⁴¹⁷⁹

1056. ICTY referral decisions have held that relevant factors to determine the gravity of offences committed include: the geographical and temporal scope of the crimes;⁴¹⁸⁰ the manner in which they were committed;⁴¹⁸¹ the number of incidents;⁴¹⁸² and the number of victims.⁴¹⁸³ Assessing these factors should not be a rigid mathematical exercise, but requires a nuanced cumulative analysis.⁴¹⁸⁴

1057. Relevant factors to determine the level of responsibility of the person alleged to have committed the crimes include: the level of participation in the crimes charged;⁴¹⁸⁵ the hierarchical rank or position of the accused,⁴¹⁸⁶ including the number of subordinates and echelons above;⁴¹⁸⁷ their effective authority⁴¹⁸⁸ and ability to give orders;⁴¹⁸⁹ the temporal scope of their control;⁴¹⁹⁰ their authority to negotiate, sign, or implement agreements;⁴¹⁹¹ their actual knowledge of crimes; and whether those in more senior ranks have already been convicted.⁴¹⁹²

2. SENIOR LEADERS

1058. With regards to the term “senior leaders of Democratic Kampuchea,” the legislative history of the ECCC⁴¹⁹³ and international jurisprudence⁴¹⁹⁴ establish that the term is not limited to members of the CPK Standing Committee or to the “architects of an overall policy.” However, it is the Co-Prosecutor’s view that the plain meaning of the term indicates that it encompasses a limited group of individuals at the highest levels of the political and military hierarchy of the CPK and DK regime.

X. NATIONAL CRIMES AND CRIMES NOT CHARGED

CRIMES UNDER THE 1956 CAMBODIAN PENAL CODE

1059. The Co-Prosecutors have consistently maintained the position,⁴¹⁹⁵ upheld by the PTC,⁴¹⁹⁶ that pursuant to article 3^{new} of the ECCC Law, the ECCC may exercise jurisdiction over the crimes of premeditated murder,⁴¹⁹⁷ torture,⁴¹⁹⁸ and religious persecution⁴¹⁹⁹ (together “National Crimes”) set forth in the 1956 Penal Code, and is not barred from doing so by the 10-year statute of limitations found in article 109 of that Code.⁴²⁰⁰

1060. As the PTC confirmed,⁴²⁰¹ this statute of limitations was suspended until at least 24 September 1993 because of the conditions in Cambodia. These conditions, which the PTC has attributed to the Khmer Rouge, include the lack of a functioning judicial system during the DK period and in the People’s Republic of Kampuchea between 1979 and 1982. Thereafter, “until the Kingdom of Cambodia was created by the promulgation of its Constitution on 24 September 1993, a number of historical and contextual considerations significantly impeded domestic prosecutorial and investigative capacity.”⁴²⁰² Therefore, the extension of the statute of limitations by the Cambodian National Assembly in 2001 and 2004, respectively for 20⁴²⁰³ and then 30 years,⁴²⁰⁴ did not violate the principle of legality.⁴²⁰⁵ Moreover, a charged person’s right to equality before the law is not violated by the prosecution of National Crimes at the ECCC,⁴²⁰⁶ and the Cambodian Constitutional Council’s determination that Article 3^{new} of the ECCC Law did not breach any constitutional rights is final, binding, and may not be reviewed by this Court.⁴²⁰⁷ As a result, there is no statute of limitations concern regarding the applicability of National

Crimes in Case 003. However, it should be noted that when the same issue had been before the Trial Chamber in Case 001, the judges failed to achieve the necessary votes for a decision, although a majority supported the view that the national crimes charged in that case were not time-barred by the 10-year statute of limitations.⁴²⁰⁸

1061. The Co-Prosecutor does not seek Meas Muth's indictment for National Crimes even though the evidence from the investigations satisfies the elements for such criminal charges. This is because the Co-Prosecutor believes that Meas Muth's criminal conduct is better described when legally characterised as the international crimes of genocide and CAH (particularly murder, torture, and persecution on political grounds). Further, by characterising this conduct as international crimes, rather than National Crimes, unnecessary litigation can be avoided with a view to ensuring expeditious proceedings.

CRIMES AND MODES OF LIABILITY NOT PREVIOUSLY CHARGED

1062. The Co-Prosecutor submits that nothing in the ECCC Rules prohibits crimes or modes of liability not charged by the CIJs at an initial or further appearance from forming part of the Closing Order indictment, provided that the crimes concern factual allegations of which the CIJs were seised.⁴²⁰⁹ Under ECCC and Cambodian law, investigating judges are seised in rem with all factual allegations in the prosecution's introductory or supplementary submissions.⁴²¹⁰ The CIJs have an obligation to investigate all of these facts and to consider whether the evidence establishes that the person named in the submission(s) is criminally responsible for any crimes under any applicable mode of liability, and then issue a reasoned decision.⁴²¹¹

1063. The Meas Muth Defence has been put on notice as to the facts which could lead to an indictment through access to the Co-Prosecutor's Introductory and Supplementary Submissions. Under an investigative judge/civil law system such as the ECCC, the Defence is aware that the CIJs are obligated to investigate all facts in such submissions and to consider the evidence that results. The Defence would therefore not be surprised or prejudiced when the CIJs do so. The ICIJ very clearly stated at Meas Muth's initial appearance that additional crimes based on future submissions from the OCP could be charged before the end of the investigation if there is clear and consistent evidence that Meas Muth is responsible for such crimes.⁴²¹² Rule 67(1) clearly provides that the investigation is concluded when the Co-Investigating Judges issue a Closing Order. Therefore, under the Rules, it is permissible at the Closing Order stage for the CIJs to consider and add charges based on facts with which they have been properly seised.

1064. The Internal Rules do not provide the Co-Prosecutors any opportunity to be heard on which crimes the CIJs include in their notification of charges pursuant to Rule 57, and the Co-Prosecutors were not invited to submit on the issue or to attend the charging hearings. Moreover, the Written Record of Further Appearance was not an “order” for the purposes of Rule 74 that could be appealed. The Final Submission, therefore, is the only opportunity for the Co-Prosecutor to be heard on whether the evidence from the investigation demonstrates Meas Muth’s responsibility for the crimes alleged in the Introductory and Supplementary Submissions.⁴²¹³ If the arguments in this Final Submission concerning crimes and modes of liability not previously charged are automatically ignored and go unaddressed in the Closing Order, it would result in facts being dismissed without the Co-Prosecutor ever having an opportunity to be heard by the CIJs and would preclude any appellate review by the PTC. That surely is not the intent of the Rules.

XI. SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION

A. CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

Attack Against a Civilian Population

1065. The offences detailed in this Submission were part of an attack involving the commission of numerous crimes within a system of organised repression. These acts included (i) forced expulsion of persons from urban centres and forced movement between rural areas; (ii) enslavement of persons in cooperatives and worksites established by the CPK; (iii) mass forced labour; (iv) the imposition of forced marriage and rape; (v) denial of basic human rights and freedoms and confiscation of property; and (vi) enforcement of these various forms of repression through arbitrary arrests, detention, and executions. This attack was directed primarily against the civilian population of Democratic Kampuchea on political, religious, ethnic, and racial grounds.⁴²¹⁴

1066. DK leaders, including Meas Muth and other RAK division commanders, also directed an unlawful attack against members of their own armed forces.⁴²¹⁵ Thousands of RAK personnel were forced to disarm and were transferred to cooperatives and worksites where they were enslaved, subjected to inhumane treatment and conditions, and many were ultimately executed.⁴²¹⁶ While these acts occurred during an international armed conflict with Vietnam, the demobilised RAK members were not allied with Vietnam nor were they providing militarily relevant support to Vietnam. As such, the attack on DK's own armed forces amounted to an attack against a civilian population and therefore constitutes CAH under the law as it existed between 1975 and 1979.⁴²¹⁷

Widespread or Systematic

1067. The attack on civilians was both widespread and systematic. It was widespread due to its large-scale nature, extended duration, the geographic area in which it occurred, and the large number of victims against whom it was directed. The attack targeted the vast majority of the country's civilian population across the entire territory of DK and lasted over three years and eight months.⁴²¹⁸ Entire civilian populations were forcibly moved from urban centres to the countryside, and millions were enslaved in cooperatives and worksites.⁴²¹⁹ The CPK also established approximately 196 security offices⁴²²⁰ where thousands of civilians were imprisoned, tortured, and executed.⁴²²¹

1068. The attack on the civilian population was also systematic. The CPK Standing Committee centrally devised policies involving the commission of crimes, issued directives for their implementation, and received regular reports from all CPK echelons on the policies' implementation on the ground.⁴²²² The similar patterns of inhumane treatment, violence, and other criminal conduct that emerged across the country as the policies were implemented also demonstrate the organised, systematic nature of the attack.⁴²²³

Discriminatory Grounds

1069. The attack on civilians was based on political, religious, ethnic, and racially discriminatory grounds. The CPK imposed a political revolution that brooked no opposition. All civilians were considered real or potential enemies and were variously subject to political re-education, enslavement, detention, and execution.⁴²²⁴ "Enemies" of the regime included people associated with the former Lon Nol regime, cadres within the CPK ranks who fell under suspicion, people with ties to foreign countries who were characterised as “spies” for foreign governments, and “new people” or “17 April people” who the CPK perceived were opposed to the revolution.⁴²²⁵ Also included were all civilians suspected of disloyalty to the regime or the revolution because of such innocent behaviours as expressing dissatisfaction with living conditions or breaking a tool or even a spoon.⁴²²⁶ The CPK used programmes such as political indoctrination, study sessions, tempering, and constant surveillance to identify those who might lack loyalty.

1070. The attack on civilians was also based on religious grounds, as it involved, inter alia, the abolition and suppression of religion and religious practices as well as destruction of religious property. Finally, minorities such as the Vietnamese were persecuted and destroyed on the basis of their racial and ethnic identities.⁴²²⁷

Meas Muth’s Knowledge of the Attack

1071. Meas Muth and the other perpetrators had knowledge of the attack against the civilian population and knew that their acts formed part of the attack. The attack was self-evident to all who lived through the DK regime, which imposed a state of terror on the population. Further, Meas Muth’s knowledge of the attack is manifested by his extensive contributions to and participation in the attack, as discussed elsewhere in this Submission.⁴²²⁸

B. GRAVE BREACHES OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS

International Armed Conflict

1072. Evidence on the Case File establishes that an international armed conflict between DK and the SRV existed from May 1975 until the end of the period under investigation, 6 January 1979.⁴²²⁹ The conflict started with incursions and counter-incursions by the two countries’ armed forces in May-June 1975 and continued with numerous military confrontations throughout 1975 and 1976.⁴²³⁰ Despite purported attempts to find a political solution, the severity of the conflict increased in 1977, with cross-border attacks by both sides and a major incursion into Cambodian territory by the SRV army in late 1977.⁴²³¹ DK officially severed its diplomatic relations with the SRV on 31 December 1977 and ongoing fighting

continued along the border between the two countries throughout 1978.⁴²³² The SRV army's full-scale invasion of Cambodia in late December 1978 represented the final stage of the armed conflict, which culminated in the capture of Phnom Penh on 7 January 1979 by Vietnamese forces.⁴²³³

1073. Indicia that the armed conflict was continuous include the CPK's deployment of both Centre and Zone RAK divisions as well as militia against the SRV; the engagement of the SRV army; the CPK Standing Committee's issuance of instructions on military matters and its resolution to confront Vietnamese encroachments; repeated clashes between SRV and DK forces and their incursions into each other's territory; and regular reporting from the RAK and zone leaders to the Party Centre on military incidents throughout the period.⁴²³⁴

1074. The crimes perpetrated by DK forces and cadres were closely related to this international armed conflict.⁴²³⁵ They were committed against members of the armed forces of the SRV, the country opposing DK in the armed conflict, as well as against civilians found in combat zones or in DK territory who were considered to be a threat to DK because they were nationals (or perceived to be nationals) of the opposing party to the conflict. The crimes were carried out in furtherance of the CPK's military goals against the SRV and were committed during the time of the RAK's organised attacks into Vietnamese territory. Finally, the perpetrators were implementing the CPK's policy to exterminate the Vietnamese in Cambodia, which had its genesis in the CPK's desire to resist perceived Vietnamese expansion.

Protected Persons

1075. The Vietnamese soldiers and civilians who were the victims of the crimes described elsewhere in this Submission⁴²³⁶ were protected persons under Geneva Conventions III and IV. The Vietnamese civilians found themselves in the hands of a party to the conflict of which they were not nationals (DK) and, as such, had the status of protected persons under GC IV. SRV Soldiers captured by DK forces were prisoners of war who had fallen into the power of the enemy, and as such had the status of protected persons under GC III.⁴²³⁷

Awareness of Armed Conflict

1076. Grave Breaches against the Vietnamese were committed by: (1) members of the RAK who were engaged in armed confrontations with Vietnam and incursions into Vietnamese territory; and (2) prison officials, interrogators, and guards at DK security offices, including S-21, where Vietnamese prisoners of war and civilians were imprisoned, tortured, and executed. The evidence on the Case File demonstrates that both of these groups of perpetrators were aware of the existence of the armed conflict between DK and SRV. Members of the RAK who carried out incursions into Vietnam and who were fighting at the borders or at sea were clearly aware of the existence of the armed conflict and that the Vietnamese soldiers who were captured and sent into captivity in Phnom Penh were members of the armed forces of SRV, the state with whom DK was at war. They also knew that the civilians they captured, killed, or sent to S-21 were nationals of the foreign state opposing them in the conflict.⁴²³⁸

1077. CPK cadres at S-21 also understood that they were imprisoning, torturing, and executing Vietnamese victims in the context of the ongoing armed conflict with Vietnam. For example, Vietnamese civilians captured at sea and sent to S-21 were routinely listed as spies in S-21 records. They and the Vietnamese soldiers imprisoned at S-21 were tortured into making confessions relating to the armed conflict and Vietnam's supposed expansionist aims, which were broadcast on the DK radio. Vietnamese prisoners of war arrested and taken to S-21 were also recorded with descriptions of their SRV rank and military unit, as well as the place of their arrest.⁴²³⁹

XII. PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1078. The evidence developed in the investigation of Case 003 establishes that Meas Muth falls within the personal jurisdiction of the ECCC. Meas Muth was unquestionably a "senior leader" of the DK regime, holding powerful positions in both the military and political hierarchy that allowed him to play a significant role in the formation and implementation of national policies, to supervise a significant portion of the DK's military forces as they carried out various crimes, and to control the lives of tens of thousands of civilians in areas under his control.

1079. The evidence shows that as other members of the DK military and the CPK fell under suspicion and were purged, Meas Muth was handed ever-increasing power and responsibilities. Meas Muth was considered a Pol Pot loyalist and was trusted to implement the CPK's criminal policies with the powerful forces under his command. Meas Muth used both his military positions and civilian authority to further the criminal plan and he played a unique and critical role in some of the most brutal crimes the world has seen — crimes that led to the enslavement, torture and killing of tens of thousands of Cambodians.

1. SENIOR LEADER⁴²⁴⁰

1080. Meas Muth held multiple high-level positions in Democratic Kampuchea at both the national and regional levels, making him one of the most senior and powerful leaders of the regime. Meas Muth's rapid rise in rank coincided with a simultaneous increase in the number and severity of crimes committed against the Cambodian population. Pol Pot, Son Sen, Ta Mok and other senior leaders of the regime considered Meas Muth loyal and effective and granted him increasing power and authority to enable him to implement the criminal policies the leadership saw as necessary to maintain their rule in a failing and ever-more brutal dictatorial regime.

1081. Meas Muth's appointment to the Central Committee during the DK period is proof of the high regard the Standing Committee had for his work in implementing Party policy in Division 164 and Kampong Som Autonomous Sector. The Central Committee was the highest decision-making body in the CPK and was responsible for implementing the Party's policies and instructing the Zones, Autonomous Sectors, and armed forces to carry out those policies. As a member of the Central Committee, Meas Muth was thus one of the most influential members of the CPK. Only the Standing Committee (which formally consisted of five full-rights members and two candidate members) stood above the Central Committee, and the Standing Committee members were themselves elected by the Central Committee. The legally and morally unlimited power of the Central Committee is demonstrated by the decision they passed on 30 March 1976 delegating the power to authorise extrajudicial killings to the General Staff, Zones and other Committees within the DK hierarchy.

1082. In addition to his Party positions, Meas Muth played an important role as a member of the RAK General Staff from its formation in 1975 through the fall of the regime. The RAK General Staff was the highest military institution in the DK regime with authority to give orders to all RAK units. Towards the end of the regime, Meas Muth and Sou Met were appointed to serve as joint Deputies of the General Staff Committee. Further, as Division 164 Secretary from its formation in 1975, Meas Muth commanded the largest of the nine divisions of the RAK. With up to 10,000 soldiers, Division 164 had 40 percent more personnel than the next largest Division. Meas Muth therefore controlled a significant portion of the whole DK security apparatus.

1083. In terms of the breadth of the geographical area over which his power extended, as Division 164 Secretary, head of the DK Navy, and Secretary of Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, Meas Muth was the leading authority in an area that included all Cambodian territorial waters and islands along an approximately 400 km coastline as well as the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector. Later, during the DK internal purges, Meas Muth was appointed to lead Autonomous Sector 505 (Kratie), and his authority extended to this vast region. Meas Muth's political and military positions gave him authority over all the cadres and civilians living in these two autonomous sectors and on the islands.

1084. The combined military and political authority from these positions gave Meas Muth a degree of power and influence in Democratic Kampuchea equalled by few of the regime's leaders. Moreover, Meas Muth's influence extended across the country through his role on the Central Committee and his position as Deputy Secretary of the General Staff.

2. MOST RESPONSIBLE⁴²⁴¹

1085. Aside from Meas Muth's senior leadership roles in DK, he was also one of the DK officials "most responsible" for the crimes committed in DK. Meas Muth played a key role in crimes of extreme gravity that were committed by forces under his control, and in the paranoid and murderous purge of the RAK's own forces. Meas Muth facilitated and encouraged the direct perpetrators of crimes and gave direct orders for crimes to be committed, including murder, extermination, genocide, torture, arbitrary imprisonment, enslavement, and inhumane acts (including forced marriages and rape).

1086. All of the crimes discussed in this Submission and for which the ICP seeks Meas Muth's indictment are extremely serious and led to enormous suffering for the victims. Indeed, the effect of these crimes remains today. Families mourn the loss of loved ones; communities still lag behind because of losing so many of their most productive members (such as doctors, teachers), and survivors live with terrifying, painful, and often humiliating memories that often continue to affect their health and relationships. Most of the crimes described in this Submission fall into the category of "crimes against humanity", a term that recognises that all of humanity has an interest in ensuring there is no impunity for such serious crimes. All of the crimes discussed in this Submission are directly tied to Meas Muth: they were physically perpetrated by subordinates of Meas Muth according to his orders or to policies he helped to establish and propagate, and they were committed at execution sites, security centres, and worksites almost all of which were established by Meas Muth.

1087. Further, in considering whether Meas Muth falls within the ECCC's personal jurisdiction, it is important to consider the willing and important role he played in a campaign that constituted genocide. Cambodia was among the first of 147 states parties to the 1948 Genocide Convention, having acceded to the Convention on 14 October 1950. As a treaty member, Cambodia is legally obligated to do all it can to prevent genocides and punish the perpetrators. As a country whose people have themselves been victimised by a genocidal campaign, the country's moral obligation is even greater.

1088. Surely those who negotiated the Agreement Between the United Nations and the Royal Government of Cambodia Concerning the Prosecution Under Cambodian Law of Crimes Committed During the Period of Democratic Kampuchea recognised this obligation, and it is reasonable to assume that by extending the court's personal jurisdiction to those "most responsible" for the crimes committed during the DK period, the intent was to ensure that leaders who actively participated and made significant contributions to the genocides perpetrated by the DK regime would be brought to justice.

1089. Meas Muth's crimes alleged in this Submission were committed against tens of thousands of individuals in Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, Cambodia's coastal waters and islands, and in Sector 505. His victims were enslaved at worksites in inhumane conditions, forced to marry, subjected to arbitrary arrests and detentions or, in the case of thousands, killed by the regime. Further, as a result of the General Staff's implementation of the CPK internal purge of the RAK Centre Divisions and Regiments, at least 4,900 RAK prisoners were sent to S-21, an institution administered and supported by the General Staff.

1090. As Deputy Secretary of the General Staff Committee, Meas Muth played an important role in these killings as he endorsed the planned purge of RAK personnel in meetings of the General Staff and worked to implement it in his own areas of responsibility, personally ordering many of his own subordinates to be transferred to S-21. Further, thousands more were killed in security centres and execution sites by Division 164 personnel and other forces under the command of Meas Muth operating in Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, the territorial waters and islands off the DK coast, and Autonomous Sector 505 when these areas were ruled by Meas Muth.

1091. At least 10,000 soldiers and civilians were forced to labour under conditions that constituted the crime of enslavement in Kampong Som Sector. Many hundreds were imprisoned in inhumane conditions, tortured, and executed without any legal process. Over a thousand Vietnamese and Thais, and 10 Westerners were executed in Kampong Som Sector, at sea or on the islands, or sent to S-21 and executed there. The 194 Vietnamese that were sent to S-21 by Meas Muth formed a third of the total number of Vietnamese sent to Tuol Sleng from all of Cambodia. In total, Meas Muth ordered that around 706 individuals deemed "enemies" be sent to S-21. Hundreds of couples were forced to marry in Kampong Som pursuant to policies ordered and facilitated by Meas Muth, who also personally ordered some specific couples to marry and whose deputy commanders presided over multiple ceremonies.

1092. Meas Muth's crimes were not isolated or sporadic but occurred continuously over the entire temporal jurisdiction of the court as part of a systematic persecution of the population. In Kampong Som Sector, Meas Muth was sending suspected individuals for persecution and execution to Wat Enta Nhien, Toek Sap, and S-21 from 1975 until 1979. Similarly, Meas Muth established the Sector's worksites at Ream and Stung Hav where he enslaved demobilised RAK military and the civilian population from 1975 up until 1979. The execution of Vietnamese by Division 164 commenced in 1975 and continued at least through late 1978. The treatment of captured Vietnamese by Division 164 was consistent throughout the DK period – all were executed, or sent to be executed, after capture.

1093. Meas Muth's responsibility for the crimes alleged in this Submission is very high. He played an influential role in the criminal policies due to the vast authority he wielded; and his contributions were active and often direct, including direct orders to commit crimes. As the highest authority in the Kampong Som Sector and in Division 164, he ordered, planned, and instigated these crimes. In his role on the General Staff, he encouraged other Division and Regiment commanders to purge enemies in their ranks. He personally carried out purges by arresting and sending cadres for execution as in the purge of Division 117 and Sector 505. He designed a system to identify, search, arrest, re-educate, imprison, torture, and execute so-called enemies of the CPK.

1094. Meas Muth personally indoctrinated his subordinates regarding the enemy policy to persecute and execute individuals suspected of being enemies of the CPK without trial. Pursuant to his orders and the policies he established, prisoners were detained in inhumane conditions at worksites and security centres. He ordered and indoctrinated subordinates to force couples to marry and to consummate those marriages against their will. In short, Meas Muth used his subordinates to implement the criminal policies to persecute and execute enemies and enslave the population to achieve the political goals of the CPK, knowing and intending that those crimes would be committed.

1095. Meas Muth had the power to issue orders, appoint and demote staff, and to punish subordinates. His control was comprehensive. He earned a reputation among his soldiers for being "very strict", "meticulous", "mean", and "vicious". He controlled every aspect of Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector, issuing orders in respect to military operations, patrol and capture of boats, demobilisation and transfer of soldiers, agricultural production, marriages, identification of military personnel and ordinary citizens suspected of disloyalty to the regime, arrests, and executions. As part of his role in the General Staff, Meas Muth also issued similar orders to Division 117. He removed and replaced Division 164, Division 117, and Sector 505 cadres.

1096. In evaluating whether Meas Muth is among those "most responsible" for the crimes of the DK regime, it is instructive to compare his role with that of Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, who was determined to be among those most responsible for the crimes of the DK regime in Case 001.⁴²⁴² Notably, Meas Muth held a far higher position than Duch. Duch, when being questioned by the Co-Investigating Judges about an S-21 confession with an annotation that was addressed to “Comrade Muth” and asked whether he wrote that annotation, responded, “I could not use the term ‘Comrade Mut’ given his rank and age, he was senior to me”.⁴²⁴³ In one 1977 DK document, Duch’s Office S-21 was listed as having 2,317 personnel, while Meas Muth’s Division 164 was listed as having 8,568 personnel, almost four times greater.⁴²⁴⁴

1097. Meas Muth was clearly in an entirely different, and superior, echelon to Duch in the CPK, bearing in mind his membership in the Central Committee, General Staff Committee, and the Division 164 and Kampong Som Sector Committees, not to mention his personal relationship with Ta Mok. Meas Muth had many more responsibilities at a policy level than Duch, who had the singular role of operating the S-21 security centre. Moreover, as argued in this Submission, Meas Muth was responsible for the crimes of genocide and other inhumane acts through forced marriage, which were not charged against Duch.

1098. Consequently, the International Co-Prosecutor submits that the totality of evidence from the investigation establishes that Meas Muth was both one of the most senior DK leaders and one of those most responsible for the crimes committed in the Democratic Kampuchea regime, and he therefore falls within the personal jurisdiction of the ECCC.

1099. The International Co-Prosecutor also acknowledges and appreciates the concern of the National Co-Prosecutor that before any ECCC indictment is issued, the objectives of the ECCC expressed in the preamble to the agreement between the United Nations and Royal Government of Cambodia should be considered. The preamble to the agreement states that the United Nations General Assembly recognised the legitimate concern of the Cambodian government and people for “the pursuit of justice, and national reconciliation, stability, peace and security.”⁴²⁴⁵ Accordingly, the ICP has carefully considered the possible effects an indictment of Meas Muth could have on justice, national reconciliation, stability, peace and security in Cambodia.

1100. In order to evaluate how national reconciliation, stability, peace, and security could be affected by an indictment of Meas Muth, the ICP looked at how previous trials at the ECCC impacted these concerns and goals. Further, as the identities of the suspects who are the subject of the Case 003 and 004 investigations have been public for some time, the ICP looked at what effect, if any, public awareness of the fact that the ECCC was conducting criminal investigations of these individuals, including Meas Muth, has had on how Cambodians perceive the state of justice in the country as well as what effects, if any, this has had on national reconciliation, stability, peace, and security.

1101. From all evidence available to the ICP, it appears clear that the convictions and life sentences handed down in Case 001 and Case 002/01 have had no negative effect on national reconciliation, stability, peace or security, and arguably have had many positive effects. Further, there have been no negative public reactions to the disclosure that Meas Muth and other suspects were under investigation in Cases 003 and 004, nor was there any negative public reaction when it was publicly announced that he had been charged by the International Co-Investigating Judge, or when it was publicly announced that the judicial investigation against him had closed. The ICP considers there is no reason to believe that the indictment of Meas Muth would compromise national reconciliation, stability, peace, or security in Cambodia. Rather, the effort to hold high-level DK leaders responsible for massive crimes accountable for their actions would enhance public confidence that persons of influence cannot forever evade responsibility for crimes and that justice is achievable, thereby buttressing the long-term stability and peace of Cambodia.

1102. The accused in Case 002 were the most senior surviving members of the DK regime. Nuon Chea was second in the CPK hierarchy and the right-hand man to Pol Pot, while Khieu Samphan was the former Head of State and for many years the public face of both the Democratic Kampuchea state and the CPK under its various appellations. The Case 002/01 trial began in 2011. In 2014, a trial judgment was rendered convicting Nuon Chea and Khieu Samphan of various crimes against humanity and sentencing each to spend the rest of their lives in prison. Convictions for crimes against humanity and the life sentences were upheld in the ECCC Supreme Court Chamber's judgment which was pronounced in November 2016.⁴²⁴⁶

1103. There were no reports of negative reactions to the conviction or sentencing of these Khmer Rouge leaders. No extraordinary security measures appear to have been taken to prepare for the judgments and, in fact, there were no demonstrations or protests by former cadres of the Khmer Rouge reacting negatively to the convictions. At no time has there been any indication that the trial, convictions, and life sentences handed down to Nuon Chea and Khieu Samphan threatened peace, security, stability, or reconciliation in Cambodia.

1104. While the accused in Case 002 were above Meas Muth in the DK hierarchy, the Accused in Case 001, Duch, was at a much lower level in the hierarchy. Duch was not a member of the Central Committee and held no other political appointment; he did not administer even one Sector, let alone two, as did Meas Muth eventually, or even a lower administrative area; and he commanded far fewer troops than Meas Muth. Yet just as there was no negative reaction or any security incidents from the arrests, trials, and convictions of the highest CPK leaders, nor was there any negative reaction to the prosecution and conviction of Duch, a mid-level cadre at a much lower level of authority than Meas Muth.

1105. The Khmer Rouge have long ceased to be a threat to Cambodia's peace and security. The movement collapsed almost two decades ago as the remnants of the CPK were riddled with internal disputes and splintered apart in the late 1990s. Today, the Pol Pot regime is almost universally reviled in Cambodia and there is no significant public support or prospect of any resurgence of the movement.

1106. Rather than leading to unrest or protest, Cambodians have shown significant interest in, and support for, the prosecution of these Khmer Rouge leaders. Thousands of civil parties have participated, or applied to participate, in these cases and over 200,000 people have attended the trials to date. Given the fact that the prosecution of cadres both above Meas Muth (Nuon Chea and Khieu Samphan) and below Meas Muth in the DK political and military hierarchy (Duch) have been tried with no negative effect on national peace, security, or reconciliation, there is no reason to believe that the prosecution of Meas Muth, 39 years after the fall of the DK regime and almost a quarter century after the signing of the Paris Peace accords, would threaten Cambodia's peace, security, or national reconciliation.

1107. Further, the fact that Meas Muth is a suspect in the Case 003 investigation has been public knowledge since at least 2011.⁴²⁴⁷ In the six years since, there has been no unrest or negative public reaction to this news that would threaten the peace, security, or national reconciliation of Cambodia. The fact that Meas Muth holds a military rank does not indicate that any attempt to hold him accountable for crimes would threaten public order. Since the signing of the Paris Accords and the end of the civil war in Cambodia, several high-ranking military officers, including generals, have been prosecuted without any consequences to public order, including former Khmer Rouge generals.⁴²⁴⁸ As far as the ICP is aware, OCIJ investigators have been able to interview former Khmer Rouge cadres about Meas Muth and suspects in Cases 003 and 004 without serious incident.

1108. The current International Co-Prosecutor, his predecessor, and the Deputy International Co-Prosecutor who served as Acting ICP, have consistently stated that there will be no further cases at the ECCC after Cases 003 and 004. Given the advanced stage of the ECCC, there is no reason for anyone to fear that more suspects will be named if Meas Muth is indicted. Thus, there is no rational basis for former Khmer Rouge cadres to threaten the security of the country because they fear their own arrest if Meas Muth is indicted.

XIII. INDIVIDUAL CRIMINAL RESPONSIBILITY

A. OVERVIEW

1109. Meas Muth is individually responsible for genocide, crimes against humanity and grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions pursuant to Articles 4, 5 and 6 of the ECCC Law as established by the evidence in the Case 003 investigation which is discussed in this submission.

1110. Meas Muth bears responsibility for these crimes under Article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law, specifically for (i) committing, planning, instigating, ordering and/or aiding and abetting these crimes, and (ii) failing, as a superior who knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit or had committed these crimes, to prevent the crimes commission, or to punish the perpetrators. Meas Muth committed these crimes not as a physical perpetrator but as a participant in a joint criminal enterprise.

B. MODES OF LIABILITY

1. COMMITTING VIA JOINT CRIMINAL ENTERPRISE⁴²⁴⁹

1111. Meas Muth committed each of the crimes charged through his participation in a joint criminal enterprise. The JCE involved the basic (“JCE I”) form of common plan liability.
1112. The members of the JCE shared a common criminal plan to commit the crimes described in this submission as a means to maintain the CPK in power and to implement the CPK central leadership’s radical agrarian, economic, and social policies.
1113. While the common plan extended to all areas of Cambodia, the JCE described in this submission concerns the implementation of the common plan in areas controlled by Meas Muth’s forces which included the Autonomous Sector of Kampong Som, islands occupied or controlled by DK naval forces, and, in late 1978, Autonomous Sector 505, and the purge of “enemies” within the ranks of the RAK Centre Divisions and Independent Regiments.
1114. The plan sought to radically alter Cambodian society to achieve an atheist, classless society with a single national and ethnic identity by criminal means. In order to eliminate opposition and perceived enemies and to maintain the CPK in power, the plan involved the commission of genocide, the crimes against humanity of extermination, murder, torture, imprisonment, enslavement, persecution, and other inhumane acts, and the grave breaches of the Geneva Conventions of unlawful confinement, torture, wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health, and wilful killing against various categories of perceived enemies.
1115. These enemies included RAK personnel and CPK cadres perceived as disloyal, their families, and others perceived as connected to them; former soldiers and officials of the Lon Nol regime and others perceived as connected to them; the group of people forcibly transferred from cities and towns, commonly referred to as “New People” or “17 April People”; those considered or labelled by authorities as spies for the CIA or KGB; ethnic and national Vietnamese or those perceived as affiliated with them; those from the “bourgeois”, “feudalist”, or “capitalist” classes; and all ordinary citizens perceived as disloyal to the regime or the revolution for any reason whatsoever. The plan also involved the commission of the crime of genocide (through killings) with the intent to destroy the Vietnamese people in Cambodia as a distinct racial, national and ethnic group.

1116. In order to facilitate the CPK's military, economic, and agrarian policies by rapidly increasing the population, the JCE involved the commission of the crime against humanity of other inhumane acts through forced marriages and compelling couples forced to marry to consummate the marriage without the consent of one or both partners (rape). Further facilitation of these policies involved the commission of the crimes against humanity of enslavement, murder, extermination, imprisonment, torture, and other inhumane acts (enforced disappearances and inhumane treatment) against workers at cooperatives and worksites.
1117. Meas Muth and the other members of this JCE intended each of these crimes, and all of the crimes described in this final submission were committed pursuant to this joint criminal enterprise.
1118. Meas Muth became a member of this JCE from at least 17 April 1975 when he led Division 3 of the RAK into Phnom Penh. Meas Muth remained a member of the JCE through the end of the temporal jurisdiction of the ECCC, 6 January 1979.
1119. Meas Muth acted in concert with other members of the JCE. They included Pol Pot; Nuon Chea; Khieu Samphan; Son Sen; the members of the Standing Committee; the members of the Central Committee; the RAK General Staff; the Centre Division and Independent Regiment Secretaries and Deputies, Meas Muth's subordinates within the leadership of Division 164 and in Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, including Thuch Rin alias Krin (Kampong Som Sector Deputy Secretary and Kampong Som Port Chief) and Launh (Kampong Som Sector committee member).
1120. Within Division 164 the JCE members included Hoeng Doeun alias Dim (Division 164 Deputy Secretary); Tim Seng (Division 164 Deputy Secretary and acting Secretary in late 1978, Regiment 140 Secretary, Regiment 140 Deputy Secretary); Chey Han alias Chhan (Division 164 Deputy Secretary and committee member); Mom Chim alias Yan (Division 164 committee member, Regiment 163 Commander); Men Nget (Division 164 Deputy, Division 164 committee member, Regiment 161 Commander); Long Saroeun alias Roeun/Rin (Division 164 Deputy, Regiment 140 Commander, Kampong Som Port Chief);

Kim Nhan alias Nhan (Division 164 committee member, Regiment 163 Commander); Mao Son alias Son (Regiment 161 Commander); Sok Pheap (Regiment 161 Commander, Kampong Som Port Deputy Chief); Iek Mienh (Regiment 162 Commander); Son and Yeang (Regiment 162 Commanders); San Seab alias Sam (Regiment 162 Deputy Secretary); Sin Chorn (Regiment 163 Commander); Sras (Regiment 163 Deputy Commander); Han (Regiment 140 Commander); and Moeun, Chhav, Chhin, Sambath alias Bau, and Uoch (Regiment 140 deputies and committee members).

1121. Other JCE members in Division 164 included Sar Moeun alias Moeun (Battalion 165 (450) Commander and head of Wat Enta Nhien security centre); Chhun Lun alias Sam-At alias Sun (Battalion 165 (450) Deputy Commander); Thean and Em Sum (Battalion 165 (450) committee members); Norn (Chief of Battalion 165 (450) guards posted at the division headquarters and Chairman of Wat Enta Nhien security centre); Division 164 personnel in charge of cooperatives, worksites, and execution sites located in the Ream area and at Stung Hav; Division 164 personnel responsible for the operation of Wat Enta Nhien and Toek Sap security centres; and all other commanders and deputies of Division 164 regiments and battalions, including battalions 611, 612, 613, 621, 622, 623, 624, 631, 632, 633, 141, 142, 143, 144, and independent battalions 165, 166, 167, 168, 169, and 170.

1122. Local officials, including cooperative and village chiefs, work site supervisors, soldiers, militia, and cadres under the authority of members of the JCE, were themselves either members of the JCE or were used by members of the JCE to implement the criminal plan.

1123. Meas Muth made a significant contribution to the JCE through the following acts, by:

CONTRIBUTION TO THE PERSECUTION AND EXECUTION OF ENEMIES⁴²⁵⁰

- (a) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance and execution of individuals deemed enemies of the CPK particularly within all RAK Centre Divisions and Independent Regiments, Division 164, Division 117, Sector 505, Vietnamese, Thai, Westerners and those imprisoned at Wat Enta Nhien, Toek Sap security centres and at S-21 in Phnom Penh;

- (b) Meeting with other RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders on a monthly basis to receive instructions from Son Sen on the CPK policy to re-educate, persecute and execute enemies in the RAK;
- (c) Contributing to discussions with other RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders in which the criteria of CPK enemies was developed and interpreted;
- (d) Coordinating with other RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders to implement the plan to persecute and execute enemies in their respective units;
- (e) Encouraging other RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders to persecute and execute enemies within the RAK;
- (f) Ordering the arrest and transfer of enemies arrested by his subordinates in his area of control to S-21 security centre to be imprisoned, interrogated, tortured, and executed; and
- (g) Reporting regularly to Son Sen and other Standing Committee members on the status of the implementation of the CPK enemy policy in Division 164 and the Kampong Som Sector through written communications and attendance at meetings.

Within Division 164⁴²⁵¹

- (a) Collaborating closely with Son Sen and Meas Muth's subordinates in order to identify, search, arrest, persecute and execute Division 164 enemies or enemies present in the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector and other areas under Meas Muth's control;
- (b) Implementing a system to identify enemies within Division 164 for arrest, imprisonment, enslavement, and execution;
- (c) Ordering the recording of biographies of Division 164 personnel to assess for any enemy traits;
- (d) Creating an inspection committee within Division 164 to review biographies of personnel and investigate their validity;
- (e) Monitoring continuously the activities of all Division 164 members for enemy behaviour;

- (f) Reviewing S-21 confessions in conjunction with Son Sen to determine if individuals mentioned in those confessions were traitors and to take measures by persecuting or executing the individuals that had been identified;
- (g) Conducting training sessions where CPK cadres were instructed on the CPK enemy policy regarding the purging of internal enemies in the RAK, the necessity to search for enemies within the RAK and to report on suspicious activities; and warning CPK cadres that if they failed to do so they would be subject to arrest and execution themselves;
- (h) Conducting meetings where confessions of subordinates taken at S-21, in which other individuals in Division 164 deemed as enemies were identified, were read to Division 164 personnel to encourage the search for further enemies in the division and to serve as a warning to subordinates of the consequences of undertaking any enemy behaviour;
- (i) Ordering the disarming, imprisonment and enslavement of thousands of individuals from Division 164 and the execution of hundreds of these troops;
- (j) Ordering that lower-ranked RAK subordinates deemed to be enemies be sent to security centres and worksites in the Kampong Som Sector operated by other subordinates under his control;
- (k) Ordering the arrest of Division 164 personnel including those who were formerly from the East Zone and consequently believed to be enemies; and
- (l) Ordering the arrest and transfer of 67 Division 164 personnel, including Meas Muth's Deputy Hoeng Doeun alias Dim and Division 164 Committee Member Chey Han alias Chhan, deemed to be enemies to S-21 for imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture and execution.

Within Division 117 and Sector 505⁴²⁵²

- (a) Conducting and Ordering the purge of commanders and officials of Division 117 and Sector 505 who were deemed to be enemies in late 1978 and transferring them to S-21 for imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture, and execution;
- (b) Supervising the transfer of some of the Division 117 and Sector 505 commanders and leaders to S-21 through personal presence at the Kratie airport when this took place;

- (c) Ordering the execution of Mao Oeung, the Sector 505 committee member in charge of military affairs;
- (d) Replacing purged Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres with individuals selected by him;
- (e) Conducting a meeting in Kratie where he advised the subordinates of the high level cadres from Division 117 and Sector 505 that their superiors were sent to S-21 because they were traitors as they were not resolute in the fight with the Vietnamese;
- (f) Ordering the killing of RAK forces that retreated when the Vietnamese advanced in Sector 505; and
- (g) Continuing the purge against lower-level Division 117 and Sector 505 cadres and civilians of Sector 505.

Of Vietnamese⁴²⁵³

- (a) Ordering and encouraging the systematic execution of captured Vietnamese;
- (b) Indoctrinating low-ranking soldiers on the CPK policy with respect to external enemies, including the Vietnamese, by using inflammatory language designed to provoke hatred towards the Vietnamese;
- (c) Implementing training sessions where Division 164 cadres were instructed to execute Vietnamese whenever they were captured and instructing those at the meeting to pass this instruction down to their subordinates;
- (d) Ordering his subordinates to capture, transfer or kill on the spot Vietnamese located in his area of control on sea or land;
- (e) Monitoring closely the capture of Vietnamese at sea by his subordinates by instructing them to report to him each time such captures occurred;
- (f) Endorsing a decision at a General Staff Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders meeting in October 1976 to execute Vietnamese and other groups;
- (g) Reporting to the Standing Committee through Office 870 of his intention to execute all Vietnamese in his area of control;
- (h) Ordering the execution of 10 captured Vietnamese refugees in April or May 1975;

- (i) Ordering the execution of Vietnamese soldiers as well as refugees, fishermen, and Khmer Krom;
- (j) Ordering his subordinates earlier in the DK period to send captured Vietnamese to him in Kampong Som for execution at the Durian plantations;
- (k) Ordering his subordinates later in the DK period to execute Vietnamese on the islands on which they were captured;
- (l) Reporting to the Standing Committee the success of his results in persecuting and executing Vietnamese; and
- (m) Ordering the arrest and transfer of 194 Vietnamese deemed to be enemies to S-21 for the purpose of imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture and execution.

Of Thais and Westerners⁴²⁵⁴

- (a) Ordering the execution of hundreds of Thai nationals in his area of responsibility;
- (b) Ordering on an ongoing basis that all foreign boats would be captured when they came into territorial waters;
- (c) Reporting to Son Sen on the arrest and interrogation of Thais;
- (d) Ordering the execution of Thais at Durian I;
- (e) Ordering the arrest and transfer of 58 Thais, including 8 Thais from the Toek Sap security centre who were deemed to be enemies, to S-21 for imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture and execution;
- (f) Ordering the imprisonment and execution of two American soldiers on the Kampong Som mainland at Wat Enta Nhien security centre; and
- (g) Ordering the arrest and transfer of eight captured Westerners to S-21 for imprisonment, torture, interrogation, and execution.

In Connection with Crimes at the Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre⁴²⁵⁵

- (a) Establishing and supervising through effective control of his subordinates Wat Enta Nhien security centre where Division 164 soldiers and civilians, including women and children, were imprisoned in grossly inhumane conditions: starved, tortured, shackled day and night, and forced to do agricultural work; many were executed because of their suspected enemy status;

- (b) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance and execution of these individuals at Wat Enta Nhien by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates that operated this security centre and his intention to purge enemies both in and outside the RAK as well as his knowledge of the inhumane conditions existing at the security centre;
- (c) Interrogating and recording statements of prisoners and then sending them away; and
- (d) Ordering the detention and execution of two American soldiers who were captured on Koh Tang island and transferred to Wat Enta Nhien in 1975.

In Connection with Crimes at the Toek Sap Security Centre⁴²⁵⁶

- (a) Establishing and supervising through effective control of his subordinates, the Toek Sap security centre where Division 164 soldiers, Khmer Krom, and other civilians were imprisoned because they committed “wrongdoings” – and where they were shackled, interrogated, tortured, and received inadequate food, and were subjected to forced labour; many prisoners were killed at the durian and rambutan plantations at the site;
- (b) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance and execution of these individuals at Toek Sap security centre by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates that operated this security centre and his intention to purge enemies both in and outside the RAK as well as his knowledge of the inhumane conditions existing at the security centre;
- (c) Maintaining communication with his subordinates at the security centre through meetings and reports and visits to the security centre; and
- (d) Ordering the transfer of 22 prisoners from Toek Sap to S-21 for imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture and execution.

In Connection with Crimes at the S-21 Security Centre⁴²⁵⁷

- (a) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, transfer, imprisonment in inhumane conditions, torture, and execution of 707 individuals deemed as enemies to and at S-21 by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates, his working relationship with officials from S-21, his intention to purge enemies both in and outside the RAK as well as his knowledge of the criminal purpose of S-21;
- (b) Collaborating with Son Sen and Nuon Chea in decisions as to who would be sent to S-21 for imprisonment, torture, interrogation, and execution;
- (c) Attending meetings where he would receive information from S-21 representatives on the workings of S-21; and
- (d) Using confessions he received from S-21 to incite and encourage the search for enemies within the RAK ranks and to warn his troops of the consequences of involvement in enemy activity.

At All Places⁴²⁵⁸

- (a) Failing to prevent his subordinates in Division 164 and 117 who were physically perpetrating the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance and execution of individuals deemed enemies of the CPK, from committing these crimes despite knowing these crimes were being perpetrated and despite his effective control over these subordinates; and 1124. Failing to punish his subordinates in Division 164 and 117 who had physically perpetrated the arrest, imprisonment, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance and execution of individuals deemed enemies of the CPK, who had committed these crimes, despite knowing these crimes had been perpetrated and despite his effective control over these subordinates.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE ENSLAVEMENT AT WORKSITES⁴²⁵⁹

- (a) Participating in General Staff meetings with RAK Centre Division and Independent Regiment commanders where the CPK production policies and goals were discussed by Son Sen and in particular the goals to increase crop and infrastructure production rapidly;

- (b) Supporting publicly “Angkar’s new plans” with regard to production throughout the Kampong Som Sector;
- (c) Implementing infrastructure and production policies and targets in Kampong Som Sector which were unrealistic knowing they could only be achieved through the enslavement and the inhumane treatment of the population under his control;
- (d) Reporting to the Centre on the harsh working conditions at the worksites, including insufficiency of food leading to massive sickness and death of labourers at the worksites; and
- (e) Reporting to the Centre on his division’s progress through meetings, telegrams, and monthly reports.

In Connection with Crimes at the Ream Area Worksites⁴²⁶⁰

- (a) Establishing and supervising through effective control of his subordinates in Regiment 163 the Ream area worksites where demobilised Division 164 soldiers and civilians had to build dams, work in quarries, farm crop plantations, and conduct various work in rice fields where they were given insufficient food; died of starvation; or were killed at local execution sites where captured Thai and Vietnamese were also executed;
1125. Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, imprisonment, enslavement, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance, and execution of the individuals at the Ream area worksites by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates that operated these worksites, his intention to purge enemies both in and outside the RAK and meet unrealistic production targets as well as his knowledge of the inhumane conditions existing at the worksites;
- (b) Ordering arrests of specific individuals labelled as enemies at the worksites; and
 - (c) Failing to alleviate the inhumane conditions at the worksites after receiving reports from his subordinates on deaths arising out of those conditions.

In Connection with Crimes at the Stung Hav Worksites⁴²⁶¹

- (a) Establishing and supervising through effective control of his subordinates, worksites at Stung Hav where demobilised soldiers were required to perform back-breaking labour at the rock quarries, port and road, as well as farm diverse crops during which many of these labourers were arrested, tortured, disappeared and killed frequently because of their enemy status; and
- (b) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting the arrest, imprisonment, enslavement, inhumane treatment, torture, disappearance, and execution of the individuals at Stung Hav worksites by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates that operated these worksites, his intention to purge enemies both in and outside the RAK and meet unrealistic production targets as well as his knowledge of the inhumane conditions existing at the worksites.

At All Places⁴²⁶²

- (a) Failing to prevent his subordinates in Division 164 who were physically perpetrating the enslavement, torture, disappearance, persecution, inhumane treatment, and execution of individuals deemed enemies of the CPK who were committing and were about to commit these crimes, despite knowing these crimes were being perpetrated and despite his effective control over these subordinates;
- (b) Failing to punish his subordinates in Division 164 who had physically perpetrated the enslavement, torture, disappearance, persecution, inhumane treatment, and execution of individuals deemed enemies of the CPK who had committed these crimes, despite knowing these crimes had been perpetrated and despite his effective control over these subordinates.

CONTRIBUTION TO THE FORCED MARRIAGES AND RAPES⁴²⁶³

- (a) Establishing, ordering, facilitating and supervising a system of forced marriages and coerced consummation of these marriages (rape) in Kampong Som Sector in order to increase the population in accordance with CPK policy through effective control of his subordinates within Division 164;

- (b) Instigating, planning, ordering and aiding and abetting forced marriages and rapes within those marriages between individuals living in the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector by virtue of his effective control over his subordinates that organised these forced marriages, his intention to follow the CPK policy of increasing the population of DK rapidly as well as his knowledge of the coercive atmosphere that existed out of fear of extreme punishment if a person did not follow an order of the CPK;
- (c) Instructing his subordinates on the CPK forced marriage policy;
- (d) Ordering his subordinates to organise forced marriages for Division 164 soldiers;
- (e) Ordering, reviewing and authorising forced marriages in Division 164;
- (f) Allowing forced marriages to be held at his residence;
- (g) Punishing individuals who refused to marry when requested;
- (h) Failing to prevent his subordinates in Division 164 who were physically perpetrating forced marriages and rapes within those marriages between individuals living in the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, who were committing and were about to commit these crimes, despite knowing these crimes were being perpetrated and despite his effective control over these subordinates; and
- (i) Failing to punish his subordinates in Division 164 who had perpetrated the forced marriages and rapes within those marriages between individuals living in the Kampong Som Autonomous Sector, despite knowing these crimes had been perpetrated and despite his effective control over his subordinates who had committed these crimes.

1126. Meas Muth's acts and conduct listed above also demonstrate that he shared and intended to further the common criminal plan and had the intent that each of the crimes within the common criminal plan be committed.

1127. The following facts constitute additional evidence of Meas Muth's intent to significantly contribute to the common criminal plan, his intent that each of the charged crimes be committed, and his knowledge of the commission of crimes:

- (1) his acceptance of and participation in assignments, senior positions and roles which enabled him to participate in the joint criminal enterprise;

- (2) his actions in encouraging the crimes together with his co-perpetrators and furthering their commission, through the contributions described above;
- (3) his speeches and statements during the DK period, including those in which he stated that the RAK was plagued by internal, hidden “enemies” whose presence made necessary widespread arrests and executions and the denial of fundamental rights to all other members of the population;
- (4) his contributions in disseminating and supporting CPK publications (including statements in the Revolutionary Flag magazine);
- (5) his statements during political indoctrination and tempering of CPK cadres;
- (6) his speeches and statements encouraging the commission of the crimes and defending CPK’s policies during the DK regime, in which he repeatedly expressed support for and called on cadres to enforce and implement them;
- (7) his acceptance of CPK propaganda with which he agreed and which he supported;
- (8) his failure to act to prevent or punish his subordinates from committing these crimes throughout the DK period; and
- (9) his actions, writings, and statements, including those in which he sought to prevent the discovery of the crimes and his attempts to justify them.

2. PLANNING, INSTIGATING, ORDERING, AND AIDING AND ABETTING⁴²⁶⁴

1128. In addition to his liability for committing the crimes charged via a joint criminal enterprise, Meas Muth is also liable for planning, instigating, ordering, and aiding and abetting the crimes charged.

1129. Meas Muth planned the crimes enumerated in this Submission. Given his role in the Central Committee, General Staff, and at the Division and Sector levels, Meas Muth had the power to design and/or participate in designing how central CPK policies were implemented. His involvement in the design and formulation of the regional implementation of the CPK’s national policies substantially contributed to the commission of crimes by the RAK Centre units, including Divisions 164 and 117. Meas Muth intended the commission of the crimes, or, by virtue of his roles and positions, was aware of the substantial likelihood that crimes would be committed in the execution of the acts he participated in planning.

1130. Meas Muth instigated the crimes set out herein. Through his positions, he prompted, urged, encouraged, provoked and incited perpetrators who committed these crimes. His instigation of the crimes contributed substantially to their commission. Meas Muth's frequent statements on CPK policies to lower-level cadres demonstrate that he intended to instigate the direct perpetrators to commit the crimes, or, at least, was aware of the substantial likelihood that crimes would be committed in the execution of the acts he instigated.

1131. Meas Muth ordered the crimes detailed in this Submission. In accordance with his positions of authority, Meas Muth formulated and issued orders and instructions to CPK cadres to commit the crimes. Meas Muth intended those under his de facto and/or de jure authority to commit the crimes or, at least, was aware of the substantial likelihood that the crimes would be committed in the execution of the orders. Given the CPK and RAK structure, Meas Muth knew that he possessed the power to induce lower-level cadres to act.

1132. Meas Muth aided and abetted the crimes. He did so by providing encouragement, lending moral support and giving practical assistance to RAK troops and CPK cadres who committed them. His encouragement, moral support and practical assistance had a substantial effect on the commission of the crimes. Meas Muth knew, given his positions of authority and the CPK's and RAK's structure, that his acts of encouragement and moral and practical support were assisting in the commission of the crimes, and intended to provide that assistance. Meas Muth was aware of the essential elements of the crimes he was aiding and abetting as he was kept continuously informed about the actions of direct perpetrators.

3. SUPERIOR RESPONSIBILITY

1133. Further, and in the alternative, Meas Muth bears individual criminal responsibility as a superior pursuant to Article 29^{new} of the ECCC Law by virtue of: (i) his position as a superior of perpetrators of the crimes detailed in this Submission; (ii) his actual knowledge, or possession of information on the basis of which he had reason to know, that his subordinates had committed or were about to commit crimes; and (iii) his failure to prevent the commission of the crimes or to punish the perpetrators.

1134. Superior-subordinate relationships existed between Meas Muth and all RAK members and CPK cadres who were directly involved in the crimes described in this Submission in all locations except for S-21. While some of these relationships may have been indirect or de facto, Meas Muth was the superior of these individuals due to his effective control over them as a senior military and sector leader. Meas Muth had the material ability to prevent subordinates from committing the crimes, to remove them from their positions and/or punish them, as shown, inter alia, by his involvement in the purging of Division 164 and 117 cadres and appointment of officers and cadres.⁴²⁶⁵

1135. Meas Muth had actual knowledge of the crimes being committed by his subordinates, evidenced by his role in devising the RAK and Kampong Som Sector implementation of the CPK's policies resulting in crimes and the frequent reports he received regarding the resulting events in the areas under his authority. Meas Muth failed to take any measures to prevent or punish these crimes, despite his capacity to do so.⁴²⁶⁶

XIV. CHARGES

1136. On the basis of the facts and law set out in this Submission, the International Co-Prosecutor respectfully requests the Co-Investigating Judges to indict Meas Muth and send him for trial on the charges listed below.

- (1) Count 1 – Murder: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of MURDER, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law. Meas Muth acted with the intent to kill or with the awareness of the substantial likelihood that death would result from his actions. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, Meas Muth knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of murder or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for murder at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre;
- (d) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea;
- (e) Stung Hav Worksites;
- (f) The Ream Area Worksites and Execution Sites, including Durian I, Durian II, and C.I.; and,
- (g) Other areas connected to the purges of Divisions 164 and 117, and Sector 505.

- (2) Count 2 – Extermination: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of EXTERMINATION, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, through extrajudicial killings. These killings took place on a vast scale at locations that were part of an organised system of worksites, security centers, and execution sites. Meas Muth intended to kill a massive number of people deemed “enemies” of the regime, including those associated with the former Khmer Republic regime, Vietnamese or those perceived to be Vietnamese, other foreigners in Cambodia, and all those suspected by the regime of potential political disloyalty (particularly cadres in the RAK, but also including civilians). In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of extermination or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. These killings attributable to Meas Muth and his subordinates occurred at the following worksites, security centres, and execution sites, which were part of a single, interconnected, and organised system:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre;
- (d) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea;
- (e) The Ream Area Worksites and Execution Sites, including Durian I, Durian II, and C.I.; and,
- (f) Other areas connected to the purges of Divisions 164 and 117, and Sector 505.

- (3) Count 3 – Genocide: From at least early 1977 until 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of GENOCIDE, punishable under Articles 4, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by killing Vietnamese with the intent to destroy, in whole or in part, the Vietnamese as a national, ethnic, or racial group in Cambodia. Persons of real or perceived Vietnamese race, ethnicity and/or nationality encountered by forces under the command of Meas Muth in the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea, including Koh Tral and Koh Poulo Wai, and/or on the Cambodian mainland, were captured and killed, or transferred to S-21 Security Centre with the knowledge and intent that they would subsequently be killed. In addition, other than at S-21, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of genocide or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior.

- (4) Count 4 – Imprisonment: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of IMPRISONMENT, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by detaining the victims described in this Submission arbitrarily, i.e. without a justifiable basis and without due process of law. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of imprisonment or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crimes or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for imprisonment at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre;
- (d) Stung Hav Worksites;
- (e) The islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea; and,
- (f) Kratie.

- (5) Count 5 – Torture: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK public officials, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of TORTURE, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by intentionally inflicting severe physical or mental pain or suffering on the victims described in this Submission. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of torture or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for torture at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre; and,
- (d) Stung Hav Worksites.

(6) Count 6 – Enslavement: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of ENSLAVEMENT, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by intentionally exercising powers of ownership over the victims described in this Submission. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of enslavement or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for enslavement at the following locations:

- (a) Stung Hav Worksites; and,
- (b) Ream Area Worksites.

(7) Count 7 – Persecution on Political Grounds: Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of PERSECUTION ON POLITICAL GROUNDS, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by discriminatorily denying or infringing upon fundamental rights of persons deemed political “enemies”. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of persecution on political grounds or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for persecution on political grounds of persons deemed political enemies at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, torture, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances)) (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, torture, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances));
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, torture, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances));
- (d) Stung Hav Worksites (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, torture, enslavement, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances));
- (e) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances));
- (f) The Ream Area Worksites and Execution Sites, including Durian I, Durian II, and C.I. (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, enslavement, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances)); and,

- (g) Other areas connected to the purges of Division 164, 117, and Sector 505 (through the underlying offences of murder, extermination, imprisonment, and other inhumane acts (inhumane treatment and enforced disappearances)).

(8) Count 8 – Other Inhumane Acts (Inhumane Treatment): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of OTHER INHUMANE ACT of INHUMANE TREATMENT, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by deliberate inhumane treatment of prisoners and workers at the sites listed below, which caused serious mental or physical suffering or injury, or seriously attacked their human dignity. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of other inhumane acts through inhumane treatment or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for the other inhumane act of inhumane treatment at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
- (b) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre;
- (d) Stung Hav Worksites;
- (e) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea;
- (f) Ream Area Worksites; and,
- (g) Other areas in relation to the purges of Divisions 164 and 117, and Sector 505.

- (9) Count 9 – Other Inhumane Acts (Enforced Disappearances): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of OTHER INHUMANE ACT of ENFORCED DISAPPEARANCE, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY, punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by concealing the fate of individuals who disappeared at the locations below. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of other inhumane acts through enforced disappearances or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for the other inhumane act of enforced disappearances at the following locations:
- (a) Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre;
 - (b) Toek Sap Security Centre;
 - (c) S-21 Security Centre (solely via JCE for RAK victims not sent by Meas Muth or his subordinates);
 - (d) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea;
 - (e) The Ream Area Worksites and Execution Sites, including Durian I, Durian II, and C.I.; and,
 - (f) Other areas in relation to the purges of Divisions 164 and 117, and Sector 505.
- (10) Count 10 – Other Inhumane Acts (Forced Marriage): Between late 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of the OTHER INHUMANE ACT of FORCED MARRIAGE, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by compelling persons to marry by force, threat of force, or coercion in the Autonomous Sector of Kampong Som and islands controlled by forces under the authority of Meas Muth. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of other inhumane acts through forced marriage or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior.

- (11) Count 11 – Other Inhumane Acts (Rape): Between late 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of the OTHER INHUMANE ACT of RAPE, a CRIME AGAINST HUMANITY punishable under Articles 5, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by coercing one or both partners who had been compelled to consummate the marriage, in the Autonomous Sector of Kampong Som and islands controlled by forces under the authority of Meas Muth. In addition, Meas Muth had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of other inhumane acts through rape or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior.
- (12) Count 12 – Grave Breaches (Unlawful Confinement of a Civilian): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of UNLAWFUL CONFINEMENT OF A CIVILIAN, a GRAVE BREACH OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS punishable under Articles 6, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by confining civilians who were, or were perceived to be, affiliated with Vietnam, where there were no reasonable grounds to believe that the security of Democratic Kampuchea made it absolutely necessary. In addition, Meas Muth was the commander of and had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of unlawful confinement of a civilian or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for unlawful confinement of a civilian at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre;
- (b) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea; and,
- (c) Toek Sap Security Centre.

- (13) Count 13 – Grave Breaches (Wilful Killing): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of WILFUL KILLING, a GRAVE BREACH OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS punishable under Articles 6, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by causing the death by act or omission of Vietnamese civilians and/or soldiers, or persons perceived to be affiliated with Vietnam. In addition, Meas Muth was the commander of and had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of wilful killing or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for wilful killing of individuals captured or detained at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre;
- (b) Toek Sap Security Centre;
- (c) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea; and,
- (d) Durian I Execution Site.

- (14) Count 14 – Grave Breaches (Wilfully Causing Great Suffering or Serious Injury to Body or Health): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK authorities, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of WILFULLY CAUSING GREAT SUFFERING OR SERIOUS INJURY TO BODY OR HEALTH, a GRAVE BREACH OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS punishable under Articles 6, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by causing great mental or physical suffering or serious injury to body or health, to Vietnamese civilians and soldiers, or persons perceived to be affiliated with Vietnam. In addition, Meas Muth was the commander of and had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of willfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for wilfully causing great suffering or serious injury to body or health to individuals detained at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre;
- (b) Toek Sap Security Centre; and,
- (c) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea.

- (15) Count 15 – Grave Breaches (Torture): Between 17 April 1975 and 6 January 1979, Meas Muth, acting individually and in concert with other DK and CPK public officials, and using forces under his and their control, planned, instigated, ordered, aided and abetted, and/or committed via a joint criminal enterprise the crime of TORTURE, a GRAVE BREACH OF THE GENEVA CONVENTIONS punishable under Articles 6, 29^{new}, and 39^{new} of the ECCC Law, by inflicting severe pain or suffering on Vietnamese soldiers or civilians, or persons perceived to be affiliated with Vietnam. In addition, Meas Muth was the commander of and had effective control over the perpetrators of this crime in all locations except for S-21, he knew or had reason to know that his subordinates were about to commit the crime of torture or had done so, and he failed to take the necessary and reasonable measures to prevent such crime or to punish the perpetrators. He is therefore responsible as a superior. Meas Muth is responsible for torture of individuals detained at the following locations:

- (a) S-21 Security Centre; and,
- (b) In the waters and on islands claimed by Democratic Kampuchea.

Respectfully submitted,

Date	Name	Place	Signature
14 November 2017	Nicholas KOUMJIAN International Co-Prosecutor	Phnom Penh

- ¹ D1 Co-Prosecutors' Second Introductory Submission Regarding the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea, 20 Nov 2008 ("Second Introductory Submission"), para. 7.
- ² D1 Second Introductory Submission.
- ³ Case 002-D3 Introductory Submission, 18 Jul 2007. Note: the first Introductory Submission was filed in Case 002 and requested an investigation into crimes allegedly committed by Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, Khieu Samphan, Ieng Thirith and Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch.
- ⁴ Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia, Internal Rules (Rev. 9), as revised on 16 Jan 2015 ("Rule" or "Rules"), Rule 71.
- ⁵ D1/1.3 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber Regarding the Disagreement between the Co-Prosecutors Pursuant to Internal Rule 71, 18 Aug 2009, para. 45; Rule 71(4)(c). See also Law on the Establishment of Extraordinary Chambers in the Courts of Cambodia for Prosecution of Crimes Committed During the Period of Democratic Kampuchea, 10 Aug 2001, with inclusion of amendments as promulgated on 27 Oct 2004 (NS/RKM/1004/006), ("ECCC Law"), art. 20 new.
- ⁶ D1/1 Acting International Co-Prosecutor's Notice of Filing of the Second Introductory Submission, 7 Sep 2009.
- ⁷ D1/2/1 Response of International Co-Prosecutor to Request for Clarification, 16 Feb 2011, paras 2, 3.
- ⁸ D120 International Co-Prosecutor's Supplementary Submission Regarding Crime Sites Related to Case 003, 31 Oct 2014.
- ⁹ D1 Second Introductory Submission.
- ¹⁰ ECCC Press Release, Dr. Siegfried Blunk Appointed as New International Co-Investigating Judge, 1 Dec 2010; ECCC Press Release, Press Release by the International Co-Investigating Judge, 10 Oct 2011.
- ¹¹ ECCC Press Release, Statement by the International Reserve Co-Investigating Judge, 9 Feb 2012.
- ¹² ECCC Press Release, Press Release from the International Reserve Co-Investigating Judge, 19 Mar 2012.
- ¹³ ECCC Press Release, Mark Harmon Sworn in as International Co-Investigating Judge, 26 Oct 2012.
- ¹⁴ ECCC Press Release, Judge Harmon Announces his Resignation, 7 Jul 2015; ECCC Press Release, Appointment of New International Co-Investigating Judge and Reserve, 24 Aug 2015.

- D13 Notice of Conclusion of Judicial Investigation, 29 Apr 2011.
- D16 ECCC Press Release, Statement by the International Co-Prosecutor Regarding Case File 003, 9 May 2011. Note that the ICP was ordered to retract his statement in D14 Order on International Co-Prosecutor's Public Statement Regarding Case File 003, 18 May 2011. The ICP appealed the CIJs' order (see D14/1/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the 'Order on International Co-Prosecutor's Public Statement Regarding Case File 003', 25 May 2011), but the order was allowed to stand because the PTC did not reach a supermajority on the issue (see D14/1/3 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber Regarding the International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the Co-Investigating Judges' Order on International Co-Prosecutor's Public Statement Regarding Case 003, 24 Oct 2011). The ICP then retracted his statement in ECCC Press Release, Statement by the International Co-Prosecutor Regarding the Co-Investigating Judges' Retraction Order in Case 003, 27 Oct 2011.
- D17 International Co-Prosecutor's First Case File 003 Investigative Request to Admit Additional Documents and Observations on the Status of the Investigation, 18 May 2011; D18 International Co-Prosecutor's Second Request for Further Investigative Action Regarding Sou Met and Related Crime Sites, 18 May 2011; D19 International Co-Prosecutor's Third Investigative Request Regarding Meas Mut and Related Crime Sites, 18 May 2011. The requests were rejected on a procedural deficiency in D20/3 OCIJ Decision on Time Extension Request and Investigative Requests by the International Co-Prosecutor Regarding Case 003, 7 Jun 2011 ("OCIJ Rejection Decision"). They were re-filed by the ICP after remedying the alleged procedural deficiency: D22 International Co-Prosecutor's First Case File 003 Investigative Request to Admit Additional Documents and Observations on the Status of the Investigation, 10 Jun 2011; D23 International Co-Prosecutor's Second Request for Further Investigative Action Regarding Sou Met and Related Crime Sites, 10 Jun 2011; D24 International Co-Prosecutor's Third Investigative Request Regarding Meas Mut and Related Crime Sites, 10 Jun 2011. These requests were also rejected by the CIJs, this time on the basis of personal jurisdiction: see D26 Decision on International Co-Prosecutor's Re-Filing of Three Investigative Requests in Case 003, 27 Jul 2011.
- D20/4/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the 'Decision on Time Extension Request and Investigative Requests by the International Co-Prosecutor Regarding Case 003', 7 Jul 2011, particularly para. 75; D26/1/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the 'Decision on International Co-Prosecutor's Re-Filing of Three Investigative Requests in Case 003', 26 Aug 2011.
- D20/4/4 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber Regarding the International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the Decision on Time Extension Request and Investigative Requests Regarding Case 003, 2 Nov 2011; D26/1/3 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber Regarding the International Co-Prosecutor's Appeal Against the Decision on Re-Filing of Three Investigative Requests, 15 Nov 2011.
- D28 Order on Resuming the Judicial Investigation, 2 Dec 2011, para. 8.
- D28 Order on Resuming the Judicial Investigation, p. 9: Disposition.
- D2 Rogatory Letter, 9 Jun 2010. See also D20/3 OCIJ Rejection Decision, para. 6(ii) referencing the recording of the disagreement about the letter.
- D1/2 Request for Clarification in Case 003, 8 Feb 2011. See also D20/3 OCIJ Rejection Decision, para. 6(iii) referencing the recording of the disagreement about the letter.
- D53/2 Decision by the International Co-Investigating Judge to Place Case No. 002 Transcripts on the Case File, 7 Feb 2013 ("ICIJ Transcript Decision"), para. 10.
- D52 Forwarding Order, 7 Feb 2013; ECCC Press Release, Statement from the Co-Investigating Judges related to Case 003 Requests from the International Co-Prosecutor, 7 Jun 2011.
- D53/2 ICIJ Transcript Decision, paras 9, 12; ECCC Press Release, Statement from the Co-Investigating Judges related to Case 003 Requests from the International Co-Prosecutor, 7 Jun 2011.
- D53/2 ICIJ Transcript Decision, para. 17; D54 Rogatory Letter, 7 Feb 2013; D55 Rogatory Letter, 7 Feb 2013.
- D52/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Forwarding Order of 7 February 2013, 8 Feb 2013, paras 3-7.
- ECCC Press Release, Statement by the Co-Investigating Judges Regarding Case 003, 28 Feb 2013.
- D63 Co-Prosecutors' Request for Clarification Concerning the Current Status of the Case File, 11 Apr 2013, paras 4, 10.
- D82/3 Notification Concerning Suspect's Requests to Access the Case File and Participate in the Judicial Investigation (D82) and the Full Introductory Submission and Supporting Material (D82/2), 10 Jul 2014, p. 2.

D82/3/1 Letter Requesting for Information Concerning Disagreements Recorded on 7 February 2013 and 22 February 2013, 17 Jul 2014.

D82/3/2 ICIJ's Response to Letter Requesting for Information Concerning Disagreements Recorded on 7 February 2013 and 22 February 2013, 22 Jul 2014.

A66 Summons to Initial Appearance, 26 Nov 2014, p. 1; D82/5 Notification on Suspect's Requests to Access the Case File, Take Part in the Judicial Investigation, and to Strike ICP's Submissions, 28 Nov 2014, para. 10. See, e.g., D236 Decision on Civil Party Lawyers' Requests for Extension of Deadline, 20 Feb 2017, para. 1; D256/3 Decision on Schedule of Prosecution's Final Submission and Defence Response, 4 Sep 2017, para. 1.

A1 DSS Letter on Defence Rights in Cases 003 and 004, 29 Jul 2010; A1/1 Follow-up to DSS Letter on Defence Rights in Cases 003 and 004, 20 Sep 2010.

A1/2 Response of the CIJs Relating to Defence Rights in Case File 003 and 004, 23 Sep 2010.

A2 Notification of Assignment – Cases 003 and 004, 11 Feb 2011 [counsel was assigned on 8 November 2010].

D3 Request for Access to Case Files 003 and 004, 14 Feb 2011.

D3/1 Decision on Request for Access to Case Files 003 and 004, 5 Apr 2011; see also D3/2/1 Order on Motion for Reconsideration of the Decision on the Defence Request for Access to Case Files 003 and 004 Dated 5 April 2011, 19 May 2011.

D30 Notification of Suspect's Rights [Rule 21(1)(D)], 24 Feb 2012 [regarding Meas Muth]; D31 Notification of Suspect's Rights [Rule 21(1)(D)], 24 Feb 2012 [regarding Sou Met].

ECCC Press Release, Mr. Ang Udom and Mr. Michael G. Karnavas Assigned as Defence Counsel to Represent a Suspect in Case 003, 14 Dec 2012.

D56 DSS Letter to the CIJs on the Assignment of Co-Lawyers to Represent Mr. Meas Muth, a Suspect in Case 003, 18 Dec 2012.

D56/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Request that Appointment of Co-Lawyers-Designate be Rejected on the Basis of Irreconcilable Conflicts of Interest, 24 Dec 2012.

D56/19/36 Decision on Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Decision Rejecting the Appointment of Ang Udom and Michael Karnavas as his Co-Lawyers, 30 Jun 2014. See also D56/19/38 Decision on Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Decision Rejecting the Appointment of Ang Udom and Michael Karnavas as his Co-Lawyers, 17 Jul 2014 [providing the Chamber's reasoning].

D86/3 Dismissal of Allegations against Sou Met, 2 Jun 2015.

A66 Summons to Initial Appearance, 26 Nov 2014; see also A66/1 Written Record of Service of Summons, 5 Dec 2014 [documenting that the summons was served on Meas Muth on 28 Nov 2014].

A67/1.1 Notice of Non-Recognition of Summons, 2 Dec 2014 [refusing to recognise the validity of a summons signed by the ICIJ but not the NCIJ, and insisting his lawyers be granted access to the Case File].

D117/1/1/2 Decision on Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Order on Suspect's Request Concerning Summons Signed by One Co-Investigating Judge, 3 Dec 2014, para. 16 [dismissing Meas Muth's appeal and recalling that a single CIJ can issue a summons for the purpose of charging so long as the disagreement procedure set out in the Internal Rules is followed].

C1 Arrest Warrant, 10 Dec 2014.

A77 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Summons to Initial Appearance, 15 Dec 2014.

A77/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Summons to Initial Appearance, 19 Dec 2014, paras 14-16, 22 [Meas Muth had been informed that if charged at the end of his initial appearance, he would be able to exercise all of the rights to which charged persons are entitled, but he had knowingly and wilfully violated a legally binding order and was not currently a party to the case (only a suspect) due to his obstruction of the procedure that would have eventuated in granting him full rights].

A77/1/1/1 Meas Muth's Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Denial of his Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Summons to Initial Appearance, 14 Jan 2015.

A77/1/1/2 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber on Meas Muth's Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Denial of His Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Summons to Initial Appearance, 24 Feb 2015, paras 24-25, Disposition.

D127 ICIJ's Letter to H.E. Mr. Em Sam An (Secretary of State and Chairman of the Security Commission for the ECCC), 30 Jan 2015.

- 57 D128 Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 3 Mar 2015; D128.1 Annex: Notification of Charges Against Meas Muth, 3 Mar 2015.
- 58 D128 Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, paras 68, 72, 76.
- 59 D128/1/3 Meas Muth's Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 16 Jun 2015 [submitting that Judge Harmon acted ultra vires the ECCC's legal framework for CIJs to jointly conduct investigations and that the unilateral act violated Meas Muth's fair trial rights]. See also D128/1/9 Considerations on Meas Muth's Appeal against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 30 Mar 2016 [failing to reach an affirmative vote].
- 60 D128.1/1/3 Meas Muth's Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Notification of Charges Against Meas Muth, 12 Jun 2015 [challenging the ECCC's jurisdiction over grave breaches, national crimes, joint criminal enterprise, and command responsibility].
- 61 D130 Meas Muth's Request to Rescind the Arrest Warrant Issued on 10 December 2014, 10 Mar 2015.
- 62 C2 Arrest Warrant, 4 Jun 2015. See also D130/3 ICIJ's Response to Meas Muth's Request to Rescind the Arrest Warrant Issued on 10 December 2014, 4 Jun 2015, para. 4; C2.1 Letter from ICIJ to the Judicial Police: New Arrest Warrant for Immediate Execution, 4 Jun 2015.
- 63 C2/1 Meas Muth's Urgent Request for a Stay of Execution of the Arrest Warrant Issued on 4 June 2015 by Co-Investigating Judge Harmon Pending a Decision on the Appeal against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 5 Jun 2015. See also C2/2 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Urgent Request for a Stay of Execution of the Arrest Warrant Issued on 4 June 2015 by Co-Investigating Judge Harmon Pending a Decision on the Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 22 Jun 2015; C2/3 Meas Muth's Reply to International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Request for a Stay of Execution of the Arrest Warrant issued on 4 June 2015 by Co-Investigating Judge Harmon Pending a Decision on the Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Decision to Charge Meas Muth in Absentia, 29 Jun 2015.
- 64 C2/4 Considerations of the Pre-Trial Chamber on Meas Muth's Urgent Request for a Stay of Execution of Arrest Warrant, 23 Sep 2015, paras 11-12, Disposition.
- 65 D174 Written Record of Initial Appearance, 14 Dec 2015.
- 66 D174 Written Record of Initial Appearance.
- 67 D174 Written Record of Initial Appearance, p. 10. See also D128.1/1/11 Decision on Meas Muth's Appeal Against Co-Investigating Judge Harmon's Notification of Charges Against Meas Muth, 3 Feb 2016.
- 68 D174 Written Record of Initial Appearance, p. 11.
- 69 D174 Written Record of Initial Appearance, p. 10.
- 70 D174/1/1 Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Decision to Charge Meas Muth with Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions and National Crimes and to Apply JCE and Command Responsibility, 6 Jan 2016.
- 71 D174/1/4 Considerations on Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Decision to Charge Meas Muth with Grave Breaches of the Geneva Conventions and National Crimes and to Apply JCE and Command Responsibility, 27 Apr 2016, para. 24.
- 72 (1): D87/2/1.6 Meas Muth's Request to be Provided with Correspondence from the Head of the OCIJ Legal Unit to the United Nations Secretary General and all Related Material and to Have This Material Placed on the Case File, 9 Oct 2013 [requesting to be provided with a copy of a letter reportedly sent by the head of the OCIJ Legal Unit to the UN Secretary-General concerning the closure of the Case 003 investigation and all related material, and requesting that this material be placed on the Case File in order to determine if the integrity of the judicial investigation was compromised and if improper judicial interference had occurred], decided by D87/2/1.6/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request to be Provided with Correspondence from the Head of the OCIJ Legal Unit to the United Nations Secretary General and all Related Material, 12 Jan 2016 [rejecting the request because it is the impartiality and independence of the CIJs, not of their staff, that are relevant; the letter and any other related materials are not relevant to ascertaining the truth in the Case 003 investigation]; (2): D87/2/1.8 Meas Muth's Request for the OCIJ to Place Full Transcripts of All Witness Interviews on the Case File, 17 Oct 2013 [requesting that the full transcripts of witness interviews be provided to the Defence and placed on the Case File as summary witness statements are unreliable and it is time-consuming to listen to audio recordings], decided by D87/2/1.8/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request to Place Full Transcripts of all Witness Interviews on the Case File, 26 Jan 2016 [rejecting the request because while some discrepancies may exist between the audio recording and witness summary, that does not in and of itself indicate that the evidence has been misrepresented, nor does it warrant the wholesale transcription and translation of all audio-recordings of interviews on the Case File]; (3): D87/2/1.14 Meas Muth's Request for the OCIJ to Re-Interview Witnesses, 24 Oct 2013 [asking the OCIJ to examine all witnesses on the Case File, determine which witnesses might need to be re-interviewed due to deficiencies in their original interviews, conduct such interviews, and place the results of the analysis on the Case File], decided by D87/2/1.14/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for the OCIJ to Re-Interview Witnesses, 22 May 2015 [denying the request for failing to meet the precision and prima facie relevance criteria but instructing the Defence to review the Case File (to which it now has access) and should it be deemed necessary to re-interview any of the witnesses, file a new request that satisfies these requirements]; (4): D159 Meas Muth's Request that OCIJ Investigators Re-Interview Certain Witnesses, 6 Oct 2015 [requesting that the OCIJ re-interview 104 witnesses, audio record the interviews, and create written records of these interviews, or alternatively, review the WRIs of the relevant witnesses to determine whether re-interview was necessary], decided by D159/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request that OCIJ Investigators Re-Interview Certain Witnesses, 15 Oct 2015 [denying the request, stating that the prior granting of a request to record all interviews going forward did not render the previous practice of not recording the interviews unlawful or otherwise invalid, and declaring that a review exercise of all WRIs was not necessary]; (5): D160 Meas Muth's Request that the Co-Investigating Judges Order their Investigative Staff to Obtain Copies of Audio/Video Recordings of DC-Cam Interviews and Place These Recordings on the Case File, 7 Oct 2015 and D160/1 Meas Muth's Request that Annex B of Meas Muth's Request that the Co-Investigating Judges Order their Investigative Staff to Obtain Copies of Audio/Video Recordings of DC-Cam Interviews and Place these Recordings on the Case File (D160) be Replaced by the Attached Revised Annex B, 20 Oct 2015, decided by D160/2 Decision on Meas Muth's Request that the Co-Investigating Judges Order their Investigative Staff to Obtain Copies of Audio/Video Recordings of DC-Cam Interviews and Place These Recordings on the Case File, 29 Oct 2015 [granting the request to place recordings of DC-Cam interviews on the Case File, giving priority to the interviews listed in Revised Annex B]; (6): D162 Meas Muth's Request that the D114/128 and D114/129 Witnesses be Re-Interviewed with Audio Recordings and that the Audio Recording of the D114/130 Witness Interview be Placed on the Case File, 8 Oct 2015 [requesting that two interviews be reconducted, recorded, and placed on the case file because they did not comply with the new procedure set out by the ICIJ to record interviews, and also requesting that the audio recording for another interview be added to the Case File], decided by D162/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for the Re-Interview of Two Witnesses with Audio Recordings and Placement of the D114/130 Audio Recording on the Case File, 21 Jan 2016 [denying the request in part because the investigator was already in the field on mission when the instructions were issued and had no access to an audio recording device, and dismissing the remainder of the request as moot because the audio recordings were placed on the Case File after the request was filed]; (7): D170 Meas Muth's Request to Obtain and Place on the Case File the United Nations and Royal Government of Cambodia Archive Material Concerning the Negotiations to Establish the ECCC, 10 Nov 2015 [requesting that the CIJs obtain and place on the Case File the UN and RGC's archival material concerning the negotiations to establish the ECCC and the drafting of the Establishment Law], decided by D181/1 Notice of Unsuccessful Attempt to Obtain Strictly Confidential United Nations' Archive Materials, 3 May 2016 [notifying that attempts were unsuccessful to obtain strictly confidential documents from the UN archives because they were considered to be sensitive documents that could not be disclosed] and D181/2 Notice of Placement on the Case File of Available Records Relating to the Establishment of the ECCC, 8 Sep 2016 [placing 34 documents on the Case File that contain references to the intended scope of the ECCC's personal jurisdiction]; (8): D177 Meas Muth's Request for the Co-Investigating Judges to Conduct Site Visits, 31 Dec 2015 [requesting that site visits be arranged for all alleged crime sites, with the presence of the parties and any relevant witnesses], decided by D177/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for the Co-Investigating Judges to Conduct Site Visits, 19 Apr 2016 [denying the request because it lacked specificity and misconceived the purpose of onsite visits as a means of investigative action]; (9): D192 Request that OCIJ Investigators be Directed to Provide Document Numbers for all Documents Shown to Witnesses and Civil Parties and to Attach to their Written Records of Interview those Documents not already on the Case File, 20 Apr 2016, decided by D192/1 Decision on Meas Muth Defence Team's Request Regarding Documents shown to Witnesses and Civil Parties, 12 May 2016 [granting the request in part by clarifying four statements on the Case File that had been identified by the Defence but denying the request to conduct a full review of the Case File for other instances of omitted references to documents]; (10): D191/16 Request that the Office of the Co-Investigating Judges Obtain English Translations of Three German Decisions from the Supreme Court of the British Occupied Zone and one Dutch Decisions from the Special Court of Cassation, 3 Jun 2016 [requesting that the CIJs obtain accurate English translations of four cases from 1948 and 1949 in order to allow the Defence to respond to amicus curiae briefs referencing the decisions], decided by D191/16/1 Order on Request to Obtain English Translations of Three German Decisions and One Dutch Decision, 21 Jun 2016 [denying the request and instructing the Defence to use the funds at their disposal to obtain the translation of the documents]; (11): D206 Meas Muth's Request to be Provided with the Names and Associated Pseudonyms of All Case 002 Witnesses who have been Interviewed by the OCIJ in Case 003, 2 Aug 2016 [asking the CIJs to obtain from the Trial Chamber a list of the names of all witnesses who testified in Case 002 under pseudonym and also provide the names and associated pseudonyms of all such witnesses who have also given evidence in Case 003], decided by D206/1 Decision on Request for Names and Pseudonyms of Case 002 Witnesses, 5 Aug 2016 [granting the request]; (12): D215 Meas Muth's Request to be Provided with Updated List of the Names and Associated Pseudonyms of all Case 002 Witnesses who have been Interviewed by the OCIJ in Case 003, 18 Nov 2016, decided by D215/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for Updated List of Names and Pseudonyms of Case 002 Witnesses, 14 Dec 2016 [granting the request]; (13): D216 Meas Muth's Request for Investigative Action in Relation to Missing Site Identification Reports, 24 Nov 2016 [requesting that site identification reports referenced in a witness WRI be placed on the Case File: namely, the marine base in Ream and surrounding areas, the Durian plantation, the Au Chheu Teal beach, and the movie theatre in Preah Sihanoukville; alternatively, requesting that the CIJs explain why they cannot be placed there and place any notes made from members of the investigative team], decided by D216/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request Regarding Missing Site Identification Reports, 27 Dec 2016 [informing that the requested action was performed]; (14): D227 Meas Muth's Request for Investigative Action Regarding D114/174, D114/184 and Related Witness Interviews and the Potential Use of Torture-Tainted Evidence, 25 Jan 2017 [requesting that the CIJs investigate the circumstances in which four witnesses came to the attention of the OCIJ, particularly whether they became known as the result of being listed in biographies completed at S-21 by cadres allegedly purged from Kratie, thereby constituting torture-tainted evidence], decided by D251 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Requests for Investigative Action Regarding Potential Use of Torture-Tainted Evidence, 24 May 2017 [holding that the absolute prohibition against the use of torture-tainted statements as evidence does not prevent the CIJs from using the content of S-21 confessions as investigative leads; three of the statements raise no issue, but one of the witness statements was not "objective information" and could fall under the presumption of torture and unreliability, so he will disregard answers 46 to the end of D114/171]; (15): D229 Meas Muth's Request for Investigative Action Concerning an Unrecorded Interaction with a Witness & Request to Revise Written Record of Witness Interview, 26 Jan 2017 [requesting that the CIJs investigate an incident in which an OCIJ investigator may have influenced a witness's testimony and to revise the WRI to better reflect the testimony], decided by D251 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Requests for Investigative Action Regarding Potential Use of Torture-Tainted Evidence, 24 May 2017 [answering the Defence's specific queries and denying the request to revise the WRI because Meas Muth suffered no material prejudice as a result of the discrepancy]; (16): D232 Meas Muth's Request to Provide Document Numbers of Certain Documents that OCIJ Investigators Showed to Witnesses, 7 Feb 2017 [requesting document numbers referenced in 13 specified WRIs], decided by D232/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request to Provide Document Numbers of Certain Documents the OCIJ Investigators Showed to Witnesses, 3 May 2017 [granting the request and placing the referenced documents on the Case File]; (17): D237 Meas Muth's Request for Correction and Addition of Certain Case File Documents, 1 Mar 2017 [requests additions and corrections to four specific statements], decided by D237/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for Correction and Addition of Certain Case File Documents, 17 Apr 2017 [adding two Case 004 interviews to the Case File, resolving discrepancies identified in the translations of D1.3.30.2, denying correction of incorrect references in D114/189, and revising an incorrect translation in D114/216]; (18): D247 Meas Muth's Request to Update Case File with Revised Versions of Case 002 Transcripts, 2 May 2017 [requesting that the CIJs update the Case 002 transcripts on the Case 003 Case File whenever revised versions are placed on the Case 002 Case File], decided by D255 Memorandum to Parties re. Revisions of Case 002/2 Transcripts, 18 Jul 2017 [replacing all Case 002/2 transcripts on Case File 003 with their newly revised versions]; (19): D254 Meas Muth's Request to Place Recordings Associated with Written Records of Witness Interview D114/301, D114/302, D114/303, and D114/304 on the Case File, 11 Jul 2017 [requesting that the CIJs place recordings of identified interviews on the Case File or explain why no recordings were made], decided by D254/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request to Place Recordings Associated with Four Written Records of Interview on the Case File, 12 Jul 2017 [informing the Defence that the audio recordings are on the Case File]; (20): D260 Meas Muth's Request for an Unredacted Version of the Case 004/1 Closing Order to be Placed on the Case File, 18 Aug 2017, decided by D260/1 Order to Place Full Closing Order (Reasons) From Case 004/1 onto Case File 003, 22 Aug 2017.

73

(1): D87/2/1.9 Meas Muth's Request for the Work Product of OCIJ Investigators Involved in Improper Investigative Practices in Case 002, 2 Oct 2013 [requesting the work product of five OCIJ investigators in order to determine whether any annulment applications were warranted], decided by D87/2/1.9/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for the Work Product of OCIJ Investigators in Case 002, 15 Oct 2015 [rejecting the request as discrepancies in Case 002 do not in and of themselves support the conclusion that such discrepancies are inevitable in Case 003, and the right to consult the Case File does not extend to internal work product generated by the OCIJ, which remains by its very nature strictly confidential]; (2): D87/2/1.4 Meas Muth's Notice of Objection to Stephen Heder Having Any Further Involvement in Case 003 & Request for the Work Product of Stephen Heder, 9 Oct 2013 [objecting to Heder's involvement in Case 003, alleging that he, as a former member of the OCP, was biased and any further involvement by him would taint the investigation, and requesting his work product in order to determine what annulment applications might be necessary], decided by D164 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Objection to Stephen Heder and David Boyle's Involvement in Case 003 and Request for their Work Product, 19 Oct 2015 [denying the request because it is the CIJs who have sole authority and responsibility over the conduct of the judicial investigation and who determine what weight to give to any evidence or advice]; (3): D87/2/1.5 Meas Muth's Notice of Objection to David Boyle Having Any Further Involvement in Case 003 & Request for the Work Product of David Boyle, 9 Oct 2013 [alleging that Boyle, a legal consultant with OCIJ, was biased, any further involvement by him would taint the investigation, and requesting his work product in order to determine what annulment applications might be necessary] and D87/2/1.5.1 Meas Muth's Renewed Notice of Objection to David Boyle Having any Further Involvement in Case 003, 26 Jun 2015, decided by D164 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Objection to Stephen Heder and David Boyle's Involvement in Case 003 and Request for their Work Product, 19 Oct 2015 [denying the request because it is the CIJs, not their staff members, who have sole authority and responsibility over the conduct of the judicial investigation and who determine what weight to give to any evidence or advice].

74

(1): D87/2/1.3 Meas Muth's Request for Information Concerning the OCIJ's Investigative Approach and Methodology, 2 Oct 2013 [requesting, inter alia, information about the CIJs' planning and overall approach to the judicial investigation, OCIJ investigators' qualifications and experience, whether there are OCIJ standard operating procedures in place and how they are tracked, and what procedures are in place to ensure robust pursuit of exculpatory evidence], decided by D87/2/1.3/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for Information Concerning the OCIJ's Investigative Approach and Methodology, 22 May 2015 [finding the request inadmissible]; (2): D136 Meas Muth's Request that the Co-Investigating Judges Instruct the OCIJ Investigators to Audio or Video Record all Witness and Civil Parties Interviews, 27 Apr 2015 [requesting the CIJs to instruct OCIJ investigators to produce audio or video records of all interviews with witnesses and civil parties, regardless of whether a written record of interview was created or not], decided by D136/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Request to Audio or Video Record Interviews with Witnesses and Civil Parties, 29 Sep 2015 [dismissing part of the motion as moot because instructions had already been issued requiring OCIJ investigators to audio-record all interviews with witnesses and civil parties (see D154) and denying the remainder of the motion that requested the OCIJ to audio or video record screening conversations]; (3): D194 Meas Muth's Request that the Co-Investigating Judges Examine the Investigative Techniques Employed by Certain OCIJ Investigators and Adopt Appropriate Modalities to Ensure that Witness and Civil Party Evidence is not Tainted by Improper Techniques, 29 Apr 2016 [requesting that the CIJs examine "questionable" investigative techniques and also place all OCIJ investigators' curricula vitae on the Case File], decided by D219 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Requests Concerning the Questioning of Witnesses, 2 Dec 2016 [rejecting the Defence claim that OCIJ investigators are employing improper techniques while questioning witnesses and civil parties and denying the request to place investigators' CVs on the Case File]; (4): D197 Meas Muth's Request Concerning the Use of Leading Questions in Interviews and the Probative Value of Evidence Obtained through Such Questions, 6 May 2016 [requesting that the CIJs issue an order to cease the practice of OCIJ investigators using leading questions during interviews, train investigators to avoid asking questions that might taint interview statements, and accord little or no weight to evidence obtained through leading questions], decided by D219 Consolidated Decision on Meas Muth's Requests Concerning the Questioning of Witnesses, 2 Dec 2016 [denying the request because there is no prohibition against the use of leading questions and there are occasions when they are necessary].

75

(1): D103/1.6 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action concerning Two Alleged Crime Sites, 3 Feb 2014 [regarding the durian plantation in Ream Commune, and the Bet Trang worksite in Bet Trang Commune], decided by D134 Decision on Meas Muth's Applications to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with Two Requests for Annulment of Investigative Action, 23 Apr 2015 [denying the application]; (2): D103/1.7 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Concerning Religious Persecution, 7 Feb 2014, decided by D134 Decision on Meas Muth's Applications to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with Two Requests for Annulment of Investigative Action, 23 Apr 2015 [denying the application]; (3): D137 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action and Charges Concerning Alleged Purges in Kratie (Sector 505) in Late 1978, 21 May 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Meas Muth's Nine Applications to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with Requests for Annulment Pursuant to Internal Rule 76(2), 3 Nov 2015 ("Decision on Nine Applications") [granting the application]; (4): D138 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Concerning Tuek Sap, 21 May 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (5): D139 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Concerning Alleged Kang Keng Forced Labour and Reeducation Sites, 21 May 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (6): D140 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Conducted in Relation to Witness Interviews D2/3, D2/4, D2/11, D2/15, D2/16, D32/2, D32/4, D32/13, D32/14 and D32/15, 22 May 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (7): D141 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Concerning Ream, 25 May 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (8): D144 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action Conducted in relation to Witness Hem Leap, 22 Jul 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (9): D146 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Charges of Grave Breaches, 29 Jul 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [granting the application]; (10): D151 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of All Investigative Action in relation to Forced Marriage, 16 Sep 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [denying the application]; (11): D153 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of Document D54/81 and its Attachments, 21 Sep 2015, decided by D165 Decision on Nine Applications [declaring the application to be moot]; (12): D253 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of D114/164, D114/167, D114/170, and D114/171, 23 Jun 2017, decided by D253/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with a Request for Annulment of D114/164, D114/167, D114/170, and D114/171, 4 Jul 2017 [granting the application]; (13): D257 Meas Muth's Application to Seize the Pre-Trial Chamber with an Application for the Annulment of Torture-Derived Sections of Written Records of Interview, 27 Jul 2017, decided by D257/1 Decision on Meas Muth's Application to Annul Torture-Tainted Written Records of Interview, 1 Aug 2017 [granting the application].

76

See, e.g., D163 Request for Clarification Concerning Circumstances of the Witness Interview Summarized in Written Record of Witness Interview D54/96, 14 Oct 2015; D176 Request for Clarification Concerning Certain Documents on the Case File, 18 Dec 2015; D185 Request Concerning Documents D59/2/10a and D114/51.1, 15 Mar 2016; D88/1 Request Concerning D88 Documents, 15 Mar 2016; D186 Request Concerning Site Identification Report Missing from the Case File, 17 Mar 2016; D187 Request Concerning Errors in Certain Case File Documents, 17 Mar 2016; D188 Request Concerning Duplicate and Incorrect Documents on the Case File, 17 Mar 2016; D220 Meas Muth's Request for Correction of Discrepancies in Certain Case File Documents, 5 Dec 2016; D228 Meas Muth's Request for Correction of Certain Case File Documents, 26 Jan 2017; D240 Meas Muth's Request for Clarification Concerning Document D114/298.3, 7 Mar 2017; D241 Meas Muth's Request for Correction of Obvious Errors in Certain Case File Documents and for the Co-Investigating Judges to Consider Other Errors while Assessing the Evidence, 24 Mar 2017; D242 Meas Muth's Request for Correction of Certain Case File Documents, 28 Mar 2017; D245 Meas Muth's Request for Correction of Certain Case File Documents, 21 Apr 2017.

77

D235 Civil Party Co-Lawyers' Request for Investigative Action to Place Materials onto Case File, 10 Feb 2017, paras 3, 11, 12.

- 78 D22 International Co-Prosecutor's First Case File 003 Investigative Request to Admit Additional Documents and Observations on the Status of the Investigation, 10 Jun 2011; D23 International Co-Prosecutor's Second Request for Further Investigative Action Regarding Sou Met and Related Crime Sites, 10 Jun 2011; D24 International Co-Prosecutor's Third Investigative Request Regarding Meas Mut and Related Crime Sites, 10 Jun 2011; D208 International Co-Prosecutor's Investigation Request Regarding the Co-Investigating Judges' Combined S-21 Prisoner List with Confidential Annexes A & B, 8 Aug 2016 [requesting that the CIJs place contemporaneous S-21 documents on the Case File, consider additional names as S-21 prisoners, amend the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List to include those additional names, and place the amended OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List on the Case File]; D233 International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Investigative Action in Case 003, 9 Feb 2017 [requesting that investigators conduct a site visit to Koh Tang accompanied by Ek Ny; interview specific witnesses regarding Kang Keng, Bet Trang, S-21, Toek Sap, and forced marriage; interview Division 164 cadres identified by Meas Muth; and obtain a copy of the documentary "Brother Number One" and its transcript and place them onto the Case File]; D234 International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Investigative Action to Place Materials onto Case File 003, 9 Feb 2017 [requesting that the CIJs place specific Case 002 documents, maps, and videos onto the Case File as well as contemporaneous documents underlying the OCIJ's S-21 list].
- 79 D191 Call for Submissions by the Parties in Cases 003 and 004 and Call for Amicus Curiae Briefs, 19 Apr 2016.
- 80 D191/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to the International Co-Investigating Judge's Call for Submissions Regarding Crimes Against Humanity, 19 May 2016.
- 81 Case 004/D306/3 Ao An's Submission on Whether an Attack by a State or Organisation against Members of its Own Armed Forces Could Qualify as a Crime Against Humanity Under Customary International Law in 1975-1979, 19 May 2016.
- 82 Case 004-D306/1 Yim Tith's Submission on the Interpretation of the Term 'Civilian Population' for the Purposes of Article 5 of the Establishment Law, 19 May 2016.
- 83 D191/2 Meas Muth's Submission on the Question of whether under Customary International Law in 1975-1979 an Attack by a State or Organization Against its Own Armed Forces Could Amount to an Attack Directed against a Civilian Population for Purposes of Article 5 of the Establishment Law, 19 May 2016.
- 84 D191/3 Amicus Curiae Brief in Cases 003 and 004 – Professor Ben Saul; D191/4 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – Catherine Drummond, Philippa Webb, and Dapo Akande; D191/5 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – TRIAL (Track Impunity Always); D191/6 Amicus Curiae Brief of Professors Robinson, deGuzman, Jalloh and Cryer on Crimes Against Humanity for Cases 003 and 004; D191/7 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – Ido Rosenzweig; D191/8 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – Dr. Joanna Nicholson; D191/9 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – Professor Nicholas Tsagourias; D191/10 Amicus Curiae Brief for Cases 003 and 004 – Oliver Windridge; D191/11 Amicus Curiae Brief filed by Drs Williams and Grey in Response to Call for Amicus Curiae Briefs in Cases 003 and 004 dated 19 April 2016; D191/12 Amicus Brief filed by the Center for International and Comparative Law, University of Baltimore School of Law on the Legality of Targeting Members of One's Own Military; D191/13 Queen's University Belfast Human Rights Centre Response to the ECCC Office of the Co-Investigating Judges' 'Call for Submissions by the Parties in Cases 003 and 004 and Call for Amicus Curiae Briefs'.
- 85 Case 004-D306/16 Yim Tith's Combined Response to Briefs Submitted by Amici Curiae Pursuant to D306, 11 Jul 2016.
- 86 D191/17 Meas Muth's Combined Response to Amici Curiae Submissions on the Question of whether under Customary International Law in 1975-1979 an Attack by a State or Organization against its Own Armed Forces Could Amount to an Attack Directed Against a Civilian Population for Purposes of Article 5 of the Establishment Law, 11 Jul 2016.
- 87 D191/18 Notification on the Interpretation of 'Attack Against the Civilian Population' in the Context of Crimes Against Humanity with Regard to a State's or Regime's Own Armed Forces, 7 Feb 2017, paras 69, 56-57.
- 88 D191/18/1/4 Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Notification on the Interpretation of 'Attack against the Civilian Population' in the Context of Crimes Against Humanity with Regard to a State's or Regime's Own Armed Forces, 1 May 2017. See also D191/18/1/5 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Civilian Population Decision, 15 Jun 2017; D191/18/1/7 Meas Muth's Reply to the International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Appeal Against the International Co-Investigating Judge's Civilian Population Decision, 21 Jun 2017.

D191/18/1/8 Decision on Meas Muth's Appeal Against the Notification on the Interpretation of 'Attack Against the Civilian Population' in the Context of Crimes Against Humanity with regard to a State's or Regime's Own Armed Forces, 18 Jul 2017 [the PTC found that no good cause had been shown to justify the filing of the Notice of Appeal after the prescribed deadline, therefore the appeal itself was inadmissible].

D184 Request for Comments regarding Alleged Facts not to be Investigated Further, 16 Mar 2016 ("Request for Comments").

D184 Request for Comments.

D184/1 Request for Comments Regarding Alleged Facts not to be Investigated Further (D184), 18 Mar 2016.

D184/2 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to the International Co-Investigating Judge's Request for Comments Regarding Alleged Facts not to be Investigated Further, 29 Apr 2016 ("ICP Response to Request for Comments").

D184/2 ICP Response to Request for Comments, para. 22.

D184/3 Notice of Provisional Discontinuance Regarding Individual Allegations, 24 Aug 2016, paras 21-22.

D184/4 Notification Pursuant to Internal Rule 66bis(2), 22 Nov 2016, paras 5, 6.

D184/4/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to the International Co-Investigating Judge's 'Notification Pursuant to Internal Rule 66bis(2)', 24 Nov 2016, para. 2.

D226 Decision to Reduce the Scope of Judicial Investigation Pursuant to Internal Rule 66bis, 10 Jan 2017.

D225 Notice of Conclusion of Judicial Investigation Against Meas Muth, 10 Jan 2017, paras 6-7.

D227 Meas Muth's Request for Investigative Action Regarding D114/174, D114/184, and Related Witness Interviews and the Potential Use of Torture-Tainted Evidence, 25 Jan 2017; D229 Meas Muth's Request for Investigative Action Concerning an Unrecorded Interaction with a Witness and Request to Revise Written Record of Witness Interview, 26 Jan 2017; D233 International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Investigative Action in Case 003, 9 Feb 2017; D234 International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Investigative Action to Place Materials onto Case File 003, 9 Feb 2017.

D252 Second Notice of Conclusion of Judicial Investigation Against Meas Muth, 24 May 2017, paras 18-19.

D256 Forwarding Order Pursuant to Internal Rule 66(4), 25 Jul 2017 ("Forwarding Order"), para. 14.

D256/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Information on the Expected Date of the Notification of the Khmer Version of the Forwarding Order and a Request to Modify the Schedule for the Filing of the Final Submission, 8 Aug 2017.

D256/2 Meas Muth's Response to International Co-Prosecutor's Request for Information on the Expected Date of the Notification of the Khmer Version of the Forwarding Order and a Request to Modify the Schedule for the Filing of the Final Submission, 9 Aug 2017.

D256/3 Decision on Schedule of Prosecution's Final Submission and Defence Response, 4 Sep 2017, para. 8.

D256/5 Decision on Meas Muth's Request for Reconsideration on Schedule of Defense Response, 5 Oct 2017.

D214 Meas Muth's Motion Against the Application of Forced Marriage as the Crime Against Humanity of an Other Inhumane Act, 18 Nov 2016 ("Forced Marriage Motion").

See D214 Forced Marriage Motion; D214/1 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Motion Against the Application of Forced Marriage as the Crime Against Humanity of an Other Inhumane Act, 2 Dec 2016; D214/1/1 Meas Muth's Reply to the International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Motion against the Application of Forced Marriage as the Crime Against Humanity of an Other Inhumane Act, 12 Dec 2016.

D253/1/3 Meas Muth's Application for Annulment of D114/164, D114/167, D114/170, and D114/171, 17 Jul 2017.

D253/1/4 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Meas Muth's Request for Annulment of Four Written Records of Interview, 28 Aug 2017.

D257/1/3 Meas Muth's Application for the Annulment of Torture-Derived Written Records of Interview, 10 Aug 2017; D257/1/3.2 Annex: Excerpts of Written Records of Interview Tainted by S-21 Confessions. See also D257/1/4 International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Application for Annulment of Alleged Torture-Derived Written Records of Interview, 11 Oct 2017; D257/1/7 Meas Muth's Reply to International Co-Prosecutor's Response to Application for Annulment of Alleged Torture-Derived Written Records of Interview, 24 Oct 2017.

D256 Forwarding Order, paras 11-12.

- 113 Hundreds of the documents which were transferred from Case 002 by ICIJ Blunk are not directly relevant to the Case 003 charges. In addition, many other documents have become irrelevant following the death of Sou Met on 14 Jun 2013.
- 114 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693 [“(Meas) Mut was born in Pou Village, Srey Khnong Commune, Chhuk District, Kampot Province, Cambodia in 1938 [...] he is also known as ((Khe)) Mut and ((Ta) Mut))”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678538 [“Mok’s son-in-law, Khe Muth”]; D88.1.17 Dave Kattenberg, Foxy Lady, EN 00916251 [“[Meas Muth’s] home village of Pou, Kampot province”]; D1.3.13.1 Boch Koy OCP Statement, EN 00217558 [“The witness stated that Meas Mut was from the Chum Kiri district in Kampot Province”]; D54/1.1 Southeast Asia Globe, A Last Stand, 4 Jul 2011, EN 00915789 [“Meas Mut was born in Kampot, in the south of Cambodia”]; D1.3.32.28 Meas Chan Na DC-Cam Statement, EN 00881849 [“Q: Was Ta Mut a native of that area? A: Yes. Q: Right from the village of Pou? A: Yes”].
- 115 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693 [“Meas Mut entered the Khmer Communist movement in May 1970”].
- 116 D54/1.1 Southeast Asia Globe, A Last Stand, 4 Jul 2011, EN 00915789 [“Since his defection to the government in 1999, Meas Mut has reinvented himself as something of a local Buddhist patriarch, bankrolling the construction of a new pagoda in the village and showering the local villagers with sagely aphorisms”].
- 117 D1.3.7.8 Cambodia Daily, Let Bygones Be Bygones, 1 Mar 2008, EN 00165821 [“I was only a simple member of the Party”].
- 118 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693-94 [“Meas Mut entered the Khmer Communist movement in May 1970 [...] he was initially assigned as a medic in his village, and then in Sector 13”]; D22.2.182 Meas Mut US POW/MIA Statement, 30 May 2002, EN 00249703 [“Meas Mut was initially assigned as a medic in Angkor Chey District (District 102), Sector 13 in 1970”].
- 119 D22.2.182 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 30 May 2002, EN 00249703 [“At the end of 1970 or early 1971, he became the Deputy Commander of the Angkor Chey District Military. At that time there were about 200 troops in the District Military”].
- 120 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693-94 [“At the end of 1970, [Meas Muth] was reassigned to the military in Angkor Chey District, Kampot Province and later with the Sector 13 command in southern Takeo Province. He remained with the Sector 13 command until he was reassigned to the southwestern region command in 1973”]; D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 09.57.53-10.02.20 [“From 1973 to 1975, Muth was the chief and Saom was the deputy. And later on, Muth was transferred to Division 3. Saom became the deputy (sic) in 1975. Q: And at one stage, did Muth leave -- leave the sector and do something else, take up another function? A: Before 1975, he was the chief of Sector 13. And later on, around 1974 or 1975, he moved to be in charge of Division 3. And then Saom became the secretary. Q: And where was your office specifically located in Angkor Chey district when you were a messenger between 1973 and September 1975? A: Between '73 and '75, I relocated from Sramauch (phonetic) mountain to Damrei Romiel. And later on, I moved to Angk Kriv near the National Road in 1975. However, it was still located in Angkor Chey district”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A15 [“Q: When did you see Meas Mut in the Sector 13 Committee, and during what period of time was he on the Sector 13 Committee? A15: When I joined the revolutionary movement in 1973, I saw that he was already on the Sector Committee”]; D54/60.2 Meung Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992981 [“Q: What did Ta Mut do [in 1973]? A: Sector 13 committee. Q: Sector committee included Ta Mut? A: Ta Mut and Ta Saom”]; D4.1.783 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379170 [“Ta Soam (alias Than) was the secretary of Sector 13 [...] The deputy of Sector 13 named Phen who was then in charge of economics [...] The member of the Sector named Meas Mut who was in charge of military”]; D4.1.784 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379303 [“The committee of Sector 13 composed of Ta Soam who was the secretary, Phen was the deputy secretary, and Ta Mut was the member”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678538 [“Mok’s son-in-law, Khe Muth, had begun his career as CPK secretary of Tram Kak and had also become deputy secretary of Region 13”].
- 121 D22.2.181 Meas Muth POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693-94 [“At the end of 1970, [Meas Muth] was reassigned to the military in Angkor Chey District, Kampot Province and later with the Sector 13 command in southern Takeo Province. He remained with the Sector 13 command until he was reassigned to the southwestern region command in 1973”]; D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 09.57.53-10.02.20 [“From 1973 to 1975, Muth was the chief and Saom was the deputy. And later on, Muth was transferred to Division 3. Saom became the deputy (sic) in 1975. Q: And at one stage, did Muth leave -- leave the sector and do something else, take up another function? A: Before 1975, he was the chief of Sector 13. And later on, around 1974 or 1975, he moved to be in charge of Division 3. And then Saom became the secretary. Q: And where was your office specifically located in Angkor Chey district when you were a messenger between 1973 and September 1975? A: Between '73 and '75, I relocated from Sramauch (phonetic) mountain to Damrei Romiel. And later on, I moved to Angk Kriv near the National Road in 1975. However, it was still located in Angkor Chey district"; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A15-21 ["Q: When did you see Meas Mut in the Sector 13 Committee, and during what period of time was he on the Sector 13 Committee? A15: When I joined the revolutionary movement in 1973, I saw that he was already on the Sector Committee. Maybe in 1974, Meas Mut went to be in charge of the army when the Southwest Zone organised Division 3. After April 1975 he went to Kampong Som. Q: Was Meas Mut the first commander of Division 3 when it was created? A16: Yes, he was. Q: When you saw Meas Mut for the first time on the Sector 13 Committee, did you know what his roles and functions were? A17: He was on that Sector Committee, and he was in charge of the military side. [...] A18: Thousands of soldiers were under Meas Mut's command in Sector 13. At that time there were no regiments or division yet. There were only battalions. Q: Do you remember the number of the battalions in Sector 13 which were under the command of Meas Mut? A19: I remember Battalion Ta 110 that was under the command of Chuong and Pav who Meas Mut took to Kampong Som with him. Unit 27 was the former navy, which was created before 1973. Besides these, I do not remember. Q: What was the location of Unit 27, and where did it operate before 1973? A20: Battalion 27 was under the command of Meas Mut, and it was called the naval unit since before I joined the revolutionary movement in 1973. This battalion operated in the south of Takeo Province. They did not have any motorboats or other boats. Generally they operated on land. The area of Kaoh Andaet District, Takeo Province, was almost entirely flooded during the rainy season. At that time the sailors in this navy used banana trees and bamboos for swimming to operate in that area. Q: You said that Unit 27 was a naval unit. Was that what the people called it, or was that a formal name used by the upper echelon since before 1973? A21: Generally the people always called them the navy because they always saw that division operate on the water"; D4.1.783 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379170 ["The member of the Sector [13] named Meas Mut who was in charge of military"]; D4.1.784 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379303 ["The committee of Sector 13 composed of Ta Soam who was the secretary, Phen was the deputy secretary, and Ta Mut was the member"]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115963 ["Q: Who was in charge of Sector 13 which was in Takeo [in 1972]? A: It was in charge by Commander Saom. I did not know his first name. Q: Was he Ta Saom? A: Yes, he was. Later it was under the control of Meas Muth. Q: What did Ta Muth do? A: Ta Muth was the Commander. He was in charge of the administration. Q: Was he in charge of the administration of Sector 13? A: Yes, he was. Ta Saom was in charge of the military affairs"]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992981 ["Q: What did Ta Mut do [in 1973]? A: Sector 13 committee. Q: Sector committee included Ta Mut? A: Ta Mut and Ta Saom"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974163 ["Q: So, where was Ta Mut then [1974]? A: Ta Mut, this Meas Mut was in Sector 13, called Ta Kaen Sector. Q: But, was his hometown there too? A: His hometown was in Srae Knong. Q: But, during the time of struggle, did he come to Sector 13 of Takeo? A: Yes"].

¹²² D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A27 ["Meas Mut was a full-staff member of the party. For myself, I became a full-staff member of the party since 1973. Meas Mut was a full-staff member before me because he joined the revolution since a long time ago"].

¹²³ D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693 ["In 1974 [Meas Muth] was appointed the political officer for the newly-formed Khmer Communist 3rd Division"]; D22.2.182 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 30 May 2002, EN 00249704 ["In March 1974, BG Mut was transferred to the Southwestern region as the Commander of the newly created 3rd Division"]; D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 09.57.53-10.02.20, ["around 1974 or 1975, [Meas Muth] moved to be in charge of Division 3"] confirming D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A15 ["Maybe in 1974, Meas Mut went to be in charge of the army when the Southwest Zone organised Division 3"]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A38 ["Meas Muth was appointed commander of Division 3 in 1973 when this division was established"]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115965 ["Q: Was Division 3 just newly established [when you were transferred to it in September 1974]? A: Yes, it was. Q: Who was in charge of it? A: Meas Muth was"]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678538 ["In 1973 Muth rose to become secretary of the 3rd Southwest Division"]; D1.3.7.9 Searching for the Truth, I Only Want Justice, Aug 2000, EN 00204275 ["In 1973, Meas Mut was a newly appointed Regional Secretary of Brigade 3"].

¹²⁴ D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A8-9 ["I knew for sure that Meas Mut was the division chief alone. Meas Mut was the chief of Division 3 and directly controlled the regiments and battalions. Q: You said Meas Mut was the general chief of the division. Can you describe his responsibilities? A9: Meas Mut was generally responsible for food supplies, ammunition and weapons”].

125 D114/82 Keo San WRI, A7 [“I got to know [Meas Muth] since 1973. He was a military instructor at Phnom Damrei Romeal Mountain. That mountain borders with three provinces including Kampong Speu, Kampot and Takeo”].

126 D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A31, 33 [“In a meeting, [Meas Muth] announced that Battalion 450 was the special battalion under Division 3’s authority. He also added that we had to get ready for liberating Phnom Penh in February 1975 and that the fighting would be done on land and assisted by special Battalion 450 because there were seven companies in Battalion 450 [...] Q: What else did Meas Mut say in the meeting? A33: The meeting lasted for three days from 11 to 14 April 1975 at ROUNG DAMREI Village, Trapeang Chhuk District, Kandal Province. Meas Mut told us that we had to take over Phnom Penh within three days, so we were given new weapons”].

127 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A6-7 [“Q: During the fighting for Phnom Penh, who ordered Division 3 to enter Phnom Penh? A6: Ta Mut, who was the commander of Division 3. Q: When they entered Phnom Penh, where was the Division 3 headquarters located? A7: Division 3 headquarters, under Meas Mut’s command, was located at Phnum Tmat Pong during the fighting for Phnom Penh”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678511 [“Other forces involved in the offensive were the 3rd Southwest Zone Division, commanded by Muth, son-in-law of the Zone CPK secretary Mok, and the 1st Southwest, commanded by Paet Soeung which approached Pochentong airport from the west, along Highway 4. Northern Zone forces, for their part, moved down the Sap River along Highway 5. They were hurriedly brought into position, many units covering over one hundred kilometers on foot for the start of the final attack on 14 April. They then advanced so quickly that their command lost contact with them for twenty-four hours”].

128 D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A35 [“On the first day of fighting, we took over a barracks at Wat Doeum Pou to the north of National Road 4 and to the west of a railroad. Lon Nol’s army retreated to Kamboul. On the second day, Meas Mut commanded Companies 2 and 3 to take over Ra Samraong. We were backed up by the Special Zone army. We took over Ra Samraong but we were not stationed there. We set up a shelter in Wat Chumpu Voan. On the third day, there was an order from the Division to fight further to Chaom Chau. We took over Chaom Chau and Pochentong on 17 April 1975”]; D54/30 Soem Ny WRI, A8-10 [“Battalion 550 had been formed around two months before the ‘liberation’ of Phnom Penh in April 1975. This battalion was called a special one whose military members had been transferred from different units. This special battalion was under the command of the sector battlefields north of National Road 4-Meas Mut. Q: In the attacks into Phnom Penh during which Meas Mut was the commander of the north battlefields of National Road 4, what unit was under his command? A9: At that time, Division 3 was under the command of Meas Mut. Q: Being a battlefield commander, what did he do? A10: He organised meetings with chiefs of regiments and battalions to assign battle targets, and he stayed at the rear battle line with 105 mm artilleries”]; D114/25 Ou Dav WRI, A9 [“At that time, I remembered that on 17 April 1975, when I first arrived at Pochentong Airport, I saw Meas Mut enter the airport, and then I saw Sou Met and Ta Mok enter afterward. During the war, Meas Mut was the second-in command of the battle fields south of National Road 4, and was also the commander of Divisions 2 and 3. At that time, Sou Met was the commander of the battlefields north of National Road 4”].

129 D22.2.182 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 30 May 2002, EN 00249704 [“When Phnom Penh was liberated on 17 April 1975, the 3rd division was ordered to deploy to Kampong Som”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A15 [“After April 1975 he [Meas Muth] went to Kampong Som”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Reth) WRI, A35-36 [“Q: Regarding dates, from the previous interview you told me that you stayed in Phnom Penh for one day after Phnom Penh fell. Then you travelled for four days to Kampong Som. Do you remember how many days later Ta Muth arrived Kampong Som? A35: I arrived over there before Ta Mok. They came to pick me up from Dos Kanhchor. Ta Mok drove a Jeep to pick us to Kampong Som. I did not know when Ta Muth got there. I only saw him at the meeting at a later date. Q: When you first saw Ta Muth at Kampong Som, how many weeks was it after you had been there? A36: It was about two or three weeks after my arrival”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A88-89 [“Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 when moved to Kampong Som. The former commander’s name was Ta Rin. When Division 3 moved to Kampong Som, Ta Muth was the commander. Q: When did they move? A89: When Division 3 was fighting in Phnom Penh, Ta Rin was the commander. When Phnom Penh was liberated in 1975, Ta Muth was commander”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 [“At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in

- Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164”]; D4.1.784 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379303 [“2-3 months after the liberation day on 17 April 1975, Meas Mut and his wife were transferred to take charge of the Kampong Som Port within the navy unit”].
- 130 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A9 [“Meas Muth was a monk studying at Preah Soramarith Buddhist High School and staying in the same monastery where Brother Mok had built in Mohamontrei Pagoda. The monastery, which was managed by Brother Mok, was managed by a branch of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. People were recruited this way”].
- 131 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693 [“Meas Mut entered the Khmer Communist movement in May 1970”]; D54/70 Mut Mao WRI, A15 [“Q: In 1973, had Yeay Khom already married Meas Mut? A15: Yes, she was already married when I went to live with her in 1973. I did not know when she got married, but the first time I went to live with her, she already had a child”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A38 [“Q: And how were Ta Muth and Ta Mok related? A38: Ta Muth and Ta Mok were son-in-law and father-in-law respectively”]; D114/82 Keo San WRI, A8 [“Q: Did you know that Meas Muth’s first wife was Ta Mok’s daughter? A8: Yes, I did”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753845 [“Bang Muth was Ta Mok’s son-in-law”]; D1.3.32.28 Meas Chan Na DC-Cam Statement, EN 00881849 [“Ta Mut was a cohort of Ta Mok. Q: What was his relationship with Ta Mok? A: Son-in-law”].
- 132 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A9 [“Pol Pot started the recruitment [to the Assisting Committee of the Central Committee] through Son Son and Ta Mok. According to principles as stipulated in the Party Statute, the recruitment had to comply with the ten-point requirement for building Party cadres. However, in practice, nepotism came into play when recruiting. For example, Sam Bith was Brother Mok’s nephew. He used to be a performer in a play when played the role as a King. Meas Muth was also related to Brother Mok. [...] People were recruited in this way. [...] People were recruited based on the structural network”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678579 [“By 1975 the Zone administration was dominated by Mok, a member of the CPK Standing Committee, and his thirteen brothers-in-law, daughters, sons, and sons-in-law. As Mok’s power grew, his relatives rose through the ranks. In 1976, his daughter Khom was promoted from CPK secretary of Tram Kak district to deputy secretary of Region 13, before dying of illness the next year. Mok’s brother-in-law, San, a former schoolteacher, followed her as Tram Kak’s secretary in 1977-78. Her widower, Khe Muth, was secretary of Kompong Som and commander of the DK navy. A second son-in-law, Boran, would follow in Mok’s footsteps as Zone secretary in late 1978. A second brother-in-law, Tith, was chief of District 109. In 1977 a third son-in-law, Soeun, was promoted from division commander to secretary of District 107, and a fourth, brigade commander Ren, was promoted to division commander. In the same year Mok’s son Chong was promoted from secretary of District 55 to secretary of Region 33”].
- 133 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Ta Mok established Division 3 and appointed Meas Mut as its chief”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678579 [“By 1975 the Zone administration was dominated by Mok, a member of the CPK Standing Committee, and his thirteen brothers-in-law, daughters, sons, and sons-in-law. As Mok’s power grew his relatives rose through the ranks [...] [Khom’s] widower, Khe Muth, was secretary of Kompong Som and commander of the DK navy”]; D1.3.32.28 Meas Chan Na DC-Cam Statement, EN 00881849 [“Q: What would you say about a person by the name of Mut? What was his relationship [to you]? A: Ta Mut was a cohort of Ta Mok. [...] Q: During that time, Meas Mut was ... A: An associate of Ta Mok in that area”]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A9 [“Pol Pot started the recruitment [to the Assisting Committee of the Central Committee] through Son Son and Ta Mok. According to principles as stipulated in the Party Statute, the recruitment had to comply with the ten-point requirement for building Party cadres. However, in practice, nepotism came into play when recruiting. For example, Sam Bith was Brother Mok’s nephew. He used to be a performer in a play when played the role as a King. Meas Muth was also related to Brother Mok. [...] People were recruited in this way. [...] People were recruited based on the structural network”].
- 134 D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A27 [“Meas Mut was a full-staff member of the party. For myself, I became a full-staff member of the party since 1973. Meas Mut was a full-staff member before me because he joined the revolution since a long time ago”].
- 135 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, EN 00184031-32 [Article 2: “The duties of Party members. Every party member has the following duties: 1. Duties among the popular masses: Proselytize the popular masses on Party politics, ideology, and organization, and mingle closely with the popular masses, the worker-peasants in the unions and cooperatives, and the Revolutionary Army. Must be highly responsible to the popular masses, serve the popular masses with all the heart and unconditionally, be polite with the popular masses, and strive to learn from the popular masses. B. Agitate the popular mass movement, especially the worker-peasant popular masses in the unions and cooperatives, and always be connected with the tasks of national defense and building Democratic Kampuchea in the direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. 2. Internal duties: A. Have a life inside a Party Branch organization regularly, once monthly. Every Party member, no matter how high his duty, even all the way up to the highest, must be in a Party Branch and have a regular Branch life. B. Respect Party organizational discipline unconditionally, with the highest awareness. C. Always strive to build Party political, ideological, and organizational stances, to absorb them ever more firmly, in order to implement the Party politics, ideology, and organization ever better, ever more efficiently. D. Always and absolutely strive well and closely to consolidate internal Party solidarity and unity. E. Always and absolutely strive to maintain Party secrecy with a high stance of revolutionary vigilance. F. Strive to implement the regime of criticism and self-criticism, the regime of inspection of revolutionary life views properly, carefully, and actively, in order to build oneself and the internal Party as good examples, always actively fight in the work of national defense and building the country of Democratic Kampuchea according to the Party's direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. G. Must have solid principles and stances of proletarian patriotism and proletarian internationalism. H. Strive to study culture, technology, and science, in order to increase capabilities to serve the work of the national defense and national construction of Democratic Kampuchea in the direction of socialist revolution and the building of socialism, ever better, ever more efficiently”].

136 D1.3.33.15 Khieu Samphan WRI, 13 Dec 2007, EN 00156751 [“The central committee consisted of more than 30 members, but I don’t remember the names of all those members. Among them was Meas Mut, Ta Mok’s son-in-law, the secretary of one of the military sectors attached to Kampot province. Afterwards it was transformed into the marine force. There was another member named Soeu Va Sy, alias Doeun (he was the chairman of Office 870), and another member of the central committee was Koy Thuon, and Ke Pork. And I was also a member of this central committee, first as an intern member in 1971 until 1976 when I became a full-rights member. The “intern members” might be also called ‘candidate members’, but I don’t know of any ‘reserve members’”]. See also D114/277.8 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 20 Jun 2016, 10.58.02-10.59.48, EN 01336135-36 [“There were two cadres at a division level from the general staff who were members of the Centre, Muth and Met”]; D4.1.405 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00244242 [“Meas Mut and Sam were nominated to the Central Committee in 1975”].

137 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, EN 00184038 [Article 7: “During the period of time between one General Conference to another the highest operational unit throughout the country is the Central Committee”].

138 D1.3.33.15 Khieu Samphan WRI, 13 Dec 2007, EN 00156750 [“In principle, the most important body was the central committee, but in practice it was the standing committee”].

139 D1.3.33.15 Khieu Samphan WRI, 13 Dec 2007, EN 00156751 [“The central committee consisted of more than 30 members, but I don’t remember the names of all those members. Among them was Meas Mut, Ta Mok’s son-in-law, the secretary of one of the military sectors attached to Kampot province. Afterwards it was transformed into the marine force. There was another member named Soeu Va Sy, alias Doeun (he was the chairman of Office 870), and another member of the central committee was Koy Thuon and Ke Pork. And I was also a member of this central committee, first as an intern member in 1971 until 1976 when I became a full-rights member. The ‘intern members’ might be also called ‘candidate members’, but I don’t know of any ‘reserve members’”]; D1.3.30.29 Masato Matsushita and Stephen Heder, Interviews with Kampuchean Refugees at Thai-Cambodia Border, EN 00170750 [CPK cadre who participated in 5th Party Congress in 1978 states that Central Committee consisted of “mostly tambon secretaries, secretary of Regions, deputy secretary of Regions, members of Regions”]; D4.1.4 Timothy Carney, The Organization of Power, EN 00105140-41, 51-53; D1.3.17.6 Stephen Heder and Brian Tittmore, Seven Candidates for Prosecution, EN 00393581. See also D4.1.403 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242904 [“the three Ministers I just mentioned (Vorn Vet, Koy Thuon, Soeu Vasy) were all members of the Central Committee, which was not the case for Kao Rit”]; D4.1.405 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00244242 [“Meas Mut and Sam were nominated to the Central Committee in 1975”]; D4.1.1115 Kaing Guek Eav Duch WRI, EN 00147606 [“Men San alia Ya was a full rights member of the Central Committee”].

140 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, EN 00184045 [Article 23: “The tasks of the Central Committee: The tasks of the Central Committee are: 1. Implement the Party political line and Statute throughout the Party. 2. Instruct the all Zone and Sector - City organizations and Party organizations responsible for various matters to carry out activities according to the political line, and ideological and organizational principles and stances in accordance with the tasks of national defense and building Democratic Kampuchea and in accordance with the Party direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. 3. Govern and arrange cadres and Party members throughout the entire Party, along with all core organizations, by constantly, clearly, and closely grasping personal histories, political, ideological, and organizational stances, and closely and constantly arming them politically, ideologically, and organizationally. 4. Act in the name of the Party in contacts with all brother-sister Marxist-Leninist parties”].

141

D114/277.8 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 20 Jun 2016, 10.58.02-10.59.48, EN 01336135-36 [“There were two cadres at a division level from the general staff who were members of the Centre, Muth and Met”]; D55/8.1.4 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 9 Jun 2009, 10.21.32-10.25.56 [“People who were classified as assistants to the Centre first was Chhim Sam-Aok alias Pang and Sou Met and Meas Mut also included in”], 10.21.32-10.25.56 [“Again, the Central Committee had four labels. The lowest were the assistants to the Centre. These people had the right to attend study sessions with other people but during the general meeting of the Centre they did not have any rights to make any comments”], 10.28.12-10.32.11 [“Chhim Sam-Aok alias Pang was the member of the Centre Party. Meas Mut, Sou Met were all members of the Centre Party”]; D1.3.33.10 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00195577 [“One day, shortly before my marriage at the end of 1975, Nat told me that Son Sen was very happy because he had just been promoted to the Standing Committee [...] He also described the organisation of the military section, the four members of which had been appointed to the Assistants Committee, which gave them political responsibilities (Meas Mut, Sou Met, Sam Bit and the nurse, Soeung). When he explained all this to me, Nat told me he was disappointed because he had not been promoted himself. I tended not to believe Nat and, thus, I interrogated Koy Thuon on this issue, when he was detained at S-21, and Koy Thuon confirmed. Pang himself also confirmed this information one day when he came to S-21”]; D114/158 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A32 [“The assistants to the Centre had some rights. First, they had the rights to attend training with the Central Committee, the high-level people, but did not have the rights to express their ideas. During a conference, the assistants to the Centre did not have the rights to express their ideas in the conference. Second, they did not have the rights to vote. This refers to the assistants to the Centre”]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A3-5, 9 [“Meas Muth, Sou Meth, Sam Bith and Soeung who were from the military part were the secretaries of the Divisions. Q: Do you know why the names that you have mentioned above were recruited to be on the committee? A4: I have talked about the entry into the Centre. Nath said those four people had become the members of the Centre. Later, my superior by the name of Son Sen said that those people were not the reserve members of Centre. He said they were just the members of the Centre who were recruited to assist people with their work [...] The Assisting Committee members had the rights to attend the study sessions with the senior members. The senior members here refer to people on the Central Committee including Pol Pot and those who were the reserve members [...] A5: The four people were Brothers Bith, Muth, Soeung and Comrade Meth (Sou Meth). They were the division secretaries. The ones who recruited them were the Party Centre [committee] who was led mainly by Pol Pot. He recruited them through Ta Mok and Son Sen. [...] A9: Pol Pot started the recruitment through Son Sen and Ta Mok. According to principles as stipulated in the Party Statute, the recruitment had to comply with the ten-point requirement for building Party cadres. However, in practice, nepotism came into play when recruiting. For example, Sam Bith was Brother Mok’s nephew. He used to be a performer in a play when played the role as a King. Meas Muth was also related to Brother Mok [...] People were recruited based on the structural network”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680796-97 [“I still maintain that Meas Mut and Sou Met were the assistants of the central committee. At first, Nat (original name was In Lorn, my S-21 predecessor) was discontented with four people who had been admitted to the assisting committee, but him: first, Sam Bit, second, Meas Mut, third, brother (medic) Seoun, and fourth Sou Met. It was Nat who told me this story. And my supervisor Son Sen also told this story to me. I used to inform the CIJs that there had been other assistants of the central committee such as Cheng An, and Chhim Sam Aok alias Pang who was the first assistant of the composition. Koy Thuon also told me about this”], EN 00680796 [“[The Assisting Committee members] could be with the members to learn and take note, but they did not have rights to join and share their view in the discussion if there was any”]; D4.1.405 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00244242 [“[Nat] was jealous when Meas Mut and Sam Bit were nominated to the Central Committee in 1975”]; D1.3.33.13 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00154911 [“Amongst the Members of the Assisting Committee of the Central Committee, there were, in particular: Chhim Sam-aok, Sam Bit (Ta Mok’s Deputy), Meas Mut (Commander of the Navy), Sou Samet (Commander of the Air force), the male nurse Soeung (President of the autonomous Province of Siem Reap-Angkor) and Vean Em alias Sarun (President of Province 31, West Zone)”].

- 142 D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A20-23 [“Q: Some witnesses informed us that Meas Mut could be a member in the Supporting Commission of the Central Committee. Do you know anything about this commission? A20: Yes, I heard about this Alternative Commission and Meas Mut was in this Supporting Commission. This Alternative Commission was to support the Central Committee. Q: How did you know this? A21: After they completed organizing the structure bottom-up, they made an announcement about this structure to inform us in a meeting. Q: Could you tell us further regarding the support provided by the Supporting Commission to the Central Committee? A22: As to my knowledge, the function of the Supporting Commission was to disseminate policies and information received from the central level to the lower levels. Q: You mentioned “lower level”, what did it include? Was it the military side and the civilian side as well? A23: The Supporting Commission disseminated policies to the military and civilian sides as well. It is like the provincial governor who provides information to his departments to disseminate it to people”].
- 143 D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A3-5 [witness worked as a telephone operator for Meas Muth: “Q: Please try to recall who from the Centre called to speak to the commander of Division 164, Meas Mut. What were their names? A3: I do not remember the names. I just remember the number K-1. Q: How often did K-1 call? A4: Sometimes once per day and sometimes once every two days. At that time, there were calls back and forth between Meas Mut, the commander of Division 164 and the Centre, but I did not know how they made the calls. So I cannot tell you. Q: In general, when K-1 called, did you connect the calls to Meas Mut’s house directly, or did you connect them to another place? A5: I connected them to Ta Mut’s house directly”].
- 144 D4.1.1074 Khieu Samphan WRI, 14 Dec 2007, EN 00156755 [“Q: What does the reference to K1 and K3 mean? A: It refers to the place of living or place of work of the standing committee members. K1 was on the Tonle Bassac riverfront (south of the national theatre building). K3 office was located just behind the Royal Palace. [...] As for myself I lived in K3 after I had stayed at K1 for two or three months, after we moved from the Silver Pagoda in the Royal Palace. [...] As for Pol Pot [...] He also lived in K1. The meetings of the standing committee were often held at K1 office but sometimes at K3 office, Pol Pot’s house, and it could be held in the kitchen”].
- 145 D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976 [describing meeting attended by Pol Pot, Vorn Vet, Son Sen, Meas Mut, Comrade Nget, Comrade Dim, and Comrade Touch as note taker]; D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [telegram from the deputy of Meas Muth describing amongst other matters the security situation in Kampong Som. Copied to Nuon Chea, Son Sen, Office 870, and Documentation]; D4.1.635 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth), 1 Apr 1978 [report on the arrest and the killing of 102 Vietnamese in the period 27 March 1978 to 30 March 1978. Copied to Nuon Chea, Pol Pot, Brother Van and Documentation]; D1.3.12.2 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown) [report describing the attack and capture of Thai fishing boats. Copied to Brother 87 (Vorn Vet), Brother, and Documentation].
- 146 D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Respected Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976; D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976; D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976; D1.3.4.1 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976; D1.3.2.2 Telegram 10 from 89 (Son Sen) to Comrade Mut (Meas Muth) and Division 164, 4 Nov 1976; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978; D4.1.637 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978; D1.3.12.2 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown).
- 147 D4.1.1031 Ieng Sary Statement, 19 May 1976, EN 00003694 [Meeting between Deputy Prime Minister Ieng Sary and Comrade Vice Minister Phon Hien of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the People’s Republic of Vietnam: “Comrade Ieng Sary greeted comrade Phan Hien on May 19, 1976. The meeting between the two began at eight in the morning. Kampuchea’s side consisted of comrade Mut, comrade Tauch, and comrade Kong, while the Vietnamese’s participated by comrade Ngieng Sung, comrade Ngieng Thoeung, comrade Pham Trung Hiv, and comrade Kiv Minh”]; D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area 12 Dec, 13 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 [“On the morning of 12 December 1977 Comrade Chen Yung-kuei, member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and vice premier of the PRC State Council, and the other Chinese comrades visited Kompong Som town. They were accompanied by Comrade Pol Pot, secretary of the KCP Central Committee and prime minister, and Comrades Ieng Sary and Thiounn Thioeunn. There, Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and

- welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee”].
- 148 D1.3.7.8 The Cambodia Daily, Let Bygones Be Bygones, 1 Mar 2008, EN 00165821 [“Meas Muth acknowledged that he met with Son Sen ‘a few times,’ in order to carry out the work of the Central Committee”].
- 149 D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183396-97 [Standing Committee meeting discussing the framework of the General Staff and delegating responsibility for the General Staff and security to Son Sen]; D1.3.19.2 DK Report from Khieu (Son Sen) to Division and Regiment Committees, 3 Sep 1977 [Son Sen issued instructions from the General Staff to military divisions and regiments].
- 150 D1.3.8.9 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 20 Dec 1976 [General Staff meeting minutes describing the enemy situation within the country and issuing a variety of commands]; D1.3.12.16 DK Military Report, 31 Dec 1976 [General Staff document providing a summary of enemy activities occurring within the country and at the border]; D1.3.8.6 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Oct 1976 [describes “shortcomings” in defending the country and states that cadre with “no-good political tendencies” should be removed to protect internal security]; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183982, 00183984-87, 00183991-94 [Son Sen discusses DK policy about external and internal enemy situation and purges and interrogations used to clean up the fields from the no-good elements, allegedly considered CIA or KGB spies]; D1.3.19.1 CPK Central Committee Decision, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809 [authorising the General Staff to “smash” individuals within the “Center Military”].
- 151 D1.3.12.16 DK Military Report, 31 Dec 1976 [providing a summary of arrests and suspected enemy activity]; D1.3.12.11 DK Military Report, 17 Sep 1976 [describing patrol experiences in Phnom Penh, where some workers used electricity to catch fish; many factories used guns and speeding drivers in the capital were a worrying sign]; D1.3.12.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Oct 1976 [report on the shooting of a suspected enemy who was thought to have a grenade]; D1.3.8.9 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Dec 1976 [General Staff meeting minutes summarising the enemy situation within the country].
- 152 D1.3.19.1 CPK Central Committee Decision, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809 [authorising the General Staff to “smash” individuals within the “Center Military”]. See also regular meetings between members of the General Staff and commanders of divisions and independent regiments during which Son Sen or other General Staff representatives summarised the enemy situation within the country, issued orders, and indoctrinated the attendees on CPK policies: D1.3.27.8 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 May 1976; D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976; D1.3.27.11 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 12 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.14 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 7 Sep 1976; D1.3.8.4 DK Military Minutes, 9 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.17 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.8.6 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Oct 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183982-94; D1.3.8.7 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Oct 1976; D1.3.27.21 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 11 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.23 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 15 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.24 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.25 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.
- 153 D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 75, EN 00183396-97 [Standing Committee meeting discussing the framework of the General Staff and assigning the responsibility to organise the new Army, Navy and Air Force to the General Staff]; D1.3.8.1 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Mar 1976 [meeting in which Saom (Son Sen) provide instructions regarding Air Force recruitment]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976 [meeting regarding the deployment of the DK Navy and the enemy situation in the areas under the control of the Navy]; D1.3.8.5 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 24 Sep 1976 [discussion of training courses run by Chinese experts on the use, repair, and maintenance of artillery]; D1.3.8.9 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Dec 1976 [minutes of meeting discussing various security issues reported on by RAK Divisions, including description of people who had been arrested in and around Phnom Penh. Describes measures to be taken as well as rules for the conduct of guards on patrol and at checkpoints]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A23 [“In the military, there were the army, navy, and air force. These three military forces were under the command of the General Staff”].
- 154 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, EN 00184046 [Article 28: “The Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea is organized according to democratic centralism. The Party Central Committee designates the implementation of democratic centralism according the specific situation”]; D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1975; EN 00183394 [meeting minutes describing Standing Committee notes: “national defense is being arranged at the Center”]; D1.3.27.7 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 15 May 1975 [Son Sen reporting on defense matters to the Standing Committee]; D1.3.19.1 CPK Central Committee Decision, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809 [authorising the General Staff to “smash” individuals within the “Center Military”]; D1.3.24.2 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1976, EN 00268945 [“only the Party leads the army; no other organization or individual leads it”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797-98 [General Staff was in charge of the execution of Pol Pot’s orders, and Son Sen was the one to comply].

155 D1.3.19.1 CPK Central Committee Decision, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809 [authorising the General Staff to “smash” individuals within the “Center Military”].

156 D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183393, 00183396-97 [Standing Committee meeting discussing the framework of the General Staff and delegating responsibility for the General Staff and security to Son Sen]; D1.3.19.2 DK Report from Khieu (Son Sen) to Division and Regiment Committees, 3 Sep 1977 [describes instructions from the General Staff to military divisions and regiments. Issued by Son Sen in his capacity as Secretary of the General Staff]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797-98 [“Regarding the members of the standing committee of the General Staff, there were three first important people: Son Sen, known as brother 89, the secretary [...] General Staff membership lasted for one full regime”]; D114/158 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A24 [“The Centre army was arranged after 1975. I am talking about the General Staff Committee. The secretary of the General Staff Committee was Son Sen”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A23 [“Son Sen was the commander of the General Staff; he was in overall charge of the military including the infantry”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A60 [“Q: Who was Meas Muth’s leader? A60: I only know that above Meas Muth there was the General Staff chaired by Son Sen”].

157 D114/158 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A24 [“The Centre army was arranged after 1975. I am talking about the General Staff Committee. The secretary of the General Staff Committee was Son Sen. After him, it was Men San alias Ya, the deputy of Son Sen. Then there was Seath Chhe alias Tum, a member”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797 [“Regarding the members of the standing committee of the General Staff, there were three first important people: Son Sen, known as brother 89, the secretary, Men San alias Ya, deputy secretary and also a full-right member of the central committee, and Seat Chhe alias Tum known as brother 81, the member, and also a reserve member of the Central Committee”].

158 D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A9-10 [“Yes. This was not only for Division 164 but for any division belong to the central level. Commanders of those divisions were members of the general staff head quarter. When a division became a division of the central level, the commander of such division would become a member of the general staff committee. Q: Do you know from when to when did Meas Mut become a member of the general staff committee? A10: As from what I know, Bong Mut became a member of the general staff from the time of Phnom Penh liberation in April 1975. He continued to serve in this position until the fall of Khmer Rouge regime”]; D114/158 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A24 [“The Centre army was arranged after 1975. I am talking about the General Staff Committee. The secretary of the General Staff Committee was Son Sen. After him, it was Men San alias Ya, the deputy of Son Sen. Then there was Seath Chhe alias Tum, a member. These people were permanent staff of the General Staff section. The members of the General Staff Committee were Brother Muth, in charge of the Navy, at seas; Comrade Meth, in charge of air force; and other General Staff Committee members who were just assistants to the General Staff”]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A23 [“And the reserve members of the General Staff were Meas Muth, Sou Meth, and a number of committee assistants”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797 [“Regarding the members of the standing committee of the General Staff, there were three first important people: Son Sen, known as brother 89, the secretary, Men San alias Ya, deputy secretary and also a full-right member of the central committee, and Seat Chhe alias Tum known as brother 81, the member, and also a reserve member of the Central Committee. After these people, there were other members including Meas Mut, responsible for navy, Sou Met, responsible for air force [...] Meas Mut and Sou Met were the member of the General Staff responsible for navy and air force”], 00680797-98 [“There were also other assistants all of whom were the secretaries of the divisions including Sun Ty, responsible for logistics, Pech Chhan alias Saom, responsible for administration, Nat responsible for the transfer of people to S-21. Several other people were also appointed assistants such as Chan Chak Krey and Chey Han alias Chhan but these people were kept for observation only”]; D114/160 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A8 [“First of all, I would like to talk about Meas Muth and Sou Meth. They became the reserved members of the General Staff, but they were not stationed [in Phnom Penh near Borei Keila”]; D1.3.27.5 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 19-21 Apr 1976, EN 00183419 [“3. Organizing the General Staff and the Air Force: [...] Comrade San and Comrade Nath will only be General Staff cadres, moving around to assist in the General Staff in combat operations, and will not be in personal command of forces”].

159 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A23-24 [“Seath Chhe was arrested and sent to S-21. Before Seath Chhe’s story, there was Men San alias Ya who was removed from being a deputy secretary by Pol Pot and sent to the Northeast Zone to work as a secretary. [...] Q: Now let’s discuss this point slowly. The event that you described earlier happened in 1977. Seath Chhe was arrested in July 1977 and Son Sen left for the battlefield on 17 August 1977. Is that correct? A24: First, I do not remember the arrest of Seath Chhe. Regarding the date when Son Sen left for the battlefield, it was on the 15th not the 17th, maybe in August”].

160 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A23 [“Actually, the [term] permanent General Staff disappeared after Seath Chhe was arrested and sent to S-21. Before Seath Chhe’s story, there was Men San alias Ya who was removed from being a deputy secretary by Pol Pot and sent to the Northeast Zone to work as a secretary. So, the General Staff did not have any permanent [members]. Only Son Sen was the secretary of the General Staff committee”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22-23, 27 [“As I knew it, Meas Mut was Deputy of the Military General Staff, meaning that he was the deputy of Son Sen. When the Vietnamese struck us along the border, Meas Mut always went to check the situation at the front line. Q: You were the Deputy Office Chairman of Division 117 in charge of logistics. How did you know that Meas Mut was Deputy of the General Staff? A23: First, I would like to tell you about the military structure of Democratic Kampuchea. In the military, there were the army, navy, and air force. These three military forces were under the command of the General Staff. Son Sen was the commander of the General Staff; he was in overall charge of the military including the infantry. Meas Mut was the deputy of Son Sen, in charge of the navy. Sou Met was a member, in charge of the air force. All radio and telegraph communication had to go through the General Staff [...] Q: When did the naval regiment of Pheap arrive in Kratie Province? A27: It was probably at the end of November, 1978”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A93, 95-96 [“At that time [late 1978], a new cadre came to replace him. Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth and he was a former manager of the battleship unit. When Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth, he controlled all military units in Kampong Som [...] Q: Did you know who ordered Tim Seng to replace Meas Muth? A95: As I understood, that was an order from the upper echelon [...] A96: Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A5 [“When I arrived in Kratie, Muth, Meas Muth, announced my appointment. Muth was there on behalf of Pol Pot and Nuon Chea. Muth announced the assignment, and after that the Yuon came, and we fled to the Dangrek Mountain Range”], A25 [“Q: What was the role of Meas Muth then? A25: At that time, he held both the Navy and a position called Deputy Minister of Defense acting for Son Sen. Met was the Chairman, and Muth was Deputy and came to organize the Kratie Sector”]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 [“I noticed his [Meas Muth’s] work reflected the duties of a member of the General Staff Committee because he had the authority to advise other military units such as my Division 1 on maritime operations. Meas Mut reported directly to the General Staff, to Son Sen”], A26 [“During that time in 1978 we were instructed to reduce confrontation on the western border because the conflict on the eastern border was escalating. The General Staff held meetings and gave instructions through Ta Mut and Ta Soeung”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A126-27, 129-30 [“I know that in 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. I do not know where else he went. Q: How did you know that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh? A127: I knew about this because commanders at all levels disseminated the information about this to us [...] A129: [...] they said that Meas Muth had moved to Phnom Penh. They also said that Meas Muth had become the Deputy Chief of the Army in Phnom Penh. This is what we were told. I am telling you what I know. Q: You mean that your commanders told you that Meas Muth had moved to Phnom Penh, and that he became the Deputy Chief of Army. Is that correct? A130: Yes, it is”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 [“Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces [...] A10: At that time regularly they organized a big assembly for the soldiers every trimester, and in that assembly they introduced to us that Meas Muth was Son Sen’s deputy”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974226 [“Q: So Ta Mut was deputy commander in chief [of the General Staff]? A: Yes, he was the deputy commander in chief. Q: Since 1975? A: No. He was promoted later in 1978. From 1975 to 1977, he was in charge of the marines forces-the Unit 164. Q: Was he promoted in 1978? A: At the end of 1978]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115988 [“Q: Did Ta Muth control Kampong Som until 1979? A: Yes, he did. He was removed at the end of 1978. Later on he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974120-21 [“Q: Was he [Meas Muth] transferred [to Phnom Penh] as the general commander or what? A: He was on the military committee. Q: So, was Son Sen still in the same position? A: Yes, Son Sen was still in the same position. In fact, Son Sen was the chief. [...] At that time, the deputy chief was Meas Mut. That's it. Q: And, who else? A: The [committee] member was Sou Samet as Son Sen was in the army. [...] And the navy [committee member] was Meas Mut. [...] And [for] the air force, [it] was Sou Samet [...] Because there were three types of military-army, navy and air force"; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992989 ["Q: After the liberation in 1975, where was Ta Mut enlisted into? A: He was a part of general staff. The division was under supervision of the KR's central committee, [and] not in the zone anymore. [...] [Meas Muth] was in charge of the navy force. He worked with Ta Khieu [Son Sen]. He was a deputy chief of general staff in charge of all fighting directions"]].

161 D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.55.39-14.00.52 ["Son Sen, the minister of national defence, was transferred to somewhere else. Two of them [Sou Met and Meas Muth] were put in charge of the affairs of the Ministry of National Defence and Muth came to arrange our position and I listened to him while he was reporting to Sou Met. I was sitting nearby him while he was reporting; that's why I knew about his. Q: Let me ask you about -- do you know whether Meas Muth held a position under Son Sen as one of the deputy ministers of defence under Son Sen? [...] A: I did not know whether he was the commander or deputy commander"; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A31 ["Because in late 1978, Son Sen was sent to Suong without being assigned any clear tasks. At that time, all of the requests to the General Staff were answered by Ta Met and Ta Mut. I knew this from the telegrams"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 ["Based on this command structure, we could know that the General Staff also had a similar command structure. There, Son Sen was the chairman of the General Staff and Meas Muth, who was the commander of the Navy Forces, was one of his deputies, and Sou Met, who was the commander of the Air Forces, was another deputy of the General Staff"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974120-21 ["Q: Was he [Meas Muth] transferred [to Phnom Penh] as the general commander or what? A: He was on the military committee. Q: So, was Son Sen still in the same position? A: Yes, Son Sen was still in the same position. In fact, Son Sen was the chief. [...] At that time, the deputy chief was Meas Mut. That's it. Q: And, who else? A: The [committee] member was Sou Samet as Son Sen was in the army. [...] And the navy [committee member] was Meas Mut. [...] And [for] the air force, [it] was Sou Samet [...] Because there were three types of military-army, navy and air force"]].

162 D4.1.1020 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976; D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976; D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976; D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976 [describes internal enemy situation in Division 164. Son Sen orders the arrest and interrogation of Vung Sruol, who had previously tried to desert]; D1.3.4.1 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976 [with handwritten note from Khiev (Son Sen)]; D1.3.2.2 Telegram 10 from 89 (Son Sen) to Mut (Meas Muth), 4 Nov 1976; D1.3.4.2 DK Report from Khieu (Son Sen) to Dim, 26 Nov 1976 [letter from Son Sen to Comrade Dim, Deputy Secretary of Division 164. The letter first notes that enemy planes have been sighted flying over the off shore islands. It further notes that they want to enter through Koh Kong and warns that "[You] will be informed clearly when Comrade Mut comes back"]; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977 [with handwritten note from Khieu (Son Sen)]; D1.3.19.2 DK Report from Khieu (Son Sen) to Division and Regiment Committees, 3 Sep 1977 [describes instructions from the General Staff to military divisions and regiments. Issued by Son Sen in his capacity as Chairman of the General Staff]; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978; D4.1.637 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978; D1.3.12.2 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown). See also D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A12-13 ["Q: Why did Meas Mut report such events to Brother 89? A12: Meas Mut was responsible for protecting the sea territory and Cambodian territorial waters and Brother 89 was at the General Staff. Q: Who was this Brother 89 on the General Staff? A13: I am not sure, but he could have been Son Sen. According to my knowledge about the command structures, Meas Mut was in the Centre echelon, so he had to report to his upper echelon-Son Sen, who was the General Staff"]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 ["Meas Mut reported directly to the General Staff, to Son Sen"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A75 ["I heard from the commander of my regiment that Son Sen ordered Meas Mut to lead troops to suppress the rebels in the East Zone led by Sao Phim"]].

163 D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A30-31 ["Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh. Q: How did you know it? A31: I knew it because my chief, Krin also joined such meetings"]].

- 164 D22.2.180 Phnom Penh Post, Interview with Meas Muth, 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 [“Q: According to the report, you attended many general staff meetings with [former Khmer Rouge Defense Minister] Son Sen, at which he revealed the policy towards the enemies of the regime. A: When I came to those meetings, it was only to discuss rice production. [...] As I told you, in the meetings I attended with Son Sen, we discussed whether there was enough rice or not. I was just the head of a division, and I did not attend the secret meetings where the leaders investigated the cases of the enemy”].
- 165 See section III.3. Meas Muth’s Contributions to Crimes - Participation in Persecution and Execution of Enemies.
- 166 D1.3.8.2, D4.1.632 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233958; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195340-41; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183990; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656384; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933835.
- 167 D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3 [“Meas Mut was not always in Kampong Som. He had to travel back and forth between Phnom Penh and Kampong Som. In Phnom Penh, he met with Son Sen at the General Staff”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A126-27 [“I know that in 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. I do not know where else he went. Q: How did you know that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh? A127: I knew about this because commanders at all levels disseminated the information about this to us”]; D54/37 Soem Ny WRI A30-31 [“Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh. Q: How did you know it? A31: I knew it because my chief, Krin, also joined such meetings”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974225-26 [“Q: Did he stay in Kampong Som permanently? A: Ta Mut did not stay here in 1978. He went to Phnom Penh”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098 [“Q: Who else was in charge of the regiment [140]? A: Tim Seng, but he has died as well. Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh”], EN 00974119 [“So, when was Ta Mut transferred to Phnom Penh? A: Probably in 1977. Q: So, was he in Phnom Penh for a long time too? A: Yes, he was. Q: For how long was he there before the liberation? A: He had been there for more than a year. After he escaped from Phnom Penh in 1979, he ordered the withdrawal of troops from Kampong Som”].
- 168 D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A93 [“At that time [late 1978], a new cadre came to replace him. Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth and he was a former manager of the battleship unit. When Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth, he controlled all military units in Kampong Som”], A95-96 [“Q: Did you know who ordered Tim Seng to replace Meas Muth? A95: As I understood, that was an order from the upper echelon. [...] A96: Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22-23, 27 [“As I knew it, Meas Mut was Deputy of the Military General Staff, meaning that he was the deputy of Son Sen [...] A23: [...] Meas Mut was the deputy of Son Sen, in charge of the navy. Sou Met was a member, in charge of the air force. All radio and telegraph communication had to go through the General Staff [...] Q: When did the naval regiment of Pheap arrive in Kratie Province? A27: It was probably at the end of November, 1978”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A25 [“Q: What was the role of Meas Muth then? A25: At that time, he held both the Navy and a position called Deputy Minister of Defense acting for Son Sen. Met was the Chairman, and Muth was Deputy and came to organize the Kratie Sector”]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A26 [“During that time in 1978 we were instructed to reduce confrontation on the western border because the conflict on the eastern border was escalating. The General Staff held meetings and gave instructions through Ta Mut and Ta Soeung”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A126-27, 129 [“I know that in 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. I do not know where else he went. Q: How did you know that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh? A127: I knew about this because commanders at all levels disseminated the information about this to us [...] A129: [...] they said that Meas Muth had moved to Phnom Penh. They also said that Meas Muth had become the Deputy Chief of the Army in Phnom Penh”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 [“Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces [...] A10: At that time regularly they organized a big assembly for the soldiers every trimester, and in that assembly they introduced to us that Meas Muth was Son Sen’s deputy”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974226 [“Q: So Ta Mut was deputy commander in chief [of the General Staff]? A: Yes, he was the deputy commander in chief. Q: Since 1975? A: No. He was promoted later in 1978. From 1975 to 1977, he was in charge of the marines forces-the Unit 164. Q: Was he promoted in 1978? A: At the end of 1978]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115988 [“Q: Did Ta Muth control Kampong Som until 1979? A: Yes, he did. He was removed at the end of 1978. Later on he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974120 [“Q: Was he [Meas Muth] transferred [to Phnom Penh] as the general commander or what? A: He was on the military committee. Q: So, was Son Sen still in the same position? A: Yes, Son Sen was still in the same position. In fact, Son Sen was the chief. [...] At that time, the deputy chief was Meas Mut. That’s it. Q: And, who else? A: The [committee] member was Sou Samet as Son Sen was in the army. [...] And the navy [committee member] was Meas Mut. [...] And [for] the air force, [it] was Sou Samet [...] Because there were three types of military-army, navy and air force”]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992989 [“Q: After the liberation in 1975, where was Ta Mut enlisted into? A: He was a part of general staff. The division was under supervision of the KR’s central committee, [and] not in the zone anymore. [...] [Meas Muth] was in charge of the navy force. He worked with Ta Khieu [Son Sen]. He was a deputy chief of general staff in charge of all fighting directions”].

169 Meas Muth has himself confirmed that he maintained control over Division 164 after he left Kampong Som. However, inconsistent with all other evidence on the Case File, he stated that this occurred in February 1978: D54/16/1R Audio Recording of Interview with Meas Muth by David Kattenburg, Apr 2009, 34:37-35:28 [“I was not at Kampong Som. In February 1978 I had left Kampong Som already. Q: Where did he go? A: I was assigned to work in Kratie province near the Lao border. Q: So he left Division 164 entirely in February 1978? A: No, I still had my position but I was assigned for another mission in Kratie”]. See also D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A93, 95-96, 100 [“At that time [late 1978], a new cadre came to replace him [Meas Muth]. Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth and he was a former manager of the battleship unit. When Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth, he controlled all military units in Kampong Som [...] Q: Did you know who ordered Tim Seng to replace Meas Muth? A95: As I understood, that was an order from the upper echelon. [...] A96: Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng; then Tim Seng controlled the work and passed on those orders [...] Q: Just now, you said that Meas Muth was on the General Staff. How do you know that? A100: After the Vietnamese soldiers attacked in strength, I saw Ta Meas Muth come back about 10 days before the Vietnamese soldiers dropped bombs on Kampong Som in late 1978. I concluded he was probably going to the General Staff Headquarters”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A126-127, 129 [“I know that in 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. I do not know where else he went. Q: How did you know that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh? A127: I knew about this because commanders at all levels disseminated the information about this to us [...] A129: Usually, commanders of all levels attended the study sessions at the division once a month. When they came back, they said that Meas Muth had moved to Phnom Penh. They also said that Meas Muth had become the Deputy Chief of the Army in Phnom Penh”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A171-172 [“Q: You stated at the beginning that Meas Mut went to Memot District at the end of 1978 on orders from Son Sen. Did Meas Mut still have the authority to govern the province of Kampong Som when he went to Memot District? A171: With regard to his work, he still had influence and authority -- he was not yet separated from Kampong Som. Q: How did you know this? A172: I knew that via communication radio”]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115988 [“Q: Did Ta Muth control Kampong Som until 1979? A: Yes, he did. He was removed at the end of 1978. Later on he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff. In 1979, he returned to his original unit. Q: He was in Phnom Penh when he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff. Did he still have power to give orders? A: No, he didn’t. Another Deputy Commander of the Division took over from him. Q: Who was that person? A: He was H.E. Tim Seng. Q: Was his name Tim Seng? A: Yes, it was. Q: From whom did he receive orders? A: He received military assignments from Ta Muth. Q: But as for other work, did he still report directly to Ta Muth? A: Yes, he did. The person who received orders directly from the higher levels would have to make the reports”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098 [“Q: Who else was in charge of the regiment [140]? A: Tim Seng, but he has died as well. Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh”], EN 00974119 [“So, when was Ta Mut transferred to Phnom Penh? A: Probably in 1977. Q: So, was he in Phnom Penh for a long time too? A: Yes, he was. Q: For how long was he there before the liberation? A: He had been there for more than a year. After he escaped from Phnom Penh in 1979, he ordered the withdrawal of troops from Kampong Som. Q: So, was he still in command even though he was in Phnom Penh? A: He was still influential. Q: So, was he still in charge of Division 164 or what? A: Yes, he was in charge of the navy”].

170 D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.55.39-14.00.52 [“Son Sen, the minister of national defence, was transferred to somewhere else. Two of them [Sou Met and Meas Muth] were put in charge of the affairs of the Ministry of National Defence and Muth came to arrange our position and I listened to him while he was reporting to Sou Met. I was sitting nearby him while he was reporting; that's why I knew about his. Q. Let me ask you about -- do you know whether Meas Muth held a position under Son Sen as one of the deputy ministers of defence under Son Sen? [...] A. I did not know whether he was the commander or deputy commander"; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A23 ["Son Sen was the commander of the General Staff [...] Meas Mut was the deputy of Son Sen, in charge of the navy. Sou Met was a member, in charge of the air force"]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A31 ["Because in late 1978, Son Sen was sent to Suong without being assigned any clear tasks. At that time, all of the requests to the General [S]taff were answered by Ta Met and Ta Mut. I knew this from the telegrams"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974120 ["Q: Was he [Meas Muth] transferred [to Phnom Penh] as the general commander or what? A: He was on the military committee. Q: So, was Son Sen still in the same position? A: Yes, Son Sen was still in the same position. In fact, Son Sen was the chief. [...] At that time, the deputy chief was Meas Mut. That's it. Q: And, who else? A: The [committee] member was Sou Samet as Son Sen was in the army. [...] And the navy [committee member] was Meas Mut. [...] And [for] the air force, [it] was Sou Samet [...] Because there were three types of military-army, navy and air force"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 ["Based on this command structure, we could know that the General Staff also had a similar command structure. There, Son Sen was the chairman of the General Staff and Meas Muth, who was the commander of the Navy Forces, was one of his deputies, and Sou Met, who was the commander of the Air Forces, was another deputy of the General Staff"].

171 D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3 ["Seng told me Meas Mut was an assistant to the General Staff. Seng knew about this because, when Meas Mut was absent from Kampong Som, he was in charge"], A10 ["Q: Could you please explain what is meant by assistant to headquarters? A10: According to my understanding, the role of an assistant to headquarters was to help provide support in mobilizing forces, help formulate combat strategies, help provide logistics support, food supplies and the provision of ammunition. These were all the main tasks for the military"].

172 D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22, 25 ["Meas Mut was Deputy of the Military General Staff, meaning that he was the deputy of Son Sen. When the Vietnamese struck us along the border, Meas Mut always went to check the situation at the front line [...] A25: From what I knew, in the name of Deputy of the General Staff, he had to go to examine the situation locations where disputes occurred along the border"]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A26 ["During that time in 1978 we were instructed to reduce confrontation on the western border because the conflict on the eastern border was escalating. The General Staff held meetings and gave instructions through Ta Mut and Ta Soeung"]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A19 ["Q: Since when was Meas Mut involved in responsibility for the eastern border? A19: As far as I know, Meas Mut began to be involved in responsibility for the eastern border in 1978 when the Vietnamese soldiers were striking strongly"]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992989-90 ["Q: What direction was Ta Mut in charge of? A: He was in charge of Kampong Som. It was not until 1978 that he went to Kratie after Von Vet was arrested. Q: He was in charge of Kratie direction? A: Yes! He was in charge of the border"].

173 D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.41.46-09.46.58 ["Q: Yesterday, answering a question from Judge Lavergne, you indicated that the three people you sent reports to were either Meas Muth, either Sou Met or Son Sen. Did I understand your statement correctly? A. That is true, what I said. Q. Do I understand correctly if I interpret this as saying these are the only hierarchical superiors with which you had direct communication? A. The three uncles -- concerning the three uncles, I would make daily reports to the general staff, and one of them had the authority to receive my reports. And usually the reports reached those three individuals, and whether or not they responded to the reports depended on them. Usually I was required to make daily reports to them. I had to make the reports concerning how much ammunitions and supplies I needed. Again, since they were my superiors, one of them had the authority to receive my reports. If one was absent, the others who were there in the office would receive my reports"]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A11-13 ["Q: In the transcription of your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia in English on page 21, you said that Meas Mut ordered four aircraft to bomb the Vietnamese soldiers. Why was the order issued by Meas Mut and not by sou Met? A11: Because Meas Mut worked on the General Staff, so he had authority to order three branches of the military forces. Q: Sou Met also worked in the General Staff, and he also had such authority. Why did Meas Mut have to get involved in the events of October 1978 in Kratie Province and order the aircraft to bomb the Vietnamese soldiers? A12: Because our division sent a telegram to Division 502 to ask for help, but they ignored our request. So we requested help from Meas Mut, and he told Rum to wait a bit -- that afternoon he sent the aircraft to help us. Q: How do you know the sequence of these events?

A13: As a messenger, I worked in the office with the telegraph operator and the commander, so I knew what happened in that office”].

174 D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A5, 23 [“When I arrived in Kratie, Muth, Meas Muth, announced my appointment. Muth was there on behalf of Pol Pot and Nuon Chea. Muth announced the assignment, and after that the Yuon came, and we fled to the Dangrek Mountain Range [...] Q: Did you think that the role you were assigned was an important and high-level role in Kratie province? A23: I did not know whether it was low or high. Muth was acting in the name of the government, what was then called the government. Pol Pot, the leader, did not come in person. They had Muth came to organize both the military and civilian side in Kratie Sector. The Sector Military and the divisions were in the hands of Muth”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A70-71, 73-75 [“Q: Do you know who the direct commander of Meas Mut was? A70: Son Sen. Q: Do you know the role and function of Son Sen? A71: Son Sen was in charge of national defence [...] A73: To my knowledge, at the end of 1978, Meas Mut went to Memot District, Kampong Cham Province, to act for Son Sen. [...] A74: I knew it through Saroeun, the regiment chairman. He told me that Meas Mut went to Memot District on Son Sen’s command. [...] A75: [...] I heard from the commander of my regiment that Son Sen ordered Meas Mut to lead troops to suppress the rebels in the East Zone led by Sao Phim”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753837-38 [“At the time, Meas Muth came [to Kratie] to manage works on behalf of Pol Pot. [...] Bang Muth came to organize the army and assigned me to do this and that. [...] [He] came to assign me when I arrived on 5 December 1978”].

175 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A70-71, 73-77, 84 [“Q: Do you know who the direct commander of Meas Mut was? A70: Son Sen. Q: Do you know the role and function of Son Sen? A71: Son Sen was in charge of national defence [...] A73: To my knowledge, at the end of 1978, Meas Mut went to Memot District, Kampong Cham Province, to act for Son Sen. [...] A74: I knew it through Saroeun, the regiment chairman. He told me that Meas Mut went to Memot District on Son Sen’s command. [...] A75: I heard from the commander of my regiment that Son Sen ordered Meas Mut to lead troops to suppress the rebels in the East Zone led by Sao Phim. As you know from the above, the first enemy of Democratic Kampuchea was Vietnam, and the second enemy was the internal enemy. I heard about the suppression from Son Sen when I attended education sessions organised by the General Staff in Phnom Penh. Son Sen confirmed that Sao Phim had already been put down. Q: Did Son Sen tell you what Meas Mut would be doing in Memot District? A76: At the end of 1978, Meas Mut went to Memot District to serve as the commander at a time when events were taking place in the East Zone. Q: Where was Son Sen at the time? A77: He was in Phnom Penh. [...] Q: Did you know the soldiers whom Meas Mut led to Memot District? A84: No, I did not know. I just knew that Meas Mut went there with some soldiers from Kampong Som and some from the General Staff, but I do not know the unit numbers and their commanders”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974225-26 [“Q: Did he stay in Kampong Som permanently? A: Ta Mut did not stay here in 1978. He went to Phnom Penh. Q: When he went to Phnom Penh, who was in charge there? A: Bang Seng and Bang Saroeun. They controlled the vessels and the islands. [...] Q: When did Ta Mut go to Phnom Penh? A: He had gone to Phnom Penh around two or three months apart as the situation was in chaos abruptly. Q: Did they go to Phnom Penh only two or three months before the fall of the regime? A: Yes, only two or three months. He also went to Memot. Q: Did Ta Mut go to Memot as well? A: He replaced Son Sen”].

176 See section VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505. See also D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.46.29-13.50.40 [“Four of us were sent by Phon (phonetic) to Kratie and Muth was promoted to the deputy secretary of the sector and Pheap (phonetic) was promoted to the secretary of the sector. Pheap (phonetic) came from the navy with Muth. And I was promoted to be in charge of the sector office. And Meas Muth was the one who presided over the announcements of the promotion in Kratie and that took place after the sector committee had been -- the previous sector and district committees had been removed and Meas Muth presided over the promotion ceremony on behalf of Pol Pot; D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 09.35.51-09.39.48 [“Q: Thank you. And after these men were sent to Phnom Penh from Kratie, whether they were on the same or different planes, after that happened, did you ever have a meeting with Meas Muth? A: I told the interviewer in the previous interviews I only had a meeting with him once [...] Q: How long did Meas Muth speak for at that meeting? How long did he speak? A: He was there not more than one hour. I can say he was there for perhaps one hour. He convened the meeting among everyone from the office. The meeting was to declare that leaders of -- commanders of divisions had to be replaced with the new ones. Drivers, messengers and other staff, people from the hospital, were called to the meeting and we were told that all our leaders were traitors and there were new replacements; for example, Nhan would replace the old divisional commander. And after we were informed of the issue, we were assigned to move to the location, the designated location, for example, to Stung Treng or to any other direction. The meeting, as I said, lasted for one hour at the most, because we were in a hurry to move on to our specific or respective locations”]; D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.52.20-09.54.38 [“I want to say that Thy and Kung were the personal messengers of Muth. Muth was at Kou Loab in Sambour in the north, and I was at Kratie. And at the time, Thy and Kung were coming from 502, the airfield. So I thought that the message was sent through 502, and Thy and Kung were sending the message to us. The message of M-870, the one that concerned message, included Rom, the name -- the name Rom, and other individuals, to go to a specific location”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A24, 29-30, 32-33, 38-39 [describing the composition of the group of arrested cadres sent to Phnom Penh by plane for a meeting, the fact that the letter to invite them to Phnom Penh was delivered by Meas Muth’s messengers and that they were ultimately executed at S-21]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A8-9 [“Meas Muth was sent to Kratie because at that time the arrests of cadres surged [...] A9: He went there in late 1978”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A5, 23, 30 [“When I arrived in Kratie, Muth, Meas Muth, announced my appointment. Muth was there on behalf of Pol Pot and Nuon Chea. Muth announced the assignment, and after that the Yuon came, and we fled to the Dangrek Mountain Range [...] A23: [...] They had Muth came to organize both the military and civilian side in Kratie Sector. The Sector Military and the divisions were in the hands of Muth [...] Q: How did you learn that the nephew and the cousin were arrested? A30: Oeung told me when I arrived. Two or three days later, Muth told me that he had killed Oeung. Muth was the one who sent those arrestees to Phnom Penh by plane. [...] I want to add for your understanding that Muth sent them by plane. Muth organized that”]; D114/170 Prum Mon WRI, A20, 35-36 [“Q: was he [your husband] the Commander of Division 117? A20: Yes, he was. [...] A35: [...] He [Soung, husband’s messenger] told me that my husband was taken to attend a study session. [...] A few days later, I was told that my husband was arrested. He was not brought to a study session. [...] A36: [...] Lim [Commander of Regiment] told me that Ta Muth ordered to arrest my husband”]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992990 [“It was not until 1978 that he [Meas Muth] went to Kratie after Von Vet was arrested”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753837-38 [“At the time, Meas Muth came [to Kratie] to manage works on behalf of Pol Pot. [...] Bang Muth came to organize the army and assigned me to do this and that. [...] [He] came to assign me when I arrived on 5 December 1978”].

177

D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.41.46-09.46.58 [“[Meas Muth, Sou Met and Son Sen] -- concerning the three uncles, I would make daily reports to the general staff, and one of them had the authority to receive my reports. And usually the reports reached those three individuals, and whether or not they responded to the reports depended on them. Usually I was required to make daily reports to them. I had to make the reports concerning how much ammunitions and supplies I needed. Again, since they were my superiors, one of them had the authority to receive my reports. If one was absent, the others who were there in the office would receive my reports”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A11-19 [“Meas Mut worked on the General Staff, so he had authority to order three branches of the military forces [...] A12: [...] our division sent a telegram to Division 502 to ask for help, but they ignored our request. So we requested help from Meas Mut, and he told Rum to wait a bit -- that afternoon he sent the aircraft to help us. Q: How do you know the sequence of these events? A13: As a messenger, I worked in the office with the telegraph operator and the commander, so I knew what happened in that office. Q: When you said that Meas Mut ordered Rum to wait, did he communicate via telegram or radio? A14: He replied back via telegram. Q: Were the reports sent from Division 117 to Meas Mut on a daily basis, or were they sent only when something happened? A15: Before the fighting, the reports were routinely sent on a daily basis, but after the fighting started, reports were sent every time anything happened. Division 117 was directly under the command of the General Military Staff, not the Zone. Q: Were the reports sent to Meas Mut, the General Military Staff, or both? A16: The reports were sent to the General Staff, not to any specific person, but we knew that a person who got the telegrams worked for someone. For example Thi and Kung were Meas Mut’s messengers. Q: How did you know that Meas Mut was the one who told Rum in the telegram to wait for the aircraft? A17: I did not know the number of the telegram, but I saw the telegram. Q: Do you remember Meas Mut’s code number in the telegram? A18: No, I do not. I just know that he was called 164. Q: Since when was Meas Mut involved in responsibility for the eastern border? A19: As far as I know, Meas Mut began to be involved in responsibility for the eastern border in 1978 when the Vietnamese soldiers were striking strongly”]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992998 [“Ta Mut ordered the air force to bombard [the place]. 4 planes were sent for bombardment, but only one plane came back to Phnom Penh”].

178

D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401488, KH 00063323-24, FR 00538963 [“On 22 July 1975 on the occasion of the ceremony of the Communist Party of Kampuchea Center to establish the Revolutionary

Army, the comrade chairman of the High-Level Military Committee of the Party convened an important political conference of the Communist Party of Kampuchea Center for approximately 3,000 representatives of every unit of the Revolutionary Army. The complete content of this important conference was as follows: [...] 4. The new missions of our Revolutionary Army”]; D98/3.1.20 Chhaom Se, T. 11 Jan 2013, 11.38.49, 11.50.33-11.52.30 [the Olympic Stadium assembly held related to the “establishment of the army” and the entire CPK leadership was present], 14.01.48-14.06.23, 14.11.50 [confirming that the 22 July 1975 RAK conference described in the August 1975 Revolutionary Flag corresponded to the assembly he attended although he first thought it was in September 1975]; D4.1.801 Chhaom Se WRI, A3 [“Division 801 was created in Phnom Penh during the General Assembly at the Olympic Stadium during approximately September. The Special Military Zone had three divisions: Division 703, Division 605, and Division 801”]; D4.1.805 Chhaom Se WRI, A3-4 [“Q: In the interview on 31st October 2009, you said that the Division 801 was created during the Great Assembly of the Party in September 1975. [...] A3: The Great Assembly was held in September 1975. The commanders of the division level down to the company level from all divisions attended it. As a company deputy commander in Division 801, I also attended [...] The purpose of that Great Assembly was to talk about the history of the armed forces and their new work, and to announce the leadership composition of the Party Centre to the cadres [...] At that time they announced the creation of the Special Zone and the merging of the Brigade 801, Brigade 703 and Brigade 605. The vanguards (the Centre armed forces) composed of 12 divisions which mobilized from place to place throughout the country [...] After the Great Assembly, they decided to send Brigade 801 to Rattanakiri [...] A4: Son Sen, the Minister of Defense, was the person who organized the Great Assembly. He made a long speech to [the Assembly]; and the last person addressed [the Assembly] was Pol Pot”]; D4.1.454 Koy Mon WRI (Division 170), EN 00272715, KH 00195436 [“In mid 1975, Pol Pot called military commanders/chiefs from all units, including from the central army and zone army units to attend the conference at Olympic Stadium. The conference [...] also proposed plans for the central and zone armies to promote production and do rice farming”]; D4.1.827 Him Horn WRI, EN 00425235-36, KH 00422488 [describing a late 1975 meeting at Olympic Stadium about “the transfer of the army to the Party Center” at which Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, and Khieu Samphan were present and during which he heard Nuon Chea talking about the transfer of the army to the Party Center under the supervision of Pol Pot”]; D4.1.794 Ung Ren WRI, EN 00408399, KH 00398517 [“During the announcement of [the appointment of] Brigade 801, all senior leaders participated; they were Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, Son Sen, who announced the appointment at the Olympic Stadium about 15 days after the liberation of Phnom Penh”]; Ung Ren clarified the time period at the hearing: D98/3.1.20 Ung Ren, T. 11 Jan 2013, 09.09.08-09.12.30 [claiming that the meeting at Olympic Stadium took place quite some time after leaving the hospital in May 1975]; D1.3.17.4 Huy Vannak, The Khmer Rouge Division 703, EN 00081292 [describes that on 22 July 1975 the 12th Division became the 703rd Division]; D1.3.17.1 Elizabeth Becker, When the War Was Over, EN 00237731.

179

D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A6, 103 [“At that time, from 1974 to April 1975, Division 3 no longer existed. Its name was changed to Division 164 [...] A103: Historically, the old Division 3 did not have Regiment 140. The rest were the same. I would like to confirm again about the earlier question. Division 3 was in place from 1974 to 1975. In July, it changed its name to Division 164”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A18-19 [“In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established [...] A19: Moeun Mon [...] the commander of a company, and Heng Hok was the commander of another company of Battalion 480. They told me that Division 3 had been changed to Division 164, and that a new naval brigade, Brigade 140, had also been established”]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A43 [“I did not remember clearly when they changed the names of those units, but when we arrived in Kampong Som, they told us that the Division 3 was changed to the Division 164, and Regiment 20 was changed to Regiment 161, Regiment 21 was changed to 162, and Regiment 22 was changed to 163”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 [“At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164”]; D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 [“When I asked them about the Division 164, they said that division was under Ta Mut. I thought at the time that Division 164 might have originated from Division 3 as both were under Meas Mut’s command”]; D54/35.1 Prak Sokha DC-Cam Statement, EN 00971209 [“Q: Was there a division unit formed when you arrived in Kampong Som? A: In Kampong Som, there was Division 164. During the attack into Phnom Penh, there was also a division unit, but it was Division 3 at that time. Q: Yes. A: After we had arrived in Kampong Som, the Division 3 changed to Division 164”].

- 180 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 ["The Division 3 was under the Southwest Zone. But after this Division 3 had changed its name to become Division 164, it was under the General Staff of the National Armed Forces"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 ["After 1975, Division 3 was changed to Division 164, a marine force. At that time, Division 164 was no longer a division of the Southwest Zone"]; D4.1.859 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00403890 ["Meas Mut's unit was under the supervision of Son Sen, as Chief of general staff"]; D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A6 ["As far as we knew, the Division 164 was a Centre division and had authority over the other divisions"]; D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A4, 6, 12-13 ["Ta Mut was in charge of the navy at the echelon of the Center [...] A6: Meas Mut was in the Centre echelon, and he had ships and other means to protect Cambodian territory. [...] Q: Why did Meas Mut report such events to Brother 89? A12: Meas Mut was responsible for protecting the sea territory and Cambodian territorial waters and Brother 89 was at the General Staff. [...] A13: [...] Meas Mut was in the Centre echelon, so he had to report to his upper echelon-Son Sen, who was the General Staff"]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 ["Meas Mut was commander of Division 164, which was directly under the General Staff and the Centre. Division 164's status was different from that of my Division 1. As for me, I was only a member of the Division 1 committee, and my division was under the West Zone. My division Zone echelon and was lower than that of Meas Mut's Division, which was at Centre echelon"]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Reth) WRI, A30 ["The Division was also under the Centre. But I'm sure about the Section. Division 164 was supervised by the Military General Commander. For military, they went to the Military General Commander, and for administration or province, they went to their administration. As I knew, General Commander was Son Sen, and he worked only for the military"]; D54/24 Pak Sok WRI, A16 ["The list was a report on the units under the command of Division 164, which Ta Mut organised into the army of the Centre"]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A31-32 ["Meas Muth also commanded Division 164, which was regarded as a Centre Division. Q: What did 'Centre Division' mean? A32: The division was under the control of the Central Committee"]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992989 ["Q: After the liberation in 1975, where was Ta Mut enlisted into? A: He was a part of general staff. The division was under supervision of the KR's central committee, [and] not in the zone anymore"].
- 181 D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A20 ["At that time, Dim and his 700 soldiers arrived from the East Zone. These soldiers from the East Zone were combined with those of Division 3 to create Division 164"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A158 ["Later, they selected an additional 700 forces from the East Zone to attend the other training. The General Staff arranged it and sent the forces there. The two forces were combined together. There were 700 forces from the East Zone"]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A8 ["Not all Regiment 52 personnel were sent to Kampong Som. As I knew it, personnel selected were from different battalions to be sent all to Kampong Som, except for the special companies and special battalion. In total, about 700 soldiers were sent to Kampong Som"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A51-52 ["When it was still in Regiment 61, there were no new soldiers; but when Regiment 140 was created, soldiers from the East came to join the navy [...] A52: When we were at Regiment 140, they sent about 500 to 600 soldiers from the East Zone to join the navy"]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A19 ["Dim came to Kampong Som with about two battalions of soldiers. He arrived from the East Zone when Division 164 was founded. Phnom Penh collapsed after he had been in Kampong Som for a month"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A28 ["I think it was around the middle or end of 1975 when the East Zone people arrived at Stueng Hav"]; D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968417, KH 00926642 ["Q: I want to seek your clarification. Did Division 164, when changing its name to Division 3, include any other groups? A: Oh, they were taken from the East"]; D54/96 Teng Sarim alias Chim Chroeun WRI, A20-21 ["All the personnel in the entire Regiment 152 under the command of Dim were sent to Kampong Som, nearly 1,000 [...] A21: The members of Regiment 152 were not only from Sector 22; they came from the entire East Zone"]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A5 ["Yes, 1500 soldiers from the East Zone were sent to my unit [...] They came in two groups. There were 700 soldiers in the first group and 800 soldiers in the second group. I do not remember clearly in which year they came. However, it must have been between 1975 and 1977, as they arrived before I left Division 164 for Phnom Penh in 1977"].
- 182 D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 ["At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164"]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A18-19 ["In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established [...] A19: [...] Moeun Mon [...] the commander of a company, and Heng Hok was the commander of another company of Battalion 480. They told me that Division 3 had been changed to Division 164, and that a new naval brigade, Brigade 140, had also been established”]; D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 [“When I asked them about the Division 164, they said that division was under Ta Mut. I thought at the time that Division 164 might have originated from Division 3 as both were under Meas Mut’s command”]; D54/35.1 Prak Sokha DC-Cam Statement, EN 00971209 [“Q: Was there a division unit formed when you arrived in Kampong Som? A: In Kampong Som, there was Division 164. During the attack into Phnom Penh, there was also a division unit, but it was Division 3 at that time. Q: Yes. A: After we had arrived in Kampong Som, the Division 3 changed to Division 164”]; D4.1.759 Kong Chay US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387269, KH 00658142 [“Mr Chay clarified the organization of the 3rd Division prior to and following the fall of Phnom Penh. The 3rd Division transferred to the Cambodian Navy and renamed the 164th Division”].

183 D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A7 [“[Pol Pot] said about, the roles and responsibilities of the navy. They were to protect the territorial waters and the islands and to reconstruct the country”]; D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A12 [“Meas Mut was responsible for protecting the sea territory and Cambodian territorial waters”]; D1.3.33.7 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch Military Court Statement, EN 00184830 [“Meas Mut was the Commander of Naval forces”].

184 D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A38 [“Meas Muth was appointed commander of Division 3 in 1973 when this division was established”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A6-8 [“Q: At the time, did you know Meas Muth? A6: Yes, I did. Q: What was his position? A7: He was in Brigade 3. The brigade commanded three regiments. That was in 1973. Q: Did he command your regiment? A8: He commanded the whole brigade. In that brigade, he commanded the entire forces, throughout Takeo”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Division 3 was a division under the Southwest Zone which had been established by Ta Mok in 1973 [...] Ta Mok established Division 3 and appointed Meas Mut as its chief”].

185 D114/82 Keo San WRI, A5 [“The Navy was established in 1975. Division 3 had the jurisdiction over the Navy commanded by Meas Muth”]; D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A1 [“Meas Mut was announced as the navy commander [in 1975]”].

186 D1.3.12.1 DK Report from Teanh, 4 Jan 1976, EN 00233962 [listing Meas Muth as the commander of Division 164]; D1.3.30.2 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 [Meas Muth’s monthly report in respect to Division 164 addressed to Brother 89]; D1.3.30.25 Confidential Telephone Messages from Mut, 1 Apr 1978, EN 00183357; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A26 [“Q: As far as you know, is it correct that after 17 April 1975, Meas Muth have charge of Division 3/Division 164 for a whole year, that is for 1975? A26: He had charge there”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A44-45 [“Q: What was the name of the Division 164 Commander? A44: His name was Meas Mut. Q: As far as you know, from which period to which period did Meas Mut serve as Division 164 Commander? A45: Meas Mut served as Division 164 Commander from June 1975 to the end of 1978”]; D114/82 Keo San WRI, A5 [“The Navy was established in 1975. Division 3 had the jurisdiction over the Navy commanded by Meas Muth”]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A27-29 [“When I arrived in the East Zone, I was assigned to Unit 164. Q: At that time, did you know where Meas Mut was? A28: Meas Mut was in Kampong Som then. I saw only Ta Ren there. Q: How did you know that Meas Mut was in Kampong Som at that time? A29: I knew that because my commander was in contact with Meas Mut by telegraph. This was in December 1978”]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A7 [“Q: During which period of time, were Meas Mut’s house and the headquarters located near Phsar Leu Market? A7: Meas Mut’s house and his office were located there from 1975 until the end of 1978 when I was sent to the Vietnamese border”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 [“At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1 [“Meas Mut was chairman of Division 164 from 1975 to 1979”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A11 [“Q: For how long were you in the unit under the command of Meas Muth? A11: It was for a long time; until 1979. He commanded the naval forces at sea until 1979”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15, 18, 66 [“Q: Do you know which division and brigade Company 2 was in? A15: In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander. [...] Q: Who told you that Meas Muth was the Commander? A18: Bun Thoeun did [...] Q: How did you know Meas Muth? A66: He declared that he had been a Division 164 Commander since the formation of the unit. I saw him in the meeting when the three units were merged”].

187 D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A15 [“After April 1975 he [Meas Muth] went to Kampong Som”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Reth) WRI, A35-36 [“Q: Regarding dates, from the previous interview you told me that you stayed in Phnom Penh for one day after Phnom Penh fell. Then you travelled for four days to Kampong Som. Do you remember how many days later Ta Muth arrived Kampong Som? A35: I arrived over there before Ta Mok. They came to pick me up from Dos Kanhchor. Ta Mok drove a Jeep to pick us to Kampong Som. I did not know when Ta Muth got there. I only saw him at the meeting at a later date. Q: When you first saw Ta Muth at Kampong Som, how many weeks was it after you had been there? A36: It was about two or three weeks after my arrival”; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A88-89 [“Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 when moved to Kampong Som. The former commander’s name was Ta Rin. When Division 3 moved to Kampong Som, Ta Muth was the commander. Q: When did they move? A89: When Division 3 was fighting in Phnom Penh, Ta Rin was the commander. When Phnom Penh was liberated in 1975, Ta Muth was commander”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 [“At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164”]; D22.2.182 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249704 [“When Phnom Penh was liberated on 17 April 1975, the 3rd division was ordered to deploy to Kampong Som”].

188 D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A10 [“Division 3 was under Ta Mut and was located somewhere in Kampong Som Town”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A88-89 [“Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 when moved to Kampong Som. The former commander’s name was Ta Rin. When Division 3 moved to Kampong Som, Ta Muth was the commander. Q: When did they move? A89: When Division 3 was fighting in Phnom Penh, Ta Rin was the commander. When Phnom Penh was liberated in 1975, Ta Muth was commander”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A16 [“At that time, after the liberation in 1975, soldiers were recruited for the Navy. All the soldiers in Division 3 came to Kampong Som. That division was commanded by Meas Muth. All of the soldiers in Division 3 were integrated into the Navy. Afterwards, Division 3 was relocated and stationed in Kampong Som. The unit was restructured while its name was changed to Division 164”]; D59/1/1.29 Nget Chanthau DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968434 [“[Meas Muth] was re-assigned to Division 164 stationed in Kampong Som”].

189 D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A14 [“In fact, no ordinary people lived in Kampong Som or on the islands: there were only soldiers. Ordinary people lived in villages such as Thma Thorn, Pou Thoeung, Dei Edth Villages, and so on”]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115988 [“Only soldier families were living there [Kampong Som]”].

190 D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A10-11 [“Division 3 was under Ta Mut and was located somewhere in Kampong Som Town, but I did not know its exact location. Q: Had Division 3 already been stationed there in Kampong Som by the time you saw the people being evacuated from Kampong Som? A11: When the soldiers of Division 3 reached Kampong Som, they ordered the evacuation of people from the town”].

191 D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A25 [“I met Meas Mut once in 1975 when the conference was conducted at the Olympic Stadium. The infantry forces, naval forces, and the air force were established at the time”]; D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A1 [“Q: Yesterday afternoon before we finished the interview, we talked about the assembly which was held at the-Olympic Stadium. At that time, you said you saw Meas Mut at that assembly too. Could you explain his position and duty in that assembly? A1: As I said yesterday, the assembly was organised to celebrate the anniversary of the establishment of the infantry, air force, and navy, and to celebrate the anniversary of the 17 April 1975 triumph. During that assembly, Meas Mut was announced as the navy commander].

192 D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A1-5, 7 [“During that assembly, the symbol of each branch of the armed forces was handed over to its respective commander. At the time, Meas Mut was announced as the navy commander, and he was the receiver of that navy symbol [...] Q: Do you remember who announced the most senior commanders responsible for the army, navy, and air force of Democratic Kampuchea at that time? A2: Pol Pot was the announcer. Q: Do you remember who the commanders in charge of the army, navy, and air force of Democratic Kampuchea were? A3: Each military branch had a three-person command committee. In the air force, they were Sou Met, commander, and his deputy, Lvey [...] The army command committee consisted of Ren [deceased], the commander, and his deputy, Chakrei [...] Meas Mut, the commander of the navy, was Ta Mok’s brother-in-law. [...] A4: Pol Pot handed out the military insignias. The announcement at that time also mentioned Son Sen as the Chief of General Staff, and the entire military was under the command of the General Staff [...] Q: What were the military insignias provided to each command committees made of? A5: They looked like sculptures which were put in glass boxes, but I do not know what the sculptures were made of [...] Q: Did Pol Pot announce the establishment of the navy and its duties and tasks? A7: I do not remember the details about what Pol Pot said, but I remember the important points that he said about, the roles and responsibilities of the navy. They were to protect the territorial waters and the islands and to reconstruct the country”].

193 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A11 [“During the assembly they also spoke about defending the sea and the maritime borders which was about 400 kilometers long, and about defending the nearly 200 islands of Cambodia”]. See also Meas Muth’s communication in respect to the areas under his control: D1.3.30.2 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 [Division 164 monthly report about the military situation of Cambodian islands such as Koh Tral, Koh Ses, Koh Thmey, Koh Sampauch, Koh Rung, Koh Ream, Rung Krao]; D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976, EN 00233903 [report from Meas Mut to Brother 89 (Son Sen) describing the situation in the southwest of Koh Seh Island; in the west and north of Veal Rinh]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012 [Meas Muth presents a deployment of armed forces at Kampong Som City, Ream, Kang Keng, and on several islands, such as Koh Wai, Koh Taing, Koh Pring, Koh Rong, and Koh Seh]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647-48 [Meas Muth reports on the situation in Koh Tang, Koh Yum, Koh Sdech, and Kampong Saom]; D1.3.34.14 Telegram 15 from Comrade Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Mut), 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 [Meas Muth receives a telegram from Dim describing, amongst other matters, the military/security situation in Koh Kong, Koh Ruessei and Koh Seah islands]; D1.3.14.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977, EN 00233944-47 [Meas Muth receives a telegram describing the enemy situation at O Chheu Teal and Koh Rong Sanloem island]; D4.1.637 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978, EN 00293370 [report from Meas Muth to Son Sen about situation in Koh Tral]. See also D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A17 [“The navy controlled the mainland from Veal Renh to Kampong Som. As for the units on the sea, that was from Koh Rong Island, Koh Thmei Island, Koh Pring Island, Koh Tang Island to Koh Poulo Wai Island and other islands unknown to me”]; D54/104 Ek Ni WRI, A16 [“The area controlled by Division 164 was bordered with the Tonle Sap in the east, Stueng Hav in the north, the sea and a number of islands in the west, except Koh Mnoah Island which was located in Sector 11”]; D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A17-18 [“My uncle [commander of an artillery regiment stationed in Toek Sap] reported to Meas Muth. I am not sure what position Meas Muth had in Kampong Saom. Q: How did you know that he had to report to Meas Muth? A18: Kampong Som was under Meas Muth’s command”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A5-6 [“Q: While you were guarding the warehouse in Teuk Sab, did you ever see Division 164’s Commander coming to Teuk Sab? A5: Yes, I did. I saw him coming occasionally. Q: Who did you see visiting occasionally? A6: I saw Meas Muth, the Division 164 Commander”]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A52 [“I saw Ta Mut coming by car to inspect the worksites at Stueng Hav”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A39 [“I met him [Meas Muth] during early 1977, as I noted, at Stueng Hav, to which he came once a week”]; D54/92 Sam On Yem WRI, A49 [“Q: This morning you talked about Ta Mut. What do you know about Ta Mut? A49: I saw him once at Koh Rong Sanloem Island when he accompanied a Chinese delegation to visit the island”].

194 D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 00233992-93 [describing patrol missions ordered around Koh Kong island]; D1.3.34.39 Telegram 04 from Roeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 5 Nov 1977, EN 00233656 [describing the patrolling of the islands around Koh Kong]; D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A6-7 [“Meas Mut was in the Centre echelon, and he had ships and other means to protect Cambodian territory. As he was in the Centre’s army, he could conduct operations at various other locations throughout the country. Q: What do mean by ‘other means’? A7: His navy had warships, munitions, radar, rockets and anti-aircraft guns, diving equipment, cargo ships, chase ships, and so on”]; D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A17-18 [“The role of Division 1 was to defend the territory along the border in the West Zone along both the maritime and land borders. If there were any conflicts on the sea with another country, Division 1 would contact the navy to intervene and deal with the conflicts because they had warships, and we did not. Division 1 only had small boats for patrol and transport [...] A18: Division 1 had its own motorboats to patrol along the borderlines. If there were any serious issues on the sea, Division 1 would contact the navy for intervention”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A14 [“Q: You have identified the location of a brick kiln near Kang Keng Airport along the way to Ream. What do you know about that place? A14: It was a Division 164 labour site”]; D114/58 Som Saom WRI, A14 [“I am not sure which level of authority managed the [Pou Thoeung] dam, but I think it was under Division 164 supervision. I say this because the area where the dam was located was under Division 164 control”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A40 [“I know one place which was a detention office of Division 164. It was located in the fresh water area [Toek Sap]”];

D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A17-18 ["My uncle [commander of an artillery regiment stationed in Toek Sap] reported to Meas Muth. I am not sure what position Meas Muth had in Kampong Saom. Q: How did you know that he had to report to Meas Muth? A18: Kampong Som was under Meas Muth's command"]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A5-6 ["Q: While you were guarding the warehouse in Teuk Sab, did you ever see Division 164's Commander coming to Teuk Sab? A5: Yes, I did. I saw him coming occasionally. Q: Who did you see visiting occasionally? A6: I saw Meas Muth, the Division 164 Commander"]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A52 ["I saw Ta Mut coming by car to inspect the worksites at Stueng Hav"]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A39 ["I met him [Meas Muth] during early 1977, as I noted, at Stueng Hav, to which he came once a week"]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A14 ["[Meas Muth] also had the authority to command cooperative chiefs and commune chiefs too"]; D59/2.2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332607 ["Q: Was Ta Muth the person who was responsible for interrogation and the decision to send in and out [of Wat In Nhean]? A: That's right. Ta Muth was the one who ordered to send out. [...] Q: Did you see Ta Muth coming in and out that place often? A: I did"].

D1.3.30.9 DK Report from RAK General Staff, 7 Apr 1977, EN 00183956 [stating that Division 164 was comprised of 8,568 personnel, including 169 workers. Division 310 is the second biggest division with 6,096 soldiers]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Daily List of Forces by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989 [describing the structure and size of Division 164. The Division's total number of forces was 8,611 as of 27 October 1976]. See also D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 ["We used to watch the Chinese movie and saw Son Sen and the activities of the Khmer Rouge soldiers, which were 25 divisions/brigades in total, in the film. We also knew that the Navy Forces Division, which was under Meas Muth's command, was the biggest division among the 25 divisions of the Khmer Rouge"]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 ["In April 1975 after the fall of Phnom Penh he joined Division 164 and served in Regiment 62. This regiment had around 600 cadres plus support staff. The whole of Division 164 was in excess of 10,000"].

D22.2.180 Phnom Penh Post, Interview with Meas Muth, 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 ["Q: How many people were in your division? A: Probably over 10,000"]; D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249699, KH 00742002-03 ["At the end of 1975, the 3rd division was re-designated the 164th division [...] At the completion of the reorganization, the 164th Division had approximately twelve thousand troops" (emphasis added)].

See sections IV. Division 164 (Former Division 3) Authority Structure; VIII.F Ream Area Worksites; VIII.E Stung Hav Worksites; VIII.C. Division 164 Security Centres.

See paras 56, 216. See also D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A7 ["Q: During which period of time, were Meas Mut's house and the headquarters located near Phsar Leu Market? A7: Meas Mut's house and his office were located there from 1975 until the end of 1978"]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A3 ["Meas Mut's house was at his working office"]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A43 ["At Kampong Som, I saw him two or three times. In 1976, 1977, he drove around inspecting his subordinates; he drove a Jeep. He inspected his units. Other than that, he stayed at his base, his office"].

See para. 216.

D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A18, 20, 28 ["Q: Can you describe the place where you stayed with Meas Mut after you left Sokha Guesthouse? A18: That place was called Inner Office of Division 164. If you travel from Phsar Leu Market to the Two-Lions Circle, when you arrive at the curve you can turn right at the major road-crossing and after about 500 metres, you will reach the location of the division's Inner Office. [...] Q: What was the function of that Inner Office of Division 164? A20: It was the house where Meas Mut stayed. [...] A28: There were different buildings in the compound of the Inner Office. At that site there were a dining hall, Meas Mut's house, living quarters for messengers and others, a telegraph office, and a broadcasting office, which was located near the Two-Lions Circle"].

D54/24 Pak Sok WRI, A20 ["Q: What do you mean, Ta Mut was the most senior commander of the division? Was he responsible for military training and logistics, for instance? A20: Meas Mut was in charge of everything—military, logistics, fisheries, ship repair, port activities. For example he ordered Ta Bau, commander of Regiment 140, to carry out combat operations. He was in charge of the port activities—the entry and exit of foreign ships. Another example: during the last period of the regime when the refugees were fleeing from Vietnam in 1979, Meas Mut ordered me to go to Ream and destroy the ammunition, including anti-ship mines. At the time the workers there were about to kill me, accusing me of being a spy—Vietnamese KGB. However, I told them that I acted on the orders of Ta Mut, and I so survived."]; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A12 [Q: Do you know the roles and function of Meas Mut as commander of the division in 1975? A12: As division commander, he had the overall responsibility for the division. He travelled up and down to monitor each military unit in the division. He gave political training sessions and was the battlefield commander, as well as being the military movement coordinator during troop movements”]; D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978576 [“Q: Was it the order from the Division to arrest and kill them or did you act on your own? A: It was the order from the Division. Q: Who gave that order? A: The order came from Ta Mut. Q: Was it the order to kill? A: Yes”]; D59/2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332607 [“Q: Was Ta Muth the person who was responsible for interrogation and the decision to send in and out [of Wat In Nhean]? A: That’s right. Ta Muth was the one who ordered to send out. [...] Q: Did you see Ta Muth coming in and out that place often? A: I did”].

See III.3. Meas Muth’s Contribution to Crimes – Partication in Persecution and Execution of Enemies; III.3. Meas Muth’s Contribution to Crimes – Partication in Enslavement at Worksites.

D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [telegram describing the situation in Kampong Som]; D1.3.34.12 Telegram 12 from Comrade Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 27 Sep 1976 EN 00897638 [describing gunfire between Koh Kong and Koh Moul Islands]; D1.3.34.13 Telegram 16 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 6 Oct 1976 EN 00233657 [telegram describing patrolling in Koh She and Koh Kong islands]; D1.3.34.14 Telegram 15 from Comrade Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 [telegram describing amongst other matters the military/security situation in Koh Kong, Koh Russei and Koh Seh islands]; D1.3.34.15 Telegram 17 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 8 Oct 1976 EN 00233659 [telegram describing military/security situation and logistics]; D1.3.14.2, D4.1.636 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977 EN 00233944 [telegram describing the enemy situation at Ochheuteal and Koh Rong Samloem island]; D1.3.34.28 Telegram 141 from Sim to Brother (Division), 15 Sep 1977, EN 00233654 [Meas Muth and Son Sen were copied to a telegram report written by the political division of Division 164. The report described the capture of 2 Thai boats entering DK territorial waters. People in the boats jumped into the water to escape, and the rest were all killed]; D1.3.34.39 Telegram 04 from Roeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 5 Nov 1977, EN 00233656 [Meas Muth received a telegram from Reoun on the patrolling of the islands around Koh Kong, training and re-detaining vessels at sea, and rice production]. See also D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A48 [“After I came to Koh Tang Island with 50 soldiers [...] We patrolled the island, and set up a military post in order to communicate with those on the mainland. We reported our situation by radio to Meas Mut’s division every day”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A21-22, 26, 32 [Q: When you were on Koh Tang Island, how did you know if Meas Mut was present or absent? A21: I knew that Meas Mut was present when I reported to the radio operators in order for them to pass this report to Meas Mut. Q: When you were on Koh Tang Island, did you often report to Meas Mut? A22: When I was on Koh Tang Island, I communicated with the shore [headquarters] regularly on the radio from the morning to night. [...] A26: I talked directly with Meas Mut once after the fierce battle with the American soldiers. After my radio was broken, I contacted Meas Mut directly via the radio on the Ship CPS when that ship arrived [at Koh Tang Island [...] A32: I went to meet MEAS Mut at his office and he asked me to explain about the situation on Koh Tang Island”]; D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A48 [“When I joined the division, I reported directly to Meas Mut because there was no regiment between my Battalion 450 and Meas Mut. I reported to Meas Mut about the result of Meas Mut’s orders. During that time there was no official reporting system. Generally the report was done via two-way radio or messengers”]; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A22 [“[the regiment and battalion commanders] were required to report to Meas Mut, the division commander”]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A19 [“Q: Why did Meas Mut, who was the political commissar, know all these events? A19: Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons”]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A5 [“Q: Whilst you were in Kampong Som at that time, where were the headquarters of Division 3 and the house of Meas Mut located? A5: At the time, Meas Mut was living at a place near Phsar Leu Market, and the headquarters of Division 3 was also there. Meas Mut’s house was 150 metres east of Phsar Leu Market. At the time the divisional headquarters and the divisional commander’s house were together. Commanders of each regiment came to join meetings there every month on the 10th, 20th, and 30th days of each month”].

D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A12 [Q: Do you know the roles and function of Meas Mut as commander of the division in 1975? A12: As division commander, he had the overall responsibility for the division. He travelled up and down to monitor each military unit in the division. He gave political training sessions and was the battlefield commander, as well as being the military movement coordinator during troop movements”].

- 205 D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A34 [“Q: Who were responsible for political education in Division 164 from 1975 to 1979? A34: Meas Mut, who was then Political Commissar of the Division”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A63 [“The training was conducted when we were gathered together. It was organised by Meas Muth. The instructors included Meas Muth”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A15 [“One day [...] I was called to training by Ta Mut in Kampong Som. The training was held at the former Kampong Som Cinema, and the lectures were given by Ta Mut”].
- 206 D54/17 Say Born WRI, A6, 8 [“Q: What kinds of meetings were held in Koh Rong Cinema? A6: In 1975, the hall was used for political training and for political meetings of battalion chairmen/deputy chairmen, company chairmen/deputy chairmen, and lower-echelon chairmen - the so-called cadres. [...] Q: How did you know that there were such political study sessions? A8: Because I also attended the study sessions. I attended once every year”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A63-65 [“Q: Before the break you talked about training study course. When was it held? Who organised it? A63: The training was conducted when we were gathered together. It was organised by Meas Muth. The instructors included Meas Muth and one of his deputies whose name I have forgotten. Q: Where was the training conducted? A64: We studied at the Phsar Leu Cinema. Q: Where was the Phsar Leu Cinema? A65: In Kampong Som City”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A15 [“One day [...] I was called to training by Ta Mut in Kampong Som. The training was held at the former Kampong Som Cinema, and the lectures were given by Ta Mut”].
- 207 D54/17 Say Born WRI, A8-12 [“Q: How did you know that there were such political study sessions? A8: Because I also attended the study sessions. I attended once every year. Q: Did you ever see Meas Mut in the study sessions? A9: Yes, I always saw him at the each closing of the study sessions. Q: What were Meas Mut’s duties in the closing sessions? A10: The political commander, meaning Meas Mut, had to teach political affairs, ideology, and organization. The military commander, meaning Dim, had to teach military combat techniques; the logistics commander, meaning Chhan, was responsible for weapons and equipment, food supply, and healthcare. During the closing sessions, Meas Mut acted as the presiding secretary summarizing the results of the study session, examining life views, and providing additional guidance at the end of the session, Q: Did Meas Mut talk about traitors in each session? A11: Yes. He said that we had to be on the lookout for enemy activities within our ranks. Q: What did that mean? A12: Meaning this was Meas Mut’s guidance to the students: to watch for and report any such activities to upper echelon”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A63, 66-69 [“Q: Before the break you talked about training study course. When was it held? Who organised it? A63: The training was conducted when we were gathered together. It was organised by Meas Muth. The instructors included Meas Muth and one of his deputies whose name I have forgotten. [...] Q: What did they teach you? A66: They instructed us in military procedures and discipline. Q: During these training sessions, did they say anything related to the enemy? A67: They talked about foreigners, for example, the Vietnamese. Q: Who talked about foreigners? A68: Whenever Meas Muth rose to speak, he spoke about that, and whenever anyone else rose to speak, they also spoke about that. Q: Can you recall Meas Muth’s words when he talked about Vietnam or other foreigners? A69: He talked about the Vietnamese army wanting to seize Cambodian territory. He told our troops to defend in particular locations bordering Vietnam”].
- 208 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183986-90 [Meas Muth was present at a meeting during which Son Sen ordered the RAK commanders to maintain “a firm grip on our units of organization, ensuring that enemy is unable to bore from within, and doing whatever needs to be done to make our army clean”. During this meeting, Meas Muth expressed “his total agreement and unity with the Party” and stated that they should “do whatever needs to be done not to allow the [enemy] situation to get out of hand [...] and not to let them strengthen or expand themselves in the least”]. See also section III.3. Meas Muth’s Contribution to Crimes - Participation in Persecution and Executions of Enemies – RAK [describing Meas Muth’s agreement to participate in a common criminal plan to purge the RAK].
- 209 D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A15-16 [“Q: Who was the Commander of Division 3/164? A15: It was Meas Mut. [...] Q: What decisions was the Division Commander authorized to make? A16: As far as I know, as a commander of a marine division, Meas Mut was responsible for dealing with issues related to water borders. He was also responsible for screening the biographies of the marines and deciding whether to arrest or anyone who had committed mistakes”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A6-8 [“Q: Who arranged these meetings about the arrests? A6: The information about the arrests was sent from the divisions to the platoons. Q: Did you know if Meas Mut was in charge of announcing the information? A7: Yes, I did. He was the division commander; therefore, he alone would be the person to pass the announcement to the lower levels. Q: How did you know about this? A8: He was the only person who could make the announcement because he was the division commander. However, the announcements of arrests were made only for the arrests of chairmen who were traitors, not for general arrests”].

210 D54/16/1R Audio Meas Muth Interview with David Kattenburg, Apr 2009, 20:07-23:03 [“The structure of command like this, there were two leaders, two commanders in one division. One commander was in charge of politics, the other in charge of military, attacking and fighting, like that. So, the commander who was in charge of the army just cared about fighting, the strategy, enemies, shooting, claiming. But, politics, they were just in charge of politics, educate soldier, strengthening the moral. And there was another man who was in charge of the logistics, so three. But the third guy is called a member, not a commander. So you can say that in one division there were three commander. Q: One politics, one logistics, and one military? A: Yes. Q: So, which one was Mut? A: I was in charge of politics. You know, before you decide to any job, before any work, unless the three agree all together so they can do the work could not...set up agreement between the three”].

211 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, art. 17, EN 00184035.

212 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, arts 27-28, EN 00184047-48 [“The Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea: All three categories of the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea, the regular [army], sector [army], and the militias must be in very part under the absolute leadership monopoly of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. Article 28: The Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea is organized according to democratic centralism. The Party Central Committee designates the implementation of democratic centralism according the specific situation. In the Revolutionary Army of Kampuchea, various Party leadership organizations are organized as follows:- Party Branches in company-level units.- Battalion Party Committees, Regimental Party Committees – Divisional Party Committees Below the company-level units, Party Sub-Branchees must be organized inside the battalions”].

213 D1.3.12.2 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (unknown year), EN 00233991 [describing the situation in areas west of Koh Pring, Koh Tral, and Koh She and noting that DK forces attacked/fired at Thai fishing vessels]; D1.3.30.2 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Feb 1976, EN 00231824 [describing the military situation in certain Cambodian islands and referring to heavy fighting with the enemy]; D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976, EN 00233903 [describing the enemy situation in Toek Sap]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012-16 [describing the enemy situation (Thai and Vietnamese) and the presence of ships in Cambodian waters. The meeting was attended by Pol Pot, Son Sen, Vorn Vet, Meas Muth, Comrade Dim and Comrade Nget]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647-48 [describing an armed clash with Thai fisherman in Koh Kong and the capture of one Thai fishing boat]; D1.3.34.14 Telegram 15 from Comrade Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 [telegram describing enemy’s ships entering the DK maritime territory. Copied to Nuon Chea, Son Sen, Office and Documentation]; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 00233992-93 [telegram describing the capture of a Thai boat and the situation along the border with Vietnam. Son Sen added a handwritten note at the bottom of the report and indicated that it had been forwarded to Angkar]; D1.3.12.20 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth), annotated by Khieu (Son Sen), 12 Aug 1977, EN 00233972 [describing the arrest of five boat people near Koh Kong, Son Sen annotated the message, addressing Angkar, with a summary of the content]; D1.3.34.23 Telegram 28 from Soeung, annotated by Khieu (Son Sen), 12 Aug 1977, EN 00233655 [Son Sen noted that “[b]ased on the oral report of Comrade Mut yesterday we caught a boat (150hp) in Koh Kong Krao on the southern part of the island. The place where Brother and I docked the ship. Arrested 4 Thais and 1 Khmer”]; D1.3.34.28 Telegram 141 from Sim to Brother (Division), 15 Sep 1977, EN 00233654 [describing the capture of two Thai fishing boats. Some people on the boats jumped into the water to escape, and others were killed. Copied to Brother 89 (Son Sen), Meas Muth, Office and Documentation]; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), EN 00233649 [describing the attack toward one Vietnamese boat which sank as a consequence; the capture of one Thai boat with 21 people; and the capture of two Vietnamese boats and the arrest of 76 Vietnamese].

214 OCP calculation based on reference points given by witnesses: see fn. 215 below.

215 See Annex C.2; D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A17 [“The navy controlled the mainland from Veal Renh to Kampong Som. As for the units on the sea, that was from Koh Rong Island, Koh Thmei Island, Koh Pring Island, Koh Tang Island to Koh Poulo Wai Island and other islands unknown to me”]; D54/104 Ek Ni WRI, A16 [“The area controlled by Division 164 was bordered with the Tonle Sap in the east, Stueng Hav in the north, the sea and a number of islands in the west, except Koh Mnoah Island which was located in Sector 11”]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A52 [“I saw Ta Mut coming by car to inspect the worksites at Stueng Hav”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A39 [“I met him [Meas Muth] during early 1977, as I noted, at Stueng Hav, to which he came once a week”]. See also Meas Muth reporting on areas under his control: D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976, EN 00233903 [report from Meas Mut to Brother 89 (Son Sen) describing the situation in the southwest of Koh Seh Island; in the west and north of Veal Rinh]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012 [Meas Muth presents a deployment of armed forces at Kampong Som City, Ream, Kang Keng, and on several islands, such as Koh Wai, Koh Taing, Koh Pring, Koh Rong, and Koh Seh]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647 [Meas Muth reports on the situation in Koh Tang, Koh Yum, Koh Sdech, and Kampong Saom]; D1.3.14.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 July 1977, EN 00233944-47 [Meas Muth receives a telegram describing the enemy situation at O Chheu Teal].

OCP calculation based on reference points given by witnesses: see fn. 215 above.

D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A10 [“Brother Muth was the secretary of Division 164, which was the sea division, and a special sector secretary in Kampong Som. There were some villages around Kampong Som Port and there was a separate port committee. Both the villages and the port were under the control of Brother Muth”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678539 [“[Around 1975, Meas] Muth retained command of the 3rd Southwest Division and also became CPK secretary of Kompong Som city and commander of the DK navy”]; D4.1.1030 Chap Lonh US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00526844 [“Mut, Secretary of the Kampung Saom Party Committee, Political Commissar of the DK Navy”]; D1.3.30.29 Ishiyama Committee, Interviews with Kampuchean Refugees at Thai-Cambodia Border, EN 00170723 [No. 18, Source: A man from tarubon 13 (Takeo) in Southwest, presumably Party person: “The original Vice-secretary from 1970 to 1973 was Ta Muth. He then became Secretary of the 3rd Division in the Southwest Region. His area of operation was RN 4. He was the Secretary of the Division until the Vietnamese came. In 1975 he also took up the position of Secretary of Kompong Som City. He was responsible for Kompong Som-City as a whole. He was also in charge of the Navy”]. See also D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area, 14 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 [“Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A11 [“I heard that he [Meas Muth] was the Party Secretary of Kampong Som”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A28-30, 33 [“Q: According to the first page of the document [D22.1.10, EN 00168349-50], Meas Mut was the Secretary of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som, and the second page writes that Meas Mut was the Secretary of Kampong Som Party of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. Can you explain this difference? A28: I believe that the correct title is the Secretary of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som. Q: As far as you know, as the Secretary of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som, what was Meas Mut in charge of? A29: I do not know about his responsibilities when he was the Secretary of the party in Kampong Som. Q: Who was in charge of transferring your unit from Division 3 to be under Krin’s supervision? A30: I do not know for sure; however, except for Krin and Meas Mut, no one else had the power to do so. [...] A33: [...] Meas Mut was in charge of the military; whereas Krin was in charge of civilians and workers at the port. Meas Mut was the representative of the Communist Part of Kampuchea in Kampong Som; whereas Krin was the Deputy Secretary”]; D114/91 Seng Oi WRI, A361 [“I heard that he [Meas Muth] was in charge of Kampong Som”].

D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A30 [“I came to know that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because I joined a meeting in the regiment and the internal meeting of Party members. Workers at the rubber plantation, workers at the port, and soldiers in Kampong Som all knew that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because this information was widely disseminated”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“The territory under Meas Muth’s control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth’s control”]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115987 [“Q: Who was in charge of administration at Kampong Som? A: [...] The autonomous sector had its own administration”].

D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, art. 8 [“Any Sector or unit which has special characteristics, be they political, military, economic, or culture-social affairs related, may be organized separately, with the Central Committee being responsible, directly or indirectly, along a specific organizational line”], art. 15 [“Sector - City Committees must hold ordinary Sector - City Representational Conferences once every six months in order to: 1. Clearly and profoundly examine and deliberate on Sector - City activities by drawing experience, seeking out good and bad qualities. 2. Designate new work according to the Party line. Must designate clear plans for work among the popular masses and for internal Party work, within its Sector – City framework. 3. Select and appoint the new leadership organization, the Sector – City Committee. (Based on the Ten Criteria of the Party, and with the prior examination, deliberation, and agreement of the Zone Committee)”, art. 16 [“Tasks of the Sector - City Committee: The tasks of the Sector - City Committee are: 1. Go down close to the Districts and Branches and the specific bases of the Branches in the unions and cooperatives and in the Revolutionary Army, in order to lead the implementation of tasks, both among the popular masses and internally, to be always hot and active in plans according to the political lines of national defense and the construction of Democratic Kampuchea and according to the Party's direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. 2. Constantly and tightly grasp the popular masses in the unions and cooperatives and in the Revolutionary Army within its Sector - City framework politically, ideologically, and organizationally by constantly arming them politically, ideologically, and organizationally in the tasks of national defense and the construction of Democratic Kampuchea according to the Party direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. [...] 3. Constantly and tightly grasp the District organizations, the Branch organizations, the cadres, and Party members along with all the core organizations of the Sector in regards to personal histories, politically, ideologically, and organizationally, by arming them politically, ideologically and organizationally in the tasks of national defense and the construction of Democratic Kampuchea according to the Party direction of socialist revolution and building socialism. 4. Manage the property of the Sector - City organizations, and administer discipline in the Sector - City framework, maintaining a system of reporting to upper echelon on the situation and the work of the Sector – City”], art. 17 [“The Sector - City Committee must hold ordinary meetings once every monthly to examine, monitor, and deliberate on old work and to bring up new work”].

220

D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area, 13 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 [“Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee; Comrade (Krin), deputy secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; Comrade (Lonh), member of the Standing Committee of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; cadres of the regional, sector and district-levels; and cadres from various departments and offices”]; D114/266.1.2 List attached to Russian documents, Oct 1977, EN 01519466 [listing Mut, Krin, and Lon as Secretary, Deputy Secretary, and member, respectively, of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A10-12 [“Meas Mut, Chea Krin, and Ta Launh were on the central committees in Kampong Som. Meas Mut was in charge of the military; Chea Krin was in charge of the port and the kerosene refinery, while Launh was responsible for fishery. Q: Please describe about the committee hierarchy of Meas Mut, Chea Krin, and Launh? A11: Meas Mut was the most senior chief; next after him were Chea Krin and Launh. Q: How was the responsibility delegated? A12: They were assigned to take different responsibility under Meas Mut’s control. Meas Mut bore joint responsibility including the sea area”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A29-30, 33 [“Q: As far as you know, as the Secretary of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som, what was Meas Mut in charge of? A29: I do not know about his responsibilities when he was the Secretary of the party in Kampong Som. Q: Who was in charge of transferring your unit from Division 3 to be under Krin’s supervision? A30: I do not know for sure; however, except for Krin and Meas Mut, no one else had the power to do so. [...] A33: [...] Meas Mut was in charge of the military; whereas Krin was in charge of civilians and workers at the port. Meas Mut was the representative of the Communist Party of Kampuchea in Kampong Som; whereas Krin was the Deputy Secretary”]; D54/30.1 Soem Ni DC-Cam Statement, EN 01070550 [“Ta Launh was the fishery chairman. After Dim was arrested, the Central Committee consisted of three persons who governed the Kampong Saom area were Meas Mut, Ta Launh, and Chea Krin”]; D59/2/2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332598 [“For the leading committee after the arrest of Dim, the leading committee in the entire Kampong Som consisted of three people. They were Ta Muth, Ta Launh and Chea Krin”], EN 01332612 [“It was because [Meas Muth] absolutely controlled everything. Within the committee, there were Meas Muth, Chea Krin and Ta Launh. There were three people. These three people were the committee that supervised the whole Kampong Som. But, they had separate sections to supervise. Chea Krin supervised the enterprise section. Meas Muth was responsible for the army. And Ta Launh was responsible for the fishing unit to supply to all state units. There were different sections. However, if there was any problem, the committee had to discuss with each other”].

221

D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A10 [“Meas Mut, Chea Krin, and Ta Launh were on the central committees in Kampong Som. Meas Mut was in charge of the military; Chea Krin was in charge of the port and the kerosene refinery, while Launh was responsible for fishery”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A33 [“Meas Mut was in charge of the military; whereas Krin was in charge of civilians and workers at the port”]; D54/30.1 Soem Ni DC-Cam Statement, EN 01070550 [“Ta Launh was the fishery chairman”]; D59/2/2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332598 [“For the leading committee after the arrest of Dim, the leading committee in the entire Kampong Som consisted of three people. They were Ta Muth, Ta Launh and Chea Krin”], EN 01332612 [“It was because he absolutely controlled everything. Within the committee, here were Meas Muth, Chea Krin and Ta Launh. There were three people. These three people were the committee that supervised the whole Kampong Som. But, they had separate sections to supervise. Chea Krin supervised the enterprise section. Meas Muth was responsible for the army. And Ta Launh was responsible for the fishing unit to supply to all state units. There were different sections. However, if there was any problem, the committee had to discuss with each other”].

222 D234/2.1.27 Revolutionary Flag, Sep-Oct 1972, EN 00720212 [“The primary meaning of democratic centralism is collective leadership and individual responsibility”], 00720219 [“We must analyse all issues collectively to see the whole view including the easy and difficult”], 00720228 [“plans must be proposed by the collective, in accordance with democratic centralism”]; D4.1.887 Revolutionary Flag, Nov 1976, EN 00455307 [“First: Decide alone based on principles that the collective has already decided. Second: Decide by discussions inside the organizational framework of the committee; or, if it is bigger than that, decide in plenary organization conferences, in plenary committees, or propose opinions to upper echelon. This is a style of collective leadership and separate responsibilities”]; D234/2.1.19 CPK Circular, What is Angkar’s Ideology and the Party’s Discipline?, 17 Apr 1975, EN 00742432 [“Centralization on the opinion: The assembly makes the decision. All must absolutely respect and execute even though we have a different idea or oppose to the majority opinion. This is the decision of the collectivity which is based on the condition that the minority voices respect the majority ones”]; D98/3.1.160 Nuon Chea, T. 15 Dec 2011, 10.57.18-11.01.42 [“all of the various decisions of the Party must be made collectively”, that means all decisions of the Party must be made collectively, and not individually [...] all the appointments and assignments shall adhere to this principle”], 10.58.59 [“Mr. President, the democratic centralism was part of the collective leadership, and the collective leadership was part -- also part of the democratic centralism”].

223 D98/3.1.160 Nuon Chea, T. 15 Dec 2011, 11.02.32-11.04.47 [“‘collective decisions’ means everybody would participate in a meeting to express the ideas in a centralized democracy. This applied to all meetings and not confined only to Central or Standing Committee meetings”]. See also D59/2/2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332598 [“For the leading committee after the arrest of Dim, the leading committee in the entire Kampong Som consisted of three people. They were Ta Muth, Ta Launh and Chea Krin”], EN 01332612 [“It was because he absolutely controlled everything. Within the committee, here were Meas Muth, Chea Krin and Ta Launh. There were three people. These three people were the committee that supervised the whole Kampong Som. But, they had separate sections to supervise. Chea Krin supervised the enterprise section. Meas Muth was responsible for the army. And Ta Launh was responsible for the fishing unit to supply to all state units. There were different sections. However, if there was any problem, the committee had to discuss with each other”].

224 D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area, 13 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 [“On the morning of 12 December 1977 Comrade Chen Yung-kuei, member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and vice premier of the PRC State Council, and the other Chinese comrades visited Kompong Som town. They were accompanied by Comrade Pol Pot, secretary of the KCP Central Committee and prime minister, and Comrades Ieng Sary and Thiounn Thioeunn. There, Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee; Comrade (Krin), deputy secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; Comrade (Lonh), member of the Standing Committee of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee”].

225 D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area, 13 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 [“On the morning of 12 December 1977 Comrade Chen Yung-kuei, member of the Political Bureau of the CCP Central Committee and vice premier of the PRC State Council, and the other Chinese comrades visited Kompong Som town. They were accompanied by Comrade Pol Pot, secretary of the KCP Central Committee and prime minister, and Comrades Ieng Sary and Thiounn Thioeunn. There, Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee; Comrade (Krin), deputy secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; Comrade (Lonh), member of the Standing Committee of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; cadres of the regional, sector and district-levels; and cadres from various departments and offices. [...] On the same afternoon Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades -- accompanied by our comrade KCP Central Committee secretary and Comrades Ieng Sary, Thiounn Thioeunn, (Mout), (Krin) and (Lonh) -- were taken by ship to various islands in our Cambodian territorial waters. Our Chinese comrades also visited a shipyard in Kompong Som. [...] On the evening of 12 December the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee hosted a solemn banquet honoring Comrade Chen Yung-kuei and the other Chinese comrades. The banquet proceeded in a warm and cordial atmosphere. During the banquet, Comrades (Mout) and Chen Yung-kuei toasted the great revolutionary friendship and great militant solidarity between our two parties, peoples and countries”].

226 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A10 [“Brother Muth was the secretary of Division 164, which was the sea division, and a special sector secretary in Kampong Som”].

227 D1.3.33.7 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch Military Court Statement, EN 00184830 [“Meas Mut was the Commander of Naval forces stationed at Kampong Saom City and Chairman of the Kampong Saom City Committee”].

228 D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A10 [“Brother Muth was the secretary of Division 164, which was the sea division, and a special sector secretary in Kampong Som. There were some villages around Kampong Som Port and there was a separate port committee. Both the villages and the port were under the control of Brother Muth”].

229 D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A11, 15 [“Q: Do you know if Meas Mut was a member of the Assisting Committee of the Democratic Kampuchea Army? A11: I am not sure about this. I heard that he was the Party Secretary of Kampong Som. [...] A15: I am not sure about his function and role in the Party, but I know that he was in overall charge of Kampong Som as a whole in terms of the military, the workers, and the port”].

230 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A34, 37 [“Krin left Kampong Som Port to attend a study session in Phnom Penh for one week, and returned to Kampong Som on 15 February 1978. When he came back, he convened a meeting and told all the workers that he had been appointed as an ambassador to Hong Kong. Later, Krin left, and the person who replaced him was not from the port, but from Division 164 [...] Q: Who was the person from Division 164 who replaced Krin? A37: During the meeting on 15 February 1978, Krin introduced Pheap and Suong, both of whom were from Division 164. Pheap became the acting chief of the port, and Suong became his deputy. Later, perhaps in June or July 1978, Saroeun, from Division 164, was appointed the chief of the port. Pheap remained the deputy, but Suong instead was demoted to become a member. Saroeun did not stay at the port permanently. When he was absent, Pheap and Suong were in charge of the unit on his behalf. They did not select people from the port to hold important or high-ranking positions; they only selected people from Division 164”]; D114/195 Neak Khoeun WRI, A17, 19 [“Q: Do you know who replaced Krin in 1978? A17: I was there. I know what happened before we fled. Before the Vietnamese arrived, I fled from the port. In late 1978, it was more likely Ta Saroeun, who was slightly dark-complexioned. He had not yet been there one year when the regime fell, probably between five and six months. Ta Saroeun replaced Ta Krin [...] Q: Was Ta Saroeun from the military ranks? A19: I heard that he was from the military”]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A6, 9 [“Q: Who was the deputy of Meas Mut? A6: I do not know who the commanders and deputy were. But in his committee, there were three people: Ta Mut, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan [...] A9: Ta Saroeun was sent to Kampong Som Port”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“The first leaders [of Regiment 140] included Ta Saroeun. Saroeun was the chairman, and Sam, from the side of Ta Doem, was the commander and deputy chairman. After that it was Ta Seng, and Ta Sam was arrested. He was arrested under Ta Doem's time. Ta Saroeun was transferred to take charge of the port”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [“The commander of Division 3 was Uncle Mut [...] Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut. He was a former commander of Regiment 63. I did not know where he went after that. Later Saroeun came in to replace Yan. Saroeun was from Regiment 140 and probably replaced Ta Yan”].

231 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 [“Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces. The territory under Meas Muth's control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth's control. He had the power to arrest and kill soldiers and civilians in the areas under his control. For example, if he noticed that any cattle or cows were skinny because they had not been taken care well, he would order the arrest of the persons in charge of taking care of those cows. [...] A10: [...] Under his control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A14-15 [“He also had the authority to command cooperative chiefs and commune chiefs too [...] no ordinary people lived in Kampong Som or on the islands: there were only soldiers. Ordinary people lived in villages such as Thma Thom, Pou Thoeung, Dei Edth Villages, and so on. Q: Who told you that Meas Mut had the authority to give orders to the cooperative chairpersons and the commune chiefs? A15: I heard that he had the authority to command ordinary people and I knew for sure that he had command authority over military units”]; D114/25 Ou Dav WRI, A7 [“Meas Mut was the commander of the entirety of both the Kampong Som region and the navy. I knew about this through my battalion commander, Bun Theng. I also knew this through soldiers in the same naval unit as me”]; D114/96 Cheng Laung WRI, A11 [“The people [in Babos Village] said that Meas Muth controlled all of us. This means that Meas Muth was in Kampong Som City and he also took control of this sector”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Mut had control of the whole Kampong Som area”]; D59/2/3.17a Yem Sam On DC-Cam Statement, EN 01063510 [“In the area he [Meas Muth] was in charge of there was also healthcare unit consisting of military physicians. He might have been in charge of everything, since there were no other units present. All of them, including a transportation unit, the healthcare unit, and the soldiers were under the command of the division [...] Q: So it means that Kampong Som was under Meas Mut’s command? A: Yes. Q: Including the Navy, the healthcare unit, and others? A: Yes. It included a transportation unit and a women’s unit”]; D54/60.2 Moeng (Meung) Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992990 [“Ta Mut was in charge of Kampong Som. He could make decision on the army’s affairs on behalf of Ta Khieu. He was privileged to do so. Q: What direction was Ta Mut in charge of? A: He was in charge of Kampong Som”].

232 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 [“The territory under Meas Muth’s control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth’s control. He had the power to arrest and kill soldiers and civilians in the areas under his control. For example, if he noticed that any cattle or cows were skinny because they had not been taken care well, he would order the arrest of the persons in charge of taking care of those cows. [...] A10: [...] Under his control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A30 [“that area [Smach Daeng Village, Koki Village, and Chamnaot Ream] starting from Veal Renh was under the control of Meas Mut”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A14-15 [“He [Meas Muth] also had the authority to command cooperative chiefs and commune chiefs too. In fact, no ordinary people lived in Kampong Som or on the islands: there were only soldiers. Ordinary people lived in villages such as Thma Thom, Pou Thoeung, Dei Edth Villages, and so on. Q: Who told you that Meas Mut had the authority to give orders to the cooperative chairpersons and the commune chiefs? A15: I heard that he had the authority to command ordinary people”]; D114/96 Cheng Laung WRI, A11 [“The people [in Babos Village] said that Meas Muth controlled all of us. This means that Meas Muth was in Kampong Som City and he also took control of this sector”]; D54/104 Ek Ni WRI, A16 [“Meas Muth had the authority to make arrests and punish civilians, soldiers and soldiers’ family members who stayed in the area controlled by Division 164. The area controlled by Division 164 was bordered with the Tonle Sap in the east, Stueng Hav in the north, the sea and a number of islands in the west”].

233 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195340-41 [Meas Muth provides a report on enemy situation, food production, health, food supply, and situation of the Party in the area under his control]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647 [telegram describing, amongst other matters, the rain in Kampong Som in August 1976 and informing that “[the people] have to drench the rich fields [by hand]”]; D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Comrade Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976 [telegram describing agricultural issues in the area of Kang Keng. Copied to Nuon Chea, Son Sen, Office (870) and Documentation].

234 D54/32 Soem Ny WRI, A12 [“Q: Why was Meas Mut the deciding signatory on the food rations for those Chinese guests? A12: The food rations were decided by the Party’s Central Committee, whilst Meas Mut in Kampong Som was the implementer of that directive. I knew this because I was in the Kampuchea Youth League, and these food rations were also announced during the assembly of the Kampuchea Youth League”].

235 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341 [“Comrade Muth [...] By 20 August, all the transplanting was completed both light and heavy rice. By 30 August 30, hectares of light rice was harvested with a yield of 50 bushels per hectare. Almost 300 hectares of middle rice [ordinary rice] were grown, and by approximately 10 October it will be sent out. 1,600 hectares of heavy rice has been transplanted by both the army and the people the total force of both troops and people was 17,000. The rice harvest was exactly two tons over an area of 2,000 hectares short by 61,000 bushels”].

236

Meas Muth has himself confirmed that he maintained control over Division 164 after he left Kampong Som. However, inconsistent with all other evidence on the Case File, he stated that this occurred in February 1978: D54/16/1R Audio Recording of Interview with Meas Muth by David Kattenburg, Apr 2009, 34:37-35:28 [“I was not at Kampong Som. In February 1978 I had left Kampong Som already. Q: Where did he go? A: I was assigned to work in Kratie province near the Lao border. Q: So he left Division 164 entirely in February 1978? A: No, I still had my position but I was assigned for another mission in Kratie”]. See also D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A93, 95-96, 100 [“At that time [late 1978], a new cadre came to replace [Meas Muth]. Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth and he was a former manager of the battleship unit. When Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth, he controlled all military units in Kampong Som [...] Q: Did you know who ordered Tim Seng to replace Meas Muth? A95: As I understood, that was an order from the upper echelon. [...] A96: Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng; then Tim Seng controlled the work and passed on those orders [...] Q: Just now, you said that Meas Muth was on the General Staff. How do you know that? A100: After the Vietnamese soldiers attacked in strength, I saw Ta Meas Muth come back about 10 days before the Vietnamese soldiers dropped bombs on Kampong Som in late 1978. I concluded he was probably going to the General Staff Headquarters”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A126-127, 129 [“I know that in 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. I do not know where else he went. Q: How did you know that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh? A127: I knew about this because commanders at all levels disseminated the information about this to us. [...] A129: [...] Usually, commanders of all levels attended the study sessions at the division once a month. When they came back, they said that Meas Muth had moved to Phnom Penh. They also said that Meas Muth had become the Deputy Chief of the Army in Phnom Penh”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A171-72 [“Q: You stated at the beginning that Meas Mut went to Memot District at the end of 1978 on orders from Son Sen. Did Meas Mut still have the authority to govern the province of Kampong Som when he went to Memot District? A171: With regard to his work, he still had influence and authority -- he was not yet separated from Kampong Som. Q: How did you know this? A172: I knew that via communication radio”]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115988 [“Q: Did Ta Muth control Kampong Som until 1979? A: Yes, he did. He was removed at the end of 1978. Later on he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff. In 1979, he returned to his original unit. Q: He was in Phnom Penh when he became the Deputy Chief of the General Staff. Did he still have power to give orders? A: No, he didn’t. Another Deputy Commander of the Division took over from him. Q: Who was that person? A: He was H.E. Tim Seng. Q: Was his name Tim Seng? A: Yes, it was. Q: From whom did he receive orders? A: He received military assignments from Ta Muth. Q: But as for other work, did he still report directly to Ta Muth? A: Yes, he did. The person who received orders directly from the higher levels would have to make the reports”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098 [“Q: Who else was in charge of the regiment [140]? A: Tim Seng [...] Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh”], EN 00974119 [“So, when was Ta Mut transferred to Phnom Penh? A: Probably in 1977. Q: So, was he in Phnom Penh for a long time too? A: Yes, he was. Q: For how long was he there before the liberation? A: He had been there for more than a year. After he escaped from Phnom Penh in 1979, he ordered the withdrawal of troops from Kampong Som. Q: So, was he still in command even though he was in Phnom Penh? A: He was still influential. Q: So, was he still in charge of Division 164 or what? A: Yes, he was in charge of the navy”].

237

D54/92 Yem Sam On WRI, A65-73 [“Q: Why did you say that Meas Mut was an influential person in the division? A65: When they heard his name or the name of his division, they were afraid. Q: You said, ‘Meas Mut was at a senior level, and they were afraid of him.’ What does ‘they’ refer to? A68: Both the other soldiers and I were afraid of Meas Mut. I never heard about any incidents related to Meas Mut. Q: Can you explain why you and other soldiers were afraid of Meas Mut? A69: Meas Mut was a man of his words. He was meticulous. Therefore, everyone was afraid of him. The term ‘afraid’ does not mean we were afraid he would mistreat us or kill us; it just means we feared of him due to his military position. [...] A72: At that time, I did not dare talk with him or approach him because he used to be my commander [...] Q: In the Phnom Penh Post article, you said, ‘I believe that Meas Mut bears a large part of the responsibility for the crimes committed during the Khmer Rouge regime.’ Why did you say that? A73: At that time, I said that because the court has the goal to focus only on senior leaders to be tried. Meas Mut was both a division commander and a senior leader”].

238 D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A6, 26 [“When he noticed that a part of the roof was not built as he wanted he called the foreman of the construction workers to get to the ground. When the foreman came closer to him the foreman asked him if there were any mistakes. He did not reply. He immediately grabbed the axe from the foreman and slashed him on his forehead making his face covered with blood. Then the workers wanted to bring their foreman to a hospital but Ta Mut warned them that they would receive the same punishment if they did [...] A26: He was authoritarian. For example, when my friend who had been in the same unit with me visited me I gave him cigarettes and food. If Meas Mut had known about it he would have assigned them to work in other places such as Ream”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A23 [“Ta Mut was very vicious. He was easily able to beat and shoot anyone”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A20-21 [“I never saw any person with this kind of character and attitude like Ta Mut. He was very strict. He always called the commanders of the regiments and battalions to his place to receive his order. Those battalion and regiment commanders understood very well what to do to follow Ta Mut's order. If they could not execute his order successfully, they would definitely have problem. Q: How did you know about this thing? A21: We knew his character because our unit used to stay near his place. He had a house near Psar Leu, and another house near Wat Entanhean Pagoda”].

239 See, e.g., D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A145-147 [“Q: What was your most important task on the island? A145: I was tasked with protecting the island. Q: Against whom did you protect the island? A146: During the Pol Pot regime, when they had us protect it, we had to protect it. Pol Pot gave the order to Ta Muth, who then had the soldiers go there. Q: Why did you know about his order? A147: I heard that from the leadership”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A6-9 [“Q: During the fighting for Phnom Penh, who ordered Division 3 to enter Phnom Penh? A6: Ta Mut, who was the commander of Division 3. Q: When they entered Phnom Penh, where was the Division 3 headquarters located? A7: Division 3 headquarters, under Meas Mut's command, was located at Phnum Tmat Pong during the fighting for Phnom Penh. Q: Who reported to Meas Mut within Division 3? A8: Each regiment had its own political commissar who reported to Meas Mut, the political commissar of the division. Meas Mut reported to Ta Mok, who was the zone chief. Ta Mok reported to the Centre. Q: Besides what happened on the battlefield, what else did each regiment political commissar report to the division? A9: The report mainly focused on what happened on the battlefield as well as the daily livelihood of military officers, their morality, disciplinary issues and social affairs such as helping the people transplant seedlings, harvest rice and treating people when they were sick. Apart from the battlefield report, the political commissar was also responsible for politics, attitudes and assignments”]; D54/24 Pak Sok WRI, A20 [“Q: What do you mean, Ta Mut was the most senior commander of the division? Was he responsible for military training and logistics, for instance? A20: Meas Mut was in charge of everything-military, logistics, fisheries, ship repair, port activities. For example he ordered Ta Bau, commander of Regiment 140, to carry out combat operations. He was in charge of the port activities-the entry and exit of foreign ships. Another example: during the last period of the regime when the refugees were fleeing from Vietnam in 1979, Meas Mut ordered me to go to Ream and destroy the ammunition, including anti-ship mines. At the time the workers there were about to kill me, accusing me of being a spy-Vietnamese KGB. However, I told them that I acted on the orders of Ta Mut, and I so survived”]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5, 39-43, 54-55, 69-70 [“In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders [...] Q: Did you ever hear of a place called Teuk Sap? A39: Yes, I did. It was a place to detain prisoners. My group was detained over there. If anyone who was cultivating rice with me and committed mistakes, we would be detained there [...] How did you know this? A40: I just knew it. When we made mistakes we would be told about that. In meetings we were told that we needed to be careful. If we made mistakes we would be sent to Teuk Sap. Q: Do you remember who said this? A41: Our fellow workers knew this. They heard it being mentioned in the meetings. The persons who said this were the group chiefs in the cooperatives. They told us this straight away, but I never saw such an incident personally. Q: Whose command were those groups under? A42: They were under Ta Muth's command. Q: As group chiefs, they were very far from Ta Muth. So, how did you know that? A43: There were messengers from Kampong Som to the cooperatives [...] Q: How did you know that the force that arrested the boat was under Ta Muth's command? What was the unit that operated the boat arrest? A54: Ta Muth was the one who issued the order. He was the only person who issued orders. Q: Can you please explain further how you knew this? A55: Before any arrest, they used a C25 radio to contact the chief in order to ask him if they were to make an arrest or not. If the chief ordered an arrest, they had to make it [...] Q: On answer 17, you said that all the Sector 37 soldiers were arrested by Ta Muth's men. Who were those men you referred to? A69: We did not know who they were. We did not know that. In fact, there were orders. For example, a house would have a manager. The persons issuing orders would be from different places. They did not make the arrests themselves, but they ordered the managers to make the arrests. There were chiefs there. For example, if they wanted to harm me, they had a messenger with a motorbike who would spy on me [...]

Q: To clarify, you said earlier that Ta Muth's men were sent to disband your group and regiment. How did you know that those men followed Ta Muth's orders? A70: If they did not follow him, they would have been in trouble. If they did not follow him, they would have been killed. They would have been killed too. If they did not follow him, they would have died even sooner than us [...] [I]n 1979 we fought against the Vietnamese troops. The battles in Smach Daeng and Teuk Sap took place for only a short period. They took place for about four hours. All of my group members withdrew to Srae Ambel"]].

240

See, e.g., D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A87-91, 138-141 ["We sailed close to their boat and then jumped onto the Thai fishing boat. Then we pointed our guns at them. If they had fought back, we would have shot them dead. Q: What happened next? A88: After we captured their boat, piloted their fishing boat into our Cambodian waters at Kampong Som Port, Meas Muth's place. Q: During the training, did you receive orders to capture foreign boats which entered Cambodian waters? A89: Yes. During the training course, they told us that if any foreign boat entered our waters, we had to capture it. Q: Who gave the order to capture the boats? A90: The upper echelon. Q: How did you know about this? A91: I learned about orders from the upper echelon when the battalion called the company and platoon commanders to attend meetings. During the meetings, they said the order came from the Party, meaning the upper echelon. 'The Party' referred to Meas Muth. [...] A138: I received the order to carefully capture those boats. Q: Who gave the order? A139: The battalion commander. Q: Who did the battalion commander receive the order from? A140: The order came from the upper echelon. At that time, the upper echelon was only Meas Muth. Meas Muth also received his orders from his upper echelon. Sometimes, Meas Muth made decisions by himself. Meas Muth's subordinates did not dare make decisions by themselves. When I spotted any strange situation, I reported to my upper echelon, who then reported to other upper echelons in a hierarchical order. Q: How did you know that the order came from the upper echelon, Meas Muth? A141: Because Meas Muth was in charge overall of the Navy"]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A1-2 ["Q: You said that your job in Koh Kong was to wait for orders to capture of illegal fishing boats. Could you explain who issued the orders to conduct such captures? A1: It was Ta Mut. He issued orders by telegram to the ship commander. I was just an ordinary sailor. My boat commander was my superior. Who Ta Mut received his orders from, I do not know. Q: How did you know that Ta Mut gave the orders? A2: There was a telegraph machine at Ta Mut's place. There was another telegraph machine at the former royal residence near Koh Kong Port. When the telegraph operators there received any orders from Ta Mut's place, those telegraph operators sent those orders to the ship commanders"]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A17-23 ["When our ship went to help the PCF boats, our ship did not directly participate in the capture. We only helped the PCF boats by blocking those boats from escaping or by stopping them from attacking the PCF boats. Our tactics were generally coordinated with the PCF boats, and we blocked boats from escaping. When we arrived, most times the Yuon boats stopped firing when they saw our cannons. After that, the PCF boats captured them. Q: Did your ship ever shoot at or ram and sink any boat? A18: As I remember, we never did that. We only blocked them from escape. Q: What did they do to call for help? A19: To request intervention, first the PCF boat made a request to Division 164, and then the division issued commands down to Regiment 140 and on down to Han's battalion. Han was the one who commanded our boat to go. Sometimes they even called for intervention in the middle of the night. Q: From whom did you learn about this method of communication? A20: This was the general operating procedure at that time. The orders came from the division to Han's battalion. Touch also talked about this. Q: You said that the orders came from the division to the battalion. Did you know who at the division level issued the orders? A21: Ta Mut issued the orders. Q: How did you know that the orders came from Ta Mut rather than from his deputy or his headquarters? A22: I would like to give you an example. All of the decisions came from the senior leader. His deputy could issue the orders only when Ta Mut was absent. In the battalion, Han issued the orders. Other people could speak, communicate, or write down the orders, but decision-making was chairman's work. In a case where the deputy chairmen, the members, and chairman were absent, everyone discussed the measures to be taken, but decisions were made by the chairman. Q: Was this process that you have described also implemented at Ta Mut's level? A23: It was the same"]].

241

See, e.g., D54/28 Liet Lan WRI, A14 ["When Phnom Penh collapsed, my unit was dispatched to Ream. At that time my unit was merged with Division 3 under the command of Meas Mut. Only a day after our stay in Ream, we were dispatched to Koh Seh Island, and we stayed there for about one month"]].

242

See, e.g., D54/45 Lon Seng WRI, A15-16 [“Q: Who made a decision to send those soldiers to the big production unit in Putth? A15: I am not sure about that, but I think the decision was made by the chief of the division Meas Mut. Q: Besides Meas Mut, was there anyone else in the division who had the authority to make such decisions? A16: No, there was not”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A92-99 [“In fact, the division, thousands of troops, was demobilised. The demobilised troops were assigned to work in different production units and were sent to different work spearheads. Q: Who gave advance notice of the mobilisation? A93: The order clearly was issued by Ta Muth. Ta Muth’s men gathered us for a meeting and told us we would be sent to different worksites. They combined personnel from different units to work in production units. Q: Did you attend the meeting, or did you hear about it from others? A94: Meetings were organised at each platoon and company. Personnel were required to attend. If I had had refused, I would have been killed. Q: Did they organize many small meetings or only one big meeting? A95: There was a big meeting, and each of us was required to attend. They assigned those units to designated worksites. Then there were small meetings at those worksites where work instructions were issued. Q: Who led the big meeting? A96: To my knowledge, the big meeting attended only by battalion and regiment commanders was led by Ta Mok and Ta Muth. Then the commanders of battalions and regiments held further meetings to disseminate the information to their members. Q: During the meetings with their members, did the division commanders talk about their meeting with Ta Mok and Ta Muth? A97: They did not state they had met with Ta Mok and Ta Muth. Instead, they just stated that they had received orders from upper echelon. Q: Did you know about the meeting led by Ta Mok and Ta Muth? A98: That originated from my understanding and analysis. When they said they had met with upper echelon, they referred to Ta Mok and Ta Muth. That was their method of operation. Q: What did you know about Ta Mok and Ta Muth being upper echelon? A99: It was common knowledge that Ta Mok and Ta Muth were Zone Committee and had the authority to command the division”]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A40-42 [“Q: Were Meas Muth and Sie Met present when the trucks were driven away or when the people boarded the trucks? A40: Sie Met and Meas Muth arrived there at 9 a.m. and Ta Mok arrived later. Sie Met and Meas Muth were in direct command there. Q: Did Sie Met and Meas Muth order and arrange the rounding up of the persons who were trucked away? A41: Yes, correct. Pol Pot was the most senior leader. Below Pol Pot were Nuon Chea and Son Sen. Ta Mok, Sie Met, and Meas Muth were in direct command of that place. Q: While you were working at the airport, they told you that they would send you to Kampong Som. Can you describe that event? A42: After 25 April 1975, they sent Battalion 180 to Kampong Som. Sie Met, Meas Muth, and Ta Mok were the commanders who ordered us sent us there. When we arrived in Kampong Som, some soldiers including me were sent to join the Navy. We were under Meas Muth’s command. At that time, there were disputes with Thailand and Vietnam over maritime borders. Later in early 1976, Angkar arrested three battalion commanders and six other soldiers who were close to those battalion commanders, including me”].

243

See, e.g., D114/215 Meas Im WRI A66-67, 70, 75-76 [“Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, did Mienh ever instead receive any instructions from anywhere else? A66: Before, he received orders directly from Meas Muth. Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, can you explain how Mr. Meas Muth was able to give instructions to Mienh? A67: We did not grasp that. We did not know about the instructions from Meas Muth to Mienh. We did not know about things political. We only received instructions from Mienh through Meas Muth on the technical side of things [...] Q: What all were the technical tasks related to your work that your older brother gave to you through Mienh? A70: The first technical task was to construct the road from the oil factory to Stueng Hav. Second, was constructing the up-and-down road(s) in Stueng Hav Worksite and levelling things from the foot of the mountain to Stueng Hav beach to make it flat [...] Q: How did your older brother communicate with Mienh, by what means? A75: They communicated via field telephone and telegram. Q: How did you know? A76: As I was there at Mienh’s house. I lived near Mienh’s house and I saw such equipment”]; D114/175 Neak Sitha WRI, A48, 52 [“I heard Meas Muth saying that we had to work. If we did not work on time, at the turning point, the historical wheel would roll over us. [...] A52: [Meas Muth] was the chief and he ordered others to work”]; D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A31-34 [“To my knowledge, the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut every morning before coming to lead meetings with the villagers at 11 a.m. Q: Did you know why the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut? A32: The village chief was told in the meetings the tasks which Angkar assigned. Q: Did the village chief say that he had met with Ta Mut? A33: Yes, it was announced to us that the village chief had met with Ta Mut, who told him about Angkar’s new plans. Q: Did the village chief say that he had meetings with Ta Mut frequently? A34: I do not know if he spoke the truth or lied when he said he met with Ta Mut once a month”].

244

See, e.g., D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A26, 42 [“Q: Had you seen Meas Muth before? A26: I saw him probably in 1975 or 1976, before the other soldiers and I were arrested. After 25 April 1975, they sent my battalion to Kampong Som [...] Q: While you were working at the airport, they told you that they would send you to Kampong Som. Can you describe that event? A42: After 25 April 1975, they sent Battalion 180 to Kampong Som. Sie Met, Meas Muth, and Ta Mok were the commanders who ordered us sent us there. When we arrived in Kampong Som, some soldiers including me were sent to join the Navy. We were under Meas Muth's command. At that time, there were disputes with Thailand and Vietnam over maritime borders. Later in early 1976, Angkar arrested three battalion commanders and six other soldiers who were close to those battalion commanders, including me”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A18-20 [about the arrest of Kung Kien alias Oeng Vet: “I also knew him because he taught us and talked with us. Everyone was aware of his arrest, because he was a prominent figure. At that time, he lived at Kang Keng Airport [...] A19: he was arrested about a month after Dim and Chhan had been arrested. They had to arrest all of the people who were under Dim's and Chhan's command, and this arrest was also made public. Q: Did Meas Muth announce this arrest publically? A20: Yes they did”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A16 [“As far as, I know as a commander of a marine division, Meas Mut was responsible for dealing with issues related to water borders. He was also responsible for screening the biographies of the marines and deciding whether to arrest or anyone who had committed mistakes”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A2-3 [“Q: Before the interview stopped yesterday, you told us that the responsibility of division commanders such as Meas Mut was to screen out, arrest, and kill the wrongdoers. Please explain who those wrongdoers were. A2: The wrongdoers referred to those soldiers in the division who had committed mistakes. Q: What kinds of mistakes would account for them being arrested and killed in Division 164? A3: I am not sure what kinds of mistakes would reach the threshold for arrest and killing. However, I can suggest examples for those mistakes. Any soldier whose siblings at their base (hometown) had been arrested and accused of being traitors would also be arrested from within their unit. For instance, if the regimental chairman was arrested, his wife and family would also be arrested. However, I did not know what they did to those arrestees afterwards. In general, at that time, once arrested, the person would disappear forever. If a soldier was removed from his unit, he might be sent to work at another place. If a soldier was arrested, he would disappear. As I previously mentioned, if a regimental commander was arrested and accused of being a traitor, or a KGB or CIA agent, his wife, children, messenger and close acquaintances would also be arrested. In particular this applied to people accused of having connections with the Vietnamese.”]. See also D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A19 [“Q: How did you know that those 1500 soldiers from the East Zone were placed in the big production unit? A19: The chief of the division, Meas Muth, announced in a meeting that all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division. I am not sure, but I believe there must have been some competition among the division leaders. That was the reason those soldiers could not be put in the same division”]; D59/2/2.16a Sim Ny DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332607 [“Q: Was Ta Muth the person who was responsible for interrogation and the decision to send in and out [of Wat In Nhean]? A: That's right. Ta Muth was the one who ordered to send out. [...] Q: Did you see Ta Muth coming in and out that place often? A: I did”].

245

See, e.g., D4.1.786 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00381027-28 [“I would like to bring up here an obvious example in which Ta Mok personally came to give the instructions at the office of my District. At that time Ta Mut also came to meet me the District office. Ta Mok scolded Ta Mut who had ordered the killing of comrade Kang Chea, the ammunition guard of Mr. Soeung alias Keut who was the commander of a military division. Ta Mok asked [...] ‘why did you always kill my men? If you were not sure [who they were], why didn't you ask comrade Chim.’ Ta Mok added, ‘In the future do not do like that again’. This story was as follows: One day Mut received a report from Nhev telling him that Käng Chea was hiding ammunition in a trench. After Ta Mut had received. that report, in that evening, he came to see me at the District office and ordered me to call Käng Chea to meet with him. So, I and one militia went to call Kang Chea. But I told Ta Mut that there was no problem with Kang Chea. Ta Mut still insisted that I had to call Kang Chea to see him. At that time [I let] the militia to go alone to take Kang Chea to meet with Ta Mut, I did not go to see him. At mid night I heard the sound of gunfire of AK [47] in the forest nearby. Next morning I called that militia to ask how was comrade Chea; the militia answered that comrade Chea was executed. This happened in about 1974. After liberation day in 1975, Ta Mok used to give the instructions during the meeting that there should not be arbitrary killing”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A30-31 [“Q: Why do you say that the military personnel from Division 164 killed all those 17 April people? A30: Because that area starting from Veal Renh was under the control of Meas Mut. Q: Have you ever been to that killing and grave site? A31: No, I have never entered that site, but the military personnel who were minding ducks there pointed out that killing site for me”]; D54/56 Meas Voeun WRIA, EN 00973406 [“Meas Voeun stated that Launh allegedly survived an arrest assassination attempt initialized ordered by Meas Muth in late 1978 early 79”]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5, 70 [“Q: Is what was read to you correct? Are there any inaccurate names or misspellings that you want to correct? A5: There are several mistakes. The special sector army and Battalion 386 were integrated in Division 3 after the liberation in 1975. In late 1976 or early 1977, all the commanders were arrested because the cadres of the sector were accused of being traitors. After all of them were arrested, my group was dissolved. We were then sent to cultivate rice. Anyone who refused to follow the order was killed. In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders. After that, in 1979 when the national rescuers arrived, they took us back to fight. We were armed again to fight against the National Salvation Front. We were forced to drive their tanks. We had to do it or we would be killed. [...] Q: To clarify, you said earlier that Ta Muth's men were sent to disband your group and regiment. How did you know that those men followed Ta Muth's orders? A70: If they did not follow him, they would have been in trouble. If they did not follow him, they would have been killed. They would have been killed too. If they did not follow him, they would have died even sooner than us”].

246

D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A11-15, 23 [“Q: At that time, what was Ta Mut's position in the Southwest Zone military? A11: He was the chairman of Division 3, and after he went to Kampong Som he was still the chairman of the division. Q: What was Ta Mut's authority as Division 3 Commander stationed in Kampong Som? A12: He had the power to command all regiments and battalions under Division 3, including the various ships, to defend this and that location, and to capture boats or ships that entered Cambodian territorial waters. Q: In Division 3, was anyone superior to Ta Mut? A13: No, there wasn't. Ta Mut was the highest-ranking chairman. Q: You said Ta Mut had the authority to command military units. What was the extent of his authority in relation to the general people in Kampong Som? A14: He also had the authority to command cooperative chiefs and commune chiefs too. In fact, no ordinary people lived in Kampong Som or on the islands: there were only soldiers [...] Q: Who told you that Meas Mut had the authority to give orders to the cooperative chairpersons and the commune chiefs? A15: I heard that he had the authority to command ordinary people. And I knew for sure that he had command authority over military units [...] Q: Was there any institution or unit in Kampong Som with authority over Division 3? A23: No, there was not. Ta Mut, the division chairman, had the greatest power. Ta Mut was very vicious. He was easily able to beat and shoot anyone”]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5, 39-43, 54-55, 69-70, 77 [“In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders [...] Q: Did you ever hear of a place called Teuk Sap? A39: Yes, I did. It was a place to detain prisoners. My group was detained over there. If anyone who was cultivating rice with me and committed mistakes, we would be detained there [...] How did you know this? A40: I just knew it. When we made mistakes we would be told about that. In meetings we were told that we needed to be careful. If we made mistakes we would be sent to Teuk Sap. Q: Do you remember who said this? A41: Our fellow workers knew this. They heard it being mentioned in the meetings. The persons who said this were the group chiefs in the cooperatives. They told us this straight away, but I never saw such an incident personally. Q: Whose command were those groups under? A42: They were under Ta Muth's command. Q: As group chiefs, they were very far from Ta Muth. So, how did you know that? A43: There were messengers from Kampong Som to the cooperatives [...] Q: How did you know that the force that arrested the boat was under Ta Muth's command? What was the unit that operated the boat arrest? A54: Ta Muth was the one who issued the order. He was the only person who issued orders. Q: Can you please explain further how you knew this? A55: Before any arrest, they used a C25 radio to contact the chief in order to ask him if they were to make an arrest or not. If the chief ordered an arrest, they had to make it [...] Q: On answer 17, you said that all the Sector 37 soldiers were arrested by Ta Muth's men. Who were those men you referred to? A69: We did not know who they were. We did not know that. In fact, there were orders. For example, a house would have a manager. The persons issuing orders would be from different places. They did not make the arrests themselves, but they ordered the managers to make the arrests. There were chiefs there. For example, if they wanted to harm me, they had a messenger with a motorbike who would spy on me [...] Q: To clarify, you said earlier that Ta Muth's men were sent to disband your group and regiment. How did you know that those men followed Ta Muth's orders? A70: If they did not follow him, they would have been in trouble. If they did not follow him, they would have been killed. They would have been killed too. If they did not follow him, they would have died even sooner than us [...] [I]n 1979 we fought against the Vietnamese troops. The battles in Smach Daeng and Teuk Sap took place for only a short period. They took place for about four hours. All of my group members withdrew to Srae Ambel. [...] Q: Did Ta Muth command the army at that time? A77: Yes, he did. He was in command with Ta Seng. Ta Muth commanded the troops directly”]; D114/77 Svay Sameth

WRI, A39, 46-47 ["My work was related to these personal documents. Each soldier's document was cross-checked by a special committee of the Division, the so-called Inspection Committee. I do not know how many people worked for the Inspection Committee, but I know that they sent their trusted soldiers to the soldiers' hometowns to have their biographies inspected. This committee ordered the Regiment to choose some soldiers that they trusted to verify the biographies of the soldiers at their home towns [...] Q: How did you know that Meas Muth formed this committee? A46: He was responsible for Division 164, so he decided everything. No one was higher than Meas Muth in rank, so this committee was formed by Meas Muth. I think that Meas Muth was ordered by the higher levels to form this committee. Q: Why do you think that the higher levels ordered the formation of the Inspection Committee? A47: They said that that plan was laid out by the higher levels"].

247 D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A20-21 ["I never saw any person with this kind of character and attitude like Ta Mut. He was very strict. He always called the commanders of the regiments and battalions to his place to receive his order. Those battalion and regiment commanders understood very well what to do to follow Ta Mut's order. If they could not execute his order successfully, they would definitely have problem. Q: How did you know about this thing? A21: We knew his character because our unit used to stay near his place. He had a house near Psar Leu, and another house near Wat Enta-nhean Pagoda"].

248 D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A36, 229, 267, 269 ["Ta Muth was the Commander. Ta Dim was his Deputy. Ta Chhang was a member of the Division [...] A229: [...] Ta Nhan was the Deputy Commander of Division 164. He was in charge of logistics. [...] Q: Who were the Deputy Commanders of the Division? A267: Ta Dim and Ta Chhan were. I remember only them. This is what I knew firsthand. I do not know what happened in the East Zone. I just heard about what happened there [...] A269: Ta Chhan was Deputy Commander of the Division"]; D114/103 Liet (Nam) Lan WRI, A25, 111 ["Q: Who else were division members? A25: Nhan (deceased). He had come from Division 3 [...] A111: Lan (deceased) and Nhan (in charge of Division 3 Logistics)"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A31, 126, 207 ["After deploying soldiers to the islands, they re-organized the division. Then there was Division 164. Meas Muth was the Division Commander, Dim (from Prey Veng Province) was his deputy and Chhan was a member [...] A126: [...] There were Brother Nhan and another person whose name I do not recall. They were Meas Muth's deputies. [...] Q: Yesterday you said that, after Ta Dim and Chhan left, Nhan replaced them. When soldiers were sent to the East Zone, did Nhan go there as well? A207: No, he didn't"]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12 ["At that time Meas Mut was the Division chairman, and Ta Nhan was the Division [164] member"]. Note that one witness also claims that Ta Im was Deputy Commander of Logistics in Division 164: D54/20 Sam Saom, A14 ["I went to do labor work at Kang Keng Airport for one month. It was difficult work. I farmed rice in a mobile unit under the leadership of Ta Im. Im was the next highest ranking cadre under Meas Mut. Im was in charge of the work at the Kang Keng worksite and was also the deputy commander for logistics of Division 164. I think that Im was perhaps one of Meas Mut's relatives but do not know if he was one of Meas Mut's siblings or cousins"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A9 ["After the navy was created, Seng became a deputy commander of Regiment 140. Later, he became a deputy commander of Division 164"]; D54/98 Heang (Hieng) Ret WRI, A28 ["After Tim Seng was promoted to chairperson of Division 164 instead of Meas Muth in 1979 during the fierce combat with the Vietnamese, Ta Han became the commander of Regiment 140"]; D54/29 Liet (Nam) Lan WRI, A3 ["Seng told me Meas Mut was an assistant to the General Staff. Seng knew about this because, when Meas Mut was absent from Kampong Som, he was in charge"]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A26 ["Ta Mut was Division Commander. Ta Seng and Ta Mut were in charge of the division. Ta Mut was the senior level commander and had been in charge of the division a long time. When Ta Seng came, he worked as a subordinate of Ta Mut. So, Ta Mut held a more senior position than Ta Seng"]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A16 ["When Meas Mut was not present, Ta Seng and Ta Nhan came. But I did not know who was in charge"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang (Hieng) Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098, KH 00926542-43 ["Tim Seng, but he has died as well. Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A30 ["After the reorganizing, the chief of the Division 164 was Mr. Mut, Mr. Dim from the East Zone became the deputy, and Chhan was the member"]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 ["Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A7 ["After Division 3 was re-designated Division 164, there was a man named Ta Chhan from Sector 37's Koh Kong, and this two battalion-strong military unit merged with Division 164. Ta Chhan became a deputy commander of the division"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 ["There were two other deputies under [Meas Muth] namely Chhan and Dim”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A168 [“Ta Chhan was at Division 3 level. He was division chairman under Ta Muth”]; D114/241 Chheng Cheang WRI, A87 [“Chhan was the deputy chief”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 [“In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander and Nget was a member”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462 [“The 3rd division political officer was ((Meas)) Mut, the division operations officer was ((Dum)) (deceased) and the deputy division commander was ((Chhan))”]; D4.1.747 Aek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387291 [“3rd division political officer. ((Nong)) Chhan, was the political officer for the 3rd division”].

249 D1.3.28.45 S-21 Prisoner List, 26 Aug 1977 [listing Mam Chim alias Yan as Division Member of Division 164]; D114/145.1.17 List of Implicated People in Division 164, 12 Apr 1977, EN 01184593 [listing Yan as Division 164 Member]; D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750 [listing Mom Yan as Division 164 Member who was sent to S-21 in May 1977]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A8 [“Q: Do you know what happened to Chhan in 1976? A8: I heard that Ta Chan had become a traitor and was removed; he then disappeared”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A53 [“Ta Chhan was taken away first, and Ta Dim was taken away later”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A60 [“I do not know how many soldiers were sent back at that time. The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan's confession out loud in the meeting”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A27, 31 [“Mom Yan was in Division 164 in 1975 [...] Q: You said that he simply disappeared. According to this list, Mom Yan was arrested around May 1977. Can you tell us the circumstances of his disappearance? A31: he disappeared before I left for the East Zone [in 1977]”]; D54/104 Ek Ni alias Oek WRI, A5 [“Yan was a member of Division 164 [...] Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut”]; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A67 [“Q: Who was the commander of Division 164? A67: I learnt some information from an acquaintance, who was also a combatant in the armed struggle. He told me that Meas Muth was a commander of Division 164. I did not know who the deputy commander was. I knew Ta Dim, Ta Yan, and Ta Chhan served in Division 164”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [“Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A58 [“Q: Did you know if any members of Division 164 were sent to Tuol Sleng or Sa-21? A58: I just heard that Nget and Sras were arrested”]; D4.1.747 Aek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387291 [“3rd division political officer. ((Nong)) Chhan, was the political officer for the 3rd division. He was killed in a purge of command personnel from the division in 1976 near the Annhean (Anyean) pagoda in Kampong Som”].

249 D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 [“Nget was the Political Chairmam of Regiment 20; he was arrested during the purge period in around 1977”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4-5 [“As far as I remember, those arrested were: Yan, Commander of Regiment 22; Nget, Commander of Regiment 20; and, Vet, Commander of my battalion, and his wife Rim. [...] Those people disappeared forever except for Yeay Rim who is still alive. [...] A5: They were arrested at the end of 1977 or in early 1978”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A64 [“Q: Can you tell us the names of people you knew were taken away? A64: They were Nget, Dim, Yan, Chhan, Sokh and so on”].

250 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, EN 00184037 [“At the designated times, lower echelon must report to upper echelon on the situation and on work done”], EN 00184044 [“Go down close to the Sectors, Districts, Branches, and the specific bases of the Branches in the unions and cooperatives and in the Revolutionary Army, in order to lead the implementation of tasks, both among the popular masses and internally, to be always hot and active in plans according to the political lines of national defense and the construction of Democratic Kampuchea and according to the Party’s direction of socialist revolution and building socialism.”].

251 See para. 86.

252 D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, EN 00184033 [“Implementation of Party discipline is done though detailed examination, analysis, and deliberation standing on the principle of absolute collectivity”].

253 D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A16-17 [“As far as I know, as a commander of a marine division, Meas Mut was responsible for dealing with issues related to water borders. He was also responsible for screening the biographies of the marines and deciding whether to arrest or anyone who had committed mistakes. Q: How did you know that the division commanders were in charge of screening biographies of the soldiers? A17: I did not see all about this. This is just my assumption. I think it was the responsibility of the division commanders. Regarding the screening, if they found out that a soldier had siblings/relatives who had worked for the previous regime, that soldier would be removed and sent to a different place. He would be sent to a different unit to work at rice fields or farms. At that time, anyone who committed mistakes would be arrested; there was no court to rule whether the person was innocent or guilty. As for screening in my own case, investigators were sent to my village to verify if my biography was correct and whether or not I had siblings or relatives who had worked in the previous regime"; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A26-28 ["During the training period, the history and biography of each soldier was investigated. They even went to the soldiers' hometowns to obtain information. Q: Who made the announcement in that training meeting? A27: The chief of division, Meas Mut. Q: Was the phrase "to investigate at their (soldiers') hometowns" your own words, or was it said by Meas Mut? A28: The chief of the division Meas Mut advised the regiment commanders to obtain information on historical backgrounds of the East Zone soldiers from their hometowns, in order to find out whether or not those soldiers had good backgrounds"]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A40 ["Q: Was that the only time you were asked to have your autobiography recorded? A40: Yes, only that once. When I became a teacher, my autobiography was recorded frequently, twice a year. During that era, we had to conceal information. For instance, someone with high education would record that they studied only until Grade 7. If a person was a middle-class peasant, they would record that they were a lower-class peasant"].

254

D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A2-3 ["Q: you told us that the responsibility of division commanders such as Meas Mut was to screen out, arrest, and kill the wrongdoers. Please explain who those wrongdoers were. A2: The wrongdoers referred to those soldiers in the division who had committed mistakes. Q: What kinds of mistakes would account for them being arrested and killed in Division 164? A3: I am not sure what kinds of mistakes would reach the threshold for arrest and killing. However, I can suggest examples for those mistakes. Any soldier whose siblings at their base (hometown) had been arrested and accused of being traitors would also be arrested from within their unit. For instance, if the regimental chairman was arrested, his wife and family would also be arrested. However, I did not know what they did to those arrestees afterwards. In general, at that time, once arrested, the person would disappear forever. If a soldier was removed from his unit, he might be sent to work at another place. If a soldier was arrested, he would disappear. As I previously mentioned, if a regimental commander was arrested and accused of being a traitor, or a KGB or CIA agent, his wife, children, messenger and close acquaintances would also be arrested. In particular this applied to people accused of having connections with the Vietnamese"]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5 ["Q: Is what was read to you correct? Are there any inaccurate names or misspellings that you want to correct? A5: There are several mistakes. The special sector army and Battalion 386 were integrated in Division 3 after the liberation in 1975. In late 1976 or early 1977, all the commanders were arrested because the cadres of the sector were accused of being traitors. After all of them were arrested, my group was dissolved. We were then sent to cultivate rice. Anyone who refused to follow the order was killed. In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders. After that, in 1979 when the national rescuers arrived, they took us back to fight. We were armed again to fight against the National Salvation Front. We were forced to drive their tanks. We had to do it or we would be killed"]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A90-94 ["Q: Why did they demobilise your unit? A90: They accused us of being enemy links because our battalion/regimental commanders had all been arrested and shot dead. Q: Do you know why all the unit commanders were killed? A91: To this day I am still wonder why they killed them. Every time battalion/regiment commanders were called away to study at the cinema in Kampong Som, they disappeared and we never saw them return. Because of the long absence of battalion/regiment commanders from the unit, we asked one another about this. Some people said the training sessions had not yet come to an end. But after months passed, they still did not return. After our battalion/regiment commanders disappeared, our food ration became smaller and smaller, and each one of us was assigned to carry three cubic metres of earth a day to place on the top of a dam. Q: They demobilised and transformed your unit into a production unit, correct? A92: In fact, the division, thousands of troops, was demobilised. The demobilised troops were assigned to work in different production units and were sent to different work spear heads. Q: Who gave advance notice of the mobilisation? A93: The order clearly was issued by Ta Muth. Ta Muth's men gathered us for a meeting and told us we would be sent to different worksites. They combined personnel from different units to work in production units. Q: Did you attend the meeting, or did you hear about it from others? A94: Meetings were organised at each platoon and company. Personnel were required to attend. In had refused, I would have been killed"].

255

D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5 ["Q: Is what was read to you correct? Are there any inaccurate names or misspellings that you want to correct? A5: There are several mistakes. The special sector army and Battalion 386 were integrated in Division 3 after the liberation in 1975. In late 1976 or early 1977, all the commanders were arrested because the cadres of the sector were accused of being traitors. After all of them were arrested, my group was dissolved. We were then sent to cultivate rice. Anyone who refused to follow the order was killed. In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders. After that, in 1979 when the national rescuers arrived, they took us back to fight. We were armed again to fight against the National Salvation Front. We were forced to drive their tanks. We had to do it or we would be killed'']; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A23-25 ["Q: Was there any institution or unit in Kampong Som with authority over Division 3? A23: No, there was not. Ta Mut, the division chairman, had the greatest power. Ta Mut was very vicious. He was easily able to beat and shoot anyone. Q: Why do you say that? A24: For example, in the military, if a soldier made any mistake or did something inappropriate, he did not tell that soldier this or that: he remained silent, and then he beat that soldier unconscious. Q: Did you ever see such an event? A25: Yes, I once saw such an event first-hand after the victory in Phnom Penh. At that time, they had my unit build a railway from Veal Rinh to Kampot. A soldier was playfully throwing rocks into the woods. Ta Mut saw this, walked towards the soldier, and beat him unconscious. Later I heard other people say that he was still as vicious as he had been previously''].

256 D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A70 ["Q: To clarify, you said earlier that Ta Muth's men were sent to disband your group and regiment. How did you know that those men followed Ta Muth's orders? A70: If they did not follow him, they would have been in trouble. If they did not follow him, they would have been killed. They would have been killed too. If they did not follow him, they would have died even sooner than us"].

257 D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A8-10 ["I knew for sure that Meas Mut was the division chief alone. Meas Mut was the chief of Division 3 and directly controlled the regiments and battalions. Q: You said Meas Mut was the general chief of the division. Can you describe his responsibilities? A9: Meas Mut was generally responsible for food supplies, ammunition and weapons. Q: As chief of Division 3, could Meas Mut punish and discipline the troops? A10: [On] the battlefield, [it] was a life-and-death situation. Nobody dared make mistakes. Everyone strictly obeyed the rules, so nobody made mistakes because all of them were scared. There were self-criticism meetings. People had to follow their orders and assignments"].

258 D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A23-25 ["Q: Was there any institution or unit in Kampong Som with authority over Division 3? A23: No, there was not. Ta Mut, the division chairman, had the greatest power. Ta Mut was very vicious. He was easily able to beat and shoot anyone. Q: Why do you say that? A24: For example, in the military, if a soldier made any mistake or did something inappropriate, he did not tell that soldier this or that: he remained silent, and then he beat that soldier unconscious. Q: Did you ever see such an event? A25: Yes, I once saw such an event first-hand after the victory in Phnom Penh. At that time, they had my unit build a railway from Veal Rinh to Kampot. A soldier was playfully throwing rocks into the woods. Ta Mut saw this, walked towards the soldier, and beat him unconscious. Later I heard other people say that he was still as vicious as he had been previously''].

259 D4.1.786 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00381027-28 ["I would like to bring up here an obvious example in which Ta Mok personally came to give the instructions at the office of my District. At that time Ta Mut also came to meet me the District office. Ta Mok scolded Ta Mut who had ordered the killing of comrade Käng Chea, the ammunition guard of Mr. Soeung alias Keut who was the commander of a military division. Ta Mok asked [...] 'why did you always kill my men? If you were not sure [who they were], why didn't you ask comrade Chim.' Ta Mok added, 'In the future do not do like that again.' This story was as follows: One day Mut received a report from Nhöv telling him that Käng Chea was hiding ammunition in a trench. After Ta Mut had received that report, in that evening, he came to see me at the District office and ordered me to call Käng Chea to meet with him. So, land one militia went to call Käng Chea. But I told Ta Mut that there was no problem with Käng Chea. Ta Mut still insisted that I had to call Käng Chea to see him. At that time [I let] the militia to go alone to take Kang Chea to meet with Ta Mut, I did not go to see him. At mid night I heard the sound of gunfire of AK [47] in the forest nearby. Next morning I called that militia to ask how was comrade Chea; the militia answered that comrade Chea was executed. This happened in about 1974. After liberation day in 1975, Ta Mok used to give the instructions during the meeting that there should not be arbitrary killing"].

260 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A54 ["Orders were transmitted from division to regiment, from regiment to battalion, from battalion to company, and from company directly to the personnel"]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A68, 140 ["The radio was on all the time. The regiment gave orders to lower units in hierarchical order [...] A140: The order came from the upper echelon. At that time, the upper echelon was only Meas Muth. Meas Muth also received his orders from his upper echelon. Sometimes, Meas Muth made decisions by himself. Meas Muth's subordinates did not dare make decisions by themselves"]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI (telegram decoder, Regiment 62, Division 164), A9 ["Q: At Regiment 63 level of Division 164, did you receive instructions from other levels besides Division 164? A9: No, I did not. Everything I received was from Division 164”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968404 [“When we saw ... we reported to the Regiment, and the Regiment reported to the Division. Then, the Division told the Regiment what action would be taken, and the Regiment told the Battalion accordingly, and they used my group”]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A6 [“Speaking about the order to attack, I did not receive the order from the Division directly. The order came directly from the chief of my pursuit-vessel unit”]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A19 [“Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A22 [“All of the decisions came from the senior leader. His deputy could issue the orders only when Ta Mut was absent. In the battalion, Han issued the orders. Other people could speak, communicate, or write down the orders, but decision-making was chairman's work. In a case where the deputy chairmen, the members, and chairman were absent, everyone discussed the measures to be taken, but decisions were made by the chairman”]; D114/287 Heang Reth WRI, A34, 37 [“I did not participate in the meetings with Meas Muth directly. The battalion chief directly participated in the meetings with Meas Muth and he passed the information onto my unit. [...] A37: Each representative of the units further conveyed the events to their respective units. However, the message that was further conveyed was not different from the original plan that the division received”]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073826 [“The meetings were not held regularly. Sometimes, high-ranking cadre came to meet him, and then they only relayed instructions to us lowranking cadres”].

261 D114/19.1 Report from Mak Chhoeun to Meas Muth, 5 Jan 1976, EN 01513919; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A20 [telegram decoder, Regiment 62, Division 164: “Then we summarised each point, wrote the important points into the report in the order of their significance, and wrote all of the points into that one report”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI (former commander of Regiment 550, Division 164), A26, 28, 34 [“I reported to a radio operator in the division, who then relayed my report to the the division commanders, Ta Mut and Ta Dim [...] A28: Yes, I used C-25 radios and telegraphs. When I sent a report by telegraph, I sent it to the regiment directly, and the whether or not they relayed that report on to the division was up to them [...] A34: As the most senior commander in overall charge, Meas Mut wanted to know what happened in the division. Generally, I had to report to the regiment, and the regiment relayed the reports to him”]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A104 [platoon commander in Battalion 450: “I reported to the company commander, who reported to the battalion. Then the battalion reported to the upper echelon”]; D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A142 [“When their ships left on operations, the division commander ordered the regiment to prepare the ships in order to depart to conduct operations. But when the ship arrived in the middle of the sea and they encountered fighting, they had to communicate to the regiment, and then the regiment continued communicating to the division”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968404 [“When we saw [...] we reported to the Regiment, and the Regiment reported to the Division”]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A19 [“Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons”]; D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [chairwoman of the mobile unit: “Q: So, when you needed something, you sent your request to Granduncle Nhan, and then Granduncle Nhan would forward it to Granduncle Mut. A: Yes, he forwarded to Granduncle Mut”].

262 D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A19 [“I do not know. As I told you, orders to capture boats and send them somewhere were given by higher level. The orders stated clearly that we had to report every detail of our investigations on the sea of Cambodia; those orders were from higher level”]. See, e.g., D1.3.34.14 Telegram 15 from Dim to Meas Muth, 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 [Dim reports on ships entering the maritime region, rice supplies and requests oil for the boats]; D1.3.14.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Meas Muth, 13 Jul 1977 [Moeun describes the enemy situation at Ochheuteal and Koh Rong Samloem island, criticises the conduct of one transportation worker at Ochheuteal, and requests a decision from Meas Muth on whether to take a Vessel No. 2 for repair to Ream].

263 D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 13.45.51-13.50.21 [“if the forces at the battlefield at Kratie had to report, the report would be submitted to Muth and the reports had to be made since he had to be informed of how many weapons or ammunition [were] needed. And then they would communicate with each other at the upper level”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22, 25 [“When the Vietnamese struck us along the border, Meas Mut always went to check the situation at the front line [...] A25: From what I knew, in the name of the Deputy of the General Staff, he had to go to examine the situation locations where disputes occurred along the border”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A11-17, 19 [“Meas Muth worked on the General Staff, so he had authority to order three branches of the military forces. A12: [In October 1978] we requested help from Meas Mut, and he told Rum to wait a bit – that afternoon he sent the aircraft to help us [...] A13: As a messenger, I worked in the office with the telegraph operator and the commander, so I knew what happened in that office. Q: When you said that Meas Mut ordered Rum to wait, did he communicate via telegram or radio? A14: He replied back via telegram. Q: Were the reports sent from Division 117 to Meas Muth on a daily basis, or were they sent only when something happened? A15: Before the fighting, the reports were routinely sent on a daily basis, but after the fighting started, reports were sent every time anything happened [...] A16: The reports were sent to the General Staff, not to any specific person, but we knew that a person who got the telegrams worked for someone. For example Thi and Kung were Meas Mut’s messengers. Q: How did you know that Meas Mut was the one who told Rum in the telegram to wait for the aircraft? A17: I saw the telegram. [...] A19: Meas Mut began to be involved in responsibility for the eastern border in 1978 when the Vietnamese soldiers were striking strongly”]; D114/285 Bun Sarath (Prum Sarat) WRI, A224 [“When Meas Muth travelled to Kratie, the important purpose was the war along the border between Cambodia and Vietnam. The fighting was intensive”].

264

Meas Muth has himself admitted going to Kratie. However, inconsistent with all other evidence on the Case File, he stated that this occurred in February 1978: D54/16/1R Audio Recording of Interview with Meas Muth by David Kattenburg, Apr 2009, 34:37-35:28 [“I was not at Kampong Som. In February 1978 I had left Kampong Som already. Q: Where did he go? A: I was assigned to work in Kratie province near the Lao border. Q: So he left Division 164 entirely in February 1978? A: No, I still had my position but I was assigned for another mission in Kratie”]. See D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.38.26-15.41.36 [“There was a reshuffle, new cadres went to replace the old ones and the old ones were sent to Phnom Penh, and after that they disappeared. That happened during the intensified situation pursued by the Vietnamese or ‘Yuon’; and at the time, ‘Yuon’ took over the whole Snuol district. Muth went there”], 15.43.55-15.46.20 and D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.52.20-09.54.38 [testified to seeing a letter marked ‘M-870’ delivered by Meas Muth’s messengers, Thi and Kung, to Division 117 Commander, Rum, calling 11 individuals from Division 117 and Sector 505, to Phnom Penh and specifying details of their journey by air] confirming D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A24, 29 [“a messenger came from the airport to deliver a letter to Rom, the commander of Division 117, to have him attend a meeting in Phnom Penh [...] I saw that the letter was sent from the Office 870 (Mo-870) [...] That letter listed the names of 11 people who were called to attend the meeting [...] A29: [...] The persons who brought the letter from Office 870 to Rom were Thy and Kung. Thy and Kung were in charge of the telegraph in the messenger unit of Meas Mut”]; D54/60.2 Moeng Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992990 [“It was not until 1978 that [Meas Muth] went to Kratie after Von Vet was arrested”]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A42 [“Q: When did Meas Muth go to Kratie Sector? A42: In light of the fact that Ta Nhan went to command Division 117 about a month before the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers in approximately late November or early December 1978, I think that Meas Muth went there during that period”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A8-9 [“Meas Muth was sent to Kratie because at that time the arrests of cadres surged [...] A9: He went there in late 1978 for a short period of time, approximately two weeks or half a month”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A30 [“Muth was the one who sent those arrestees to Phnom Penh by plane. [...] I want to add for your understanding that Muth sent them by plane. Muth organized that”]; D114/170 Prum Mon WRI, A36, 38 [wife of Division 117 Secretary Khun Rom: “Lim told me that Ta Muth ordered to arrest my husband [...] A38: My husband, Ta Moeun, Ta Leang were all arrested”].

265

D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.46.29-13.50.40 [“Pheap was promoted to the secretary of the sector. Pheap came from the navy with Muth”], 13.51.58-13.57.20 [“When we arrived there, we were called to a meeting [...] At the meeting, Meas Muth made the announcement that Pheap (phonetic) was the secretary of the sector”]; D4.1.810 Seng Soeun WRI, A32 [“Sok Pheap was the committee chief of Sector 505 while I was the chief of sector office”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753837 [“Sok Pheap and Sao Phon became secretary and deputy secretary, respectively”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A24, 26-27 [“I learned that through a regiment of the navy that was under the command of Pheap who came to help my Division 117. At that time, a sweeping clean was being conducted. When Pheap came along with his regiment, he was promoted to Sector 505 Secretary, because at that time Moeun had already been arrested. [...] A26: [...] The regiment of Pheap was a special force of Meas Mut. A27: [Pheap’s naval regiment] probably [arrived in Kratie Province] at the end of November, 1978”]; D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 09.35.51-09.41.29 [Describing the meeting in Kratie where Meas Muth announced that the old leaders

“were considered traitors” and that “commanders of divisions had to be replaced with the new ones”. Meas Muth told the meeting that Nhan would replace the old divisional commander]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A1-3 [Stating that in the meeting, Meas Mut “announced the changing of division leadership” saying, “Nhan will replace Rum in Division 117”]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A35, 40-41 [“Ta Nhan came to take charge of Division 117 [...] A40: Meas Muth came to organise Division 117 and assigned Ta Nhan commander of Division 117 [...] A41: I learned that through the new commander, Ta Nhan. Ta Nhan said, ‘Brother Meas Muth has come to Kratie to reorganise Division 117’”]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A5-6 [“Nhanh was one of the people who went to Kratie with Meas Muth. [...] A6: [...] Meas Mut brought with him some people like Nhann, commander of the special unit and other commanders he trusted. I knew that these people went to Kratie because during a meeting my commander made an announcement to us regarding names of leaders and where they would go”]; D114/157.1.3 Chen Phat DC-Cam Statement, EN 01507038-39 [“At that time, Uncle Nhan was sent to replace [Rum and Leang] [...] He went there to replace them, taking charge of the division”]; D114/203 Menh Noeum WRI, A44 [“Did you ever know Nhan after the arrest of Rom? A44: Yes I did. He was also the chief of the division [117]”]; D114/102 Em Sarin WRI, A25 [positively identifying D114/18.1, a photo of Kim Nhan as the Nhan who was in Kratie in 1978]. See also D114/191 Sao So WRI, A46 [Confirming seeing Nhan in Kratie in December 1978]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun (Ma Chhoeun) WRI, A16-17 [Former subordinate of Nhan in Kampong Som stating that he stopped reporting to him “shortly before the Vietnamese arrived” “because Ta Nhan was sent away [...] to fight against the Vietnamese at the border”].

266 D54/60.2 Moeng Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00993000 [“Q: Only Meas Mut [was a superior]? A: Yes”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A23 [“Muth was acting in the name of the government, what was then called the government [...] They had Muth [come] to organize both the military and civilian side in Kratie Sector. The Sector Military and the divisions were in the hands of Muth”].

267 D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 10.58.45-11.00.50 [“I travelled to somewhere only when the Vietnamese entered the country and Meas Muth ordered me to gather the soldiers”], 13.37.25-14.03.52 [“I received an order from Muth to gather forces who were fleeing from the Cambodian-Vietnamese border area at the time”] confirmed in D114/297.1.28 Seng Soeun, T. 30 Aug 2016, 09.04.50-09.06.50 [“When I arrived in Kratie province [...] my sole task at the time was – with instructions from Meas Muth was to gather forces who fled from the Cambodian-Vietnamese border area, that is, from Snuol”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A26, 30 [“The regiment of Pheap was a special force of Meas Mut. [...] A30: [...] Meas Mut told them, [...] ‘So the more senior soldiers go fight the Yuon. As for the little ones, transport supplies to Stung Treng’”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A10-11 [“The next day I saw Nhan get a telegram stating that Meas Mut had arrived in Phnom Penh [...] A11: Meas Mut worked on the General Staff, so he had the authority to order three branches of the military forces”]. See also D54/60.2 Moeng Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00993000 [“He told the superior to fight against Yuon [Vietnamese], including Ta Nhann”].

268 D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.55.39-13.58.19, 13.59.45-14.00.52 [testifying to hearing Muth in the Sector 505 office reporting to Sou Met]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A24 [“Phon, Pheap, and Muth were together and slept together there. Each had their own bodyguard, but they all gathered together there”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A23 [“When Meas Muth went to Kratie, where did he stay? A23: I did not know, but generally he stayed at Kou Loab Village where the regiment of Division 164 was deployed”].

269 D98/3.1.316 Yun Kim, T. 19 Jun 2012, 10.10.11-10.12.03 [“During all the study sessions that I attended, most of the contents were extracted from the ‘Revolutionary Flag’ magazines, because that magazine was the core document to provide us guidelines and instructions”]; D98/3.1.129 Kim Vun, T. 22 Aug 2012, 11.39.34-11.41.20 [“As for the ‘Revolutionary Flag’ [...] we received information from the leaders, particularly with the directions from the leaders and that was meant to train cadres in the lower rank”]; D98/3.1.21 Chhaom Se, T. 8 Apr 2013, 11.54.34-11.57.10 [“there were ongoing training and circulation of the issue of this ‘Revolutionary Flag’ so this ‘Revolutionary Flag’ were material used for training, as well, in order to redirect the direction of the leadership of the Party”]; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A57-59 [“Q: When you attended the educational meeting with Son Sen, what was the substance he spoke about? Did he use the Revolutionary Journal or the Revolutionary Youth Journal in his teaching? A57: The educational meeting was the regular general education. The Revolutionary Flag Journals were generally distributed to the party members and the Communist Youths of Kampuchea. Q: Did you ever receive and read any Revolutionary Flag Journals? A58: At that time they generally distributed them to the Communist Youths of Kampuchea and the party members. Q: How often did they distribute them? A59: They distributed them monthly”]; D4.1.856 Nam Che WRI, EN

00365650 ["Q: Did all people have to implement what was in the magazines and the Revolutionary Flag? A: Yes, all people had to implement and follow what was in the magazines and the Revolutionary Flag"].

270 D98/1.2.34 Sao Sarun, T. 11 Jun 2012, 09.48.02-09.52.48, 09.57.19-10.05.54, 10.22.31-10.31.22 confirming D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278694, 97; D4.1.793 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00403024-26 [witness testified that "representatives of all divisions" attended the September 1978 Congress in Phnom Penh during which the June 1978 CPK Central Committee Directive (D4.1.583) was read and "distributed"].

271 See, e.g., D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478496 ["As for the enemies that are 'CIA', 'KGB', and 'Y[uon]' agents, the cheap running dogs of the enemy that sneakily embedded [...] been smashed [...] smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads. By doing this, we will create the preconditions for us to attack the enemy even stronger during 1978, and in future years and we will achieve additional major victories"], 00478501 ["It is imperative to indoctrinate and whip-up the masses [...] make the enemy be like a rat surrounded by a crowd of people beating and smashing it. [...] It is imperative to purge, to clean up, and to sweep clean the no-good elements and the enemy elements by further strengthening and expanding the good elements that successively emerge from the movements"], 00478502 ["One very important issue that has to be concentrated on is clearly unmasking again and again the 'CIA' and their agents, the 'KGB' and their agents, the territory swallowing 'Y[uon]' and their running dogs...permanently clean"]; D4.1.653 Revolutionary Flag, Jun 1977, EN 00446857-58 ["Whip up and educate the masses [...] and have them clearly see how the internal embedded enemies carry out their activities; have them absorb this so they will become an enemy-seeking and enemy-attacking force"], 00446861-62 ["None of the private regimes were able to rise up [...] continue to sweep them clean even more strongly. Attack the enemy, sweep clean the foreign agent enemies, the embedded enemies, the class enemies; don't let them be able to keep trying to carry out activities, even a little"]; D10.1.59 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1977, EN 00399240 ["The no-good classes holding power in the cooperatives, what is their true nature? They are counter-revolutionary"]; D4.1.864 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1977, EN 00486230 ["What remained was just to arouse the peasants to see the contradictions, and to bum with class hatred and take up the struggle. This was the key issue, the fundamental issue which was decisive for victory"], 00486253 ["We do not consider these traitors, these counterrevolutionary elements, to be part of the people. They are enemies of Democratic Kampuchea, of the Kampuchean revolution and of the Kampuchean people"]; D4.1.865 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1977, EN 00182549 ["There are concealed enemies everywhere in our ranks, the Centre, the general staffs, the zones and the bases. It would be dangerous not to take measures in time"]; D4.1.866 Revolutionary Flag, Feb 1978, EN 00464065 ["enemies of every type continue carry out activities in various forms—aggression, espionage, pressure, threat, sabotage, boring holes from within—to harass us and to make our country their defeated subject with the intent to overthrow our revolutionary state authority"]; D4.1.45 Revolutionary Youth, Feb 1978, EN 00278714 ["Our present and future task is to constantly raise high our spirit of revolutionary vigilance in order to defend our national independence [...] which all types of enemies seek the opportunity to break, trample upon, destroy, and make disappear"]; D1.3.24.5 Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185324 ["We have seen more [...] of the noxious nature of internal enemies [...] we must strengthen the class struggle [...] in order to eliminate successively both internal and external enemies, but particularly internal enemies"], 00185342 ["Our duty is therefore is to attack absolutely [...] enemy is being smashed to smithereins, scattered to the winds and liquidated"], 00185343 ["We must see the enemy's face clearly [...] sweep them cleanly away, sweep, and sweep and sweep again and again ceaselessly, so that our Party forces are pure, our leading forces at every level and in every sphere are clean at all times"]; D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1978, EN 00428291 ["During the first 6 months of 1978, our Party has impelled forward the countrywide movement to sweep cleanly away the concealed enemy boring from within [...] in each of these places [...] But the concealed enemies who were running-dog agents of the Yuon were the life and death foes who were noxious to the uttermost and of the uttermost danger"], 00428296 ["In order to sweep out the concealed enemy even more absolutely cleanly [...] expanding the purge in the ranks of the Party, the ranks of the masses and in the army"], 00428297, 00428301-02 ["The concealed enemies boring from within were exposed. We were able to maintain and protect the revolutionary forces and expand the revolutionary forces, to purge the bad elements, and continue leading the masses in struggle and to gain further victories"], 00428303 ["Even more particularly, in the great mass movement to attack and smash [...] genocidal Yuon enemy [...] bringing about a strategic victory for the nation, the people, the Party and the revolution"]; D4.1.870 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1978 ["Any member of the Party who...is clean...has a good future [...] To the contrary, any member of the Party who [...] is not clean [...] lives a life different from the revolutionary style [...] entangled with the enemy [...] will certainly and without fail will flow counter to the currents of the revolution”].

272 D54/16/1R Meas Muth Audio Interview with David Kattenburg, 2009, 03:45-05:45 [Meas Muth confirmed that he attended big meeting attended by Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, Son Sen, and Khieu Samphan]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183990; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977. See also D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A30-31 [“Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh. Q: How did you know it? A31: I knew it because my chief, Krin also joined such meetings”]; D4.1.408 Chhouk Rin alias Sok WRI, EN 00268871-72 [“High-level military commanders, including myself, received orders by telegram to travel to the East Zone, and we also received verbal orders in a special military meeting in Phnom Penh attended by military commanders. This meeting was held during about the same time as the Party annual General Assembly. There were separate meetings for the military commanders and the civil side. I attended the meeting for military commanders, with approximately 40 to 50 division and regimental commanders in attendance. Pol Pot talked to us; then Ta Mok spoke on the point of the necessity of ‘the internal purge of the Party’. Nuon Chea spoke of ‘cleansing the Party ranks’. The decision to purge the East Zone was made jointly by the Standing Committee, with Son Sen acting on the orders of Pol Pot and Nuon Chea and Ta Mok, who were all present during the meeting. Among the military commanders present were Meas Muth, Ieng Phan, Sokh Chhean (Phan’s Deputy), Thy Au and Thy Pousse. The meeting to provide instructions on the purge was held at a different site from that of the Party General Assembly which was held at the Olympic Stadium. This meeting to provide instructions was held at the Military Headquarters near Boeng Trabek. That decision may be found in the CPK Flag Magazine, Issue 7, and it was discussed in the annual General Assembly in late 1977. Those who had the right to attend the assembly on the CPK Flag Issue 7 had to be Party members”].

273 See, e.g., D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Respected Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976; D1.3.12.3 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976; D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976; D1.3.4.1 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976; D1.3.2.2 Telegram 10 from 89 (Son Sen) to Comrade Mut (Meas Muth) and Division 164, 4 Nov 1976; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978; D4.1.637 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978; D1.3.12.2 DK Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown). See also D114/29.1.6 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00350263 [“Sector military had the right to report only to the Sector Committee. As for the Centre Divisions, they had to report directly to the Centre. [...] A division referred to the army and it belonged to the Centre”]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 [“Meas Mut reported directly to the General Staff, to Son Sen”]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI (Chief of company 8, Battalion 420, Regiment 21), A9 [“Yes. This was not only for Division 164 but for any division belong to the central level. Commanders of those divisions were members of the general staff head quarter. When a division became a division of the central level, the commander of such division would become a member of the general staff committee”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces”]; D1.3.13.13 Touch Soeuli OCP Statement, EN 00217575 [“The Naval Headquarters communicated directly with the General Staff Headquarters in Phnom Penh and with the Southwest Zone under Ta Mok”].

274 D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976 [telegram from the deputy of Meas Muth describing amongst other matters the enemy situation in Kampong Som. Copied to Nuon Chea, Son Sen, Office 870, and Documentation]; D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Mut (Meas Muth) to M-870, 31 Dec 1977 [describing Meas Muth’s commitment to “sweeping cleanly away without hesitation the enemy’s hidden agents, both the Vietnamese and others” and to fight the territory-swallowing Vietnamese. This telegram was copied to Uncle (Pol Pot), Uncle Nuon (Nuon Chea), Brother Van (Ieng Sary), Brother Von, Brother Khieu (Son Sen), Office and Documentation]; D1.3.30.25 Confidential Telephone Messages from Mut, 1 Apr 1978 [report on the arrest and the killing of 120 Vietnamese in the period 27 March 1978 to 30 March 1978. Copied to Nuon Chea, Pol Pot, Brother Van (Ieng Sary) and Documentation]; D1.3.12.2 DK

Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown) [report describing the attack and capture of Thai fishing boats. Copied to Brother 87 (Vorn Vet), Brother, and Documentation].

D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, art. 19, EN 00184044 ["Manage the property of Zone organizations and administer discipline in the Zone framework, maintaining a system of reporting to the Central Committee on the situation and the work of the Zone"].

D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A3-5 [witness worked as a telephone operator for Meas Muth: "Q: Please try to recall who from the Centre called to speak to the commander of Division 164, Meas Mut. What were their names? A3: I do not remember the names. I just remember the number K-1. Q: How often did K-1 call? A4: Sometimes once per day and sometimes once every two days. At that time, there were calls back and forth between Meas Mut, the commander of Division 164 and the Centre, but I did not know how they made the calls. So I cannot tell you. Q: In general, when K-1 called, did you connect the calls to Meas Mut's house directly, or did you connect them to another place? A5: I connected them to Ta Mut's house directly"].

D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933835, KH 00052305 ["Comrade Pheap [speaking of enemies]: [...] Inside the unit or organization, one platoon cadre named Heng persuaded combatants to drink alcohol. One company cadre named Chamroeun contradicted the prohibition that doesn't allow the free picking of fruit to eat"]; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940349, KH 00052410 ["Comrade Oeun: [...] In total, we have got 36 no-goods. Their action was to incite the brothers and sisters to drink insecticide, and a whole platoon was poisoned"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940349, KH 00052410 [Comrade Pheap: [...] "In the units of organisation there are inferior persons: those who believe in the enemy's tricks, those who are lazy, those who pretend to be ill and those who are discontented with the regime"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940338, KH 00052403 [Comrade Suong: "Those cadres whose parents had been swept out by us have manifested an authoritarian attitude in relation to the masses"]; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933834, KH 00052305 [Comrade Chhin: [...] "There are still enemies within the unit or organization. We have to follow this up and have been able to grasp a number of them. – After the studies, those who came from Vietnam, the children of soldiers, sub-district chiefs and police were purged and sent to do production in one place"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940347-48, KH 00052409 ["Comrade Pin [...] The reason for the treason is these men's contradictions about status and rank [...] Some remain: diehards, those who rob and steal, and those making contradictions about status and rank, of whom 80 have been concentrated in one place"]; 00940352 [Son Sen: "These experiences have further heightened our concerns about those elements with no-good biographies, whose ideology is highly status- and rank-oriented"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940338-39, KH 00052403-04 [Cases of desertion are discussed by Suong, San]; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656381 [Division 170 – Comrade Sok [...] E. Enemy situation: "Within the unit they were people often defecting"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940349, KH 00052410 [Comrade Oeun: "There is the phenomenon of those who are concealing their biographies, all the way up to the company cadre level, those who originally were White Khmer or who have lived with the Vietnamese"].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940342-43 [Son Sen explains how Chakrei, "a Khmer Serei link" and his boss Chhouk, the Secretary of Sector 24 were arrested for contacts with Vietnam "to make arrangements to attack our Party's leading apparatus. They would attack from the inside while Vietnam would attack from the outside [...] Chhouk's responses ultimately implicated Ya. We arrested Ya [...] The enemy to the East: The key plan of the enemy of the East, the Vietnamese with the Soviets behind them, was to attack from the inside through the traitorous forces of Ya, Keo Meas, Chhouk and Chakrei"], 00940353 ["The enemy will continue to conduct minor activities in the sea and along the border. As for the trivial enemies within, it is imperative to pay attention to them and to prevent them from conducting activities, so as to defend the Party and the fruits of the Revolution"], 00940354 ["In our status as an army, we must know the subjects that we must attack, namely American imperialism, and the Vietnam revisionists and their traitorous henchmen"].

See III. 2. Meas Muth's DK Role – Deputy Secretary of the the General Staff, para. 53.

D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A30-31 ["Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh. Q: How did you know it? A31: I knew it because my chief, Krin also joined such meetings"].

286 D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 2 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.12 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.16 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.19 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976; D1.3.8.7 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Oct 1876; D1.3.27.21 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 11 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.23 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 15 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.

287 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 76; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.

288 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 76; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.

289 Internal enemies were not discussed at the following meetings: D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976; D234/2.1.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 27 Jun 1976; D1.3.27.11 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 12 Aug 1976. Internal enemies were discussed at the following meetings: D1.3.27.8 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 May 1976; D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 2 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.12 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Aug 1976; D1.3.27.16 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.19 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Sep 1976; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976; D1.3.8.7 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Oct 1876; D1.3.27.21 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 11 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976; D1.3.27.23 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 15 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.

290 D4.1.655 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00143159 [Comrade Mut: 1. Enemy situation: "In Kang Keng there is also a thief which mainly committed by soldiers"].

291 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933835, KH 00052305 [Comrade Maut: "A number of the cadres and combatants guarding the depots used to be with the traitors as their bodyguards for long. One platoon of depot units of organization has been purged, but they are not yet all gone or reliable"]. Son Sen responded to Meas Muth: EN 00933844, KH 00052311 ["4. As for depots, it is imperative to be vigilant against those mixed up with traitorous elements, and they must be removed. Purge the insiders make them clean"].

292 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933841.

293 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977.

294 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183987 ["It is imperative to purge absolutely no-good elements, but don't be left or right"].

295 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940340-45. See S-21 confessions: D4.1.22, D4.1.651 S-21 Confession of Chan Chakrey alias Nov Mean, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00183019-85 (Excerpts) [arrested on 19 May 1976]; D4.1.943 S-21 Confession of Suos Neou alias Chhouk alias Men alias VIII, EN [arrested on 31 Aug 1976]; D10.1.120 S-21 Confession of Men San alias Ney Saran alias Achar Sieng alias Ya, EN 00769572-78 [arrested on 20 Sep 1976].

296 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940344.

297 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940346, 00940348-50.

298 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940351.

299 See para. 172.

300 See VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre.

301 See VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164.

302 D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A40-41 ["Q: Was that the only time you were asked to have your autobiography recorded? A40: Yes, only that once. When I became a teacher, my autobiography was recorded frequently, twice a year. During that era, we had to conceal information. For instance, someone with high education would record that they studied only until Grade 7. If a person was a middle-class peasant, they would record that they were a lower-class peasant. The regime was carrying out a revolution, eradicating the capitalist class, the bourgeoisie, and the feudalists. We had to conceal information because they wanted to abolish the upper layers. The revolution aimed at abolishing the feudalist regime and the Capitalists. Q: What did 'abolish' mean? A41: 'Abolish' meant to wipe them out in order to establish level class, so that there was no rich and no poor. I do not know. For example, if we talk about those with tendencies, those who were fairly rich, I never met any. My parents were also evacuated from their house during the regime, but I did not know who carried that out. I was at Kamsei and was evacuated to Khvav Taset”].

303 D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A16-17 [“As far as I know, as a commander of a marine division, Meas Mut was responsible for dealing with issues related to water borders. He was also responsible for screening the biographies of the marines and deciding whether to arrest or anyone who had committed mistakes. Q: How did you know that the division commanders were in charge of screening biographies of the soldiers? A17: I did not see all about this. This is just my assumption. I think it was the responsibility of the division commanders. Regarding the screening, if they found out that a soldier had siblings/relatives who had worked for the previous regime, that soldier would be removed and sent to a different place. He would be sent to a different unit to work at rice fields or farms. At that time, anyone who committed mistakes would be arrested; there was no court to rule whether the person was innocent or guilty. As for screening in my own case, investigators were sent to my village to verify if my biography was correct and whether or not I had siblings or relatives who had worked in the previous regime”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A2-3 [“Q: [...] you told us that the responsibility of division commanders such as Meas Mut was to screen out, arrest, and kill the wrongdoers. Please explain who those wrongdoers were. A2: The wrongdoers referred to those soldiers in the division who had committed mistakes. [...] Q: What kinds of mistakes would account for them being arrested and killed in Division 164? A3: I am not sure what kinds of mistakes would reach the threshold for arrest and killing. However, I can suggest examples for those mistakes. Any soldier whose siblings at their base (hometown) had been arrested and accused of being traitors would also be arrested from within their unit. For instance, if the regimental chairman was arrested, his wife and family would also be arrested. However, I did not know what they did to those arrestees afterwards. In general, at that time, once arrested, the person would disappear forever. If a soldier was removed from his unit, he might be sent to work at another place. If a soldier was arrested, he would disappear. As I previously mentioned, if a regimental commander was arrested and accused of being a traitor, or a KGB or CIA agent, his wife, children, messenger and close acquaintances would also be arrested. In particular this applied to people accused of having connections with the Vietnamese”].

304 D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A26-28 [“Q: Was the announcement about the East Zone made in the permanent meeting or in any special meeting? A26: The announcement was made in a special meeting where only certain battalion and regiment leaders were selected to attend. The announcement about the East Zone soldiers was not made publicly. I remember that those East Zone soldiers were not informed because they were regarded as enemies. They only mentioned that those soldiers would be sent to get training in order to see whether or not they could be reformed. For those soldiers who could be reformed, they would then be sent back to their original units. For those who could not be reformed, they would be kept for further training. During the training period, the history and biography of each soldier was investigated. They even went to the soldiers' hometowns to obtain information. Q: Who made the announcement in that training meeting? A27: The chief of division, Meas Mut. Q: Was the phrase "to investigate at their (soldiers') hometowns" your own words, or was it said by Meas Mut? A28: The chief of the division Meas Mut advised the regiment commanders to obtain information on historical backgrounds of the East Zone soldiers from their hometowns, in order to find out whether or not those soldiers had good backgrounds”].

305 See VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164.

306 D54/17 Say Born WRI, A11-12 [“Q: Did Meas Mut talk about traitors in each session? A11: Yes. He said that we had to be on the lookout for enemy activities within our ranks. Q: What did that mean? A12: Meaning this was Meas Mut's guidance to the students: to watch for and report any such activities to upper echelon”].

307 D114/284 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A5-7 [“Q: We want you to explain the terms purge or destroy. What do those words mean in normal language? A5: Those who were related to this were Khmer, the soldiers. When they used the term ‘purge’ in the army, they referred to the Yuon network. However, we did not care with which network they were affiliated. We simply purged them from the inside, from within the army. Q: Are the words you read in the telegram the same as those you were taught in the meetings? A6: Yes, they are. Everything is the same. Q: Even though it is long ago, we want to know if you remember being in a meeting in which Ta Muth talked about traitors. At that time, did they use the same words as are used in this document? A7: Yes, they did. Everything is the same”].

308 D114/58 Sam Saom WRI, A23, 25-27 [“Q: When you said Meas Muth attended the study sessions once in a while, what do you mean? A23: When I attended a study session, Meas Muth opened and closed it, and he also came to speak at the study session. I do not know about other study sessions I had not joined [...] A25: There were about 50 or 60 people for each session. They participants were both civilians and soldiers from various units under Division 164. Q: In the study session that Meas Muth attended did he or other speakers talk about the situation of the enemies including the internal and external enemies? A26: Yes, they did. But I do not remember. I did not understand those matters. They talked about KGB, the Vietnamese spies and so on. Q: Did they give instructions on how to deal with those enemies, especially the internal ones? A27: They spoke about watching enemies' activities at cooperatives"].

309 D98/1.2.1 Kaing Guev Eav alias Duch, T. 18 May 2009, 10.30.11-10.33.01 ["At first, low-ranking combatants only came to S-21 if arrested in Phnom Penh. Agree. As a general rule, high-ranking enemies inside the Party, state, military, or security apparatuses were sent to S-21 having been implicated with a process which consisted of obtaining confessions from others previously arrested"]; D1.3.33.9 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00178060-61 ["Initially, S-21 was just for important prisoners, or those from Phnom Penh, as well as members of the Central Committee. At first, low ranking combatants only came to S21 if arrested in Phnom Penh. Yet subsequently, when the repression intensified, S-21 also received people from the countryside"].

310 See VIII.C. Division 164 Security Centres; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites; VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites.

311 D98/1.2.6 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 27 May 2009, 09.33.54 ["the confessions from S-21 [...] were delivered to my superior and then my superior gave to Sou Met and Sou Met would -- selected some of the names from those from Division 502"], 09.57.12-10.00.15, 10.34.00; D4.1.400 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242880 ["Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head"]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680799 ["before making any decisions, Son Sen always asked for comments and assistance from the heads of the divisions"]; D4.1.860 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00403918 ["In practice, when a person was implicated in a confession, the superiors informed the head of the unit"]; D4.1.404 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242932 ["The confession was sent to the unit head for two reasons: on the one hand, to inform the unit head of enemy activities within that unit, and on the other hand, to allow him to contemplate the arrest of implicated persons"].

312 D98/1.2.6 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 27 May 2009, 09.33.54 ["the confessions from S-21 [...] were delivered to my superior and then my superior gave to Sou Met and Sou Met would -- selected some of the names from those from Division 502"], 09.57.12-10.00.15, 10.34.00; D4.1.400 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242880 ["Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head"]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680799 ["before making any decisions, Son Sen always asked for comments and assistance from the heads of the divisions"]; D4.1.860 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00403918-19 ["In practice, when a person was implicated in a confession, the superiors informed the head of the unit"]; D4.1.404 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242932 ["The confession was sent to the unit head for two reasons: on the one hand, to inform the unit head of enemy activities within that unit, and on the other hand, to allow him to contemplate the arrest of implicated persons"].

313 D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A5-9 ["Q: When were those commanders arrested? A5: [The commanders] were arrested at the end of 1977 or in early 1978. I did not see the arrests with my own eyes, but the arrests were mentioned in the unit meetings. Q: Who arranged these meetings about the arrests? A6: The information about the arrests was sent from the divisions to the platoons. Q: Did you know if Meas Mut was in charge of announcing the information? A7: Yes, I did. He was the division commander; therefore, he alone would be the person to pass the announcement to the lower levels. Q: How did you know about this? A8: He was the only person who could make the announcement because he was the division commander. However, the announcements of arrests were made only for the arrests of chairmen who were traitors, not for general arrests. Q: Did you ever, in person, listen to Meas Muth announce arrests? A9: No, I did not. But I received the information from the chairman of my battalion"].

314 D54/104 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A10 ["No, I did not know. During that time, I saw trucks which were fully covered, transporting prisoners to the east towards Phnom Penh at 3 p.m. every day. One day before my unit was disarmed and after Doem disappeared, I heard soldiers in the same unit, saying Doem and Chhan had been sent to control water pumps at Boeng Cheung Ek. At that time, I believed that it was true, but later on Ta Mut announced in a meeting about confessions o traitors, CIA and KGB agents, and after their disappearance, we knew those people had been arrested. In 1979, I just realized that S-21 and Boeng Cheung Ek were a prison and an execution site"].

- 315 D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A1-2 [“After that, Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim. I remembered hearing Meas Muth calling these men's names starting with the word 'A (the contemptible)' because 'A' was the derogatory word for use on the traitors. -Ta Ya and Ta Thuch were cadres at the Zone level, but I did not know which Zone they were from. Ta Nhek was the secretary of Sector 37. Chhan was the military commander of Division 164. Yan was the commander of a regiment unit of Sector 37. Dim came from the East Zone. He was Ta Mut's deputy. In Division 164, Meas Mut was number 1, Chhan was number 2, and Dim was number 3. Q: How can you still recall the names of these men very clearly even this event happened a long time ago? A2: Because these names were announced by Meas Muth in the meeting. And because I knew these persons well, I still remember their names although this event took place many years ago. Also, I can remember these names well because when they counted these names, it produced a rhyme like a poem. That is why it easy for me to remember these men's names”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3-5 [“As far as I can recollect, Vet was the Battalion 631 Chairman, but I was in Battalion 623 during that time. Vet was in the army, stationed in Kang Keng Airport, but he was arrested. I did not know if Vet is alive or dead, but I believe that he is dead because Ta Mut held a meeting and said about confessions. Ta Mut announced that Vet was traitorous. Q: Could you share with us your knowledge and information about Men Nget at Number 161? A4: Men Nget was a member of Division 164. He was arrested. I do not know if he is alive or dead. In 1990-1991, I met Men Nhet's son called Meang when the Khmer Rouge soldiers defected to the government. Meang told me that he went to live with his elder sister in Kampong Som, but I do not know his sister's name. I lost contact with Meang since UNTACT era in 1993. Q: Could you share with us your knowledge and information about Mom Choemalias Yan at Number 179? A5: Yan was a member of Division 164. Yan was from the Southwest Zone in charge of three battalions: Battalion 170, Battalion 180 and Battalion 132. These three battalions were under a regiment, but I do not know the name of that regiment. Ta Sros was the Commissioner of that regiment, and Yan was the Commander. Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut, ‘Nhoe, Chhan, Yan and Doem were traitors.’ Doem was from the East Zone”].
- 316 D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A18-21, 23, 32-34 [“Q: We would like to show you the document from Office S-21 bearing the name of Kung Kean alias Ing Vet document D1.3.18.4, with Khmer EN 00017305. He was the Secretary of Battalion 163, Regiment 63 and Division 164. A18: I also knew him because he taught us and talked with us. Everyone was aware of his arrest, because he was a prominent figure. At that time, he lived at Kang Keng Airport. Q: How was his arrest carried out? A19: We did not know how he was arrested. We just knew that he was arrested about a month after Dim and Chhan had been arrested. They had to arrest all of the people who were under Dim's and Chhan's command, and this arrest was also made public. Q: Did Meas Muth announce this arrest publicly? A20: Yes, he did. Q: Can you describe any more about this announcement? A21: I remember that the announcement was made on the Victory Commemoration Day of the 17 April, and was made in front of Division 164. The announcement was given at the far end of Au Chheour Teal Beach, where the Headquarters of the Navy was located. Q: Can you tell us anything else about that announcement? [...] A23: On that day, Meas Muth was the sole person who spoke before about 1,000 soldiers from Naval Division 164 and the relevant offices in the Division, such as the medical, transportation and logistics units. I saw Ta Seng and Ta Sam sitting on either side of Meas Muth as well. Amongst other matters, Meas Muth also announced that Chhan and Dim had been arrested for traitorous activities. [...] Q: You have just mentioned the accusations against your military friends. Do you remember if there was an announcement about such accusation during the meeting on the Victory Commemoration Day? During the Khmer Rouge regime, were those accusations addressed by a court of law? A32: They did not talk about the judiciary system, judges or official charges from any judiciary system regarding the prisoners. They just said that Angkar had to small the traitors. Q: Who said this? A33: Meas Muth said this. Q: Although it was a long time ago, can you try to recall the accusations, the ones that they mentioned in that announcement? A34: Meas Muth said that Dim and Chhan had plotted to remove him from his position and administer the division in order to form another government, which would oppose the Democratic Kampuchean Government”].
- 317 D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A91, 127-128 [speaks about Yean, Rem and Suor as the commanders as those who were taken away and killed under the pretext that they were being taken to study]; D54/101 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A9 [“It was Rem, who was the political commissar of Battalion 386, who was shot dead in front of Wat En Ta Nhean Pagoda”]; D114/40 Moul Chhin WRI, A74 [“Yean was Battalion 386 commander”]; D114/244

In Yoeu WRI, A12-13, 16 ["Before the fall of Phnom Penh, I was in the Sector 37 working as a physician in Battalion 386. Q: What was the name of your battalion commander at that time? A13: The commander of Battalion 386 was Yean [...] A16: The deputy commander was Rem"]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A16 ["it was that Yeun. He used to be the deputy commander of Battalion 386 while Rem was the commander"]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A15, 17-18 ["Q: Do you know Rem, who was a political commissioner for Battalion 386? A15: Yes, I do. I remember Rem and Suon Chhan [...] They were in charge of Battalion 386 and the sector military as a whole [...] A17: Our group was accused being the traitors. The entire Sector 37 military was accused of being the traitors. It was Ta Muth's group that made the arrests. Q: Do you still remember Rem's arrest? A18: Yes, I do. He was not the only person who got arrested. Everyone in senior positions, from commanders down to group chiefs was also arrested"]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A3 ["I have forgotten the name of the [Battalion 386] commander, but I can recall the name of the deputy commander, Yean, when this battalion evacuated people out of Kampong Som"]; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A62 ["I have lost contact with a few other people whom I knew such as Bang Rem, a commander of a navy regiment who was attached to Sector 37 [...] Bang Yeun was arrested and killed. Ek Ny knows about the arrest [...] Yean and Trea were killed. Yeun was in charge of a battalion. I am not sure if all of them were arrested and reeducated at Stueng Hav, I just know that they were arrested and then disappeared. I don't know whether or not they were taken to be killed. They just disappeared and we never saw them again"]; D114/105 Koch Tuy WRI, A18 ["Ta Yeun was the Battalion Commander. Ta Yean was his Deputy. Both of them are deceased. They were called to attend the study sessions in Kampong Som Province"]; D114/146 Uy Nhik (Nhock) WRI, A49 ["One of my elder brothers, Yean, who was a battalion deputy commander, was sent to help soldiers' families with the harvesting work near Kang Keng, and he disappeared at that time"].

318

D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A1 ["in late 1976 toward the beginning of 1977 [...] they had removed all troops of Battalion 386 from their positions and sent them to the Production Unit. After we had been disarmed [...] Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim"]; D54/104 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A3, 5, 9-10 ["Vet was in the army, stationed in Kang Keng Airport, but he was arrested [...] I believe that he is dead because Ta Mut held a meeting and said about confessions. Ta Mut announced that Vet was traitorous [...] A5: Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut, 'Nhock, Chhan, Yan and Doem were traitors' [...] A9: I think the name Doem in this document is Doem whom I have mentioned earlier regarding the rhyme, Contemptible Nhock, Contemptible Chhan, Contemptible Yan and Contemptible Doem [...] A10: I heard soldiers in the same unit, saying Doem and Chhan had been sent to control water pumps at Boeng Chheung Ek. At that time, I believed that it was true, but later on Ta Mut announced in a meeting about confessions of traitors, CIA and KGB agents, and after their disappearance, we knew those people had been arrested"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A56, 58-60, 63 ["We [disarmed Battalion 386 and East Zone soldiers] stopped at Kang Keng Airport and had a meeting there, in the morning. Meas Muth was the meeting chairperson [...] A58: [during the meeting] there were both guards and soldiers [...] Q: Were they armed? A59: Yes, they were [...] A60: The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan's confession out loud in the meeting [...] A63: I only remember when he talked about the traitors' confessions. He talked about Norng Chhan and my two superiors [...] Meas Muth just claimed that they were traitors"].

319

D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A10, 21, 23-24, 26 ["in late 1976 or early 1977, Meas Muth declared that Chey Chhan, who was the son of Chey Suon or Norng Suon [...] was a traitor who worked for the Vietnamese. It was announced that Dim was accused being a traitor and arrested at the same time [...] A21: the announcement was made on the Victory Commemoration Day of the 17 April, and was made in front of Division 164. The announcement was given at the far end of Au Chheour Teal Beach, where the Headquarters of the Navy was located [...] A23: On that day, Meas Muth was the sole person who spoke before about 1,000 soldiers from Naval Division 164 and the relevant offices in the Division, such as the medical, transportation and logistics units [...] Amongst other matters, Meas Muth also announced that Chhan and Dim had been arrested for traitorous activities. To the best of my recollection, Chhan was arrested before Dim was. Only the arrests of Chhan and Dim were announced in public. The arrests of the low-level cadres who were under Chhan's and Dim's commands were not made public [...] A24: The meeting was held in the morning of 17 April [...] A26: only Chhan's and Dim's arrests were announced. I did not know how long they had been under arrest for before the meeting”].

320 D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A34 [“Meas Muth said that Dim and Chhan had plotted to remove him from his position and administer the division in order to form another government, which would oppose the Democratic Kampuchean Government”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50 [“Ta Chhan and Ta Dim were the deputy commanders. Ta Chhan and Dim were killed on charges of treason, and in fact they did have plans to rebel”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Dim disappeared in 1977 when there was the internal conflict”].

321 D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A30 [“Q: During that meeting [at Stung Hav in mid-1977] did Ta Mut mention the names of any of the traitors? A30: Yes, he announced that Ta Nhoek, the Sector 37 Secretary, Ta Pon on the Sector 37 Committee, and Ta Chhan, also on the Sector 37 Committee (were traitors)”]; D54/13 Pres Mean WRI, A2, 4-5 [“Ta Mut said that Nhoek, Pon, and Chhan, who were on the Committee of Sector 37, counter-revolutionaries. He mentioned a lot of names [...] A4: It was not a routine meeting. In 1977 the situation was in turmoil. The Communist Party of Kampuchea was supported by China; the Workers Party was supported by Vietnam; and the American CIA and the KGB were in amongst the people. So they had to screen out all of those people. Q: Is this your own idea, or did someone tell you this? A5: Ta Mut announced it in the meeting”]. See also D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A64 [“They were Nget, Dim, Yan, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA”].

322 D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A19, 22-24, 26-28 [“Q: How did you know that those 1500 soldiers from the East Zone were placed in the big production unit? A19: The chief of the division, Meas Muth, announced in a meeting that all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers; therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division. I am not sure, but I believe there must have been some competition among the division leaders. That was the reason those soldiers could not be put in the same division [...] A22: Yes, I also attended that meeting [...] A23: At the Division Headquarters in Kampong Som [...] A24: It was located near Leu Market where Ta Mut lived. The meeting was held at a former cinema [...] Q: Was the announcement about the East Zone made in the permanent meeting or in any special meeting? A26: The announcement was made in a special meeting where only certain battalion and regiment leaders were selected to attend. The announcement about the East Zone soldiers was not made publicly. I remember that those East Zone soldiers were not informed because they were regarded as enemies. They only mentioned that those soldiers would be sent to get training in order to see whether or not they could be reformed. For those soldiers who could be reformed, they would then be sent back to their original units. For those who could not be reformed, they would be kept for further training. During the training period, the history and biography of each soldier was investigated. They even went to the soldiers' hometowns to obtain information. Q: Who made the announcement in that training meeting? A27: The chief of division, Meas Mut. Q: Was the phrase ‘to investigate at their (soldiers') hometowns’ your own words, or was it said by Meas Mut? A28: The chief of the division Meas Mut advised the regiment commanders to obtain information on historical backgrounds of the East Zone soldiers from their hometowns, in order to find out whether or not those soldiers had good backgrounds”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A18-20 [about the arrest of Kung Kien alias Oeng Vet: “I also knew him because he taught us and talked with us. Everyone was aware of his arrest, because he was a prominent figure. At that time, he lived at Kang Keng Airport [...] A19: he was arrested about a month after Dim and Chhan had been arrested. They had to arrest all of the people who were under Dim's and Chhan's command, and this arrest was also made public. Q: Did Meas Muth announce this arrest publicly? A20: Yes they did”].

323 D54/105 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A7-8 [“The content is accurate. This document is apolitical education document used to educate us in the military. They said about good things such as improving livelihood of the people and paying attention to the people's hygiene. However, actually what they said was dangerous. For example, in this document Meas Muth said that we had to constantly keep track of enemies hiding in our ranks. His words made me recall what he said in the meeting with us which he almost made us frightened to death. At present, when [...] someone does something wrong, that person is just sent to Prey Sar, but during Khmer Rouge era, if we did something wrong, we would be arrested; it means death. Q: When you compared the information, wording and language in Meas Muth's speech in October 1976, with a speech he gave to Battalion 86 (386) soldiers in early 1977 during the disarmament, what is your comment? A8: I think the content is exactly the same. It means that we, soldiers, or people were constantly kept under surveillance. Meas Muth's speech in this document was made before the disarmament of my unit in 1977”].

324 D1.3.34.10 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976.

325 D1.3.12.7 DK Military Report, Summary of Situations from 15 July to 31 August 1976, 31 Aug 1976, EN 00233963.

326 D1.3.34.11 Telegram 11 from Deum (Dim) to Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976 (emphasis added).

327 D1.3.2.2 Telegram from Brother 89 (Son Sen) to Mut (Meas Muth), 4 Nov 1976.

328 See Annex D.1. See also VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre, paras 541, 542.

329 See IV. Division 164 (Former Division 3) Authority Structure.

330 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 14156 [Chey Han entered S-21 in November 1976]. See also D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A10 ["I saw trucks which were fully covered, transporting prisoners to the east towards Phnom Penh at 3 p.m. every day. One day before my unit was disarmed and after Doem disappeared, I heard soldiers in the same unit, saying Doem and Chhan had been sent to control water pumps at Boeng Chheung Ek. At that time, I believed that it was true, but later on Ta Mut announced in a meeting about confessions of traitors, CIA and KGB agents, and after their disappearance, we knew those people had been arrested. In 1979, I just realized that S-21 and Boeng Cheung Ek were a prison and an execution site"]; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A11 ["Brother Chhan was directly below Ta Muth. Ta Muth arrested and took him to be killed at Boeng Cheung Ek Phnom Penh"]; D114/226 Kim Hav WRI, A82-84 ["[Chhan] died in 1977 [...] A83: He died when Pol Pot called him to be re-educated. He was taken to be killed. He was told to go to study, and he disappeared. Q: Who came to call him to go to be re-educated? A84: The zone group [...] A85: At that time, when we heard that one person was called to go to be re-educated, it meant that the person would be taken to be killed"]; D114/113 Koen Men WRI, A126, 258 ["In 1977 [...] Brother Dim returned to the General Staff in Phnom Penh, and Chhan also returned to Phnom Penh. Chhan was originally from Sector 37, but was then transferred to the General Staff in Phnom Penh [...] A258: They might have lied to me when they said that Ta Chhan was taken to work at the General Staff in Phnom Penh"]; D114/130 Iem Phong WRI, A28 ["Since [Chhan] did not have enough forces, he prepared his ship to go to Koh Rong Island. While he was en route at sea, they captured him and sent him to Tuol Sleng Prison"]; See also D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A7-8 ["Ta Chhan became a deputy commander of the division. Q: Do you know what happened to Chhan in 1976? A8: I heard that Ta Chhan had become a traitor and was removed; he then disappeared"]; D69.2.20 BBC SWB, Far Eastern Relations, 14 Oct 1978, EN S 00013194, KH S 00810138, FR S 00793509 [Hun Sen, speaking of internal purges and elimination of CPK members: "After them were Chhan, commander of the 164th division stationed in Kampong Som, and Dum, political commissar of the division"].

331 D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A15, 17-18 ["Q: Do you know Rem, who was a political commissioner for Battalion 386? A15: Yes, I do. I remember Rem and Suon Chhan [...] They were in charge of Battalion 386 and the sector military as a whole [...] A17: Our group was accused being the traitors. The entire Sector 37 military was accused of being the traitors. It was Ta Muth's group that made the arrests. Q: Do you still remember Rem's arrest? A18: Yes, I do. He was not the only person who got arrested. Everyone in senior positions, from commanders down to group chiefs was also arrested"]; D54/101 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A9 ["It was Rem, who was the political commissar of Battalion 386, who was shot dead in front of Wat En Ta Nhean Pagoda"]; D114/244 In Yoeu WRI, A12-13, 16 ["Before the fall of Phnom Penh, I was in the Sector 37 working as a physician in Battalion 386. Q: What was the name of your battalion commander at that time? A13: The commander of Battalion 386 was Yean [...] A16: The deputy commander was Rem"]; D114/40 Moul Chhin WRI, A74 ["Yean was Battalion 386 commander"]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A16 ["it was that Yeun. He used to be the deputy commander of Battalion 386 while Rem was the commander"]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A3 ["I have forgotten the name of the [Battalion 386] commander, but I can recall the name of the deputy commander, Yean, when this battalion evacuated people out of Kampong Som"]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A91, 127-128 [speaking about Yean, Rem and Suor as the commanders as those who were taken away and killed under the pretext that they were being taken to study]; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A62 ["I have lost contact with a few other people whom I knew such as Bang Rem, a commander of a navy regiment who was attached to Sector 37 [...] Bang Yeun was arrested and killed. Ek Ny knows about the arrest [...] Yean and Trea were killed. Yeun was in charge of a battalion. I am not sure if all of them were arrested and reeducated at Stueng Hav, I just know that they were arrested and then disappeared. I don't know whether or not they were taken to be killed. They just disappeared and we never saw them again"]; D114/105 Koch Tuy WRI, A18 ["Ta Yeun was the Battalion Commander. Ta Yean was his Deputy. Both of them are deceased. They were called to attend the study sessions in Kampong Som Province"]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A21 ["Ta Yeun alias Yoeun, the commander of my battalion, Battalion 622"]; D114/116 Uy Nhik (Nhok) WRI, A49 ["One of my elder brothers, Yean, who was abattalion deputy commander, was sent to help soldiers' families with the harvesting work near Kang Keng, and he disappeared at that time"].

332

D114/105 Koch Tuy WRI, A18 ["I was in Battalion 86. Ta Yeun was the Battalion Commander. Ta Yean was his Deputy. Both of them are deceased. They were called to attend the study sessions in Kampong Som Province"]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A5, 17-19 ["The special sector army and Battalion 386 were integrated in Division 3 after the liberation in 1975. In late 1976 or early 1977, all the commanders were arrested because the cadres of the sector [37] were accused of being traitors. After all of them were arrested, my group was dissolved. We were then sent to cultivate rice. Anyone who refused to follow the order was killed. In general, Ta Muth was the person who issued the orders [...] A17: Our group was accused being the traitors. The entire Sector 37 military was accused of being the traitors. It was Ta Muth's group that made the arrests [...] A18: Everyone in senior positions, from commanders down to group chiefs was also arrested [...] A19: That happened from late 1976"]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A14 ["The Special Unit was like the bodyguard unit. It was the unit trusted by the leader. They used soldiers in this Unit to arrest the traitors and to do other important works. When they wanted to arrest those at the battalion and regiment levels, they sent the soldiers of the Special Unit to the battalion and regiment bases to tell them that brother [commander] of Division called them to attend a meeting"]; D54/103 Ek Ny WRI, A7-8, 21-22 ["Ta Muth came to attend a meeting after we were disarmed. During that time, he announced in the meeting that Chhan was a traitor, and former soldiers of [Unit] 86 (386) did not deserve trust. After the arrest of Chhan, the leadership including the political commissar and the commanders of the battalions, companies and platoons were also arrested [...] A8: During that time, there were approximately 500 participants including about 100 former soldiers of Unit 86 (386) who had been disarmed. During that Ta Muth said in the meeting that everyone had to keep the former soldiers of Unit 86 under surveillance. He said that former soldiers were all in KGB and CIA networks. He said KGB and CIA networks had not been completely destroyed. They were hiding within our ranks, so we had to keep them under constant surveillance. Among more than 500 soldiers attending the meeting, they were all their soldiers, except the former Unit 368 soldiers. They came to keep us under surveillance [...] Q: To your estimation, how many former Unit 386 soldiers went missing between 1975 and 1979? A21: During that time, there were more than 200 soldiers in Battalion 386. More than 50 per cent of the soldiers in the battalion, equating to more 100 soldiers, were arrested and disappeared [...] Q: Were there any soldiers with no-good elements and former Unit 386 soldiers who had been refashioned, sent back to their respective units before 1979? A22: To my knowledge, there were not any"]; D54/76 Uy Nhik (Nhok) WRI, A16 ["Q: Why did they change the commander of your company [...] ? A16: At that time, they accused former soldiers of the Sector 37 and East Zone persons of having no-good tendencies. Even persons who had been sent for training in China were called back"]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A16, 19, 91, 127-128 ["Chhan was the commander [...] Later Chhan was taken to be killed [...] A19: If I had had any status or position, such as company chairman, I surely would have been killed, since company commanders and above were taken away and killed under the pretext that they were being taken to study [...] A91: Every time battalion/regiment commanders were called away to study at the cinema in Kampong Som, they disappeared and we never saw them return [...] a]fter months passed, they still did not return [...] Q: You stated that the battalion/regiment commanders disappeared. Can you provide their names? A127: Yean, Rem and Suor [...] A128: Chhan disappeared too. Generally speaking, all the commanders disappeared. Only ordinary soldiers survived"]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A23 ["Only the arrests of Chhan and Dim were announced in public. The arrests of the low-level cadres who were under Chhan's and Dim's commands were not made public. We happened to know of the arrests of their subordinates through rumours"]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A30 ["Q: During that meeting did Ta Mut mention the names of any of the traitors? A30: Yes, he announced that Ta Nhok the Sector 37 Secretary, Ta Pon on the Sector 37 Committee, and Ta Chhan, also on the Sector 37 Committee (were traitors)"]; D114/33 Hen Ang WRI, A32 ["After they accused the leaders of Sector 37 of being traitors, those who came from the Centre replaced them. And the former members of Sector 37 were demobilised and assigned to work"]; D114/226 Kim Hav WRI, A91-93 ["Q: Who else were taken to study? A91: Bang Suo, Bang Hen, Bang Set, Bang Horn, Bang Phal who were all chairpersons of regiments. Those who were taken to be reeducated were the big chiefs. They were regiment chief, one hundred member unit chiefs, and so on. Some of them were regiment chairpersons, deputy chairpersons, and secretaries. Q: Who was called to go to be re-educated first? A92: Om Chhan [...] A93: It was in early 1977. Maybe it was in February or March when arrests started. The zone soldiers came to arrest them. I did not know which zone"]; D114/135 Nob Phan (Nub Phorn) WRI, A3-5 [Former Battalion 386, Company 420 member posted on Koh Tang explaining that in late 1976 his commanders were all sent to study and disappeared].

- 333 D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A1 ["in late 1976 toward the beginning of 1977 [...] they had removed all troops of Battalion 386 from their positions and sent them to the Production Unit. After we had been disarmed [...] Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim"].
- 334 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 0093383 ["One platoon of depot units of organization has been purged, but they are not yet all gone or reliable"].
- 335 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 1624 as Hoeng Doeun entered S-21 on 21 April 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164 [identifying No. 11 as Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, executed 8 December 1977]; D1.3.28.40 List of Prisoners, List of prisoners who were smashed and photographed on 8.12.77, EN 00873281, KH 00009146 [identifying No. 2 as Hing Doeun].
- 336 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 4797 as Mom Chim who entered S-21 28 April 1977, executed 13 March 1978]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164 [identifying No. 24 (and No. 27 – duplicate) as Mom Van].
- 337 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 5342 as Men Nget who entered S-21 2 June 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164 [identifying No. 26 as Men Nget].
- 338 See para. 108.
- 339 D54/103 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A7-10, 21 ["all the soldiers in my unit were disarmed at the beginning of the rainy season in 1977. During that time, Ta Muth came to attend a meeting after we were disarmed. During that time, he announced in the meeting that Chhan was a traitor, and former soldiers of [Unit] 86 (386) did not deserve trust. After the arrest of Chhan, the leadership including the political commissar and the commanders of the battalions, companies and platoons were also arrested. I did not know for sure when those women were arrested, but I saw them at Tuek Sap. Q: When Meas Muth said that Unit 86 (386) did not deserve trust, did Meas Muth said what he would do to them in the future? A8: During that time, there were approximately 500 participants including about 100 former soldiers of Unit 86 (386) who had been disarmed. During that Ta Muth said in the meeting that everyone had to keep the former soldiers of Unit 86 under surveillance. He said that former soldiers were all in KGB and CIA networks. He said KGB and CIA networks had not been completely destroyed. They were hiding within our ranks, so we had to keep them under constant surveillance. Among more than 500 soldiers attending the meeting, they were all their soldiers, except the former Unit 368 soldiers. They came to keep us under surveillance. Q: Do you recall the atmosphere of the meeting? How did Meas Muth make the announcement? How did the former Unit 86 (386) soldiers and other soldiers feel? A9: The former Unit 386 soldiers were very frightened and shocked after hearing the announcement. We could not sleep at night and lived in constant fear. As for other soldiers, they changed their attitude towards us. Even though they knew us, they no longer spoke to us or looked at us at our face. Sometimes they scornfully said that we were traitors. Sometimes I saw their writing on the wall with a charcoal, reading 'the former Unit 386 soldiers were all traitors'. Q: During the meeting when Meas Muth made the announcement, had the former political commissars and the former commanders of the battalions, companies and platoons of Unit 86 (386), already been arrested? Were they arrested before or after that meeting? A10: Roughly 70 per cent of the leadership were arrested before the meeting, and the rest had to attend the meeting, and they were later arrested as well. [...] A21: During that time, there were more than 200 soldiers in Battalion 386. More than 50 per cent of the soldiers in the battalion, equating to more 100 soldiers, were arrested and disappeared"].
- 340 D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok T. 16 Dec 2015, 14.23.54-14.26.15 ["Ta Doem [...] later had been arrested and disappeared. After his arrest, other arrests were made one after another, against his soldiers who were from the east. No one left. Later on, his troops disappeared, and I had no idea at that time where the soldiers of Ta Doem were sent to [...] first Ta Doem was arrested. Later on, soldiers within his regiment were also arrested. Because Ta Doem had been arrested, perhaps there was something in Ta Doem's confession, but I did not know what was in his confession. The confession of Ta Doem implicated the soldiers of the regiment at that Kampong Som. And later on, the soldiers of the regiment were removed, but not sent back to the Eastern Zone, to my recollection [...] I never saw them again], 14.28.16 [soldiers under Ta Doem were linked to the political tendencies of Ta Doem. The commander was already taken, so these soldiers were sent away. Soldiers from the East Zone were no longer trusted by the upper echelon, but I cannot tell you where these soldiers were sent to"]. See also D98/3.1.89 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 8 Jun 2009, 16.23.03 ["I was focused on looking for the traitors and the strings of traitors”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A3 [“Q: What kinds of mistakes would account for them being arrested and killed in Division 164? A3: I am not sure what kinds of mistakes would reach the threshold for arrest and killing. However, I can suggest examples for those mistakes. Any soldier whose siblings at their base (hometown) had been arrested and accused of being traitors would also be arrested from within their unit. For instance, if the regimental chairman was arrested, his wife and family would also be arrested”].

341 D234/2.1.55 S-21 Confession of Hang Doeun or Hoeung Doeun alias Dim, EN 00224085; D1.3.18.1 S-21 Confession of Hang Doeun or Hoeung Doeun alias Dim; D1.3.18.2 S-21 Confession of Hang Doeun or Hoeung Doeun alias Dim, EN 00759713-17, KH 00177026-30.

342 D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A12 [“Dim was transferred from the East Zone to be the deputy division commander of Meas Muth. At that time, those from the East Zone in the various division units were arrested”]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli WRI, A20 [“Q: Were all the troops who had been sent from the East Zone to join the marine forces arrested and removed? A20: At the beginning they called and took away just the leaders. After that they removed all the rank and file”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A10, 33, 35-36 [“our commander Dim had also been arrested on charges of treason. After they arrested Dim, they continued to arrest the lower-ranking personnel. At Kang Keng, they had us to farm rice with hoes [...] First they came to call us using the pretext that Angkar had called us to study. When we arrived, they had us start working the rice fields right away. Some people also disappeared at that time -- they disappeared and never returned -- and none of us dared ask or wonder about anything. At that time, only the lower ranking subordinates were still alive: the leaders all disappeared and never returned [...] A33: Dim came from the East Zone along with a division of military to join Division 164. After Dim was arrested, those East Zone military personnel were arrested one after another. At the time, an East Zone soldier [...] Chriel suddenly disappeared. I think that those East Zone military who had been arrested might have been taken to be killed at that killing site too [Ream cliff or Chamnaot Ream], but I am not sure. About one month later, my battalion commander convened a political education course, during which he proclaimed that Dim, Koy Thuon alias Thuch, and some other leading personnel were all K.G.B and CIA of the Vietnamese and were all traitors [...] A35: I knew about the sweeping clean of the East Zone military once [...] They declared that it was alright to have fifty military members in a battalion provided those military members were good. In my memory, the sweeping clean of the East Zone military began in 1976 before I was sent to Regiment 140 [...] At the time they arrested the leaders first; then they arrested the soldiers. A36: During the political course I heard that the arrests were conducted following the confessions of the leaders who had previously been arrested and taken away”]; D54/13 Pres Mean WRI, A15 [“At the time, only the leadership echelon from the East Zone had been selected out. As for the ordinary soldiers, their weapons had been confiscated and they were sent to break rocks”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A2 [“Former East Zone soldiers were also in the mobile unit with us. They were accused of being traitors”]; D54/33 Ing Chhong WRI, A20 [“After staying a week in Kampong Som, we were sent to Koh Kong Town to replace the East Zone group aboard PCF boats who had been removed”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 [About the command structure of the Regiment 140: “Ta Seng was the Regiment commander, and Ta Sam, who was from the East Zone, was the deputy. But Ta Sam was smashed at that time”]; D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A30 [“Q: I would like you to look at this document, D1.3.5.9, which is in Khmer, EN 0016147, from Tuol Sleng or S-21 Office. The document is entitled the Treacherous Forces at 164+ 152”. What do you think of this document? A30: I know No.1, Ket Sam, and No. 12, Kun Dim. These persons were well-known”]; D114/219 San Chuon WRI, A16, 23 [(Surviving Division 164 East Zone soldier): “after a period of three months of co-existence with each other, there was no longer mutual trust. Then even later, they began to suspect that all of the Easterners were traitors [...] at the start of 1977, took us to chop down forest Kup, near Stung Hav. There were very many of the likes of me there, hundreds of persons [...] Maybe two or three months later, they withdrew my group from there, saying we were going up for studies, but I didn’t go yet [...] Once they had been removed to go for studies, they disappeared forever [...] Later on, they took me myself along with four or five others were also to go for studies, saying we were going for studies in the East Zone [...] When we reached a school on the road to Stung Hav they went up into a big house at that location. My group went in underneath the house. They then jumped down and surrounded us, pointed guns at us and arrested us. Having gotten us into arrest, they beat and kicked us, then trussed us up and led me to jail [...] they took the prisoners out one at a time to beat and interrogate them. After beating and interrogating them, in the morning, they chained them up to work [...] the next morning, three more prisoners were sent out, lashed with electrical cabling and interrogated, all in the same way. After one week or ten days, a new round of beatings and interrogation started [...] A23: [...] they suspected the lot of us, that all the Easterners were traitors”]; D54/40 Pen Vy WRI, A23-24 [“The upper Angkar said that the Sector 22 was full of traitors. At that time they played the audio tape on the confessions of Dim and Sim for the military to listen for them to believe that the two were really disloyal. I knew the voices of the two people clearly. Q: Who took and played the audio tape and where was it played? A24: The commander who replaced Dim played it for the military to listen. It took place at Preaek Leab”]; D59/2/3.14a Pak Sok (Pak Sokh) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01185002, KH 00958291 [“Afterwards, [Dim] was arrested, and all his subordinates in the division were taken away. Q: Where were they taken? A: They were taken to be killed. They were killed at Ream cliff. After they were killed, bulldozers were sent in to bulldoze the earth”]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon (Ing Chhong) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073811, KH 00964200 [“700 soldiers from the East were integrated into the Navy, and later, some of them fled, and some were arrested and sent to be subdued [...] in the end, those from the East were all removed. [...] Ta Dim was also removed [...] both high-ranking and low-ranking leaders were removed when there were serious conflicts”].

343 D234/2.1.55 S-21 Confession of Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, EN 00224085, KH 00162140 [Son Sen 8 May 1977 annotation on confession of Division 164 Deputy Secretary: “Though some are the right people, some others, whom I have known, are not. I will invite comrade Mut to check this together”]; D4.1.766 Kaing Guek Eav WRI, 21 Oct 2009, EN 00398210 [identifying Son Sen annotations on Hoeng Doeun confession]. D234/2.1.55 S-21 Confession of Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim (colour copy), EN 00224085, FR 00235668 [Son Sen annotation on confession of Division 164 Deputy Secretary: “To brother to be informed. About the plan, it is followed. Though some are the right people, some others, whom I have known, are not. I will invite comrade Muth to check this together. This person will definitely implicate the others [...] 8 May 1977”]; another English translation can be found under: D54/97.1 S-21 Confession of Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, EN 01072501 [“To Brother for information. As for plans, it is correct. As for some people, it is correct. But as for some I know, it seems unreasonable. I will invite Comrade Mut to come examine...may check the responses of other forces”]; Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch authenticated Son Sen’s handwriting as for this annotation: D4.1.766 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00398210, FR 00398219 [“The first document (ERN 00174375) was annotated by Son Sen and addressed to Pol Pot. I am not the author of these notes (I could not use the term ‘comrade Mut’ given his rank and age, he was senior to me). The second confession (ERN 00174384) is also entirely annotated by Son Sen, except for the ‘S’, which is circled, which I wrote and which means ‘secret’”].

344 D234/2.1.54 S-21 Confession of Kun Dim, 21 Jul 1977, EN 00822359, KH 00175293 [Son Sen note: “Division 164 of Comrade Mut are mentioned [...] Contact Comrade Mut so that he can take measures. We have already basically removed all those on Comrade Mut’s side”]. See also evidence he received and discussed the content of the confession of a subordinate of Dim in Division 164 (who came from Sector 22): D234/2.1.54 S-21 Confession of Kun Dim, 21 Jul 1977, EN 00822359, KH 00175293 [Son Sen note: “Division 164 of Comrade Mut are mentioned [...] Contact Comrade Mut so that he can take measures. We have already basically removed all those on Comrade Mut’s side”].

345 D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Office 870, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00184995.

346 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A34-35 [“one of my uncles was a former Lon Nol soldier [...] Fortunately they did not know that I was his relative. My worry grew between 1977 and 1978 because I was ordered to produce my biography. It was used to conduct an onsite investigation at my home village. On one occasion, I met a fellow villager named Norn near the Phsar Loeur of Kampong Som Market. At that time, he seemed to have supervise[d] or control[ed] the Toek Sab Prison. Because he had relatives who worked for the Lon Nol regime, he was as worried as I was. He told me that if they came to arrest him, he would not allow them to [...] I learnt that one month before the Vietnamese arrived, they came to arrest him, but he escaped and he was shot to death [...] A35: During that regime, if one was related to the previous regime, she would get great attention from others. The Khmer Rouge regime purified and chose only good people to work for them. Other people had to be gone. If someone who was related to the previous regime worked normally like other people without making any complaints or objections, she would be all right. However, if she complained or objected to the regime she would be considered as having opposed the regime. Q: [...] what consequences would happen to them? A36: They would be arrested, interrogated and re-educated”].

347 D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Bunhak) WRI, A101-102 [Witness was removed from his position in Regiment 140 in late June 1978, forced to work and threatened because his brother-in-law was arrested at the Division 164 hospital and it was found out they were related]; D114/121 Suon Phar WRI, A42 [“I was sent to break rocks in Steung Hav in January or February 1978. My unit was completely disbanded, assigned to work in Kang Keng, and then sent to Steung Hav”].

348

D54/111 Sam Phin WRI, A17-19, 23-24 [“Q: Can you please tell us in your own speech the events of your arrest, e.g. when did happen, how did it happen, why, who ordered the arrest, where were you taken to, how did they treat you, who were arrested alongside with you? A17: I was arrested possibly in late 1977, or early 1978. I am not sure about the exact time. At that time, a driver stopped in front of my house from Ta Muth's place. He called me out from the house and showed me a letter saying that I had to go to work at a new place. It was a white sedan car with a driver. I and my wife then prepared our belongings and got in the car in which there were already three young men and one young girl inside the car. We left and the driver told me we were travelling to PP. When we first arrived in PP, he drove me to a place called K-7 which was located on the riverbank near the royal palace. When we arrived at K-7, I saw six other people in that place already. When I asked what else I would have to do, the people at K-7 told me they were still waiting for the order from Office 870. After that, we changed to a Chinese military jeep, and left K-7 for Wat Chey Odorn. I did not know that I was being arrested in Wat Chey Odorn until they took away my belongings including medicines and then asked me questions, Then they separated me from my wife. A short moment later, a girl came and called me to see two soldiers who were waiting to see me. When I saw them, they started to apologize to me and said they were coming to take me back to K-7. When we arrived in K-7, I met uncle Khieu Samphan who apologized to me, saying to me that they did that to me because of the confusion of name and identification. At that time, I told uncle Khieu Samphan that if I had made a mistake why they did not kill me at Kampong Som, and why they wasted on gasoline to bring me here. Uncle Khieu Samphan kept apologizing to me. Afterwards, they drove me back to Kampong Som. As I know, the arrest order came from Ta Muth, the commander of Division 164. Q: How do you know that the arrest order came from Ta Muth? A18: Because the driver came from Ta Muth's place. I did not pay attention who signed the letter. Q: How do you know it was Khieu Samphan who met you at Office K-7? A19: People working at K-7 told me. [...] Q: Have you ever met Ta Muth and spoken with him about this event? A23: Yes. I spoke with him about it when I met him in early 1980 at the border. Q: What did Ta Muth say then? A24: Ta Muth just joked to me that I sent you that letter to assign you to a new workplace but why they treated you like that I have no idea”].

349

Among the rare soldiers who survived are San Chuon (WRIs D114/219 and D114/220) and a soldier Witness Pak Sok remembers as Chhean, who ended up working forcibly at the Kampong Chhnang Airport Construction Site and managed to survive the harsh conditions and killing of former East Zone soldiers there: see D234/2.1.92 Pak Sok, T. 26 Jan 2016, 10.36.49-10.39.53. See also D54/96 Teng Sarim WRI, A19 [explains that he personally does not know anyone from former Regiment 152 who survived and returned from Kampong Som but heard from the former Governor of Ou Reang Ov District that two persons named Saroeun and Yat survived]; D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok T. 16 Dec 2015, 14.23.54-14.26.15 [“Ta Doem [...] later had been arrested and disappeared. After his arrest, other arrests were made one after another, against his soldiers who were from the east. No one left. Later on, his troops disappeared, and I had no idea at that time where the soldiers of Ta Doem were sent to [...] first Ta Doem was arrested. Later on, soldiers within his regiment were also arrested. Because Ta Doem had been arrested, perhaps there was something in Ta Doem's confession, but I did not know what was in his confession. The confession of Ta Doem implicated the soldiers of the regiment at that Kampong Som. And later on, the soldiers of the regiment were removed, but not sent back to the Eastern Zone, to my recollection [...] I never saw them again], 14.28.16 [soldiers under Ta Doem were linked to the political tendencies of Ta Doem. The commander was already taken, so these soldiers were sent away. Soldiers from the East Zone were no longer trusted by the upper echelon, but I cannot tell you where these soldiers were sent to”]; D59/2/3.14a Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 01185002, KH 00958291 [“Afterwards, [Dim] was arrested, and all his subordinates in the division were taken away. Q: Where were they taken? A: They were taken to be killed. They were killed at Ream cliff. After they were killed, bulldozers were sent in to bulldoze the earth”]; Another translation of the same interview (with corrections made by Pak Sok) can be found under: D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam statement, EN 00978580, KH 00955511-12 [“After they arrested Dim, all of his troops of a division unit, who had come with him [from East Zone], were taken away. Q: Where did they take them to? A: They took his troops to be killed at a place near the Ream slope. After the killing, they used tractors to drag the earth to bury the corpses”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A10, 33, 35 [“our commander Dim had also been arrested on charges of treason. After they arrested Dim, they continued to arrest the lower-ranking personnel. At Kang Keng, they had us to farm rice with hoes [...] First they came to call us using the pretext that Angkar had called us to study [...] Some people also disappeared at that time -- they disappeared and never returned -- and none of us dared ask or wonder about anything. At that time, only the lower ranking subordinates were still alive: the leaders all disappeared and never returned [...] A33: [...] After Dim was arrested, those East Zone military personnel were arrested one after another [...] I think that those East Zone military who had been arrested might have been taken to be killed at that killing site too [Ream cliff or Chamnaot Ream], but I am not sure [...] A35: I knew about the sweeping clean of the East Zone military [...] They declared that it was alright to have fifty military members in a battalion provided those military members were good. In my memory, the sweeping clean of the East Zone military began in 1976 before I was sent to Regiment 140 [...] At the time they arrested the leaders first; then they arrested the soldiers”]; D114/219 San Chuon WRI, A16, 23, 38 [surviving Division 164 East Zone soldier: “later, they began to suspect that all of the Easterners were traitors [...] at the start of 1977, took us to chop down forest Kup, near Stung Hav. There were very many of the likes of me there, hundreds of persons [...] Maybe two or three months later, they withdrew my group from there, saying we were going up for studies [...] They then jumped down and surrounded us, pointed guns at us and arrested us [...] they took the prisoners out one at a time to beat and interrogate them. After beating and interrogating them, in the morning, they chained them up to work [...] A23: [...] they suspected the lot of us, that all the Easterners were traitors [...] A38: [...] Seng and [...] Chhy. They fled, but were captured and put back in jail and were then beaten to the point of death”]; D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A46, 52 [“I learnt that Angkar called them to be educated and then they disappeared [...] A52: We were afraid because people went missing one after another. That regime was very strict. This scared me”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 [“The Battalion 21 was in the Babos East, and this unit was under Ta Kheng. There were over 200 soldiers in this Battalion unit, and they all were the former troops from the East Zone. Whenever there was anyone in the not-good-element had made a mistake, he/she would be sent to be detained in Teuk Sap. During their detention in Teuk Sap, those prisoners were put to work on the east bank of the river while we, in these three units, were put to work on the west bank”]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli WRI, A21 [“Q: You told us two days ago that not all the East Zone troops disappeared forever, but some were taken to do rice farming, is it right? A21: Yes, it is right. I knew that some troops were removed and taken to do rice farming in the areas near the Kang Keng Airfield”]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon (Ing Chhong) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073811, KH 00964200 [About the 700 East Zone soldiers: “some of them fled, and some were arrested and sent to be subdued [...] in the end, those from the East were all removed”], EN 01073818, KH 00964206 [“Q: When were Ta Dim and his 700 subordinates removed and sent to be subdued? [...] Was it long after they arrived there? A: Yes, it was a long time after they arrived. Some of them who had escaped were captured. I do not remember what happened, but most of them were smashed. Q: Were they smashed? A: Yes”].

D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A12-13, 15, 18 [“At that time, those from the East Zone in the various division units were arrested [...] A13: Dim and other East Zone people were taken away [...] Q: in which year the East Zone group were arrested? A15: [...] It was probably at the end of 1977 or early 1978. These arrests were done at the same time as the fighting between the East Zone military and the Vietnamese soldiers at the border [...] Q: In your Regiment 140, how many East Zone people were removed and how many of them were arrested? A18: I did not know. The sweeping clean was done seriously. Not only East Zone commanders were arrested; other soldiers in the division were also removed or arrested”].

D54/56 Meas Voeun WRIA, EN 00973406 [“Meas Voeun stated that Launch allegedly survived an arrest assassination attempt initialized ordered by Meas Muth in late 1978 early 79”].

See VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164; VIII.C. Division 164 Security Centres; VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites.

See Annex D.1. See also VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre –5. Crimes – Other Inhumane Acts.

See III.2. Meas Muth’s DK Role – Deputy Secretary of the General Staff; III.2. Meas Muth’s DK Role – Effective Control. See also D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 13.48.58-13.50.21 [“I was within Division 117 and that uncle [Meas Muth] was at the general staff level. At the general staff during the DK period, Son Sen was the commander in chief, and Meas Muth, the deputy commander in chief and Sou Met was deputy commander in chief of air force”]. See further D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22-23 [“As I knew it, Meas Mut was Deputy of the Military General Staff, meaning he was the deputy of Son Sen [...] A23: Son Sen was the commander of the General Staff; he was in overall charge of the military including the infantry. Meas Mut was the deputy of Son Sen, in charge of the navy. [...] All radio and telegraph communication had to go through the General Staff”]; D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.55.39-13.58.19, 13.59.45-14.00.52 [“Before, [Sou Met] was Division 1 commander and Meas Muth was from Division 3. Son Sen, the minister of national defence, was transferred to somewhere else. Two of them were put in charge of the affairs of the Ministry of National Defence and Muth came to arrange our position”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A25 [“At that time, [Meas Muth] held both the Navy and a position called Deputy Minister of Defence acting for Son Sen. [...] Muth was Deputy and came to organize the Kratie Sector”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat

DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974225-27 [Around September 1978 Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh. Meas Muth was the deputy commander-in-chief of the general staff, promoted to this position in late 1978]; D54/28.1 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) DC-Cam Statement, EN01170813 [Ta Muth was under Son Sen at the General Staff and was often in Phnom Penh].

355 D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 13.45.51-13.50.21 ["if the forces at the battlefield at Kratie had to report, the report would be submitted to Muth and the reports had to be made since he had to be informed of how many weapons or ammunition [were] needed. And then they would communicate with each other at the upper level"]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A22, 25 ["When the Vietnamese struck us along the border, Meas Mut always went to check the situation at the front line [...] A25: From what I knew, in the name of the Deputy of the General Staff, he had to go to examine the situation locations where the disputes occurred along the border"]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A11-17, 19 ["Meas Muth worked on the General Staff, so he had authority to order three branches of the military forces [...] A12: [In October 1978] we requested help from Meas Mut, and he told Rum to wait a bit – that afternoon he sent the aircraft to help us. [...] A13: As a messenger, I worked in the office with the telegraph operator and the commander, so I knew what happened in that office. Q: When you said that Meas Mut ordered Rum to wait, did he communicate via telegram or radio? A14: He replied back via telegram. Q: Were the reports sent from Division 117 to Meas Muth on a daily basis, or were they sent only when something happened? A15: Before the fighting, the reports were routinely sent on a daily basis, but after the fighting started, reports were sent every time anything happened. [...] A16: The reports were sent to the General Staff, not to any specific person, but we knew that a person who got the telegrams worked for someone. For example Thi and Kung were Meas Mut's messengers. Q: How did you know that Meas Mut was the one who told Rum in the telegram to wait for the aircraft? A17: I saw the telegram [...] A19: Meas Mut began to be involved in responsibility for the eastern border in 1978 when the Vietnamese soldiers were striking strongly"]; D114/285 Bun Sarath (Prum Sarat) WRI, A224 ["When Meas Muth travelled to Kratie, the important purpose was the war along the border between Cambodia and Vietnam. The fighting was intensive"].

356 Meas Muth has himself admitted going to Kratie. However, inconsistent with all other evidence on the Case File, he stated that this occurred in February 1978: D54/16/1R Meas Muth Audio Interview with David Kattenburg, 2009, 34:37-35:28 ["I was not at Kampong Som. In February 1978 I had left Kampong Som already. Q: Where did he go? A: I was assigned to work in Kratie province near the Lao border. Q: So he left Division 164 entirely in February 1978? A: No, I still had my position but I was assigned for another mission in Kratie"]. See D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.38.26-15.41.36 ["There was a reshuffle, new cadres went to replace the old ones and the old ones were sent to Phnom Penh, and after that they disappeared. That happened during the intensified situation pursued by the Vietnamese or 'Yuong'; and at the time, 'Yuong' took over the whole Snuol district. Muth went there"]; D54/60.2 Moeng Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992990 ["It was not until 1978 that [Meas Muth] went to Kratie after Von Vet was arrested"]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A42 ["Q: When did Meas Muth go to Kratie Sector? A42: In light of the fact that Ta Nhan went to command Division 117 about a month before the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers in approximately late November or early December 1978, I think that Meas Muth went there during that period"]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A8-9 ["Meas Muth was sent to Kratie because at that time the arrests of cadres surged [...] A9: He went there in late 1978 for a short period of time, approximately two weeks or half a month"].

357 D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.43.55-15.46.20 and D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.52.20-09.54.38 [testified to seeing a letter marked 'M-870' delivered by Meas Muth's messengers, Thi and Kung, to Division 117 Commander, Rum, calling 11 individuals from Division 117 and Sector 505, to Phnom Penh and specifying details of their journey by air] confirming D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A24, 29 ["I remember one day a messenger came from the airport to deliver a letter to Rom, the commander of Division 117, to have him attend a meeting in Phnom Penh. That letter said that an aeroplane would arrive at 9 a.m. to pick them up [...] I saw that the letter was sent from Office 870 (Mo-870) [...] that letter listed the names of the 11 people who were called to attend the meeting [...] A29: the letter was sent to Rom with the names of the 11 people to attend the meeting in Phnom Penh"]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A30-32 ["During that time, the purge began. They removed my comrades-in-arms, for instance Rum and Leang. [...] They were called to a meeting in Kratie, and then they disappeared forever. [...] A31: 'They' were the Centre echelon. [...] A32: Before Rum and Leang went to the meeting in Kratie, they met with us saying that they had been called to a meeting in Kratie by the Centre. At that time, they did not call it 'the Centre': they called it '87' [...] A40: The division's upper echelon was the Centre, because this division was under the direct command of the Centre. I do not know who exactly was at the Centre, but at that time, Meas Muth came to organise Division 117”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat WRI, A230 [“Q: Who sent Meas Muth [to Kratie]? A230: According to my knowledge, it was the General Staff who did it”]; D114/101 Em Sarin WRI, A24-40 [Stating that he coordinated with Office 87 to make the arrangements for Yeng and Phoen to fly to Phnom Penh].

358 See Annexes D.2 and D.4 and paras 550, 861 of this Submission. See also D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.43.55-15.46.20 and D114/297.1.24 Moeng Vet, T. 28 Jul 2016, 09.52.20-09.54.38 [testified to seeing a letter marked ‘M-870’ delivered by Meas Muth’s messengers, Thi and Kung, to Division 117 Commander, Rum, calling 11 individuals from Division 117 and Sector 505, to Phnom Penh and specifying details of their journey by air] confirming D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A24, 29; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A30 [“Muth was the one who sent those arrestees to Phnom Penh by plane. [...] I want to add for your understanding that Muth sent them by plane. Muth organized that”]; D114/170 Prum Mon WRI, A36, 38 [“Lim [Regiment Commander] told me that Ta Muth ordered to arrest my husband [Khun Rom] [...] A38: My husband, Ta Moeun, Ta Leang were all arrested”].

359 D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 14.03.52-14.10.10 [Seng Soeun witnessed Kratie District Secretary Huon Yeng and Snuol District Secretary Chhum Chen alias Phoen being “put on a plane heading for Phnom Penh.” However Seng Soeun and Phoen, whom Soeun knew from his youth, “did not dare to speak to one another because Meas Muth was around”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A30, 40, 42, 47, 49 [“Muth was the one who sent those arrestees to Phnom Penh by plane. [...] I want to add for your understanding that Muth sent them by plane. Muth organized that. A40: Chen, I knew very well. Yeng, I met him when he was boarding [...] A42: I met [Chen] before boarding the aircraft. We were about to speak, he wanted to talk to me, but Ta Muth gave us a fierce look, so we dared not speak to each other. [...] A47: At that time I was called by Muth to meet him about gathering up the troops. Those two [Chen and Yang] had already been arrested and brought to the airfield. [...] A49: [Meas Muth] came to organize and call those they wanted to board the plane”]; D4.1.810 Seng Soeun WRI, A35-36 [“[Yeng] was put in a plane and taken away to Phnom Penh, possibly to be executed. I know because Meas Muth said those people were purged. A36: [...] [Chen] was also taken to Phnom Penh to be executed. I saw when Phoen and Yeng were boarded on the plane”].

360 D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 09.35.51-09.41.29 [Describing a meeting in Kratie where Meas Muth announced that the leaders “were considered traitors” and that “commanders of divisions had to be replaced with the new ones”. “Meas Muth mentioned that my group did not fight hard enough against the ‘Yuen’, and allowed ‘Yuons’ to come in”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A2 [“Before Meas Mut walked into the meeting, he [told] the messenger, and the other soldiers outside the meeting that ‘Your leaders are all traitors’”]; D54/60.2 Moeng Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 00992993-94, 00993000-01 [describing meeting in which Meas Muth “announced the traitors” and assigned cadres to “fight the Yuen”].

361 D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A2 [“Meas Mut was angry and said that we were not resolute in fighting the Vietnamese. Because of those events, Meas Mut had lost his trust in the division leadership and removed those 11 people”].

362 D114/51 Cheang Chuo WRI, A1 [“Q: You told us that the Centre assigned and facilitated the deployment of Meas Muth to control that area. You learned this at a regimental-level meeting when they announced that Brother Muth had come there to control the area. [...] At the moment, after taking an oath, do you consider the summary we have described as accurate according to the conversation we had yesterday? A1: Yes, it is accurate”].

363 D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 09.38.19-09.39.48 [“[Meas Muth] convened the meeting among everyone from the office. The meeting was to declare that leaders of -- commanders of divisions had to be replaced with the new ones. Drivers, messengers and other staff, people from the hospital, were called to the meeting and we were told that all our leaders were traitors and there were new replacements; for example, Nhan would replace the old divisional commander”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A1 [“I attended only one meeting with Meas Mut, in which he announced the changing of division leadership”]; D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.51.58-13.57.20 [testifying that the five new appointees from the Southwest Zone were called to a meeting with Meas Muth upon arrival]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A19 [“Q: Did Muth come to meet you at the aircraft, or did you meet him at his house? A19: At the Sector Office. He came to meet us at night: he had been on the battlefield”]; D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 13.46.29-13.58.19 [stating that Meas Muth “came to arrange [their] positions in Kratie”. When the witness arrived in Kratie with the other replacement cadres, they handed their biographies over to Meas Muth who “presided over the announcements of the promotion” “on behalf of Pol Pot”. Meas Muth personally decided to place Seng Soeun in charge of the Sector 505 office]; D4.1.810 Seng Soeun WRI, A27, 31 [“letter stated that Meas Muth was in charge of assigning the above-mentioned people to the new appointments” [...] A31: stating that Meas Muth was “sent to Kratie earlier to arrange our new appointments”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A20 [“I first met [Meas Muth] when we handed over the letter of assignment at the Kratie Sector Office. We came to meet him, and he announced the assignments”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753838 [“[Meas Muth] came to assign me when I arrived on 5 December 1978”]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A40-54 [“Q: Who made those accusations against Division 117? A40: The division’s upper echelon was the Centre, because this division was under the direct command of the Centre. I do not know who exactly was at the Centre, but at that time, Meas Muth came to organise Division 117 and assigned Ta Nhan commander of Division 117, so I thought that Meas Muth was the representative from the Centre. Q: How do you know that Meas Muth assigned Ta Nhan to serve as commander of Division 117? A41: I learned that through the new commander, Ta Nhan. Ta Nhan said, ‘Brother Meas Muth has come to Kratie to reorganise Division 117.’ Q: When did Meas Muth go to Kratie Sector? A42: In light of the fact that Ta Nhan went to command Division 117 about a month before the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers in approximately late November or early December 1978, I think that Meas Muth went there during that period. [...] Q: When Ta Nhan came to announced that Meas Muth had come to Kratie to reorganise the division and the leadership, what position and status did Ta Nhan announced Meas Muth held? A54: At that time, Ta Nhan held a meeting telling lower echelon cadres that Meas Muth had come from Phnom Penh to reorganise the division and the leadership. As for Rum and Leang, they were transferred from this division. Therefore, I concluded that Ta Muth came to reorganise the division, meaning Ta Muth represented the Central Committee”].

364

D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A6-7 [“Meas Mut brought with him some people like Nhann, commander of the special unit and other commanders he trusted. I know that these people went to Kratie because during a meeting my commander made an announcement to us regarding names of leaders and where they would go. Q: Did you know how many soldiers went to Kratie with Meas Mut? A7: Most of the land army under the navy, except those who were in charge of the ships, was sent to Kratie with Ta Mut”]; D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.38.26-15.41.36 [“[Meas Muth] came from Kampong Som together with soldiers of a regiment, and he gave those soldiers to Pheap [...] I knew that his army was based at Kou Loab near Sambok mountain”]; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A21, 23-24 [“Q: How many military units did the Centre deploy in Kratie Province at that time? A21: Initially there was Division 117; later one regiment from Division 164 was deployed there. [...] Q: When Meas Muth went to Kratie, where did he stay? A23: I did not know, but generally he stayed at Kou Loab Village where the regiment of Division 164 was deployed. [...] A24: The regiment was stationed there until the Vietnamese soldiers struck hard in December 1978”]; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A26 [“The regiment of Pheap was a special force of Meas Mut”]; D114/191 Sao So WRI, A44 [“I knew that the division from Kampong Som were with Meas Muth [...] They came to help Division 117 who had not been victorious”]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A56 [“I just know that soldiers went with Ta Nhan [to Kratie]”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A36 [“Division 164 had to send some forces to help the forces who were stationed along the border. At that time, Meas Muth led more than half of the military forces from Regiments 61, 62, and 63 to fight the Vietnamese at the border [...] he went to the border around October 1978”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat WRI, A226 [confirming that Meas Muth took Division 164 troops with him to Kratie]; D54/50 Meas Voeun, A5-6, 9 [Division 1 commander stating that Division 164 troops, “personally commanded by Ta Mut” were stationed along the Vietnamese border as “the rear defense line” and describing incidents occurring between Division 1 and Division 164 “in November or December 1978”]. See also D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A32 [recalling that Touch, Nhan’s messenger, Vai, a telegram decoder and Kha, a telegram typist were among the Division 164 personnel sent to Kratie]. Soldiers were also drafted in from elsewhere and placed under Nhan’s command: D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A1-71 [describing being sent by Sou Met to Kratie to fight the Vietnamese. Met told him: “to cooperate with Unit 164 that was under the direct supervision of Nhan”. While there, he reported to Nhan. Although he does not clearly remember the date of his transfer, it is most likely he moved there in November 1978]. See further D123/2/2.18a Touch Chhum DC-Cam Statement, EN 01333949 [“I was sent to the border in November 1978”].

365

See paras 550, 867-868. See also D114/75 Sin Sisophal WRI, A153-165 [witnessed the removal and arrest of battalion commanders in Kratie in December 1978 by “soldiers from the Southwest Zone”. These lower-ranked cadres were “accused of betrayal because all their commanders had been arrested”. The witness named Pin, Sophy, and Diran whom he saw being “thrown into a vehicle like a pig”]; D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A34 [“Later, some regiment and battalion commanders were also called away and disappeared forever.

At that time, some regiment and battalion commanders fled and abandoned their units because they were afraid of being arrested and killed”]; D98/3.1.316 Yun Kim, T. 19 Jun 2012, 15.52.09-15.59.01, EN 00819717-18 [The witness was shown D1.3.28.146 (CF2: E3/1651), the S-21 Prisoner List containing the names of the 22 individuals from Sector 505 who arrived at S-21 on 27 December 1978. He confirmed recognising the name of “Sambat from Sambok commune.”; “Q: Do you recall hearing, in late 1978, that a number of commune and cooperative chiefs in Kratie had been arrested? Do you recall that? A: I heard about the arrest of the Sector Committee. Then many people were also arrested at Thma Kreae village, at the Sambok commune, and at other communes as well”]; D114/193 Sao Sarun WRI, A64 [heard from others that “[Nhan] was from the naval division and had come to Kratie to carry out arrests”] confirming D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278696-97 [“Nhan, former chief of the marine Division at Kampong Som, travelled to Kratie and I heard from other people that Angkar had his group come and arrest the civilians and military”].

D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A12 [“A commander of sector regiment named Oeung and the military commander of Snuol District named Kren attended [Moeng Vet’s admission ceremony]”]; D59/2/4.16a Seng Soeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00753848-49 [“I arrived when Moeun and Khon were arrested and Oeung was still there. He was like a deputy of military and became chairman of military in the Sector after the two [Moeun and Khon] were arrested. [...] Oeung was in charge of the army”].

D114/297.1.27 Seng Soeun, T. 29 Aug 2016, 14.17.50-14.19.31 [testifying that “Meas Muth himself who ordered his messenger to kill Mav Oeung”, a former classmate of the witness from his native village. Meas Muth told the witness personally that “he already solved the matter”]; D114/169 Seng Soeun WRI, A27-30 [stating that two or three days after he arrived in Kratie, Meas Muth “ordered the immediate execution of Oeung”. Muth called the witness to his office to tell him “I already gave the order to solve/sort out Oeung.” The witness explained that “Muth did not do it by himself: his bodyguard fired the shot”].

D4.1.849 Khum Kim WRI, A5 [describing meeting with Nuon Chea in 1977 in which he announced that the Vietnamese invasion into Cambodia was “caused by the enemy burrowing from within the Khmer Rouge army and administration that cooperated with the Vietnamese”, adding that those in the army “must try [their] best to protect [DK] territory”, and that if they “lost an inch of land” they were “traitor”]; D4.1.791 Chum Cheat WRI, EN 00398840 [“At that time, they issued a strict regulation that we must not have been defeated in the fighting, or if we were defeated, we needed to have clear reasons; generally speaking, we were not allowed to withdraw; if we withdraw, we had to have a reason”]; D32/4 Sin Sophal WRI, A57 [“when East Zone soldiers and cadres retreated from the battlefield, the Central Zone military would just be waiting there to arrest and kill them there”].

D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A4, 5, 8 [Division 1 commander heard from Division 1 troops who had withdrawn from fighting at the Vietnamese border that they had been “chased and attacked by the military forces of [...] Division 164” under Meas Muth. He explained that “Division 1 was unable to counter the Vietnamese troops, and Division 1 was attacked by Division 164 because we were accused of being non-patriotic, non-resolute and not strongly committed [...] A5: When the Vietnamese troops strongly attacked the defence line of Division 1, some of the military forces of Division 1 withdraw. When the Division 164 saw the military forces of Division 1 withdrawing, they fired and shelled the retreating troops [...] When the frontline defense soldiers withdrew, this Centre unit would arrest or shoot them because they did not want us to retreat from the battlefield [...] A8: As far as I know, 3 or 4 of them were wounded and 4 or 5 of them were killed, but some died of drowning while they were swimming across the river during the shooting from the rear by Division 164”]; D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A6 [“Q: How did you know that Division 164 was responsible for preventing other military forces from retreating? A6: As far as we knew, the Division 164 was a Centre division and had authority over the other divisions. Division 164 was personally commanded by Ta Mut. This division was responsible for battlefields and target locations where other divisions were stationed. As it was a Centre division, Division 164 had the right to arrest and shoot to death the military forces of any division that retreated from the battlefield”]; D54/24.1 Pak Sokh DC-Cam Statement, EN00978576 [“Q: Was it the order from the Division to arrest and kill them or did you act on your own? A: It was the order from the Division. Q: Who gave that order? A: The order came from Ta Mut. Q: Was it the order to kill? A: Yes”].

D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A75-76, 84 [“I heard from the commander of my regiment that Son Sen ordered Meas Mut to lead troops to suppress the rebels in the East Zone led by Sao Phim. As you know from the above, the first enemy of Democratie Kampuchea was Vietnam, and the second enemy was the intimal enemy. I heard about the suppression from Son Sen when I attended education sessions organised by the General Staff in Phnom Penh. Son Sen confirmed that Sao Phim had already been put down. Q: Did Son Sen tell you what Meas Mut would be doing in Memot District? A76: At the end of 1978, Meas Mut went to Memot District to serve as the commander at a time when events were taking place in the East Zone [...] Q: Did you know the soldiers whom Meas Mut led to Memot District? A84: No, I did not know. I just knew that Meas Mut went there with some soldiers from Kampong Som and some from the General Staff, but I do not know the unit numbers and their commanders”].

D54/16/1R Meas Muth Interview with David Kattenburg, 2009, 33:32-35:26 [“In February 1978 I had left Kampong Som already. Q: Where did he go? A: I was assigned to work in Kratie province, near the Lao border. Q: So he left Division 164 entirely in February 1978? A: No, I still had my position but I was assigned for another mission”].

See VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea; VIII.C.4. Toek Sap Security Centre; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes – Murder, Extermination and Enforced Disappearances; Annex D.5.

D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478496 [“As for the enemies that are [...] ‘Y[uan]’ agents, the cheap running dogs of the enemy [...] the forces that remain have been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water and being chased and struck by the people and annihilated”].

D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478496 [“We must continue to strike them and trample them from our position of absolute advantage and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads”].

D4.1.868 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1978, EN 00519830 [“The Presentation of the Comrade Secretary of the [CPK] on the Occasion of the 3rd Anniversary of the Great Victory of 17 April”]. See also D1.3.24.5, Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185333 [“To sum things up on the other side in the contradiction with us are the CIA, the Yuon and the KGB, and among these the Yuon are the most noxious and acute. Proceeding from such an analysis of this acute life-and-death contradiction, what are our attack measures? 1. Our sharpest attack is on the aggressive, territory-swallowing Yuon. 2. At the same time, we attack the CIA and KGB. We attack simultaneously, but we pay most attention to attacking the Tuon [sic] because they are the most noxious and acute”]; D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, July 1978, EN 00428289 [“The national duty of all of us its to struggle to fight to eliminate our aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy. Just like the Kampucheans of our current generation, absolutely no Kampucheans of any subsequent generation will lay down arms and stop fighting the aggressive and expansionist/territory-swallowing and genocidal Yuon enemy of the Kampuchean race”].

D4.1.617 FBIS, Past Year’s National Defence Efforts Reviewed, 10 May 1978, EN 00294786 [“The party instructed that we must try to destroy as many of the enemy as possible and to preserve our forces to the maximum. [...] This was our slogan. In terms of numbers, one of us had to kill 30 Vietnamese”]; EN 00294790 [“We must purify our armed forces, our Party and the people in order to continue fighting the enemy in defense of Kampuchean territory and the Kampuchean race, for if we fail to do so, our race will disappear”]. See also D69.1.21 Khieu Samphan Speech, 15 Apr 1978, EN 00280392 [“We are all proud of our Revolutionary Army. We have respect, affection and admiration for our army because it is the solid cornerstone of the defence of the independence, sovereignty, territorial integrity, honour, national dignity and the race of Kampuchea”].

D114/277.9 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 22 Jun 2016, 13.51.23-13.59.16 [confirming he heard presentation printed in Revolutionary Flag D4.1.868 at 17 April 1978 rally he attended].

D4.1.868 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1978, EN 00519833-34 [“The Party made the determination to fight and smash large numbers of the enemy’s life forces and to protect our forces to the maximum. [...] This is our slogan. Looking at the numbers, one of us must fight 30 Yuon. If we can implement this slogan, we win. [...] So when we have 2,000,000 we already have more than we need to fight them because they only have 50,000,000. We don’t need to use 8,000,000; we can use [a] force of only 2,000,000 to fight and smash the Yuon and still have 6,000,000 left”]. See also D1.3.25.33 FBIS, Khieu Samphan Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00166070 [repeated references to how “when 100 of the enemy were killed or wounded, we suffered from 3 to 5 killed or wounded” which may be the origin of the 30:1 reference in Pol Pot’s speech].

D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Meas Muth to Office 870, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00184995.

D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A31-34 [“Q: In your opinion, do you think the killing of those captured persons was right or wrong? A31: I think it was completely wrong, given that those people knew nothing at all. They were just fleeing war to survive. But at the time, the Khmer Rouge considered the Vietnamese as heredity enemies [...] A32: the Thais had not have much conflict with Cambodians throughout history, unlike the Vietnamese, who had had much conflict with the Cambodians; that’s why the Vietnamese were considered the Hereditary Enemy and Enemy Number One. Q: Why do you know all these things? A33: Because the commanders of the battalions and regiments underwent training with the division, and when they returned from the training they taught us about this in training sessions. Q: Who were responsible for political education in Division 164 from 1975 to 1979? A34: Meas Mut, who was then Political Commissar of the Division”]; D114/284 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A3-7 [“Q: We would like to clarify with you that we understand the case. We know that you are Cambodian and were not born with hatred against the Yuon; however, when you worked as a low ranking soldier, Upper Angkar set a policy to kill or destroy the Yuon. So, did they mention which Yuon were to be destroyed? Was it the South Yuon or North Yuon, or young or old Yuon? A3: We had to obey their disciplines; obey their orders. We did not care whether they were Yuon from the South or North, old or young, as long as they were Yuon. Q: The telegram which Ta Muth sent to Angkar, Document D 1.3 .34.60 with English EN 00184995 and Khmer EN 00001325, was related to the topic of the Yuon. How did they indoctrinate their ideology to the low ranking soldiers? A4: It was right as I said; it was right. It had to be like that, not different from that. We had to purge and destroy them from the inside. Q: We want you to explain the terms purge or destroy. What do those words mean in normal language? A5: Those who were related to this were Khmer, the soldiers. When they used the term ‘purge’ in the army, they referred to the Yuon network. However, we did not care with which network they were affiliated. We simply purged them from the inside, from within the army. Q: Are the words you read in the telegram the same as those you were taught in the meetings? A6: Yes, they are. Everything is the same. Q: Even though it is long ago, we want to know if you remember being in a meeting in which Ta Muth talked about traitors. At that time, did they use the same words as are used in this document? A7: Yes, they did. Everything is the same”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A202-208 [“Q: Did you ever meet Meas Muth or him speak? A202: I saw him when he attended meetings, but I never talked to him. Q: When were the meetings? A203: Military educational meetings were held once a year. Q: You said they held meetings once a year. Did you attend the meetings from 1975 to 1979? A204: Yes. Q: What did Meas Muth say in those meetings? A205: He talked about military education, national reconstruction and national defense, and strengthening military discipline, both in the navy and army. Q: Did Meas Muth say what kinds of enemies we had to fight? A206: He never talked about that. He said that anyone who opposed us was an enemy. Q: When he said those words, was he referring to foreigners or Cambodians? A207: He was speaking to Cambodian troop: he told us not to be deceived by the enemy and not betray our ranks. Q: Did Meas Muth say how to be vigilant against persons deceiving and betraying the Cambodian people? A208: He wanted say not to be deceived by the Vietnamese”]; D114/58 Som Saom WRI, A25-26 [“Q: How many people attended each study session? A25: There were about 50 or 60 people for each session. They participants were both civilians and soldiers from various units under Division 164. Q: In the study session that Meas Muth attended did he or other speakers talk about the situation of the enemies including the internal and external enemies? A26: Yes, they did. But I do not remember. I did not understand those matters. They talked about KGB, the Vietnamese spies and so on”]; D114/19 Ma (Mak) Chhoeun WRI, A18, 20 [“Q: During those meetings, what instructions were given concerning the defence of the territorial waters against infiltration by foreign fishing boats and ships? A18: They instructed us that if we saw fishing boats enter our territorial waters but remain close to the maritime borderline, we should not do anything; but if those boats came deep inside our territorial waters and remained inside them for long, we should attack them immediately. Such incidents frequently occurred in my area. My area was near the Vietnamese border, so most of the fishing boats which entered our territorial waters were Vietnamese motorboats. Most of those fishing motorboats were armed with guns and weaponry. [...] Q: Who gave the instructions to attack those boats? A20: If Ta Mut chaired the meetings; he gave those orders. If Ta Dim chaired the meetings, he gave those orders”]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A27-32 [“Q: Did you see Ta Mut many times at Stung Hav? A27: I saw him only once, at that meeting. Q: Do you remember if Ta Mut talked in the meeting about the work at the rock breaking sites, the stone port, or other worksites in Stung Hav? A28: I cannot remember. He spoke about those who betrayed the Party, and he said that those accused of treason had to be rounded up and put in one place. [...] A29: [Meas Muth] said that those who had once been in the Workers Party, which was a Vietnamese party, were regarded as traitors. Q: During that meeting did Ta Mut mention the names of any of the traitors? A30: Yes, he announced that Ta Nhoek the Sector 37 Secretary, Ta Pon on the Sector 37 Committee, and Ta Chhan also on the Sector 37 Committee (were traitors). But I did not know the exact roles of the last two cadres. And Dim was Ta Mut s deputy in Division 164. [...] Q: Did Ta Mut mention the place where those people were taken? A31: If a traitor was discovered the traitor would have already been taken away and disappeared before the name of the traitor was announced. Q: Did Ta Mut explain in the meeting what happened to those people? A32: He said that they were traitors”]; D54/13 Pres

Mean WRI, A4-5, 11-12 ["Q: Why did Ta Mut call that meeting? Was it a special event? A4: It was not a routine meeting. In 1977 the situation was in turmoil. The Communist Party of Kampuchea was supported by China; the Workers Party was supported by Vietnam; and the American CIA and the KGB were amongst the people. So they had to screen out all of those people. Q: Is this your own idea, or did someone tell you this? A5: Ta Mut announced it in the meeting. [...] Q: Did only Ta Mut speak in the meeting, or did any other cadres speak? A11: Only Ta Mut. Q: Did any other leaders of Division 164 accompany him? A12: Only he and his bodyguards were there"].

381 D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A202-208 ["Q: Did you ever meet Meas Muth or him speak? A202: I saw him when he attended meetings, but I never talked to him. Q: When were the meetings? A203: Military educational meetings were held once a year. Q: You said they held meetings once a year. Did you attend the meetings from 1975 to 1979? A204: Yes. Q: What did Meas Muth say in those meetings? A205: He talked about military education, national reconstruction and national defense, and strengthening military discipline, both in the navy and army. Q: Did Meas Muth say what kinds of enemies we had to fight? A206: He never talked about that. He said that anyone who opposed us was an enemy. Q: When he said those words, was he referring to foreigners or Cambodians? A207: He was speaking to Cambodian troop: he told us not to be deceived by the enemy and not betray our ranks. Q: Did Meas Muth say how to be vigilant against persons deceiving and betraying the Cambodian people? A208: He wanted say not to be deceived by the Vietnamese"].

382 D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A31-34 ["Q: In your opinion, do you think the killing of those captured persons was right or wrong? A31: I think it was completely wrong, given that those people knew nothing at all. They were just fleeing war to survive. But at the time, the Khmer Rouge considered the Vietnamese as heredity enemies. [...] A32: the Thais had not have much conflict with Cambodians throughout history, unlike the Vietnamese, who had had much conflict with the Cambodians; that's why the Vietnamese were considered the Hereditary Enemy and Enemy Number One. Q: Why do you know all these things? A33: Because the commanders of the battalions and regiments underwent training with the division, and when they returned from the training they taught us about this in training sessions. Q: Who were responsible for political education in Division 164 from 1975 to 1979? A34: Meas Mut, who was then Political Commissar of the Division"].

383 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A138-139 ["Q: How and by whom were reports made about the capture of those Vietnamese soldiers and civilians? A138: When they were arrested, they reported via communication radio from the islands to the division. Q: Did they report the arrest of the Vietnamese to Meas Mut or someone else? A139: In cases of reporting, when Meas Mut was at the Office, they would report to him directly. But when he was not around or was absent, they reported to person acting for him"].

384 D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 10.03.10-10.05.46 ["Yes, there were reports from one level to another level; if there were arrests of the Vietnamese, and then we reported about the arrest of Vietnamese. If there were arrests of the Thai, we reported the arrest of the Thais, so it was a clear report that went from one level to the upper level"]; D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 11.03.07-11.06.59 confirming D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A27-28 ["These orders came from the division down to the battalions. [...] A28: [...] it was imperative to report precisely what we captured, for example, whether they were Vietnamese refugees or Thai fishermen or soldiers, we had to report that to upper echelon clearly in advance"]. See also D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A16, 19-23 ["Q: What happened when your ship went out to support the PCF boats those two or three times? A16: The first incident happened when a PCF boat went to capture a Vietnamese fishing boat, and that boat fired at the PCF boat. The PCF boat asked for intervention. The second and third incidents also happened with Vietnamese boats. When we intervened, our ship intercepted blocked the path of the Vietnamese boats so that they could not escape. Then the PCF boat initiated the capture. [...] Q: What did they do to call for help? A19: To request intervention, first the PCF boat made a request to Division 164, and then the division issued commands down to Regiment 140 and on down to Han's battalion. Han was the one who commanded our boat to go. Sometimes they even called for intervention in the middle of the night. Q: From whom did you learn about this method of communication? A20: This was the general operating procedure at that time. The orders came from the division to Han's battalion. Touch also talked about this. Q: You said that the orders came from the division to the battalion. Did you know who at the division level issued the orders? A21: Ta Mut issued the orders. Q: How did you know that the orders came from Ta Mut rather than from his deputy or his headquarters? A22: I would like to give you an example. All of the decisions came from the senior leader. His deputy could issue the orders only when Ta Mut was absent. In the battalion, Han issued the orders. Other people could speak, communicate, or write down the orders, but decision-making was chairman's work. In a case where the deputy chairmen, the members, and chairman were absent, everyone discussed the measures to be taken, but decisions were made by the chairman. Q: Was this process that you have described also implemented at Ta Mut's level? A23: It was the same"]. See further D54/116 Neak Yoeun WRI, A36-42 ["Q: In your interview with DC-Cam on page 17, you said that the people who had been arrested were then taken to be killed by shooting on Koh Rong Island. Can you explain further about this? A36: At that time I saw them towing the boat they had captured to Koh Rong Island. That boat was a Yuon boat. They kept the boat at Koh Rong Island overnight. At about 2 p.m. or 3 p.m. the next day, they towed that boat on to Tumnap Rolork [Jetty] in Kampong Som. At that time when I asked Touch Horn's personal messenger-what had happen to the people captured in that boat, Touch told me that those people had been all shot to death on the island. At that time Horn warned us not to say anything about this story. Q: In your interview with DC-Cam on page 17, you said that when 'they' arrested people, 'they' radioed to the Division, and the Division replied 'You do whatever you want. Do not keep.' Whom did you refer to as 'they'? A37: At that time Hom was stationed on the Koh Rong Island, so 'they' refers to Hom. Those killed on the Koh Rong Island were Vietnamese. Q: What did the phrase 'You do whatever you want. Do not keep them' mean? A38: Based on my understanding, this meant the order to shoot them all to death on site on Koh Rong Island. Do not keep them alive or bring them to Kampong Som. Q: How did you know about this communication? A39: I asked Touch, and he told me about that. Touch was Hom's personal messenger. Touch and was a faithful man. He did not report about what I had asked him to Hom. Hom always had Touch carried his radio set. Q: Did Touch tell you who had given the order from the Division? A40: That order came from Ta Mut, the Division commander. Q: Is Touch still alive or dead? A41: He was shot to death by the Vietnamese. Q: Do you still remember the location where, and in which circumstance when, Touch told you these stories? A42: It was on the Koh Rong Island in late 1976. At that time I was already assigned to work on the ship. Touch told me about this order about one week after they had towed the Vietnamese boat to Kampong Som. Touch told me these stories at the time I went to wash my ship"].

D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A41, 43-44 ["At the beginning, whenever we had captured any Vietnamese and or Thai, we sent them to Ta Muth in Kampong Som. But later on, Ta Muth ordered us not to waste gasoline to transport them to Kampong Som anymore. He told us that we should make them as fertilizer for the coconut trees on the island. Each corpse was cut into two pieces, and one piece was buried under one coconut tree as fertilizer. [...] Q: You said that after the Vietnamese and Thai had been captured, they were sent to Ta Muth in Kampong Som. Can you explain what do you mean by saying that? A43: Any persons who had been captured by the navy forces must be sent to Ta Muth in Kampong Som, and we heard at that time that those captured persons were all ended up in the durian plantation. During that time the killing place of Division 164 was at the durian plantation only. Q: How did you know that Ta Muth had told his soldiers not to send the captured persons to Kampong Som anymore? A44: The unit chiefs told me that there was no need for us to send the captured persons to Kampong Som anymore because brother Division chairman had told us just finish them on site"].

D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A29 ["During that time, when they had arrested the Vietnamese refugees, who were traveling by boat to seek asylum in the 3rd countries, they took those Vietnamese refugees to kill in that durian plantation also. They [Khmer Rouge] called those Vietnamese refugees the piglets. They said that they took those refugees to make fertilizer for the durian trees"]; D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978576 ["Q: Were they mostly Yuon soldiers? A: They were mostly the refugees escaping to the third country. Most of those people were escaping from a war and traveling through our area. When we arrested them, we shot them to dead"].

D114/283 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A4 ["Q: At that time, for the Vietnamese whom you arrested, were most of them people who smuggled piglets and who had immigrated on boats? Were there some fishermen and Vietnamese soldiers? A4: Most of them were the piglet smugglers and Vietnamese fishermen"].

See para. 498. See also D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A10 ["Q: Why the Khmer Krom people were sent to that mobile unit? A10: They were accused by the Khmer Rouge that they had connection with the Yuon as they lived in Vietnam"].

D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978 [reporting capture and arrest of "76 Vietnamese people – both young and old, male and female," on two boats at Koh Tang, and capture of 21 Thai people on boat at Koh Wai island]; D54/73.1 Report of Secret Telephone Call from Meas Muth, 1 Apr 1978, EN 01098703 ["There was a total of 120 Vietnamese who were arrested and shot dead from 27 Mar to 30 March 1978"]; D1.3.12.20 Report of Secret Telephone from Meas Muth, 12 Aug 1977 & D1.3.34.23 Son Sen note to Angkar, 12 August 1977 [report from Muth of capture of Thai fishing boat and arrest of 4 Thai and 1 Khmer who were being interrogated]; D1.3.8.4 Minutes of Meeting between Son Sen and Division 164, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00657355 [reporting capture of people on two Thai fishing boats and the arrest of a lieutenant from the former regime], EN 00657356 [instructions of Son Sen to round up “soldier elements” and to “send the group of boats that came in Koh Rong Sanloem to Angkar for interrogation”]; D1.3.27.18 Minutes of Meeting of Division Secretaries, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195340-41 [report by Meas Muth on capture of Thai fishing boat]; D1.3.34.28 Report of Secret Telephone from Division 164 to Meas Muth, 15 Sep 1977 [report of capture of two Thai boats and killing of people on board]; D1.3.12.3 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89, 22 Feb 1976 [reporting arrest of group of alleged bandits from Veal Rinh area, one of whom had been interrogated]; D1.3.34.11 Telegram 11 from Dim to Muth, 24 Sep 1976 [reporting arrest of 5 enemies who tried to flee from Riem and Baboh sub-districts, pursuant to decision of Meas Muth. Copied to Son Sen and Nuon Chea]; D1.3.34.12 Telegram 12 from Dim to Muth, 27 Sep 1976 [reporting arrest of 16-year-old boy who confessed to being a spy for “bandits”. Copied to Son Sen and Nuon Chea]; D1.3.34.13 Telegram 16 from Dim to Muth, 6 Oct 1976 [describing use of children and ambush groups to “search for bandits” and “contemptible traitors burrowing within the village”. Copied to Son Sen and Nuon Chea”].

D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A28 [“it was imperative to report precisely what we captured, for example, whether they were Vietnamese refugees or Thai fishermen or soldiers, we had to report that to upper echelon clearly in advance”].

D4.1.754 US Department of Defence, Organization of Sector 37 and 3rd/164th Division Forced on Tang Island after the Mayaguez Incident, 18 Jul 2005, EN 00387429 [“After they captured the boat the 408th commander contacted kampong som for guidance on the disposition of the refugees the high command in kampong som ordered the commander to kill the refugees the commander and his deputy carried out the order”].

D4.1.754 US Department of Defence, Organization of Sector 37 and 3rd/164th Division Forced on Tang Island after the Mayaguez Incident, 18 Jul 2005, EN 00387429 [“After they captured the boat the 408th commander contacted kampong som for guidance on the disposition of the refugees the high command in kampong som ordered the commander to kill the refugees the commander and his deputy carried out the order”].

See section III.2. Meas Muth’s DK Role – Secretary of Kampong Som Autonomous Sector.

D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012 [“Enemy situation: [...] b. Vietnam: Now it seems that [the Vietnamese] have not made any move. We placed a buoy two kilometers from Koh Seh as a marker they [Vietnam] came and stole it away”].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940345.

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940346 [“From an examination of my forces some 90 to 95 per cent of them are reliable, those who are loyal to the Party. But if you want unsullied faith that the army is clean it seems not yet to be clean and it is imperative to follow up with more purges”].

See Annex D.5. See also paras 545-546.

D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 13.31.00-13.35.23 [“I actually was a soldier in Division 164. After 1976, there was a training session, and they announced clearly about the hereditary enemy of the Khmer that was ‘Yuon’. [...] The training was given at the battalion. After receiving training from the division level, the regiments and battalions opened small training sessions as well on the islands”].

D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 13.36.35-13.38.32 [“We were instructed to kill, even if it was a baby, because they are our hereditary enemy, so we must kill them. So it was the responsibility of each battalion that received exact instructions”]. See also D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978576 [“Q: Did you say that you had captured some Yuons? A: If they had arrested Yuons they killed them. Q: Where did they kill them? A: Sometimes they killed them on the Island. Q: Did not they send them to the shore? A: Sometimes they killed them on the Island. Q: Were they mostly Yuon soldiers? A: They were mostly the refugees escaping to the third country. Most of those people were escaping from a war and traveling through our area. When we arrested them we shot them to dead. A: Was it the order from the Division to arrest and kill them or did you act on your own? A: It was the order from the Division [...] The order came from Ta Mut”].

D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 13.45.11.-13.47.44 [“At the level of the battalion and regiment, who went to study at the division level, they came back and gave instruction to all naval soldiers within battalions of the division”].

D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 00233992-93.

- 402 D114/69 Kuy Sambath WRI, A1, 9 ["One day, while I was transplanting rice to the west of Teuk Sab, which was not very far from my current house or 300 meters from here, I saw six trucks heading to the mountain to the west of Au Teuk Sab canal. I saw the trucks from a distance, so I could not see them clearly. I could hear their engines and could see the dust being blown across the road. However I could not see the trucks clearly. I did not see the killings first-hand but I knew clearly that the people had certainly been taken away to be killed. However, I knew that the same trucks returned in the afternoon. The trucks returned to Smach Daeng Cooperative, which was located behind a pagoda. The Khmer Rouge came here on those trucks to distribute clothes to the people in the cooperative. They told them to take the clothes to be used because the boats that had carried those those Kampuchea Krom people sank at sea and that all the passengers on board had drowned. We knew that this was not true and that the Kampuchea Krom people had been taken to be killed. Everyone knew this, but no-one dared to say anything. I also knew this. We did not dare to refuse to take the clothes [...] A9: This happened in April or May 1977. I remember that it happened during the dry season"]; D114/141 Toek Sap Site ID Report, EN 01173093 ["Stage 1 The witness observed that people were loaded on six trucks in front of his house in Smach Deng under the given information that those trucks would bring villagers of Vietnamese descent Kampuchea Krom back to Vietnam. Stage 2: The witness then observed from his position on a rice farm close to Toek Sap that the same six trucks loaded with people drove across Toek Sap Bridge and would leave Highway 4 and make a turn inside the area of Toek Sap. The witness didn't see the trucks turning but heard the engine noise and saw the dust of the trucks letting him conclude that those trucks turned into the area of Toek Sap. Stage 3: On the same day the witness next observed that the luggage and clothing of the villagers he saw in the morning were distributed to the communal house in Smach Deng. The witness learned at that stage that the KR stated that those people on the trucks are all dead because they drowned on sea by travelling towards Vietnam [...] I witnessed the events at the end of 1977 and early 1978, in which they took the Khmer Rouge people and other people to be killed"].
- 403 D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Meas Muth to Office 870, 31 Dec 1977.
- 404 D1.3.34.64 Report of Confidential Telephone Communication between Meas Muth and Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978, EN 00233649 ["At Koh Tang island, on March 20, 1978 at 2.30 hours, our 800-cc motor-driven boat managed to catch two Vietnamese motor-driven boats with 76 Vietnamese people-both young and old, male and female. When we tied them up, the smaller motor-driven boat was shaky and plunged. As a result, two people fell into the water and been found. The rest have been brought to the main land"].
- 405 D54/11.1 Report of Confidential Telephone Messages between Meas Muth and the Centre, 1 Apr 78, EN 01147584 ["The total number of Vietnamese soldiers that were arrested and shot between 27 March 1978 and 30 March 1978 numbers 102". Copied to Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Ieng Sary]; D1.3.30.25 Confidential Telephone Messages from Mut, 1 Apr 1978, EN 00183357 ["in sum, the number of Yuon who have been captured and shot to death from 27 March 1978 through 30 March 1978 is 120 head". Copied to Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Ieng Sary].
- 406 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A60 ["This event happened at the end of 1978, around two or three months before the arrival of the Vietnamese"].
- 407 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A56, 59 ["I saw three Yuon being walked: one old lady and two adolescents perhaps over ten years old. That old lady was killed about 30 metres from my house; the two adolescents were killed about 100 metres from my house [...] Q: How old was that old Vietnamese lady? A59: She was almost 70 years old"].
- 408 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A39 ["One night, I saw them take an old Yuon lady and two or three children to be killed in the Inner Office compound. Those children were crying and screaming"].
- 409 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A61 ["Q: Did you know where they brought those Yuon from? A61: No, I did not, but as I heard from those messengers, those Vietnamese had been captured along with their boat from the sea"].
- 410 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A53, 56, 63-65 ["Q: How far from the house you were staying to Meas Mut's house? A53: They about 50 to 60 metres apart. First was his house; next was the kitchen; and then the house I stayed at. [...] I saw the soldiers walking them one at a time. I saw three Yuon being walked: one old lady and two adolescents perhaps over ten years old. That old lady was killed about 30 metres from my house; the two adolescents were killed about 100 metres from my house [...] Q: Did they use that place for killing other people? A63. No, to my knowledge, they did not kill any other people at that place. Q: You said that they killed the old Vietnamese lady at about 30 metres from your house. Did you ever go to see that pit afterwards? A64: Because that place was 30 metres behind my house, I remember that I went there and saw two or three pits. Q: Could you see if those pits were mass graves or individual graves? A65: Each pit was small for individual corpses. I saw only two or three pits near the jackfruit and mango trees”].

See Annex D.5. See also para. 548.

Total number of individuals identified as Vietnamese in the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List is 517 (D114/230.1.1). Of those, 188 were sent to S-21 by Division 164: see Annex D.5 [six names that were not included in the OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List have been added to Annex D.5].

D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A87-91 [“We sailed close to their boat and then jumped onto the Thai fishing boat. Then we pointed our guns at them. If they had fought back, we would have shot them dead. Q: What happened next? A88: After we captured their boat, piloted their fishing boat into our Cambodian waters at Kampong Som Port, Meas Muth's place. Q: During the training, did you receive orders to capture foreign boats which entered Cambodian waters? A89: Yes. During the training course, they told us that if any foreign boat entered our waters, we had to capture it. Q: Who gave the order to capture the boats? A90: The upper echelon. Q: How did you know about this? A91: I learned about orders from the upper echelon when the battalion called the company and platoon commanders to attend meetings. During the meetings, they said the order came from the Party, meaning the upper echelon. ‘The Party’ referred to Meas Muth”].

D114/27.1.5 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00183970, KH 00052389-01 [“More and more Thai came to fish in our maritime territory. They came in a line of about 100 to 150 fishing boats. They mostly came in the vicinity of Koh Kong and Koh Trang. On 11 September we caught one fishing boat with an 50 cc engine”].

D1.3.12.20 DK Report from Meas Muth to Khieu (Son Sen), 12 Aug 1977, EN 00233972, KH 00020912 [“Yesterday on August 11 1977 when operating a patrol we caught two machine boats, 350-horse and 175-horse. The latter carried five people with no fishing equipment. They were arrested 2 kilometers from Koh Kong. Later we questioned them”].

D1.3.12.20 DK Report from Meas Muth to Khieu (Son Sen), 12 Aug 1977, EN 00233972, KH 00020912-00020912 [“[Handwritten annotation in left margin:] To Angkar: (1) We ask to find inside networks (2) Find the entry and exit. (3) Traitorous elements along the border”].

D54/11.1 DK Report of Confidential Telephone Messages between Meas Muth and the Centre, 1 Apr 78, EN 01147584 [“The total number of Vietnamese soldiers that were arrested and shot between 27 March 1978 and 30 March 1978 numbers 102. During this period, we also confiscated five motor boats of between 10- and 37-ph engines, and a number of guns, including an M79, and other military materials. We failed to release the Thai prisoners as scheduled because some of their names did not correspond to the list given to our agents. Not the entire names but only the end of the names were spelled incorrectly. We could not contact each other for advice because the radio did not work. Based on the information in the telegram from Comrade Launh and because of the slow transmission of messages, the handing over of the Thai soldiers was delayed until 31 March 1978 at 8.00 p.m. The agents were the chief of Khland Yai District and a member of the rece group. The Thai agents gave our comrades three cartons of cigarettes] and a bottle of palm oil”. Copied to Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, and Ieng Sary].

D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A29, 41-44 [“West of the coconut plantation, at the foot of the mountain, was the location of the durian plantation where Ta Muth had taken the Thai people to kill and then buried the dead bodies under the durian trees as the fertilizer. If any Thai people want to look for the bones of their relatives now, they can go to look for them in that durian plantation. After they [Khmer Rouge] had captured two 1,400 horsepower and one 1,800 horsepower fishing boats of the Thai, they took all the Thai fishermen to kill in that place. During that time they used the minesweeper ship, which was very fast, to chase and capture the Thai fishing boats. That ship was as very fast as an airplane. During that time, when they had arrested the Vietnamese refugees, who were traveling by boat to seek asylum in the 3rd countries, they took those Vietnamese refugees to kill in that durian plantation also. They [Khmer Rouge] called those Vietnamese refugees the piglets. They said that they took those refugees to make fertilizer for the durian trees [...] A41: At the beginning, whenever we had captured any Vietnamese and or Thai, we sent them to Ta Muth in Kampong Som. But later on, Ta Muth ordered us not to waste gasoline to transport them to Kampong Som anymore. He told us that we should make them as fertilizer for the coconut trees on the Island. Each corpse was cut into two pieces, and one piece was buried under one coconut tree as fertilizer. Q: Did you see with your own eyes any corpse which had been cut into two pieces? A42: No, I did not see while they were cutting the corpse, but everyone knew about this story because the rotten smell was strong in the area and the sign of dead body swelling out from under the young coconut trees. Q: You said that after the Vietnamese and Thai had been captured, they were sent to Ta Muth in Kampong Som. Can you explain what do you mean by saying that? A43: Any persons who had been captured by the navy forces must be sent to Ta Muth in Kampong Som, and we heard at that time that those captured persons were all ended up in the durian plantation. During that time the killing place of Division 164 was at the durian plantation only. Q: How did you know that Ta Muth had told his soldiers not to send the captured persons to Kampong Som anymore? A44: The unit chiefs told me that there was no need for us to send the captured persons to Kampong Som anymore because brother Division chairman had told us just finish them on site”].

D118/207.2 Report from Dim to Brother 89 (Son Sen) and Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 15 Sep 1977 [“For the two Thai boats that came close in our water boundary, close to our islands, I sailed our ships and could capture both, one of which was the 300 HP and the other one was 400 HP. For the boat that we captured in the South of Koh Kong, there were two Kolaing, some fish and oil. Most of the people on the boat had jumped into the water to escape. Our fellow Comrades smashed the rest” (emphasis added)].

See VIII.B.4. Meas Muth’s Orders Regarding Thai Nationals; VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against Those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites.

See Annex D.6. See also VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre; III. Meas Muth’s Role and Responsibility.

D54/16/1R Meas Muth Audio Interview with David Kattenburg, 2009, 43:52-46:09.

See Annex D.7.

D98/3.1.93 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 15 Jun 2009, 10.11.25-10.14.20 [Westerners sent to S-21 were “arrested by the navy officers of Division 164, and they were sent through Kampong Som”]; D234/2.1.113 Prak Khan, T. 28 April 2016, 09.44.37-09.47.53 [“There were Vietnamese, American and Australian prisoners whom I used to see”]; D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00147526-27 [Caucasians detained and executed at S-21 had “entered Cambodian waters, and the naval unit arrested them and sent them”]; D1.3.33.4 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00198221 [“Q: Did the Minister of Foreign Affairs know about the arrest of the four foreigners whose bodies were burned? I do not think so, Son Sen sent two of them and Nuon Chea sent the two others”]; D4.1.742 Nhem En WRI, EN 00401827 [former S-21 cadre photographed “people of other nationalities brought in from the sea” who were “big, had sharp nose” and beards]; D114/302 Kung Pai WRI A73-85 [describing two American prisoners brought to S-21 in 1978 who were interrogated by Duch and taken out for execution after their interrogation, and identifying photographs of prisoners]; D114/301 Chhun Phal WRI, A62-69; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A196-199 [describing yacht captured by DK navy]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli WRI, A1-8 [describing foreigners brought to Ochheuteal pier by Division 164 soldiers]; D37 Robert Hamill WRI, EN 00791867 [admission of Meas Muth that foreigners arrested at sea were “transferred to S-21”]; D88.1.17 David Kattenburg, Foxy Lady: Truth, Memory & the Death of Western Yachtsmen in Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00916182 [summarising Stony Beach interviews of former Division 164 cadres re capture of foreign yachts].

See paras 457-459; D54/48 Em Sun WRI A17-19 [“Q: What did Meas Mut command? A17: He commanded Tak to take a B.E motorboat carrying the soldiers of Battalion 410 to Koh Tang Island in order to alternate with my battalion; then he had to ship the two American soldiers and my battalion back to the shore. Q: Was that command from the division commander, Meas Mut? A18: The radio operators called Meas Mut Om. They said that this command was from Om. Q: When the division commander, Meas Mut, was absent, could anyone else use the radio number 63 or Om? A19: In case that Meas Mut was absent, Tim Seng or Nget took responsibility on his stead, but they had their own radio number. Meas Mut had the radio number 63”].

D4.1.94 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 8 Mar 1976, EN 00182634 [Pol Pot: “Our vigilance must be even higher”]; D4.1.195 Nuon Chea, Statement of the Communist Party of Kampuchea to the Communist Workers’ Party of Denmark, Jul 1978, EN 00016997 [“Cadres are also instructed in revolutionary vigilance, that is, taking care to be on guard against the enemy”]; D4.1.986 Khieu Samphan Speech, 15 Apr 1977, EN 00419513 [“We must wipe out the enemy in our capacity as masters of the situation... Everything must be done neatly and thoroughly ... We must further steel ourselves, remain alert, constantly maintain the spirit of revolutionary vigilance and continue to fight and suppress all stripes of enemy at all times”]; D4.1.177 Report from Working with the Committees of Every Unit, 12 Sep 1977, EN 00355487-88 [Ieng Sary: “We must raise revolutionary vigilance really high”]; D114/27.1.8 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics [Chiefs] of Divisions and Regiments, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195352 [Son Sen: “We must indoctrinate the view of revolutionary vigilance to attack enemy trickery”]; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940344 [Son Sen: “Concretely operationalizing revolutionary vigilance means having a firm grip on our units of organization, ensuring that the enemy is unable to bore from within, and doing whatever needs to be done to ensure that our army is clean”]. EN 00940350 [Division 502 Secretary Sou Met: “This experience proves that our Party has a solid grip on things and a stance of constant vigilance. [...] [Division 164 Secretary Meas Muth] “This lesson has strengthened another degree the standpoint of revolutionary vigilance”].

D234/2.1.14 Thet Sambath, Behind the Killing Fields, EN 00757526.

D4.1.1112 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00185475 [“I was the Chairman of M-13 from 20 July 1971 until 1 January 1975”]; D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00147525 [confirming the perpetration of torture before S-21 in “Office 13” before 20 July 1971]; D98/3.1.214 Phan Chhen WRI, EN 00490542 [witness stating that the Krang Ta Chan office, used to interrogate prisoners, was opened in 1972]; D4.1.785 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00380132-33 [witness stating that the Krang Ta Chan office was opened in 1972].

See VIII.C. Division 164 Security Centres.

D98/3.1.79 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 7 Apr 2009, 14.03.10-14.06.09; D98/1.2.15 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 19 Mar 2012, 15.40.48 [“Vorn Vet himself instructed me the way to torture”], 15.52.49-15.55.05 [Duch instructed subordinates how to interrogate and torture in training sessions], 15.55.05-16.00.37 [“this police work was passed on by the culture of the Party ... this model had been left over from Issarak, and it was applied also at S-21”]; D4.1.1115 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00147603-05; D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav WRI, EN 00147521, 00147525 [“Vorn Vet was the person who trained me”]; D4.1.346 Mam Nai WRI, EN 00162910 [“Q: Who was at the upper level then? A: At Amleang, the Zone Chairman was Van Vet”].

D234/2.1.28 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1973, EN 00713998-99, [“If the spies are arrested to be executed in the meeting before the people, some people may be frightened of us [...] The stance to smash the spies is correct but it is inappropriately carried out”].

D54/16/1R Meas Muth Audio Interview with David Kattenburg, 2009, 42:46-43:50.

D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A137 [“Q: In your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia, on page 56 in English and page 57, you said, ‘There was a Division Correctional Office.’ Can you clarify the location of that correctional office? A137: It was located at Tuek Sab”].

D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A13 [“Q: But on this point how did you know that this Special Battalion was under the direct command of the Division Commander? A13: How could I not know? I knew very well that this Special Battalion was under direct command of the Division. It was not under the command of any regiment. Moeun was the Commander of this Special Battalion. This position was equal to other commanders of regiments in the Division. See also D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A12, 92 [“some soldiers [in Battalion 450] were sent to defend different places in Kampong Som. Some were sent to defend the coast [...] and Wat Enta Nhien pagodas. Q: Do you know who supervised the security office [Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda] in that pagoda? [...] A92: I know that the security office was supervised by the messenger(s) of Battalion 450”]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeuly) WRI, A23-24, 30 [“this unit 450 was assigned to be in charge of the security matters. [...] A24: It was not only for the place in Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda, but it was the security unit of the Division 164 for the entire Kampong Som town. [...] Q: At the time [1977] you went inside Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda, were the guards there the troops of Battalion 450? A30: Yes, they were”]. See further D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeuly) WRI, A57-58, 106-108 [“Q: When you were interviewed in 2010, in Answer 23 D2/15 you said that, after the fighting ended, Battalion 450 was sent to be in charge of security. Can you tell us what that means? A57: It is quite similar to what I have told you, that is, one number was on Koh Poulo Wai Island; another number went to the Navy; and some others were made to go be a security unit. Q: What all security affairs did Unit 450 have to sort out? A58: [...] I know that in perhaps late 1976 or early 1977, they were in charge of the security and public order side of things. However, I do not know about their duties and responsibilities. [...] Q: Were soldiers in Division 164 afraid of Battalion 450 when it took charge of security and other locations such as Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda? A106: In 1977, if we saw that unit of organization going anywhere, we worried that problems would occur there, but we were not afraid. Q: Was Battalion 450 always sent to places where there were problems or not? A107: We merely knew that in 1977 that this 450 unit of organization was a security unit, a security or squad. Thus, if we saw them anywhere, it was for sure that there were problems there. Q: Do you remember whether there were other security units or not? Or was there only Battalion 450? A108: It seems like I did not hear about any other units of organization; because there was only the 450 unit of organization squad”].

D2/15 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeuly) WRI, A12-14, 18 [“In the night of 17 April, my unit 420 retreated to take break in Ang Snuol. At that time because my commander Sar Samoeun had been wounded, I [left the special unit] and returned to stay with my old unit, the Battalion 420. Next morning, on 18 April, the Battalion 420 and the special unit were sent to Kampong Som town. The Battalion 420 was sent to station in Ream and the special unit was sent to Kampong Som. After my commander, Sar Samoeun, had been recovered from his wound, he was sent to command his special unit in Kampong Som again. At that time he came to take me from Ream to stay with him in Kampong Som. [...]. Q: In which room did Ta Moeun [Sar Samoeun] stay and in which room did you stay? A18: At that time, the commander, the medic, the radio operator, and the messenger stayed next to each other". See also D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A7, 11, 36 ["Q: In your previous interview, you said that your commander was named Samoeun. Is it correct that Samoeun was the commander in the special unit of organization that was under Big Division 164? A7: I stayed with Sa Samoeun, who was indeed the commander in Division 450 subordinated to Big Division 164, because when we left from Phnom Penh, left from Angk Snuol for Kampong Som, we received information about changing the name of the division had been changed and the division not being subordinated to the Southwest Zone anymore [...]. A11: Sa Samoeun was the commander in Battalion 450, and so therein were four companies subordinated to unit 450 [...]. A36: I stayed with Sa Samoeun, the commander"]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27 ["Probably in March 1975, I was transferred [...] to a special battalion, Battalion 450 in Division 3. Moeun was the Chief"]; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A22, 27 ["As for Moeun, he was the former commander of a Special Unit under Meas Mut and the commander of Battalion 141 of Regiment 140 [...]. Q: To your knowledge, did Moeun ever serve as the commander of Battalion 450 of Division 3? A27: Yes, he did"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8, 13 ["Moeun was the Political Chairman of the Special Battalion [of Division 3] [...]. A13: Moeun was the Commander of this Special Battalion. This position was equal to other commanders of regiments in the Division"].

436

D2/15 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A27, 33 ["Q: In 1977 you went inside Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda for a short while and saw the prisoners there. Can you describe in more details what you saw there? A27: Yes. A33: Based on my knowledge, Ta Norn was in charge of the security unit at that time"]. See also D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A43-44, 59, 61 ["Q: In your previous interview, you said that Ta Norn was the person in charge of Wat En Ta Nhien Security Office. Is that correct? Was Ta Norn also a soldier in the 450 unit of organization? A43: Ta Norn was a person who in the old days had been in the 450 unit of organization. He had been a commander of a company subordinated to the old 450th. However, when we went to the Navy, he did not go to the Navy. Q: Was Sa Samoeun Ta Norn's chief? A44: Yes. [...] A59: I remember only Bang Norn who was the person in charge. And then Bang Norn was also not able to remain there the whole time. In late 1978, even he disappeared due to the fact it was heard that he was connected to involvement in raping prisoners. However, I do not have clear knowledge of this matter, although I heard that he was involved in raping prisoners and releasing prisoners. And these persons called prisoners were in fact not at fault for anything, and once they had been released, they did not go anywhere. They lived near their units of organization; they did not go anywhere [...]. A61: I know there were remnants of the 450 unit of organization led by Ta Norn who took charge of security"].

437

D2/15 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A20-21 ["It was the Battalion 450 or the special unit of the Division 164. Q: You told us yesterday that Battalion 450 was not subordinate to any regiment, but it was the special unit of the Division 164, is it correct? A21: Yes, it is correct"]; D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A7, 9, 47-49 ["I stayed with Sa Samoeun, who was indeed the commander in Division 450 subordinated to Big Division 164 [...]. Q: So is correct that means that Battalion 450 was no longer under a regiment anymore in other words that it was situated under Big Division 164? A9: The 450 unit of organization was a unit of organization belonging to a battalion that was set up there on 11 or 12 April and that was the special unit of Division 3 there. [...] A47: Unit 450 was a division special unit. Q: Was Battalion 450 what they sometimes called a defence unit? [...] A48: No, it was not. It was a combat unit, a special combat unit. These persons were the most special of all for doing straightforward combat. Q: So it means they got the best training and best equipment? A49: Yes"]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A11 ["Q: What was the mission of Battalion 450? A11: Battalion 450 was called the special unit"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A10, 13 ["This Special Battalion was not under the command of any regiment. It was under the command of the Division [3/164]"]. [...] A13: [...] I knew very well that this Special Battalion was under direct command of the Division. It was not under the command of any regiment". See also D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27, 31 ["Probably in March 1975, I was transferred [...] to a special battalion, Battalion 450 in Division 3. Moeun was the Chief. [...] A31: [...] In a meeting, [Meas Muth] announced that Battalion 450 was the special battalion under Division 3's authority. He also added that we had to get ready for liberating Phnom Penh in February 1975"]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A19 ["The persons came to arrest them were the guards of the security unit 450. I did not know how the arrests were made, but I knew that the arrests took place continuously”].

438 D54/101 Ek Ny WRI, A10 [“Those soldiers, who were arresting him, were from the Special Unit of Ta Mut. They were like Ta Mut’s bodyguards and also known as his right hand unit”]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A14, 20 [“The Special Unit was like the bodyguard unit. It was the unit trusted by the leader. [...] Q: Other witnesses had told us that Meas Muth had a bodyguard unit and also a messenger unit. We do not understand about the differences between these two units. Was this only one same unit? A20: It is the same unit”]; D54/103 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A15 [“In that special unit there were also Meas Muth’s bodyguards who followed and protected him everywhere”]. See also D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A11 [“This Special Battalion was responsible for protecting the leaders of the Division and arresting people who committed mistakes. [...] the Special Battalion was instead used to protect leaders of the Division and to arrest those who committed mistakes”].

439 D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A28 [“Q: How did Meas Mut use Battalion 450? A28: During the war, he always sent this Special Unit to the tensest battlefields”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A94 [“It [Battalion 450] was the defence unit”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A11 [“This Special Battalion [of Division 3/164] was under the command of the Division Commander or Political Chairman. This Special Battalion was responsible for protecting the leaders of the Division and arresting people who committed mistakes. At that time, the country was already in peacetime; the Special Battalion did not need to go to war. Therefore, the Special Battalion was instead used to protect leaders of the Division and to arrest those who committed mistakes”].

440 See VIII.C.3. Wat Enta Nhien Security Centre.

441 D54/30.1 Soem Ny (Ni) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01070563, FR 00976267, KH 00964137 [“Yes! Only Mut was in charge and made the decisions there [Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda]”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A14 [“Q: Did you ever hear about a place called Wat Enta-nhean Pagoda also known as Wat Kroam? A14: Yes, it was the prison of the Division 164 of Ta Mut. Later on they moved it to Teuk Sap.”]; D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A6 [“Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda was the security center and detention center of Division 164 under Meas Muth”]; D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217562 [“The detention facility was under the 1st Division, led by Meas Mut who was in charge of the city”].

442 D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A93-94 [“Q: Who was the commander of Battalion 450? A93: Sa Moeun was the commander of Battalion 450. Q: Whose command was SA Moeun under? A94: Sa Moeun had to report directly to Division 164, Meas Muth”]. See also D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Soeurly) WRI, A47 [“Q: When Sa Samoeun was in charge at the 450 unit of organization, did he receive orders from Meas Muth personally? A47: Unit 450 was a division special unit; therefore, it might well have received orders from him personally”].

443 D114/286 Heang Ret (Reth) WRI, A35-38 [soldier from Battalion 450 describing a meeting in Kampong Som in 1975, at which Meas Muth made a number of announcements to attendees including members of Battalion 450]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A13 [“Q: But on this point how did you know that this Special Battalion was under the direct command of the Division Commander? A13: How could I not know? I knew very well that this Special Battalion was under direct command of the Division. It was not under the command of any regiment. Moeun was the Commander of this Special Battalion. This position was equal to other commanders of regiments in the Division. Whenever there was a meeting, all the regiment commanders were invited, and Moeun was also invited to attend the meetings”]; D54/38.1 Lun Seng DC-Cam Statement, EN 01072392-3 [“Q: Later, was there a meeting with the Zone Committee, the division, and Ta Mut about the events? Were you ever called to such a meeting? A: No, I did not attend any meeting. Moeun did. He was the unit chief. He reported about the battle. We had already prepared a report for him [to present] [...] he went to attend meetings and receive assignments from division headquarters”].

444 D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A48 [“When I joined the division, I reported directly to Meas Mut because there was no regiment between by Battalion 450 and Meas Mut. I reported to Meas Mut about the result of Meas Mut’s orders. During that time there was no official reporting system. Generally the report was done via two way radio or messengers”].

445 D54/30.1 Soem Ny (Ni) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01070558 [“Mut assigned Ta Launh to supervise it, but Ta Launh did not interrogate or record the statements. Q: Who did it then? A: Meas Mut did that. Ta Launh was only responsible for the supplies. Q: Did he provide the food supplies? A: Yes! Q: But the interrogator and the person who sent [the people] away was Ta Mut? A: Meas Mut was the person who sent them away. Q: You knew that at the time? A: Yes”], 01070563 [“Yes! Only Mut was in charge and made the decisions there [Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda]”].

- 446 D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A12-16, 17-18 ["I was working in the bean plantation. There was nothing blocking my view. I saw Meas Mut twice. Meas Mut travelled in an A2 Jeep headed to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. He travelled along the road that we were on this morning when we were identifying different sites. Meas Mut transported food in his jeep for the guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. His Jeep stopped at the guard house to deliver the food to the guards. Q: How often did Meas Mut go to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda? A13: As far as I know, he went to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda once a month to bring food for the guards. He went there once a month after he returned from the meeting at Stueng Hav [...] A14: I believe I saw Meas Mut transport food for the guards at Wat Enta Nhien once a month. Q: How could you have seen Meas Mut take food to the guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda when your plantation was so far from the pagoda? A15: I learned from two guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda that Meas Mut brought food for them. Q: Was the food for the guards or for the prisoners? A16: I did not know. Q: Are the two guards still alive? What are their names? A17: One of them was Sari and the other was Koy. I did not know their family names. I have been separated from them since 1977. Q: Did you know what Meas Mut did inside Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda? A18: I saw Meas Mut travel by car to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda twice, but I did not know what he did inside Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda"].
- 447 D54/32 Soem Ny WRI, A38 ["I think Ta Mut came to see the persons in authority, and to examine the situation at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda, and so did Ta Launh"].
- 448 D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A12-16, 17-18 ["I was working in the bean plantation. There was nothing blocking my view. I saw Meas Mut twice. Meas Mut travelled in an A2 Jeep headed to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. He travelled along the road that we were on this morning when we were identifying different sites. Meas Mut transported food in his jeep for the guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. His Jeep stopped at the guard house to deliver the food to the guards. Q: How often did Meas Mut go to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda? A13: As far as I know, he went to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda once a month to bring food for the guards. He went there once a month after he returned from the meeting at Stueng Hav [...] A14: I believe I saw Meas Mut transport food for the guards at Wat Enta Nhien once a month. Q: How could you have seen Meas Mut take food to the guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda when your plantation was so far from the pagoda? A15: I learned from two guards at Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda that Meas Mut brought food for them. Q: Was the food for the guards or for the prisoners? A16: I did not know. Q: Are the two guards still alive? What are their names? A17: One of them was Sari and the other was Koy. I did not know their family names. I have been separated from them since 1977. Q: Did you know what Meas Mut did inside Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda? A18: I saw Meas Mut travel by car to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda twice, but I did not know what he did inside Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda"].
- 449 D54/103 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A11 ["During that time, the information about the arrest of the leadership of Unit 386, such as Rem, the commissioner who was shot on his head in front of Wat En Ta Nhean Pagoda"]; D54/101 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A11 ["Ta Mut at that time even used that story along with the confessions of some of the arrested [cadres] to teach us in the meeting. He read the confessions and the story to us and announced that those confessed persons had been in the traitor string"].
- 450 D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 ["When I first arrived in Teuk Sap in 1977, Ta Chorn was in charge of that place. Ta Chorn was the commander of the Regiment 63, and Ta Nhann was his deputy"]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A137-8, 146, 249 ["Q: At Tuek Sap, were there any buildings or halls? A137: There was a regiment building. Q: Which regiment was it? A138: Regiment 63 [...] Q: What was Tuek Sap? Was it a cooperative, security office, or headquarters of the regiment? A146: It was a security office [...] Q: Do you know where Regiment 63's headquarters was? A249: At Tuek Sap"]; D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A21 [Regiment 63 headquarters located in Toek Sap]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A20 ["Q: Of the regiments under Division 164, which one had jurisdiction over Teuk Sab Sector? A: Regiment 63 did"]; D114/115 Svay Saman WRI, A8 ["Tuek Sab was under Regiment 63, Division 164"]. See also Son Sen's order to Division 164 in respect to Toek Sap area, demonstrating that this area was under Division 164 control: D114/27.1.5 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00183980 ["Division 164 must stop water from flowing from the foot of the mountains and Prek Toek Sap small stream without fail must make a basin"].
- 451 D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A137-A38, 146, 249 ["Q: At Tuek Sap, were there any buildings or halls? A137: There was a regiment building. Q: Which regiment was it? A138: Regiment 63 [...] Q: What was Tuek Sap? Was it a cooperative, security office, or headquarters of the regiment? A146: It was a security office [...] Q: Do you know where Regiment 63's headquarters was? A249: At Tuek Sap"]; D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A21 [Regiment 63 headquarters was located in Toek Sap].

452 D114/115 Svay Saman WRI, A5 [“Q: Can you tell us who the prison chairman was? A: Nhen, but I do not know his surname. Nhen was my older brother-in-law, but he has already passed away. Nhen was the husband of my elder sister”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A47 [“When you left Teuk Sab in 1977, was Nhen still in charge of the prison at Teuk Sab? A: Yes, he was. He was still in charge of the prison at Teuk Sab”].

453 See VIII.C.4. Toek Sap Security Centre.

454 D1.3.12.3 Telegram from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976, EN 00233903 [“Enemy situations according to the responses of the one arrested east of Toek Sap the seven persons arrested at Sangvav belonged to his group. Therefore this is group of the dacoits who are hiding out in vicinities west and north of Veal Rinh and who are do work among the masses in the grassroots in Veal Rinh”].

455 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940340 [Comrade Dim (Meas Muth present) “We seized a 13 year-old girl in the vicinity of the fresh water (Toek Sap) area. She confessed that she was among a group of three, who are probably staying at Ou Phos now”].

456 D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A11 [“Meas Muth came to Teuk sab roughly once every four or five months. My subordinates told me he came”].

457 D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A5-8 [“I saw him coming [to Teuk Sab] occasionally [...] A6: I saw Meas Muth, the Division 164 Commander [...] A7: I saw him coming by car. I saw him in the car; then he went down to the port at the edge of Teuk Sab Tributary [...] A8: It was the Chinese Jeep”].

458 See VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre – 4. Meas Muth’s Responsibility for Prisoners Sent to S-21. See also D54/20 Sam Saom WRI, A10-12 [Toek Sap prisoner was “under the command of Division 164 Commander Meas Mut [...] some prisoners sent to Toek Sap “temporarily before being sent to Phnom Penh”].

459 D4.1.400 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242880 [“Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head”].

460 See VIII.D. S-21 Security Centre. See also D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List.

461 See para. 168.

462 D234/2.1.115 Him Huy, T. 3 May 2016, 15.43.54-15.45.08 [“Huy was the member of S-21”].

463 D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav WRI, EN 00147519 [prior to March 1976, Nath was “overall Chairman who decided all work”]; D4.1.346 Mam Nai WRI, EN 00162912; D4.1.387 Pen Heng WRI, EN 00163695.

464 D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 2 Aug 1976, EN 00183960; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195344; D1.3.27.19 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Sep 1976, EN 00184822 [report by S-21 representative].

465 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933834-35.

466 See para. 100.

467 D114/277.5 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 14 Jun 2016, 14.34.51-14.36.39 [“When enemies implicated certain individuals at the zone level, the upper echelon sent those confessions to the particular zone for review”]; D98/1.2.6 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 27 May 2009, 09.33.54 [“the confessions from S-21 [...] were delivered to my superior and then my superior gave to Sou Met and Sou Met would -- selected some of the names from those from Division 502”], 09.57.12-10.00.15 [“The confessions I gave to Son Sen were read and considered by him [...] then asked Sou Met to come and work with him to see which were to be selected, and then they worked together”], 10.34.00 [“Normally I grasped the situation I annotated on the letter and sent to Son Sen, my superior, who called the chief of the unit, for example, Division 502 then Sou Met would be called to sit down and decide together [...] So the decision was made in the framework of the division level and S-21 was not playing a role in such a decision”]; D4.1.404 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242932 [“The confession was sent to the unit head for two reasons: on the one hand, to inform the unit head of enemy activities within that unit, and on the other hand, to allow him to contemplate the arrest of implicated persons”]; D4.1.860 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00403918-19 [“In practice, when a person was implicated in a confession, the superiors informed the head of the unit”]; D4.1.400 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242880 [“Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head”]; D4.1.1156 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00205162 [“Either the superior (i.e. Son Sen) and then Nuon Chea noticed that people were implicated in the confession, he would then summon the head of the unit – in that case Ieng Thirith – to mak the decision; or, a second possibility, a problem would arise within the unit, in which ase the head of the unit would report to the superior who would then decide on the arrest by sending me the report by the head of the unit”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680799 [“before making any decisions, Son Sen always asked for comments and assistance from the heads of the divisions”]. See also D98/1.2.33 Sao Sarun, T. 7 Jun 2012, 11.09.11-11.12.30 [confirming that as Sector 105 Secretary, he received a telegram from Pol Pot informing him that the confession of a Sector 105 official had identified “Comrade Sot” as a traitor]; D4.1.578 Telegram 54 from Sarun to Respected Brother, 23 Apr 1978 [telegram from Sector 105 Secretary discussing the arrest of Sot, who was “implicated in the confession of the traitor A Chuon”]; D98/3.1.20 Chhaom Se, T. 11 Jan 2013, 15.28.00-15.38.48 [testimony of Division 801 security chief that after Division Secretary Saroeun received confessions from Phnom Penh containing the “names of people who had been implicated,” decisions were made on “whether the person should be arrested or disciplinary actions shall be taken”] confirming D4.1.805 Chhaom Se WRI, A6 [“Those confessions [...] were first sent to Ta Sau Saroeun, then forwarded to the units of those prisoners so that they could arrest them and sent them to Au Kanseng Security Center directly”]; D98/3.1.221 Rochoem Ton alias Phy Phuon, T. 30 Jul 2012, 11.36.45-11.44.44 [testimony of MFA Security Chairman that Ieng Sary received annotated confessions from Office 870 implicating people as “KGB or CIA”] confirming D4.1.241 Rochoem Ton alias Phy Phuon WRI, EN 00231411 [“the names of those implicated were sent to Uncle Ieng Sary for him to clarify and tell them who those persons were”]; D98/3.1.198 Suong Sikoeun, T. 7 Aug 2012, 09.26.23-09.29.27 [confirming Ieng Sary read from confessions]; D98/3.1.244 Suong Sikoeun, T. 20 Aug 2012, 11.34.17-11.36.35 [testifying that he was called to Ieng Sary’s office and told he had been implicated in a confession]; D4.1.835 Salot Ban WRI, EN 00361013-14 [confirming that S-21 confessions were sent to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs]; D4.1.443 Ham Ansi WRI, EN 00250750 [Sector 105 military chief received from the Party Centre copies of S-21 confessions of Division 920 soldiers that “implicated persons they knew”].

468 D234/2.1.55 S-21 Confession of Hoeng Doeun alias Dim, EN 00224085, KH 00162140 [Son Sen 8 May 1977 annotation on confession of Division 164 Deputy Secretary: “Though some are the right people, some others, whom I have known, are not. I will invite comrade Mut to check this together”]; D234/2.1.54 S-21 Confession of Kun Dim, 21 Jul 1977, EN 00822359, KH 00175293 [Son Sen note: “Division 164 of Comrade Mut are mentioned [...] Contact Comrade Mut so that he can take measures. We have already basically removed all those on Comrade Mut’s side”]; D4.1.766 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00398210 [identifying Son Sen annotations on Hoeng Doeun confession].

469 D4.1.400 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00242880, KH 00239838 [“Before someone was arrested, it was compulsory to consult the head of his unit. Once the confession was collected, it was sent by Son Sen (then Nuon Chea) to the unit head”].

470 D54/13 Pres Mean WRI A11, 13, 15-16 [“Q: Did only Ta Mut speak in the meeting, or did any other cadres speak? A11: Only Ta Mut [...] A13: I knew that Dim used to be his deputy, but at that time he announced that Dim had become a traitor [...] Q: Did anyone who came from the East with Dim join the meeting? A15: Some of them attended, but I do not know the exact number. At the time, only the leadership echelon from the East Zone had been selected out. As for the ordinary soldiers, their weapons had been confiscated and they were sent to break rocks [...] Q: Did you know that Dim had disappeared before the meeting, or did you learn that he had disappeared when they announced it in the meeting? A16: I just learned about his disappearance during the announcement in the meeting, because he stayed in Kampong Som and I stayed in Stueng Hav”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A10, 21, 23-24, 26 [“in late 1976 or early 1977, Meas Muth declared that Chey Chhan [...] was a traitor who worked for the Vietnamese. It was announced that Dim was accused being a traitor and arrested at the same time [...] A21: the announcement was made on the Victory Commemoration Day of the 17 April, and was made in front of Division 164. The announcement was given at the far end of Au Chheour Teal Beach, where the Headquarters of the Navy was located [...] A23: On that day, Meas Muth was the sole person who spoke before about 1,000 soldiers [...] Amongst other matters, Meas Muth also announced that Chhan and Dim had been arrested for traitorous activities. To the best of my recollection, Chhan was arrested before Dim was. Only the arrests of Chhan and Dim were announced in public [...] A24: The meeting was held in the morning of 17 April [...] A26: only Chhan’s and Dim’s arrests were announced. I did not know how long they had been under arrest for before the meeting”]; D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A1 [“in late 1976 toward the beginning of 1977 [...] Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former [...] were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim”]; D54/104 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A5, 9-10 [“Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut, ‘Nhoek, Chhan, Yan and Doem were traitors [...] A9: I think the name Doem in this document is Doem whom I have mentioned earlier regarding the rhyme, Contemptible Nhoek, Contemptible Chhan, Contemptible Yan and Contemptible Doem [...] A10: I heard soldiers in the same unit, saying Doem and Chhan had been sent to control water pumps at Boeng Chheung Ek. At that time, I believed that it was true, but later on Ta Mut announced in a meeting about confessions of traitors, CIA and KGB agents, and after their disappearance, we knew those people had been arrested”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A7-8 [“Q: Did you know if Meas Muth was in charge of announcing the information? A7: Yes, I did. He was the division commander; therefore, he alone would be the person to pass the announcement to the lower levels. Q: How did you know about this? A8: He was the only person who could make the announcement because he was the division commander. However, the announcements of arrests were made only for the arrests of chairmen who were traitors, not for general arrests”]; D54/40 Pen Vy WRI, A23-24 [“The upper Angkar said that the Sector 22 was full of traitors. At that time they played the audio tape on the confessions of Dim and Sim for the military to listen for them to believe that the two were really disloyal. I knew the voices of the two people clearly. Q: Who took and played the audio tape and where was it played? A24: The commander who replaced Dim played it for the military to listen. It took place at Preaek Leab”]; D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A1 [“After we had been disarmed [...] Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim. I remembered hearing Meas Muth calling these men's names starting with the word 'A (the contemptible)' because 'A' was the derogatory word for use on the traitors”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A56-60, 63 [“We [disarmed Battalion 386 and East Zone soldiers] stopped at Kang Keng Airport and had a meeting there, in the morning. Meas Muth was the meeting chairperson [...] A58: [during the meeting] there were both guards and soldiers [...] Q: Were they armed? A59: Yes, they were [...] A60: The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan's confession out loud in the meeting [...] A63: I only remember when he talked about the traitors' confessions. He talked about Norng Chhan and my two superiors [...] Meas Muth just claimed that they were traitors”]; D54/104 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A10 [“I heard soldiers in the same unit, saying Doem and Chhan had been sent to control water pumps at Boeng Chheung Ek. At that time, I believed that it was true, but later on Ta Mut announced in a meeting about confessions of traitors, CIA and KGB agents, and after their disappearance, we knew those people had been arrested”]; D54/101 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A11 [“Ta Mut at that time even used that [...] along with the confessions of some of the arrested [cadres] to teach us in the meeting. He read the confessions and the story to us and announced that those confessed persons had been in the traitor string”].

D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A34 [“Meas Muth said that Dim and Chhan had plotted to remove him from his position and administer the division in order to form another government, which would oppose the Democratic Kampuchean Government”]. See also D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Dim disappeared in 1977 when there was the internal conflict”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50 [“Ta Chhan and Ta Dim were the deputy commanders. Ta Chhan and Dim were killed on charges of treason, and in fact they did have plans to rebel”].

D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List identifies the following numbers of prisoners as “Arrested From” the other divisions, regiments and offices that comprised the RAK and whose leaders participated with Meas Muth in the Division Secretaries meetings: Division 164 – 67 S-21 prisoners; Division 117 – 6 prisoners; Division 170 – 403 S-21 prisoners; Division 290 – 441 prisoners; Division 310 – 1,117 prisoners; Division 450 – 509 prisoners; Division 502 – 357 prisoners; Division 703 – 676 prisoners; Division 801 – 35 prisoners; Division 920 – 395 prisoners; Regiment 152 – 291 prisoners; Regiment 377 – 53 prisoners; Regiment 488 – 77 prisoners; General Staff – 453 prisoners; S-21: 34 prisoners.

D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233954; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234013-16; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195348-53; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 0940352-56; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656387-90. See also D22.2.180 Meas Muth Phnom Penh Post, Interview, Meas Muth: “We were in a cage like today”, 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 [“Q: According to the report, you attended many general staff meetings with [former Khmer Rouge Defense Minister] Son Sen, at which he revealed the policy towards the enemies of the regime. A: When I came to those meetings, it was only to discuss rice production. [...] As I told you, in the meetings I attended with Son Sen, we discussed whether there was enough rice or not”]; D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A30-31 [“Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh. Q: How did you know it? A31: I knew it because my chief, Krin also joined such meetings”].

474 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233955 [Son Sen: “B - Nation building: Our task is to increase production to three tons per hectare and to expand dike systems by 30 percent. The great leap movement is strong in the countryside already, and the movement to make canals, the movement to build dikes, all these are very strong”]. See also D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234013-16; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195348-53; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 0940352-56; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656387-90.

475 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233955; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234013-16; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195348-53; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 0940352-56; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656387-90.

476 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233955

477 D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A31-34 [“To my knowledge, the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut every morning before coming to lead meetings with the villagers at 11 a.m. Q: Did you know why the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut? A32: The village chief was told in the meetings the tasks which Angkar assigned. Q: Did the village chief say that he had met with Ta Mut? A33: Yes, it was announced to us that the village chief had met with Ta Mut, who told him about Angkar’s new plans. Q: Did the village chief say that he had meetings with Ta Mut frequently? A34: I do not know if he spoke the truth or lied when he said he met with Ta Mut once a month”]; D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“We often worked together although his [Mut] workplace was far away from ours. We were at the cooperative. When he needed us, he sent his messenger to deliver a letter to us telling us about the date of the meeting we would have to attend”].

478 D114/215 Meas Im WRI A66-67, 70, 75-76 [“Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, did Mienh ever instead receive any instructions from anywhere else? A66: Before, he received orders directly from Meas Muth. Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, can you explain how Mr. Meas Muth was able to give instructions to Mienh? A67: We did not grasp that. We did not know about the instructions from Meas Muth to Mienh. We did not know about things political. We only received instructions from Mienh through Meas Muth on the technical side of things [...] Q: What all were the technical tasks related to your work that your older brother gave to you through Mienh? A70: The first technical task was to construct the road from the oil factory to Stueng Hav. Second, was constructing the up-and-down road(s) in Stueng Hav Worksite and levelling things from the foot of the mountain to Stueng Hav beach to make it flat [...] Q: How did your older brother communicate with Mienh, by what means? A75: They communicated via field telephone and telegram. Q: How did you know? A76: As I was there at Mienh’s house. I lived near Mienh’s house and I saw such equipment”]; D114/175 Neak Sitha WRI A20, 48, 51-53, 56-57 [“Q: Can you describe more about the term ‘very hard worksite’? What were the working conditions there like? A20: It was a place where people dug earth, farmed rice, transplanted rice seedlings, and harvested rice without having a break. [...] Q: What did you hear about Meas Muth during the Khmer Rouge regime? A48: I heard Meas Muth saying that we had to work. If we did not work on time, at the turning point, the historical wheel would roll over us. (The Civil Party indicated the turning point as an elbow.) We did not understand what the historical wheel was. Everyone was very scared. Q: In Question-Answer 15, we asked you about the responsible persons in Prey Nub and other places where you worked and you clarified that you did not know who it was. Now that we mention Meas Muth, do you think these locations were related to him? A51: Meas Muth was the sector commander. Q: Please tell us more about what you know. A52: He was the chief and he ordered others to work. Q: Are you telling us that Meas Muth was in charge of the sector or the locations where you worked? A53: Yes, I am. [...] Q: You said that you never saw Meas Muth. How did you know that the term ‘historical wheel’ was Meas Muth’s term? A56: I heard it from my workmates in the mobile unit. The term was used by the old people during the meetings at the bases. For instance, my parents told me to be careful of the historical wheel and not to be lazy but to work hard. I asked my mother what the term ‘historical wheel’ meant. Q: Why did you believe that the term was spoken by Meas Muth? A57: Meas Muth opened big meetings and he talked about it. At that time, there was a big meeting once a month. I did not attend the meetings because I was in a mobile unit”].

479 D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A31-34 [“To my knowledge, the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut every morning before coming to lead meetings with the villagers at 11 a.m. Q: Did you know why the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut? A32: The village chief was told in the meetings the tasks which Angkar assigned. Q: Did the village chief say that he had met with Ta Mut? A33: Yes, it was announced to us that the village chief had met with Ta Mut, who told him about Angkar's new plans. Q: Did the village chief say that he had meetings with Ta Mut frequently? A34: I do not know if he spoke the truth or lied when he said he met with Ta Mut once a month"; D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 ["We often worked together although his [Mut] workplace was far away from ours. We were at the cooperative. When he needed us, he sent his messenger to deliver a letter to us telling us about the date of the meeting we would have to attend"]. See also D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A40-43 ["I just knew it. When we made mistakes we would be told about that. In meetings we were told that we needed to be careful. If we made mistakes we would be sent to Teuk Sap. Q: Do you remember who said this? A41: Our fellow workers knew this. They heard it being mentioned in the meetings. The persons who said this were the group chiefs in the cooperatives. They told us this straight away, but I never saw such an incident personally. Q: Whose command were those groups under? A42: They were under Ta Muth's command. Q: As group chiefs, they were very far from Ta Muth. So, how did you know that? A43: There were messengers from Kampong Som to the cooperatives"].

D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A30-A35 [Discussing meetings at Thma Thurn Village: "Q: Who led the meetings? A30: The village chairman. Q: Did the village chief lead the meetings every single day? A31: Yes, every single. To my knowledge, the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut every morning before coming to lead meetings with the villagers at 11 a.m. Q: Did you know why the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut? A32: The village chief was told in the meetings the tasks which Angkar assigned. Q: Did the village chief say that he had met with Ta Mut? A33: Yes, it was announced to us that the village chief had met with Ta Mut, who told him about Angkar's new plans. Q: Did the village chief say that he had meetings with Ta Mut frequently? A34: I do not know if he spoke the truth or lied when he said he met with Ta Mut once a month. Q: Did the village chiefs ever put in place Ta Mut's? A35: No, they never mentioned Ta Mut. It was the village chief himself who ordered each person to dig one cubic metre of soil per day"].

D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A153, 164 ["During the meetings, they mentioned plans to build canals, grow vegetables, and strengthening our stances. They mentioned Ta Mut once every two to three weeks [...] Q: Did they ever mention about Ta Mut during those meetings? A164: They did not mention Ta Mut during those meetings attended by ordinary people. But they mentioned his name during meetings attended by cadres. I knew this because I worked about 500 metres away from the place where the meetings were held"].

D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A153-154 ["Q: You said you attended the meetings on daily basis. Was Ta Mut mentioned in those meetings? A153: During the meetings, they mentioned plans to build canals, grow vegetables, and strengthen our stances. They mentioned Ta Mut once every two to three weeks. Q: What did they say about Ta Mut? A154: They said that orders from Ta Mut must be followed, implemented, and respected; otherwise there would likely be trouble"].

D1.3.30.2 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 [Meas Muth: "I am at Koh Rung island and Rung Krao to follow up and help make sure that the decision by the Party is effectively implemented. The ammunitions and rice grains on those islands are enough for six months. But these old rice grains are spoiled, discharging moldy stink.]. See also D114/19 Ma (Mak) Chhoeun WRI, A33-34 ["Q: Did Meas Mut ever visit your island in order to confirm that plans were implemented correctly? A33: Meas Mut visited my island once before this event. Q: Did Meas Mut conduct inspections in order to confirm that his instructions and those of the Party were implemented correctly? A34: As the most senior commander in overall charge, Meas Mut wanted to know what happened in the division. Generally, I had to report to the regiment, and the regiment relayed the reports to him"].

D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A12 ["Q: Do you know the roles and function of Meas Mut as commander of the division in 1975? A12: As division commander, he had overall responsibility for the division. He travelled up and down to monitor each military unit in the division"].

D54/38.1 Lon Seng WRI, EN 01072400 ["Q: In what year did they record your biography? A: In 1976. I was going to visit home in 1976, and Meas Mut, the division commander, issued a stamped permission letter. He advised me not only to visit home but also to follow up on some rank-and-file supporters living there. Coincidentally, those who visited their families saw other people had severely hurt their parents, so they took the unit to attack the base. They were angry because, while they were serving in the army, their parents were being mistreated and punished. More than 40 soldiers attacked the place, resulting in fleeing and death. That incident was reported to the unit. He knew about it, so he told me, 'I am sending you there. This is a letter of permission because you have not visited home for quite a long time. You miss your parents and relatives, so I am letting you go, but you must go with a mission. You must follow up on those people for me.' First, if they knew we had good backgrounds, they promoted us. Second, if we had a bad background, they might or might not have known"].

486 D54/44 Long Seng WRI, A19, 22 ["Q: How did you know that those 1500 soldiers from the East Zone were placed in the big production unit? A19: The chief of the division, Meas Mut, announced in a meeting that all soldiers who came from the East Zone were regarded as bad-element soldiers; therefore, they had to be removed completely from the division. [...] Q: Were you in that training meeting where the East Zone soldiers were announced as bad-element soldiers? A22: Yes, I also attended that meeting"]; D54/102 Ek Ni WRI, A1 ["At that time they had removed all troops of Battalion 386 from their positions and sent them to the Production Unit. After we had been disarmed, we were not allowed to possess even a knife. Each of us was allowed to have only a hoe. After that, Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A56, 60-61 ["Q: You said that there was another meeting after you reached the mainland. When and where did the meeting take place? A56: We stopped in Kang Keng Airport and had a meeting there, in the morning. Meas Muth was the meeting chairperson [...] A60: [...] The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan's confession out loud in the meeting. [...] A61: He did not talk about anything else. He sent us to work in a production unit after the meeting"]; D54/13 Pres Mean WRI, 26 Jun 2013, A6 ["Q: [...] you were screened out because of your bad biography and that was the reason you were sent to the rock breaking site? A6: Yes, that really happened to me"]. See also D54/15 WRIA, EN 00942728 ["[Pres Mean] indicated the area of the military base close to the Stung Hav rock quarry where he observed the meeting held by Meas Muth in mid-1977 speaking about traitors"].

487 D114/58 Som Saom WRI, A14, 16 ["Meas Im was responsible not only for that dam [Ochheuteal Dam] but also for the worksites at Kang Keng (a rice field worksite and Pou Thoeung Dam worksite). He was in charge of the logistics of the area. [...] A16: Meas Im was responsible for all the worksites including the ones at Kang Keng as well"]; D54/20 Sam Saom WRI, A14 ["I farmed rice in a mobile unit under the leadership of Ta Im. Im was the next highest ranking cadre under Meas Mut. Im was in charge of the work at the Kang Keng worksite and was also the deputy commander for logistics of Division 164"].

488 D4.1.699 Telegram from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 ["The rice in all places is in progress. But in Kang Keng there are 12 hectares with deep water. However our brothers [combatants] are helping save the rice [from the flood]. As for the land, it has been cleared as planned. And it has been ploughed one time already. But we have to rake one more time"]; D1.3.34.14 Telegram from Dim to Muth (Meas Muth), 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 ["Our rice, in general, doesn't have any serious change. The rain had fallen two times already"]; D1.3.14.2 Telegram from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977, EN 00233944-45; D1.3.34.39 Telegram from Roeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 5 Nov 1977, EN 00233656 ["The rice and rice field situation at this time. We are continuing to harvest salt rice as the rice is continuing to ripen, North of the road as well as to the South. As for the drought problem, we are taking measures and watering dry rice fields. Aside from this, there is not a serious water problem"]. See also D114/214 Meas Im WRI, A30, 32-33 ["Q: What was the name of the chief of the construction unit in which you worked [at Stung Hav]? A30: Mienh [...] Q: Did Mienh have to report to his higher ups? What were their names? A32: Mienh reported to Meas Muth. Q: Did he report to Meas Muth personally? A33: Yes, personally"]; D59/1/4.24 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, 00970714 ["Q: So, when you needed something, you sent your request to Granduncle Nhan, and then Granduncle Nhan would forward it to Granduncle Mut. A: Yes, he forwarded to Granduncle Mut"].

489 D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233955; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234013-16; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195348-53; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 0940352-56; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656387-90.

490 D1.3.30.2 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 [Muth reporting on amount and quality of rice grains in Koh Rung island]; D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976, EN 00525783; D1.3.34.10 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647 ["This August in Kampong Saom the rain has come down only one time. Now [the people] have to drench the rice fields [by hand]"]; D1.3.12.7 Report from Kan and Mut (Meas Muth) to Respected Brother, 15 Jul-31 Aug 1976, EN 00233963; D1.3.4.1 Letter from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976, EN 00234455 [Comrade Muth describing the hospitalisation of Achar Kang's wife].

D1.3.30.2 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 ["I am at Koh Rung island and Rung Krao to follow up and help make sure that the decision by the Party is effectively implemented. The ammunitions and rice grains on those islands are enough for six months. But these old rice grains are spoiled, discharging moldy stink [...] This monthly report of Unit 164 is to be submitted to Brother 89 by train"].

D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195354 [Rice Farming Statistics].

D1.3.19.2 Report from Khieu (Son Sen) to Division and Regiment Committees, 3 Sept 1977 [Son Sen in his capacity as Chairman of the General Staff: "All divisions are required to build their own fish sauce production places [...] Please visit division 164 for knowledge on this"].

See, e.g., VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes – Enslavement; VIII.E.3. Crimes – Other Inhumane Acts; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes – Enslavement; VIII.F.3. Crimes – Other Inhumane Acts (Inhumane Treatment).

D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195352 ["[We] must go down to the rice paddies, to the rice, to the water pumps. Go down to see and to listen to reports to be able to summarize experience clearly"].

See paras 191-192, 197.

See VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes – Enslavement; VIII.E.3. Crimes – Other Inhumane Acts; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes – Enslavement; VIII.F.3. Crimes – Other Inhumane Acts (Inhumane Treatment).

D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00233958 [Meas Muth: "Angkar provided 1,500 bags of rice. The people can eat this, if mixed with potatoes, until August"]; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195339-41 [Meas Muth: "Food supply situation - Calculating through 15 November, the new rice which has arrived will be exhausted. Food supplies on the islands will be exhausted in January 77. Secondary crops on the mainland have mostly rotted. There are 30 hectares of potatoes in the ground"]; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 21 Nov 1976, EN 00656384 [Meas Muth: "Food supply for the land base unit will be enough until the end of the year based on the 2 cans per person ration. Food supply for the units stationing on the islands will last until 15-4-77 [...] based on the calculation of 2 tons per hectare, this will yield 3,260 tons of crops. - 3,745 tons will be needed for food each year based on the calculation of 312 kgs for each person per year. This amount is for feeding 12,000 Persons in the military and civilian. - 225 tons are allocated for seeding on 1,500 hectare lands. - After food and seeding allocation, there will be a shortage of 310 tons"]; D1.3.30.2 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824 ["The ammunitions and rice grains on those islands are enough for six months. But these old rice grains are spoiled, discharging moldy stink"].

D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976, EN 00525783 ["[We] already received medicines that Brother sent us. Most of them are calcium. We have not seen the anti fever medicines and serums yet. Probably they will arrive later"].

D1.3.34.10 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976, EN 00233647 ["This August in Kampong Saom the rain has come down only one time. Now [the people] have to drench the rice fields [by hand]"]; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341 [Meas Muth: "Health situation - In September, many brothers and sisters had fevers, but it has not yet had a life and death impact. The cause is much rain, and the brothers and sisters don't have much rain clothing"].

D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976, EN 00525783 ["The number of patients coming to stay in the hospital on February 20, 1976 is 1300, excluding the number people who have fevers and stay in their work groups. More than 30 comrades have died from January 20 to February 20"].

D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341.

D114/307.6 Meas Muth VOA Interview, Tribunal Suspect Finds Court's Role Limited, 6 Oct 2011, EN 00746176 ["In fact, firstly, there were no civilians at my place. Secondly, there were only soldiers and their families. Therefore, there was no forced labour in my unit"].

See VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites.

See III.2. Meas Muth's DK Role - Effective Control.

- 506 D22.2.180 Meas Muth Phnom Penh Post Interview, Meas Muth: “We were in a cage like today”, 20 Jul- 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 [“Post: How many people were in your division? Muth: Probably over 10,000. To control the humans is not like controlling the animals. For the animals you can only give them grass to eat. But the humans, they need food and they have feelings as well”].
- 507 See, e.g., D54/90 Kuy Nen WRI, A19 [“People were not allowed to go anywhere freely”]; D114/130 Iem Phong WRI, A82 [“Q: Could you leave the stone-breaking worksite or the place you lived? A82: Unless they assigned us to go anywhere, we could not leave”]; D114/121 Phar Suon WRI, A33, 47-48 [“Q: Were you allowed to leave quarters or your workplace? A33: No. When we worked, we could not leave work or we would have been arrested. [...] Q: Did you want to do the work? Did you have other choices? A47: I did not want to do it, but I had to do it in exchange for my life. From my understanding, when they arrested someone who tried to run away, that person was killed. [...] A48: Yes, I was worried that one day I could lose my life”]; D54/123 Lak Saphan WRI, A2 [“They did not allow us to walk freely at night unless there was an order for us to carry out some assignment such as dam building or putting up rice field dikes”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A122 [“[W]e were under constant surveillance so they could learn if we conducted any activities opposed to the regime or if we attempted to flee”]; D54/68 Nong Net WRI, A33 [“Q: Why did not you find a way to escape from there when the working conditions were very difficult? A33: There was no escape route because we ate rice collectively, so if we escaped to another place, we would not have anything to eat, and we would be killed by the soldiers who patrolled that area”].
- 508 See, e.g., D54/20 Sam Saom WRI, A14 [“The food was insufficient. We were given rice gruel in the morning. Though we were given rice for lunch and dinner, the amount given was not sufficient”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A82-83 [“In short, we never had enough food to eat. [...] A83: We were offered two meals per day”]; D114/244 In Yoeu WRI, A25 [“When I was in Kang Keng, my living conditions were terrible and I did not have enough strength. The provided food rations were too little. A pot of cooked rice was provided to ten people”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A12 [“The food regime was insufficient”]; D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A25 [“There were four members in my family. We were given one can of rice per day, so I did not have sufficient food”].
- 509 See, e.g., D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A12 [“During the time that we were building a dam in Bobos village, each of us had to carry three cubic meters of earth each day. For canal digging each of us also had to carry three cubic meters”]; D54/90 Kuy Nen WRI, A42 [“Each person was assigned to carry two to three cubic metres of soil per day”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A112 [“We had to be very clear about our work in order to complete the assigned task – three cubic metres a day per person”]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073816 [“Soldiers also had to work hard then. Q: Did they also work hard? A: Yes, they set the amount of work. At first, two people had to quarry only four cubic metres of rock. If we could complete this, they would continuously increase the amount. Later six people had to quarry 12 cubic metres of rock. The work was very harsh, and we had a lot of suffering. There were no-rock drilling machines, so we quarried the rock manually. Those responsible for drilling holes in the rock were assigned to drill a one-metre deep hole per day”].
- 510 See, e.g., D114/40 Moul Chhin WRI, A22 [“Q: You said 10 people among the 300 people were ordered to guard the dam every night. Were they allowed to rest the next day? Or were they ordered to complete their allotted target of 3 cubic metres per day as they did each other day? A22: The next morning, those 10 people had to work as usual; they were not allowed to take any rest”]; D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A47 [“When I was assigned to dig the canal, four guards monitored four of us, including me. That is, one guard monitored one worker. If we could not complete the work as planned, then we were forced to work until 9 p.m. or 10 p.m. to complete the work”]; D114/96 Cheng Laung WRI, A69 [“I can say that the people who worked at the dam construction worksite worked in hardship, for they had to work day and night”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A112, 117 [“They absolutely required us to complete the assigned task within the day without fail. In the case the quota was not met they permitted neither rest nor food. [...] A117: They forced the people to work until they could no longer walk”]; D114/121 Phar Suon WRI, A46 [“We worked all week and all month without rest, except when we had a meeting”]; D54/20 Sam Saom WRI, A14 [“I was assigned to dig 20 square metres of land per day by using a hoe. The daily work started from 7am - 11 am and 1 pm - 5pm, with a one hour break in between”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A80 [“We worked from 0300 to 1100 and then from 1300 to 1800. Sometimes we worked overtime until 2100”].
- 511 D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A121, 127 [“Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 under the management of Division 164 where Meas Muth was the commander. Q: According to your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia, you said, ‘Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 stationed at Kang Keng’. Is this correct? A127: Yes, it is”]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A30 [“Q: Did you know Mom Yan? A30: Yes, I did. He was the Commander of Regiment 63. His base was in Kang Keng Airport which was near a crossroad at Smach Daeng between an entry to the airport and the national road. He was the Commander of Regiment 63 before Chorn came to replace him. I do not know what happened to him”]; D59/1/1.11a Hieng Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974135 [“Ta Nhan was then in charge of Regiment 63 at Kang Keng”].

See section VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites.

D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976 (emphasis added), EN 00143240 [“In Riem and Babos Py sub-districts, we have taken measures as you, brother, have decided. Five enemies managed to run into the forests. But now we have arrested all of them”].

D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Muth (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [“For our situation, one of combatants in Unit 62 doing farming in the vicinity of Chamkar Daung drowned and died without any valid reason”].

D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Muth (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [“The rice in all places is in progress. But in Kang Keng, there are 12 hectares with deep water. However our brothers [combatants] are helping save the rice [from the flood]. As for the land, it has been cleared as planned. And it has been ploughed one time already. But we have to rake one more time”].

D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012 [“I. Report on military situation: Comrade Mut: 1. Defense force preparation: a. Weapons placed on Kampong Som mainland: In the city of Kampong Som, there are four 105 mm, one 40 mm, six 37 mm and two 12,7 mm canons. At Ream and Kang Keng, there are six canons—105 mm, 37 mm, and 12,8 mm”].

D54/8.1 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976, EN 01509242 [“On land as early as September, the local people in Kang Keng showed some unusual patterns of activities include: For example, they cut a piece of buffalo meat. They put some stones in the brick kiln. Thefts have increased significantly. Among those local people there were not-good soldiers. Two Lieutenants have been identified and arrested”]. See also D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00234009 [“On land starting in September, the base people in Kang Keng have been engaging in various strange activities, such as cutting off a piece of meat from a water buffalo and putting stones in brick kilns, and there’s been a lot of thievery. The majority among these people are good, but the soldiers engage in no-good movements. Previously, we found two first lieutenants, both of whom have already been arrested”].

D4.1.655 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00143159 [“Comrade Mut: 1. Enemy situation: [...] In Kang Keng there is also thief which mainly committed by soldiers”].

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940340 [“We managed to arrest bandits one after another around Ream’s Kang Keng. They were among those who had just gone into the forest recently”].

D54/17 Say Born WRI, A15-16 [“Q: How did you know that the site [brick kiln] was under Division 164 management? A15: Because no regimental commanders inspected the site, but the Commander of Division 164, Meas Mut, inspected the work there. Q: You have said that you went there only once, so how did you know that Meas Mut went to that site? A16: I asked my friend who was working there, ‘Has Meas Mut ever come to see this place?’ My friend said that he had come to look there”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A50-54 [“Q: Did you ever meet or see Ta Muth? A50: I never met him. I saw him from behind when he was riding on his bicycle along with his messengers. Someone told me that he was Ta Muth. Q: In what year did you see him? A51: I do not know in what year it was. It was probably in 1977, at Kang Keng Airport. Q: Do you know in what month of 1977? A52: In a dry season, the harvesting season; when we were threshing rice. Q: Was it at the start or the end of the year? A53: It was in the middle. It could have been at the end of the year. Q: Do you recall whether it was at the start or the end of 1977? A54: At the start of 1977”]; D114/53 Uk Sok WRI, A224 [“I just heard that Ta Muth came to visit the worksite. Sometimes, I heard that he was standing on the national road”]; D114/68 Kuy Sambath WRI, A5 [Witness raised ducks near Kang Keng Airport until January 1978: “I know Meas Muth very well. During the Khmer Rouge regime, my house was close to Kang Keng Airport. My family was assigned to raise ducks. That was the time when I had an opportunity to know Meas Muth. He was a military commander in charge of this area. He often came to have meal at my house and brought duck eggs back to his place”]; contra D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A20 [“Meas Mut was never seen coming to these places”], D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A18 [“There was no inspection from the division leadership”].

D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“Q: That is to say that Meas Mut was at the division, but he was also in charge of the cooperative? A: Yes, he came down to see us occasionally to see if we needed something. And as a cooperative chairperson, we could see what we needed. If we needed something, we could request to him in writing, and then he would tell us to go to pick them up”].

D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“Q: That is to say that Meas Mut was at the division, but he was also in charge of the cooperative? A: Yes, he came down to see us occasionally to see if we needed something. And as a cooperative chairperson, we could see what we needed. If we needed something, we could request to him in writing, and then he would tell us to go to pick them up”].

D114/6 Yin Teng WRI, A31-34 [“To my knowledge, the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut every morning before coming to lead meetings with the villagers at 11 a.m. Q: Did you know why the village chief went to have meetings with Ta Mut? A32: The village chief was told in the meetings the tasks which Angkar assigned. Q: Did the village chief say that he had met with Ta Mut? A33: Yes, it was announced to us that the village chief had met with Ta Mut, who told him about Angkar’s new plans. Q: Did the village chief say that he had meetings with Ta Mut frequently? A34: I do not know if he spoke the truth or lied when he said he met with Ta Mut once a month”].

D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“We often worked together although his [Mut] workplace was far away from ours. We were at the cooperative. When he needed us, he sent his messenger to deliver a letter to us telling us about the date of the meeting we would have to attend”].

See VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites.

D54/49 Sun Em WRI, A34-35 [“Oem was on a port building committee in Stung Hav. Oem was Meas Mut’s younger half brother. Because Oem had a different father, his surname was different from that of Meas Mut. Q: What were Oem’s position and duty? A35: I heard, from 1970 to 1975, he was a cooperative chief. After the 1975 ‘Liberation’, Meas Mut took him along and appointed him to the Stung Hav Committee”]; D54/78.1 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968387 [“Ta Oem was a younger brother of Meas Mut”].

D114/214 Meas Im WRI, A30, 32-33 [“Q: What was the name of the chief of the construction unit in which you worked? A30: Mienh. [...] Q: Did Mienh have to report to his higher ups? What were their names? A32: Mienh reported to Meas Muth. Q: Did he report to Meas Muth personally? A33: Yes, personally”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A4-6, 66, 77 [“Mienh had the role of regiment chief. [...] Q: According to our documents, there was only one person named Mienh in Division 164, whose full name was Lek Mienh, and he was the chief of Regiment 62 under Division 164. Are we talking about the name of the same person? A6: It is the same person. [...] Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, did Mienh ever instead receive any instructions from anywhere else? A66: Before, he received orders directly from Meas Muth. [...] Q: At what exact location did Mienh reside and work? A77: Stung Hav”].

D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217562 [“The deputies of Mut were Dim and Norng Chhan. Chhan in 1976 was the supervisor in the Stung Hau area”]; D114/130 Iem Phong WRI, A22-24 [“I met Ta Chhan when he came to attend the meeting. He gave us instructions and asked if we would help him in case there was any gunfire at his place. Q: What did he teach you? A23: He taught and explained quarry work. After giving us instructions, he asked us that question. Q: Was that at Stung Hav? A24: Yes”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Mut’s first deputy was Dim from the East Zone”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A63 [“The only thing I knew was that Dim took me to work there”]. See also D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [“Another two (combatants) had deserted a Unit in Sang Hav. They will be transferred from Unit 63”].

D4.1.1020 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976, EN 00525783 [“During the last couple days, there has not been anything substantially attractive at most places except Sanghav where we stopped a 7-horse-power motorboat carrying people, three sacks of rice and two AKs [rifles]. [We] are not sure whether the people are soldiers or [travelers]. [We] are investigating this matter. More report will be sent later when the information is confirmed”].

D54/8.1 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976, EN 01509242.

D54/8.1 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976, EN 01509244.

D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240.

D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A64 [“Q: Did Mr. Meas Muth begin his visits to the worksite from mid-1976? A64: Yes”].

D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A12, 39, 43 [“Q: How often did Meas Muth visit the Stung Hav construction site? A12: Normally, Meas Muth came to meet the Chinese guests at the Stung Hav Worksite weekly. [...] A39: I met him during early 1977, as I noted, at Stung Hav to which he came once a week. [...] A43: I met him once per week, when he came to meet the Chinese guests”].

- 535 D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A16, 25 ["I was sent to work there on 30 September 1978. [...] Q: Did you ever see Meas Muth, the Commander of Division 164, going to Stung Hav? A25: No didn't. But I heard that he went there to inspect the quarries before I went to work there"].
- 536 D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A12, 39, 43 ["Q: How often did Meas Muth visit the Stueng Hav construction site? A12: Normally, Meas Muth came to meet the Chinese guests at the Stueng Hav Worksite weekly. [...] A39: I met him during early 1977, as I noted, at Stueng Hav to which he came once a week. [...] A43: [...] I met him once per week, when he came to meet the Chinese guests"]; D114/146 Uy Nhik (Uy Nhoek) WRI, A52-53 ["At that time, we quarried rock to build a military pier. At that time, Ta Muth frequently travelled in an A2 Jeep to inspect the worksite. Q: When you mention Ta Muth, do you mean Meas Muth? A53: Ta Muth was Meas Muth"]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A26 ["Q: Did you ever see Meas Muth visiting Stung Hav pier or Stung Hav when you were the chief of Battalion 612? A26: Yes. I did see him when they inaugurated the worksite or each time when the Chinese paid a visit"]; D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217560 ["Meas Mut came to visit [Stung Hau] on a number of occasions and when he stayed at Stung Hau overnight, he stayed in the same location as the Chinese technicians, who were in a building to the north of where the current district office is located"]. See also D54/77 Uy Nhik (Uy Nhoek) WRI, A55 ["Q: How often did Meas Mut come to Stueng Hav? A55: He came once every two weeks"].
- 537 D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A12, 39, 43 ["Q: How often did Meas Muth visit the Stueng Hav construction site? A12: Normally, Meas Muth came to meet the Chinese guests at the Stueng Hav Worksite weekly. [...] A39: I met him during early 1977, as I noted, at Stueng Hav to which he came once a week. [...] A43: [...] I met him once per week, when he came to meet the Chinese guests"]; D114/146 Uy Nhik (Uy Nhoek) WRI, A52-53 ["At that time, we quarried rock to build a military pier. At that time, Ta Muth frequently travelled in an A2 Jeep to inspect the worksite. Q: When you mention Ta Muth, do you mean Meas Muth? A53: Ta Muth was Meas Muth"]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A26 ["Q: Did you ever see Meas Muth visiting Stung Hav pier or Stung Hav when you were the chief of Battalion 612? A26: Yes. I did see him when they inaugurated the worksite or each time when the Chinese paid a visit"]; D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217560 ["Meas Mut came to visit [Stung Hau] on a number of occasions and when he stayed at Stung Hau overnight, he stayed in the same location as the Chinese technicians, who were in a building to the north of where the current district office is located"]. See also D54/77 Uy Nhik (Uy Nhoek) WRI, A55 ["Q: How often did Meas Mut come to Stueng Hav? A55: He came once every two weeks"].
- 538 D4.1.872 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1975, EN 00495808 ["our country's degraded agriculture has to be rapidly shifted to a modern agriculture between ten to fifteen years. Agriculture shall be shifted to industry between fifteen to twenty years [...] [The acceleration of the country's reconstruction] is another prerequisite to accommodate a rapid increase in our population"]; D4.1.874 Revolutionary Youth, Nov 1975, EN 00522460-61; D114/36.1.59 CPK Publication, Revolutionary and Non-Revolutionary World Views Regarding the Matter of Family Building, reprinted from 2 Feb 1974 on 2 Jun 1975 and republished on 2 Sep 1975 (1000 copies); D4.1.893 Revolutionary Youth, Oct 1978, EN 00539994 ["As for the current issue of setting up a family; there is no obstacle; this just based on two principles of the party: First, both parties agree. Second, the collective agrees, and then it is done"]; D4.1.886 Revolutionary Flag, Sep-Oct 1976, EN 00450539 ["No aspect of private ownership is good [...] private ownership has always had a negative impact on the revolution [...] anyone who thinks a lot about family interests always deceives the revolution, renounces the revolution, and lives separately seeking family happiness, not seeking happiness inside the Party [...] a contradiction with the Party"]; D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491435 [Nuon Chea: "the essence of socialist revolution and building socialism is the goal of building the country well, defending the country well, and sorting out the livelihood of the people quickly. We need from 15 to 20 million people to meet the needs of our land. For our population to constantly increase the livelihood of the people must rise [...] this means quickly increasing production"]; D4.1.864 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1977, EN 00486263 ["We must double our efforts [...] so the Kampuchean population can increase in number rapidly enough to effectively defend and build our Kampuchea into a prosperous and developed country"]; D4.1.871 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1978, EN 00488637 [Pol Pot: "Our policy to increase the population is receiving good results [...] From mid 1977 through mid 1978, the number of births was 392,000 from a population of 7,800,000 persons [...] Presently, the [dea]th rate is less than 13 per thousand since the numbers of infants and children dying has been greatly reduced. Thus, our population has increased beyond what it was before the coup. But this speed is not yet sufficient when compared to the objective of the Party, the aim to increase the population to 15 to 20 million within ten to 15 years"].

- 539 D54/74.1.6, D114/29.1.5 FBIS, Pol Pot Speech at 27 Sep KCP Anniversary Meeting, 4 Oct 1977, EN 00168651 ["we hope to increase our population to 15 to 20 million in the course of the next 10 years or more [...] We must double our efforts, [...] so that the Cambodian people in general can increase in number quickly enough to effectively defend and build our Cambodia into a prosperous and developed country by leaps and bounds. We have no reason to reduce [...] our population [...], for the current size of our population- nearly 8 million people- is still far too small to cope with our country's potentials which call for more than 20 million Cambodian people. Therefore, our aim is to increase the population as quickly as we can"]; D64.1.44 FBIS, Countrywide Medical Conference Issues Resolutions, 9 Nov 1978, EN 00170124 ["While trying to prevent diseases, attention must be given to hygiene and nutrition. All this is designed to improve our people's health and to increase our population by 15 to 20 million people within the next 10 to 15 years"]; D114/36.1.8 FBIS, Radio Text of Ieng Sary's 11 Oct UN Address, 25 Oct 1977, EN 00168718 ["We continue to strive to improve our peoples living and health conditions because we hope to increase our population to 15-20 million in the course of the next 10 years or so"]; D64.1.45 FBIS, Conclusion of Pol Pot Speech at 27 Sep Phnom Penh Meeting, 29 Sep 1978, EN 00170168 ["Our policy to increase our population is recording good initial success. From mid-1977 to mid-1978 there were 392,000 births out of a population of 7,800,000 the rate of our population growth has surpassed that of the precoup period. However, this speed is still not sufficient considering the [goal of] increasing the size of our population to between 15 and 20 million within the next 10 to 15 years. We must thus pay great attention to raising and improving the living conditions of our people [...] so as to accelerate the growth of our population"]. See also D4.1.189 Ieng Sary Statement to the UN General Assembly, 11 Oct 1977, EN 00079815, paras 60 and 63 ["60. [...] we need a population of 15 to 20 million in 10 years' time [...] 63. [...] our population is still far short of our country's capacity, which has a need of more than 20 million people"]; D234/2.1.33 Khieu Samphan Statement, 16 Apr 1978, EN S 00010565 [Khieu Samphan lists resolutions adopted by the Party, including "(6) [...] increase the size of the population to its maximum, so as to have 15-20,000,000 people in the next 10-15 years;" and "(7) [...] maximize the size of the population within one year, three years, five years, 10 and 15 years"]; D4.1.1013 Pol Pot Statement to the Belgium-Cambodian Association Delegation, 5 Aug 1978, EN 00574566 ["The Communist Party of Kampuchea and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea plan to increase the number of its population from 15 to 20 million within 10 to 15 years"]; D234/2.1.22 DK Statement to UN, 13 June 1978, EN 00235727 ["ensure that the population of Kampuchea increases rapidly in order to defend and develop the country and to achieve prosperity by leaps and bounds [...] today's population of 8 million is well below the potential of the country, which needs more than 20 million"].
- 540 D114/36.1.59 CPK Publication, Revolutionary and Non-Revolutionary World Views Regarding the Matter of Family Building, 2 Jun 1975, EN 00417943, FR 00593929, KH 00407100 ["So, building our revolutionary families is not just for our personal interests or happiness or to have children and grandchildren to continue the family line. Importantly, it is so that the revolution may achieve its highest mission, to liberate the nation"], EN 00417943, FR 00593930, KH 00407100-01 ["1. (...)When marrying, it is imperative to honestly make proposals to the Organization, to the collective, to have them help sort things out. 2. Organizational discipline must be absolutely respected. In the matter of building a family, no matter the outcome of the Organization's and the collective's assessments and decisions, they must be absolutely respected"]. See also D4.1.874 Revolutionary Youth, Nov 1975, EN 00522460, FR 00525856-57, KH 00063614-15 ["In our revolution rank, our revolutionary male-female combatants and cadres sacrificed private possessions such as housing, paddy-farm, garden, family, parents, relatives, children and other properties in order to serve the Party, revolution, and the people"]; D114/36.1.60 Telegram 61 from Kân to respected and beloved Brother, 15 Mar 1978, EN 00434864, FR 00623009 KH 00020965-66 ["Answers by Kân: [...] The mobile unit members are allowed to get married if a proposal for marriage is made. The mobile unit commanding committee of the cooperative decides to arrange the marriage"]; D54/74.1.20 Philip Short, Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, EN 00396533-34, FR 00639883 ["The family continued to exist but [...] its primary purpose became 'to beget children for the service of the Party'. Ties between individual family members were diluted within the larger community [...] 'Free choice of spouse' was explicitly condemned"].
- 541 D4.1.871 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1978, EN 00488637 [Pol Pot: "Our policy to increase the population is receiving good results [...] our population has increased beyond what it was before the coup. But this speed is not yet sufficient when compared to the objective of the Party, the aim to increase the population to 15 to 20 million within ten to 15 years"]. See also D4.1.1056 Chuon Thi WRI, A4 ["[Pol Pot, at a conference] added that 'within 10 to 20 years we must increase number of population up to between 20 and 30 million in order - to have enough forces to protect our country.’ In this sense, Pol Pot stated that he required arrangement for marriage to increase number of population by instructing lower echelons to arrange the wedding for people”].

- 542 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A96, 204, 207-209 [“Q: In which year did you meet [Meas Muth]? A96: I met him when I returned from China in 1978. [...] Q: How did you learn about this policy? A204: The policy was presented during a study session chaired by Ta Muth and Ta Nhăn. They laid out an annual marriage plan on the number of couples to be wed. [...] Q: Where was the study session held? A207: In Ou Chheu Teal. Q: Do you remember when it happened? A208: No, I do not. Q: In which year? A209: About one month after my return from China”].
- 543 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A204 [“Q: How did you learn about this policy? A204: The policy was presented during a study session chaired by Ta Muth and Ta Nhan. They laid out an annual marriage plan on the number of couples to be wed. They reviewed all the requests that had been made and determined the number of couples to be wed”].
- 544 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A206 [“Q: When you attended the study session, what did Ta Muth say about the marriage policy? A206: Ta Muth said that we should review all the marriage requests and marry them off. In so doing, we could achieve our two goals. The first was to increase the population to 20 million, and the second was to satisfy the disgruntled people who had requested to marry a long time before but to no avail”]. See also D4.1.871 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1978, EN 00488637 [Pol Pot: “Our policy to increase the population is receiving good results [...] From mid 1977 through mid 1978, the number of births was 392,000 from a population of 7,800,000 persons [...] Presently, the [dea]th rate is less that 13 per thousand since the numbers of infants and children dying has been greatly reduced. Thus, our population has increased beyond what it was before the coup. But this speed is not yet sufficient when compared to the objective of the Party, the aim to increase the population to 15 to 20 million within ten to 15 years”].
- 545 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A211-212 [“Q: Do you know if there was a plan to determine the number of couples to marry in your unit? A211: Yes, I had a plan. My plan was to marry off all the members of my unit. I married off many of them. I married off two couples on one occasion. I did not organise a wedding involving four couples because I had heard that some couples had taken their spouses erroneously, and it would take a long time to marry four couples. Q: After the marriage, did you report how many couples had married to the upper echelon? A212: In fact, I requested permission to marry them off before their weddings”]. See also D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A22-25, 30, 32, 34 [“Q: Tell me about the wedding policy at Division 164? A22: Each spouse did not know their partner before their marriage. This happened to me and other people too. In my case, I was told just a day prior that wedding that I would get married the following day. We did not know each other, nor did we date our lovers like people do in the present day. At that time we had to get married as ordered. Q: Did you have to remain married? A23: Yes we did. Q: Why did you do so? A24: I do not know. We did not reject their request because we were afraid we would be killed. Q: Who were they? Who made the arrangements? A25: They were the people from the regiment. An assistant from the regiment told me that I had to get married. [...] Q: Where was the wedding held? A30: It was held in Kampong Som Province. The wedding was held near the present statue of lions. Only three couples were arranged to get married at the logistics office at that time. [...] Q: Did you ever tell the Khmer Rouge that you did not want to get married? A32: I did not argue with them because I noticed that those who did not get along with each other after getting married would lose the upper echelons’ trust. They said that we did not follow Angkar’s arrangement if we refused. [...] Q: Was the wedding policy applied to all the people in the division? A34: This policy was generally applied to everyone”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A29-31 [“At that time there was a rule in the Division 164 which stated that no one under the age of 25 years-old was allowed to get married. [...] Q: Who was the person making the rule to limit the minimum age for a person who wanted to get married to 25 years-old? A30: The unit chief announced this rule during the meeting. Q: Did people have to ask for the permission first if they wanted to get married? A31: Yes, the people had to ask for the permission before they could get married. I never saw any couple was forced to get married”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A230-231, 234 [“Q: During the Khmer Rouge regime, did the division arrange marriages? A230: Yes, it did. Q: Did the division select partners for the soldiers? A231: Yes, it did. However, they asked for our opinion [...] Q: [...] from 1975-1979, were all the marriages arranged by the division. A234: The wedding ceremonies took place at the division. The military arranged the marriages for them, given that their chairpersons were battalion or regiment chairmen. If you served in a small unit, your unit committee arranged marriage for you”].
- 546 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A64-67 [“Q: Where did you provide the training? A64: At sea. I taught techniques for navigating ships in practical situations. Q: Did you teach in the vicinity of the military base? A65: Yes. Q:

Which military base? A66: Ream. Q: To what position were you assigned? A67: Chairman of the Anti-Submarine Section”].

547 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A211 [“Q: Do you know if there was a plan to determine the number of couples to marry in your unit? A211: Yes, I had a plan. My plan was to marry off all the members of my unit. I married off many of them”].

548 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A211-212 [“Q: Do you know if there was a plan to determine the number of couples to marry in your unit? A211: Yes, I had a plan. My plan was to marry off all the members of my unit. I married off many of them. I married off two couples on one occasion. I did not organise a wedding involving four couples because I had heard that some couples had taken their spouses erroneously, and it would take a long time to marry four couples. Q: After the marriage, did you report how many couples had married to the upper echelon? A212: In fact, I requested permission to marry them off before their weddings”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A31 [Battalion 20 soldier describing Division 164’s marriage policy in: “Q: Did people have to ask for the permission first if they wanted to get married? A31: Yes, the people had to ask for the permission before they could get married. I never saw any couple was forced to get married”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A234 [“Q: From your recollection, from 1975 to 1979, were all the marriages arranged by the division [164]? A234: The wedding ceremonies took place at the division. The military arranged the marriages for them, given that their chairpersons were battalion or regiment chairmen. If you served in a small unit, your unit committee arranged marriage for you”].

549 D54/38.1 Lon (Lun) Seng WRI, EN 01072395-6 [“Q: Didn't Angkar arrange a marriage for you? A: They did, but I did not love [the chosen women], so I did not get married. Q: You rejected the arrangement? A: There were a few arrangements for me while I was in Kampong Sam, but I refused because I did not love any of [the women]. Was it because you did not love [them], or because you were worried? A: Because I did not love [them]. I did not love the women they had chosen. I rejected the arrangements. Back then, some people who rejected such arrangements were punished, but some were not. Q: How did you dare make so many rejections? A: Because I did not love the women. Moreover, a more senior-ranking cadre, Moeun, was like a friend to me and let me off. Likewise, Meas Mut understood me as we had served together and had had fun together. That was why I could always get off”].

550 D114/91 Seng Ol WRI, A173 [“Q: In your unit, were there any young women who were sent to marry soldiers who served in the infantry or the navy? A173: Yes, there were. In 1976 or 1977, they had me select four or five young women to marry soldiers in Kampong Som. At that time, I was doing dry season farming, and I selected four or five women. The truth was they volunteered to go”] but see D114/36.1.64 Seng Ol WRI, A20 [“In 1977 or 1978, the army came to request women from my unit to be married in Kampong Saom. Proposal letters were sent from the army to my commune, and the Commune Com told me to select women to go to Kampong Saom, saying that the army had requested them. At that time, neither I nor the women selected to go knew that they were being taken away to marry handicapped soldiers”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A29, 31-32 [“Q: Now let us change the subject to speak about the marriage arrangement that was done in the Division 164 at that time. How was the arrangement made for any persons who wanted to get married and for those who had to get married? How was the request for the marriage made? A29: I saw only one wedding in which there were ten couples of brides and grooms. In that wedding there were Ta Seng, Ta Meoun and other leaders. Based on my observation, there was no problem among those couples because the brides and grooms were in the similar age range. But I noticed one couple, Ta Seng and his bride, was different from others because Ta Seng was much older than the bride. I suspected and thought that the bride was so young like that might not be happy to get married to a groom as old as Ta Seng. [...] Later on, I heard people talking about forced marriage, but based on my experience, I never saw any persons who had been forced to get married. [...] Q: Did people have to ask for the permission first if they wanted to get married? A31: Yes, the people had to ask for the permission before they could get married. I never saw any couple was forced to get married. Q: In Ta Seng's case, other than age differences, did you think that it was possible that the bride might be forced to marry him? A32: As I thought, at that time, sister Pov was not under any pressure to marry [Ta Seng] because sister Pov was a loyalist to the Angkar's regime. Sister Pov's age was far different from Ta Seng's age. Sister Pov was about 18 or 19 years-old, the same age as I was then. As for Ta Seng, he was already over 40 years-old” (emphasis added)]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A241 [“Q: People whom I have interviewed said that people were forced to get married in Kampong Som. If they refused, they would be in trouble. Did you ever know about that? A241: I did not know anything about it. For us, there was no such case. We even showed our sympathy towards those whose wives were not beautiful”] but see A230-231, 236-237 [Q: During the Khmer Rouge regime, did the division arrange marriages? A230: Yes, it did. Q: Did the division select partners for the soldiers? A231: Yes, it did. However, they asked for our opinion. [...] A236: Nothing would happen [if we resisted the wedding]. If we were satisfied, we could get married. If we were not, we could just say that we did not want to have a family yet. If we said no, we would feel ashamed in front of the women. Q: Do you know why your division wanted people to get married? A237: Most people had reached the marriageable age. We were old enough. Our troops were between, 24, 25 and 30 years old. They brought and showed women to the soldiers, and they asked whether they loved the women or not. I lived on the island, and they brought women to the island. I asked my soldiers whether they liked those women or not. If they both liked each other, we wrote their names down. If they did not, that was fine. The women had their own representative, and that person asked the women whether they liked the men or not. Our job was to make the arrangements and make sure the men and women saw each other”].

551 Vun Bunna claimed that her marriage to Liet Lan was organised by her cousin (Tim) Seng and Nhan, while Liet Lan remembered that only Nhan organised it: D114/304 Vun Bunna WRI, A68-70, 86, 96, 98, 100, 107, 109, 112-113 [“Because my older cousin [...] transferred me to live there [...] A69: His name was Seng [...] A70: It seemed that he worked in the division [164] [...] A86: I married because I was assigned to do so. My cousin wanted me to marry, so I followed him. He was my cousin, whose name was Seng. He assigned me to marry [...] A96: I did not want to marry because I was very young. But because my cousin arranged the wedding for me, I did not reject [...] A98: [...] it was my cousin who arranged my wedding [...] A100: [...] in Kampong Som. The wedding was held at his [cousin] office [...] A107: Ta Nhan also joined my wedding, but I did not know what his position was [...] Q: On your wedding day, who presided over the ceremony and told you to hold hands that you paid attention to? A109: It was a long time ago. I was not sure if it was my cousin or someone else [...] A112: Leat Lan and I stayed at a nearby house, which belonged to my cousin. Q: Who told you to stay in that house? A113: It was my cousin because it was his house”]; D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3, 6, 8 [“A radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home [...] Initially I had no idea what was going on there. Soon, Ta Nhan [...] declared a wedding ceremony [...] Later on the bride said that she agreed to marry. I said nothing because I was not happy with the event as I had not known anything about it [...] Then the bride’s parents and the high ranking cadres declared we were husband and wife. [...] A6: No, it was not right. I had no choice at all. I had to accept the arranged marriage. Otherwise, I would have been removed from my work and sent somewhere else. [...] A8: I think Ta Mut was the initiator of my marriage. I did not know exactly the reason behind it, but I thought he wanted me to be one of his relatives because my wife was a blood relation of his”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A162, 171-172, 174, 176 [“Q: Who arranged your marriage? A162: Nhan [...] Q: At that time, did you object to the marriage? A171: Yes, I did. I said that I was angry because I had not been informed earlier, and I refused to come forward to make the vow. Q: How about your wife? How was she at that time? A172: She also objected, but Ta Nhan asked if she followed the Party or followed someone else [...] A174: the marriage was arranged by Nhan. I think that the Division Chairman knew this [...] A176: Ta Nhan was the highest-ranking cadre in attendance”].

552 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A177 [“Q: Where were you wed? A177: At Ta Muth’s house in Kampong Som”].

553 D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A174 [“the marriage was arranged by Nhan. I think that the Division Chairman knew this”]; D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3 [“When I arrived at [Meas Muth’s] home near Kampong Som Market, I saw that [some] high ranking cadres had already gathered there. Initially, I had no idea what was going on there. Soon, Ta Nhan called a bride to come out and then he declared wedding ceremony”]. See also D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A111 [Chairman of the Anti-Submarine Section, Regiment 140: “Q: Do you know the names of those who belonged to the Special Command that Meas Muth sent to the battlefield? A111: Lan (deceased) and Nhan (in charge of Division 3 Logistics)”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A207 [Battalion 623 commander: “Q: Yesterday you said that, after Ta Dim and Chhan left, Nhan replaced them. When soldiers were sent to the East Zone, did Nhan go there as well? A207: No, he didn’t”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI A265 [Battalion 31, Regiment 310: “Q: What was Ta Nhan’s position? A265: He was in charge of logistics for Division 164”]; D59/1/1.7a Mak (Ma) Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969928 [Battalion 550 commander: “Q: Who was in charge of Regiment 63? A: Ta Nhan”].

554 D114/117 Nav Sokhan WRI, A256-257, 262-263, 265-266, 273, 275-276 [“Q: After arriving in Kampong Som, how many days afterwards did they order you to get married? A256: I arrived there about a month before. Q: Therefore you got married in October 1977. Is that correct? A257: Yes, it is [...] Q: When they came to order you to get married, what happened? A262: They told me to get married, but I refused. She told me that if I refused, they would take me to be detained in prison. Therefore, I agreed to get married. Q: What about the other women who refused to get married? A263: If they refused to get married, they would like to die, and then they went there [...] Q: When you agreed to get married, what happened later? A265: After I agreed to get married, they took me to the wedding place in Stung Hav, Kampong Som [...] Q: Did you know your husband in advance? A266: No, I did not [...] Q: Where was the wedding held? A273: The wedding was held at a hilly area of Stung Hav [...] Q: Who joined the wedding? A275: During the wedding, there were seven women including me. The men were already there because it was their place. Q: How many men who had to get married were there? A276: There were seven men”]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A2-6, 10 [“I want to emphasise that I was forced to get married to a soldier from Battalion 160, which was under Division 3. Q: Can you tell us what month in late 1975 this happened? A3: Sorry, I do not remember the exact month, but I do remember it was in late 1975 or early 1976. Q: Did other people who also marry during that time? A4: On that occasion, there were 71 couples, including mine. Q: How is it that you remember such an exact number? A5: They arranged the marriage for us in Kampong Som Cinema. The theatre was full of people, and they announced that there were 71 couples. Q: When did you learn that they had arranged the marriage for you? A6: I did not know about the marriage arrangement in advance. At that time they invited me to join a meeting and then they arranged the marriage for me. [...] A10: When I arrived at the cinema, I was surprised because I saw many people there. I asked some of them what was going on and they told me that they were arranging a marriage ceremony. I wanted to escape, but I could not because there were soldiers on both sides of the room”]; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A22-25, 30, 32, 34 [“Q: Tell me about the wedding policy at Division 164? A22: Each spouse did not know their partner before their marriage. This happened to me and other people too. In my case, I was told just a day prior that wedding that I would get married the following day. We did not know each other, nor did we date our lovers like people do in the present day. At that time we had to get married as ordered. Q: Did you have to remain married? A23: Yes we did. Q: Why did you do so? A24: I do not know. We did not reject their request because we were afraid we would be killed. Q: Who were they? Who made the arrangements? A25: They were the people from the regiment. An assistant from the regiment told me that I had to get married. [...] Q: Where was the wedding held? A30: It was held in Kampong Som Province [...] Only three couples were arranged to get married at the logistics office at that time. [...] Q: Did you ever tell the Khmer Rouge that you did not want to get married? A32: I did not argue with them because I noticed that those who did not get along with each other after getting married would lose the upper echelons’ trust. They said that we did not follow Angkar’s arrangement if we refused. [...] Q: Was the wedding policy applied to all the people in the division? A34: This policy was generally applied to everyone”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A45 [“Q: Were there any weddings in Division 164? A45: I know a lot about these weddings because they often held them. Generally a woman dared not refuse her arranged marriage. Sometimes, a collective wedding of two, three or five couples was held”]; D59/1/1.7a Mak (Ma) Chhoeun DC-Cam statement, EN 00969946, 00969949-50 [“Q: When did you get married? Chhoeun: In 1976. Q: In 1976! Where did she work at the time? Chhoeun: She was with a female soldier unit. [...] Q: Was that female battalion unit situated in Kampong Som? Chhoeun: Yes [...] Q: ... when you got married how many couples were married at the time? Chhoeun: There were several couples. It was held in Kampong Som. Vat: 30 people Q: 30 people. How was the marriage organized? Chhoeun: We were called to gather up for the marriage. Q: Were there only cadres who got married or were there also combatants? Chhoeun: It was mixed. Vat: They were mixed. There were some cadres. [...] Q: Who gave instruction for you to get married? Vat: Ta Mut. [...] Q: How did you know her and get married to her? Did you fall in love with her first and ask for permission to marry her? Chhoeun: No. We knew each other. For instance soldiers in the transport unit knew each other. When I saw her I proposed to her and I asked her whether she loved me or not. She said she loved me. So that’s how it went. If she did not love me, it’s up to her. Some people, however, were arranged. Some did not like each other so problems ensued later on. And there were some couples who fell apart”]; D114/53 Uk Sok WRI, A180, 184-85, 333-334 [“Q: When did you get married? A180: In 1978. [...] Q: You said that you left the children’s unit the second time in 1977 and you got married in 1978. What did you do in 1978? A184: I worked in the women’s unit in Smach Daeng Village near Kang Keng airport. Q: What was the name of the cooperative? A185: Smach Daeng cooperative. [...] Q: Did other people in the cooperative also get married like you? A333: Yes they did. Q: [...] Were other people also forced to get married like you? A334: They did not just get married at that time. They got married before that time. They were soldiers’ wives and were brought to stay there”]; D11/387/1 Sam Vuthy CPA, EN 00991851 [“In June 1978, the applicant was sent back to build Pott Threung Dam. When he arrived in Smach Daeng Village, Comrade Lonn and the Chief of Commune [...] forced him to marry Comrade Pheap together with 20 other couples, but the wedding was cancelled because Comrade Pheap was sick, and the group of men and women were uprising and escaped to Vietnam”]; D114/91 Seng Ol WRI, A173 [“Q: In your unit, were there any young women who were sent to marry soldiers who served in the infantry or the navy? A173: Yes, there were. In 1976 or 1977, they had me select four or five young women to marry soldiers in Kampong Som [...] The truth was they volunteered to go. I took those young women to them, and they took them to Kampong Som by car. Actually, I do not remember how many of them, maybe ten"; D114/36.1.64 Seng Ol WRI, A20 ["Q: In your women's unit, did the army ever come to make marriage proposals for handicapped troops? A20: In 1977 or 1978, the army came to request women from my unit to be married in Kampong Saom. Proposal letters were sent from the army to my commune, and the Commune Com told me to select women to go to Kampong Saom, saying that the army had requested them. At that time, neither I nor the women selected to go knew that they were being taken away to marry handicapped soldiers [...] I selected about three to five women from my unit"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A245, 248, 250, 252-254 ["Q: Did you ever see soldiers in Division 164 getting married during that regime? A245: Yes. [...] Q: Were weddings organised by committee? A248: Yes. The committee was made up of chairmen, for instance Han, Chhav, and so on. [...] Q: How many couples were at each wedding? A250: There were sometimes three, five, or seven couples. Sometimes, there were only two couples or even just one couple. [...] Q: Had those couples chosen their own partners, or had someone selected their partners for them? A252: Some couples were arranged to get married, and some couples married voluntarily. Q: Who arranged the weddings? A253: The people who arranged the wedding were the leaders such as Meas Muth, Han, and so on. [...] Q: Why did you say that Meas Muth arranged people to get married? A254: Because he was commander"]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A60-62, 174-178 ["Q: When did you return? A60: In 1978. Q: Do you remember the month? A61: I have forgotten. I have completely forgotten. Q: Was it at the end or at the beginning of the year? A62: At the end of 1978 [...] A174: I do not know, but the marriage was arranged by Nhan. I think that the Division Chairman knew this. Q: Who attended your wedding? A175: It was attended by many cadres from the Navy and the Army [...] Q: Did any important person attend your wedding? A176: Ta Nhan was the highest-ranking cadre in attendance. Q: Where were you wed? A177: At Ta Muth's home in Kampong Som. Q: Did Ta Muth attend your wedding? A178: Ta Muth was busy fighting Vietnamese and helping command troops in Phnom Penh"]; D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3-4, 7 ["a radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home. When I arrived at the port, a motorbike was already there waiting for me. When I arrived at his home near Kampong Som Market, I saw that [some] high ranking cadres had already gathered there. Initially, I had no idea what was going on there. Soon, Ta Nhan called a bride to come out and then he declared wedding ceremony. [...] I said nothing because was not happy with the event as I had not known anything about it. Ta Nhan asked me where I was from. I told him I had never betrayed the Party, but the Party betrayed me. Then the bride's parents and the high ranking cadres declared we were husband and wife. [...] A4: I was married in 1978. I cannot confirm the exact date of my marriage. Two months after my marriage, the Vietnamese arrived in Kampong Som. [...] Q: Did you ever know if such marriages happened to any other people in Division 164? A7: Yes, there were cases of such marriages but I do not remember the names of the affected people. I heard that, in some cases, two to five couples were arranged to be married at the same time I also heard that some new couples even mistook their respective partners"]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A29 ["Q: Now let us change the subject to speak about the marriage arrangement that was done in the Division 164 at that time. How was the arrangement made for any persons who wanted to get married and for those who had to get married? How was the request for the marriage made? A29: I saw only one wedding in which there were ten couples of brides and grooms. In that wedding there were Ta Seng, Ta Meoun and other leaders"].

⁵⁵⁵ D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A2-6, 10 ["Q: Do you remember that you informed us that you were forced to get married to a soldier from Division 164? Is it right? A2: No it is not. I want to emphasise that I was forced to get married to a soldier from Battalion 160, which was under Division 3. Q: Can you tell us what month in late 1975 this happened? A3: Sorry, I do not remember the exact month, but I do remember it was in late 1975 or early 1976. Q: Did other people who also marry during that time? A4: On that occasion, there were 71 couples, including mine. Q: How is it that you remember such an exact number? A5: They arranged the marriage for us in Kampong Som Cinema. The theatre was full of people, and they announced that there were 71 couples. Q: When did you learn that they had arranged the marriage for you? A6: I did not know about the marriage arrangement in advance. At that time they invited me to join a meeting and then they arranged the marriage for me. [...] A10: When I arrived at the cinema, I was surprised because I saw many people there. I asked some of them what was going on and they told me that they were arranging a marriage ceremony. I wanted to escape, but I could not because there were soldiers on both sides of the room"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A232 ["Q: Was it common for them to arrange marriages for many couples at the same time? A232: When I got married, there were only three couples getting wed. I did not know what happened on another occasions. I heard that when Yuth got married, there were ten couples”]; D230/1.1.631d Sam Bung Leng CPA, EN 00477162 [The complainant was asked by a battalion named Ta Chuob to choose a future spouse. Then the complainant told the battalion that he already had a fiancée. There were 50 couples married at the same time at Kâng Keng Airport in Kampong Saom Province. All of them were soldiers of Division 3]; D59/1/1.7a Mak (Ma) Chhoeun DC-Cam statement, EN 00969946 [“Q: When did you get married? Chhoeun: In 1976. Q: In 1976! Where did she work at the time? Chhoeun: She was with a female soldier unit. [...] Q: Was that female battalion unit situated in Kampong Som? Chhoeun: Yes [...] Q: ... when you got married how many couples were married at the time? Chhoeun: There were several couples. It was held in Kampong Som. Vat: 30 people”].

556 D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3, 8 [“a radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home. When I arrived at the port, a motorbike was already there waiting for me. When I arrived at his home near Kampong Som Market, I saw that [some] high ranking cadres had already gathered there. Initially, I had no idea what was going on there. Soon, Ta Nhan called a bride to come out and then he declared wedding ceremony. [...] A8: I think Ta Mut was the initiator of my marriage. I did not know exactly the reason behind it, but I thought he wanted me to be one of his relatives because my wife was a blood relation of his”]; D59/1/1.7a Mak (Ma) Chhoeun DC-Cam statement, EN 00969946-49 [Commander of Battalion 560: “Q: When you got married, how many couples were married at the time? Chhoeun: There were several couples. It was held in Kampong Som. Vat: 30 people. Q: 30 people. How was the marriage organised? Chhoeun: We were called to gather up for the marriage. [...] Q: Who gave instruction for you to get married? Vat: Ta Mut”]. See also D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A253 [“The people who arranged the wedding were the leaders such as Meas Muth, Han, and so on”]; D114/91 Seng Ol WRI, A247-248 [“Q: When you sent the young women to another province, did you have to have permission from the district level? A247: In general, the district ordered the commune, and I received orders from the commune. Q: Does that mean that if Si made a request, the district level must have given their approval? A248: That sounds about right, given that it was their administrative structure”].

557 D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3 [“a radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home. When I arrived at the port, a motorbike was already there waiting for me. When I arrived at his home near Kampong Som Market, I saw that [some] high ranking cadres had already gathered there. Initially, I had no idea what was going on there. Soon, Ta Nhan called a bride to come out and then he declared wedding ceremony”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A225-226, 228-229 [“Q: Did you get married during the Khmer Rouge regime? A225: Yes, I did. I got married in late 1977 or early 1978. Q: How did you meet your wife? A226: She served as a medical staff in Kampong Som, and the upper level arranged the marriage for us. I did not know her before the wedding. Ta Nhan who replaced Ta Chhan arranged the marriage for us. [...] Q: You said that Nhan arranged the marriage for you. Did you serve in his division? A228: Yes, I did. I served in Division 164. Q: Did the division arrange weddings for many couples in Kampong Som? A229: They arranged a wedding for three couples. [...] Three women sat opposite three men. Nhan sat at the head of the table”]; D114/78 Svey Sameth WRI, A22, A29-30 [“Q: Now, let's change the subject. Tell me about the wedding policy at Division 164? A22: Each spouse did not know their partner before their marriage. This happened to me and other people too. [...] Q: Who presided over the wedding? A29: Nhan, along with two other people, presided over my wedding. An was one of them. Q: Where was the wedding held? A30: It was held in Kampong Som Province”]. See also D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A29 [“Q Now let us change the subject to speak about the marriage arrangement that was done in the Division 164 at that time. How was the arrangement made for any persons who wanted to get married and for those who had to get married? How was the request for the marriage made? A29: I saw only one wedding in which there were ten couples of brides and grooms. In that wedding there were Ta Seng, Ta Meoun and other leaders”].

558 D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A30 [“Q: Where was the wedding held? A30: It was held in Kampong Som Province. The wedding was held near the present statue of lions. Only three couples were arranged to get married at the logistics office at that time”]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A5 [“They arranged the marriage for us in Kampong Som Cinema. The theatre was full of people, and they announced that there were 71 couples. Q: When did you learn that they had arranged the marriage for you? A6: I did not know about the marriage arrangement in advance. At that time they invited me to join a meeting and then they arranged the marriage for me. [...] A10: When I arrived at the cinema, I was surprised because I saw many people there. I asked some of them what was going on and they told me that they were arranging a marriage ceremony. I wanted to escape, but I could not because there were soldiers on both sides of the room”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A234 [“Q: From your recollection, from 1975 to 1979, were all the marriages arranged by the division [164]?”]

A234: The wedding ceremonies took place at the division. The military arranged the marriages for them, given that their chairpersons were battalion or regiment chairmen. If you served in a small unit, your unit committee arranged marriage for you”].

559 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A18-20, 28 [“Q: Can you describe the place where you stayed with Meas Mut after you left Sokha Guesthouse? A18: That place was called Inner Office of Division 164. If you travel from Phsar Leu Market to the Two-Lions Circle, when you arrive at the curve you can turn right at the major road-crossing and after about 500 metres, you will reach the location of the division’s Inner Office [...] Q: What was the function of that Inner Office of Division 164? A20: It was the house where Meas Mut stayed. [...] A28: There were different buildings in the compound of the Inner Office. At that site there were a dining hall, Meas Mut’s house, living quarters for messengers and others, a telegraph office, and a broadcasting office, which was located near the Two-Lions Circle”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A4-5 [“The location of an office/residence of Meas Mut, Commander of Division 164, was near the lion statue, where he often met his subordinate commanders and where he issued orders via his messengers: Q: Was the lion statue in Krong Preah Sihanouk near Meas Mut’s office in the time of Democratic Kampuchea? A4: Yes, a lion statue is still standing in the same location, but it is not the old statue. Q: How did you know that Meas Mut’s location was near a pond? A5: One day, I went there with a friend who was a division messenger. I went there in approximately late 1975 with that messenger. I did not get close to Meas Mut’s residence. I saw it from a distance of about 40 or 50 metres. The residence was near the pond that is still there. The long house was made of timber. As far as I know, Meas Mut worked and lived in that house because I do not know any other place where he worked”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A3 [“Q: How far was it from the house where Meas Mut was staying to Meas Mut’s office? A3: Meas Mut’s command office and the house he was staying were around two kilometres away from Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. Meas Mut’s house was at his working office”].

560 D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A34 [“Q: Was the wedding policy applied to all the people in the division? A34: This policy was generally applied to everyone”].

561 D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A2-5 [“No it is not. I want to emphasise that I was forced to get married to a soldier from Battalion 160, which was under Division 3. Q: Can you tell us what month in late 1975 this happened? A3: Sorry, I do not remember the exact month, but I do remember it was in late 1975 or early 1976. Q: Did other people who also marry during that time? A4: On that occasion, there were 71 couples, including mine. Q: How is it that you remember such an exact number? A5: They arranged the marriage for us in Kampong Som Cinema. The theatre was full of people, and they announced that there were 71 couples”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A232 [“Q: Was it common for them to arrange marriages for many couples at the same time? A232: When I got married, there were only three couples getting wed. I did not know what happened on another occasions. I heard that when Yuth got married, there were ten couples”]; D114/117 Nav Sokhan WRI, A256-257, 262-263, 265-266, 273, 275-276 [“Q: After arriving in Kampong Som, how many days afterwards did they order you to get married? A256: I arrived there about a month before. Q: Therefore you got married in October 1977. Is that correct? A257: Yes, it is [...] Q: When they came to order you to get married, what happened? A262: They told me to get married, but I refused. She told me that if I refused, they would take me to be detained in prison. Therefore, I agreed to get married. Q: What about the other women who refused to get married? A263: If they refused to get married, they would like to die, and then they went there [...] Q: When you agreed to get married, what happened later? A265: After I agreed to get married, they took me to the wedding place in Stung Hav, Kampong Som [...] Q: Did you know your husband in advance? A266: No, I did not [...] Q: Where was the wedding held? A273: The wedding was held at a hilly area of Stung Hav [...] Q: Who joined the wedding? A275: During the wedding, there were seven women including me. The men were already there because it was their place. Q: How many men who had to get married were there? A276: There were seven men”]; D230/1.1.631d Sam Bung Leng CPA, EN 00477162 [The complainant was asked by a battalion named Ta Chuob to choose a future spouse. Then the complainant told the battalion that he already had a fiancée. There were 50 couples married at the same time at Käng Keng Airport in Kampong Saom Province. All of them were soldiers of Division 3]; D59/1/1.7a Mak (Ma) Chhoeun DC-Cam statement, EN 00969946 [“Q: When did you get married? Chhoeun: In 1976. Q: In 1976! Where did she work at the time? Chhoeun: She was with a female soldier unit. [...] Q: Was that female battalion unit situated in Kampong Som? Chhoeun: Yes [...] Q: ... when you got married how many couples were married at the time? Chhoeun: There were several couples. It was held in Kampong Som. Vat: 30 people”].

562 D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A38 [“Meas Muth was appointed commander of Division 3 in 1973 when this division was established”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Division 3 was a division under the Southwest Zone which had been established by Ta Mok in 1973”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678538 [“In 1973 Muth rose to become secretary of the 3rd Southwest Division”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A1 [“I used to be his subordinate since 1973 when I was in Division 3”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A7 [Meas Muth “was in Brigade 3. The brigade commanded three regiments. That was in 1973”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A15 [“Q: In what year were you assigned to serve in Division 3? A15: In early 1974. I am not certain about the exact date, but it must have been between 1973 and 1974”]; D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693, KH 00741996 [“In 1974 he was appointed the political officer for the newly-formed Khmer Communist 3rd Division”]; D234./2.1.91 Prum Sarat, T. 25 Jan 2016, 15.18.30-15.22.54 [“it was in 1974. The Division 3 came into existence in that Southwest Zone”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 [“In 1973 or 1974, Battalion 104 was incorporated by Ta Mok into Division 3 of the Southwest Zone”]; D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A1 [“In 1973, they assigned me to work in Division 3”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968373-74, KH 00926602 [“Q: On the first of January 1974, did they organize the Zone Army as Division Number 3? A: Division Number 3. Q: Was Division Number 3 created that day? A: Yes, it was created that day”]; D114/132 Mao Ran, A17 [“In 1974 when the division was first organised, I only knew that we were under the command of Division 3, which was commanded by Meas Muth”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A1, 24 [“When were you first sent to Division 3? A1: I entered Division 3 in April 1974 [...] A24: Division 3 [...] was created in 1974”]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A21, 28 [“Then in 1974, they sent me to join the Zone military unit [...] it might be in mid 1974 [...] A28: I was put in the Division 3. So, that Division had existed already since before I joined it”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27-28; D54/99 Lay Boonhak (Bunhak) WRI, A17; D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A9; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115964-65, KH 00990754-55; D4.1.759 Khem Ngun US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387265, KH 00658135.

563 D54/35 Brak Sokha WRI, A10 [“Battalion 430 was under Division 3, whose commander was Ta Mut. Ta Mok was chairman of the Southwest Zone”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 [“In 1973 or 1974, Battalion 104 was incorporated by Ta Mok into Division 3 of the Southwest Zone”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969926, KH 00926304 [“Q: Did division 3 belong to the Sector? A: It belonged to the Zone, that is Ta Mok’s Zone”]; D54/92.1 Yem Sam On DC-Cam Statement, EN 01063506, KH 00958347.

564 D54/42.1 Heng Viech DC-Cam Statement, EN 00983438, KH 00967564, FR 00996810 [About Division 3, in 1974: “There were many soldiers, around four or five thousand [...] If that division was sent to the front line for a week, and ten or a few hundred soldiers were killed, letters would be dispatched to villages and communes, and more soldiers would be sent as reinforcements immediately [...] There was no shortage of soldiers”].

565 D54/35 Brak Sokha WRI, A10 [“Battalion 430 was under Division 3, whose commander was Ta Mut. Ta Mok was chairman of the Southwest Zone”]; D98/1.1.6 Nut Nov (Nut Nouv) WRI, A30; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969926, KH 00926304; D98/3.1.176 Meas Voeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00849510; D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A4, 24; D1.3.33.15 Khieu Samphan WRI, EN 00156751 [“The standing committee consisted of seven members: Pol Pot, Nuon Cheal, Vorn Vet, Sao Phim, Ta Mok, Son Sen and Ieng Sary”]; D4.1.964 Ieng Sary DC-Cam Statement, EN 00417600 [“A. Virtually all of the Standing Committee was there: Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Sao Phim, me, Son Sen, Ta Mok [...] Vorn Vet”]; D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00147521 [“Related to the seven important individuals in the Party: [...] Fourth was Ung Choeun alias Mok, who was responsible for the Southwest Zone”]; D1.3.33.10 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00195577 [mentioning Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Sao Phim, Ta Mok, Ieng Sary, Son Sen and Vorn Vet as members of the CPK Standing Committee].

566 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693, KH 00741996 [“In 1974 he was appointed the political officer for the newly-formed Khmer Communist 3rd Division. The southwestern region command created the 3rd Division from elements of Sector 37 and independent southwestern region battalions”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A212 [“Meas Muth was Ta Mok’s son-in-law [...] (Meas Muth’s previous wife was Ta Mok’s daughter)”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Afterwards, I was sent to the zone to become a zone military officer in Division 3. Ta Mok established Division 3 and appointed Meas Mut as its chief. Later, ta Mok selected and screened the military officers before they were allowed to join the division”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A26 [“Q: Who was Commander of Division 3 [...] A26: Meas Mut”]; D59/1/1.29 Nget Chanthau DC-Cam Statement (Military Medic), EN 00968434, KH 00733609 [“It was Ta Mut, the son-in-law of Ta Mok”]; D114/158 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A22 [“Brother Muth was Brother Mok’s son-in-law”]; D4.1.911 Iep Duch WRI, EN 00223474 [“female Comrade Khom, the daughter of Ta Mok. Later Khom became the wife of Ta Muth”]; D114/216 Meas Im WRI, A22 [“[Meas Muth's first wife] died in either 1975 or 1976. [She] died of a mental illness"; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A6; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A16; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115965, KH 00990754-55; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974079, KH 00926525; D54/112.1, D59/1/1.10a Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968344-45, KH 00926490; D4.1.759 Mao Rann US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387267, KH 00658139.

The name Long Roeun (Regiment Secretary) appears in two General Staff Reports: D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session – Second Session – Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195333, KH 00008467, FR 00623211 [No.210, Long Roeun, Secretary, Regiment, Division 164]; D1.3.8.8 DK General Staff Report- Second General Staff Study Course, EN 00535795, KH 0006512, FR 00504103 [Listing Long Roeun as the Head of the second Division 164 group for the "Revolutionary Self-Criticism"]].

D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115965, KH 00990755 ["Q: Who else were on the Division Committee? A: The other person was Sarin, alias Rin"]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A17 ["Yesterday, I talked about Saroeun. I suspect that Roeun and Saroeun were the same person. Among the cadres, his name was heard more than the others, and I knew him well too"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A11 [In 1975: "I only know that Nget and Rin were Ta Mut's deputies"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A66 ["They were all under Meas Muth. For instance, Nget was Meas Muth's deputy"]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A27 ["Meas Mut was secretary of the Division and Rin was the deputy"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A32 ["Q: Did you remember before Dim became the deputy, who was the deputy? A32: Before the Division number was changed, its deputy was Rin who was Dim precedent"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A16 ["Q: Did you know who the division deputy commander was? A16: [...] He was Brother Rin"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A34 [Up until April 1975, "The commander of Division 3 was Meas Muth. The deputy commander was Rin"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974079, KH 00926526 ["Q: Who else was in charge of the division besides Ta Mut? A: There were Ta Mut and Ta Rin [...] but the division became the marines division later in 1975"]; D54/24.1 Pak Sokh DC-Cam Statement (corrected by Pak Sokh during OCIJ interview), EN 00978566, KH 00955493 ["[Annotation] Ta Saroeun was a deputy of Ta Mut. He was not the most senior leader of the Division. Ta Mut was the top leader overall in charge of the Division 3 at that time"]. Meas Muth mentions Saroeun in the Division 3 committee, although his description of the various positions within it (including of his own role) is deceptive: D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249695, KH 00741992 ["The command committee of the 3rd division included: Chhan – Division Commander, he was in command during the Mayaguez Incident but was in Kampong Som and Ream. Saroeun, Deputy Commander. Meas Mut, Political Officer. Nhan, Member of the Committee for Logistics. Lon, Chief of Logistics" (emphasis added)]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A10-11 ["Q: In 1974, when you joined Division 3, which regiment were you in? A10: I was in Regiment 15. Q: Who was its commander? A11: Saroeun (male) was"]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A2 ["Meas Mut was the political commissar. There were three regiments within Division 3, and each regiment was controlled by a commander. I only remember my regiment chief, Bang Saroeun"]].

See, e.g., D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A10, 22 ["Q: Did you know a person named Saroeun in Division 3 or Division 164? A10: I knew Saroeun when the Regiment 140 was first created. Saroeun was the commander of that regiment [...] A22: (commenting about document D1.3.14.2, EN 00233944-45, KH 00161788-89) ["The second document [...] The person named Roeun mentioned in this telegram was Saroeun – the Commander of Regiment 140 whom I just mentioned"], D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A36 ["Q: Who was commander of the Navy? A36: Saroeun"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 ["Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A176; D114/48 Sok Ngou WRI, A20; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 ["The first leaders included Ta Saroeun [...] Saroeun was the chairman"]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014.

D2/8 Say Born WRI, A45 ["Nget was the commissar of the Regiment 20 or 61 [...] The commissars were not changed before and after the fall of Phnom Penh"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 ["Nget was the Political Chairman of Regiment 20"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4 ["Nget, Commander of Regiment 20"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963712, KH 00926446 ["Q: Was it Regiment 20 under Nget's command? A: Yes"]. According to S-21 documents and some witnesses, Nget retained a position of simple member within the Division 3/164 committee after being demoted from his former deputy commander position: D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 5342 [Division 164 member; entered S-21 in June 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 26; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 ["In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander, and Nget was a member”; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A12 [“The people at the division level included Chhan, Uncle Ngeth, Brother Yan, and Brother Dim”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A4 [“Men Nget was a member of Division 164. He was arrested”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A64, 66 [“Q: Can you tell us the names of people you knew who were taken away? A64: They were Nget, Dim, Yan, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA [...] A66: For instance, Nget was Meas Muth's deputy. Dim was under Meas Muth at the division level. Chhan was also at the division level. Yan was a regimental chairman. Sokh was division medical chairman”].

571 D114/263 Chum Chy WRI, A49 [“These troops at that time were set up with full company and platoon orders of battle, none falling short. Calculated as a full unit of organization, a battalion had 300, a company 100 and a platoon 30 for a platoon”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A10 [“A group of three people reported to a squad of 12 people. The squad chief reported to a platoon. The chain of command started with a group of three people. The group chief reported to the squad chief. The squad leaders were a committee consisting of three people [...] From squad to division, these three formed the committee, and they had to report, in turn, to the next-level unit committee. The unit chief reported to the chief of next-level unit up [...] In short, the group reported to the squad. The squad reported to the platoon. The platoon reported to the company. The company reported to the battalion. The battalion reported to the regiment. The regiment reported to the division [...] The report had to be made every three days except when there was fighting on the battlefield, and they would have to report immediately”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A106 [Referring to Division 3/164: “In the army, usually on the top, there were the division and the regiments. From the regiments, there were the battalions. From the battalions there were the companies. From the companies there were platoons. From the platoons there were squads. The final units were groups. Group was in the military framework too”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A4.

572 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A9 [“The report mainly focused on what happened on the battlefield as well as the daily livelihood of military officers, their morality, disciplinary issues and social affairs such as helping the people transplant seedlings, harvest rice and treating people when they were sick. Apart from the battlefield report, the political commissar was also responsible for politics, attitudes and assignments”].

573 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A10 [“They regarded reporting as the most important duty that we had to do absolutely, especially reports concerning the enemy situation”].

574 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A10 [“There were three means of reporting. We could report orally, through letters or over the radio. We had to ensure the report reached our intended recipient”].

575 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A8 [“Each regiment had its own political commissar who reported to Meas Mut, the political commissar of the division. Meas Mut reported to Ta Mok, who was the zone chief. Ta Mok reported to the center”].

576 D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A23, 28-30, 38 [“Launh was a leader in the autonomous sector [...] Q: In your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia, you said that Kampong Som was an autonomous sector. When was this autonomous sector created? How was it created? A28: As far as I knew, the central government gave direct orders to the autonomous sector, and no-one else could give orders to this sector. Q: Who gave direct orders to the autonomous sector? A29: I just knew only the Centre did. I came to know this during a meeting when they said that Kampong Som was an autonomous sector. Q: Was that meeting held in your regiment? A30: I came to know that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because I joined a meeting in the regiment and the internal meeting of Party members. Workers at the rubber plantation, workers at the port, and soldiers in Kampong Som all knew that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because this information was widely disseminated [...] Q: Who was the instructor for the political education course? A38: Division Secretary Meas Muth”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A30 [“Division 164 was supervised by the Military General Commander. For military, they went to the Military General Commander, and for administration or province, they went to their administration. As I knew, General Commander was Son Sen”]. See also para. 220.

577 D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A9 [“Q: Before the fall of Phnom Penh, Regiment 22 operated in the areas of Bek Chan, Tuol Leap, Choam Chao, and Doh Kanhchor [...] ? A9: Yes”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968376, KH 00926604-05 [“Until 1974 [...] It went to fight in many places. In 1974, it left [the area south of] Phnom Penh to fight in Kampot [...] In April of the same year, it went to fight in Kampot [...] Then it left there, and went to fight in Longveack in the month that I do not remember”]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963713, KH 00926446-47 [“Q: You left and fought for Phnom Penh, didn't you? A: I fought at Doh Krachor”].

- 578 D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A6-7 ["Q: During the fighting for Phnom Penh, who ordered Division 3 to enter Phnom Penh? A6: Ta Mut, who was the commander of Division 3. Q: When they entered Phnom Penh where was the Division 3 headquarters located? A7: Division 3 headquarters, under Meas Mut's command, was located at Phnum Tmat Pong during the fighting for Phnom Penh"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963713, KH 00926447 ["Two months later, in November, we were sent to Phnom Penh sector and to fight at Thmat Prong in preparation for our fighting for Phnom Penh in 1975. We started to fight for Phnom Penh on 1 January 1975"]. See also on previous Division 3 headquarters' locations: D2/8 Say Born WRI, A35, 37 ["at that time the headquarter of the Division 3 might be in the area south of the National Road 4, an area south of Trapeang Krleung in Kampong Speu province [...] the commissar, who was the Party Secretary in charge of general things and education, had the base on the north part of the National Road 4 in an area called Trapeang Korng which was a safer place [...] A37: At that time the Division did not stay in the same one place all the time. They moved the command base from place to place to prevent it from being bombed by the aircraft"]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387311, KH 01506012 ["At that time, the division was based at Ang Song Kai Village (CNA), Phnom Sruoch District, Kampong Speu Province, CB"].
- 579 D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968376, KH 00926604 ["it entered Phnom Penh through, initially, Thnal Totoeng"].
- 580 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693-94, KH 00741996 ["When Phnom Penh fell to communist forces on 17 April 1975, Meas Mut and the 3rd Division were on the National Route Four Front at Trapeang Tnaot [...], Tuol Leap [...], and Aural Mountain [...] The Division did not enter Phnom Penh on 17 April 1975"]; D4.1.759 Khem Ngun and Mao Rann US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387265, KH 00658135 ["However, the 3rd Division was not permitted to enter Phnom Penh and remained in the Chom Chau Area near Pochentong Airfield, just outside of Phnom Penh"]; EN 00387267, KH 00658138 ["The Khmer Communist 3rd Division participated in the capture of Phnom Penh, but was not allowed into the City"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969927, KH 00926304 [Q: "During that one month period, did you attack and advance towards Phnom Penh? A: I did. I fought to the west of Pochentong"]; D59/1/1.14 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970735, KH 00926675 ["I was at Pochentong during the liberation of Phnom Penh"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974080, KH 00926526-27; D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387257, KH 01519651.
- 581 D2/8 Say Born WRI, A37 ["After the fall of Phnom Penh the Division was transferred to Kampong Som"]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12 ["Next morning, on 18 April, the Battalion 420 and the special unit were sent to Kampong Som town"]; D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249694, KH 00741997 ["At 1600 hours on 17 April 1975 the 3rd Division was ordered to Kampong Som"]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A18 ["He went to Kampong Som after 17 April 1975"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387463, KH 00742598 ["On 18 April 1975, one day after the fall of Phnom Penh to communist forces, the 3rd division was ordered to Ream [...] and Kampong Som"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A2; D4.1.748 Nhong Chhrong US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387383, KH 01506151; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969927, KH 00926305; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974080, KH 00926525; D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978566, KH 00955492; D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387258, KH 01519652.
- 582 D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12 ["Next morning, on 18 April [...] The Battalion 420 was sent to station in Ream and the special unit was sent to Kampong Som"]; D4.1.759 Khem Ngun US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387265, KH 00658135 ["On 18 April 1975, the 3rd Division redeployed to Kampong Som (Sihanoukville), arriving on 21 April 1975. BG [Brigadier General Khem] Ngun was initially stationed in the Central Market area of Kampong Som and transferred to the Ream naval base approximately two months later"].
- 583 D2/9 Say Born WRI, A1 ["When I first arrived in Kampong Som, the forces of my company unit were divided up with some of whom working with the peasants and others were assigned to protect the Kang Keng Airfield"]; D2/6 Nhoun Chrong WRI, A13 ["Q: Battalion 550 stayed in Kang Keng Airfield for about 15 days before it was sent on to Koh Tang Island? A13: Yes, correct"]; D59/2/3.17a Yem Sam On DC-Cam Statement, EN 01063504 ["Q: Did the entire division have to go to Kang Keng? A: Yes. Only when we arrived there did it become apparent that all of Division 3 was present"].
- 584 D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A35 ["We stayed at Kampong Som Port for two or three days; then we went to Ou Chheu Teal"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963714-15, KH 00926446-47 ["my Regiment and the whole Division 3 were transferred to Kampong Som [...] We left on 17 April and arrived our destination on 23 April [...] We stationed at Ou Chheu Teal beach”].

585 D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A10 [“Division 3 was under Ta Mut and was located somewhere in Kampong Som Town”]; D54/93 Yem Sam On WRI, A66 [“Q: Did you know where the Division 3 Office was located? A66: It was located near an old cinema in Kampong Som on the street from the sea”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387463, KH 00742598 [“the 3rd division headquarters was in Kampong Som City”]. However, according to Meas Muth, Division 3 had first its headquarters in Ream: D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249694, KH 00741997 [“At the time of the Mayaguez incident, the 3rd Division was headquartered at Ream”].

586 D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A6-7, 9 [“On 18 April, Division 3 entered Kampong Som. On 17 April, Kampong Som was not yet liberated. Division 3 assisted the sector’s army in fighting to liberate Kampong Som. Q: When you mentioned the sector army, did you refer to Sector 37? A7: Yes, I did [...] A9: At the beginning, the Division 3 forces did not know the geographical features of Kampong Som. Thus, later, the forces of Battalion 386 took the forces of Division 3 to be stationed in different locations because we owned the map”]; D114/113 Koen Men WRI, A179-180 [“Q: When you were based on Koh Tang Island, do you know how many of the soldiers were from Sector 37? A179: Brother Chhan and his entire regiment, comprised of 3 battalions, came with me [...] A180: All of Brother Chhan's troops were from Sector 37”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A12 [“we took battalions of the Sector 37 Unit to merge into Naval Division of 164 and then we took control of the ships from them”]; D114/260 Sorn Soth WRI, A6-9; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A39.

587 D4.1.754 Unknown DK Cadre US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387427, KH 00791381 [Battalion 386 soldier speaking of the period following 17 April 1975: “Source comment – At the time, the 408th was not part of the 3rd Division”], EN 00387429, KH 00791383 [The following statement indicates that Division 3 Commander had authority over Battalion 386 and its companies, including Company 408, before July 1975: “After source was stationed on Poulo Wai Thmei island in April-May 1975, his unit captured a boat carrying more than 10 Vietnamese refugees, including women and children [...] After they captured the boat, the 408th commander contacted Kampong Som for guidance on the disposition of the refugees. The high command in Kampong Som ordered the commander to kill the refugees. The commander and his deputy carried out the order”]; D4.1.749 Seng Sin alias Kon and Khieu Nuok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387442 [“When sources arrived on Tang Island, the 386th battalion, once under the command of Sector 37, was under the command of the former 3rd division, called the 164th division. Sources were members of the 2D platoon, 43rd company, 386th battalion, 62D regiment, 164th division”]; D114/261 Chum Chy WRI, A2 [“at the fall of Phnom Penh in 1975, the unit of organization belonging to the Southwest Zone that they called Division 3 was sent to Kampong Som. Once that had been done, they then joined together the Sector 37 army and the Southwest Zone army called Division 3, joining them together to create Division 164”]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A36 [“Q: If these forces were a combination of Division 164/Division 3 and Sector 37 military units of organization, under whose overall command was this operation carried out? A36: Everything was under the overall command of Meas Muth”]; D54/109 Sao Sam WRI, A3 [“After the liberation day on 17 April 1975, the soldiers of Sector 37 were dissolved and some of their soldiers were sent into Division 164”]; D4.1.757 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387365, KH 01507817 [“About 15 days after the U.S. attack on Tang Island, the 19th company was transferred back to Tang Island. At that time, all three companies were no longer subordinate to the 386th, but were assigned to the 22D regiment, 3rd (164th) division”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A8 [“After the liberation, Battalion 386 and some east units were required to combine with Division 3 in order to form the Centre Unit numbered 164”]; D4.1.752 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387361, KH 01519660 [“the only other battalion associated with the 3rd division and Tang Island is the 386th battalion, sector 37”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A30-31, 39 [“At that time, there was not a division yet. They called it the Sector 37 Unit. Q: Was that before or after Pol Pot took over Phnom Penh? A31: Before [...] A39: When I was at Koh Tang Island, I heard that they combined us into Division 3”]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A7; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19; D54/76 Uy Nhik WRI, A8-9; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A64.

588 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249693, KH 00741996-97 [“The Southwest region command created the 3rd division from elements of Sector 37 and independent southwestern region battalions”], EN 00249694, KH 00741997 [“At the time of the Mayaguez incident, the 3rd Division was headquartered at Ream. The Division had four subordinate regiments numbered 37, 14, 15 and 16. The 37th Regiment was designated as such because it was made up of forces from Sector 37”].

589 D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A6-7, 9, 14, 21 ["On 17 April, Kampong Som was not yet liberated. Division 3 assisted the sector's army in fighting to liberate Kampong Som. Q: When you mentioned the sector army, did you refer to Sector 37? A7: Yes, I did [...]. A9: At the beginning, the Division 3 forces did not know the geographical features of Kampong Som. Thus, later, the forces of Battalion 386 took the forces of Division 3 to be stationed in different locations because we owned the map [...]. A14: Two companies of Battalion 386 and two companies of Division 3 stayed together on Koh Ses Island [...]. A21: The soldiers from the sector's army [37] and Division 3 were sent to Koh Polou Wai Island, Koh Polou Wai Thmei (New Polou Wai) Island, Koh Polou Wai Chas (Old Polou Wai) Island, Koh Rong Sanloem, Koh Rong Thom (Big Rong) Island, Koh M'noas Island, and Koh Tang Island. The rest of the forces were stationed on the mainland and worked on the naval boats"]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A23 ["We, Battalion 336, knew the geographical area clearly, so they stationed us on the islands of Koh Rong Fa and Koh Rong Sanloem"]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A4 ["On 18 April 1975, Battalion 386 was sent to Ream. Two or three few days later, my unit was sent to defend Koh Ruessei Island"]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A6 ["Around two weeks after liberation, Battalion 386 as a whole was deployed on Koh Rong Island, Koh Poulo Wai Island and Koh Tang and Koh Pring islands"]; D54/101.1 Ek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00992727, KH 01509142 ["The division lack[ed] personnel and used the 386th battalion to provide personnel to man islands off the coast of Kampong Som"]; D4.1.754 Unknown DK Cadre US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387427, KH 00791381.

590 See, e.g., D2/8 Say Born WRI, A34 ["there were three regiments including Regiments 20, 21 and 22"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 ["In Division 3, there were Regiments 20, 21 and 22, a Special Battalion, and an Artillery Unit"]; D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387258, KH 01519652 ["The division had three regiments, numbered 20 through 22, and the 450th Sapper Battalion"]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387278, KH 01496677 ["At the time of the fall of Phnom Penh, the Khmer Communist 3rd Division had three regiments – 20, 21, 22, and 23"]; D4.1.759 Mao Rann US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387267, KH 00658138-39 ["The 3rd Division was commanded by Meas Mut and Yim Seng was deputy. The division had three subordinate regiments numbered 20, 21, and 22"]. See also D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A33 ["The designations of the four regiments were as follows: 20, 21, 22, and 140 [...]. The number of the independent battalion was 450"].

591 In any case, they refer to the very same three regiments: D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249694, KH 00741997 ["At the time of the Mayaguez incident, the 3rd Division was headquartered at Ream. The Division had four subordinate regiments numbered 37, 14, 15 and 16. The 37th Regiment was designated as such because it was made up of forces from Sector 37"]; Heang Ret first believed the Regiments were numbered 11, 12 and 13 before remembering there were 20, 21 and 22: D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A9-10, 21 ["Q: In your previous interview, you mentioned Regiments 13 and 14, in document D59/1/1.11a, page 20. In this same list, on page 26, you talked about the marine unit of Unit 21 and Regiment 13. You added that, later it became Regiment 21 [...]. A9: Originally it was Unit 3 of Southwest Zone. There were Regiments 11, 12, 13 in it. But after that, in 1975, we took over Phnom Penh [...] the division convened a meeting to declare changes from Division 3 to Division 164 [...] Regiment 11 was changed to Regiment 161. Regiment 12 was changed to Regiment 162. Regiment 13 was changed to Regiment 163 [...]. A21: I just remembered that there were Regiments 20, 21 and 22. Regiment 20 became Regiment 161. Regiment 21 became Regiment 162. Regiment 22 became Regiment 23 [163]. There were also Regiments 11, 12 and 13. But they were not same as Regiments 20, 21 22. I did not know clearly if they used the 10s before the 20s or not"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A2-3, 18, 20 ["I was in Battalion 540 in Regiment 15 of Division 3 [...]. A3: The regiment commanders were Yan (deceased) and Sros [...]. A18: There were only Regiments 13, 15 and 16 [...]. A20: We are talking about the framework of Division 3. Let me confirm about the locations. Regiment 16, which was under Yan, was stationed in Kang Keng. Regiment 15 was sent to the island. Regiment 13 was also sent to the island"]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A10 ["Q: In 1974, when you joined Division 3, which regiment were you in? A10: I was in Regiment 15. Q: Who was its commander? A11: Sareun (male) was"].

592 D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A4-5 ["Ta Yan was the chairman of Regiment 33. As far as I knew, under Division 3, there were 3 regiments: Regiments 31, 32, and 33 [...]. Q: The other witnesses who were interviewed by us said that the old numerical designations of the three regiments under Division 3 were Regiments 20, 21, and 22 before Division 3 became Division 164, and later the numerical designations of those regiments were 61,62, and 63. A5: I am sure, and I remember that the numerical designations of those regiments were 31,32, and 33. Sari was the commander of Regiment 31 of the land-based army and was stationed at Kang Keng. Yan was the commander of Regiment 33 with its headquarters at Tuek Sab. I did not know the name of the commander of Regiment 32. I just knew that the headquarters of Regiment 32 was located in Kampong Som Provincial Town”].

593 D54/99 Lay Boonhak WRI, A17 [“Battalion 370 was under Regiment 20”]; D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387258, KH 01519652 [“The 20th regiment had subordinate to it the 320th, 330th, and 370th Battalions”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A31 [“There were three Battalions. They were Battalions 330, 320 and 310”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A110, 116-117 [“310 was my unit. However, at that time, I was on Tang Island [...] A116: It was not a division; it was Battalion 310 [...] A117: Battalions 310 and 320”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A2, 9, 11 [Mentions the fate of Battalion 310 members who were considered as “bad elements”]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A40 [Mentions Battalion 310]; D54/105 Ek Ny WRI, A4 [Describing how Battalion 310 members were arrested by the Vietnamese on Koh Poulo Wai and released later]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A15 [Battalion 310]; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A16 [“I think [...] Chum [came] from Battalion 330”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A12, 15, 220 [“I was in Company 30, Battalion 370, Regiment 20, Division 3 [...] A15: The commander of Battalion 370 was Son [...] A220: Battalion 370 and Regiment 61 remained the same”]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A54 [“I heard about Battalions 380 and 370”]; D114/260 Som Sot WRI, A33 [“Ta Chy was arrested and then sent to Vietnam when Vietnam attacked Koh Poulo Wai Island. He was in Division 164 too. He was likely in Battalion 370”].

594 D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A28 [“Prior to 1974 the battalion was designated Battalion 103 [...] After 1975, Battalion 103 was re-designated Battalion 410, Regiment 21, under Division 3”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742580 [“The 410th Battalion was made up of the former 103rd (aka KH03) Battalion from Khmer Communist Sector 33”].

595 D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A11 [“in January 1975 [...] at that time Battalion 102 was not under the Sector 33 unit anymore. They were merged into the Division 3 of the Southwest Zone. At that time Battalion 102 became Battalion 420”].

596 D114/263 Chum Chy WRI (Battalion 420, Regiment 21), A48 [“Q: Do you think Battalion 430, which was stationed on Koh Kra Chak Ses Island, could also have been subordinated to the same regiment as your regiment? A48: maybe it was subordinated to the same Regiment 21 because there were Battalions 410, 420 and 430. I say this because although they never told us specifically that it was that unit of organization, but we understood this on our own”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A27-28 [“I was in Battalion 410, Regiment 21, Division 3 [...] A28: After 1975, Battalion 103 was re-designated Battalion 410, Regiment 21, under Division 3”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A36 [“later on, the Vietnamese attacked us and occupied the Koh Polowai Island and also recaptured the Koh Krachak Seh Island from us. Among the units that had been sent to fight at that place were Battalions 410 and 420 of the Division 3. These two Battalions were under the command of two commanders named Tom and Voeun. Tom was the commander of Battalion 420, and Voeun was the commander of Battalion 410”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27 [“Later, I was transferred to Battalion 415. Kung was the Chief, me the Deputy Chief, and Nget Ngen the member of Battalion 415. Battalion 415 was under the authority of Regiment 21, Division 3”]; D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A3 [“Baul was in Battalion 415”]; D114/76 Svay Sameth WRI, A15 [“I believe it was in 1976 [...] Torn and Moeun were the Commanders of Battalion 420 [...] Moeun was removed at a later date”]; D54/35 Brak Sokha WRI, A10 [“I was with Battalion 430. I was a messenger for the battalion commander. The battalion commander at that time was Brother Bau. Battalion 430 was under Division 3, whose commander was Ta Mut”]; D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387258, KH 01519652 [“The division had three regiments, numbered 20 through 22, and the 450th Sapper Battalion [...] The 21st Regiment had subordinate to it the 410th, 420th and 480th battalions”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742580 [“The Regiment had four subordinate Battalions numbered 410, 420, 480, and 490, and was headquartered at Ream”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A17 [Mentions Battalion 410]; D114/287 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A43 [“Q: Please tell us about which companies and battalions of Regiment 21 or 162 were sent to set up the headquarters at Krachak Ses Island. A43: At that time, there were many choices. There were many units but Battalion 410 was the core force”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A3 [Chief of Company 8, Battalion 420]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A11 [“Battalion 102 was not under the Sector 33 unit anymore. They were merged into the Division 3 of the Southwest Zone. At that time Battalion 102 became Battalion 420”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A61 [“Q: Was Battalion 480 a new or old battalion? A61: I do not recall, but it originated from Sector 13. I guess Battalion 480 was the old one”]; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A16 [“I think Nhom came from Battalion 480”].

597 D2/8 Say Born WRI, A34, 51 [“In fact there were three regiments including Regiments 20, 21, and 22 [...] A51: Now I remember the battalions under the Regiment 22 were as follow: They Were Battalions 520, 530, 540, and 550”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A7 [“I do not remember the first digit whether it was a 1 or a 5, but I remember vividly the last two digits. They were 20, 30, 40 and 50 in Regiment 22”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A6 [“Q: what was the designation of your unit? A6: It was probably Battalion 520”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29, 32-33 [“Battalion 540 was under the control of Sary, and his headquarters was outside the compound of Kang Keng airport [...] A32: As I remember, Battalion 520 was under the control of Han. Battalion 530 was under the control of Vet. Battalion 540 was under the control of Sary and Battalion 560 was under my control. There was no Battalion 550 [...] A33: this Battalion [520] was sent to join the Navy”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974078, KH 00926525 [“Q: To which battalion did your unit of 100 belong? A: Battalion 530 [...] Q: Which regiment was it? A: Regiment 16”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742581 [“He remembered that the 63rd regiment subordinate designations used 500-series for battalions and surmised the 61st used 300-series designations for battalions”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A9 [“The three companies above [24, 26, 28] were under Battalion 540, whose commander was Sari [...] Battalions 530, 540 and 550 were under a regiment whose commander was Ta Yan”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A2 [“I was in Battalion 540 in Regiment 15 of Division 3”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A64, 246 [mentions Battalion 540], A17, 22, 248 [“Q: In what battalion was your children’s unit? A17: It was in Battalion 580 [...] A22: Their ages ranged from 12 or 13 to 20 years old [...] Q: Of what area did Battalion 580 take control? A248: The coconut plantation”]; D2/6 Nhoun Chrong WRI, A9, 11 [“Q: [...] In 1974 T-4 was merged into the newly formed division called Division 3 [...] At that time T- 4 was changed to Battalion 550 and put under Regiment 22’. Was the reading from this paragraph correct? A9: Yes, it was correct [...] A11: Battalion 550 became the marine force”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A37 [“Q: At that time were many troops taken from Battalion T-4 or Battalion 550 into the marine? A37: There were not many. As I could recall, there might be over 10 persons taken from the Battalion T-4 or 550”]; D54/30 Soem Ny WRI, A8, 11 [“Battalion 550 had been formed around two months before the ‘liberation’ of Phnom Penh in April 1975. This battalion was called a special one whose military members had been transferred from different units [...] A11: [Before 17 April 1975] I was in the special espionage squad of Battalion 550 who was assigned to spy on the troops of the enemy combatants”].

598 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249694, KH 00741997 [“At the time of the Mayaguez incident, the 3rd Division was headquartered at Ream. The Division had four subordinate regiments numbered 37, 14, 15 and 16. The 37th Regiment was designated as such because it was made up of forces from Sector 37”].

599 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A27 [“Yes, he did. Battalion 450 was a Special Unit of Ta Mut”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A38 [“For the infantry, the commands were issued by Division 3 to the regiments, from the regiments to the battalions, and from the battalions to the companies. However, my special unit, Battalion 450, received orders directly from Meas Mut, the Commander of Division 3”]; D114/15 Sok Vanna (Suos Vanna) WRI, A18 [“Q: Have you ever heard about the Special Battalion 450 of Division 3? A18: Yes, I have. This unit was under Meas Mut”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387328, KH 00742578 [“the 164th division was organized into three subordinate infantry regiments numbered 61, 62, and 63, and included the 450th special operations battalion”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974081, KH 00926527 [“The special unit was an autonomous unit of the division [...] It was equivalent to the regiment’s role”]; D234/2.1.92 Prum Sarat, T. 26 Jan 2016, 14.38.20-14.42.45 [“For unit 450 it was a special unit for Division 164 and its task was to be stationed around the divisional headquarters [...] the unit was known as the special unit for Division 3”].

600 D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401488, KH 00063323-24, FR 00538963 [“On 22 July 1975 on the occasion of the ceremony of the Communist Party of Kampuchea Center to establish the Revolutionary Army, the comrade chairman of the High-Level Military Committee of the Party convened an important political conference of the Communist Party of Kampuchea Center for approximately 3,000 representatives of every unit of the Revolutionary Army. The complete content of this important conference was as follows: [...] 4. The new missions of our Revolutionary Army”]; D98/3.1.20 Chhaom Se, T. 11 Jan 2013, 11.38.49, 11.40.51, 11.50.33-11.52.30 [the Olympic Stadium assembly held related to the “establishment of the army” and the entire CPK leadership was present], 14.01.48-14.06.23 [confirming that the 22 July 1975 RAK conference described in the August 1975 Revolutionary Flag corresponded to the assembly he attended although he first thought it was in September 1975]; D4.1.801 Chhaom Se WRI, A3 [“Division 801 was created in Phnom Penh during the General Assembly at the Olympic Stadium during approximately September. The Special Military Zone had three divisions: Division 703, Division 605, and Division 801”];

D4.1.805 Chhaom Se WRI, A3-4 [“Q: In the interview on 31st October 2009, you said that the Division 801 was created during the Great Assembly of the Party in September 1975. [...] A3: The Great Assembly was held in September 1975. The commanders of the division level down to the company level from all divisions attended it. As a company deputy commander in Division 801, I also attended [...] The purpose of that Great Assembly was to talk about the history of the armed forces and their new work, and to announce the leadership composition of the Party Centre to the cadres [...] At that time they announced the creation of the Special Zone and the merging of the Brigade 801, Brigade 703 and Brigade 605. The vanguards (the Centre armed forces) composed of 12 divisions which mobilized from place to place throughout the country [...] After the Great Assembly, they decided to send Brigade 801 to Rattanakiri [...] A4: Son Sen, the Minister of Defense, was the person who organized the Great Assembly. He made a long speech to [the Assembly]; and the last person addressed [the Assembly] was Pol Pot”]; D4.1.454 Koy Mon WRI (Division 170), EN 00272715, KH 00195436 [“In mid 1975, Pol Pot called military commanders/chiefs from all units, including from the central army and zone army units to attend the conference at Olympic Stadium. The conference [...] also proposed plans for the central and zone armies to promote production and do rice farming”]; D4.1.827 Him Horn WRI, EN 00425235-36, KH 00422488 [describing a late 1975 meeting at Olympic Stadium about “the transfer of the army to the Party Center” at which Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, and Khieu Samphan were present and during which he heard Nuon Chea talking about the transfer of the army to the Party Center under the supervision of Pol Pot”]; D4.1.794 Ung Ren WRI, EN 00408399, KH 00398517 [“During the announcement of [the appointment of] Brigade 801, all senior leaders participated; they were Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Ieng Sary, Son Sen, who announced the appointment at the Olympic Stadium about 15 days after the liberation of Phnom Penh”]; Ung Ren clarified the time period at the hearing: D98/3.1.20 Ung Ren, T. 11 Jan 2013, 09.09.08-09.12.30, EN 00879822-24 [claiming that the meeting at Olympic Stadium took place quite some time after leaving the hospital in May 1975]; D1.3.17.4 Huy Vannak, The Khmer Rouge Division 703, EN 00081292 [describes that on 22 July 1975 the 12th Division became the 703rd Division]; D1.3.17.1 Elizabeth Becker, When the War Was Over, EN 00237731.

601

Apart from Division 164 (Navy) in Kampong Som, the other Central RAK Divisions were Divisions 170, 290, 310, 450, 502, 703, 801 and 920. Division 170 was from the Eastern Zone and was positioned opposite Phnom Penh under the initial chairmanship of Chan Chakrei alias Nov Mean until his arrest: D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D4.1.454 Koy Mon WRI, EN 00272715, KH 00195436; D4.1.22 Chan Chakrey alias Nov Mean S-21 Confession. Division 290 was also from the East Zone (Sector 24) with Comrade Tal as Chairman: D4.1.908 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Sep 1976 [describing meeting between Son Sen, Duch, and the commanders of Divisions 170 and 290]. Division 310 (North Zone) was positioned in Phnom Penh, Chroy Changvar, with Sbauv Him alias Oeun as initial Chairman until he was arrested and executed: D114/230.1.1 S-21 Prisoner List, EN 01222656; D4.1.827 Him Horn WRI, EN 00425235-36, KH 00422488; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D1.3.27.21 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 11 Nov 1976; D4.1.556 Kung Kim WRI, EN 00278682, 84, KH 00270164, 66-67. Division 450 (North Zone) was initially commanded by Chea Non alias Suong: D1.3.9.1 Report from Raen to Angkar, 14 Nov 1976, EN 00233930, KH 00087054; D4.1.841 Sokh Chhay WRI, EN 00404296, KH 00398508. Division 502 (DK Air Force) was based at Pochentong Airport and was responsible for the construction of the Kampong Chhnang Airport with Sou Met alias Sou Samet as chairman: D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D4.1.854 Seng Mon WRI, EN 00359932, KH 00357536; D4.1.242 Phan Pech WRI, EN 00231406, KH 00228841; D4.1.553 Sreng Thi WRI, EN 00282224, KH 00270178; D1.3.32.27 Leng Kim alias Kung Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00184123; D1.3.12.9 Report from Met, 1 Sep 1976; D4.1.837 Hen Sophal WRI, EN 00374046, KH 00373259. Division 703 (former East Zone Division 12) was based in Phnom Penh south of Chamkar Mon under the leadership of Comrade Pin: D1.3.8.7 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 18 Oct 1976; D6.1.1158 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 11 Nov 1976; D98/3.1.20 Chhaom Se, T. 11 Jan 2013, 11.06.37-11.09.24; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D1.3.17.4 Huy Vannak, The Khmer Rouge Division 703, EN 00081292. Division 801 (based in Rattanakiri, Northeast Zone) was formed by merging Brigades 11 and 14 and was commanded by Saur Sareun alias Ta Ol: D4.1.634 Report from Reuan to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 25 Dec 1976; D98/3.1.306 Ung Ren, T. 9 Jan 2013, 10.55.58-10.58.55, 11.55.00-11.59.51, 13.38.22-13.40.50; D98/3.1.20 Chhaom Se, T. 11 Jan 2013, 11.06.37-11.09.24, 11.11.17, 11.50.33-11.52.30; D4.1.801 Chhaom Se WRI, EN 00406211-17; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D4.1.803 Chin Kimthong alias Chhang WRI, EN 00403579-80, KH 00401323-24; D4.1.789 Ung Ren WRI, EN 00381032, 35; D4.1.804 Chin Kimthong alias Chhang WRI, EN 00404077-78, KH 00401333-34. Division 920 (Mondulkiri, Autonomous Sector 105) was under Division Secretary Nhem San who replaced Men Meng alias Chhin after his arrest in February 1977: D1.3.27.14, D4.1.81 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 7 Sep 1976; D1.3.34.3 Telegram from Chhin to Brother 89, 8 Feb 1976; D4.1.234 Report from Chhin to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 3 Mar 1976; D234/2.1.49 Telegram 11 from San to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Apr 1977, EN 00531038, KH 00052312; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24; D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278695, 97, KH 00251438-40; D4.1.443 Ham Ansi WRI, EN 00250750, KH 00242413; D114/35.2 Sara Colm and Sorya Sim, Khmer Rouge Purges in the Mondulhiri Highlands, EN 00397617, 704. See also D4.1.801 Chhaom Se WRI, EN 00406211, KH 00401299 [“Division 801 was created in Phnom Penh during the General Assembly at the Olympic Stadium during approximately September [1975]. The Special Military Zone had three divisions: Division 703, Division 605, and Division 801”].

602 A Standing Committee decision from 9 October 1975 gave Pol Pot general responsibility over the military and Son Sen became officially the Chairman of the General Staff and Minister for National Defence: D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183393, KH 00019108; D98/1.2.25 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 5 Apr 2012, 15.18.32-15.21.47 [“Son Sen was the head of the general staff of the CPK’s army [...] Son Sen, the candidate member of the Central Committee, the head of general staff [...] Son Sen was in charge of security”]; D1.3.19.1 CPK Directive, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182814, KH 00003141 [“Comrade Khieu: Deputy Prime Minister for National Defense”].

603 D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A6, 103 [“At that time, from 1974 to April 1975, Division 3 no longer existed. Its name was changed to Division 164 [...] A103: Historically, the old Division 3 did not have Regiment 140. The rest were the same. I would like to confirm again about the earlier question. Division 3 was in place from 1974 to 1975. In July, it changed its name to Division 164” (emphasis added)]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A18-19 [“In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established [...] A19: Moeun Mon [...] the commander of a company, and Heng Hok was the commander of another company of Battalion 480. They told me that Division 3 had been changed to Division 164, and that a new naval brigade, Brigade 140, had also been established”]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A43 [“I did not remember clearly when they changed the names of those units, but when we arrived in Kampong Som, they told us that the Division 3 was changed to the Division 164, and Regiment 20 was changed to Regiment 161, Regiment 21 was changed to 162, and Regiment 22 was changed to 163”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 [“After 1975, Division 3 was changed to Division 164, a marine force. At that time, Division 164 was no longer a division of the Southwest Zone”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“The Division 3 was under the Southwest Zone. But after this Division 3 had changed its name to become Division 164, it was under the General Staff of the National Armed Forces”]; D4.1.759 Kong Chay US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387269, KH 00658142 [“Mr Chay clarified the organization of the 3rd Division prior to and following the fall of Phnom Penh. The 3rd Division transferred to the Cambodian Navy and renamed the 164th Division”]; D4.1.759 Khem Ngun US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387265, KH 00658135; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A24.

604 D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A171, 173, 177 [“Q: You said Meas Muth went to Koh Tang Island to announce the formation of Division 164 in a meeting. Can you confirm this? A171: Unit 386 and a unit from the north with Unit 3 on Koh Tang Island were merged to. Other battalions were later established [...] Q: Who spoke in the meeting? A173: Only Meas Muth did [...] A177: It was held in an open space in the centre of Koh Tang Island”]. See also D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A9 [“When we arrived there, the division convened a meeting to declare changes from Division 3 to Division 164. They said that the division was the Central and General Commander’s division, not under the zone as before, because Kampong Som was an autonomous zone, and it was called the Navy”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A30-31, 39 [“Q: what is the number of your division? A30: At that time, there was not a division yet. They called it the Sector 37 Unit. Q: Was that before or after Pol Pot took over Phnom Penh? A31: Before [...] A39: When I was at Koh Tang Island, I heard that they combined us into Division 3”].

605 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249698-99, KH 00742002-03 [“At the end of 1975, the 3rd division was re-designated the 164th division and re-subordinated under the Democratic Kampuchean navy. The Division also incorporated additional troops from Sectors 22, 24 and the remaining troops from Sector 37”]; D1.3.30.2 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 82, 5 Jan 1976 [the first surviving Meas Muth’s telegram is dated 5 January 1976 and already references it as a monthly report of Unit 164, which clearly establishes that Division 164 was created beforehand]. See also D4.1.754 Unknown DK Cadre US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387428, KH 00791383 [“In December 1975, the 408th Company was transferred from Puolo Wai Thmei Island to Tang Island, the 409th Company was based near the lighthouse on Rong Samleum Island and the 420th Company manned a weapons repair factory at Ream Naval base. A short time after the move, the 386th Battalion was dissolved and its personnel were transferred to the 3rd Division, which was renumbered the 164th Division”]; D4.1.747 Ek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387289, KH 00640516 [“In 1976, the 386th Battalion was absorbed into the 3rd division. Also at the same time, the division was renamed the 164th division”].

D2/8 Say Born WRI, A43 [“when we arrived in Kampong Som, they told us that the Division 3 was changed to the Division 164, and Regiment 20 was changed to Regiment 161, Regiment 21 was changed to 162, and Regiment 22 was changed to 163”]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387279, KH 01496679 [“Source provided details on the reorganization of units under the 3rd Division after the Mayaguez incident. The 3rd division was redesignated the 164th division”]; D59/1/1.29 Nget Chanthau DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968434, KH 00733609 [“I was in Division 3 and later it was changed to Division 164”]; D4.1.759 Kong Chay US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387269, KH 00658142 [“The 3rd division transferred to the Cambodian Navy and renamed the 164th division”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974097, KH 00926547 [“Q: Well, had the 3rd Division been renamed yet? A: It had been renamed Division 164”].

See above, para. 212, fns 586, 587 regarding the incorporation of Battalion 386 (Sector 37) into Division 3 before being formally incorporated in July 1975.

D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A20 [“At that time, Dim and his 700 soldiers arrived from the East Zone. These soldiers from the East Zone were combined with those of Division 3 to create Division 164”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A158 [“Later, they selected an additional 700 forces from the East Zone to attend the other training. The General Staff arranged it and sent the forces there. The two forces were combined together. There were 700 forces from the East Zone”]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A8 [“Not all Regiment 52 personnel were sent to Kampong Som. As I knew it, personnel selected were from different battalions to be sent all to Kampong Som, except for the special companies and special battalion. In total, about 700 soldiers were sent to Kampong Som”]. According to Yoem Sroeng 500 or 600 joined Regiment 140 alone: D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A51-52 [“When it was still in Regiment 61, there were no new soldiers; but when Regiment 140 was created, soldiers from the East came to join the navy [...] A52: When we were at Regiment 140, they sent about 500 to 600 soldiers from the East Zone to join the navy”]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A19 [“Dim came to Kampong Som with about two battalions of soldiers. He arrived from the East Zone when Division 164 was founded. Phnom Penh collapsed after he had been in Kampong Som for a month”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A28 [“I think it was around the middle or end of 1975 when the East Zone people arrived at Stueng Hav”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968417, KH 00926642 [“Q: I want to seek your clarification. Did Division 164, when changing its name to Division 3, include any other groups? A: Oh, they were taken from the East”].

D54/96 Teng Sarim alias Chim Chroeun WRI (Former Regiment 152 soldier, Sector 22), A20-21 [“All the personnel in the entire Regiment 152 under the command of Dim were sent to Kampong Som, nearly 1,000 [...] A21: The members of Regiment 152 were not only from Sector 22; they came from the entire East Zone”]; Lon Seng, a chief of company in Regiment 21/61, estimated that in total it was no less than 1,500 East Zone soldiers who joined Division 164 in two successive waves: D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Yes, 1500 soldiers from the East Zone were sent to my unit [...] They came in two groups. There were 700 soldiers in the first group and 800 soldiers in the second group. I do not remember clearly in which year they came. However, it must have been between 1975 and 1977, as they arrived before I left Division 164 for Phnom Penh in 1977”].

D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249698-99, KH 00742002-03 [“the 164th division [...] also incorporated additional troops from Sectors 22, 24 and the remaining troops from Sector 37” (emphasis added)]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 1624 [listing Hoeng Doeun alias Dim as Deputy Secretary of Division 164]; D1.3.28.40 List of Prisoners who were smashed and photographed on 8 Dec 1977, EN 00873280-81, KH 00009146 [No. 2 on list]; D234/2.1.55 Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim S-21 Confession, EN 00224085; D1.3.18.1 Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim S-21 Confession; D1.3.18.2 Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim S-21 Confession; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A33 [“Q: Division 164 was under Ta Muth’s control. Who was his Deputy? A33: Ta Dim was”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“Dim was Meas Muth’s 1st deputy, and he was from the East Zone”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Mut’s first deputy was Dim from the East Zone. Dim disappeared in 1977 when there was the internal conflict”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A31 [“Meas Muth was the Division Commander, Dim (from Prey Veng Province) was his deputy and Chhan was a member”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 [“In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander and Nget was a member”]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A4, 5, 8, 12 ["Dim was who was from Sector 22. He was responsible for the spearhead east of Phnom Penh with Regiment 52 (152) [...] A5: Dim went to Kampong Som before Sam and me. In Kampong Som, Dim was Division 164 Deputy Commander [...] A8: Not all Regiment 52 personnel were sent to Kampong Som [...] A12: When Dim was sent to Kampong Som for a while, he came back to mobilise his regiment's soldiers to Kampong Som with him [...] the capable soldiers were selected to work with Dim in Kampong Som in order to be merged into Division 164"]; D54/95 Khun Than WRI (Brother of Khun Doem or Khun Dim, Battalion 141, Regiment 140, Division 164), A20 ["They returned to villages in Sector 22 in order to investigate the background of the soldiers who had been sent from Sector 22 to Kampong Som with him"]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A5 ["Dim became the deputy of Meas Mut. He was in charge of military commanding in Division 164"]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A19 ["However, after Division 164 had been mustered, he became a military commander and the deputy of Meas Mut"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A66 ["They were all under Meas Muth. For instance, Nget was Meas Muth's deputy. Dim was under Meas Muth at the division level. Chhan was also at the division level. Yan was a regimental chairman. Sokh was division medical chairman"]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 ["Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut"]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A10; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A20; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50; D54/51 Meas Voeun (Svay Voeun) WRI, A12.

611 See, e.g., D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15, 66 ["In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander [...] A66: He declared that he had been a Division 164 Commander since the formation of the unit. I saw him in the meeting when the three units were merged"]; D54/109 Sao Sam WRI, A26 ["Meas Muth was in charge of the autonomous division unit number 164 in Kampong Som"]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A44 ["Meas Muth was the superior. Meas Muth commanded both the Navy and the Army in the Zone"]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A14 ["They worked together, but Meas Muth was the commander of the division, and Dim was his deputy"]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A129 ["Ta Mut [...] I heard that he commanded the division in Kampong Som. He was Ta Mok's son-in-law"]; D59/2.16a Sim Ny (Soem Ny) DC-Cam Statement, EN 01332593, KH 00735591 ["Q: Did Ta Muth supervise everything? A: He supervised both units on land and the water"]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A16 ["Meas Muth had the authority to make arrests and punish civilians, soldiers and soldiers' family members who stayed in the area controlled by Division 164"]; D98/1.2.22 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 30 Mar 2009, 14.17.05 ["The commander of this division was Meas Muth"]; D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 09.43.43-9.47.20, 11.21.42-11.22.18; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A6; D54/50 Meas Voeun (Svay Voeun) WRI, A22; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A27, 36; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A26; D114/128 Ung Ren WRI, A17, 19; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A47; D54/24.1 Pak Sok DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978566, KH 00955492; D59/1/4.21 Uk Sokh DC-Cam Statement, EN 01070618, KH 00930598.

612 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249694, KH 00741992 ["The command committee of the 3rd division included: Chhan – Division Commander, he was in command during the Mayaguez Incident but was in Kampong Som and Ream. Saroeun, Deputy Commander. Meas Mut, Political Officer. Nhan, Member of the Committee for Logistics. Lon, Chief of Logistics"], EN 00249698-99, KH 00742002-03 ["The 3rd Division was re-designated the 164th Division [...] The composition of the Division Command Committee remained the same"].

613 D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575529, FR 00507699, KH 00160069; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 00160145 ["M-164" in Khmer, "Office 164" in the English translation]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A22, 27-29 [Commenting the table of statistics in D1.3.5.3: "The letter "M" was the Office of 164 [...] A27: As I knew it, M-164 was the Office 164 [...] A28-29: M-164 was the Office of the commissar [...] located in Kampong Som"]; D114/102 Em Sarin WRI, A14 ["When I met Kheng, I asked him if he was a base person, but he said he was not, he was from Office 164 in Kampong Som"]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A24 ["I guess that M-164 was the division's head office, where many sections such as inventory, documentation, courier, and communication sections were located"].

614 D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A62 ["Division Headquarters was located in Kampong Som and was called the 'Internal Office'"]; D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A18 [Commander, Inner Office Telephone Section, Division 164: "Q: Can you describe the place where you stayed with Meas Mut [...] A18: That place was called Inner Office of Division 164"].

615 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950654, KH 00160116 [mentions "Division Office"]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950656 ["Division Office"];

D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A36 ["During the period of Democratic Kampuchea, they called the Headquarters the 'Office'"]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A17 ["Office 164 was the Division office [...] staff members were tasked with managing the communication system to the islands, daily commands to the radar, reports, forward commands to the islands and Bokor Mountain [...] tasked with managing all documents of the division"]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A7 ["that office was called Ta Mut's office"]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A331 ["I met him in Kampong Som at Office 04, the office of Division 164"].

616 See, e.g., D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A62 ["Division Headquarters was located in Kampong Som"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A29 ["The Office of the commissar located in Kampong Som"]; D54/44 Lon Seng (Long Sen) WRI, A23.

617 D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A5-7 ["At the time, Meas Mut was living at a place near Phsar Leu Market, and the headquarters of Division 3 was also there. Meas Mut's house was 150 metres east of Phsar Leu Market. At the time the divisional headquarters and the divisional commander's house were together. Commanders of each regiment came to join meetings there every month on the 10th, 20th, and 30th days of each month [...] A6: We grew vegetables at a farm west of Phsar Leu Market, and that farm was not far from Meas Mut's house which was situated east of the market [...] A7: Meas Mut was staying at that house because at that time the house was a large brick one for him to stay and work"]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A8, 25 ["I only knew that the first office was located next to Phsar Leu Market. That office was a brick house and Meas Mut stayed in that office as well [...] A25: Division 164 was created and it was operated from Phsar Leu to Ream"]; D54/48.3 Map of Kampong Som as marked by Em Sun, KH 00969463 [indicating the Division headquarters close to Phsar Leu market, as referred to in D54/48, A46]; D54/24.1 Pak Sokh DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978575, KH 00955506 ["Q: Was the Division head quarter locating in Ream at that time? A: It was in Kampong Som [...] Ta Mut stayed near the big market [of Kampong Som]"]; D54/93 Yem Sam On WRI, A66 ["Did you know where the Division 3 Office was located? It was located near an old cinema in Kampong Som on the street from the sea"]; D54/45 Lon Seng (Long Sen) WRI, A27 ["The Headquarters of Division 164 was located near Leu Market"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974093, KH 00926538 ["The division base was located on a high hill at Phsar Leu market to the west of a hospital"].

618 D54/72.2 Tourist Map of Sihanouk City as marked by Mao Mut [where she circled the location of the Inner office, which is south of Phsar Leu and north east of the Sokha Hotel]; D54/72 Mao Mut WRI, under A26, Investigator's comments ["The witness said that there were four ways to go into the internal office of Division 164 according to her memory. If we travelled from Phsar Leu market, before we arrived at the corner near the hospital, there were two ways to enter. If we leave from the hospital to the Two Lions Circle, there were other two ways to enter. One was the wide road and another one was a narrow road not far from Two Lions Circle"]. Mao Mut explained that Chinese guests as well as Meas Muth's wife were staying at the Sokha Hotel until she died in 1976, but not Meas Muth: D54/71 Mao Mut WRI, A2-3, 7, 10-11, 18, 20 ["When Meas Mut brought Yeay Khom to Kampong Som, Meas Mut took Yeay Khom to stay at Sokha Hotel [...] A3: Sokha Hotel belonged to Division 164 [...] A7: Who were the guests who always came to stay at the guesthouse at the Sokha Hotel? [...] A10: I stayed and worked at Sokha guesthouse for about half a year until Yeay Khom passed away; then Ta Mut brought me from the guesthouse to live with him [...] A11: A short while before I left that place, that place was no longer been used for Chinese guests to stay. They transformed that place to be used only for various celebrations [...] Q: Can you describe the place where you stayed with Meas Mut after you left Sokha Guesthouse? A18: That place was called Inner Office of Division 164. If you travel from Phsar Leu Market to the Two-Lions Circle, when you arrive at the curve you can turn right at the major road-crossing and after about 500 metres, you will reach the location of the division's Inner Office [...] Q: What was the function of that Inner Office of Division 164? A20: It was the house where Meas Mut stayed"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A36, 46, 66 ["It [Division 164 Headquarters] was located south of Kampong Som Market" [...] A46: His office was located south of Kampong Som Market [...] Q: Since you met Meas Mut two times a year, how could you know that the office of Meas Mut was located south of Kampong Som Market? A66: I knew it through Han and Saroeun"]; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A19 ["Q: Do you know where the headquarters of Division 3/164 was located? A19: I still can remember that. You travelled from Ou Chheuteal Beach to where the statue of a lion and a lioness were. A road headed in a northerly direction reached the headquarters of the division, which was located along the road"]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A4-5 [Witness explained that in late 1975 he accompanied a division messenger to Meas Muth's residence near a pond close to the lion statue]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A10 ["In late 1978, my workplace was near his office in Kampong Som. My workplace was at the site of the present Sokha Hotel, which at that time was known as the Sokha Guesthouse. From there I could see the headquarters of Meas Mut"]; D114/79 Kang

- Sum WRI, A125 ["Q: Do you know the name of the Seven-Story hotel? A125: It is called the Royal Residence. It is also called Sokha Hotel"].
- 619 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A20, 28 ["Q: What was the function of that Inner Office of Division 164? A20: It was the house where Meas Mut stayed [...] A28: There were different buildings in the compound of the Inner Office. At that site there were a dining hall, Meas Mut's house, living quarters for messengers and others, a telegraph office, and a broadcasting office"]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A3 ["Meas Mut's command office and the house he was staying were around two kilometres away from Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. Meas Mut's house was at his working office"]; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A60 ["I went to his house. It was located at Ou Ti Bram; it was called Ptah Khieu, [meaning blue house]. I transported watermelons for him"].
- 620 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950654-55, KH 00160116-18 [indicates a total number of Division Office military workers of 319, including 50 messengers and 164 children –although the addition of each figure gives a total of 314]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950656-57, KH 00160121-23 [The total amounts to 85 persons at the Division Office but data / details look to be missing and the huge difference with the month before is unexplained]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 00160145-47 [mentions that 103 persons worked at M-164 during October 1976 but that one of them "disappeared from the unit" because he/she was "taken"]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575529-31, FR 00507699-701, KH 00160069-71 [Meas Muth's report mentions a total of 102 persons working at M-168]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A17 ["Office 164 was the Division office. The 103 people [of that office] were staff members who were tasked with managing the communication system to the islands, daily commands to the radar, reports, forward commands to the islands and Bokor Mountain. I think it was called K-1 or Office 1 which was tasked with managing all documents of the division"]; D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A8, 36 ["they [Ta Muth, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan] all stayed in the office compound, but in different houses. They had meals together in the kitchen and sometimes their messengers delivered their meals to them in their houses [...] Q: How many people worked in the Inner Office? A36: Approximately 30 to 40 people worked there"]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A24 ["I guess that M-164 was the division's head office, where many sections such as inventory, documentation, courier, and communication sections were located"]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A8 ["That office was a brick house and Meas Mut stayed in that office as well. According to my estimation there might be 100 staffs worked in different sections in that office"].
- 621 Keng was the Office 164 Chairman while Ieng was one of Meas Muth's personal drivers / bodyguards / messengers: D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A29, 31 ["Q: Who was the responsible person at that Inner Office? A29: Keng [...] A31: Ieng was Meas Mut's messenger"]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A10 ["I knew all his bodyguards and messengers. The office chairman of Meas Mut was Ta Keng"]; D114/102 Em Sarin WRI, A14 ["When I met Kheng, I asked him if he was a base person, but he said he was not, he was from Office 164 in Kampong Som"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A42 ["Q: Since you used to work with Meas Muth in 1973 or 1974, do you know the name of his driver? A42: His driver, the term we used was his messenger, was Ieng"]; Partially contra, D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A7 ["Ieng was the office chief, and that office was called Ta Mut's office"].
- 622 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A5, 7-8, 16 ["Q: Yesterday you said, 'I think only the messenger unit or the special unit took people to be killed; they could have been from the special unit or the messenger unit'. Why did you say this? A5: Those kinds of tasks were the special unit's work, because only the special unit was assigned to do this kind of work directly [...] A7: The special unit was like Meas Mut's bodyguards, like that. The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time. But the special unit was for guarding and manning the checkpoints surrounding his house and office [...] A8: It was a battalion [...] A16: Ta Norn was in the special unit for protecting the division. He had a checkpoint and a house which was located at the entrance to Ta Mut's house where Norn and his soldiers stayed. I never arrived there, so I do not know how many soldiers were there"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A93-95 ["Battalion 450 was stationed surrounding the division [...] A94: It was the defence unit [...] A95: Its main duty was defending Division Headquarters"]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A23 ["Later on, because there was no fighting on the battlefield any more, this unit 450 was assigned to be in charge of the security matters"]; D54/101 Ek Ny WRI, A10 ["the Special Unit of Ta Mut. They were like Ta Mut's bodyguards and also known as his right hand unit"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A11 ["Q: After 1975, when Division 3/164 was moved to Kampong Som, what was this Special Battalion assigned to do? A11: This Special Battalion was under the command of the Division Commander or Political Chairman. The Special Battalion was responsible for protecting leaders of the Division and arresting people who committed mistakes. At that time, the country was already in peacetime; the Special Battalion did not need to go to war. Therefore, the Special Battalion was instead used to protect leaders of the Division and to arrest those who committed mistakes”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A27 [“Battalion 450 was a Special Unit of Ta Mut”].

⁶²³ D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A24 [“The meeting was held at a former cinema, located near the Division Headquarters. Some meetings were held at the former cinema, and some were held at Ou Chheu Teal Beach. I attended the training meetings at the cinema twice, each of which lasted for a fortnight”]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A5 [“They arranged the marriage for us in the Kampong Som Cinema. The theatre was full of people, and they announced that there were 71 couples”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A63-64, 66 [“The training was conducted when we were gathered together. It was organised by Meas Muth. The instructors included Meas Muth and one of his deputies [...] A64: We studied at the Phsar Leu Cinema [...] A66: They instructed us in military procedures and discipline”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A102-104 [“Q: Where was the annual study session held? A102: It was held at Division 164 [...] Q: Was it held in the quarters of Division 164? A103: Yes, it was. It was located in Kampong Som. Q: Do you know its precise location? A104: It was located at the former cinema”], A99-108 [explains that the Division 164 annual study sessions held at the cinema were presided by Meas Muth who gave the lectures, and that all cadres attended it but no ordinary soldier; they lasted between 10 and 15 days]; D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A25 [“I know that the cinema in Kampong Som was the meeting place for Division 164. They used it for meetings and studying [...] I stood guard outside [...] I noticed mid-level cadres came to attend the meeting”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A14 [“I was sent to study politics at a market in Kampong Som City”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A120, 124-125 [“that time there was an assembly which the Division 164 leaders attended [...] A124: it took place in July 1975 [...] A125: It was organised in the cinema in Kampong Som”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A15-16 [“I was called to training by Ta Mut in Kampong Som. The training was held at the former Kampong Som Cinema, and the lectures were given by Ta Mut [...] A16: I joined the training by Ta Mut for half a month. During the training they recorded our biographies”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A91 [“Every time battalion/regiment commanders were called away to study at the cinema in Kampong Som, they disappeared and we never saw them return”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A6 [“Q: What kinds of meetings were held in Koh Rong Cinema [in Kampong Som]? A6: In 1975, the hall was used for political training and for political meetings of battalion chairmen/deputy chairmen, company chairmen/deputy chairmen, and lower-echelon chairmen - the so-called cadres. The meetings of regimental-level chairmen were held in Meas Mut's headquarters”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A214, 216 [“Who taught you about politics? A214: Meas Muth taught us, and Han, who was under Meas Muth [...] Q: When they provided political training, where did they conduct it? A216: Mostly it was held at Ou Chheu Teal Beach, Kampong Som Market, and Kampong Som Cinema”].

⁶²⁴ D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A216 [“Q: When they provided political training, where did they conduct it? A216: Mostly it was held at Ou Chheu Teal Beach, Kampong Som Market, and Kampong Som Cinema”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A14 [“When I first arrived in Kampong Som, I was sent to receive naval training there. Sometimes we were sent to receive naval training at Ou Chheu Teal”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A39-40 [“I never went to the Division Headquarters, but I used to attend meetings organised by Division 164 at Ou Chheu Teal Beach [...] Q: Was the training conducted often? A40: It was conducted annually”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 [“At that time, they started organizing the navy forces and then sent my group to the training at Ou Chheu Teal”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A31 [“There was only one building at Au Chheu Teal. They used it for political education sessions”].

⁶²⁵ See above, para. 213, fn. 591.

⁶²⁶ See, e.g., D2/8 Say Born WRI, A43 [“we arrived in Kampong Som, they told us that the Division 3 was changed to the Division 164, and Regiment 20 was changed to Regiment 161, Regiment 21 was changed to 162, and Regiment 22 was changed to 163”]; D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249698, KH 00742001-02 [“At the end of 1975, the 3rd division was re-designated the 164th division”], EN 00249699, KH 00742002 [“the regiments were re-designated. The 14th regiment became the 61st regiment, the 15th became the 62nd, and the 16th became the 63rd regiment”]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387279, KH 01496679 [“The 20th regiment became the 61st regiment. The 21st regiment became the 62D Regiment”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A21 [“I just remembered that there were Regiments 20, 21 and 22. Regiment 20 became Regiment 161. Regiment 21 became Regiment 162. Regiment 22 became Regiment 23 [163]”].

- ⁶²⁷ D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A43 [“they told us that the Division 3 was changed to the Division 164, and Regiment 20 was changed to Regiment 161, Regiment 21 was changed to 162, and Regiment 22 was changed to 163. But at that time they did not say the sound ‘100’ at the beginning, they only called the last two digits like 61, 62, and 63”]; D54/111 Sam Phin WRI, A6 [“Under Division 164, there were regiments 61, 62 and 63”]; D114/287 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A38 [“Unit 450 was an independent battalion. Its immediate connection was with the division. It had to attend the meetings along with Regiments 61, 62, and 63”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A28 [“When Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 in Kampong Som [...] Division 164 included Regiments 61, 62, 63 and 140. Regiments 61, 62, and 63 had the mission of coast and island defence. Regiment 140 was in charge of all vessels”]; D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A43.
- ⁶²⁸ D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249699, KH 00742002 [“The division maintained troop garrisons in the Kampong Som and Ream areas, as well as on Poulo Wai Island [...], Prins Island [...], Tang island, Rong Samlem Island, and Ses Island”]; D132.1.85 DK Report from Meas Muth to Son Sen (Brother 89), 5 Jan 1976 [discusses Division 164 military deployment on Koh Ses, Koh Thmey, Koh Sampauch, Koh Ream and the presence of Meas Muth at Koh Rong and Koh Rong Krao at the time of the report]; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A14, 21 [“Two companies of Battalion 386 and two companies of Division 3 stayed together on Koh Ses Island [...] A21: The soldiers from the sector’s army [37] and Division 3 were sent to Koh Polou Wai Island, Koh Polou Wai Thmei (New Polou Wai) Island, Koh Polou Wai Chas (Old Polou Wai) Island, Koh Rong Sanloem, Koh Rong Thom (Big Rong) Island, Koh M’noas Island, and Koh Tang Island. The rest of the forces were stationed on the mainland and worked on the naval boats”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A28 [“Regiments 61, 62, and 63 had the mission of coast and island defence”]; D114/286 Heang Ret WRI A16 [This Bokor Mountain unit “was tasked with managing the maritime radar system”].
- ⁶²⁹ D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A18-19 [“In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established [...] A19: Moeun Mon [...] the commander of a company, and Heng Hok was the commander of another company of Battalion 480. They told me that Division 3 had been changed to Division 164, and that a new naval brigade, Brigade 140, had also been established”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“140th Naval Regiment. In August 1975, the 164th (3rd) division created the 140th naval regiment. The Regiment had two sections, a naval section and a naval infantry section”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A38 [“In 1976, they created Regiment 140 to be a navy unit, and Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were sent to the islands”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 [“At the end of the political study, around January or February 1976, Meas Muth announced the forming of the Navy Forces called Regiment 140”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A16 [“At that time when they organized the marine forces, they selected troops from the Regiments 61, 62, and 63 of the Division 164, and together with another regiment from the East Zone, which was called the Unit 140, they organized them as the Unit 140”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968419, KH 00926644 [“sometime after the liberation, they established a regiment for the Navy, called Regiment 140”]; D54/38.1 Lun Seng DC-Cam Statement, EN 01072382, KH 00967309 [“His division was in overall charge, and the battleship unit was part of it. It was called Regiment 140”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A36 [“He told me he was in the navy unit 140”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387328, KH 00742578 [“the division also had a subordinate 140th naval regiment”].
- ⁶³⁰ D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A14-15 [“As for the question on who presided over the regular meetings between the regiment commanders and the Special Battalion, the answer is that it was the Commander of Division 3/164 [...] A15: It was Meas Mut”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A20 [“I never saw any person with this kind of character and attitude like Ta Mut. He was very strict. He always called the commanders of the regiments and battalions to his place to receive his order. Those battalion and regiment commanders understood very well what to do to follow Ta Mut’s order. If they could not execute his order successfully, they would definitely have problem”]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A26, A28 [About the announcement by Meas Muth that the East Zone soldiers were bad-element soldiers: “The announcement was made in a special meeting where only certain battalion and regiment leaders were selected to attend [...] A28: The chief of the division Meas Mut advised the regiment commanders to obtain information on historical backgrounds of the East Zone soldiers from their hometowns”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A16-17 [“Sometimes Ta Dim chaired the meetings, and sometimes Ta Mut chaired the meetings [...] A17: Sometimes, the meetings were plenary meetings attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164”]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A5 [At the time the divisional headquarters and the divisional commander’s house were together. Commanders of each regiment came to join meetings there every month on the 10th, 20th, and 30th days of each month”].

631 For example, two Battalions in Regiment 62, had four companies: D4.1.759 Kong Chay US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387269, KH 00742580 [“After the reorganization, the battalion’s companies were renumbered as the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th, respectively”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329 [“The 7th, 8th, and 9th companies were infantry companies, and the 10th was a composite company with special operations, artillery, communications and transport platoons”]; D114/127 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A13 [“Under Regiment 62 was Battalion 621. Under this battalion there were four companies designated 15, 16, 17 and 18”]; D220/1.2.1 Ou Kim alias Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 01375020, KH 01102508 [“There were four companies”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A21 [“Koh Ver Island was small. Therefore, only 12 soldiers were stationed there. A company comprised of 120 soldiers was based at Koh Pring Island”].

632 For example, D4.1.759 Mao Rann US POW/MIA Statement EN 00387267 [In Battalion 410/621, “The 8th company was organized into the 21st, 22D, and 23rd platoons [...] The 9th company had subordinate 24th, 25th and 26th platoons [...] The 10th company had subordinate 28th, 29th, and 30th platoons”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742580 [“Each company had four platoons, and each platoon had four squads”].

633 D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A133 [“Usually the plans came from the company down to the platoon [50-person unit], and the platoon told all the squad [group] leaders”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A38 [A squad had 15 soldiers]; D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A4 [“I was the chief of the 12-member military squad”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A28-29 [“There were three companies; in each company, there were three platoons [...] A29: There were three squads [12 people] in each platoon”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742596 [“Each regiment had three battalions, each battalion had three companies, and each company had three platoons and one sapper”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A32 [“Q: You stated that Division 164 had personnel strength between 7,000 and 9,000. How did you base that estimate? A32: My estimate is based on the number of soldiers in each regiment which consisted of four battalions”].

634 D114/130 Iem Phong WRI, A39, 41-42 [“There were between 10 and 12 people in a squad. In a fifty-member unit, there were three squads; and in a company, there were three fifty-member units [...] A41: three hundred-member companies equal a battalion [...] A42: A hundred-member unit? Three hundred-member units equal to a battalion, and three battalions equal to a regiment”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A29 [“There were three squads in each platoon”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462 [“The platoons were divided into three 12-man squads”].

635 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 13155 [Sek Phieng, Battalion 613 Deputy Secretary], 8618 [Soeng Krin alias Nguon, Company Commander, Battalion 611]; D4.1.1070 Soeng Krin alias Nguon S-21-Confession; D1.3.10.1 List of People Who are Implicated in the Enemy’s Confessions, EN 01408058-60, KH 00161751-53 [listing Battalion 611 in Regiment 161, Division 164]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A16-17, 23 [“They removed me from artillery and assigned me to take charge of an existing battalion at Stung Hav [...] A17: Battalion 612 [...] A23: In Battalion 612, the jobs included stone drilling, stone breaking, dragging stone to shield the worksite and other work”]; D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A38 [“There were four battalions in Regiment 61. Only three battalions were relocated to Stueng Hav. I do not know about the other battalion. But for my battalion, we went to take technical classes. The numerical designation of my battalion was 412 or 312. I am not sure” (emphasis added)].

636 D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A43 [“In Regiment 62, there were Battalions 621, 622 and 623”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3 [“I was in Battalion 623 during that time”]; D114/57 Som Soam alias Sam Ket WRI, A3 [“I was a member of Regiment 21, Battalion 623. Later, Regiment 21 was renamed Regiment 62”]; D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A2 [“I was in Regiment 21 and Battalion 623”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742597 [“The 62D Regiment [...] was divided into three battalions numbered 21, 22 and 23”]; D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968386, KH 00926614 [“Q: 621, 622, and 623—were there only three [...] within the Regiment? A: Another one was 624”]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 4159 [Nop Norn, Battalion 621 Secretary]; D114/126 Ou Kim WRI, A7 [“I worked in Company 15 commanded by Han, in Battalion 621, Regiment 62”]; D54/78 Nop Hal WRI, A8, 9, 14 [“I went to live in Battalion 624 under Regiment 62. [...] At that time I did not know clearly whether Battalion 621 or 623 was sent to carry out the capture [...] Q: Am I correct to say that when you talked about Battalions 621, 622, 623 and 624, you were referring to Regiment 62 of Division 164? A9: Yes, you are correct. [...] A14: I was in Battalion 622, Regiment 62. My battalion had two boats; in Battalion 621, there were two boats; in Battalion 623, there was one boat”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A44 [indicated that Battalions 622 and 623 originated from Sector 33].

637 D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A52 [“In Regiment 63, there were Battalions 31, 32, 33 (631, 632, 633). Regiment 62 included Battalions 621, 622, 623”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3 [“Vet was the Battalion 631 Chairman”]; D54/41 Or Saran (Ou Sarann) WRI, A16, 20 [“I was in Company 3, Battalion 631 of Regiment 63. [...] A20: I am not sure whether Battalion 632 or Battalion 633 was assigned to replace my battalion at Kang Keng”]; D1.3.1.2 Kung Kien alias Oeng Vet S-21 Confession, 7 May 1977 [Secretary of Battalion 631]; D114/230.1.1 OCJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 2368 [Kung Kien alias Eung or Oeng Vet, Battalion 631].

638 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 [“Under that Regiment 140, they organized 4 battalions which included Battalion 141, 142, 143, and 144”]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A10 [“they selected a few hundred soldiers from each regiment to form Regiment 140 to take over the ships. There were four battalions including battalions 141, 142, 143, and 144”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A2 [“Moeun was the commander of Battalion 141 in Regiment 140 of the Navy Forces”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A29, 32 [“I was in Regiment 140, which consisted of Battalions, 42, 43, and 44. I was in Battalion 44. [...] A32: My estimate is based on the number of soldiers in each regiment which consisted of four battalions. Regiment 140 had 1,400 soldiers”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A28-29 [“[Kun Dim] was from Battalion 141 of Regiment 140. He came from Sector 22 of the East Zone, as Ta Dim did. [...] A29: [...] he was in Battalion 141; and I was in Battalion 142 under the command of Sang”]; D114/230.1.1 OCJ S-21 Prisoner List, Nos 3223 [Kun Dim, Battalion 141 Deputy Secretary], 3994 [Kung Sean alias San, Battalion 142 Secretary]; D54/45 Lon Seng WRI, A24 [“The regiments and battalions started with the same first two numbers. For example, in Regiment 140, there were Battalions 141, 142, 143”]; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A21 [“Near the port, there was the headquarters of Regiment 140, and along the road near the beach, there were also the bases of Battalions 141 and 142. I do not remember clearly the location of Battalions 143 and 144”].

639 D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A13 [“Battalion 165 referred to my battalion. It was called a special battalion of the division. Battalion 166 was an artillery battalion. Battalion 167 was a women battalion [...] Battalions 165 to 170 were all independent battalions. Battalion 168 was the transportation unit. Battalion 169 was a hospital unit. Battalion 170 was a lathe unit. I might mistake Battalion 168 for Battalion 169”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 [“I know that Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were under Division 164. I think Battalion 165 was the special battalion, but I am not sure. Battalion 166 was in charge of the artillery. Battalion 167 was my battalion. Battalion 168 was likely in charge of transportation. Battalion 169 was responsible for the medical section and Regiment 140 was responsible for ships. I do not remember what Battalion 170 was responsible for”]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976.

640 See, e.g., D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 11.03.07-11.06.59 [“orders came down in hierarchical order from top to the bottom, division to regiment, and regiment to battalion, and then it was the soldiers who implemented the orders”]; D114/25 Ou Dav WRI, A10 [“When we captured the Thai fishing boat, for example, as a squad commander in a platoon, I received the order from the company commander, who received the order from the battalion commander. He in turn received the order from the regiment commander, who received the order from the division commander”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A25 [“If we saw a boat or ship in our territorial waters, we would report it to the battalion via radio. Then the headquarters of the battalion would report it to the regiment. The regiment would report to the division. Then the division issued orders on what we should do with the boat or vessel and the people captured. The battalion would the order us either to kill those who were captured right there on the sea or bring them to the island”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A54, 60.

641 D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, 5 Dec 2001, EN 00249699, KH 00742002-03 [“At the end of 1975, the 3rd division was re-designated the 164th division [...] At the completion of the reorganization, the 164th Division had approximately twelve thousand troops” (emphasis added)]; D22.2.180 Phnom Penh Post, Meas Muth: ‘We were in a cage like today’, 20 Jul-2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 [“How many people were in your division? Muth: Probably over 10,000”]. Witness Chet Bunna mentioned 18,000 troops but he likely included the civilians as well in that number: D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A10 [“I think Meas Muth’s position was a deputy of the General Staff at that time. His work and responsibility along with 18 thousands troops under his command reflected that position. Those troops included the vessel units, the infantry combat units, the transportation units, and other units. Under his control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative”]. See also D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN

00217564 ["The whole of Division 164 was in excess of 10,000"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A23, 32 [estimate the total number of Division 164 to 7,000 to 9,000 soldiers, including 1,400 for Regiment 140].

D22.2.2 Division 164 Statistical Report, May 1976, EN 00950653, KH 00160102.

D22.2.4 Division 164 Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118.

D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [listing 8,254 troops, not including 633 troops broken down into 400 disabled soldiers and children at Chamkar Daung, 176 combatants and cadres at a brick kiln, and 57 other disabled soldiers].

D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989.

D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071; This document was authenticated by Em Sun: D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A25 ["I believe that this document [D22.2.6] was prepared for Meas Mut; thus, Meas Mut wrote his name on this document. I can recognise Meas Mut's handwriting"].

D1.3.30.9 Division 164 Statistical Report, Mar 1977, EN 00183956. See also D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A23 ["I can provide an estimated number between 7,000 and 9,000, including navy forces"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A29 ["Division 164 was a full division with approximately 7,000 to 8,000 personnel"].

Despite the fact that the figures in the various tables seem to contain some mistakes as the result obtained does not always reflect a mere addition (see, e.g., D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575528, KH 00160068 ["The reason the number is higher was that the unit did not count all the people"]). These are the totals as reported by Meas Muth or his Division Committee: D22.2.4 Division 164 Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Regiment 61: 1,496; Regiment 62: 1,784; Regiment 63: 1,599; Regiment 140: 1,911]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Regiment 61: 1,487; Regiment 62: 1,764; Regiment 63: 1,599; Regiment 140: 1,192 (not including 400 disabled soldiers and children at Chamkar Daung, 176 combatants and cadres at a brick kiln, and 57 other disabled soldiers)]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [Regiment 61: 1,460; Regiment 62: 1,727; Regiment 63: 1,565; Regiment 140: 1,154]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Regiment 61: 1,449; Regiment 62: 1,703; Regiment 63: 1,566; Regiment 140: 1,197].

D22.2.4 Division 164 Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 165: 265; Battalion 166: 243; Female Battalion 167: 391; Battalion 168: 729; Battalion 169: 380; Battalion 170: 320]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 165: 254; Battalion 166: 241; Female Battalion 167: 391; Battalion 168: 729; Battalion 169: 379; Battalion 170: 225 (not including 400 disabled soldiers and children at Chamkar Daung, 176 combatants and cadres at a brick kiln, and 57 other disabled soldiers)]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [Battalion 165: 265; Battalion 166: 241; Female Battalion 167: 434; Battalion 168: 813; Battalion 169: 305; Battalion 170: 320]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 165: 265; Battalion 166: 241; Female Battalion 167: 429; Battalion 168: 841, Battalion 169: 320; Battalion 170: 347]. In addition, the Bokor Unit and Unit 47 counted nearly 150 soldiers together.

D1.3.30.9 DK Military Report, 7 Apr 1977, EN 00183956 [Division 703 (5,369 soldiers), Division 310 (6,096 soldiers), Division 450 (5,259 soldiers), Division 170 (5,943 soldiers), Division 690 (4,906 soldiers), Division 502 (5,543 soldiers), Division 801 (5,284 soldiers), Division 9[2]0 (3,528 soldiers)]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 ["We also knew that the Navy Forces Division, which was under Meas Muth's command, was the biggest division among the 25 divisions of the Khmer Rouge"].

See para. 342, which mentions that 300 to 720 soldiers were purged upon their release from Vietnam.

See VIII.A.3 Categories of Bad and Affiliated Elements Within Division 164 that Were Purged. See also the number of people who "disappeared" from the various regiments, battalions and units of Division 164 according to the four tables of statistics that survived (at a period where the purges were not the most important): D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [198 soldiers "disappeared from the units" in July 1976 alone, including 6 "dead", 6 "escaped" and 186 "withdrawn" (a synonym for "removed" or "purged"), mostly from Regiment 140 (emphasis added)]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [38 added in Regiment 63 alone; other statistics might be missing as well as the total]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [37 Division 164 soldiers "disappeared from the units", including 5 "dead", 3 "escaped" and 29 "taken" (emphasis added)]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [87 soldiers were "absent from the units", including 2 who were reported deceased and 85 "retire[d]" (emphasis added)].

- 653 D22.2.4 Division 164 Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [198 soldiers “disappeared from the units” in July 1976 alone, including 6 “dead”, 6 “escaped” and 186 “withdrawn” (a synonym for “removed” or “purged”), mostly from Regiment 140 (emphasis added)]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [20 soldiers added (3 to Battalion 167, 7 to Battalion 169 and 10 to the Division Office; the total erroneously mentions “10”]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [59 soldiers added]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [96 soldiers were added, 74 apparently due to previous errors of calculation].
- 654 D98/1.2.22 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 2 Mar 2012, 14.17.05-14.20.23 [“Division 164, was meant to protect waters, borders, and any matters relevant to the maritime within the territory of Cambodia”], 14.21.58-14.25.09 [“Division 164 was embedded with the jurisdiction to protect waters –maritime border–exclusively”]; D114/297.1.21 Pak Sok, T. 5 Jan 2016, 13.35.04–13.37.29 [“the soldiers were obliged to protect the territory of the borders at sea”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A11 [“Sometimes the regiment commander was the announcer during the assembly. During the assembly they also spoke about defending the sea and the maritime borders which was about 400 kilometers long, and about defending the nearly 200 islands of Cambodia”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A114 [“Q: Where was the Navy? A114: It was stationed at Kampong Som Market, Ream, Kang Keng Airport and on the archipelago of over 200 islands”]; D114/105 Koch Tuy WRI, A30 [mentions various islands, including some that are less known: Koh Tang, Koh Rong Krao, Koh Rong Khnong, Koh M’noas, Koh Yar, Koh Sali, Koh Thmei and Koh Pring]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeing WRI, A34 [“Q: Did they tell you why they sent the division to Kampong Som? A34: They told us that we were sent to defend the waters, land and islands. Waters referred to the sea”].
- 655 D114/49 Prum Ngon WRI, A15 [“Division 164 was responsible for the sea area”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“The territory under Meas Mut’s control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth’s control”]; D114/84 Ek Sophal WRI, A7, 11, 19 [“Q: Kampong Som, Koh Thmei Island, and Koh Seh Island were under Division 164’s command [...] Is that correct? A7: Yes, it is [...] A11: Division 164 was in charge at that time. They sent troops to control the islands [...] A19: Division 164 was responsible for ships and warships”]; D114/112 Im Sokhan WRI, A19 [The Khmer Rouge’s Navy forces had three regiments namely Regiments 61, 62, and 63. Units under these regiments were spread out and stationed on all islands in Cambodian territorial waters”]; D54/52 Meas Voeun alias Svay Voeun WRI, A12 [“Meas Mut was responsible for protecting the sea territory and Cambodian territorial waters”]; D54/51 Meas Voeun alias Svay Voeun WRI, A17 [“The navy controlled the mainland from Veal Renh to Kampong Som”]; D114/53 Uk Sok WRI, A100-101, 110, 250, 252 [“Q: Where was the children’s unit located at that time? [...] A100: In Pu Thoeung Village [...] A101: It was about three to four kilometres from Kang Keng airport [...] Q: Was your unit part of the large children’s unit or part of a cooperative? A110: It was part of the cooperative called Pu Thoeung cooperative [...] Q: Was Division 3 in charge of all worksites near your cooperative? A250: Yes, all the soldiers were members of that division [...] Q: Do you know that Division 3 was changed to Division 164? A252: Yes, I know. It was the same division”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A14-15 [“Q: You have identified the location of a brick kiln near Kang Keng Airport along the way to Ream. What do you know about that place? A14: It was a Division 164 labour site [...] A15: [...] the Commander of Division 164, Meas Muth, inspected the work there”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A83 [“There was only 164 in Kampong Som Province”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A17, 19-20, 23 [“We worked in the vicinity of Kang Keng air field and near Teuk Sap [...] A19: Brother Than was the commander of my Battalion 20. I did not know the commander of Battalion 21. Both battalions were subordinate to Division 164 [...] A20: during the meeting the commander announced that our unit was under the control of the division [...] A23: [...] it was Angkar’s plan to send me to Steung Hav”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A72, 166 [“Q: Where was the production unit based? A72: It was based about three kilometres from the meeting place at Kang Keng Airport, in Pra Bok Village [...] Q: Was the production unit a part of Division 164? A166: Yes, it was”]; D114/15 Sok Vanna (Suos Vanna) WRI, A28 [“To my understanding, all ships and seamen stationed on islands were under the command of Meas Mut”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A16 [“as a commander of a marine division, Meas Mut was responsible for dealing with issues related to water borders”]; D54/42.1 Heng Viech DC-Cam Statement, EN 00983447, KH 00967571.
- 656 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes (General Staff), 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341 [“Comrade Muth [...] Food Production situation [...] 1,600 hectares of heavy rice has been transplanted by both the army and the people; the total force of both troops and people was 17,000”]. At the very same period of the second half of 1976, Meas Muth reported to Son Sen that the number of Division 164 soldiers was 8,716 in July 1976, 8,887 in August 1976, 8,611 in October 1976, and 8,685 in November 1976 (see above, para. 219, fns 643-646). Therefore it can be deducted that the number of civilians under the authority of Meas Muth in around September 1976 was above 8,000 (from 8,113 in August 1976 to 8,389 in October 1976); D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes (Division 164 cadres and Son Sen), 9 Sep 1976, EN 00657355 [A cadre – Meas Muth or his deputy- reporting about activities of Division 164 requested 5,000 sets of clothes for the people and 7,000 sets for the soldiers (see IV-Miscellaneous), which gives a mere indication that the civilians were well above 5,000]; Witness Chet Bunna mentioned there were 18,000 “troops” in Division 164 (likely encompassing both military and civilians), a number very close to the 17,000 people reported by Meas Muth to Son Sen. A global number of 18,000 people under the authority would be distributed nearly equally between soldiers (a little less than 9,000 according to the official statistics in late 1976) and civilians (a little more than 9,000): D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A10 [“I think Meas Muth’s position was a deputy of the General Staff at that time. His work and responsibility along with 18 thousands troops under his command reflected that position. Those troops included the vessel units, the infantry combat units, the transportation units, and other units. Under his control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative”].

657 See, e.g., D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 [“The territory under Meas Muth’s control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth’s control [...] A10: Under his [Meas Muth] control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative”]; D54/89 Kuy Nen WRI, A6, 9 [mentions Babos and Put Thoeung cooperatives]; D54/90 Kuy Nen WRI, A2 [“Babos Cooperative and Pu Thoeung Cooperative were here, and there were thousands of people in these two cooperatives including family members of the soldiers”]; D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A14; D114/33 Hem Ang WRI, A16-17.

658 D114/307.6 Meas Muth VOA Interview, Tribunal Suspect Find Court’s Role ‘Limited’, 6 Oct 2011, EN 00746176, KH 01380588, FR 01529701 [“In fact, firstly, there were no civilians at my place. Secondly, there were only soldiers and their families. Therefore, there was no forced labor in my unit”].

659 D114/94 Sam Vuthy WRI, A19, 38, 44, 57 [Phnom Penh evacuee explaining that he and 30 other “new people” were registered on a list to be assigned to work in a Kampong Som mobile unit in 1977; he worked at the Put Thoeung cooperative in Bet Trang]; D114/38 Chum Roem (Chea Roem) WRI, A7, 20-21, 27 [explains that an entire female unit was transferred from Kampong Som salt fields to Kampong Som in about 1977 to work in a rubber plantation close to Stung Hav]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A29 [explains that “there was a very small number of soldiers” who were married in Division 164 and that there was a rule applicable until 1978 stating that among Division 164 soldiers “no one under the age of 25 years-old was allowed to get married”; for those already married, “they were allowed to bring their wives from their birth village” but they were sent to live in the cooperative among the ordinary people”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A89-90, 92, 100 [“Later the troops were demobilised and our unit [Battalion 387 from Sector 37] was transformed into a production unit tasked with farming, raising rice field dykes, and digging canals. Q: Why did they demobilise your unit? A90: They accused us of being enemy links because our battalion/regimental commanders had all been arrested and shot dead [...] A92: In fact, the division, thousands of troops, was demobilised. The demobilised troops were assigned to work in different production units and were sent to different work spearheads [...] A93: The order clearly was issued by Ta Muth. Ta Muth’s men gathered us for a meeting and told us we would be sent to different worksites [...] Q: In which month or year did they accuse your group of being enemies? A100: At the end of 1977, and the entire former division was completely demobilised”] [emphasis added]; D114/117 Nav Sokhan alias Ken WRI, A56-62, 235-331 [Base woman of Nheang Nhang commune, Tram Kak District, Southwest Zone transferred to Kampong Som in around September 1977 to work in a coconut plantation and being forcibly married]; D114/47 Tae Ry WRI, A15-19 [Cham family relocated from Koh Ses to Kampong Som where there were separated and worked in various locations].

660 D114/277.4 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 13 Jun 2016, 11.13.54-11.15.35 [“And I’d like to mention one independent sector of Kampong Som. The Kampong Som independent sector did not report through the Southwest Zone secretary. It had to make a direct report to 870 [...] although, physically, it was part of the Southwest Zone. So usually 164 had to report to the Standing Committee -- that is the Politburo of the Party”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A23, 28-30, 38 [“[Launh] was a leader in the autonomous sector [...] Q: In your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia, you said that Kampong Som was an autonomous sector. When was this autonomous sector created? How was it created? A28: As far as I knew, the central government gave direct orders to the autonomous sector, and no-one else could give orders to this sector. Q: Who gave direct orders to the autonomous sector? A29: I just knew only the Centre did. I came to know this during a meeting when they said that Kampong Som was an autonomous sector. Q: Was that meeting held in your regiment? A30: I came to know that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because I joined a meeting in the regiment and the internal meeting of Party members. Workers at the rubber plantation, workers at the port, and soldiers in Kampong Som all knew that Kampong Som sector was an autonomous sector because this information was widely disseminated [...] Q: Who was the instructor for the political education course? A38: Division Secretary Meas Muth"; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A10 ["Brother Muth was the secretary of Division 164, which was the sea division, and a special sector secretary in Kampong Som. There were some villages around Kampong Som Port and there was a separate port committee. Both the villages and the port were under the control of Brother Muth"] [emphasis added]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9-10 ["The territory under Meas Muth's control stretched from Teuk Sap through Kang Keng, Ream, and Kampong Som, and all the islands in the sea. These areas were called the autonomous areas which were under Meas Muth's control [...] A10: Under his [Meas Muth] control, there were also some civilian cooperatives including Thmar Thom Cooperative, Ou Mlou Cooperative, Lar Ed Cooperative, Smach Deng Cooperative, Put Thoeung Cooperative, and Ba-bos Cooperative"; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A199-200 ["at that time Meas Muth controlled all the autonomous areas in Kampong Som except the Kampong Som Port, because that belonged to the State and was under the control of a person named Krin. Q: Does that mean Kampong Som was an autonomous sector controlled by Meas Muth? A200: Yes"]; D22.1.10 FBIS, Vorn Vet's Speech, 16 Dec 1977, EN 00168355 ["you, Comrade Vice Premier Chen Yung-huei and the other Chinese comrades, have spent considerable physical energy touring many regions of Democratic Cambodia including the eastern, central, northern, northwestern, western and southwestern regions and the Kompong Som sector" (emphasis added); D64.1.37 FBIS, NCNA Correspondents Continue Cambodia Visit, 20 Dec 1978, EN 00169127 ["On 12 December the group of HSINHUA News Agency correspondents led by Comrade Li Nan, deputy director of the HSINHUA International News Department, started its visit to the southwestern region, the Kompong Som sector and Phnom Penh city [...] On 14 December the HSINHUA News Agency representatives visited the Kompong Som sector, including the old and new ports and a number of other sites"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963744-45 ["Q: Those uncles often visited Kampong Som during that regime, did they? A: Yes, because it was one of the autonomous sectors [...] Meas Muth was in charge military affairs and I don't know any administrative cadres because the autonomous sector had a different structure"]].

661 D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 09.47.20-09.50.18 ["the division was [...] within the military zone of Kampong Som [...] that military zone was actually located in the central army. It was division 164"]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A21 ["I was told that Division 164 was under Military Zone 7, an autonomous zone. As far as I know, Military Zone 7 covered Kampong Som Sector"]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A9 ["The division convened a meeting to declare changes from Division 3 to Division 164. They said that the division was the Central and General Commander's division, not under the zone as before, because Kampong Som was an autonomous zone, and it was called the Navy"]].

662 Witness Em Sun, a Division 3 cadre from Battalion 450 (Special Unit) was detached to the Port in April 1975 and placed under Krin's authority: D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A25 ["At first, my battalion was in Division 3, but we were sent to guard the workers at Kampong Som Port. Later, the port manager requested Division 3 to station my battalion at the port permanently"]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A3 [Around 25 April 1975: "When we arrived in Kampong Som, our Battalion 550 were ordered to be stationed at Kampong Som Port. Three days after we were stationed at that port, a 3,000-tonne Chinese cargo vessel which shipped husked rice entered. Later on Battalion 550 was assigned as the following: a company was ordered to stay guard at the port"]; D114/286 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A9, 20, 23-27 [Battalion 450 cadre in 1975: "Once we arrived at Kampong Som, we were instructed to settle in some important locations such as the Treasure and Kampong Som Port [...] A20: [...] For the port, they took workers to stay there, thus, I left this area to them to take charge [...] A23: [...] at this port, there were also units from Battalion 450 [...] there were many companies [...] A24: I was ordered by the higher rank cadres to transfer that place [the port] to the Port Management Unit [...] A25: At that time, they [the Centre] rearranged the plans, and they let the port take control. At that time, they assigned a Chief of the Port apart from the division [...] A26: Meas Muth could not assign the Chief of the Port. First, when the port administrative structure was not in place yet, soldiers were allowed to be based and protect the area. However, later the structure was in place. That's why the Chief of the Port was appointed. Q: How long did it take for the administrative structure to be set up? A27: It didn't take long. About two months after things were set up the Chinese ships started to dock at the port with goods"]. Contra D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A34 ["In Kampong Som, for military forces, there was only Division 164, but Port Authority had its own independent security forces"].

663 D4.1.931 Sakim Lmut WRI, A10-11 ["I know Krin from the Port Committee [...] A11: When I went to Kampong Som with the Commerce Section I was asked to interpret"]; D98/3.1.249 Sar Kimlomouth, T. 31 May 2012, 13.46.34-13.48.08 ["I believe that the commerce section and the port could have been inter-related"]; D114/195 Neak Khoeurn WRI, A5 ["Meas Mut was a military commander. When I worked at the port, I was not under the command of Meas Mut. The port was on one side, and the military was on the other side. The man in charge of the port was Ta Krin; however, I heard that the military commander was in fact Ta Mut"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A199 ["at that time Meas Muth controlled all the autonomous areas in Kampong Som except the Kampong Som Port, because that belonged to the State and was under the control of a person named Krin"]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A12 ["Thuch Rin was involved with the work at the port only. He did not get involved in work at the division or with the people"]; D114/217 Neak Khoeurn WRI, A32 ["Krin ruled only over the loading and unloading unit, the construction unit, the fleet unit and the hospital"]; D114/218 Sam Komnith alias Hut WRI, A18 ["Aok Krin was the chairperson of the port and Phou Saom was the vice chairperson of the port"]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A10-11 ["Q: What level was the control of that kerosene refinery under? A10: It was under the control of the Central. Meas Mut, Chea Krin, and Ta Launh were on the central committees in Kampong Som. Meas Mut was in charge of the military; Chea Krin was in charge of the port and the kerosene refinery, while Launh was responsible for fishery [...] A11: Meas Mut was the most senior chief; next after him were Chea Krin and Launh"]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A25 ["At first, my battalion was in Division 3, but we were sent to guard the workers at Kampong Som Port. Later, the port manager requested Division 3 to station my battalion at the port permanently"]; D125/143 Uong Thea WRI, EN 00239008 ["It was Ta Krin who was in charge of Commerce at Kampong Som port"]; D114/241 Chheng Cheang WRI, A40.

664 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A9, 15, 17-18 [After 18 April 1975: "I did not witness Meas Mut's arrival in Kampong Som; however, after having stayed at Kampong Som Port for a few days, I saw Aom Krin alias Thuch Rin, who had arrived at the port [...] Q: While you were staying at Kampong Som Port for one week, how many times did you report to Division 3? A15: At that time I did not report to Meas Mut, but to Aom Krin, who was in charge of Kampong Som Port [...] A17: After I came back from Koh Tang Island, I was placed under Krin's supervision again [...] A18: In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established, and my company, Company 2, was integrated into the port unit, under Krin's supervision"].

665 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A34, 37 ["Krin left Kampong Som Port to attend a study session in Phnom Penh for one week, and returned to Kampong Som on 15 February 1978. When he came back, he convened a meeting and told all the workers that he had been appointed as an ambassador to Hong Kong. Later, Krin left, and the person who replaced him was not from the port, but from Division 164 [...] A37: During the meeting on 15 February 1978, Krin introduced Pheap and Suong, both of whom were from Division 164" (emphasis added)]; D1.3.30.29 Interviews with Kampuchean Refugee at Thai-Cambodian Border, 25 Mar 1980, EN 00170746 ["Thuch Rin was also scared once when they decided to switch him from Chairman of Kompong Som Port to Hong Kong"]; D54/47.2 Telegram from Commerce Committee to Thuch Rin (Krin) and Phal Va alias Nath in Hong Kong, 27 Oct 1978, EN 00701958-59, KH 00076290-91, FR 00665451 [discusses the transfer of name and shares in the Hong Kong based Cambodian company Ren Fung from Oeng Sok to Thuch Rin alias Krin and from Phal Va alias Nat to someone else]; D98/3.1.249 Sar Kimlomouth, T. 31 May 2012, 15.39.47-15.48.15 [explains who Sok was and the circumstances of the transfer of shares to Krin, former Sea Ports committee: "Ren Fung was a company and there were Nat and Sok who were shareholders. And there was a transfer of share from one person to another. If it was the transfer from Nat to Krin, then Krin was the new shareholder, and Nat had nothing to do with the share anymore"], 15.52.04-15.55.14 [commented on another letter from the Commerce committee to Krin and Nat on 10 Dec 1978 by which Nat and Sok were recalled to Cambodia and their shares transferred to Krin]. See also the evidence of the imprisonment of Sok and his wife Nat in S-21: D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, EN 01222853, Nos 12795, 14849 [No. 12795: Oeng Sok, Chief of Commerce in Hong Kong, State Commerce, entry date at S-21: 29 Dec 1978; No. 14849: Phal Va alias Nat, member of Committee commerce in Hong Kong, State Commerce, entry date at S-21: 30 Dec 1978].

666

D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A34, 37 ["Krin [...] had been appointed as an ambassador to Hong Kong. Later, Krin left, and the person who replaced him was not from the port, but from Division 164 [...] Q: Who was the person from Division 164 who replaced Krin? A37: During the meeting on 15 February 1978, Krin introduced Pheap and Suong, both of whom were from Division 164. Pheap became the acting chief of the port, and Suong became his deputy. Later, perhaps in June or July 1978, Saroeun, from Division 164, was appointed the chief of the port. Pheap remained the deputy, but Suong instead was demoted to become a member. Saroeun did not stay at the port permanently. When he was absent, Pheap and Suong were in charge of the unit on his behalf. They did not select people from the port to hold important or high-ranking positions; they only selected people from Division 164" (emphasis added)]; D114/195 Neak Khoeun WRI, A17, 19 ["Q: Do you know who replaced Krin in 1978? A17: I was there. I know what happened before we fled. Before the Vietnamese arrived, I fled from the port. In late 1978, it was more likely Ta Saroeun, who was slightly dark-complexioned. He had not yet been there one year when the regime fell, probably between five and six months. Ta Saroeun replaced Ta Krin [...] Q: Was Ta Saroeun from the military ranks? A19: I heard that he was from the military"]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A6, 9 ["Q: [...] [In Division 164] Who was the deputy of Meas Mut? A6: I do not know who the commanders and deputy were. But in his committee, there were three people: Ta Mut, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan [...] A9: Ta Saroeun was sent to Kampong Som Port"]; D59/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 ["The first leaders [of Regiment 140] included Ta Saroeun [...] Saroeun was the chairman [...] Ta Saroeun was transferred to take charge of the port"]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A17 ["Yesterday, I talked about Saroeun. I suspect that Roeun and Saroeun were the same person"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 ["When Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 in Kampong Som, Meas Muth was the commander. The deputy commanders were often changed, including Ta Rin, Ta Chhan, and Ta Dim [...] Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63. Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng"]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A26 ["Q: Who sent you from Kampong Som to the East Zone? A26: Ta Saroeun (deceased). He replaced Ta Kren after Kren disappeared"]].

667

D22.1.10 FBIS, Chinese Delegation Visits Kompong Som Area 12 Dec, 13 Dec 1977, EN 00168349 ["Comrade Chen Yung kuei and the other Chinese comrades were warmly received and welcomed by Comrade (Mout), secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee and chairman of the Kompong Som town Serve-the-People Committee; Comrade (Krin), deputy secretary of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee; Comrade (Lonh), member of the Standing Committee of the Kompong Som town KCP Committee"]; Chen Yung-kuei Visits Southwest Region, EN 00168350; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A32-33 ["I believe that Meas Mut's position was superior to Krin's because he came from the military committee [...] A33: [...] Meas Mut was in charge of the military; whereas Krin was in charge of civilians and workers at the port. Meas Mut was the representative of the Communist Part of Kampuchea in Kampong Som; whereas Krin was the Deputy Secretary"]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A10-12 ["Meas Mut, Chea Krin, and Ta Launh were on the central committees in Kampong Som. Meas Mut was in charge of the military; Chea Krin was in charge of the port and the kerosene refinery, while Launh was responsible for fishery [...] A11: Meas Mut was the most senior chief; next after him were Chea Krin and Launh [...] A12: They were assigned to take different responsibility under Meas Mut's control. Meas Mut bore joint responsibility including the sea area"]; D4.1.1030 Chap Lonh US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00526844 ["Krin (Thuch Rin, Ok Krun), Deputy Secretary of the Kampung Saom Committee"]. See also D114/218 Sam Komnith alias Hul WRI, A20 ["The Kampong Som City side was under the charge of the military. The Port of Kampong Som and Kampong Som City were under different rulers"]].

668

D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A9 ["This was not only for Division 164 but for any division belong to the central level. Commanders of those divisions were members of the general staff headquarter. When a division became a division of the central level, the commander of such division would become a member of the general staff committee"]; D32/10 Khieu Saran WRI, A15 ["Q: Who were members of the general staff committee? A15: All division commanders and commanders of autonomous regiments and battalions such as Mao were members of the committee"]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797-98, KH 00680803-04 ["After these people [Son Sen or Brother 89, Men San alias Ya and Seat Chhe alias Tum or Brother 81], there were other members including Meas Muth, responsible for navy, Sou Met, responsible for air force [...] Meas Muth and Sou Met were the member[s] of the General Staff responsible for navy and air force [...] General Staff membership lasted for one full regime"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 ["Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces"]; D54/60.2 Meung Vet DC-Cam Statement, EN 01212291, KH 00975728 ["Q: So Ta Mut was promoted to the general staff and he was in charge of the navy instead? A: The navy also. And he along with Ta Khieu, Ta Son Sen, were over the whole country. He was deputy commander of the general staff so he was in charge everywhere”].

669 D54/54 Meas Voeun (Svay Voeun) WRI, A4-5 [“As for me, I was only a member of the Division 1 committee, and my division was under the West Zone. My division Zone echelon and was lower than that of Meas Mut’s Division, which was at Centre echelon [...] A5: In addition to being commander of the navy, Meas Mut was a full-rights member of the Party [...] I noticed his work reflected the duties of a member of the General Staff Committee because he had the authority to advise other military units such as my Division 1 on maritime operations”]; D54/52 Meas Voeun (Svay Voeun) WRI, A9-10 [“Ta Soeung was in charge of Division 1. Q: Regarding the point that Meas Mut was instructed by Angkar to discuss this with Ta Soeung and Ta Ran, does this make it clear that Meas Mut had authority over the work within the zone? A10: Meas Mut was a representative of the Centre, so he had to monitor work done by those people”]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A12 [“Division 1 would report to the telegram office of the ship unit at Koh Kong through a voice radio system. The telegraph operators then reported on to Ta Mut, who in turn would issue his orders. For your question about why Division 1 had to report the incidents to the telegram office of Division 164, this was because Division 1 had no fighting ships to handle such events”]; D114/84 Ek Sophal WRI, A15 [“Q: If the troops, which were sent to Koh Tral Island to fight against Vietnam, were under Division 164’s command and control, why did Division 1 join the operation? A15: Division 1 troops were sent there as backup. They were there to support Division 164. Division 164 had requested forces from other divisions, and usually other divisions had to send their forces to help”]. See also about the war with Vietnam in 1978: D54/50 Meas Voeun (Svay Voeun) WRI, A6 [“As it was a Centre division, Division 164 had the right to arrest and shoot to death the military forces of any division that retreated from the battlefield. Division 1 sent its military forces to the eastern border in the following manner; Ta Soeung, commander of Division 1, sent some units under his division to Division 164, and then Division 164 would deploy those forces to be stationed at their assigned targets”].

670 See VIII.A.3. Categories of Bad and Affiliated Elements Within Division 164 that Were Purged section, in particular d) Perceived “Traitors” within Division 164 and their Networks.

671 D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12 [“Dim was Meas Muth’s 1st deputy, and he was from the East Zone”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A12 [“Dim was transferred from the East Zone to be the deputy division commander of Meas Muth”]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A5, 14 [“Dim went to Kampong Som before Sam and me. In Kampong Som, Dim was Division 164 Deputy Commander. Sam was in the regiment [...] A14: Meas Muth was the commander of the division, and Dim was his deputy”]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli (Soeu Touch) WRI, A10 [“Dim became the deputy of the Division”]; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A21 [“ [Dim] was from the East Zone [...] Dim was a Deputy of Meas Muth”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A53 [“His deputy was Dim. The Division 164 Command Committee was composed of Meas Mut as commander, Dim as deputy”]; D54/95 Khun Than (Chhun Than) WRI, A12 [“Dim was a Khmer Rouge soldier who was senior to my older brother [Khun Dim]. Dim served in a unit different from my older brother [in Sector 22]”]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A5 [“Dim became the deputy of Meas Mut. He was in charge of military commanding in Division 164”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 [“In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander and Nget was a member”]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A19 [“after Division 164 had been mustered, [Dim] became a military commander and the deputy of Meas Mut. On my return from China, I was told that Dim had already been sent to another place”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50 [“Ta Chhan and Ta Dim were the deputy commanders”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 [“Mut’s first deputy was Dim from the East Zone. Dim disappeared in 1977 when there was the internal conflict”]; D54/92 Yem Sam On WRI, A16; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A66; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A31.

672 Most of the sources identify him as deputy commander; some others as member of the Division 164 Committee (and of Division 3 for the period following the merge between Division 3 and Chhan’s Sector 37 forces, including Battalion 386): D114/277.2 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 8 Jun 2016, 11.09.02-11.11.45 [“Chey Han alias Chhan, who was the deputy secretary of Division 164, who worked with Brother Mut”]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A3 [“The most important person arrested from Kampong Som was Sao Chhan alias Han, who was the son of Norng Suon. I would like to correct the name. It was Chey Han alias Chhan”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A7 [“After Division 3 was re-designated Division 164, there was a man named Ta Chhan from Sector 37’s Koh Kong, and this two battalion-strong military unit merged with Division 164. Ta Chhan became a deputy commander of the division”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A12

["There were two other deputies under him namely Chhan and Dim. Dim was Meas Muth's 1st deputy"]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A267, 269 ["Q: Who were the Deputy Commanders of the Division? A267: Ta Dim and Ta Chhan were [...] A269: Ta Chhan was Deputy Commander of the Division"]; D234/2.1.92 Prum Sarat, T. 26 Jan 2016, 15.04.35-15.07.21 [mentions that the members of Division Committee were Meas Muth, Dim, Chhan and Nhan]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A86 ["Meas Mut, was Division 164 Commander for Political Affairs. Dim was Division Deputy Commander for Military Affairs. Chhan was a Deputy Commander. Nhan was responsible for Logistics"]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A28 ["When Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 in Kampong Som, Meas Muth was the commander. The deputy commanders were often changed, including Ta Rin, Ta Chhan, and Ta Dim"]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50 ["Ta Chhan and Ta Dim were the deputy commanders"]; D114/241 Chheng Cheang WRI, A87 ["Chhan was the deputy chief"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 ["In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander and Nget was a member"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742596 ["The 3rd division political officer was ((Meas)) Mut, the division operations officer was ((Dum)) (deceased) and the deputy division commander was ((Chhan))"]; D4.1.747 Aek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387291, KH 00640517 ["((Nong)) Chhan, was the political officer for the 3rd division"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A30 ["After the reorganizing, the chief of the Division 164 was Mr. Mut, Mr. Dim from the East Zone became the deputy, and Chhan was the member"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A31 ["After deploying soldiers to the islands, they re-organized the division. Then there was Division 164. Meas Muth was the Division Commander, Dim (from Prey Veng Province) was his deputy and Chhan was a member"]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 ["The commander of Division 3 was Uncle Mut [...] Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut"]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A36, 269 ["Ta Muth was the Commander. Ta Dim was his Deputy. Ta Chhang was a member of the Division [...] A269: Ta Chhan was Deputy Commander of the Division"]; D114/261 Chum Chy WRI, A34; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A6-7, 10.

673 According to S-21 documents and some witnesses, in addition of being a regiment commander, Men Nget retained a position of member within the Division 164 committee after being demoted from his previous deputy commander position in Division 3: D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 5342 as Men Nget, a Division 164 member who; entered S-21 in June 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 26; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 ["In Division 164, Meas Muth was the Overall Commander, and Norng Chhan was the Commander. Dim was the Deputy Commander, and Nget was a member"]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A4 ["Men Nget was a member of Division 164"]; D114/282 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A12 ["The people at the division level included Chhan, Uncle Ngeth, Brother Yan, and Brother Dim"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A64, 66 ["Q: Can you tell us the names of people you knew who were taken away? A64: They were Nget, Dim, Yan, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA [...] A66: For instance, Nget was Meas Muth's deputy. Dim was under Meas Muth at the division level. Chhan was also at the division level. Yan was a regimental chairman. Sokh was division medical chairman"]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A58 ["Q: Did you know if any members of Division 164 were sent to Tuol Sleng or S-21? A58: I just heard that Nget and Sras were arrested"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 ["Nget was the Political Chairman of Regiment 20; he was arrested during the purge period in around 1977"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4 ["As far as I remember, those arrested were: Yan, Commander of Regiment 22; Nget, Commander of Regiment 20; and, Vet, Commander of my battalion"].

674 D1.3.28.45 S-21 Prisoner List, 26 Aug 1977, EN 01321440 [identifying No. 3 Mam Chim alias Yan as Division Member of Division 164]; D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750, KH 00086996 [identifying No. 1 Mom Yan as Division 164 Member, 30 who entered S-21 in May 1977]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A27 ["Mom Yan was in Division 164 in 1975"]; D54/104 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A5 ["Yan was a member of Division 164"]; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A12 ["The people at the division level included Chhan, Uncle Ngeth, Brother Yan, and Brother Dim"]; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A67 ["Q: Who was the commander of Division 164? A67: [...] Meas Muth was a commander of Division 164 [...] Ta Dim, Ta Yan, and Ta Chhan served in Division 164"]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 ["Division Deputy Commander Dim was from the East Zone. Brother Chhan, a division member, came from Koh Kong Province. Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut"]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A26 ["As far as I knew, Yan was Division 3 Committee"].

675 See, e.g., D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 14156 [Chey Han alias Chhann, mentioning erroneously that he entered S-21 in November 1976]; D114/145.1.1 Chey Han alias Chhan S-21 Confession, 10 Nov

1976, EN 01191572, KH 01176817 [contains annotations by interrogator Pon dated 19 October 1976, which establishes that he was arrested before his father and before November 1976, as mentioned in D114/230.1.1], EN 01191539, KH 01176685 [third interrogation was conducted on 24 October 1976]. See also other Case 003 references for Chey Han alias Chhan's S-21 confessions: D22.2.42, D22.2.26, D22.2.30, D22.2.46, D22.2.39, D22.2.37, D22.2.28, D22.2.33, D22.2.23, D22.2.31, D22.2.32, D22.2.45, D22.2.41, D22.2.35, D22.2.43, D22.2.47, D22.2.38, D22.2.36, D22.2.44, D22.2.29, D22.2.25, D22.2.40, D22.2.34, D22.2.24, D22.2.27; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A11 ["Brother Chhan was directly below Ta Muth. Ta Muth arrested and took him to be killed at Boeng Cheung Ek Phnom Penh"]; D114/226 Kim Hav WRI, A82-85 ["[Chhan] died in 1977 [...] A83: He died when Pol Pot called him to be re-educated. He was taken to be killed. He was told to go to study, and he disappeared. Q: Who came to call him to go to be re-educated? A84: The zone group [...] A85: At that time, when we heard that one person was called to go to be re-educated, it meant that the person would be taken to be killed"]; D114/159 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, A33 ["The most important person arrested from Kampong Som was Sao Chhan alias Han, who was the son of Norng Suon. I would like to correct the name. It was Chey Han alias Chhan"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A60 ["I do not know how many soldiers were sent back at that time. The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan's confession out loud in the meeting"]; D4.1.747 Aek Ny US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387291, KH 00640517 ["((Nong)) Chhan, was the political officer of the 3rd division. He was killed in a purge of command personnel from the division in 1976"]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A53 ["Ta Chhan was taken away first, and Ta Dim was taken away later"]; D114/113 Koen Men WRI, A126, 258; D114/130 Iem Phong WRI, A28; D54/10 Meu Ret WRI, A7-8; D69.2.20 BBC SWB, Far Eastern Relations, 14 Oct 1978, EN S 00013194, KH S 00810138, FR S 00793509. See also para. 350 [where it is explained that Chhan was first removed from Division 164, transferred to the General Staff and then arrested from there, a strategy used to avoid any resistance from him].

676

D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 1624 [entered S-21 on 21 April 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 11 [executed 8 December 1977]; D1.3.28.40 S-21 Execution Log, 9 Dec 1977, EN 00873621, KH 00009252 [No.172: Hoeng Doeun alias Doem, identified as Deputy Secretary of Division 164]; D1.3.28.40 List of Prisoners Who Were Smashed and Photographed on 8 December 1977, EN 00873280-81, KH 00009146 [No. 2: Hing Doeun alias Dim, identified as Deputy Secretary of Division 164]; D1.3.28.40 S-21 Execution Log, EN 00873281; D1.3.28.27 S-21 Prisoner List, EN 01215100, KH 00088754 [identifying No.2 as Oeng Doeun alias Dim, Deputy Commander of Division 164]; D1.3.28.49 S-21 Prisoner Interrogation Log, EN 00937118, KH 00082795-96 [arrested 21 Apr 1977, end of interrogation 20 Jul 1977]; D234/2.1.55 Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim S-21 Confession, EN 00224085; D1.3.18.1 Hang Doeun or Hoeng Doeun alias Dim S-21 Confession; D1.3.18.2 Hang Doeun (Hoeng Doeun) alias Dim S-21 Confession; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A11 ["Q: [...] This document is D1.3.18.1 with Khmer ERN 00162140] A11: Yes [...] This is Dim, whom I mentioned. When I see this document and the date, I can say for sure that it is correct because they took those people away in early 1977"]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 ["Mut's first deputy was Dim from the East Zone. Dim disappeared in 1977 when there was the internal conflict"]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A50, 53-54; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A10; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A13 ["No one knew who came from where to arrest whom. I only knew that Dim was accused of being a traitor. Dim and other East Zone people were taken away, but we did not know [where] they were taken"]. See also para. 358 [for indications that Dim was removed from his position, arrested and detained some time before his transfer to S-21].

677

D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 4797 [entered 28 April 1977, executed 13 March 1978]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 24 (and No. 27 – duplicate); D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750, KH 00086996 [identifying Mom Yan as Division 164 Member, 30, entering date at S-21: May 1977]; D1.3.28.45 S-21 Prisoner List, 26 Aug 1977 [identifying Mam Chim alias Yan as Member of Division 164]; D54/104 Ek Ni WRI, A5 ["Yan was a member of Division 164 [...] Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4-5 ["those arrested were: Yan, Commander of Regiment 22; Nget, Commander of Regiment 20; and, Vet, Commander of my battalion [...] A5: They were arrested at the end of 1977 or in early 1978. I did not see the arrests with my own eyes, but the arrests were mentioned in the unit meetings"]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A1 ["In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim. I remembered hearing Meas Muth calling these men's names starting with the word ‘A (the contemptible)’ because ‘A’ was the derogatory word for use on the traitors”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A26-33 [explains that Mom Yan, Regiment 63 commander, disappeared in 1977]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35 [“The commander of Regiment 63 was Yan on Koh Seh Island, Koh Ta Kiev Island, Koh Thmei Island near Ream”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [“Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut. He was a former commander of Regiment 63”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A64, 67, 226 [“They were Nget, Dim, Yam, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA [...] A67: I knew those people were called away, and two or three days later Regiment 140 Chairman Han told us in a meeting that those persons were enemies burrowing from within [...] A226: My commander Han told me about this. All of them were considered traitors within the army’s ranks”].

678 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 5342 [identifying Division 164 member; entered S-21 in early June 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 26; D1.3.5.5 S-21 Name List of three cadres from Division 164, KH 00159970 [two are marked as being already arrested; no English translation available]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A4 [“Men Nget was a member of Division 164. He was arrested”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A64, 67 [“Q: Can you tell us the names of people you knew who were taken away? A64: They were Nget, Dim, Yan, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A58 [“Q: Did you know if any members of Division 164 were sent to Tuol Sleng or S-21? A58: [...] I just heard that Nget and Sras were arrested”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 [“Nget was the Political Chairman of Regiment 20; he was arrested during the purge period in around 1977”]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4-5 [“those arrested were: Yan, Commander of Regiment 22; Nget, Commander of Regiment 20; and, Vet, Commander of my battalion [...] A5: They were arrested at the end of 1977 or in early 1978. I did not see the arrests with my own eyes, but the arrests were mentioned in the unit meetings”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A5 [“The deputy commander was Nget [...] he later disappeared from the division”].

679 See para. 208.

680 See para. 244.

681 As regards his position as Deputy Commander of Division 164: D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A6, 9 [“[In Division 164 Committee], there were three people: Ta Mut, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan [...] A9: Ta Saroeun was sent to Kampong Som Port”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 [“When Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 in Kampong Som, Meas Muth was the commander. The deputy commanders were often changed, including Ta Rin, Ta Chhan, and Ta Dim [...] Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1 [“Ta Saroeun, also dead, was the deputy of Meas Mut in charge of the military”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A224-225 [“In Regiment 140, there was Saroeun, the political chairman (deceased). Below Saroeun, there were Seng (deceased), Saroeun’s deputy, and Sam, Seng’s member [...] A225: When Saroeun was promoted to division level, Seng replaced Saroeun, Sam replaced Seng, and Han replaced Sam”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [In the Division Committee, “Saroeun came in to replace Yan. Saroeun was from Regiment 140 and probably replaced Ta Yan”]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A17 [“I suspect that Roeun and Saroeun were the same person”]. Regarding his assignment as the head of the Kampong Som Port see D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A34, 37 [“Krin left Kampong Som Port to attend a study session in Phnom Penh for one week, and returned to Kampong Som on 15 February 1978. When he came back, he convened a meeting and told all the workers that he had been appointed as an ambassador to Hong Kong. Later, Krin left, and the person who replaced him was not from the port, but from Division 164 [...] Q: Who was the person from Division 164 who replaced Krin? A37: During the meeting on 15 February 1978, Krin introduced Pheap and Suong, both of whom were from Division 164. Pheap became the acting chief of the port, and Suong became his deputy. Later, perhaps in June or July 1978, Saroeun, from Division 164, was appointed the chief of the port. Pheap remained the deputy, but Suong instead was demoted to become a member. Saroeun did not stay at the port permanently. When he was absent, Pheap and Suong were in charge of the unit on his behalf. They did not select people from the port to hold important or high-ranking positions; they only selected people from Division 164”]; D114/195 Neak Khoeun WRI, A17, 19 [“Q: Do you know who replaced Krin in 1978? A17: [...] In late 1978, it was more likely Ta Saroeun [...] He had not yet been there one year when the regime fell, probably between five and six months. Ta Saroeun replaced Ta Krin [...] A19: I heard that he was from the military”]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A26 [“Q: Who sent you from Kampong Som to the East Zone? A26: Ta Saroeun (deceased). He replaced Ta Kren after Kren disappeared”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“Ta Saroeun was transferred to take charge of the port”].

682

D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A126 [“In 1977 [...] In Division 164, new people came and replaced them [Dim and Chhan]. There were Brother Nhan and another person whose name I do not recall. They were Meas Muth’s deputies”]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A229 [At Au Mlou worksite: “Ta Nhan ordered us to dig rocks to complete that quota. Ta Nhan was the Deputy Commander of Division 164. He was in charge of logistics”]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A6, 8-9, 16 [In Division 164 Committee: “there were three people: Ta Mut, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan [...] Q: “[How] do you know that Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan were in Meas Mut’s committee? A8: Because they all stayed in the office compound, but in different houses. They had meals together in the kitchen and sometimes their messengers delivered their meals to them in their houses [...] A9: Ta Saroeun was sent to Kampong Som Port [...] A16: After Ta Saroeun had been sent to Kampong Som, Ta Seng arrived. When Meas Mut was not present, Ta Seng and Ta Nhan came”]; D234/2.1.92 Prum Sarat, T. 26 Jan 2016, 15.04.35-15.07.21 [mentions that the members of the Division 164 Committee were Meas Muth, Dim, Chhan and Nhan]; D234/2.1.93 Prum Sarat, T. 27 Jan 2016, 09.19.34-09.21.26; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A86; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A176-178 [“Who was in charge of, or commanded, that worksite (Kang Keng fields)? Do you remember the name of the person in charge or the name of the unit? [...] A177: The person in overall charge was Nhan. Q: Do you remember which unit he was from? A178: He was the Deputy Commander of Division 164”]; D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249694, KH 00741997 [“The Command Committee of the 3rd Division included [...] ((Nhan)) – Member of the Committee for Logistics”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A25, 111 [“Q: Who else were division members? A25: Nhan (deceased). He had come from Division 3 [...] A111: Lan (deceased) and Nhan (in charge of Division 3 Logistics)”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1 [“Ta Nhan’s family name was Nhet; he was the deputy of Meas Mut in charge of economics after Dim disappeared. Ta Nhan died. Hang Doeun alias Dim, also dead, was Meas Mut’s deputy in charge of economics before being replaced by Ta Nhan [...] Ta Nhan was a member of Ta Mut’s [command committee] from late 1978 to 1979. At the time the country was in chaos and the division lacked deputies for its work, and for this reason Nhan was moved from commander of Regiment 63 to become a member of the division [committee]”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A6 [“Ta Nhan was a member of Ta Mut’s [command committee] from late 1978 to 1979. At the time the country was in chaos and the division lacked deputies for its work, and for this reason Nhan was moved from commander of Regiment 63 to become a member of the division [committee]”]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12 [“At that time Meas Mut was the Division chairman, and Ta Nhan was the Division [164] member”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 [“I usually saw Nhann and Seng representing the Division in every meeting during the period near the end of the Khmer Rouge regime in late 1978”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A27; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A229 [“Ta Nhan was the Deputy Commander of Division 164. He was in charge of logistics”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A1.

683

See the details below, VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505. See also D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A35, 40-42 [“Ta Nhan came to take charge of Division 117 [...] A40: [...] at that time, Meas Muth came to organise Division 117 and assigned Ta Nhan commander of Division 117 [...] A41: I learned that through the new commander, Ta Nhan. Ta Nhan said, ‘Brother Meas Muth has come to Kratie to reorganise Division 117’ [...] A42: [...] Ta Nhan went to command Division 117 about a month before the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers in approximately late November or early December 1978”]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A5-6; D114/193 Sao Sarun WRI, A64; D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278696; D114/192 Chen Phat WRI, A41-42; D114/102 Em Sarin WRI, A22; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A30; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A1; D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A13; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A15; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A16.

684

D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A26 [“Ta Mut was Division Commander. Ta Seng and Ta Mut were in charge of the division. Ta Mut was the senior level commander and had been in charge of the division a long time. When Ta Seng came, he worked as a subordinate of Ta Mut. So, Ta Mut held a more senior position than Ta Seng”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14-15 [“Later at the end of 1978 Seng from Regiment 140 came to the Division and worked there until the Vietnamese arrived in 1979. He had authority to give orders [...] I did not know where Uncle Mut was because I got orders directly from Seng [...] A15: I noticed that Seng was always the one who gave orders during that time”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A9 [“After the navy was created, Seng became a deputy commander of Regiment 140. Later, he became a deputy commander of Division 164”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28, 35 [“After Tim Seng was promoted to chairperson of Division 164 instead of Meas Muth in 1979 during the fierce combat with the Vietnamese, Ta Han became the commander of Regiment 140 [...] A35: Meas Muth led military forces to fight the Vietnamese soldiers at the Cambodia-Vietnam border. At that time, Tim Seng became the commander of Division 164”]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A3 [“Seng told me Meas Mut was an assistant to the General Staff. Seng knew about this because, when Meas Mut was absent from Kampong Som, he was in charge”]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A16 [“After Ta Saroeun had been sent to Kampong Som, Ta Seng arrived. When Meas Mut was not present, Ta Seng and Ta Nhan came. But I did not know who was in charge”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098, KH 00926542-43 [“Tim Seng [...] Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh”]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A22, 24 [“Q: From which year to which year was Tim Seng in command of the Navy? A22: From 1975 to 1978 [...] Q: Who was commander of your regiment? A24: Tim Seng. He was also a division member”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1 [“Seng was also a deputy of Ta Mut. I do not know his functions clearly, but I saw him commanding a ship”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A29, 32 [“Q: You said earlier that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh in 1977 or 1978. Why did you say something like that? A29: I said that because I received instructions from Mienh, and it was that Mienh who had received the work plan from Tim Seng [...] Q: What were the roles and duties of Tim Seng? A32: [...] Tim Seng went to study naval military techniques in China. Upon return, he was on permanent duty at the division location”].

685 D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A29, 66 [“Q: You said earlier that Meas Muth went to Phnom Penh in 1977 or 1978. Why did you say something like that? A29: I said that because I received instructions from Mienh, and it was that Mienh who had received the work plan from Tim Seng [...] Q: In connection with the work at the worksite, did Mienh ever instead receive any instructions from anywhere else? A66: Before, he received orders directly from Meas Muth”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 [“I usually saw Nhann and Seng representing the Division in every meeting during the period near the end of the Khmer Rouge regime in late 1978”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28, 35 [“Tim Seng was promoted to chairperson of Division 164 instead of Meas Muth in 1979 during the fierce combat with the Vietnamese [...] A35: Meas Muth led military forces to fight the Vietnamese soldiers at the Cambodia-Vietnam border. At that time, Tim Seng became the commander of Division 164”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A9 [“when Meas Mut went to Kratie, Ta Seng was in charge of the division command”]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A3 [In late 1978: “Seng told me Meas Mut was an assistant to the General Staff. Seng knew about this because, when Meas Mut was absent from Kampong Som, he was in charge. I did not know how often Meas Mut made the trip between Phnom Penh and Kampong Som”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14-15 [“Later at the end of 1978, Seng from Regiment 140 came to the Division and worked there until the Vietnamese arrived in 1979. He had authority to give orders. I did not know what position he held [...] A15: I noticed that Seng was always the one who gave orders during that time”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A19 [“In case that Meas Mut was absent, Tim Seng [...] took responsibility on his stead, but they had their own radio number. Meas Mut had the radio number 63”]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A16.

686 D54/100 Lay Boonkak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A93, 96 [“Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth and he was a former manager of the battleship unit. When Tim Seng came to replace Meas Muth, he controlled all military units in Kampong Som [...] Q: You said in the interview that although Ta Muth was far from the division, he still gave orders to the division through Tim Seng. How do you know that? A96: Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng; then Tim Seng controlled the work and passed on those orders”]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A26 [“Ta Mut was Division Commander. Ta Seng and Ta Mut were in charge of the division. Ta Mut was the senior level commander and had been in charge of the division a long time. When Ta Seng came, he worked as a subordinate of Ta Mut. So, Ta Mut held a more senior position than Ta Seng”].

687 D114/216 Meas Im WRI, A21, 27 [“Q: What is your fourth brother’s name? A21: Meas Muth! [...] Q: What is your fifth brother’s name? A27: I am the fifth child”]; D114/214 Meas Im WRI, A1-2; D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195331, KH 00008465-66, FR 00623209 [No. 181, Meas Im, undetermined position, Division 164]. Note that a posterior translation mentions his position in November 1976 as being a Battalion Commander (identical to Pheap who preceded him on the list); D114/77.1 DK General Staff Report (attachment to D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI), EN 01156172, KH 01101693; D54/78.1 Nop Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968387 [“Ta Oem was a younger brother of Meas Mut”]; D54/70 Mut Mao WRI, A24 [“I heard his [Meas Im] name, but I never saw his face. He was a brother of Meas Mut”].

688 D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A34-35 [“Oem was on a port building committee in Stueng Hav. Oem was Meas Mut’s younger half brother [...] Q: What were Oem’s position and duty? A35: [...] After the 1975 ‘Liberation’, Meas Mut took him along and appointed him to the Stueng Hav Committee”]; D114/58 Som Saom WRI, A14, 16 ["the area where the dam was located was under Division 164 control. I also know that Meas Im was responsible for the logistics. In fact, I did not know what the word 'logistics' meant. I just knew that Meas Im was in charge of the dam. Meas Im was responsible not only for that dam [Ochheuteal Dam] but also for the worksites at Kang Keng (a rice field worksite and Pou Thoeung (Dam worksite). He was in charge of the logistics of the area [...] A16: It was in 1977 [...] Meas Im was responsible for all the worksites including the ones at Kang Keng as well"]; D54/20 Sam Saom, A14 ["I went to do labor work at Kang Keng Airport for one month. It was difficult work. I farmed rice in a mobile unit under the leadership of Ta Im. Im was the next highest ranking cadre under Meas Mut. Im was in charge of the work at the Kang Keng worksite and was also the deputy commander for logistics of Division 164. I think that Im was perhaps one of Meas Mut's relatives but do not know if he was one of Meas Mut siblings or cousins" (emphasis added)]; D114/215 Meas Im DC-Cam Statement, EN 01301422 ["In 1976, deputy chief of division 164 Dem promoted Im to the position of chief mechanic of the Division. He was responsible for truck and tractor repair. There were 800 soldiers under his supervision"]; D114/214 Meas Im WRI, A28 [claiming that he managed only 2-3 tractors at Stung Hav worksite and not 800 soldiers].

689 See, e.g., D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 ["Q: Who was the chairman of Regiment 61? A: The chairman of Regiment 61 was Ta Ngaet earlier. Q: Ta Ngaet. After that? A: After that, it was Ta Seng. Oh, it was Ta Seng [...] Later on, the chairman of Regiment 61 was Ta Pheap. They were reshuffled constantly at that time"].

690 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A2, 9 ["I was an ordinary soldier in the division's Regiment 20 commanded by Seng, deceased, of Battalion 430 commanded by Roem [...] A9: There was only one person I knew by the name of Seng, and he was the commander of Regiment 20. After the navy was created, Seng became a deputy commander of Regiment 140. Later, he became a deputy commander of Division 164"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A15, 221 ["The commander of Regiment 20 was Seng [...] A221: Before, Seng was the commander of Regiment 61; later, Son replaced him"]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A37 ["It was not Yim Seng, but Tim Seng who was the Chief of Regiment 20 and Nget was the Chief of Regiment 21. Nhanh was in charge of logistics. Sras was the Chief of Regiment 22"].

691 D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A222 ["Q: Where did Seng go? Why did he cease being the commander of Regiment 61? A222: Because Seng was moved to Regiment 140"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A9 ["he [Seng] was the commander of Regiment 20. After the navy was created, Seng became a deputy commander of Regiment 140"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A177 ["Q: We have received information that Tim Seng was also once the commander of Regiment 140. Have you ever heard this name? A177: I heard of him and knew him. He was Saroeun's deputy commander"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 ["Q: And did Regiment 140 consist of Ta Seng – was he the leader? [...] A: The first leaders included Ta Seng [...] a deputy"]; D1.3.5.4 S-21 Prisoner List of People implicated by Enemies EN 01149197 [Nos 1, 2, 3: identifying Seng as Deputy Commander of Regiment 140 and Saroeun as Commissioner]. See also para. 244.

692 D2/8 Say Born WRI, A45 ["Nget was the commissar of the Regiment 20 or 61 [...] The commissars were not changed before and after the fall of Phnom Penh"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 ["Nget was the Political Chairman of Regiment 20; he was arrested during the purge period in around 1977. I do not remember who the Political Chairman of Regiment 21 was, but Yan was the Political Chairman of Regiment 22"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4 ["those arrested were: Yan, Commander of Regiment 22; Nget, Commander of Regiment 20"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963712, KH 00926446 ["Q: Was it Regiment 20 under Nget's command? A: Yes"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 ["The chairman of Regiment 61 was Ta Ngaet earlier"]; D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217561 ["They did farming at Smach Deng under the supervision of Ta Nget, who was a regiment commander"]. See also D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 5342 as Men Nget, Division 164 member who entered S-21 in June 1977]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 26 EN 00679642; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A12; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A4; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A62, 66; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A58. Em Sun confused some roles and positions within Division 164: D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A37 ["It was not Yim Seng, but Tim Seng who was the Chief of Regiment 20 and Nget was the Chief of Regiment 21"].

693 D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963711, KH 00926445 ["Mao Son was the commander of Battalion 370"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A15, 221 ["The commander of Battalion 370 was Son. The commander of Regiment 20 was Seng, and the commander of Division 3 was Meas Muth [...] A221: Before, Seng was the commander of Regiment 61; later, Son replaced him"]; D59/1/1.14 Hing Uch DC-Cam

Statement, EN 00970734 ["Q: Who was Son? A: He was a Battalion commander. Q: Was a commander of Battalion 370? A: Yes"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969931, KH 00926308 ["Q: Who was in charge of 61? A: It was Ta Son"]; D54/81.2 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 01001396, KH 00984339 ["brother Son was sent to Regiment 61"]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A17 ["Son was a commander of Regiment 62"]. Mao Son might be the commander Nav Sokhan alias Ken was forcibly married to in Stung Hav in 1977 or 1978 (although she thought he was Regiment 140 commander): D114/117 Nav Soka alias Ken WRI, A247-250, 267-269 [mentioning Mot or Sun Mot].

D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195331, KH 00008465-66 [listing Pheap as Regiment Commander in Division 164]; D54/9 Min Phon WRI, A5 ["At Stueng Hav, my company was put under the command of a battalion of Regiment 61, Division 164. My new battalion was located outside Stueng Hav [...] I also remember the name of the commander of Regiment 61. His name was Pheap"]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A21 ["I reported up to the regiment chiefs whose names were Pheap and Lan"]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217564 ["His regiment chief was Pheap (Sok Peap)"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 ["Q: Who was the chairman of Regiment 61? A: The chairman of Regiment 61 was Ta Ngaet earlier. Q: Ta Ngaet. After that? A: After that, it was Ta Seng. Oh, it was Ta Seng [...] Later on, the chairman of Regiment 61 was Ta Pheap. They were reshuffled constantly at that time"]; D4.1.752 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387359, KH 01519658 ["The commander of the 61st Regt was ((Pheap))"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742597 ["The 61st Regiment operated near Trapeang Khlung (not found on available maps). The regimental commander was ((Pheap))"].

D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A8 ["the unit based in Koh Rong Sanloem Island was under the control of Regiment 61. Under the control of Regiment 61, were islands such as Koh Kong, Koh Rong Thom and Koh Rong"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A144 ["Regiment 61 was in Koh Rung Thom"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968388, KH 00926615 ["Regiment 61 was deployed there [Koh Rong]"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969931, KH 00926308 ["61 was at Koh Rong"].

D54/81.2 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 01001394, KH 00984337 ["Q: Where did you stay when you first arrived in Kampong Som? A: I stayed in Ou Chheu Teal [...] Only my Battalion stayed in Ou Chheu Teal [...] I stayed from 75 until early 76"]; EN 01001395, KH 00984338 ["Q: When your Division was changed to Division 164, what was your regiment number? A: Regiment 61"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A35, 37, 40 ["We stayed at Kampong Som Port for two or three days; then we went to Ou Chheu Teal until 1976 [...] A37: My regiment, Regiment 61, was at Ou Chheu Teal [...] Q: What did you do when you were at Ou Chheu Teal? [...] A40: We defended the sea because we were afraid of secret agents coming to spy"]; D54/99 Lay Boonhak WRI A31 ["When I arrived in Kampong Som, my unit was located at Ou Chheu Teal"].

D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A39 ["Q: Was Stueng Hav Regiment 61's headquarters or base? A39: It [was] Regiment 61 Headquarters"]; D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A36-38, 42 ["I stayed at Stueng Hav about one or two months, in early 1977 [...] A37: Because my Regiment 61 was moved to Stueng Hav and was stationed there [...] A38: Only three battalions were relocated to Stueng Hav [...] The numerical designation of my battalion was 412 or 312 [...] A42: I remember that Regiment 61 Headquarters was located close to Chamkar Doung Plantation and Ou Tres at Stueng Hav"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A178, 180 ["Q: In what year did you go to Stueng Hav? A178: I went there in mid-1977 [...] Q: Were soldiers stationed on land at Stueng Hav? A180: Yes, Regiment 61"]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A24 ["The meetings with the regiment were held at the office of the regiment right at Stung Hav"]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387278, KH 01496677 ["The 20th Regiment was based at Stung Hav and the oil refinery"]. See, VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites section for further details about the worksite authority structure and organisation.

D4.1.751 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387258, KH 01519652 ["The 20th regiment had subordinate to it the 320th, 330th, and 370th Battalions"]; D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A31 ["There were three Battalions. They were Battalions 330, 320 and 310"]; D54/99 Lay Boonhak WRI, A17 ["Battalion 370 was under Regiment 20"]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A116-117; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A2, 9, 11; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A40; D54/105 Ek Ny WRI, A4; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A15; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A16; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A12, 15, 220; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A54 ["I heard about Battalions 380 and 370"]; D114/260 Sorn Soth WRI, A33.

D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 13155 as Sek Hieng or Sek Phieng, Battalion 613 Deputy Secretary who was arrested on 23 April 1977 and died of disease on 14 February 1978], [identifying

No. 8618 as Soeng Krin alias Nguon, Company Commander, Battalion 611, who entered S-21 on 18 Dec 1976], [identifying No. 4160 as Sok Hoeun, Secretary of Company 2, Battalion 611, Regiment who entered S-21 on 24 May 1977]; D4.1.1070 Soeng Krin alias Nguon S-21-Confession; D114/43.7 S-21 Prisoner List (Name List of Prisoners entering in May 1977), EN 01477849 [No. 56 identified as Sok Oeun, Secretary of Company, Battalion 611 who entered S-21 on 24 May 1977]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A16-17, 23 ["They removed me from artillery and assigned me to take charge of an existing battalion at Stung Hav [...] A17: Battalion 612 [...] A23: In Battalion 612, the jobs included stone drilling, stone breaking, dragging stone to shield the worksite and other work"]; D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A38 ["There were four battalions in Regiment 61. Only three battalions were relocated to Stung Hav. I do not know about the other battalion. But for my battalion, we went to take technical classes. The numerical designation of my battalion was 412 or 312. I am not sure"].

700 D114/79 Kang Sum WRI, A121, 126, 148-153, 156-163, 229 [Battalion 310 soldier explaining how about 300 soldiers from his battalion including himself were attacked on Koh Krachak Ses (Koh Poulo Tang Sang) in mid-1975 and were taken tied and blindfolded to Koh Tral where they were detained and worked for about 3 months as prisoners of war]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A15 ["the fighting was on Koh Poulo Wai Island. As I remember, one day, around 300 or 400 Vietnamese troops came ashore on Koh Poulo Wai Island from a P-111 vessel. At the time, other Vietnamese troops were swimming ashore from different directions around the island to attack us unexpectedly. The Vietnamese troops took prisoner all the military officers of Battalion 310 and sent them to Koh Tral Island. The Vietnamese troops also seized our patrol vessels and the military officers and medical staff from Kampong Som who had come to intervene"]; D114/194 Sorn Sot WRI, A73 ["[Battalion 310 was] Ta Muth's unit [...] The battle took place in Koh Poulo Wai when the Vietnamese troops went to fight against Ta Muth's army. That did not happen at Koh Tral Island. When the Vietnamese troops arrested them, they sent them to Koh Tral Island. After being sent to Koh Tral Island, they were sent back via Kep and were all sent to my place to cultivate rice. They were no longer trusted. They were perceived to have been indoctrinated by Vietnamese troops after they had been detained. They did not allow them to be in the army again"]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A111, 113, 119-121 ["Vietnamese forces attacked Poulo Wai Island because they said that the island belonged to their country [...] It is true that the Vietnamese captured people from my unit [Battalion 310] I know when they were sent back. Those who were sent back returned to my unit. However, the unit did not allow those who had been arrested to stay together. A few of them would be stationed in one unit. Others were stationed in another unit [...] After being split up, those who had been arrested were then transferred from our unit to the production unit, to work in rice fields near Kang Keng [...] it was said that those people had been to Vietnam [...] A113: Those people were transferred to do rice field work at Kang Keng, which was the name of the airport. Bad elements were taken to do rice field work over there [...] A119: After those people came back from Vietnam, they were split up. After they attended a political school [...] they were integrated into various units within the same battalion. They were not allowed to stay together. One group of them was stationed over here; another group was stationed elsewhere [...] A120: It was perhaps in 1976 [...] A121: at that time, their background was reviewed because they had been ordered to write their biography. At that time, biographies were very important. Those people were not removed all at once. They were removed one after another. Hardworking people and people with proper conduct would be allowed to stay longer"]. For further details, see VIII.A.3.a) Division 3 Soldiers Captured and Detained in Vietnam in 1975. Regarding the creation of Regiment 140 using forces from each of the three regiments of Division 3, see, e.g., D2/9 Say Born WRI, A16 ["At that time when they organized the marine forces, they selected troops from the Regiments 61, 62, and 63 of the Division 164, and together with another regiment from the East Zone, which was called the Unit 140, they organized them as the Unit 140"]; D114/95 Yoeum Sroeung WRI, A220.

701 D114/95 Yoeum Sroeung WRI, A32-33 ["When I arrived at Kampong Som [...] Division 3 was re-designated Division 164 [...] Q: Was your regiment's numerical designation changed? A33: I was in Regiment 61 of Division 164, Battalion 2, Company 2, Platoon 2"].

702 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [listing Comrade Long Phansy as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A16-17, 27 ["I was the only person removed and sent to Stung Hav, but I had this one bodyguard belonging to me. They removed me from artillery and assigned me to take charge of an existing battalion at Stung Hav [...] A17: Battalion 612 [...] A27: I was the chief of Battalion 612 until I was arrested in January or February 1977 or 1978"].

- 703 D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A15-17 ["They had me run a battalion that was building a port at Stung Hav. [...] A16: They removed me from artillery and assigned me to take charge of an existing battalion at Stung Hav. Q: What was the name of the existing battalion? Or what number was it? A17: Battalion 612"].
- 704 D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A31 [Describing that his Battalion commander Lan assigned his battalion to guard Koh Rong / Koh Rong Sanloem after their arrival at Kampong Som].
- 705 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 13155 [Sek Hieng or Sek Phieng, Battalion 613 Deputy Secretary, arrested on 23 April 1977 and died of disease on 14 February 1978].
- 706 D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A13, 15-18 ["Q: Why did they transfer you from Regiment 61 to Regiment 62? A13: Initially, I was in Regiment 61, but since my commander, my battalion commander, was promoted to the Regiment 62 Commander, he took me to work with him [...] Q: What was the name of the Regiment 62 Commander? A15: His name was Brother Yeang [...] Q: Who was the commander of Regiment 62 before Yeang? A16: His name was Brother Son [...] A17: When Yeang came to replace Son, Sari was still deputy commander. Q: Do you recognize a cadre named Meanh? A18: Yes, I heard about the cadre named Meanh. I am not quite sure, but I assume he could have been the regiment commander, because in the Lon Nol regime I heard his name, and I suspect he held the position of Regiment 62 Commander before Ta Son. They called him Ta Meanh 62"].
- 707 D54/9 Min Phon WRI, A5 ["The commander of my battalion was Vanni and his deputy chief was Pheng. I was in an 82 mm mortar unit"].
- 708 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897655, KH 00095536-37 [identifying Comrade Iek Manh as Secretary of Regiment in Division 164]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A30 ["Q: Who was the commander of Regiment 21? A30: Ta Meanh"]; D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A7 ["The first Regiment 21 commander was Ta Meanh – but I did not know who replaced him"]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A18 ["Regiment 15 was under Commander Meng"]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A45 ["Meanh was the commissar of the Regiment 21 or 62 [...] The commissars were not changed before and after the fall of Phnom Penh"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974090, KH 00926536 ["Regiment 13, which became Regiment 21 later. [...] Q: Who was in charge of Regiment 13? A: Ta Manh"]; D54/111 Sam Phin WRI, A7 ["Manh was the commander of Regiment 62"]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35 ["The commander of Regiment 62 was Ta Mienh"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 ["In Regiment 62, Meanh was the Commander"]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A6, 66 ["Q: According to our documents, there was only one person named Mienh in Division 164, whose full name was Iek Mienh, and he was the chief of Regiment 62 under Division 164. Are we talking about the name of the same person? A: It is the same person [...] A66: Before, [Mienh] received orders directly from Meas Muth"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742597 ["The 62D regiment operated near Sre Khlong. ((Meanh)) (deceased) was the commander of the 62D regiment"]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387279, KH 01496679 ["Ta ((Meanh)) (deceased) was the 62D regiment commander"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969930, KH 00926307 ["Q: What's about Regiment 62? A: It was Meanh"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 ["Ta Meahk was transferred out from Regiment 62, and after Ta Meakh's transfer, Ta Yang came. Q: Ta Yang. Where there only two chairmen of that regiment? A: Yes"].
- 709 D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A15-18 ["Q: What was the name of the Regiment 62 Commander? A15: His name was Brother Yeang [...] Q: Who was the commander of Regiment 62 before Yeang? A16: His name was Brother Son [...] A17: When Yeang came to replace Son, Sari was still deputy commander [...] A18: I suspect he [Meanh] held the position of Regiment 62 Commander before Ta Son. They called him Ta Meanh 62"]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 ["In Regiment 62, Meanh was the Commander, and Son was the Deputy Commander"].
- 710 D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A8-9 ["It was a battalion of Regiment 21 [...] Meanh was sent for education in 1977; but I remember that he had been imprisoned at Tuek Sap Prison [...] Q: How did you know that Ta Meanh was sent to Tuek Sap Prison? A9: In 1981 or 1982, I learned this information from a person named Svay Sam An, a guard at Tuek Sap Prison. San-An told me that Ta Meanh had been imprisoned there. I asked Sam-An what he knew about Ta Meanh. I did not ask him where Tuek Sap Prison was located, nor do I know where Ta Meanh was killed"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A92 ["Q: Was Meanh transferred elsewhere? A92: In 1976, he was. Yang replaced him. He was transferred to Kampong Som"]; D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A7 ["The first Regiment 21 commander was Ta Meanh - but I did not - know who replaced him”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 [“Ta Meahk was transferred out from Regiment 62, and after Ta Meahk’s transfer, Ta Yang came”].

- 711 D54/83 Hing Uch WRI, A15-18 [“Q: What was the name of the Regiment 62 Commander? A15: His name was Brother Yeang [...] Q: Who was the commander of Regiment 62 before Yeang? A16: His name was Brother Son [...] A17: When Yeang came to replace Son, Sari was still deputy commander [...] A18: I suspect he [Meanh] held the position of Regiment 62 Commander before Ta Son. They called Ta Meanh 62”]; D114/126 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A13 [“Q: Who was the commander on Koh Tang Island? A13: I am not sure. I just know that Ta Yeang, the commander of Regiment 62, and his deputy Saroeun were in charge on the island”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A90 [“After Brother Meanh left, Yang took his position. He was the one who issued the orders”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A2 [“Regiment 62 was commandeered by Ta Yeang”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968420, KH 00926644 [“Ta Meahk was transferred out from Regiment 62, and after Ta Meahk’s transfer, Ta Yang came”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968388-89, KH 00926615-16 [“Q: Was Yieng the chairman of Regiment 21? A: Yes, he was the chairman [...] Q: How about the commander? [...] A: Later on, Ta Ban rose to the position for a certain period, then he transferred to the East, thus leaving Ta Yieng alone. He was eventually alone at the regiment”].
- 712 D1.3.28.40 S-21 Execution Log, 9 Dec 1977, EN 00873167, KH 00009083 [identifying No.17 as San Seab alias Sam as Deputy Secretary of Regiment 62, Division 164, entered S-21 in April 1977 (and was executed on 9 September 1977)]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 8176; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, EN 00679643 [identifying No. 40 as Sann Seab alias Sam, who entered S-21 in April 1977, and was executed on 19 September 1977].
- 713 See para. 218. See also D54/78 Nop Hal WRI, A8-9, 14 [“I went to live in Battalion 624 under Regiment 62 [...] At that time I did not know clearly whether Battalion 621 or 623 was sent to carry out the capture [...] Q: Am I correct to say that when you talked about Battalions 621, 622, 623 and 624, you were referring to Regiment 62 of Division 164? A9: Yes, you are correct [...] A14: I was in Battalion 622, Regiment 62. My battalion had two boats; in Battalion 621, there were two boats; in Battalion 623, there was one boat”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A44 [indicated that Battalions 622 and 623 originated from Sector 33]; D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A43 [“In Regiment 62, there were Battalions 621, 622 and 623”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968386, KH 00926614 [“Q: 621, 622, and 623—were there only three [...] within the Regiment? A: Another one was 624”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742597 [“The 62D Regiment [...] was divided into three battalions numbered 21, 22 and 23”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3; D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A3; D54/20 Sam Saom alias Sam Ket WRI, A2; D114/126 Ou Kim WRI, A7; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, EN 01222489 [identifying No. 4159 as Nop Norn, Battalion 621 Secretary].
- 714 For details, see para. 213.
- 715 D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387279, KH 01496677 [“(Field Comment – according to other debriefings, the 21st regiment was headquartered near Ream [...] and the regimental hospital was at Chamkar Dong (Palm Plantation)”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742580 [“The Regiment had four subordinate Battalions numbered 410, 420, 480, and 490, and was headquartered at Ream”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387463, KH 00742598 [“The 61st Regiment was based at Kampong Som port, the 62D Regiment was based at Ream, and the 63rd Regiment was based at Tuk Sap”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A54; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12.
- 716 D114/297.1.21 Pak Sok, T. 5 Jan 2016, 10.02.02-10.04.03 [“my unit was on the island [Koh Tang], and I refer to my battalion. It’s the battalion 410, and there were only about 100 of us there on the island”]; D114/287 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A17, 43 [“upon the arrival of the armed forces in Kampong Som, some of them were further sent to Krachak Ses and Poulo Wai islands. Regiment 21, or known as 162, was sent there [...] Q: Please tell us about which companies and battalions of Regiment 21 or 162 were sent to set up the headquarters at Krachak Ses Island. A43: There were many units but Battalion 410 was the core force. I do not know if its code name was changed. At that time, Battalion 410 and a part of Unit 450 were sent there. Battalion 410 was the key force that was sent there for a long time”]; D54/108 Sao Sam WRI, A9, 14 [“I was in Battalion 410, Regiment 62, Division 3 [...] A14: my unit was [...] redeployed to Poulowai Chas and Poulowai Thmei Islands”]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A17 [“He [Meas Muth] commanded Tak to take a B.E. motorboat carrying the soldiers of Battalion 410 to Koh Tang Island in order to alternate with my battalion”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A32, 38 [“It was called Platoon 30, Company 10, under Battalion 410 [...] A38:

Then upper echelon pulled out one squad of 15 personnel including me to be taken to deployed on Koh Tang Island”]; D4.1.750 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387278, KH 01496677 [“Battalions under the 21st regiment were sent to Tang Island, Prins Island, and Poulo Wai Chas and Poulo Wai Thmei Islands”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387330, KH 00742581 [“Initial deployment of troops. During the meeting the 410th battalion was ordered to prepare defenses on the islands off the coast of Ream. Source was assigned to prepare small 50-man units to deploy and secure each of the islands. A larger unit would deploy to each island later to establish permanent garrisons [...] Source deployed the first 50-man unit taken from companies within the 410th battalion to Poulo Wai Chas Island [...] The detachment was commanded by Sim, the 410th Battalion political officer. Other detachments were deployed to Pring Island (Koh Pring) [...] and Tang Island (Koh Tang). The 480th Battalion deployed troops to Poulo Wai Thmei Island”].

717 D54/78 Nop Hal WRI, A11 [“Q: How many islands were under the control of Regiment 62? A11: Koh Tang Island, Koh Pring Island, Koh Vie Island, Koh Poulo Wai Chas Island, Koh Poulo Wai Thmei Island and a number of other small islands”]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A6 [“Regiment 62 was a naval infantry attack unit of Division 164 tasked with defending the islands”]; D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A9 [“I have already drawn the areas under the control of Regiment 62. These areas include the islands of Koh Tang, Koh Pring and Koh Polo Wai”]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35 [“The commander of Regiment 62 was Ta Mienh; he was in charge of Koh Polo Wai Island, Koh Pring Island, and Koh Tang”]; D114/283 Ek Ny alias Uk WRI, A52 [“It was Regiment 62 on Koh Tang Island”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A144 [“Regiment 62 was in Koh Tang and Koh Polou Wai Chas and Koh Polou Wai Thmei”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A59 [“After they reorganized the military structure, Battalion 662 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Poulo Wai Island, Battalion 623 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Tang Island, and Battalion 480, (whose commander was Norn) was assigned to be stationed on the new Koh Poulo Wai Island”]; D54/78.1 Nop Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968388, KH 00926615 [“On defence on the islands there were four battalions. As I said, some forces of Battalion 624 grew rice. Defence forces deployed to Koh Poulo Wai Chas, Koh Poulo Wai Thmei, Koh Tang, Koh Prins, Koh Vear after being revised downwards. Earlier, there were also defence forces on Koh Rong [...] Q: How about Regiment 62? A: The several islands I counted a moment ago [...] 62”].

718 D54/78 Nop Hal WRI, A10 [“The Regiment 62 Headquarters was on Koh Tang Island”]; D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A6 [“Koh Tang Island was the Duty Station of Regiment 62”]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A35 [“At Koh Poulo Wai Island, there was a battalion that cooperated with Regiment 140, and that unit had two PCF boats. The battalion reported to Regiment 62 at Koh Tang Island”]; D114/262 Chum Chy WRI, A19; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A164; D114/57.1 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, Annex: Map of Islands, EN 01077740 [witness marked in his own handwriting the area of Regiment 62 on Tang island].

719 D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968378, KH 00926606 [“Q: Was it still Regiment 15 or was it changed? A: The Regiment was dubbed 62. Later on, 480 was used for a while. After I left, it was changed from 480 to 621”].

720 D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A59 [“After they reorganized the military structure [...] Battalion 480, (whose commander was Norn) was assigned to be stationed on the new Koh Poulo Wai Island”]; D114/78 Svay Sameth WRI, A16-17 [“Chum and Nhorn were the Battalion commanders. I am not sure which Battalion they were in charge. I think Nhorn came from Battalion 480 and Chum from Battalion 330. When I was sent to do farming there for the first time, I worked under the control of Nhorn. And after that, Nhorn was sent to an island. Chum became his successor. After that, Chum was sent to Koh Tang Island. But when I was sent to Koh Tang, I did not see him there. Nhorn was sent to Koh Pring Island. He also disappeared [...] Q: In what year did they disappear? A17: It was in late 1976 or early 1977”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A6 [“Nop Norn was the Commissioner of a battalion located on Poulo Wai Island. There were two Poulo Wai Islands called Poulo Wai Thmei Island and Poulo Wai Chas Island. I do not recall if Norn was stationed in Poulo Wai Chas Island or Poulo Wai Thmei Island. I recall that during that time there were two battalions: Battalion 621 and Battalion 622. Each battalion was stationed on each of the two Poulo Wai Islands”]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 4159 [identifying Nop Norn as Secretary of Battalion 621, Regiment 62, Division 164 and as having been arrested on 24 May 1977]; D114/43.7 S-21 Prisoner List (Name List of Prisoners entering in May 1977), EN 01477849 [identifying Nob Norn as Secretary of Battalion 621, Division 164 and as having been arrested on 24 May 1977]; D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [listing Nop Norn as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D1.3.28.33 S-21 Report from Mam Nai alias Chan, 25 May 1977, EN

- 00795289, KH 00088735 [identifying Nob Norn as a battalion secretary in Division 164 who entered S-21 on 24 May 1977].
- 721 D114/76 Svay Sameth WRI, A21 ["I had worked there until 1977 before I was ordered to Koh Poulowai Island. So far as I remember that was in late 1977. I was transferred there to command Battalion 480"]; D220/1.2.1 Ou Kim alias Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 01375018-19, KH 01102507 ["Q: Who was the chairperson of Battalion 621? A: Ta Nan [Norn] was the chairperson [...] Ta Met was his deputy"]; D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195332, KH 00008466 [listing Svay Met as Deputy Secretary of Battalion in Division 164].
- 722 D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A59 ["After they reorganized the military structure, [...] Battalion 480, (whose commander was Norn) was assigned to be stationed on the new Koh Poulo Wai Island"]; D114/127 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A13 ["Koh Poulo Wai Island was under the control of Regiment 62, Division 164. Under Regiment 62 was Battalion 621"]; D114/126 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A9 ["They first sent me to work on Koh Ta Keav Island for about one year. Then they sent me to Koh Rung Island for about a week. Then they sent me to work and live on Koh Tang Island for about one year. Finally, [...] they sent me to work and be stationed on Koh Poulo Wai Island"]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A6 ["during that time there were two battalions: Battalion 621 and Battalion 622. Each battalion was stationed on each of the two Poulo Wai Islands"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A59 ["The upper level gathered our troops and re-organized the units. After they reorganized the military structure, Battalion 662 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Poulo Wai Island, Battalion 623 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Tang Island, and Battalion 480, (whose commander was Norn was assigned to be stationed on the new Koh Poulo Wai Island"]; D114/76 Svay Sameth WRI, A21 ["I was ordered to Koh Poulo wai Island. So far as I remember that was in late 1977. I was transferred there to command Battalion 480"]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387330, KH 00742582 ["The 480th battalion deployed troops to Poulo Wai Thmei Island (Koh Poulo Wai Thmei)"]; D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968378, KH 00926606 ["Then I was at Regiment 621, following my leader to go live on Koh Poulo Wai Chas"].
- 723 D114/127 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A13, 51 ["Koh Poulo Wai Island was under the control of Regiment 62, Division 164. Under Regiment 62 was Battalion 621 [...] Q: Where were the meetings held? A51: At the battalion headquarters, about one kilometre from the dock [at Koh Poulo Wai Island]"].
- 724 See VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea. See also D114/127 Ou Kim alias Ret WRI, A7, 13 ["Most of them, nearly all of them, were tied up [...] A13: Those boats were seized by PCS boats [...] After they captured a boat and the people on board, they brought the people and the boat to the island. They handed the people on board the boat to the soldiers stationed on the island. Koh Poulo Wai Island was under the control of Regiment 62, Division 164. Under Regiment 62 was Battalion 621. Under this battalion there were four companies designated 15, 16, 17 and 18, all of which were stationed on the island. I was in Company 15. Generally, they created a group by selecting two or three soldiers from each company to prepare to receive any people and boats that had been captured"].
- 725 D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A6-7, 21 ["Regiment 62 under Ta Yeang operated on the islands of Koh Tang, Koh Poulo Wai Chas, and Koh Poulo Wai Thmei. [...] A7: I worked in Division 164 from 1975 to 1979 [...] A21: Ta Yeun alias Yoeun, the commander of my battalion, Battalion 622"].
- 726 D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195332, KH 00008466 [listing Aok Chhay "Samnang" as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D114/297.1.21 Pak Sok, T. 5 Jan 2016, 11.14.49-11.17.10 ["Yoeun was replaced by Ta Samnang, who was the commander of my battalion, Battalion 622 [...] in 1975 when I was assigned to be stationed in that island [Poulo Wai]. And I remained on that island until [mid] 1977, when I was assigned to the navy"].
- 727 D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968385-86, KH 00926613 ["Q: Who was the chairman [of] [...] 622? A: His name was Soeun [...] He died in March or April 1979"].
- 728 D54/101 Ek Ny WRI, A9 ["This new Battalion 622 consisted of Companies 41, 42 and 43. Battalion 622 was in Regiment 62 of Division 164"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387462, KH 00742597 ["The 22D battalion was divided into the 41st, 42D, and 43rd companies"]; EN 00387464, KH 00742598 ["Three platoons of the 41st company were deployed to the eastern beach on the north end of the island [...] Each squad had about 12-16 personnel [...] The 42D company was based on the peninsula on the southern end of the eastern beach and the 43rd company was based at the current location of the naval battalion headquarters"].

- 729 D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968385-86, KH 00926613 [“Q: 622? [...] Q: Was [...] 22 on Koh Poulo Wai Chas? A: Yes”]; D220/1.2.1 Ou Kim alias Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 01375021 [Battalion 622 was probably on Koh Poulo Wai Chas]; D54/104 Ek Ny alias Uk WRI, A6 [“I recall that during that time there were two battalions: Battalion 621 and Battalion 622. Each battalion was stationed on each of the two Poulo Wai Islands. I do not know if Nom is dead or alive”]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A59 [“After they reorganized the military structure, Battalion 662 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Poulo Wai Island”]; D54/27 Pak Sok WRI, A6 [“In 1976, my Battalion 622 was positioned on Koh Poulo Wai Island”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968385-86, KH 00926613 [“Q: 622? [...] Q: Was [Battalion 22 [...] on Koh Poulo Wai Chas? A: Yes”]; D220/1.2.1 Ou Kim alias Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 01375021 [Battalion 622 was probably on Koh Poulo Wai Chas].
- 730 D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal WRI, EN 00968399, KH 00926626 [“So, on Koh Tang, the Battalion reported to the Regiment [62], and the Regiment reported to the upper level via their port”].
- 731 D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A36 [“the Vietnamese attacked us and occupied the Koh Polowai Island and also recaptured the Koh Krachak Seh Island from us. Among the units that had been sent to fight at that place were Battalions 410 and 420 of the Division 3. These two Battalions were under the command of two commanders named Torn and Voeun. Torn was the commander of Battalion 420, and Voeun was the commander of Battalion 410”]; D114/76 Svay Sameth WRI, A15 [“At that time [1976], Torn and Moeun were the Commanders of Battalion 420. Torn had continued to be the Commander of this Battalion. However Moeun was removed at a later date”].
- 732 D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A34, 44, 69-70 [“As for Battalion 223, Samnang (alias Kauv) was the commander, Torn was his deputy, and I (Men) was also his deputy. However, they used the term ‘member’ instead of ‘deputy’ at that time [...] Q: Can you confirm whether it was Battalion 623 or 223? A44: It was Battalion 623. I am sorry [...] A69: [...] During the war, Moeun was in charge of that battalion. Then it was changed to 623. Samnang, Torn, and I served there. Q: Among Samnang, Torn and you who was the 623 Commander? A70: Samnang, alias Kauv, was the commander. Speaking of ranks, I held the lowest rank”]; D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A46 [“The commander of the battalion was Brother Torn. The structural arrangement was not complete. There were only two people. The deputy was Brother Men. The commander of the regiment was Uncle Meanh”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A15 [“In Battalion 623, Torn was the Commander, and Men was the Deputy”].
- 733 D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A21, 59, 63 [“I was a Battalion Commander and I was based on Koh Tang Island, Koh Pring Island, and Koh Ver Island. Koh Ver Island was small. Therefore, only 12 soldiers were stationed there. A company comprised of 120 soldiers was based at Koh Pring Island. Koh Pring Island was a twin island, divided by the sea. One part was small, and the other one was big. We deployed two platoons at the bigger one and one platoon at the smaller one [...] A59: Battalion 623 was ordered to be stationed on Koh Tang Island [...] A63: [In 1975 [...] [m]y troops were based on Koh Tang Island, Koh Pring Island, and Koh Pring Island”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A20 [“I was sent there [Koh Tang Island] after 17 April”]. D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968385, KH 00926612 [“On Koh Pring, forces amounted to one battalion Q: 623? A: Yes, 623”].
- 734 D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968379, KH 00926607 [“Q: I went to Koh Tang. Initially, they organized a new unit which they called Squad 624. A: 624? Q: Yes. It consisted of Chum, who has died. The commissioner was Ta Nhan, whom I said a moment ago was the commander”], EN 00968386, KH 00926614 [“Q: 621, 622 and 623 – were there only three [...] within the Regiment? A: Another one was 624 [...] It was that [...] 624 [...] there were two forces. One was on Koh Tang, and the other grew rice in the vicinity of Kang Keng”], EN 00968387, KH 00926614 [“He [Chum] was in control in early 1978. Q: Until late 1978? A: After he was in control for a while, he rose to become deputy of the regiment. After he rose to become deputy of the regiment for a while, was transferred to fight in the East”].
- 735 Also called “Regiment 16” by some witnesses: D114/285 Prum Sarat WRI, A20 [“Regiment 16, which was under Yan was stationed in Kang Keng”]. About the change of denomination in July-August 1975, see, e.g., D2/8 Say Born WRI, A39 [“Q: What was the previous name of the Regiment 163? A39: It was the Regiment 22”].
- 736 D2/8 Say Born WRI, A40 [“Q: Yan was the commissar, Sras was the deputy, and Nhan was the member”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A5 [“Ta Sros was the Commissioner of that regiment, and Yan was the Commander. Yan was among traitors whose names were made a rhyme by Ta Mut, ‘Nhoek, Chhan, Yan and Doem were traitors’”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 [“Ta Yan was the Political Chairman of Regiment 22”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A3, 20 [“The regiment commanders were Yan (deceased) and Sros [...] A20:

Let me confirm about the locations. Regiment 16, which was under Yan, was stationed in Kang Keng”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A9 [“Battalions 530, 540 and 550 were under a regiment whose commander was Ta Yan”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A30 [“Q: Which unit was Mom Yan in and what was his position? A30: He had been the commander of Regiment 63 of Division 164 since the beginning. It was when the regiment was stationed in Kang Keng”]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A30 [“Q: Did you know Mom Yan? A30: Yes, I did. He was the Commander of Regiment 63. His base was in Kang Keng Airport which was near a crossroad at Smach Daeng between an entry to the airport and the national road [...] Chorn came to replace him”]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35 [“The commander of Regiment 63 was Yan on Koh Seh Island, Koh Ta Kiev Island, Koh Thmei Island near Ream”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [“Yan [...] was a former commander of Regiment 63”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A35 [“Sras was the Chief of Regiment 22”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974078-79, KH 00926525 [“Q: Who was the Chief of Regiment 16? A: Yan”]; D54/112.1 Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968345, KH 00926490 [“Q: Can you recall who was the commander of the regiment? [...] A: Yan”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A5.

737 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 4797 as Mom Chim alias Mom Yan, who entered 28 April 1977, and was executed on 13 March 1978]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 24 (and No. 27 – duplicate); D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750, KH 00086996 [identifying Mom Yan as Division 164 Member, having entered S-21 in May 1977]; D1.3.28.45 S-21 Prisoner List (Name list of Documented Prisoners – Unit 164), 26 Aug 1977 [includes the name of Mam Chim alias Yan, Division member, whose confession was audio-taped]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A27 [“Mom Yan was in Division 164 in 1975”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A5; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A1; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4-5; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6; D114/155 Sok Ren WRI, A67; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A26 [Yan was Division 3 Committee”]; D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A27-28, 30; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A64, 67, 226; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A23.

738 D54/48 EM Sun WRI, A58 [“I just heard that Nget and Sras were arrested, but I did not know where they were sent to”].

739 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897655, KH 00095536-37 [listing Comrade Sin Chorn as Secretary of Regiment in Division 164]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A20, 30 [“The commander of Regiment 63 was Chorn. Nhanh was Chorn’s deputy [...] A30: He [Yan] was the Commander of Regiment 63 before Chorn came to replace him. I do not know what happened to him”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A6 [“the commander of that regiment was Yan. Later, in 1976, when we were in Kampong Som, Ta Yan was transferred to another place and Ta Chorn became the commander of my regiment: Regiment 63 was my regiment at that time. In 1977, Ta Chorn disappeared”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A12, 19 [“There were Ta Nhann and Ta Chorn who were the commanders of the Regiment 63 [...] A19: When I first arrived in Teuk Sap in 1977, Ta Chorn was in charge of that place. Ta Chorn was the commander of the Regiment 63, and Ta Nhann was his deputy”]; D114/115 Svay Saman WRI, A14 [“The commander of Regiment 63 was Chorn. His house was near Tuek Sab”]; D114/114 Svay Saman WRI, A19 [“Q: Who were the commanders of Division 164 and Regiment 63? A19 [...] Chorn was the regiment commander”].

740 In July 1975, Meas Muth just scolded Kim Nahn for killing people, but he was never punished, rather, he was promoted to be Regiment Commander and even trusted enough by Meas Muth to replace the Division 117 commander in Kratie in late 1978: D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A28, 120-122, 124 [“I remember that Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 [...] Q: According to your interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia in English, on page 71, you said that, ‘After listening to the report, Bang Meas Muth asked Ta Nhan about the killing of people. He asked, ‘Who told you to kill those people? Who permitted you to investigate people at their houses? You deserve to be the same way by the people. Actually, the people should have poured hot water on your head. You did not have the right to monitor them. Before you killed people, did you get permission from your superior?’ Did you hear Meas Muth scolding Ta Nhan like this first-hand? A120: Yes, I heard that first-hand, because that time there was an assembly which the Division 164 leaders attended [...] A121: Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 under the management of Division 164 where Meas Muth was the commander. Therefore, in this sense, it meant that Ta Nhan needed permission from Meas Muth [...] A122: I do not know in what circumstances the people were killed by Ta Nhan, but I remember that in that meeting Ta Nhan reported to Meas Muth that he had killed people [...] A124: [...] it took place in July 1975”].

- 741 D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 ["When I first arrived in Teuk Sap in 1977, Ta Chorn was in charge of that place. Ta Chorn was the commander of the Regiment 63, and Ta Nhann was his deputy"]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A11 ["In 1976, Ta Chorn came to replace Ta Yan, who was the commander of Regiment 63, and Ta Nhan was the deputy of Ta Chorn"]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A20 ["The commander of Regiment 63 was Chorn. Nhanh was Chorn's deputy"].
- 742 D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A11-12 ["In 1977, when Ta Chorn disappeared, Ta Nhan, who was his deputy, took command of the regiment [...] A12: At that time, there was only Ta Nhan. His deputy had not yet been appointed. In addition, there was no official announcement that Ta Nhan had replaced the previous commander; but the daily work of the regiment was overseen by Ta Nhan"]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A12, 19 ["There were Ta Nhann and Ta Chorn who were the commanders of the Regiment 63 [...] A19: [...] Later on, Chorn was arrested and Nhann took over his position"]; D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A26 ["Ta Nhan was the Commander of Regiment 63"]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A2 ["Regiment 63 was commanded by Ta Nhan"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28, 121 ["I remember that Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 [...] A121: Ta Nhan was the commander of Regiment 63 under the management of Division 164 where Meas Muth was the commander"]; D114/17.1 Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01313341, KH 01033986 ["Q: Who was in charge of Regiment 63? A: Ta Nhanh was"]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Liet Lorn) WRI, A37, 111 ["Q: Who commanded the land army? A37: Nhan. He is now deceased [...] Q: Do you know the names of those who belonged to the Special Command that Meas Muth sent to the battlefield? A111: Lan (deceased) and Nhan (in charge of Division 3 Logistics)"]; D114/139 Nguon Lay WRI, A14, 17-20 ["I was also a personal bodyguard of Nhan [...] A17: [...] Ta Nhan was sent to Kampong Saom [...] A18: [...] I went with him. I was still his personal bodyguard. [...] A19: [...] it was probably at the end of 1975 or at the start of 1976 when I went [to Kampong Saom]. [...] A20: [...] I was in Division 164, Regiment 63"]; D114/202 Or Saran WRI, A14, 38 ["Q: What was the name of the commander of Regiment 63? A14: His name was Nhan [...] A38: Comrade Veth and Nhan were the commanders of the regiment. Nhan was only ever stationed on land"]; D114/16 Sok Vanna A1, 7, 37 ["[Ta Nhan] was promoted from company chairman to battalion chairman to regiment chairman, and then to be Ta Mut's deputy [...] A37: I attended regimental level meetings chaired by Ta Nhan many times. Only persons with good biographies were called to attend those meetings"].
- 743 D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 ["Later on, Chorn was arrested and Nhann took over his position"]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A6 ["I did not remember the number of the regiment, but the commander of that regiment was Yan. Later, in 1976, when we were in Kampong Som, Ta Yan was transferred to another place and Ta Chorn became the commander of my regiment: Regiment 63 was my regiment at that time. In 1977, Ta Chorn disappeared"].
- 744 See para. 864. See also D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A35, 40-42 ["Ta Nhan came to take charge of Division 117 [...] A40: [...] at that time, Meas Muth came to organise Division 117 and assigned Ta Nhan commander of Division 117 [...] A41: I learned that through the new commander, Ta Nhan. Ta Nhan said, 'Brother Meas Muth has come to Kratie to reorganise Division 117 [...] A42: [...] Ta Nhan went to command Division 117 about a month before the arrival of the Vietnamese soldiers in approximately late November or early December 1978"]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A5-6; D114/193 Sao Sarun WRI, A64; D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278696; D114/192 Chen Phat WRI, A42; D114/102 Em Sarin WRI, A22; D54/62 Moeng Vet WRI, A30; D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A1; D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A13; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A15; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A16-17.
- 745 D114/116 Svay Saman WRI, A30 ["[Mom Yan] had been the commander of Regiment 63 of Division 164 since the beginning. It was when the regiment was stationed in Kang Keng"]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A30 ["[Mom Yan] was the Commander of Regiment 63. His base was in Kang Keng Airport which was near a crossroad at Smach Daeng between an entry to the airport and the national road"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A22-23 ["My Regiment 22 was stationed at Kang Keng Airport. Our workplaces were around that airport. Later, in around early 1976, I left Regiment 22 [...] A23: [...] Kang Keng Airport was the base of Regiment 22"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A3 ["Q: where was the command base of the Regiment 22? A3: The command base of the Regiment was in Thmar Thom village adjacent to the Airfield"]; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A20 ["I was in Division 164, Regiment 63. I stayed at Kang Keng Airport. I stayed there for three months"]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A26-28 ["The headquarters of Regiment 63 was at Kang Keng Airport [...] A27: The headquarters of Regiment 63 was right there at Kang Keng Airport. But there were subordinate units, such as the logistics unit of Regiment 63, located at Tuek Sab [...] A28: The house of the commander of Regiment 63 was inside Kang Keng Airport. At that time, Kang Keng airport was not in operation, so the commander stayed inside a building in the airport compound”].

746 D114/115 Svay Saman WRI, A8, 10, 14, 30 [“Tuck Sab was under Regiment 63, Division 164 [...] A10: [...] I stayed in Kang Keng and travelled to and from Tuek Sab every single day. At the end of 1975, I relocated to the Tuek Sab area near the bridge. All the warehouses were relocated to Tuek Sab too [...] A14: The commander of Regiment 63 was Chorn. His house was near Tuek Sab [...] Q: Where was the regiment headquarters located after moving to Tuek Sab? A30: [...] The headquarters was situated at the concrete building at the Tuek Sab dock”]; D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A21, 28 [“Q: Where was Regiment 63 headquarters located? A21: It was located in Tuek Sap [...] A28: I did not know when the Regiment 63 headquarters was moved from Tuek Sap”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A249 [“Q: Do you know where Regiment 63’s headquarters was? A249: At Tuek Sap”]; D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A38, 43 [“The Regiment 22 stationed in Teuk Sap. I was in Regiment 22 but I stayed in Smach Deng [...] A43: [...] As for Regiment 22, it had its base in Teuk Sap”]; D54/111 Sam Phin WRI, A16 [“To my knowledge, Toek Sap was under Regiment 63. Toek Sap was located near Prey Nob”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A5 [“Yan was the commander of Regiment 33 with its headquarters at Tuek Sab”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 [“When I first arrived in Teuk Sap in 1977, Ta Chorn was in charge of that place. Ta Chorn was the commander of the Regiment 63, and Ta Nhann was his deputy. That Regiment 63 based in a place near the intersection of National Road 4 and the road to Ream which was also close to the Kang Keng Airfield”]; D114/77 Svay Sameth WRI, A20 [“Q: Of the regiments under Division 164, which one had jurisdiction over Teuk Sab Sector? A20: Regiment 63 did”]; D114/202 Or Saran WRI, A17 [“Q: Where was Regiment 63 situated when your unit was stationed at Kang Keng Airport? A17: I heard that it was situated at Toek Sab. I am not sure about that because no one was allowed to approach the headquarters. If anyone entered there, he or she would be arrested”].

747 See para. 488. See also D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A11-12, 19 [Regiment 63 Commander Chorn and Deputy Nhann were in charge of Toek Sap prison]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A137-138, 146, 249 [Regiment 63 has a security office and headquarters located in Toek Sap]; D54/41 Ou Sarann (Or Saran) WRI, A21 [Regiment 63 headquarters located in Toek Sap].

748 See VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites.

749 D114/57 Som Soam alias Ket WRI, A9 [“I have already drawn the areas under the control of Regiment 63. These areas include the islands of Koh Seh, Koh Thmey and Prek Chak, located to the East of Ream”]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A144 [“Regiment 61 was in Koh Rung Thom. Regiment 62 was in Koh Tang and Koh Polou Wai Chas and Koh Polou Wai Thmei. Regiment 63 was in Koh Thmei and Koh Seh”]; D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A6 [“Regiment 63 under Ta Nhan operated on Koh Seh, Koh Antay and Koh Kyang. They did not have warships, but had motoboats for transportation purposes”]; D114/178 Oem Sokhan WRI, A35 [“The commander of Regiment 63 was Yan on Koh Seh Island, Koh Ta Kiev Island, Koh Thmei Island, near Ream in a coconut plantation in Kang Keng”].

750 D2/8 Say Born WRI, A51 [“Now I remember the battalions under the Regiment 22 were as follow: They were Battalions 520, 530, 540, and 550”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A7 [“I do not remember the first digit whether it was a 1 or a 5, but I remember vividly the last two digits. They were 20, 30, 40 and 50 in Regiment 22”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A6 [“Q: [...] what was the designation of your unit? A6: It was probably Battalion 520”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387329, KH 00742581; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A9 [Battalions 530, 540 and 550 were under a regiment commander was Ta Yan]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A64, 246 [mentions Battalion 540], A17, 22, 248 [“Q: In what battalion was your children’s unit? A17: It was in Battalion 580. [...] A22: Their ages ranged from 12 or 13 to 20 years old [...] Q: Of what area did Battalion 580 take control? A248: The coconut plantation”]; D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A9, 11; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A37; D54/30 Soem Ny WRI, A8, 11; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974078, KH 00926525 [Battalion 530, Regiment 16, belonged to Division 3]. Only Mak Chhoeun (Tep Chhoeun) claimed that Battalion 550 was in reality called 560 (or that its name changed from 550 to 560); D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29, 32-33 [“Battalion 540 was under the control of Sary [...] A32: [...] Battalion 520 was under the control of Han. Battalion 530 was under the control of Vet. Battalion 540 was under the control of Sary and Battalion 560 was under my control. There was no Battalion 550. [...] A33: Han was the commander of Battalion 520”].

751 This is based on the names of the leaders of those battalions which for the most part remained the same. See also D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A52 [“In Regiment 63, there were Battalions 31, 32, 33 (631, 632, 633”]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3 [“Vet was the Battalion 631 Chairman”]; D54/41 Or Saran (Ou Sarann) WRI, A16 [“I was in Company 3, Battalion 631 of Regiment 63”].

- 752 See, e.g., Mak Chhoeun always used the designation Battalion 560 (or 550) in all his written records of interview, although he was the commander of the new Battalion 633: D234/2.1.141 Mak Chhoeun, T. 12 Dec 2016, 15.24.15-15.27.28 ["Vet was the head of Battalion 530 and as for 540, it was Sary, and I was in charge of 560"]; D114/20 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A34-35 ["Yes, I knew Oeng Vet. I remember he was Battalion 530 Secretary. Q: In this document, he was written as Battalion 631. Why do you say Vet was the commander of Battalion 530? A35: I am not sure about the number in this document; I do not know why the number of the Battalion is 631. As far as I remember, Vet was actually Battalion 530 Secretary. I am not sure about the change of the numerical designation"]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A32 ["As I remember, Battalion 520 was under the control of Han. Battalion 530 was under the control of Vet. Battalion 40 was under the control of Sary and Battalion 560 was under my control. There was no Battalion 550"].
- 753 D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A17, 22, 63-64, 248 ["Q: In what battalion was your children's unit? A17: It was in Battalion 580 [...] A22: Their ages ranged from 12 or 13 to 20 years old [...] A63: Another battalion was located near that area [coconut plantation stretching from Ong Village to Kang Keng Airport [...] A64: I heard that it was called Battalion 540 [...] Q: Of what area did Battalion 580 take control? A248: The coconut plantation"]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A8-9 ["My company was deployed at Thma Thurn Village, about 500 metres south of Kang Keng Airport along the road leading to the Ream port [...] A9: [...] Company 24 was stationed in Lor Edth Village, and my Company 26 was located in Thma Thurn Village. Company 28 was in Ou Mlu Village. Our battalion command was also located in Ou Mlu Village. The three companies above were under Battalion 540"].
- 754 D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A32-33 ["As I remember, Battalion 520 was under the control of Han [...] A33: Han was the commander of Battalion 520. As far as I remember, this Battalion was sent to join the Navy, and Han remained the commander. As far as I knew, Han was in the navy, in a so-called chase ship unit"]; D114/20 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A41 ["There was someone also named Chhoeun, and he was in the same place with Sari. Chhoeung was a commander in the battalion of Han that we talked about in the beginning. Han's unit was split in two; some were designated to the navy and some to the islands"].
- 755 D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750, KH 00086996 [identifying Korng Kien alias Oeng Vet, as Secretary of Battalion 631, and as having entered S-21 in April 1977]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 2368 as Kung Kien alias Eung or Oeng Vet, Battalion 631 Secretary who entered S-21 in April 1977, and was executed on 13 March 1978]; D54/27.2 List of Division 164 Persons arrested, EN 01185467, 471, KH 00955558-60 [listing Korng Kien alias Oeng Vet as Secretary of Battalion 631, Division 164 and Mon as Deputy Secretary of Battalion 631]; D1.3.18.4 Kung Kien alias Ing Vet S-21 Confession, EN 00822048, KH 00017305, FR 00825431; D114/20.3 Kung Kien alias Ing Vet S-21 Confession, EN 01507936, KH 01034043 [Vet was described as the commander of Battalion 530]; D234/2.1.141 Mak Chhoeun, T. 12 Dec 2016, 15.24.15-15.27.28 ["Vet was the head of Battalion 530"]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A32 ["Battalion 530 was under the control of Vet"]; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A36, 65-66, 74, 77 ["I only know about Koh Seh Island. It was in Battalion 31. Veth was the one who stayed there, but he has died already [...] A65: [Veth] [...] was arrested [...] A66: [...] I heard people say that he had been arrested when he went to a seminar. When he went to the mainland in order to take part to in the seminar, I transported him and his fellows there [...] Q: Regarding the senior leaders, like Veth, who were called for the seminars, did they return? A74: Only this man never returned [...] Q: Do you know if he was arrested at that time? [...] A77: Well, I heard about it when those who had attended the seminar returned home"]; D4.1.764 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00398164, KH 00398157 ["Another example is Kung Kieng alias Ing Vet's, confession (Secretary of Battalion 631, 63rd Regiment, 164th Division)"]; D54/104 Ek Ny WRI, A3 ["Vet was the Battalion 631 Chairman [...] Vet was in the army, stationed in Kang Keng Airport, but he was arrested [...] I believe that he is dead because Ta Mut held a meeting and said about confessions. Ta Mut announced that Vet was traitorous"]; D114/202 Ou Sarann WRI, A38 ["Q: when you were stationed on the island, who was the commander of the battalion? A38: Comrade Veth and Nhan were the commanders of the regiment. Nhan was only ever stationed on land; Veth was on the [Koh Seh] island"]; D114/20 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A34, 36 ["Yes, I knew Oeng Vet. I remember he was Battalion 530 Secretary [...] A36: I knew about his [Vet] disappearance, but I did not know the date. At the time, I thought he had been transferred to a different place"]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A6 ["Vet was at that time rose to be the Commander of Battalion 104"]; D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A4 ["those arrested were: [...] Vet, Commander of my battalion"]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A18 [explains that everyone was aware of the arrest of Kung Kien alias Ing Vet as he was prominent figure]; D54/112.1 Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968344-45, KH 00926490: ["Q: So you were in Regiment 22 of Division 3. Which battalion? A: Battalion 330 [...] Vet was the commander of the battalion”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974078, KH 00926525 [Q: “Who was Chief of Battalion 530?” A: “Vet”];

756 D54/27.2 List of Division 164 Persons Arrested, EN 01185467-471, KH 00955558-60 [identifying Korng Kien alias Oeng Vet as Secretary of Battalion 631, Division 164 and Mon as Deputy Secretary of Battalion 631]. See also D1.3.18.4 Kung Kien alias Eung Vet S-21 Confession, 26 May 1977, EN 00822099 [identifying Mon as Under-secretary of Battalion 631].

757 D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A22-23; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A3; D54/112.1, D59/1/1.10a Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968346, KH 00926491-92.

758 D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A34-36 [“The headquarters of Battalion 530 of Vet was at Tuek Sab near the logistics site of Regiment 63 [...] A35: [...] The headquarters of Battalion 530 was at the Lon Nol military base [...] A36: [...] the soldiers in Battalion 530 were sent out to work at other places [...] Only the headquarters was at Tuek Sap [...] I heard that in 1977 Battalion 530 was probably dissolved. At that time, Vet had disappeared and the soldiers in his unit were incorporated into the Navy”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 [Marking a map (D114/19.2) with “The headquarters of Battalion 530 of Regiment 63 at Tuek Sab”].

759 D1.3.8.3 CPK Military Meeting Minutes, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012, KH 00021496-97 [“Human force: One regiment (three battalions) are placed on Koh Wai, Koh Tang and Koh Rong, one battalion on Koh Seh and one battalion on another island close to Koh Seh”]; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A36 [“I only know about Koh Seh Island. It was in Battalion 31. Veth was the one who stayed there”]; D54/41 Ou Sarann (Or Saran) WRI, A19, 20, 27 [“My battalion was stationed at a coconut plantation in Cheng Heng and near Kang Keng airport [...] A20: My battalion was removed from the coconut plantation and Kang Keng airport in late 1975 and sent to Seh Island [...] A27: [...] In early 1976 [...] my battalion was sent to Koh Seh Island”]; D114/202 Ou Sarann WRI, A16, 37-38 [“The unit was first sent to Kang Keng Airport in 1975 and then to Koh Ses Island for an entire year [...] A37: In early 1976, I guarded the island [...] The entire Battalion 631 was transferred there [...] A38: Veth was on the [Koh Seh] island”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A56, 63-64 [“Q: had Division 164 taken power yet? A56: Yes [...] A63: Another battalion was located near that area [coconut plantation] [...] That battalion moved from place to place. Then, it was sent to an island [...] A64: I heard it was called Battalion 540”].

760 D54/41 Ou Sarann (Or Srana) WRI, A28 [“In early 1977, I was sent from Koh Seh Island to Smach Daeng, where I, along with more than 100 soldiers from different units, were sent to the East zone under Division 180”]; D114/202 Ou Sarann WRI, A43 [“When leaving Kampong Som, Koh Ses Island, some forces were selected to go to the East Zone. They were included in a new unit called Division 280”].

761 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [listing Nhet Sary, No. 145, as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D234/2.1.141 Mak Chhoeun, T. 12 Dec 2016, 15.24.15-15.27.28 [“Vet was the head of Battalion 530 and as for 540, it was Sary”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 [“Battalion 540 was under the control of Sary, and his headquarters was outside the compound of Kang Keng airport”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A9 [“Company 24 was stationed in Lor Edth Village, and my Company 26 was located in Thma Thurn Village. Company 28 was in Ou Mlu Village. Our battalion command was also located in Ou Mlu Village. The three companies above were under Battalion 540, whose commander was Sari. He is dead. Battalions 530, 540 and 550 were under a regiment whose commander was Ta Yan, but I do not remember the number of this regiment” (emphasis added)]; D114/285 Prum Sarat (Bun Sarath) WRI, A3 [“The battalion commanders were Sary and Uoch”]; D114/20 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A41 [“There was someone also named Chhoeun, and he was in the same place with Sari. Chhoeung was a commander in the battalion of Han that we talked about in the beginning. Han’s unit was split in two; some were designated to the navy and some to the islands. So, I do not know what happened to him”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969929, KH 00926306 [“Q: Who was in charge of Battalion 540? A: “Sary was”].

762 D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A8-9 [“When I arrived at Kang Keng Airport, I saw evacuees walking along the road out of Kampong Som. My company was deployed at Thma Thum Village, about 500 metres south of Kang Keng Airport along the road leading to the Ream port [...] A9: Company 24 was stationed in Lor Edth Village, and my Company 26 was located in Thma Thum Village. Company 28 was in Ou Mlu Village. Our battalion command was also located in Ou Mlu Village. The three companies above were under Battalion 540”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A63-64 [“Another battalion was located near that area [coconut plantation stretching from Ong Village to Kang Keng Airport] [...] A64: I heard that it was called Battalion 540”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 [“The headquarters of Battalion 540, which was under the command of Sari, of Regiment 63, which was close to Kang Keng, on the other side of National Road 4”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 [“Battalion 540 was under the control of Sari, and his headquarters was outside the compound of Kang Keng airport”]; D54/41 Or Saran WRI, A20 [“My battalion [631] was removed from the coconut plantation and Kang Keng airport in late 1975 and sent to Seh Island while another battalion from the same regiment was assigned to the coconut plantation and the airport. I am not sure whether Battalion 632 or Battalion 633 was assigned to replace my battalion at Kang Keng then”].

763 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [Tep Chhoeun, No.146 as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D234/2.1.141 Mak Chhoeun, T. 12 Dec 2016, 15.24.15-15.27.28 [“Vet was the head of Battalion 530 and as for 540, it was Sari, and I was in charge of 560”]; D114/20 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A26 [“I remember I attended those studies. I remember that the course was held in Olympic stadium in Phnom Penh. I remember that I was sent to participate in such courses twice. The first time, I did not make it because I had an accident [...] Number 123 was Dim, was division deputy; and number 146 was me. During the Khmer Rouge regime, I used my grandfather’s name, Tep, as my family name. But today, I use my father’s name, Mak, as my family name instead”]; D114/32 Meas Saran WRI, A90 [“Her husband’s name was Chhoeun and he was a battalion commander”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A32 [“As I remember, Battalion 520 was under the control of Han. Battalion 530 was under the control of Vet. Battalion 40 was under the control of Sari and Battalion 560 was under my control. There was no Battalion 550”]; D114/16 Sok Vanna WRI, A7 [“As I told you, Chhoeun, who was blind in one eye, was born in Prey Veng Village. He was my battalion commander, and we were stationed on Koh Thmei Island”]; D114/17.1 Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01313341, KH 01033986 [“Q: Were you in charge of the battalion? A: Yes, I was. Q: What battalion was it? A: It was Battalion 550 [Handwritten note: Battalion 560]”].

764 D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A3 [“Later on Battalion 550 was assigned as the following: a company was ordered to stay guard at the port, another company was deployed to Koh Tang and Koh Poulo Wai islands, and the other company was sent to Koh Rong Knong and Koh Rong Krau islands”]; D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A13 [“Q: Battalion 550 stayed in Kang Keng Airfield for about 15 days before it was sent on to Koh Tang Island [...] A: Yes, correct”]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A6 [“I do not remember the number of my battalion, but it was in Regiment 22. After the unit was organised, I was deployed to Koh Tang Island”]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387463, KH 00742598 [“Mr. Sok went with the 22D battalion to Ream. They stayed in Ream for about five days, after which the entire battalion was then deployed to Tang Island on three boats”].

765 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 [“The two headquarters of my battalion [506], one of which was on Koh Thmei Island and the other of which was on Koh Seh Island”]; D114/18 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A6, 24 [“Regiment 63 was my regiment [...] A24: I was on Koh Thmei Island from 1975 [...] I was on the island until the Khmer Rouge regime nearly collapsed”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun (Mak Chhoeun) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969930, KH 00926307 [“Q: Which islands was [Regiment] 63 stationed on? A: I only knew my unit. We [were] stationed on Koh Seh and Koh Thmey”] EN 00969939, KH 00926317. [“Q: How long did you remain on Koh Seh or Koh Thmey? A: I remained there until the end of the war in 1979”]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement (Navy Soldier, Division 164), EN 01088459, KH 01007858 [“Chhoeun was in charge of the island, like Koh Thmei Island”].

766 D1.3.30.2 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976, EN 00231824, KH 00021446; D2/6 Nhoung Chrong WRI, A22 [“They had me defend the Island against the Vietnamese force and do rice farming there”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A65 [“They ordered us to defend Koh Seh Island because they were afraid that the Yuon would come there”]; D114/139 Nguon Lay alias Y WRI, A38 [“At Koh Seh and Koh Thmei Islands. There were two ports. My main responsibility was to catch fish. If we caught a lot of fish, we distributed them to other units”]; D114/109 Prum Sambath WRI, A30 [“They had me to defend Koh Seh Island against the Vietnamese who were on Koh Trol Island”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun (Mak Chhoeun) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969934, KH 00926311-12 [“Q: While guarding the island, did you encounter anything? A: We clashed and fought with the Yuon. Q: Fight with the Yuon? A: Yes! We could see each other between Koh Tral and Koh Seh. When they walked we also walked since we could see one another. Q: When you said you fought with the Yuon, did you mean the Yuon on Koh Tral? A: They were on Koh Tral and we were on Koh Seh”].

767 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A18-19 [“In August 1975, a new division, Division 164, was established [...] A19: [...] Division 3 had been changed to Division 164, and that a new naval brigade, Brigade 140, had also been established”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“140th Naval Regiment. In August 1975, the 164th (3rd) division created the 140th naval regiment”; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968419, KH 00926644 [“sometime after the liberation, they established a regiment for the Navy, called Regiment 140”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A16; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A36; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387328, KH 00742578. Some witnesses erroneously remembered this regiment to have been created in 1976 and not in 1975: D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A38, A51-52 [“In 1976, they created Regiment 140 to be a navy unit, and Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were sent to the islands [...] A51: [...] when Regiment 140 was created, soldiers from the East came to join the navy [...] A52: When we were at Regiment 140, they sent about 500 to 600 soldiers from the East Zone to join the navy”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 [“At the end of the political study, around January or February 1976, Meas Muth announced the forming of the Navy Forces called Regiment 140”].

D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A17 [“The Division 164 was in turmoil, especially what happened in Regiment 140 which composed of four battalions included Battalions 141, 142, 143 and 144. The troops in these four battalions were mixed with troops in Kampong Som and those sent from Phnom Penh”]. Regiment 140 was sometimes called Unit 140: D2/9 Say Born WRI, A16 [“At that time when they organized the marine forces, they selected troops from the Regiments 61, 62, and 63 of the Division 164, and together with another regiment from the East Zone, which was called the Unit 140, they organized them as the Unit 140”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A63 [“Q: In Regiment 140, where were the soldiers from? A63: There were different forces mixed together. Those forces were from the East Zone”]; D114/285 Bun Sarath (Prum Sarat) WRI, A51 [“Division 164 included Navy Regiment 140. They were soldiers and cadres from the three regiments of Division 3. According to what I remember, they mobilized over 700 soldiers”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A36; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387328, KH 00742578.

D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A15 [“Regiment 140 was appointed to protect the islands and water borders”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A40 [“We defended the sea because we were afraid of secret agents coming to spy”]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A3 [“All the battleships were under the control of Regiment 140”]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A19 [“Regiment 140 controlled all of its warships and had the role of combat at sea. All navy boats were under Regiment 140”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A28 [“Regiment 140 was in charge of all vessels”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 [“Regiment 140 was responsible for ships”].

D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A31, 33 [“in Regiment 140 there were four Type 136 Chinese combat boats, 12 pursuit boats, and two anti-submarine ships [...] A33: They anchored at different places such [as] Koh Rong Island”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A20 [“Sometimes, our ship was anchored at Ou Chheu Teal, and other times at Ream depending on the orders we received from the division”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974195, KH 00926375 [“Q: Where were Vessel 17-8 and Vessel 17-9 stationed? A: They were stationed at Koh Rong island and occasionally moved to Ou Chheu Teal”].

D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A10, 22 [“I knew Saroeun when the Regiment 140 was first created. Saroeun was the commander of that regiment [...] A22: commenting about Document No. D1.3.14.2, EN 00233944-45, KH 00161788-89: “The second document describes the plan to take Vessel No. 2 to be repaired. The person named Roeun mentioned in this telegram was Saroeun – the Commander of Regiment 140”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A36 [“Q: Who was commander of the Navy? A36: Saroeun, but he has disappeared, and then Seng took over the Navy”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 [“Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“The first leaders [of Regiment 140] included Ta Saroeun. Saroeun was the chairman, and Sam, from the side of Ta Doem, was the commander and deputy chairman. After that it was Ta Seng, and Ta Sam was arrested. He was arrested under Ta Doem’s time”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“The Regiment Commander was (Saroeun) (deceased) who was also the Regiment’s political officer”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A176-178 [“Q: We would like to ask you about Regiment 140. Who was the commander of Regiment 140? A176: Saroeun. Q: We have received information that Tim Seng was also once the commander of Regiment 140. Have you ever heard this name? A177: I heard of him and knew him. He was Saroeun’s deputy commander [...] A178: In Regiment 140 there were only the following: Saroeun, Seng and Han”]; D54/43 Lon Seng WRI, A2 [“Meas Mut was the political commissar. There were three regiments within Division 3, and each regiment was controlled by a commander. I only remember my regiment chief, Bang Saroeun”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A34 [“Q: At that time who were appointed to be the chief, deputy, and member of the Unit 140? A34: In that unit I did not know how they organized it. But I knew that Saroeun was the chief of the unit. But after Saroeun had been disappeared or removed”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A20 [“Q: What was the name of the Regiment 140 commander? A20: Ta Saroeun [...] and Ta Horn”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A2.

772 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A56 [“Meas Mut issued orders to the regiment [140] of Saroeun, and Saroeun relayed the orders to the battalion of Han, and Han relayed it to me, the company commander”].

773 D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A6, 9 [“Q: Who was the deputy of Meas Mut? A6: I do not know who the commanders and deputy were. But in his committee, there were three people: Ta Mut, Ta Saroeun and Ta Nhan [...] A9: Ta Saroeun was sent to Kampong Som Port”]; D54/81 Hing Uch WRI, A14 [“Later Yan also came in to take charge of Division 164 with Uncle Mut [...] Saroeun came in to replace Yan. Saroeun was from Regiment 140 and probably replaced Ta Yan”]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A17 [“Yesterday, I talked about Saroeun. I suspect that Roeun and Saroeun were the same person. Among the cadres, his name was heard more than the others”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 [“Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1 [“Ta Saroeun, also dead, was the deputy of Meas Mut in charge of the military. Meas Mut was the political commissar in overall charge”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A224-225 [“In Regiment 140, there was Saroeun, the political chairman (deceased). Below Saroeun, there were Seng (deceased), Saroeun’s deputy, and Sam, Seng’s member [...] A225: When Saroeun was promoted to division level, Seng replaced Saroeun”].

774 D114/65 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A12 [“Ta Sam, who was from the East Zone, was the deputy. But Ta Sam was smashed at that time”]; D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A5 [“Dim went to Kampong Som before Sam and me. In Kampong Som, Dim was Division 164 Deputy Commander. Sam was in the regiment”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“The first leaders [of Regiment 140] included Ta Saroeun. Saroeun was the chairman, and Sam, from the side of Ta Doem, was the commander and deputy chairman. After that it was Ta Seng, and Ta Sam was arrested. He was arrested under Ta Doem’s time”]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 14561 as Sam in Regiment 140, Division 164]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, No. 39 EN 00679643; D1.3.1.8 Sam S-21 Confession, 13 July 1976; D1.3.5.4 S-21 Prisoner List of People implicated by Enemies, EN 01149197 [identifying No. 1 as Saroeun a Commissioner of Regiment 140; No. 2 as, Sam Commander; and No. 3 as Seng, Deputy Commander]. Witness Yoem Sroeung mistakenly believed that Sam replaced Seng: D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A225 [“When Saroeun was promoted to division level, Seng replaced Saroeun, Sam replaced Seng, and Han replaced Sam”].

775 Seng might have succeeded to Sam at this position of deputy commander after the latter’s arrest in mid-1976, or may have been the second deputy commander since the creation of Regiment 140 in August 1975: D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A9 [“After the navy was created, Seng became a deputy commander of Regiment 140”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A177-178 [“Q: We have received information that Tim Seng was also once the commander of Regiment 140. Have you ever heard this name? A177: I heard of him and knew him. He was Saroeun’s deputy commander [...] A178: [...] In Regiment 140 there were only the following: Saroeun, Seng and Han”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A222-224 [“Q: Where did Seng go? Why did he cease being the commander of Regiment 61? A222: Because Seng was moved to Regiment 140. Q: What was Seng’s position at Regiment 140? A223: Seng held a more senior position than Han did. Q: Can you describe the senior-level leadership in Regiment 140? A224: In Regiment 140, there was Saroeun, the political chairman (deceased). Below Saroeun, there were Seng (deceased), Saroeun’s deputy, and Sam, Seng’s member”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“Q: And did Regiment 140 consist of Ta Seng – was he the leader? [...] A: The first leaders included Ta Seng [...] a deputy”]; D1.3.5.4 S-21 Prisoner List of People implicated by Enemies, EN 01149197 [identifying No. 1 as Saroeun, Commissioner of Regiment 140; No. 2 as Sam, Commander; and No. 3 as Seng, Deputy Commander].

776 D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 [“Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A36, 88 [“Q: Who was commander of the Navy? A36: Saroeun, but he has disappeared, and then Seng took over the Navy [...] Q: What was the name of the regional commander [of Regiment 140]? A88: Tim Seng”]; D114/86 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A26 [“When I was still in the Navy, Ta Seng was the Commander of Regiment 140”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A1 [“Ta Seng became the commander of the Regiment 140 and he was in charge of the O Chheu Teal place”]; D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A26 [“They were the battleships of the Independent Regiment 140 whose commander was Toem Seng”]; D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115974 [“Q: Who was in charge of the Regiment [140]? A: Tim Seng was”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal (Nop Hal) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968421, KH 00926645 [“Ta Saroeun was transferred to take charge of the port [...] Then, Ta Seng rose to that position [...] he was also in charge of 140”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma (Mak) Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN

00969932, KH 00926309 ["Q: [...] What was Seng's position at the time? A: Seng was with a regiment. It was a naval regiment. That was the time they reorganized the navy"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham, WRI, A12.

777 At some point, between mid-1977 and mid-1978, Tim Seng left for a technical training in China (likely for a few weeks or months); D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A20, 22-23, 52-53 ["Tim Seng commanded the Navy [...] A22: Tim Seng was also sent to study in China. Q: After Seng was sent to study in China, who replaced him as commander? A23: There were many deputies, one of whom was Han [...] Q: When you were studying in China, who was your superior? A52: Tim Seng. Q: Did Tim Seng also go to study there at the same time as you? A53: Yes, he did."]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A32 ["What I know via generalities is that Tim Seng went to study naval military techniques in China. Upon return, he was on permanent duty at the division location"].

778 See para. 224 (c).

779 D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A64, 67, 225-226 ["They were Nget, Dim, Yam, Chhan, Sokh and so on. They were accused of being Vietnamese spies or CIA [...] A67: I knew those people were called away, and two or three days later Regiment 140 Chairman Han told us in a meeting that those persons were enemies burrowing from within [...] A225: After that, when Seng and Sam were moved to another place, probably also to division level, Han became the commander of Regiment 140 [...] A226: My commander Han told me about this. All of them were considered traitors within the army's ranks"]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A23 ["Q: After Seng was sent to study in China, who replaced him as commander? A23: There were many deputies, one of whom was Han"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A178 ["In Regiment 140 there were only the following: Saroeun, Seng and Han"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A28 ["Saroeun was the commander of Regiment 140. Later Saroeun was replaced by Tim Seng. After Tim Seng was promoted to chairperson of Division 164 instead of Meas Muth in 1979 during the fierce combat with the Vietnamese, Ta Han became the commander of Regiment 140 instead of Tim Seng"]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A20 [Q: What was the name of the Regiment 140 commander? A20: Ta Saroeun [...] Ta Hom"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A34 ["The Regiment 140 commander's name was Han"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974098, KH 00926542-43 ["Tim Seng, but he has died as well. Initially, he was responsible for the marines, but, later, he was put in charge of Division 164 while Meas Mut became a commander in Phnom Penh. Tim Seng became the commander of Division 164 while Han became the chief of Marines Division 140"]; Partially contra, D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A28-29 ["The chairperson of Regiment 40 was Han [...] A29: [...] he served as the chairman when I arrived there, from 1976 to 1979"].

780 D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A76, 223, 225 ["Under Han, there was Moeun, Han's deputy. Chhav was Moeun's deputy and Uoch was under Chhav. Bau was among those at the regimental committee [...] A223: Seng held a more senior position than Han did [...] A225: Han became the commander of Regiment 140. Moeun, Chhav, Uoch and Bau were under Han"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A22 ["As for Moeun, he was the former commander of a Special Unit under Meas Mut and the commander of Battalion 141 of Regiment 140"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A178-179 ["In Regiment 140 there were only the following: Saroeun, Seng and Han [...] Q: We have information that Chhin Sambath alias Bau was also a commander of Regiment 140. Did you know him? A179: Yes, I knew Bau. He was not the commander of Regiment 140. He was a boat commander"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A34 ["The Regiment 140 commander's name was Han (deceased), and his deputy's name was Chhav (died in 1979)"]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A34 ["after Saroeun [...], the leadership committee of the unit composed of Han, Bo, and Moeun"]; D114/66 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A2 ["Moeun was the commander of Battalion 141 in Regiment 140 of the Navy Forces. Moeun stayed at the O Chheu Teal Pier for the whole time. Later on, in 1977, at the time they removed me from the Navy Forces, I saw Moeun was still there. At that time he was a captain of one ship, and as I can recall now, his ship's number was 103"]; D54/49 Em Sun WRI, A27 ["Bau was formerly on the Committee of Independent Regiment 140. At that time, he was in charge of patrol ships"]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A88-89 ["Q: What was the name of the regimental commander? A88: Tim Seng. Q: What were the names of other regiment commanders? A89: Han (deceased) and Bau"]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 ["[Meuan] was the permanent member of the regimental command committee"]. Regarding Moeun's previous position in Division 3 as Special Battalion 450 Commander: D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8 ["Moeun was the Political Chairman of the Special Battalion"].

781 D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A1-2 ["Seng was also a deputy of Ta Mut [...] I saw him commanding a ship [...] Another deputy of Meas Mut was Bau, the military commander of Naval Regiment 140. Bau was chairman of the regiment responsible for all the vessels of the Navy. I was a messenger of Bau from 1977 to 1978 [...] A2 [...] Chhav was Bau's deputy [...] Uoch, was a member [...] Bau, Chhav, and Uoch were the commanders of the navy"]].

782

D114/285 Bun Sarath (Prum Sarat) WRI, A141 ["Regiment 140 was stationed in Au Chheu Teal"]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A18 ["Q: From 1976 to 1979 when you served as a soldier of Regiment 140, where was your regiment based? A18: My regiment was based in Ou Chheu Teal"]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A2 ["The port was Regiment 140's command location. The house was the office of the regiment's commander, Saroeun. After Saroeun's disappearance, the house became the telegraph team base of Battalion 140"]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A42 ["I was sent to work in the naval headquarters of Regiment 140 located at Ou Chheu Teal"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A21 ["Q: Which units were located near Ou Chheuteal Beach? A21: Near the port, there was the headquarters of Regiment 140, and along the road near the beach, there were also the bases of Battalions 141 and 142. I do not remember clearly the location of Battalions 143 and 144, but these four battalions were under Regiment 140"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A60-61; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A61 [Q: Before you arrived at Ou Chheu Teal, did anyone tell you why you were going there? A61: Those who had to go to newly created unit, meaning Regiment 140, stayed on there [at Ochheuteal]]; D114/66 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A1, 23; D54/11.3 Administrative Map of Mittakpheap District - Indication of the locations by Meu Ret, EN 00936717 [witness indicates base of Regiment 140 and of Battalion 141 near Ochheuteal Pier].

783

D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A14 ["When I first arrived in Kampong Som, I was sent to receive naval training there. Sometimes we were sent to receive naval training at Ou Chheu Teal"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A39-40 ["I never went to the Division Headquarters, but I used to attend meetings organised by Division 164 at Ou Chheu Teal Beach. Q: Was the training conducted often? A40: It was conducted annually"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A16 ["At that time, they started organizing the navy forces and then sent my group to the training at Ou Chheu Teal [...] I was sent for a six month training in one of the four vessels"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A75 ["We deployed at Ou Chheu Teal after the establishment of the new unit. We convened naval technical courses [...] Those who completed the training were allowed to board big warships"]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A17 ["I was sent to Ou Chheuteal Beach, where I underwent diving and swimming training; later I was trained in high-speed boat engines"]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A207; D54/112.1 Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968349, KH 00926494-95 ["For each training session, there were between 4 to 6 shiploads of participants. Q: How long did each training session last? A: It lasted between three to six months"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun (Mak Chhoeun) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969943, KH 00926321; D54/24.1 Pak Sokh DC-Cam Statement, EN 00978568, KH 00955496 ["Q: Did you attend training at [...] O Chheu Teal? A: Yes. [...] After the three-month training, we were able to work"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974096, KH 00926540; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088456, KH 01007855.

784

D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115973, KH 00990767 ["I started learning the first six-month course in October [1976] [...] I studied the skills required for navigation"]; D54/112.1 Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968350-51, KH 00926495-56 ["We were taught different parts of the vessel namely the weapon section [...] There were various sections namely the radar, compass, telegram, course plotting, machinery and navigation"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974180, KH 00926362 ["We were trained about navigating, engine repair and maintenance, weapons, electricity, telecommunication, telegrams, walkie-talkies, and flag signals [...] including radar"]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088456, KH 01007855 ["There were different sections. Some people were trained to use the vessels, some were trained to operate the machines, some were trained to drive the ships and some were trained to be the telegram operators. I was trained to use the machineguns"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974096, KH 00926540 ["We were trained and equipped with protection skills. [...] In our country, trainees were shown how to use patrol vessels and floating vessels"].

785

D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A61 ["The second place in Ou Chheu Teal was used for preparing battleships and naval mine shooting ships"]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A3 ["Soon after, I was sent to an anti-submarine vessel anchored near Ou Chheu Teal Sea Port"]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A20 ["Sometimes, our ship was anchored at Ou Chheu Teal, and other times at Ream"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal (Nop Hal) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968381, KH 00926609 ["Ou Chheu Teal Port provided rare access for the reason that it was off limits - during that period, battleships were kept at Ou Chheu Teal Port"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974188, KH 00926369-70 ["We anchored ahead of Ou Chheu Teal"], EN 00974195, KH 00926375 ["Q: Where were Vessel 17-8 and Vessel 17-9 stationed? A: They were stationed at Koh Rong island and occasionally moved to Ou Chheu Teal"].

- 786 See VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea, paras 380, 392-398, and 422 for further details. See also D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A6, 10, 22 [“Those soldiers captured anyone who entered Kampuchean territorial waters within their areas of operation. When the operations described in this document were underway, I was in Regiment 140. I had just returned from Koh Poulo Wai Island and was working at the wooden port at Ou Chheu Teal Beach. When military on the islands captured those people they sent them to the mainland, and they always brought the captured ashore at the Ou Chheu Teal port, where I worked [...] A10: The number of captured totalled thousands as far as I know. Each month they consisted of 10 to 50 persons [...] A22: I saw another event when I captured and transported 13 Vietnamese refugees to Ou Chheu Teal”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal (Nop Hal) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968401, KH 00926627 [“Q: When the captives were sent to Kampong Som, were they sent to Ream or Ou Chheu Teal? A: They were often sent to Ou Chheu Teal”]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088468, KH 01007867 [“There was one time when they sent the arrested people to Ou Chheu Teal”].
- 787 D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A21 [“There were anti-submarine boats, defence boats, floating boats and (small) mine-detecting boats”]; D54/99 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A33 [“There were four departments in Unit 140, namely: 1) Combat Boats 2) Defense Boats, which was my unit 3) Floating ships (026), 4) Mine sweeping ships and another one was a fuel transport ship (a support ship)”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A25 [“I do not remember the number of boats or small motorboats. I only remember the number of the ships/vessels of Regiment 140. From mid-1976 to 1979 Regiment 140 had ten combat vessels, ten patrol vessels, a tanker, and four minesweepers”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A40 [“Some came from the anti-submarine section, the defence ship section and the pursuit ship section”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A10 [“There were different battalions under Regiment 140, including a chase-ship battalion, a mine-sweeper battalion, a defence-ship battalion, and a PCF-ship battalion”]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963728, KH 00926461 [“At that time, the civilian (sic), we had four fleets: 1) the defensive ship 125cc; 2) the patrol ship 026; 3) the minesweeper ships; 4) the anti-submarine, and 5) the oil tanker”]; D4.1.761 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387299, KH 01507823 [“Subordinate to source’s regiment were three battalion-sized units; a fast pursuit battalion, a defense battalion, and an anti-submarine battalion”]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A27 [“there were three types [of ships]: pursuit vessels, 125-tonne territorial waters defense vessels and anti-submarine vessels carrying 75 people”].
- 788 D114/65 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A16 [“Under that Regiment 140, they organized 4 battalions which included Battalion 141, 142, 143, and 144”]; D2/8 Say Born WRI, A50 [“After the fall of Phnom Penh, there were battalions 41, 42, 43, and 44. In fact they did not articulate the sound ‘100’ at the beginning, they only called the two last digits like 41, 42, 43, and 44”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Q: Did Regiment 140 have any battalions? [...] A: There were Battalions 141, 142, 143 and 144”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“The regimental command committee divided command of the ships subordinate to the regiment by class of ship”].
- 789 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A21 [“Battalion 141 was the Chase Vessel Unit and Battalion 142 was the Defense Vessel Unit”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A10 [“There were different battalions under Regiment 140, including a chase-ship battalion, a mine-sweeper battalion, a defence-ship battalion, and a PCF-ship battalion”].
- 790 D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897655, KH 00095536-37 [listing Comrade Sar Moeun as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D114/67 Sar Sarin WRI, A4 [“Another person was Sar Moeun. He was a Commander of Battalion 141”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna (Chet Cham) WRI, A2 [“Moeun was the commander of Battalion 141 in Regiment 140 of the Navy Forces. Moeun stayed at the O Chheu Teal Pier for the whole time”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A22 [“As for Moeun, he was the former commander of a Special Unit under Meas Mut and the commander of Battalion 141 of Regiment 140”]; D54/106.2 Samn Kan alias Buth DC-Cam Statement, EN 01509181 [“There were 4 battalions, including Battalion 41, 42, 43 and 44 [...] The commander of Battalion 41 was Moeun”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Moeun was in charge of Battalion 141”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“Meuan commanded the torpedo boats”]; D54/38.1 Lun Seng DC-Cam Statement, EN 01072392, KH 0096731. Contra D54/17 Say Born WRI, A2 [“Bau, commander of the Chase Vessel Unit, replaced Saroeun; he occasionally worked in the house, but he spent most of his time on a ship”].

- 791 D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 3223 as Kun Dim, a Deputy Secretary of Battalion 141 in Division 164 and previously in Sector 22, East Zone]; D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195332, KH 00008466 [identifying Kun Dim as Deputy Secretary of a battalion in Division 164]; D1.3.28.49 S-21 Prisoner Interrogation Log, EN 00937118 [identifying No. 17 as Kun Dim a Commander of a battalion in Division 164]; D114/85 Chet Bunna (Chet Bunna) WRI, A28 [“He [Kun Dim] was from Battalion 141 of Regiment”]; D1.3.28.45 S-21 Prisoner List, 26 Aug 1977 [identifying Kun Dim as Commander of a battalion in Division 164]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A1-2, 15 [“His name is Kun Dim. He was the commander of Battalion 141 [...] Q: Were you in this Battalion? A2: Yes [...] A15: Dim whom we knew was generally known as the deputy of the Division 164”].
- 792 D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164 [Kun Dim executed on 19 September 1977]; D1.3.28.49 S-21 Prisoner Interrogation Log, EN 00937118 [identifying No.17 as Kun Dim as Commander of a battalion in Division 164 who was arrested on 20 April 1977 and whose interrogation was completed on 21 Jul 1977]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 3223 as Kun Dim as Deputy Secretary of battalion 141 in Division 164 and previously in Sector 22, East Zone, who entered S-21 on 20 or 25 April 1977]; D1.3.18.3 Kun Dim S-21 Confession, 20 Jul 1977, EN 00758228 [The summary of his confession by S-21 personnel indicates “Former Battalion Commander, Regiment 152 → Battalion 141/140/164”; which is a reference to his previous Regiment 152 headed by Hoeng Dim in the East Zone and to the fact he was transferred to Battalion 141, Regiment 140 of Division 164], EN 00758239 [summary by the interrogator mentioning his date of arrest as being 20 April 1977]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A5 [“I knew that he [Kun Dim] was arrested in Au Chhea Teal”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna (Chet Cham) WRI, A28-29 [“He [Kun Dim] was from Battalion 141 of Regiment 140 [...] A29: he was arrested in total secrecy. Kun Dim was also like my neighbour [...] When he disappeared, his wife and children also went missing”].
- 793 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A22 [“Vessel No. 2 was a chase boat in the Chase Vessel unit which consisted of 12 boats in total”]; D114/67 Sar Sarin WRI, A20 [“I was in the floating vessel unit. In this floating vessel unit, there were 12 vessels. Each vessel was 5.1 meters wide and 22.5 meters long. Each vessel had 13 crew members”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A25, 27 [“From mid-1976 to 1979 Regiment 140 had ten combat vessels, ten patrol vessels, a tanker, and four minesweepers [...] A27: I do not remember their size, but I remember that the patrol (combat) vessels had two anti-vessel guns affixed on both sides, which fired 55 mm rounds”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A74 [“there were two antisubmarine ships, six defence ships and about ten assault ships”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A45 [“Q: Do you recall how many vessels were there in the pursuit section/unit? A45: As I can recall, there might be 12 or 14 vessels”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“I was in Battalion 141. Q: Which type of vessel did your battalion use? A: We used floating vessels”].
- 794 D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A26 [“there were two rockets (similar to missiles) on both of sides designed to shoot large enemy boats”]; D114/261 Chum Chy WRI, A7 [“One kind was called 01, 02, those they called pursuit craft and mine-destroyers. They were fast and dropped mines into the water on submarines. We received 12 such craft”].
- 795 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A21 [“Battalion 141 was the Chase Vessel Unit and Battalion 142 was the Defense Vessel Unit”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A10 [“There were different battalions under Regiment 140, including a chase-ship battalion, a mine-sweeper battalion, a defence-ship battalion, and a PCF-ship battalion”].
- 796 D114/85 Chet Bunna alias Chet Cham WRI, A29 [“I was in Battalion 142 under the command of Sang”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A168-169 [“That senior person was Sang, the chairperson of Battalion 2. However, I am not sure if it was number 2 or 42 [...] Q: Which regiment was Sang under? A169: He was under Ta Han in Regiment 140”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Sang was responsible for Battalion 142”].
- 797 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A22 [“The Comrade Han mentioned in this report was the commander of Battalion 142, which was the Defense Vessel unit under Regiment 140”]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A24 [“Mr. Han was the chief of the defense-vessel unit”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“Hon commanded all ships considered defensive vessels or those vessels that could be used to defend the maritime borders. Meuan commanded the torpedo boats, and Bo commanded the fast attack boats”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A13 [“My battalion at that time was the Battalion 144 whose chief was Han”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Han controlled Battalion 144, but he was in charge of Regiment 140 later”]. See also para. 239 regarding the role of Han as former chief of Battalion 520 (Regiment 22) before his transfer to Regiment 140 (see para. 244).

D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 3994 as Kung Sean alias San, a Battalion 142 Secretary who entered S-21 on 27 or 28 April 1977, and died of disease on 14 February 1978]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, [identifying No. 20 as Kung Sien alias Sang, a Battalion Secretary who entered S-21 on 28 April 1977 and died of disease on 14 February 1978].

D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A25 [“I do not remember the number of boats or small motorboats. I only remember the number of the ships/vessels of Regiment 140. From mid-1976 to 1979 Regiment 140 had ten combat vessels, ten patrol vessels, a tanker, and four minesweepers”]; D114/281 Chum Chy WRI, A16 [“There were eight 125-tonnes armoured cruisers [...] They were gifts from China”]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A27 [“there might be 8 or 10 vessels in the defense unit”]; D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A8-9 [“Q: how many ships of this type were under the command of Regiment 140? A8: About six ships [...] A9: They called my ship a defence ship”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A18, 24 [“Q: In what type of vessel you were assigned to work? A18: It was a defence-type vessel [...] A24: The vessels were 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, and 108”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014 [“Defense vessels included two former U.S. PCF and seven Chinese fast attack boats”], EN 00387313, KH 01506014-15 [“The two former U.S. PCF boats formed one squadron and were based at Koh Kong [...] The seven Chinese vessels were numbered 101 through 107”].

D2/10 Say Born WRI, A28 [“Although they called them the defense vessels, their task was to attack”]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A25, 63 [“As for the role of the defence boats, when the enemy invaded our maritime territory, these defence boats would be dispatched to fight the enemy [...] A63: If a ship or a small boat was faraway, we would send a speed boat, and only when a big ship or warship entered deep into our territory, they would send a defence ship”]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963730, KH 00926462 [“Q: Were the PCF ships in use? A: They were used only for night patrol at Koh Kong”], EN 00963732, KH 00926465.

D54/97 Khoem Yat WRI, A24 [“Later they assigned me to navigate a PCF boat, and at Ream there were PCF Boats 101, 102, 103, and 104”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A19 [“Q: Where was your vessel based? A19: At Koh Rong Sanleum Island and Ream”].

D2/10 Say Born WRI, A29 [“the vessels of the defense-vessel unit were deployed to station on various islands waiting for the order to attack”]; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A19, 24 [“Q: Where was your vessel based? A19: At Koh Rong Sanleum Island and Ream [...] A24: One vessel had 36 persons. The vessels were 101, 102, 103, 104, 105, 106, 107, and 108. I was on Vessel 104”]; D2/16 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A30 [“Q: Was the PCF group a component of the Regiment 140 or the land base unit of the marine forces? A30: they did not dock their vessels at the Au Chheu Teal beach”]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088470, KH 01007870 [“There were 16 PCFs. Each island had 1 or 2 PCFs. But there were no [PCF] at Koh Rong Island because it was near Kampong Som”], D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387313, KH 01506014 [“The boats were based in three locations. [...] The squadrons that included Vessels 105/106 and 102/104, and Vessel 101 were based on Rong Samloem Island. Vessels 103 and 107 were based on Tang Island [...] The two former U.S. PCF boats formed one squadron and were based at Koh Kong”]. See also D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A14 [“In Koh Kang during that time two PCF boats were positioned there”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak (Lay Bunhak) WRI, A60-61 [“Regiment 140 was located in two places[...] A61: [...] The first place on Koh Rong Sonlim Island was used for arranging defense boats”]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 009637230, KH 00926463 [“The PCP ships were used during the war [...] They were used only for night patrol duty at Koh Kong”].

D54/51.1 Telegram 09 from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 01109278, KH 00970626 [“we have decided to assign our brothers who are stationed there to go out on patrol missions around six to ten kilometres away in front of Koh Kong Island [...] we encountered around 50 to 60 Thai fishing vessels; thus, we approached them; however, all those fishing vessels had escaped except for a 40 HP fishing vessel which we captured”]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A8 [“At that time, they seized a Vietnamese boat from the Koh Poulo Wai Chas Island. There were around 16 people including men, women, and children. At that time, it was probably in early 1978 and there were not many waves. That boat was seized at between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. by a PCF boat of Regiment 140 which was on standby at Koh Poulo Wai Thmei Island”]; D54/73.2 DK Report from Sim to Division 164, 15 Sep 1977 [referring to “the boat that we captured in the South of Koh Kong”]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A3 [“The PCF boat was the most suitable to capture a boat. The PCF was modern, fast, and well-armed with weapons”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A100, 107 [“PCS Ships were smaller and faster, and they consumed less petrol than my ship [Ship 102] [...] A107: Yes, those ships fought Vietnamese ships in late 1978"; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088458, KH 01007857 ["The PCF was American ship captured by us [...] This ship had the 80 [80mm mortar] on it [...] There was also the 12 [12.7mm machinegun] on it"]; D114/281 Chum Chy WRI, A36 ["There were 12 crews on P.C.F."]; D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A27 ["There were 12 people on one PCF Ship"]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A14-15 ["in Koh Kong during that time two PCF boats were positioned there [...] A15: [...] we captured 300 and 400 horsepower boats"]; D114/15 Sok Vanna WRI, A23 ["Most of the captured boats were Type 52s, captured by the defense and PCF boats"]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387313, KH 01506014 ["PCF and smaller fast attack boats were used to intercept and board small foreign vessels or Cambodian vessels attempting to flee Cambodian waters"]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968397-98, KH 00926623 ["Q: So when you arrived on Koh Tang, as for something like fishing boats from Thailand or Vietnam entering the marine territory, what measures did you take? A: We seized them. [...] At that time, initially, there were only PCF ships used to go seize boats"]. See VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea, for further details about the foreign boats captured.

804 D114/281 Chum Chy WRI, A16 ["There were eight 125-tonnes armoured cruisers; each ship could carry 37 forces"]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 ["Based on my recollection, my ship's number was 104, and it weighed 125 tons. There were 36 crew members working in that ship including the captain"]; D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A145-146 ["I only saw the warship which the Chinese gave us. The ship was docked at the island, and I saw between 36 and 40 people on the ship [...] A146: They fired at sea. They had a 37 mm gun"]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A24 ["The defence vessels had 37 crewmembers. [...] I was on such a boat"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A86-87, 122; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A26; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387313, KH 01506014; D114/181 Sem Kol WRI, A24; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963730, KH 00926462; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088457, KH 01007856.

805 D114/281 Chum Chy WRI, A37 ["It [Chinese ship] was used to attack bigger warships with bottoms at least 4 metre deep under water"]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387313, KH 01506014 ["The larger Chinese made vessels and the torpedo boats were used to intercept and warn large cargo vessels or in cases where a battle with other armed vessels was anticipated"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974102-03, KH 00926546 ["Q: So, what was the floating ship used for? A: It was used for raids and destruction because its shell carried almost a ton of explosive. [...] Or, when a ship had been captured by the sailors and could not be sunk, we used that ship [the floating vessel] to fire on and sink the other [...] they were made in China. Q: So, were the floating ships different from defending and patrol ships? A: Yes"].

806 D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A3 ["I would like to explain about the procedure of capturing boats as follows: the battalion reported to the regiment that the boat had invaded. Generally, the regiment would then report to the division which was located in Kampong Som. Later Division 164 sent PCF boats of Regiment 140, which sometimes was located in Kampong Som or at a standby location"]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A86, 95, 101 ["Q: What kind of ship was Ship 102? A86: It was a Chinese-made defense ship [...] Q: You said that Ship 102 could not depart unless there was an order from division level. Is this correct? A95: Yes, it is [...] A101: unless there were orders from the upper level, my ship could not depart"]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A14, 22 ["In Koh Kong during that time two PCF boats were positioned there, and the commander of the both boats was Sim [...] A22: Ta Sim had no authority to make any decisions on any boats captured; he had to follow orders from the division"]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A47-48; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387313, KH 01506014 [detailing the radio communications system].

807 Liet Lan himself admitted that two months after his return in 1978 from a long technical training in China, he became the chairman of the submarine battalion but he confused its number (143) with Battalion 142: D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A67, 71, 83, 86, 102 ["Q: To what position were you assigned? A67: Chairman of the Anti-Submarine Section [...] A71: two anti-submarine ships had been imported [...] A83: My anti-submarine unit was Battalion 142 [...] Q: Who was commander of your battalion? A86: In the past, I was commander [...] Q: Who appointed you battalion commander? A102: Tim Seng"]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A33 ["There were only two vessels in the antisubmarine unit"]; D114/15 Sok Vanna (Suos Vanna) WRI, A26-27 ["Q: Who was the commander of the anti-submarine ship? A26: I was on Ship 011, and my commander was Chhorn. Chhorn got orders directly from Meas Mut. Both anti-submarine ships were under the direct command of Meas Mut [...] Q: Who was the commander of anti-submarine Ship 012? A27: The commander was Lan”]; D4.1.761 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387299, KH 01507823 [“The commander of the anti-submarine battalion was ((Chon)) [...] The deputy commander was ((Lan))”]; D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A31; D114/261 Chum Chy WRI, A7.

D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [identifying Comrade Neav Rem as Secretary of Battalion in Division 164]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Ta Ren was in charge of Battalion 143”]. See also, D4.1.1066 S-21 Pen Ham Confession, 24 May 1977, EN 00822410 [identifying Rem as Secretary of Battalion 143, Regiment 140].

D54/101 Ek Ny WRI, A10 [“During that time the leadership of the Division had removed troops of Battalion 386 from the islands and from other places and sent them into a unit called the Production Unit. At that time I heard from the soldiers, who had been removed and sent to the Production Unit with me, saying that brother Rem, the former commander of Battalion 386, was shot dead in front of Wat Enta Nhean Pagoda [...] Those soldiers, who were arresting [Rem], were from the Special Unit of Ta Mut. They were like Ta Mut's bodyguards and also known as his right hand unit. After punching those soldiers, Rem jumped out of the car and tried to flee. The soldiers promptly shot him in the head. He fell on the street in front of Wat Enta Nhean Pagoda and died instantly”].

D2/9 Say Born WRI, A13 [“My battalion at that time was the Battalion 144 whose chief was Han”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926543 [“Han controlled Battalion 144, but he was in charge of Regiment 140 later”]. See also D1.3.5.13 S-21 Name List of Persons Implicated by Prisoners, EN 01148978 [identifying Han as Battalion 144 commander]. Regarding the promotion of Han as chairman of Regiment 140 in mid-1978, see para. 244, above.

D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A25 [“From mid-1976 to 1979 Regiment 140 had [...] four minesweepers”]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A35 [“Those vessels were called the mine sweeping vessels. There were four ships, but they were all old [...] At that time they did not only use them to sweep mines in the sea, but they also used them to sweep mines in the Mekong River”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974104, KH 00926548 [“There were four ships then. At that time, those mine sweepers were taken to destroy mines along the Mekong River course only. [...] I took them. After they had been used to clear all the mines along the Mekong River course, they were allowed to be sailed out to the sea”].

D2/10 Say Born WRI, A35 [“Q: Did you ever hear about the frontline outpost in Keb where the two mine sweeping vessels were stationing? A35: Those vessels were called the mine sweeping vessels”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312, KH 01506014.

D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974177, KH 00926359 [“I was in Battalion 44”], EN 00974188, KH 00926369 [“We anchored at some points of Koh Rong Sanloem Island because the waves and wind were quiet there”].

D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A29 [“During that time they used the minesweeper ship, which was very fast, to chase and capture the Thai fishing boats”]; D54/109 Sao Sam WRI, A11 [“When we spotted any Vietnamese’s, Thai’s or other foreigner’s boat/boats coming in our water, we reported it via the radio communication to the base of the Division 164 in Kampong Som. The Division then dispatched its ship, which was the mine sweeper and was a very fast ship, to chase and capture the encroaching boat or ship”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974105, KH 00926548 [“They had been granted to Cambodia to destroy mines. They were so fast, and they were used to catch boats within a very short [period of] time”], EN 00974108, KH 00926551 [“We used the mine sweepers - the old floating ships to catch them”].

D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974099, KH 00926544 [“It depended because each battalion was trained and organized to be responsible for floating vessels and patrol vessels at sea [...] All of the battalion chiefs were assigned to patrol vessels, including Moeun, Sang, Ta Ren and Han”], EN 00974100, KH 00926544 [“Q: What was the duty of the patrol vessels? A: They patrolled the seas around the islands”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974192, KH 00926373 [“The patrol boats were responsible for protection. They went out at night. For example, my vessel went to be stationed and patrol at Ruessei island”].

D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974100, KH 00926544 [“After they had divided up the patrol zones, we took turns patrolling our respective zones”].

D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8, 10-11, 13 [“In Division 3, there were Regiments 20, 21 and 22, a Special Battalion, and an Artillery Unit [...] A10: This Special Battalion was not under the command of any regiment. It was under the command of the Division [...] Q: After 1975, when Division 3/164 was moved to Kampong Som, what was this Special Battalion assigned to do? A11: This Special Battalion was under the command of the Division Commander or Political Chairman [...] A13: I knew very well that this Special Battalion was under direct command of the Division. It was not under the command of any regiment. Moeun was the Commander of this Special Battalion. This position was equal to other commanders of regiments in the Division. Whenever there was a meeting, all the regiment commanders were invited, and Moeun was also invited to attend the meetings”]; D54/98 Heang Reth WRI, A28 [“Battalion 450, it became Battalion 165, which was a special intervention unit”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 [“Battalion 165 was the special battalion”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A27 [“Battalion 450 was a Special Unit of Ta Mut”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27, 38 [“I was transferred from Battalion 415 to a special battalion, Battalion 450 in Division 3 [...] A38: For the infantry, the commands were issued by Division 3 to the regiments, from the regiments to the battalions, and from the battalions to the companies. However, my special unit, Battalion 450, received orders directly from Meas Mut, the Commander of Division 3”]; D114/15 Sok Vanna (Suos Vanna) WRI, A18 [“Q: Have you ever heard about the Special Battalion 450 of Division 3? A18: Yes, I have. This unit was under Meas Mut”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974081, KH 00926527 [“The special unit was an autonomous unit of the division. It was equivalent to the regiment’s role”]; D4.1.762 Kam Men (Koem Men) US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387328, KH 00742578 [“the 164th division was organized into three subordinate infantry regiments numbered 61, 62, and 63, and included the 450th special operations battalion”].

818 D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A23, 34 [“Q: You told us yesterday that the task of the Battalion 450 was changed from time to time, and later on it became to be the unit in charge of the security center, is it right? A23: Later on, because there was no fighting on the battlefield any more, this unit 450 was assigned to be in charge of the security matters [...] Q: You said that unit 450 was the security unit of the Division 164 in charge of the Kampong Som town besides Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda. Were there any other security centers in the other places? A34: Since I did not see any other centers with my own eyes, I do not want to speak about it”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A28 [“Q: How did Meas Mut use Battalion 450? A28: During the war, he always sent this Special Unit to the tensest battlefields”]; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A32, 35 [“Q: Why was the special battalion created? A32: It was named a special battalion because it was an assisting unit. The special battalion helped the infantry when needed [...] A35: Meas Mut said in the meeting that the newly-created special unit always assisted the infantry”]; D114/285 Bun Sarath (Prum Sarat) WRI, A173 [“Q: According to what you know, what was 450 responsible for or what roles did it have? A173: According to the preparation, it was responsible for intervention when there were military events happening at any point where the other regiments faced challenges. This unit would go and help”]; D114/287 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A2, 43 [“My battalion took charge of all the warehouses at the ports. Most importantly, my unit provided security guards for all of them [...] A43: Unit 450, later known as Battalion 165, was also dispatched as the intervention force. Twenty or thirty men from each company were selected along with their commanders to be deployed”]; D114/15 Sok Vanna (Suos Vanna) WRI, A9, 13-14 [“I worked for a special unit or a recon/investigation unit [...] A13: There was a special unit for the division to defend and provide special support to the division commander [...] A14: Regarding that special unit of the division, they could be moved anywhere in the whole division and join combat in special situations or assist other regiments”]; D4.1.745 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387261, KH 01513914 [“By the time U.S. forces attacked Tang Island, the Khmer Communists had reinforced the Island with approximately 300 additional troops [...] The group was made up of the original members of Unit 2, 450th BN, other elements of the 450th BN, and the 480th BN”].

819 D234/2.1.92 Prum Sarat, T. 26 Jan 2016, 14.38.20-14.42.45 [“For unit 450 it was a special unit for Division 164 and its task was to be stationed around the divisional headquarters”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A11 [“Q: After 1975, when Division 3/164 was moved to Kampong Som, what was this Special Battalion assigned to do? A11: This Special Battalion was under the command of the Division Commander or Political Chairman. The Special Battalion was responsible for protecting leaders of the Division and arresting people who committed mistakes. At that time, the country was already in peacetime; the Special Battalion did not need to go to war. Therefore, the Special Battalion was instead used to protect leaders of the Division and to arrest those who committed mistakes”]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A14, 20, 23-24 [“Q: At that time where did the commander [Sar Samoeun] of that special unit set up their command base? A14: When he first arrived, he stayed in the National Bank building near the port. Two to three days later, he moved to station in Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda [...] A20: Yes, it was the same one unit. It was the Battalion 450 or the special unit of the Division 164 [...] A23: Later on, because there was no fighting on the battlefield any more, this unit 450 was assigned to be in charge of the security matters. Q: Was it the Wat En Ta Nhien Pagoda Security Center? A24: It was not only for the place in Wat En Ta Nhlen Pagoda, but it was the security unit of the Division 164 for the entire Kampong Som town”; D54/98 Heang Reth WRI, A28, 98 [“Battalion 450, it became Battalion 165, which was a special intervention unit [...] A98: I know that the security office [Wat Enta Nhlen] was supervised by the messenger(s) of Battalion 450”]; D54/72 Mut Mao (Former messenger of her cousin Khom and telephone operator for Meas Muth) WRI, A7-8, 16 [“The special unit was like Meas Mut’s bodyguards, like that. The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time. But the special unit was for guarding and manning the checkpoints surrounding his house and office [...] A8: It was a battalion [...] A16: Ta Norn was in the special unit for protecting the division. He had a checkpoint and a house which was located at the entrance to Ta Mut’s house where Norn and his soldiers stayed. I never arrived there, so I do not know how many soldiers were there”]; D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A39, 42 [“I did not know which unit of soldiers brought the Yuon group to be killed there. They could have been from either the division’s special unit or the messenger unit of Meas Mut [...] Q: Why do you say that the soldiers who had brought those Yuon to be killed were the special unit or the messengers of Meas Mut? A42: Because only soldiers of the special unit were tasked to do such work”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A93-95 [“Battalion 450 was stationed surrounding the division. Q: What was the function of Battalion 450? A94: It was the defence unit [...] A95: Its main duty was defending Division Headquarters”]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A4 [“The Special Unit was like the bodyguard unit. It was the unit trusted by the leader. They used soldiers in this Unit to arrest the traitors and to do other important works. When they wanted to arrest those at the battalion and regiment levels, they sent the soldiers of the Special Unit to the battalion and regiment bases to tell them that brother [commander] of Division called them to attend a meeting”]; D54/101 Ek Ny WRI, A10 [“Those soldiers, who were arresting him [Rem], were from the Special Unit of Ta Mut. They were like Ta Mut’s bodyguards and also known as his right hand unit. After punching those soldiers, Rem jumped out of the car and tried to flee. The soldiers promptly shot him in the head. He fell on the street in front of Wat Enta Nhean Pagoda and died instantly”]; D54/105 Ek Ny WRI, A6 [explaining how Meas Muth’s special unit intervened to arrest two former Battalion 386 cadres], A18 [describing an event at Stung Hav in late 1978 during which Meas Muth’s special unit forces arrested many male railway workers and embarked them onto trucks].

820 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 165 had 265 soldiers in July 1976]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 165: 254 soliders (it is mentioned that some disabled soldiers were not included)]. About the presence of a dozen disabled soldiers working as guards within Battalion 165: D54/111 Sam Phin WRI, A9 [“I was head of a group of 12 disabled soldiers working as guards”]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 0016045 [Battalion 165: 265 soldiers]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 165: 265]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A4, 19 [“The Special Unit was like the bodyguard unit. It was the unit trusted by the leader [...] A19: [...] Each soldier in the Special Unit had been very carefully screened of background before he was put into the Special Unit”]; D54/72 Mut Mao (Former messenger of her cousin Khom and telephone operator for Meas Muth) WRI, A7 [“The special unit was like Meas Mut’s bodyguards, like that. The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time. But the special unit was for guarding and manning the checkpoints surrounding his house and office [...] A8: It was a battalion [...] A16: Ta Norn was in the special unit for protecting the division. He had a checkpoint and a house which was located at the entrance to Ta Mut’s house where Norn and his soldiers stayed”].

821 D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A8, 13 [“Moeun was the Political Chairman of the Special Battalion [...] A13: I knew very well that this Special Battalion was under direct command of the Division. It was not under the command of any regiment. Moeun was the Commander of this Special Battalion. This position was equal to other commanders of regiments in the Division. Whenever there was a meeting, all the regiment commanders were invited, and Moeun was also invited to attend the meetings”]; D114/67 Sar Sarin WRI, A14 [“Sar Moeun was a commander of battalion 450. Later on he joined the Navy and he was in battalion 141”]; D114/187 Touch Soeuli (Touch Soeurly) WRI, A11 [“Sa Samoeun was the commander in Battalion 450”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A10 [“By the time I arrived on Koh Tang Island, I had not received any information about Commander Moeun. Moeun had been wounded”]; D54/10 Meu Ret alias Saret WRI, A22 [“As for Moeun, he was the former commander of a Special Unit under Meas Mut and the commander of Battalion 141 of Regiment 140”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974081, KH 00926527 [“Moeun and Thean were in charge of the special unit at the time”]; D4.1.751 Unknown US

- POW/MIA Statement, 21 Mar 2005, EN 00387258, KH 01519652 [“Source was a body guard for ((Sar)) Meuan, the 450th battalion commander”]; D4.1.745 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387261, KH 01513914; D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A12.
- 822 D54/46 Em Sun WRI, A27, 35 [“Probably in March 1975, I was transferred from Battalion 415 to a special battalion, Battalion 450 in Division 3 [...] Moeun was the Chief; Sarun Kuok was the Deputy Chief; Thean and I were the Members [...] A35: Back then, I was in charge of Company 2, Moeun of Companies 1 and 3, Sarun Kuok of Companies 4 and 5, and Thean of Companies 6 and 7. After Moeun was injured in the first clash, Companies 1 and 3 were also under my authority”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974081, KH 00926527 [“Moeun and Thean were in charge of the special unit at the time”]; D4.1.759 Khiem Ngun US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387265, KH 00658135-36 [“The 450th commander was Vanni and the deputy was Thean”]; D4.1.745 Unknown US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387261, KH 01513914 [“The 450th BN Deputy Commander Vanni and Command Committee member Tean were the on site commanders on the island”].
- 823 D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Meas Muth to Bang 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976 [reporting a letter intercepted by the Division that was addressed to Battalion 165 Deputy Secretary Sam-At alias Sun and a cadre named “Buni” or “Sun”]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, [identifying No. 450 as Chhun Lun alias Sam-At, who was in a Political Battalion and entered S-21 on 29 June 1976]; D9.3 OCIJ List of S-21 Prisoners from Division 164, EN 00874318 [identifying No. 6 as Chhun Lun, Deputy Secretary of Battalion 165]; D1.3.3.2 S-21 Execution List, EN 00874318 [identifying No. 132 as Chhin Lun (illegible alias), member of a Battalion in Division 164, who entered S-21 on 29 July 1976, and died of disease on 1 October 1976]; D54/27.2 List of Division 164 Persons Arrested, EN 01185462, KH 00955556 [identifying Chhun Lun alias At as Deputy Secretary of Battalion 165].
- 824 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A10, 13-16 [“Q: Who was the commander of the special unit battalion? A10: His name was Norn but he is dead [...] Q: How do you know that Norn was the commander of the special unit? A13: I used to see him going in and out of Ta Mut's house. Q: Who was senior to Norn? A14: Norn was under the command of Ta Mut. Q: Where was Norn's headquarters? A15: It was at the entrance to Ta Mut's house. [...] A16: Ta Norn was in the special unit for protecting the division. He had a checkpoint and a house which was located at the entrance to Ta Mut's house where Norn and his soldiers stayed”].
- 825 D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A13 [“Battalion 166 was an artillery battalion. Battalion 167 was a women battalion. There was only one women battalion. It was also an independent battalion. Independent battalions were under the division. From Battalions 165 to 170 were all independent battalions. Battalion 168 was the transportation unit. Battalion 169 was a hospital unit. Battalion 170 was a lathe unit [...] These battalions were not under the regiment, they were directly under the division”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 [“I know that Regiments 61, 62 and 63 were under Division 164. I think Battalion 165 was the special battalion, but I am not sure. Battalion 166 was in charge of the artillery. Battalion 167 was my battalion. Battalion 168 was likely in charge of transportation. Battalion 169 was responsible for the medical section [...] I do not remember what Battalion 170 was responsible for”].
- 826 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 166: 243 soliders]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 166: 241 soldiers]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 00160145 [Battalion 166: 241 soldiers]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 166: 241 soldiers].
- 827 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 [“Battalion 166 was in charge of the artillery”]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A13 [“Battalion 166 was an artillery battalion”].
- 828 D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [Female Battalion 167: 434]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Female Battalion 167: 429]; D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Female Battalion 167: 391]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Female Battalion 167: 391]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A25 [“I knew that Battalion 167 was the female battalion”]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A5, 14, 17 [“Prior to the victory of 1975, I worked in the Women's Battalion 167 of Division 3, based at Thnal Totoeng [...] A14: We worked under the direct command of Division 164. All the members of Battalion 167 were women [...] A17: My battalion was independent. We were not under any regiment. We were under the direct command of Division 164”]; D114/286 Heang Reth

WRI, A13 ["Battalion 167 was a women battalion. There was only one women battalion. It was also an independent battalion"]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A3 ["the Women's Battalion was Battalion 67 or 167"].

829 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A6 ["My Battalion 167 Commander was Comrade Leang, a female, who died in 1979"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969946 ["Q: What was the name of that female battalion commander? A: It was Neang"].

830 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A14, 24 ["Battalion 167 was composed of three - Companies namely Companies 32, 33 and 35. Companies 32 and 33 were sent to work in Stung Hav. Company 35 was stationed at Au Treh [...] A24: I forgot to tell you that there was one more Company under Battalion 167. It was Company 31, whose commander was Pheap (female)"].

831 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A7-8 ["my group did not join in any combats at any battlefields because we were medics. We just brought the injured soldiers from the battlefield, bandaged and gave them some injection and then took them to the rear [...] A8: I want to clarify that when I lived in Stung Hav and Smach Daeng, I was still a medic. When there were patients, they had us look after and treat them, but when there were no patients, we worked like other people"].

832 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A8 ["We stayed in those houses until 1976. When we stayed in Au Ty Praim, my Company joined in building the Au Chhoeur Teal Dam. From 1976, we were ordered to stay in the middle of the paddy fields in Smach Daeng. We were tasked with transplanting and harvesting rice there for nearly two years"]; D114/88 WRIA EN 01110677, KH 01513897 ["[the witness, Nuon Ngoy's] wife Sok Neang was a battalion 167 soldier in an all-female battalion of Div 164 [...] that she worked at several locations (Smach Deng, Bet Trang, Stung hav etc)"].

833 D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A8, 10, 20 ["In late 1977, we were sent to Stung Hav [...] My unit joined in building a port at Stung Hav [...] Q: Where exactly did you live and work in Stung Hav? A10: We lived in a place called Chamkar Trabaek [...] A20: After 1975, because of no war, my battalion joined in growing rice and building the Au Chhoeur Teal Dam and the port at Stung Hav"].

834 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 168: 729 soldiers]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 168: 729]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976 [Battalion 168: 813]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 168: 841]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A13 ["Battalion 168 was the transportation unit"]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 ["Battalion 168 was likely in charge of transportation"].

835 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 169: 380 soldiers]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 169: 379 soldiers]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 00160145 [Battalion 169: 305 soldiers]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 169: 320 soldiers]; D114/83 Sok Neang WRI, A19 ["Battalion 169 was responsible for the medical section"]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A13 ["Battalion 169 was a hospital unit"].

836 D22.2.4 Division 164 Committee Statistical Report, 30 Jul 1976, EN 00950655, KH 00160118 [Battalion 170: 320 soldiers]; D22.2.5 Division 164 Statistical Report, 28 Aug 1976, EN 00950657, KH 00160123 [Battalion 170: 225 soldiers (not including disabled soldiers and children and some other combatants)]; D1.3.5.3 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Oct 1976, EN 00233989, KH 00160145 [Battalion 170: 320 soldiers]; D22.2.6 Division 164 Statistical Report by Meas Muth, 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575531, KH 00160071 [Battalion 170: 347 soldiers]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A25 ["I knew that the Battalion 170 was the lathing machine unit"]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A13 ["Battalion 170 was a lathe unit"]; D54/42.1 Heng Viech DC-Cam Statement, EN 00983446, KH 00967571 ["it was in Battalion 170, and that hundred-member squad was assigned to do repair work"], EN 00983451, KH 00967571 ["I was in charge of the lathes and a member of 170. Many modern lathes from China were there, so I took equipment to be milled there"].

837 D54/42.1 Heng Viech DC-Cam Statement, EN 00983446, KH 00967571 ["I was in a hundred-member repair squad [...] it was in Battalion 170, and that hundred-member squad was assigned to do repair work. Q: What did you repair? A: I milled and cleaned weapons [...] Q: Was your repair battalion in charge of repairing and maintaining the weapons of Division 164 in Kampong Som? A: Yes"].

838 D114/113 Koem Men WRI, A67 ["Ham was transferred to Ream, and he took charge of the lathe section"]; D4.1.1066 Pen Ham S-21 Confession, 3 Jun 1977, EN 00822394, KH 00174141 [identifying Pen Ham as Secretary of Battalion 170, Division 164], EN 00822431, KH 00174184 [citing his date of arrest as 27 April

1977]; D114/236.2 Prisoner List from Division 164 to S-21 (1975-1978), EN 01312194 [identifying No.42 as Pen Ham, who was arrested on 28 April 1977 and executed on 14 February 1978]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List, No. 7207, EN 01222613; D1.3.30.5 DK General Staff Report, Table of Statistics on Students Studying at the First General Staff Study Session, 20 Oct 1976, EN 00897656, KH 00095537-38 [identifying Comrade Pen Ham as Secretary of a battalion in Division 164].

839 D1.3.28.2 S-21 Prisoner List, 2 Jun 1977, EN 01321750, KH 00086996 [identifying Nguon Lak alias Sarat as a member of Battalion 170, Regiment Mechanic Hall, who entered S-21 on 28 April 1977]; D114/230.1.1 OCIJ S-21 Prisoner List [identifying No. 7546 Nguon Lakk alias Sarat as a member of Battalion 170 in Division 164, who was arrested on 28 April 1977 and executed on 13 March 1978]; D114/236.2 Prisoner List from Division 164 to S-21 (1975-1978), EN 01312194 [identifying No.41 as Nguon Lakk, who was arrested on 28 April 1977, and executed on 13 March 1978]; D1.3.30.6 DK General Staff Report, Second General Staff Study Session - Table of Participant Statistics, 23 Nov 1976, EN 00195333, KH 00008467, FR 00623211 [identifying No. 211 as Nguon Lak, a member of a battalion in Division 164].

840 D1.3.5.3 List of Forces, EN 00233989; D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529; D59/1/1.11a Heng Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974094 ["His messengers and those in charge of radio communications have all died already"]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A3 ["Meas Mut's command office and the house he was staying were around two kilometres away from Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. Meas Mut's house was at his working office"].

841 D1.3.5.3 List of Forces, EN 00233989; D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529.

842 D1.3.5.3 List of Forces, EN 00233989; D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529.

843 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A24 ["I guess that M-164 was the division' head office, where many sections such as inventory, documentation, courier, and communication sections were located"].

844 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A28, 35 ["There were different buildings in the compound of the Inner Office. At that site there were a dining hall, Meas Mut's house, living quarters for messengers and others, a telegraph office, and a broadcasting office, which was located near the Two-Lions Circle [...] A35: the telephone study site was in a different building where trainees came to study telephoning, telegraphing, and broadcasting. The telephone office was in another building, but they were on the same compound"]; D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A30 ["The switchboard office was used by the units in Division 164 and by the division itself for calling to Phnom Penh"]; D54/34 Ing Chhnon WRI, A2 ["There was a telegraph machine at Ta Mut's place"]; D54/70.2 Mut Mao DC-Cam Statement, EN 01066966 ["Q: When you were at the Division Office, what did you do? A: I worked in the telephone section"]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A16, 21, 63 ["I was stationed at the radio station. I was based there and attended training sessions on how to operate the radio communications gear [...] A21: the radio station was approximately 600 metres from Wat Kraom [...] A63: when I attended military training, there was a training session about communication by telegraph and radio using secret codes"].

845 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A2 ["The bodyguard or the messenger's name was Mon. These two persons always went with him. Yan and Ngoy were the radio operators"]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974094 ["Q: Besides Ta Mut, did you know [any of] his messengers or persons in charge of radio communications? A: His messengers and those in charge of radio communications have all died already [...] Q: Was Kol the only person in the division who could speak English? A: He was the person who could speak English. Another person was Sary, who died near Sisophon. His name was Sary, alias Khan"]. See D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A15 ["Meas Mut had never talked to me directly via the radio, only Saran and Dul did. To me, both of them represented Meas Mut. When they talked with me, they passed the command from Meas Mut to me"].

846 D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A17 ["Office 164 was the Division office. The 103 people were staff members who were tasked with managing the communication system to the islands, daily commands to the radar, reports, forward commands to the islands and Bokor Mountain. I think it was called K -1 or Office 1 which was tasked with managing all document of the division"].

847 D22.2.6 Report from Muth (Meas Muth), 27 Nov 1976, EN 00575529.

848 D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974085, 00974134 ["Q: When we first arrived in Kampong Som, we could not even run the vessels, so we still relied on Lon Nol troops? A: [...] the former troops stayed with us and helped us. [...] We neither knew how to manage a port through the telegraph or signal systems, nor how to manage the departure and arrival of ships there. We needed the former operational staff to manage that, and, in the meantime, we started to learn from them. Like at the radio station in Kampong Som, we used the radio station staff to work in every section"].

849 See, e.g., D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A68 ["The radio was on all the time. The regiment gave orders to lower units in hierarchical order"]; D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968404 ["When we saw [...] we reported to the Regiment, and the Regiment reported to the Division. Then, the Division told the Regiment what action would be taken, and the Regiment told the Battalion accordingly, and they used my group"]; D2/10 Say Born WRI, A6 ["Speaking about the order to attack, I did not receive the order from the Division directly. The order came directly from the chief of my pursuit-vessel unit"]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073826 ["The meetings were not held regularly. Sometimes, high-ranking cadre came to meet him, and then they only relayed instructions to us low-ranking cadres"]. See also D98/1.2.4 Craig Etcheson, T. 21 May 2009 16.05.53-16.10.53 ["The Statutes of the Communist Party of Kampuchea specifically require that each echelon of the party report regularly to its next superior echelon"]; D98/3.1.115 Phan Van, T. 13 Dec 2012, 09.17.14-09.08.38 ["when it comes administrative communication, the report had to be done vertically -- from bottom up"].

850 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A10 ["Regarding normal operating procedures, like in my previous explanation, communication was from the units to the battalions and finally to the division. Orders were issued from the division to the lower units. However, during this special operation, Meas Mut talked on the radio himself, and he commanded the involved units directly"].

851 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A54 ["Orders were transmitted from division to regiment, from regiment to battalion, from battalion to company, and from company directly to the personnel"].

852 D54/25 Pak Sok WRI, A19.

853 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A9-10 ["When he personally joined that mission, I heard him talking on the radio. [...] during this special operation, Meas Mut talked on the radio himself, and he commanded the involved units directly"].

854 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI A25 ["For example, if war ships or boats entered our territorial waters and if the regiment commander was absent, we had to report to the division directly"]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A96 ["Sometimes, they gave the order to capture immediately. However, sometimes they told us to wait as they had to ask for instructions from upper echelon"]; D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A141-142 ["If they were ordered to fight, the division sent the order directly to the ships without reporting to the regiment [...] A142: [...] But the division gave the direct orders to the fighting ships without communicating through the regiment again for the sake of speed"].

855 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A9 ["Q: At Regiment 63 level of Division 164, did you receive instructions from other levels besides Division 164? A9: No, I did not. Everything I received was from Division 164"].

856 D98/1.2.4 Craig Etcheson, T. 21 May 2009, 16.16.24-16.20.44 ["As a general rule throughout the administrative, political, and military apparatus of Democratic Kampuchea communication was strictly vertical and this was ruthlessly enforced. [...] in effect the Party Centre was the central communications node for the entire organization"]. See also D234/2.1.52 Craig Etcheson, Written Record of Analysis, 18 Jul 2007 EN 00142834 ["The SC [Standing Committee] controlled all communications networks within the DK regime, and all communications were organized in a strictly vertical hierarchy"]; D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, EN 00184037 [Article 6].

857 D114/12 Neak Yoeun WRI, A22.

858 D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A140 ["The order came from the upper echelon. At that time, the upper echelon was only Meas Muth. Meas Muth also received his orders from his upper echelon. Sometimes, Meas Muth made decisions by himself. Meas Muth's subordinates did not dare make decisions by themselves"].

859 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A21 ["The correct answer is that the daily reports sent to Division 164 were always done and sent in the evening. They could not have been done and sent to Division 164 in the morning because the other islands under the control of the regiment had to send their reports for us for check and summarize first"].

860 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A20 ["Then we summarised each point, wrote the important points into the report in the order of their significance, and wrote all of the points into that one report"].

861 D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A19 ["I do not know. As I told you, orders to capture boats and send them somewhere were given by higher level. The orders stated clearly that we had to report every detail of our investigations on the sea of Cambodia; those orders were from higher level"].

862 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A26, 34 ["I reported to a radio operator in the division, who then relayed my report to the the division commanders, Ta Mut and Ta Dim. [...] A34: As the most senior commander in overall charge, Meas Mut wanted to know what happened in the division. Generally, I had to report to the regiment, and the regiment relayed the reports to him"]. See also D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A104 ["Yes. I reported to the company commander, who reported to the battalion. Then the battalion reported to the upper echelon”]; D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A142 [“When their ships left on operations, the division commander ordered the regiment to prepare the ships in order to depart to conduct operations. But when the ship arrived in the middle of the sea and they encountered fighting, they had to communicate to the regiment, and then the regiment continued communicating to the division”]; D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement EN 00968404 [“When we saw [...] we reported to the Regiment, and the Regiment reported to the Division”]; D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement EN 00970714 [“Q: So, when you needed something, you sent your request to Granduncle Nhan, and then Granduncle Nhan would forward it to Granduncle Mut. A: Yes, he forwarded to Granduncle Mut”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A60 [“I reported via telephone to Han, who in turn reported to Saroeun, and Saroeun reported to Meas Mut. This was the vertical chain of command”]; D114/19.1 Report from Mak Chhoeun to Meas Muth, 5 Jan 1976, EN 01513939.

863 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A26, 34 [“I reported to a radio operator in the division, who then relayed my report to the the division commanders, Ta Mut and Ta Dim. [...] A34: As the most senior commander in overall charge, Meas Mut wanted to know what happened in the division. Generally, I had to report to the regiment, and the regiment relayed the reports to him”].

864 D54/25 Pak Sok WRI A19 [“Any event that occurred had to be reported to the battalion, and the battalion would report to the commander of the regiment. Then the regiment would report to the commander of the division. Then the commander of the division would decide and send orders back to the lower level through those same echelons”].

865 D1.3.34.39 Telegram 04 from Roeun to Brother Mut, 5 Nov 1977, EN 00233656 [Roeun reports about the patrolling of the waters around Koh Kong, Koh Vai Chas-Thmei, and Koh Seh; training; and rice production]; D114/19.1 Report from Mak Chhoeun to Meas Muth, 5 Jan 1976, EN 01513939 [Chhoeun summarises the fighting and military situation in Koh Tral in Jan 1976]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A136, 140 [“I reported through the various ranks to the upper echelons. [...] A140: When I spotted any strange situation, I reported to my upper echelon, who then reported to other upper echelons in a hierarchical order”]; D1.3.14.2, D4.1.636, D54/10.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Meas Muth, 13 Jul 1977 [Moeun describes the enemy situation at Ochheuteal and Koh Rong Samloem island, criticises the conduct of one transportation worker at Ochheuteal, and requests a decision from Meas Muth on whether to take a Vessel No. 2 for repair to Ream].

866 D54/49 Em Son WRI A44 [“Yes, I did. For example, when the battle was finished, I reported to the senior level about the results such as the number of dead and wounded soldiers”]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A142 [“When I reported to my battalion commander that fishing boats had entered our waters, the battalion commander told me that he would report this to the upper echelon”].

867 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI A31-32 [“Normally I had to report everyday, and I wrote the capture of foreign boats as the first priority issue in the report because it was related to a capture incident [...] A32: As I remember the habit of my unit, the capture of foreign boats was considered a priority because it related to the invasion of Cambodian territory”]; D54/34.1 Report from Sim to Division 164, 15 Sep 1977, EN 01098432 [reporting of the capture of Thai boats south of Koh Kong]; D1.3.34.12 Telegram 12 from Dim to Meas Muth, 27 Sep 1976, EN 00897638 [Describes the arrest and confession of a 16-year-old boy]; D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A104 [“Q: After the capture, did you report to upper echelon about those fishing boats? A104: Yes”]; D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A156 [“When they arrested those people, they reported it to the division”]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A12 [“Yes, I saw watches and over ten gold leaves. When they were captured, all of those objects were confiscated and written into the report as well. The people, the boat, the objects, and the report were sent to Kampong Som”]; D54/23 Pak Sok WRI, A28 [“Yes, it was imperative to report precisely what we captured, for example, whether they were Vietnamese refugees or Thai fishermen or soldiers, we had to report that to upper echelon clearly in advance”].

868 D1.3.14.2, D54/10.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Meas Muth, 13 Jul 1977 [Moeun describes the enemy situation at Ochheuteal and Koh Rong Samloem island, criticises the conduct of one transportation worker at Ochheuteal, and requests a decision from Meas Muth on whether to take Vessel No. 2 for repair to Ream].

869 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A35 [“Generally, we had to report all the details. Even if we did not complete the plan and assignment, we also had to report the truth. If the upper echelons saw that we could not complete the plan, they would revise that plan and send the plan back to us”]; D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A141 [“Before we left, they had ordered us that if this case happened, we had to return fire. When our ship left on operations, we communicated with each other via radio. Generally, when the ships left on operations and met any situation, they had to report to the regiment, and then the regiment continued reporting to the division”].

870 D1.3.34.15 Telegram 17 from Dim to Meas Muth, 8 Oct 1976, EN 00233659 [Dim reports about the escape of a combatant and advice from China regarding repair of ships]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A59, 61 [“I reported to the upper level via telephone. For example, I was a ship captain. When my ship faced a problem, such as when it needed repair or more fuel, I had to report via telephone to the upper level. [...] Q: In case the ship needed food or fuel, did you directly contact logistics or any other units? A61: I had to follow the reporting system stated above”]; D1.3.14.2, D4.1.636, D54/10.2 Telegram 43 from Moeun to Meas Muth, 13 Jul 1977 [Moeun describes the enemy situation at Ochheuteal and Koh Rong Samloem island, criticises the conduct of one transportation worker at Ochheuteal, and requests a decision from Meas Muth on whether to take Vessel No. 2 for repair to Ream]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A30 [“For example, if one of our boats was broken, they required us to report this problem and take Measures by ourselves to solve the problem in our area”].

871 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A20 [“Regarding the generation of the daily reports, first we collected reports from all of the islands under the control of our regiment. Then we checked all of those reports, including health problems, other situations, and construction”]; D1.3.34.13 Telegram 16 from Dim to Meas Muth, 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233657 [Dim reports about a radar installation, spotting of foreign ships, and the search for bandits].

872 D1.3.34.39 Telegram 04 from Roeun to Brother Mut, 5 Nov 1977, EN 00233656 [Roeun reports about the patrolling of the waters around Koh Kong, Koh Vai Chas-Thmei, and Koh Seh; training; and rice production]
873 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A20 [“Regarding the generation of the daily reports, first we collected reports from all of the islands under the control of our regiment. Then we checked all of those reports, including health problems, other situations, and construction”]; D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“Yes, we had to make report. When we saw someone making a mistake, we reported about him/her [to the leader] so that he/she would be called to be reeducated. If someone was sick, he/she had to report to the unit chairperson so that the unit chairperson could give him/her some medicines to take. We could not just rest at home and claimed to be sick. We stayed in the unit”].

874 D59/1/4.25 Long Ly DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970714 [“Yes, we had to make report. When we saw someone making a mistake, we reported about him/her [to the leader] so that he/she would be called to be reeducated”].

875 See, e.g., D4.1.699 Telegram 11 from Dim to Meas Muth, 24 Sep 1976, EN 00143240 [Describes the situation in Kampong Som, including the arrests of people who had fled into the jungle]. See also D1.3.34.12 Telegram 12 from Dim to Meas Muth, 27 Sep 1976, EN 00897638 [Describes the arrest and confession of a 16-year-old boy]; D1.3.34.14 Telegram 15 from Dim to Meas Muth, 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233661 [Dim reports on ships entering the maritime region, rice supplies and requests oil for the boats]; D1.3.34.13 Telegram 16 from Dim to Meas Muth, 6 Oct 1976, EN 00233657 [Dim reports about a radar installation, spotting of foreign ships, and the search for bandits]; D1.3.34.15 Telegram 17 from Dim to Meas Muth, 8 Oct 1976, EN 00233659 [Dim reports about the escape of a combatant and advice from China regarding repair of ships].

876 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A20-21 [“When the Vietnamese arrived in Kampong Som, Meas Mut had already left Kampong Som. I did not know where Meas Mut was at the time; however, I knew that Meas Mut gave the command to destroy those vessels. [...] A21: I heard Meas Mut's voice on the radio; so did the others”]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement EN 00974227 [“We went to Koh Kong, and we had to destroy all of our facilities. Q: What did you have to do so? A: We did not want the enemy, the Vietnamese, to use them”].

877 D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974227 [Regiment 140: “He still kept in touch through telegraphs”].

878 D54/100 Lay Bun Hak (Lay Boonhak) WRI, A96 [“Meas Muth was moved to the General Staff, so he ordered all of work from the upper echelon through Tim Seng; then Tim Seng controlled the work and passed on those orders. Tim Seng came to visit and control us and other soldiers on the mainland”]; D54/98 Ret Heang WRI, A28 [“After Tim Seng was promoted to chairperson of Division 164 instead of Meas Muth in 1979 during the fierce combat with the Vietnamese [...] Meas Muth was promoted to be the Supreme Command together with Son Sen and Sou Samet”].

879 D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969944 [“Q: when the division received orders or had new plans, how did they relay those orders or plans? A: Sometimes the orders were relayed via communication radio”]. See also D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183401-02

["Radio communications: Have the task - To serve immediate needs - Serve wartime needs - Spy on the enemy - Required manpower 1,500 persons"].

880 D22.2.181 Stony Beach Report, EN 00249694 ["During the Mayaguez incident, the Division had C-25 radios based on Tang Island and Ream"]; D114/285 Bun Sarath WRI, A26 ["When they arrived [in Kampong Som], the division [3] set up a station. The battalion set up a station. All units had radio communications and other communication systems"]; D4.1.746 Som Sok US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387463 ["The 3rd division communication center was in a concrete house in O Kambot (not found on available maps, possibly a section of Kampong Som City). The division also had a radio station at the Kampong Som port and other at Ream"].

881 D114/285 Bun Sarath WRI, A124 ["In general, the division office had a radio communication headquarters. For that headquarters, I refer to the radio communication operator. There were two to three people depending on the actuality and depending on the amount of work required"].

882 D1.3.5.11 Prisoner List, List of People Implicated in Enemy Confessions, EN 01148995 [identifying No. 16 as Keng, listed as "In charge of radio communications of the Division"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963740 ["Q: Who was the radio operator at the Division Headquarters? [...] A: It was brother Kol and then Chhun Ly or Phally who I don't know well"].

883 D59/1/1.11a Heng Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974094-95 ["Q: When did Kol, who could speak English, die? A: I cannot remember. People were removed to different places, so I did not know about that. Q: Has he disappeared since the three-year regime? A: Yes, he has disappeared since that regime [...] Q: After Kol died, was Sary in charge of radio communications? A: Yes"].

884 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A5, 7 ["At the level of Division 164, Phal was in charge of the radio section. Phal was the personal messenger of Meas Mut. He was in charge of the radios. [...] A7: Usually Phal accompanied Meas Mut. When Meas Mut attended any major meetings or training courses, Phal always accompanied him"]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088463, 01088466 ["When the PCF went to take Phal the Division messenger, were there any other persons coming with Phal? A: There were other persons going with Phal. [...] At that time if there were anything happening, Phal would radio my ship. [...] Phal was at Ta Muth's place"].

885 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A2 ["Yan and Ngoy were the radio operators"].

886 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A5 ["When Phal received a report on the radio, he had to write it down in a report and send it to Meas Mut, the division commander. Then Meas Mut gave commands to Phal, and Phal referred the commands from division to the relevant units on the radio"]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A14-16 ["At first I talked on the walkie-talkie to the radio operators. Saran and Dul. I told them that I wanted to talk to 63/Meas Mut; then 63/Meas Mut/63 talked to me on the radio and he ordered me to bring him the two alive American soldiers. [...] In fact, Meas Mut had never talked to me directly via the radio, only Saran and Dul did. To me, both of them represented Meas Mut. When they talked with me, they passed the command from Meas Mut to me. [...] When I talked on the radio to the representatives, I reported to them about the American soldiers. The radio operators made a report and sent it to Meas Mut; then Meas Mut laid out an order to me through the radio operators, and the operators forwarded Meas Mut's command to me via the radio"]; D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A11 ["Meas Mut issued commands too, but Phal communicated those commands by radio to the units involved"]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A27 ["Ta Mut rarely gave instructions via radio. Most of the time he had the radio operator relay instructions to us, or he sent the instructions by telegraph. I remember that, at that time, Brother Dim communicated via radio more frequently"]; D54/29 Liet (Nam) Lan WRI, A3 ["About a month or two [later], a radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home. When I arrived at the port, a motorbike was already there waiting for me"].

887 D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A11-13 ["Q: How did you know that you talked on the two-way radio with Meas Mut? A11: I recognised his voice because I had known him for a long time, and his radio number was 63 and mine was 42. [...] For the two-way radio, we used only numbers to communicate. For example when I called to Meas Mut on the two-way radio I said 63 from 42. A13: I still remember some two-way radio numbers such as Moeun's number was 24 and Thean's number was 32"].

888 D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A19 ["In case that Meas Mut was absent, Tim Seng or Nget took responsibility on his stead, but they had their own radio number. Meas Mut had the radio number 63"].

889 D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529. See also D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249694 ["During the Mayaguez incident, the division had C-25 radios based on Tang Island and Ream"]; D114/285 Bun Sarath WRI, A26 ["When they arrived [in Kampong Som], the division [3] set up a station. The battalion set up a station. All units had radio communications and other communication systems"].

890 D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A8 ["I was the person who piloted that boat and used the radio to communicate with my regiment. I reported progress and arrival at destination. In such times, they always kept their radios on in order to communicate"]; D114/11 Neak Yoeun WRI, A9-10, 12 ["I learned about the capture of those Vietnamese fishing boats through radio communication, and they communicated with one another by light signals when they captured the boats. They used light signals to inform one another about the capture of the boats. Later they communicated with one another by radio to provide more information about the boats. [...] A10: The PGP boats communicated by radio with the radio operators on the ship in which I worked. [...] A12: We all worked closely to defend the Cambodian maritime waters"]; D114/11 Neak Yoeun WRI, A11 ["As far as I understood, we cooperated with each other. PGP boats were smaller than my ship and were responsible for capturing fishing and smuggling boats and guarding the border of our territorial waters. My ship was responsible for dealing with bigger problems, such as combat against military ships"].

891 D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A22-23 ["Q: When you were on Koh Tang Island, did you often report to Meas Mut? A22: When I was on Koh Tang Island, I communicated with the shore [headquarters] regularly on the radio from the morning to night. [...] A23: There was no definite introduction about the radio usage. The radio was regularly turned on. If a radio device got too hot, it would be turned off, and another new one was turned on instead"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A138-139 ["When they were arrested, they reported via communication radio from the islands to the division. [...] In cases of reporting, when Meas Mut was at the Office, they would report to him directly. But when he was not around or was absent, they reported to person acting for him"].

892 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A48.

893 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A141 ["They reported via communication radio, and the people at the communication radio location would enter the record into the daily lo[g], no matter what information it might be, so that it could be sent to Meas Mut"].

894 D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A66 ["On each boat there was an American radio system, C-25, C-27, or C-28"]; D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A21 ["Q: when you worked as a motor boat driver and worked on the islands, how often did you hear of boat captures via the radio? A21: I could hear reports about boat captures only once in a long while because the radio antenna which was connected to my motor boat was short"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974223 ["The vessels were equipped with Chinese radio communication channel while the islands and division used the American ones"]; D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A26 ["After my radio was broken, I contacted Meas Mut directly via the radio on the Ship SPS when that ship arrived (at Koh Tang Island)"].

895 D114/285 Bun Sarath WRI, A179, 182 ["Q: Did ship units have to report to the upper level daily? A179: Yes, they did. They reported to through radio communication to the headquarters. They had to report about the important technical work to the regiment daily. [...] A182: If the regiment was not present, I sent the report directly to the division"].

896 D4.1.762 Kam Men US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387330-31 ["Deployment to Tang Island [...] The 50-man unit was armed with [...] one C-25 radio"]; D4.1.757 Unknown DK Cadre US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387365 ["When source arrived on the island, the battalion radio station was on the southern end of the eastern beach. The battalion had a C-25 radio"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A57 ["On the island there were radios"]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A13 ["We used VHF-46 to handle our communication between Koh Tang Island and Kampong Som. The communication range of C-25 was 25 kilometres"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A156-157 ["When they arrested those people, they reported it to the division, so I heard them talking via the Type 25 transceivers used the same frequencies [...] A157: Generally, the soldiers who were guarding the islands arrested them and reported it"]; D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A54 ["In the regiment [on Koh Tang], they set up a big radio communication device, not the C-25 one. They used the big one which could be used to communicate with the division on the seashore"]; D114/146 Uy Nhoek WRI, A33-34 ["Q: When you worked on the island, what did you use to communicate with the naval headquarters? A33: We used radios, American T-25 radios with attached antennas. [...] The radios were kept at the headquarters for communicating with other places far from the island"]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A29 ["The two headquarters of my battalion, one of which was on Koh Thnuei Island and the other of which was on Koh Seh Island: each headquarters was equipped with one C-25 radio"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974223 ["There was radio communication, but the communication channel on the islands and the headquarters were different frequencies. There were different lines. Q: You could not contact each other? A: Well, there was a common line. However, my radio communication channel was different from the American one"]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963723 ["Later, I was working as a telephone operator and assistant to Regiment commander. A: What was the kind of your telephone? [...] A: We had two kinds: C-25 and C-46. Q: Did you often hear telephone conversations by someone from the island? A: Yes”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217565-66 [“He was generally stationed on small islands off Koh Rong near the Thai border. [...] When the regiment had to move, they were advised by radio - American Walkie-talkies which had been captured in 1975”].

897 D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963740 [“Q: Who was the radio operator at the Headquarter of Regiment 140? A: We had two operators but both of them had died. Q: What are their names? A: Chamraeun and Sary but they had died”].

898 D2/15 Touch Seouli WRI, A18 [“The medic and the radio communication operator stayed in the far west room [of Wat Eng Tea Nhien pagoda]. Next to it was the room of the commander, and the third room next to that was the room in which I, the messenger, stayed. At that time, the commander, the medic, the radio operator, and the messenger stayed next to each other”]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A11 [“In front of my long bean plantation there was a four-way junction with a road leading to Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda. After turning onto that road, there was a guard post manned by Khmer Rouge soldiers. Behind that guard post was the Kampong Som radio station”]; D1.3.13.13 Touch Souley (Soeuli) OCP Statement, EN 00217575 [“The witness stated that he stayed at the Wat [Wat Eng Tha Nhien] in 1975 when he was training and later moved elsewhere. He stated that he installed a radio there which was moved to Ocheteal later on”]; D114/98 Sieng Koy WRI, A44 [“Q: You said that you had traveled from Launh’s house to the lake. After leaving from Launh’s house, you traveled pass the radio station before you walked on to reach the lake, and the Pagoda was on the left side. Is it correct? A44: Yes, it is correct”]. See also D114/46 Wat Enta Nhien Security Center and related sites Kampong Som – Phsar Leu Site ID Report, EN 01065190 [“Witness [...] explains that the old broadcasting station was behind the location of the current days purple house”].

899 D1.3.13.13 Touch Souley (Soeuli) OCP Statement, EN 00217575 [“The witness stated that he stayed at the Wat in 1975 when he was training and later moved elsewhere. He stated that he installed a radio there which was moved to Ocheteal later on”].

900 D54/48 Em Sun WRI, A23 [“The radio was regularly turned on. If a radio device got too hot, it would be turned off, and another new one was turned on instead”].

901 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A12-13 [“Q: What means of communication did you use to report to Meas Mut? A: I reported to him by radio. I used C-25 or VHF-46 radios. Q: What was the range of communication of VHF-46? A: We used VHF-46 to handle our communications between Koh Tang Island and Kampong Som. The communication range of C-25 was 25 kilometres”].

902 D114/286 Heang Ret WRI, A19 [“There were only sections such as the telegram section and the documentation and communication section. [...] The telegram section was to receive messages from subordinates and submit them to the higher ranks”]; D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A92 [“Radar was used to detect any object floating on the water or detect anything else. The telegraph was used for receiving and transmitting various messages”]; D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A29 [“As I know it, in my unit when a telegraph was transmitted they actually received it, because after pressing “send” sounds were sent back and forth indicating it had been transmitted. Furthermore, there was no case in which a telegraph was not transmitted”].

903 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A35 [“No, the telephone study site was in a different building where trainees came to study telephoning, telegraphing, and broadcasting”].

904 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A42 [“Meas Mut rarely used the telephone; most of the time he used telegraph”]. See also D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A27 [“Ta Mut rarely gave instructions via radio. Most of the time he had the radio operator relay instructions to us, or he sent the instructions by telegraph. I remember that, at that time, Brother Dim communicated via radio more frequently”]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A29 [“I knew that because my commander was in contact with Meas Mut by telegraph. This was in December 1978”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A58 [“Q: Regarding the instructions or orders you have just confirmed, were they made from the division to regiment and battalion via telephone, fax, or letter? A58: The orders were made via telegram and telephone”]; D54/29 Liet (Nam) Lan WRI, A3 [“About a month or two [later], a radio operator contacted me telling me Meas Mut wanted to see me at his home. When I arrived at the port, a motorbike was already there waiting for me”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A58 [“The orders were made via telegram and telephone”]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A2 [“There was a telegraph machine at Ta Mut’s place [...] When the telegraph operators there received any orders from Ta Mut’s place, those telegraph operators sent those orders to the ship commanders”].

905 D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A124, 126-127 [“At Ou Chheu Teal, there was a telegraph office. On the island, they had a telegraph on the ship. When they received telegrams, they would send those telegrams to the commander on the island. [...] A126: [...] When they sent telegrams there, the person responsible for sending telegrams would bring those telegrams to a commander in that big room. When the commander wanted to send telegrams, he had to go to that big room, and then the messenger brought the telegrams to the soldier responsible for the radio to transmit. Q: Did you know the name of the messenger who brought telegrams to the commander in that big room? A127: The messenger's name was Sari. Chamreun was the telegram receiver and sender from the radio and telephone. All of them are dead; only I survived"].

906 D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A125, 242 ["Q: You said that the navigation section was responsible for the telegraph and radio-telephones: do you know their names? A125: There was Peak, who was responsible the helm. The radio-telephone operator was Phoeun. The person responsible for the telegraph was Rath. The person responsible for signalling was Ran [...] A242: Those machines were all Chinese-made and were installed in each ship. Some ships had one, and some had two"].

907 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A19 ["Q: [...] Telegraphs 15, 16, and 17 were sent during just two days in 1976. [...] can you tell us about the duty to send routine daily reports from the regiment to the division? A19: Normally, at my level I had to send a report once a day in the evening. The report was sent to the division to summarize the work on all the islands"].

908 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A1 ["This telegram is similar to the document you showed me yesterday. I would like to clarify that they used the telegraph because it was secret work, different from using the radio-telephone. It was not easily intercepted like the radio-telephone"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A123 ["Q: What did you hear via radio about soldiers who were sent to the mainland? A123: The secret work was not announced on the radio. They always sent telegrams about all secret work. They had a telegram team. I saw their telegraph as well. They used a secret code. Therefore, even if I had seen those telegrams, I could not have read them"].

909 D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A10, 25-26 ["In my experience, this was an important telegram because it related to killing, and such messages were communicated via telegraph because they were secret. It related to bombings, and they did not radio-telephones for this kind of work. [...] A25: [...] urgent telegrams were the highest priority because when there was a serious situation in a unit, it was necessary for them to be able to send an urgent message regardless of the time. That was an order. If we did not respect an order, we were held personally responsible. Urgent telegrams like this were infrequent. [...] A26: Examples of urgent telegrams are piloting a boat and having an accident on the way, travel of cadres to study in Kampong Som City, and events that impacted life and death"].

910 D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A2 ["There was a telegraph machine at Ta Mut's place. There was another telegraph machine at the former royal residence near Koh Kong Port. When the telegraph operators there received any orders from Ta Mut's place, those telegraph operators sent those orders to the ship commanders. The telegraph operators worked in their office near the port"].

911 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A35, 37 ["The telephone office was in another building, but they were on the same compound [...] A37: When we organized meetings once every three days or, sometimes once a week, each team in the Inner Office reported to Keng, and Keng reported to others whom I did not know"].

912 D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A74 ["The telephones were only used for communication between division commanders and regiment commanders"]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A58 ["Q: Regarding the instructions or orders you have just confirmed, were they made from the division to regiment and battalion via telephone, fax, or letter? A58: The orders were made via telegram and telephone"].

913 D54/71 Mut Mao WRI, A34-35 ["There were 12 women working in the telephone section [...] A35: the telephone study site was in a different building where trainees came to study telephoning, telegraphing, and broadcasting"]; D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A28 ["I was in fact taught by the Chinese [...] At first, they taught theory; then they taught how to repair the telephone. For example, if it was out of order a little bit because of the lightning, we could repair it"]; D54/70.2 Mut Mao DC-Cam Statement, EN 01066966 ["Q: When you were at the Division Office, what did you do? A: I worked in the telephone section. Q: Were you trained to use the telephone? A: I was trained for half a year. Q: Who were the instructors? A: The Chinese. Q: Did they train you at the Division Office? A: Yes! [...] Q: When you were being trained by the Chinese, how many trainees were there? A: I was a young girl. There were 12 of us. Q: 12 young girls? A: Yes!"], EN 01066968 ["I worked there until 1979"].

914 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A42 ["Each telephone line had a code number. For example, if someone called in and said to connect to extension 18, I put in the plug 18 for that person. I forget Meas Mut's extension number, but I remember that Meas Mut's extension number started with 0. In fact, Meas Mut rarely used the telephone; most of the time he used telegraph"].

- 915 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A42, 45 ["Q: When the battalion commanders wanted to speak to the commander of Division 164, Meas Mut via telephone, how did they do that? A42: Each telephone line had a code number. For example, if someone called in and said to connect to extension 18, I put in the plug 8CU 18 for that person. I forgot Meas Mut's extension number, but I remember that MEAS Mut's extension number started with 0. [...] Q: Did Meas Mut have a telephone line at his house? A45: Yes, he did."]
- 916 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A43 ["Because Meas Mut sent his messenger to come to the switchboard office to telephone."]
- 917 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A59 ["I reported to the upper level via telephone. For example, I was a ship captain. When my ship faced a problem, such as when it needed repair or more fuel, I had to report via telephone to the upper level."]; D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A29-31 ["The switchboard office was used by the units in Division 164 and by the division itself for calling to Phnom Penh. [...] A31: The telephone line of this switchboard office was used by only the units under Division 164."]
- 918 D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A75-76 ["Q: How did your older brother communicate with Mienh, by what means? A75: They communicated via field telephone and telegram. Q: How did you know? A76: As I was there at Mienh's house. I lived near Mienh's house and I saw such equipment"].
- 919 D1.3.5.3 List of Forces, EN 00233989; D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529.
- 920 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A39, 41 ["Each battalion of Division 164 had their own telephone network, but this telephone network was only used for communication inside Kampong Som, not for connecting to the islands. [...] Only the battalion commanders had the right to use it"].
- 921 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A33 ["I do not remember if there was the telephone line from Kampong Som to Kampot; but there was the telephone line from Kampong Som to Bokor"].
- 922 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A43-44 ["Meas Mut sent his messenger to come to the switchboard office to telephone. [...] A44: There was no habit of making regular reports by telephone. The telephone network was used only when there was a need"].
- 923 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A1-2, 7 ["Q: [...] how many messengers were in the messenger unit of Meas Mut? A1: I saw only two to four messengers who were always with him. When he went to a place nearby, he brought one driver and one bodyguard with him. When he went to distant places, he brought one driver, one radio operator and two other persons – a bodyguard and a messenger. Q: Can you tell us the names of Meas Muth's messengers and driver? A2: The driver's name was Kung. The bodyguard or the messenger's name was Mon. These two persons always went with him. [...] A7: [...] The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time"]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A134-135 ["Q: How did he travel to Phnom Penh? A134: He went there by Jeep. Q: Who went with him? A135: He went with a messenger, a small boy, and this messenger was his driver"]. See also D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A57 ["Q: Do you know if Meas Mut, his deputy, his assistant, his messenger, or his driver are alive? A57: [...] I never met his assistant or messenger or driver after the fall of the regime"].
- 924 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A7 ["The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time"].
- 925 D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A1-2, 7 ["Q: [...] how many messengers were in the messenger unit of Meas Mut? A1: I saw only two to four messengers who were always with him. When he went to a place nearby, he brought one driver and one bodyguard with him. When he went to distant places, he brought one driver, one radio operator and two other persons – a bodyguard and a messenger. Q: Can you tell us the names of Meas Muth's messengers and driver? A2: The driver's name was Kung. The bodyguard or the messenger's name was Mon. These two persons always went with him. [...] A7: [...] The messenger team was the team who worked nearby and close to Ta Mut all the time"].
- 926 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A7 ["When Meas Mut attended any major meetings or training courses, [his messenger] always accompanied him"].
- 927 D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A5, 7 ["At the level of Division 164, Phal was in charge of the radio section. Phal was the personal messenger of Meas Mut. He was in charge of the radios [...] A7: [...] Usually Phal accompanied Meas Mut. When Meas Mut attended any major meetings or training courses, Phal always accompanied him"]; D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A2 ["Q: Can you tell us the names of Meas Muth's messengers and driver? A2: The driver's name was Kung. The bodyguard or the messenger's name was Mon. These two persons always went with him"]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A134-136 ["Q: How did he travel to Phnom Penh? A134: He went there by Jeep. Q: Who went with him? A135: He went with a messenger, a small boy, and this messenger was his driver. [...] Q: What is the name of the [Meas Muth's] messenger? A136: Kung"]; D114/15 Sok Vanna WRI, A16 ["I only know a person named Ieng, who was Meas Mut's personal messenger”]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088463 [“When the PCF went to take Phal the Division messenger, were there any other persons coming with Phal? A: There were other persons going with Phal”], EN 01088466 [“At that time if there were anything happening, Phal would radio my ship. [...] Phal was at Ta Muth’s place”].

D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A5-6 [“At the level of Division 164 Phal was in charge of the radio section. Phal was the personal messenger of Meas Mut. He was in charge of the radios. [...] A6: [...] We realised that Phal was a messenger, an aide and radio operator for Meas Muth”].

D114/13 Neak Yoeun WRI, A5 [“When Phal received a report on the radio, he had to write it down in a report and send it to Meas Mut, the division commander. Then Meas Mut gave commands to Phal, and Phal referred the commands from division to the relevant units on the radio”].

D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249694-95 [“Meas Mut did not know the designations of any unit below regiment level. Each unit within the division had a small messenger detachment of about 10 men [...] – ((Rin)) – Chief of Division Messenger Service”]; D54/49 Sun Em WRI, A48 [“When I joined the division, I reported directly to Meas Mut because there was no regiment between my Battalion 450 and Meas Mut. I reported to Meas Mut about the result of Meas Mut’s orders. During that time there was no official reporting system. Generally the report was done via two-way radio or messengers”]; D2/15 Touch Soeuli alias Soeu Touch WRI, A25-26 [“I left Battalion 450 and moved to stay in Au Chheu Teal joining the newly formed unit which later became the marine unit. During that time I stayed on the east part and sometimes on the west part of Au Chheu Teal. Until 1976 perhaps in January, February or April, there were warships arriving. [...] Q: When you went to receive those vessels, what did they have you do? A26: I was still the messenger. The commander, medic, radio operator and the messenger stayed in a house on the hill together”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217566 [“When the regiment had to move, they were advised by radio – American Walkie-talkies which had been captured in 1975. Some messages were passed by radio, others by the unit messengers [...] Each unit had a number of messengers attached, usually 3 or 4 who were also the bodyguards of the unit chief”]; D59/1.1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968380-81 [“Q: When you were on Koh Tang, were you ... ? A: A messenger [...] Yes, a messenger of Ta Nhan”], EN 00968385 [“Q: Was it like that the Battalion Committee had one messenger? A: One messenger. Sometimes there were two messengers. Sometimes there was one messenger. It was irregular”].

D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529.

D1.3.5.3 List of Forces, EN 00233989; D22.2.6 List of Forces, EN 00575529.

D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217566 [“Messages could be either oral or written. [...] Important messages were always sent with the messengers”].

D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A47 [“Q: When you arrived in Kampong Som, did they hold meetings to tell you what to do? A47: Yes. They held meetings to tell us about the defence of the territorial waters”].

D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A40 [“I would like to clarify that I was just an ordinary soldier who attended meeting with other soldiers, meetings over which Ta Mut presided.”]

D59/1.1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969944 [“Sometimes the orders were relayed via communication radio. In other cases we were called to attend meetings or trainings where the orders were raised. Mostly the plans were for us to defend the islands, sea waters and territory”].

D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A17 [“I joined the meetings at the battalion level, and there were different kinds of meetings. Sometimes, the meetings were plenary meetings attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164”].

D54/79 Nop Hal WRI, A23 [“A meeting was held once in a long while at both the battalion and regiment levels. A meeting took place once a month or once every two months. The motor boatpilots were advised to take good care of the motor boats. I do not remember whether or not they advised us to treat the Vietnamese and the Thais differently. In the meetings, they always told us to report to them anything that entered Cambodian territorial waters”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A12-14, 16-18 [“I went to attend meetings once a month or sometimes once every two months. The meetings were not held regularly. We went there only when there were special meetings [...] A13: [...] in those meetings, they spoke about a wide range of issues. As a soldier, I focused on only the issues related to the military such as national defence, country defence, country construction, and territorial waters, guarding in order to look for fishing boats or other boats which entered our territorial waters, and on swimming training. [...] A14: I joined the meetings in Kampong Som [...] A16: [...] Sometimes Ta Dim chaired the meetings, and sometimes Ta Mut chaired the meetings. [...] A17: I joined the meetings at the battalion level, and there were different kinds of meetings. Sometimes, the meetings were plenary meetings attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164 [...] A18: They instructed us that if we saw fishing boats enter our territorial waters but remain close to the maritime borderline, we should not do anything; but if those boats came deep inside our territorial waters and remained inside them for long, we should attack them immediately. Such incidents frequently occurred in my area”]; D54/88 Soem Ny WRI, A14 [“They were different. The monthly meeting held at Phsar Leu Market was attended by the commanders from all the islands. The monthly meeting at Stueng Hav was held to discuss the construction of the military pier”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A10-11 [“At that time regularly they organized a big assembly for the soldiers every trimester, and in that assembly they introduced to us that Meas Muth was SON Sen's deputy [...] A11: Sometimes the regiment commander was the announcer during the assembly. During the assembly they also spoke about defending the sea and the maritime borders which was about 400 kilometers long, and about defending the nearly 200 islands of Cambodia. Also, they spoke about the works of country defense against the invasion of the neighboring countries, and about the plan to take back the Koh Tral Island and the Kampuchea Krom. For the practical works, they called the battalion commanders to go to study in Phnom Penh”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A172 [“Q: Did you attend the logistics meeting on 19 September 1976 chaired by the division commander and the regiment commanders? A172: This was a big, substantial meeting”].

939 D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A12, 16-17 [“I went to attend meetings once a month or sometimes once every two months. The meetings were not held regularly. We went there only when there were special meetings [...] A16: [...] Sometimes Ta Dim chaired the meetings, and sometimes Ta Mut chaired the meetings. [...] A17: I joined the meetings at the battalion level, and there were different kinds of meetings. Sometimes, the meetings were plenary meetings attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164”].

940 D54/10 Meu Ret alias Meu Sareth WRI, A13 [“I used to see him organize meetings with all his regimental commanders. As far as I knew, he called all the commanders to the meetings for work planning”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A6 [“The meetings of regimental- level chairmen were held in Meas Mut's headquarters”]; D54/31 Soem Ny WRI, A5 [“At the time the divisional headquarters and the divisional commander's house were together. Commanders of each regiment came to join meetings there every month on the 10th, 20th, and 30th days of each month”]; D54/84 Sim Ny WRIA, EN 00985278 [“Witness describes the command center of Meas Muth (MM) was Regular meetings were held on the 10th, 20th and 30th of every month between MM and commanders of the division at the command center”].

941 D114/297.1.39 Ieng Phan, T. 31 Oct 2016, 11.25.46-11.27.25 [“Regarding the relationship between the commander of a division and commanders of brigades, we usually met every three days because we had to know about the various plans, the attack plans, the ammunitions and logistics, amongst other matters”]; D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A22, 25 [“I reported to them [regiment chiefs] when I attended monthly meetings. My task in Battalion 612 was focused on construction, so I had to make reports only during the meetings [...] A25: It was only me who attended the meetings which were held on a daily basis or once every three days. I met with company chiefs before attending meetings with the regiment chiefs”]. See also D54/106 Sann Kan WRI, A20-21 [“Q: During the technical training did they include political session? A20: No they did not but there was a meeting once in every three days. During the meetings they told us to try hard to study and not to be lazy. Q: Once in every three days there was a meeting. Who chaired that meeting? A21: The group chief called us to attend the meetings”]; D98/3.1.28 Chhouk Rin, T. 23 Apr 2013, 10.13.10-10.14.51 [“There were meetings. For example, there were meetings every three days. So, this is why we were afraid. We were afraid of making mistakes”].

942 D114/24 Ou Dav WRI, A91 [“I learned about orders from the upper echelon when the battalion called the company and platoon commanders to attend meetings. During the meetings, they said the order came from the Party, meaning the upper echelon. ‘The Party’ referred to Meas Muth”]; D114/127 Ou Kim WRI, A49, 51 [“Q: In your previous interview with the Documentation Center of Cambodia, you said that you saw Meas Muth come to the island. Can you provide any further explanation? A49: I do not remember how many times he came, but I saw him [Meas Muth] come and attend meetings on the islands many times. The meetings were attended only by battalion, company, and platoon commanders. Ordinary soldiers like me, were not allowed to attend [...] Q: Where were the meetings held? A51: At the battalion headquarters”].

943 See, e.g., D114/95 Yoem Sroeung WRI, A216 [“Q: When they provided political training, where did they conduct it? A216: Mostly it was held at Ou Chheu Teal Beach, Kampong Som Market, and Kampong Som Cinema”]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A63-64, 66, 69, 72 [“The training was conducted when we were gathered together. It was organized by Meas Muth. The instructors included Meas Muth and one of his deputies [...] A64: We studied at the Phsar Leu Cinema Cinema [...] A66: They instructed us in military procedures and discipline [...] A69: He talked about the Vietnamese army wanting to seize Cambodian territory. He told our troops to defend in particular locations bordering Vietnam [...] A72: A total of 500 or 600 personnel attended the study meeting”; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A14 [“When I first arrived in Kampong Som, I was sent to receive naval training there. Sometimes we were sent to receive naval training at Ou Chheu Teal”]; D114/103 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A128-30 [“Q: Who organised study sessions? A128: Meas Muth. Q: During study sessions, about what did he speak? A129: I spoke about many matters. He reviewed the monthly and annual plans. Q: Can you tell more of what he said during the meetings? A130: I do not remember well, but I remember that he spoke about the situation of some units”]; D54/33 Ing Chhon WRI, A16-18 [“I joined the training by Ta Mut for half a month. During the training they recorded our biographies. [...] A17: There they taught us many things. It was political training [...] Q: Why was Meas Mut the instructor? A18: Because he was commander of Division 3”]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A31 [“They set up a political course once a year in late December. They selected Party Members and the Youth League to attend political education. Each course took one week or 15 days. On the course, they taught us about building up forces, re-fashioning oneself, and the ideology of the Communist Party of Kampuchea. On each course, about 300 persons participated. [...] Then in the evening, they gave training on military customs”]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A6, 8 [“In 1975, the hall was used for political training and for political meetings of battalion chairmen/deputy chairmen, company chairmen/deputy chairmen, and lower-echelon chairmen - the so-called cadres [...] A8: Because I also attended the study sessions. I attended once every year [...] The political commander, meaning Meas Mut, had to teach political affairs, ideology, and organization. The military commander, meaning Dim, had to teach military combat techniques; the logistics commander, meaning Chhan, was responsible for weapons and equipment, food supply, and healthcare. During the closing sessions, Meas Mut acted as the presiding secretary summarizing the results of the study session, examining life views, and providing additional guidance at the end of the session”]; D114/139 Nguon Lay WRI, A54 [“They organised these events at different places. They were like workshops. Mostly, they held these events at the end of December, before the soldiers were sent to fight in the war”]; D114/58 Som Soam WRI, A26 [“Q: In the study session that Meas Muth attended did he or other speakers talk about the situation of the enemies including the internal and external enemies? A26: Yes, they did. [...] They talked about KGB, the Vietnamese spies and so on”]; D54/45 Lon Seng WRI, A1-3 [“all the regiment commanders in Division 164 attended that meeting [...] Q: Was the chief of the division the only person in charge of making announcements in the training meeting? A2: Yes, only the chief of the division, Meas Mut, could make announcements in that meeting [...] A3: This kind of leader-level meeting lasted for three days. It started from 7.30 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. and from 13.30 p.m. to 16.30 p.m. Such meeting among cadre leaders was extremely tough”]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A2 [“During wartime, training methods were different from those used during peaceful period. During wartime, there were meetings and training courses to instruct soldiers to be brave [...] During the non-war period, they trained soldiers to have a good conscience and to focus on production work”]; D1.3.13.13 Touch Souley OCP Statement, EN 00217574 [“The witness stated that Meas Mut called training once a year, at the end which was held in the former cinema hall. The subjects of the meetings included strengthening and expanding the revolution, along with political issues concerning Vietnam and Thailand, along with self criticism sessions”]; D54/33.1 Y Chhon DC-Cam Statement, EN 01073809 [“Ta Mut was the teacher. The training sessions were held at the cinema in Kampong Som”].

944 D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A45-46, 48 [“They arranged meetings in two parts: 1. Internal Party meetings attended by Party Members and the Youth League held once a month. 2. Ordinary work meetings held once a month. [...] A46: They met about general work. Members in each unit had to criticise each unit chairperson. Each unit chairperson was the example for other members in the team. A48: [...] what they mentioned were events inside and outside the country. The external events were the conflicts with the Vietnamese”].

945 D54/98 Heang Ret (Hieng Reth) WRI, A41-42 [“Q: From the time you stayed and worked in Kampong Som until the time Meas Muth was sent to the border of Cambodia and Vietnam, did you meet him often? [...] A42: I met Meas Muth once a week in the navy training sessions because Meas Muth came to chair the meetings and share his experience with the Navy in the training courses with the Chinese experts”]; D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A39-40 [“I never went to the Division Headquarters, but I used to attend meetings organised by Division 164 at Ou Chheu Teal Beach [...] Q: Was the training conducted often? A40: It was conducted annually”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A16 [“At that time, they started organizing the navy forces and then sent my group to the training at Ou Chheu Teal”]; D114/287 Heang Reth WRI, A36-37 [“I met him [Meas Muth] almost once a week when I was transferred to Unit 140 of the naval forces. This was because he convened meetings with all the trainers to share experiences and to consolidate the work. [...] A37: The meetings were to disseminate the information regarding the actions to be taken and re-enforcement forces to be deployed. Each representative of the units further conveyed the events to their respective units"; D54/112.1, D59/1/1.10a Phlong Chhea DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968350-51 ["We were taught different parts of the vessel namely the weapon section. [...] There were various sections namely the radar, compass, telegram, course plotting, machinery and navigation"]; D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974180 ["We were trained about navigating, engine repair and maintenance, weapons, electricity, telecommunication, telegrams, walkie-talkies, and flag signals"]; D54/115.1 Neak Yoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 01088456 ["There were different sections. Some people were trained to use the vessels, some were trained to operate the machines, some were trained to drive the ships and some were trained to be the telegram operators. I was trained to use the machine guns"]; D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A45-48 ["They arranged meetings in two parts: 1. Internal Party meetings attended by Party Members and the Youth League held once a month. 2. Ordinary work meetings held once a month. [...] A46: The Party chairperson in the team arranged that meeting and the chairperson reported to the upper echelon. [...] They met about general work. Members in each unit had to criticise each unit chairperson. Each unit chairperson was the example for other members in the team. [...] A47: They mentioned the situations of other units only in the internal Party meetings [...] A48: They only mentioned the units or each work team. As for other work, they did not mention that. As for secret work, what they mentioned were events inside and outside the country. The external events were the conflicts with the Vietnamese and so on. As for important secrets, they did not let us know. We could know only about the ordinary work we performed on a daily basis"]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A17 ["Sometimes, the meetings were plenary meetings attended by all battalion commanders, regiment commanders, and naval and land commanders of Division 164. But sometimes, the meetings of the navy and the army were convened separately"]; D114/132 Mao Ran WRI, A117, 188, 190-191 ["Yes, I attended [self-criticism] meetings among our squads and groups. Both commanders and combatants attended that kind of meeting. [...] A188: Saroeun called only commanders for meetings. The meetings with combatants were mostly held by Seng and Han. [...] A190: The meetings were not held regularly. They could be each month, every two months, or every five months [...] A191: The meetings were only about boat maintenance, preventing them from quickly going out of repair"]; D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A2 ["There was also special education called criticism and self-criticism. These criticism and self-criticism segments were made once every three days in daily meetings. During this educating period, the so-called 'outlook on life' was practised. One of the wrong-doers was made to stand in front of the meeting. The participants would then question and criticise that person in public"].

946 D59/1/4.27 Heng Viech DC-Cam Statement, EN 00983674 ["I attended only livelihood meetings, at which they told us about how to raise chickens and ducks. That was the information I received. They told us how to grow rice and how to plough land. [...] The other information was distributed only at political schools"].

947 D54/44 Lon Seng WRI, A26-27 ["The announcement was made in a special meeting where only certain battalion and regiment leaders were selected to attend. The announcement about the East Zone soldiers was not made publicly. I remember that those East Zone soldiers were not informed because they were regarded as enemies. They only mentioned that those soldiers would be sent to get training in order to see whether or not they could be reformed [...] Q: Who made the announcement in that training meeting? A27: The chief of division, Meas Mut"].

948 D114/287 Heang Reth WRI A34 ["I did not participate in the meetings with Meas Muth directly. The battalion chief directly participated in the meetings with Meas Muth and he passed the information onto my unit"].

949 D114/287 Heang Reth WRI A37 ["Each representative of the units further conveyed the events to their respective units. However, the message that was further conveyed was not different from the original plan that the division received"].

950 D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217565 ["Division or regiment chiefs called unit chiefs for meetings and there would be discussion prior to anyone attending the meeting"].

951 D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A1 ["Q: Yesterday, we talked about Meas Muth's announcement at the Victory Commemoration Ceremony on 17 April 1977 [...] A1: Meas Muth mentioned that a search would be carried out in the future in order to find the persons who were affiliated with those traitors"]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A25, 28 ["Q: You said that Ta Mut held a meeting in mid-1977: where was the meeting held? A25: The meeting was held at the Stueng Hav Military Unit [...] A28: He spoke about those who betrayed the Party, and he said that those accused of treason had to be rounded up and put in one place”].

952 D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A1 [“At that time they had removed all troops of Battalion 386 from their positions and sent them to the Production Unit. After we had been disarmed, we were not allowed to possess even a knife. Each of us was allowed to have only a hoe. After that, Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A56, 60-61, 63 [“Q: You said that there was another meeting after you reached the mainland. When and where did the meeting take place? A56: We stopped in Kang Keng Airport and had a meeting there, in the morning. Meas Muth was the meeting chairperson [...] A60: The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan’s confession out loud in the meeting. [...] A61: He did not talk about anything else. He sent us to work in a production unit after the meeting. [...] A63: I only remember when he talked about the traitors’ confessions. He talked about Norng Chhan and my two superiors. My superiors did not make a confession. Meas Muth just claimed that they were traitors”].

953 D114/208 Long Phansy WRI, A31 [“The regiment called me to attend a meeting in order to prepare my arrest, but from whom the order came, I did not know. The ones who arrested me were regiment, Moeurn and Lan. They were at the meeting location. It was not until 8.00 p.m. or 9.00 p.m. that the meeting began, and I was arrested then and there”]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A14 [“When they wanted to arrest those at the battalion and regiment levels, they sent the soldiers of the Special Unit to the battalion and regiment bases to tell them that brother [commander] of Division called them to attend a meeting”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217565 [“Division or regiment chiefs called unit chiefs for meetings and there would be discussion prior to anyone attending that meeting. He heard that people from some units were called to meetings and that they never returned, although that did not happen in his unit”]. See also D54/104 Ek Ni WRI, A13 [“Those who were arrested had not been informed in advance. Those who were called to attend study sessions disappeared. Invitation letters to attend study sessions were issued by the division. After the disappearance of the leaders, they made announcement to soldiers to be vigilant”].

954 D54/8 Dol Song WRI, A5, 7, 14 [“They were arrested at the end of 1977 or in early 1978. I did not see the arrests with my own eyes, but the arrests were mentioned in the unit meetings. [...] Q: Did you know if Meas Mut was in charge of announcing the information? A7: Yes, he did. [...] A14: We learnt about this at unit meetings after the arrests had been made. It was announced at the meeting that those people had been arrested. I would like to tell you that it was not only me who knew about those arrests”]; D54/102 Ek Ny WRI, A1 [“The event in front of Wat Enta Nhien Pagoda took place in late 1976 toward the beginning of 1977. [...] After that, Meas Mut came to hold a meeting with us in Koki village near the Kang Keng airfield where thousands of former soldiers of Battalion 386 and those of other units were attending. In the meeting, Meas Muth read the confessions of the traitors to us. He counted the names of the traitorous cadres from the Centre level down to the local base level. I remembered hearing him calling the names A Ya, A Thuch, A Nhek, A Yan, A Chhan, and A Dim”]; D114/89 Seng Sin WRI, A60 [“I do not know how many soldiers were sent back at that time. The meeting was about Norng Chhan who was the Deputy Commander of Division 164 who was accused of being the traitor. Meas Muth read Norng Chhan’s confession out loud in the meeting”]; D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A5 [“We had no fears before Dim and Chhan were arrested because we were the full-right soldiers. We had rifles to use, and we could move anywhere. However, after the announcement of the arrests of Dim, Chhan, and the Battalion and Regiment Commanders (namely Ta Ham and Ta Vet was made we became frightened”].

955 D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of 164 Comrades, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00657354 [“About setting up the radar on the Bauk Ko Mountain: [...] one of which will be set up in the pagoda on the mountain, and another will be set up in the hotel/casino building [...] Plan for setting up the radar in Koh Kong: They want us to build the road first. Koh Tang Island will be next”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A24 [“Bok Ko Unit was a radar unit”]; D2/9 Say Born WRI, A41 [“Q: At that time how many radar sets did the Division 164 have? A41: As I knew it, there was only one on the Bauk Ko mountain which was used daily. But later on I heard that they set up more radars on Koh Tang Island and Koh Kong”]; D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A45 [“Q: Where was the radar located? A45: It was on the Bokor Mountain”]; D59/1/1.14 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970745 [“At Koh Tang island, there was a radar on a higher foothill and it was operated by a different unit. My base was below theirs at which a radar was installed”]; D4.1.758 Unknown US

POW/MIA Statement, EN 00387312 [“The regiment had two radars—one on Bokor Mountain [...] and the one on Hill 440 [...] on Tang Island”]; D59/1/1.9a Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 00963730 [“The radar at Bokor [mountain]. Q: Was it at Bokor? A: The big radar was at Bokor. [...] Later, another one was installed at Koh Tang island but it was a smaller radar. [...] later they planned to install another one at Koh Kong but [it was failed]”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974105 [“Q: Was the radar on Bokor Mountain the main one? A: It was. Both naval and air radars were sited there”]; D22.1.2 Henri Locard, Democratic Kampuchea Prison Network in West Region, EN 00087334 [“The Chinese ships imported Zil trucks, tractors for the rice-fields, armaments (tanks, radar, DCA cannons, torpedo boats)”]; D114/286 Heang Reth WRI, A16 [“Q: There was a unit called Bokor Mountain unit. Can you tell us what that unit was? A: This unit was tasked with managing the maritime radar system”]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A6-7 [“The radar system was installed on Koh Kong Island because from there they were able to watch over the open sea. [...] A7: The radar and binocular station was under Division 1”].

956 D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A24 [“Bok Ko Unit was a radar unit”]; D59/1/1.14 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970745 [“At Koh Tang island, there was a radar on a higher foothill and it was operated by a different unit. My base was below theirs at which a radar was installed”]; D54/10.2 Report from Moeun to Bang Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977, EN 00983427 [“The radar section can communicate easily with the Chinese in the fishing section to assist the work”].

957 D54/99.1 Lay Bunhak DC-Cam Statement, EN 01115977 [“Q: Who controlled the radar at Bokor? A: Mr Uk Nang did”]; D59/1/1.14 Hing Uch DC-Cam Statement, EN 00970745 [“Q: Was Bokor radar unit commanded by uncle Ouk? A: Yes, it could be”]; D59/1/1.11a Hieng Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974105 [“Q: Is he Uk Nang? A: Yes. He was Chief of the Bokor Radar”]. See also D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968390 [“I have seen two surviving radar controllers. Uk Nang took charge of Bokor Radar, and currently holds the rank of colonel. The other is Phon, living in Ou Ta Teak – he was also at Bokor Radar Station”].

958 D114/95 Yoem Sroeng WRI, A92 [“Radar was used to detect any object floating on the water or detect anything else”]. See also D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183400 [“Radar is for: - Following the situation – Reporting”]; D1.3.34.13 Telegram 16 from Dim to Mut (Meas Muth), 6 Oct 1976 [copied to Nuon, Khieu, Mut, The Office: “As far as radar is concerned, we have installed one. We have tried to view and managed to see ships navigating on the international waters outside of Polowai island. As for the ships at Koh Seh island, [we] traced a ship supposedly carrying wood. [...] the main issue was that the ship at Koh Kong island was a real warship”]; D126.1.1 Report from the Bokor Radar Base to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Jun 1977; D1.3.34.21 Report to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 17 Jun 1977; D54/63.1 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 00983609 [“They operated their boats without turning-on their navigation lights. We could only see them via radar”]; D54/51.1 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 01109278 [“They operate at night and do not turn on their lights, so we can detect them only on our radar screens”]; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977, EN 00233992 [“They operated at night; we could only see them via radar”]; D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183406 [“As for the radar, ask them if they can operate in combination with the Navy and Air Force? Angkar proposes they work in combination. We are short of people and technology”].

959 D54/113 Leang Bea WRI, A44-47 [“Q: A moment ago you said that when an enemy ship entered Khmer territorial waters, they would dispatch a defence ship. How did the Democratic Kampuchea Navy know when an enemy ship had entered our maritime territory? A44: They knew that through the radar. Q: Where was the radar located? A45: It was on the Bokor Mountain. Q: How did they send information to your ship? A46: The provided the information to the ship’s commander in Kampong Som. Q: Through whom did your ship receive information from the upper echelon—from the regiment or from the radar directly? A47: We received it from the regiment”]; D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A21 [“Regarding the division’s defensive capabilities, there was also radar on the top of Phnum Bokor Mountain. Sometimes, that radar detected boats which entered our territorial waters in advance. That radar belonged to Division 164. Specifically, when the radar on Phnum Bokor Mountain detected any fishing boats, either small or large, which entered our territorial waters, they would directly inform me on the island about the infiltrations by those boats”]; D59/1/1.11a Heang Ret DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974105-06 [“Q: So, what did the radar people do when they picked up a boat or ship? A: They reported it to the division, and the division would send out a ship to keep [their] eyes on it. Q: So, what kinds of ships were investigated? A: At the time, Vietnamese and Thai fishing boats were investigated”]. See also D54/72 Mut Mao WRI, A33-34 [“I do not remember if there was the telephone line from Kampong Som to Kampot, but there was the telephone line from Kampong Som to Bokor. Q: Why was there a telephone network from Kampong Som to Bokor? A34: Because there was radar on Phnum Bokor Mountain. Sometimes, the units wanted to call Phnum Bokor, I connected the telephone line for them”]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A12 [“During that time, Division 1 would report to the telegram office of the ship unit at Koh Kong through a voice radio system. The telegraph operators then reported on to Ta Mut, who in turn would issue his orders. For your question about why Division 1 had to report the incidents to the telegram office of Division 164, this was because Division 1 had no fighting ships to handle such events”].

D114/29.1.6 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00350263 [“Sector military had the right to report only to the Sector Committee. As for the Centre Divisions, they had to report directly to the Centre. [...] A division referred to the army and it belonged to the Centre”]; D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 [“All the divisions of the Centre’s military had to report to the General Staff. The General Staff Communication Radio communicated with all the divisions, but did not directly communicate with the sector and district troops”].

D98/3.1.178 Meas Voeun, T. 4 Oct 2012, 09.29.17-09.32.01 [“In my understanding, the General Staff had the overall command on the division across the country”]; D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 [“All the divisions of the Centre’s military had to report to the General Staff”]; D4.1.520 Ke Pich Vannak WRI, EN 00346152 [“I was a driver, transporting food supply from Phnom Penh to the Office of the General Staff stationing in Svay Rieng. Generally, I transported food supply to Svay Rieng once every 2 days. At that time Son Sen was stationing in Svay Rieng. Besides transporting food supply, I helped with answering phone calls, so that I could hear certain information which related to the national defense”]; D1.3.9.4 Report by General Staff Logistics Committee, 29 Mar 1977.

D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 [“Meas Mut reported directly to the General Staff, to Son Sen”]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A9 [“Q: From what you have just said, did it mean that Meas Mut had a role in the general staff? A9: Yes. This was not only for Division 164 but for any division belong to the central level. Commanders of those divisions were members of the general staff head quarter. When a division became a division of the central level, the commander of such division would become a member of the general staff committee”]; D114/65 Chet Bunna WRI, A9 [“Meas Muth was the commander of Division 3, and was also a deputy of Son Sen at the General Staff of the National Armed Forces”]; D12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00680797 [“Regarding the members of the standing committee of the General Staff, there were three first important people: Son Sen, known as brother 89, the secretary, Men San alias Ya, deputy secretary and also a full-right member of the central committee, and Seat Chhe alias Tum known as brother 81, the member, and also a reserve member of the Central Committee. After these people, there were other members including Meas Mut, responsible for navy, Sou Met, responsible for air force”]; D22.2.180 Meas Muth Interview, Meas Muth: ‘We were in a cage like today’, 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 [“Q: According to the report, you attended many general staff meetings with [former Khmer Rouge Defense Minister] Son Sen, at which he revealed the policy towards the enemies of the regime. A: When I came to those meetings, it was only to discuss rice production”]; D1.3.13.13 Touch Soeuli OCP Statement, EN 00217575 [“The Naval Headquarters communicated directly with the General Staff Headquarters in Phnom Penh and with the Southwest Zone under Ta Mok”].

D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 [“Meas Mut reported directly to the General Staff, to Son Sen”]; D114/103 Liet Lan WRI, A145, 148, 150, 154 [“I think that the General Staff was under the control of Son Sen. [...] A148: The General Staff had many sections and ministries, including a section in charge of war-fighting and a Ministry of Economy in charge of supplying frontline personnel. The General Staff worked on behalf of the commanders. [...] A150: He [Son Sen] was Commander of all armed forces. [...] A154: Son Sen was Meas Muth’s superior, and Son Sen was a member of the Central Committee”].

D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A22-23 [“All the telegrams were transmitted in code numbers, and the contact was made at least two to three times a day [...] except when there was a special case in which we could make an additional contact. [...] A23: That was our daily work that we had to make [contacts] regularly two to three times a day.”].

D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 [“The General Staff Communication Radio communicated with all the divisions, but did not directly communicate with the sector and district troops”]. See also D98/3.1.177 Meas Voeun, T. 3 Oct 2012, 09.08.38-09.09.40 [“One of the most common communication lines was via radio and telegraph lines, including oral communication as well as messages. To this end, the General Staff as well as the individual divisions maintained radio and telegraph units”].

D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 [“I also translated the telegrams sent in and out from/to all the divisions. Long and I were the telegram translators at the General Staff”]; D4.1.1056 Chuon Thi, A19 [“I used to receive some telegrams involving plan and activity only from division leadership [...] But it was copied to other leaders than sent directly to me. The telegrams mentioned the enemy's activities"; D4.1.848 Chhouk Rin WRI, A7 ["At that time, telegram was not written in letters but in secret codes. Later on it was translated into letters so that its content could be understood. Telegram was a means of sending information by mail about the situation by the person in charge to his upper echelon. Normally, only the division commander of the Khmer Rouge Army had the right to send telegram to the Centre"]; D4.1.846 Ieng Phan WRI, A11 ["My military communications were by telegrams which were transmitted by a 15 watt machine in secret code numbers and then were decoded into letters of the alphabet. The machine could be used with communications radios as well"]. See also D98/3.1.177 Meas Voeun, T. 3 Oct 2012, 09.08.38-09.09.40 ["One of the most common communication lines was via radio and telegraph lines, including oral communication as well as messages. To this end, the General Staff as well as the individual divisions maintained radio and telegraph units"].

D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 ["When the General Staff summoned the divisions to attend confidential meetings, they faxed to summon them to attend meetings at the General Staff"]; D4.1.408 Chhouk Rin WRI, EN 00268871 ["High-level military commanders, including myself, received orders by telegram to travel to the East Zone, and we also received verbal orders in a special military meeting in Phnom Penh attended by military commanders"].

D54/37 Soem Ny WRI, A30 ["Q: Have you ever heard that Meas Mut was a general military staff? A30: Yes, I have. He had to join monthly meetings with military staff in Phnom Penh"]; D54/29 Liet Lan WRI, A3 ["Meas Mut was not always in Kampong Som. He had to travel back and forth between Phnom Penh and Kampong Som. In Phnom Penh, he met with Son Sen at [...] the General Staff"]; D54/110 Lon Seng WRI, A8 ["As a division commander that person was a member in the committee of the army general staff. When the army general staff needed to make a work plan, the general staff usually discussed to collect comments from division commanders"]. See also D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Plenary Meeting of Divisions, 21 Nov 1976 [Muth noted as attending]; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00183982-94 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of All Division Committees, 1 Jun 1976 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of meeting of the military work in Kampong Som, 3 Aug 1976 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics [Chiefs] of Divisions and Regiments, 19 Sep 1976 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D114/27.1.5 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minute of Divisional and Regiment secretary-undersecretary of Logistics Meeting, 19 Sep 1976 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D234/2.1.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 27 Jun 1976 [Meas Muth noted as attending]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 ["Meas Mut was commander of Division 164, which was directly under the General Staff and the Centre"]; D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A14 ["He [Son Sen] came to attend the meeting at the General Staff when there was meeting with the [military] Divisions. For example, such meeting was held once a week or once a month"].

D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of meeting of the military work in Kampong Som, 3 Aug 1976.

D22.2.180 Meas Muth Interview, Meas Muth: 'We were in a cage like today', 2 Aug 2001, EN 00161880 ["Q: [...] you attended many general staff meetings with [...] Son Sen, at which he revealed the policy towards the enemies of the regime? A: When I came to those meetings, it was only to discuss rice production. [...] in the meetings I attended with Son Sen, we discussed whether there was enough rice or not. I was just the head of the divisions, and I did not attend the secret meetings where the leaders investigated the cases of the enemy"].

D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of meeting of the military work in Kampong Som, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012 [concerning military work in Kampong Som, Meas Muth, Khieu Samphan, Nget and Dim noted as attendees]; D54/29 Liet Lan (Nam Lan) WRI, A3 ["Later on that day, we travelled to Kampong Som by car where we met Ta Mut at a meeting place near a market"]; D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes, (Division 164 cadres), 9 Sep 1976 [Report on the construction of the radar station].

D4.1.1151 Prak Yoeun alias Y WRI, EN 0223338 ["I attended the ceremony commemorating the anniversary of the creation of the Party in 1960, which was held at the Olympic Stadium after liberation in 1975. [...] Khieu Samphan spoke at that ceremony"]; D4.1.805 Chhaom Se WRI, A3 ["The Great Assembly was held in September 1975. The commanders of the division level down to the company level from all divisions attended it [...] Those [who] attended that Great Assembly included Pol Pot, Nuon Chea, Chea Choeun alias Ta Mok, Son Sen, Khieu Samphan, Vorn Vet, Ieng Sary, Ieng Thirith, Hou Nim, and Thioun Thioeun. [...]

There were 21 Party Centre members attending it”]; D4.1.240 Oeun Tan WRI, EN 00235129-30 [“Q: You told us that meetings were held at the Olympic Stadium. What were the meetings about? Q: I didn’t know what they talked about in the meetings, but I knew they were military meetings. The soldiers who attended were battalion, regiment and division [level]. [...] Q: Were the meetings at the Olympic Stadium frequent? A: They were not frequent, sometimes twice a year [...] I remember that Son Sen attended those meetings. [...] Q: Aside from the regular meeting, were there meetings at other locations? A: Just at the Olympic Stadium, once every three or four months. They were military meetings led by Pol Pot”].

973 D4.1.409 Chhouk Rin alias Sok WRI, EN 00268896-97 [“Before a cadre purge mission in the eastern zone, the military commanders and I were called, in mid 1977, to attend a meeting in Ta Mok’s home in Takeo [...] A day later we went to Svay Rieng; but we stayed in Neak Loeng for a couple of weeks. There were many meetings at the division level to prepare this scheme. Ren, Ta Mok’s son-in-law, sent a telegram to me asking me to return to Phnom Penh to attend a special meeting with the top leaders who would discuss the purge of the eastern cadres. There were about 600 to 700 participants, including Meas Mut, Sok Chhean, Ieng Phan, Dy and Thy with the presence of Pol Pot, Ta Mok, Nuon Chea and Son Sen. In the meeting, Nuon Chea said: “We must purge ‘the internal enemy’ and ‘fight the Vietnamese invaders’”].

974 D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A14 [“I only knew that, for example, the Centre called the Zone- and division-echelon cadres to attend meetings to disseminate the policies of sweeping clean and screening”].

975 D114/103 Liet Lan (Liet Lorn) WRI, A142-143 [“Q: Do you know why Meas Muth often went to Phnom Penh? A142: I think that he went to Phnom Penh to report. Q: To whom did he report? A143: He reported to the Centre”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A75 [“I attended an assembly in Phnom Penh in order to sum up the work. [...] I heard Meas Muth reporting about the Vietnamese boats that had entered Cambodian territorial waters”].

976 See, e.g., D4.1.1020 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976 [reporting on the number of people in the hospital, the capture of a motorboat carrying rice, and the need for interpreters for training]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976 [concerning the military situation in Koh Kong and Koh Tang]; D1.3.30.2 Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [describing the fighting in Koh Ses and Koh Tral, and the rice supply at Koh Rong]; D1.3.12.3 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976 [concerning arrests and the enemy situation]; D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976 [Meas Muth forwards an intercepted letter addressed to Sam-At, deputy secretary of Battalion 165, and asks Son Sen, “As for this matter, please, Angkar, give advice and make decision because as [we] have seen it is fairly clear”]; D54/51.1 (D1.3.12.18) Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977 [reporting on the capture of Thai vessels off of Koh Kong and entering of Vietnamese fishing vessels near Koh Seh]; D1.3.2.2 Telegram 10 from Son Sen to Meas Muth, 4 Nov 1976 [detailing instructions including the absolute necessity to destroy the enemies entering DK waters or territories, the need to keep the recent arrests of those from the “West” secret and the need to strengthen communications]. See also D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A62 [“Q: When there was an order to Meas Muth, how was it sent? A62: To my knowledge, orders were sent by telegraph”]; D4.1.855 Lonh Dos WRI, EN 00364071 [“When the General Staff summoned the divisions to attend confidential meetings, they sent a telegram to summon them to attend meetings at the General Staff. Division commanders were usually summoned to attend the meetings at the General Staff”]; D114/19.1 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [Regarding fighting on Koh Tral Island]; D1.3.12.2 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown: 1976, 1977 or 1978) [regarding the capture of Thai fishing boats]; D1.3.14.2 Telegram 83 from Moeun to Brother Muth (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977 [copied to Son Sen: reporting on, among other things, the discovery of internal “enemies”]; D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Mut (Meas Muth) to M-870, 31 Dec 1977 [regarding the defence of the maritime boundary, copied to Brother (Pol Pot), Brother Nuon, Brother Van (Ieng Sary), Brother Von (Vorn Vet), Brother Khieu (Son Sen)].

977 D54/23.3 Confidential Telephone Message from Mut (Meas Muth), 4 Jan 1978 [reporting on about total number of arrested Vietnamese and failure to release Thai captives]; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978 [describing incidents of boat capture and killings at sea]; D54/73.1 Confidential Telephone Communication from Mut (Meas Muth), 1 Apr 1978 [describing arrests of Vietnamese and release of Thai prisoners, and requesting military equipment]; D1.3.30.25 Confidential Telephone Messages from Mut, 1 Apr 1978 [detailing the number of Vietnamese captured and killed]; D4.1.637 Confidential Telephone Message from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978 [regarding fighting at Koh Tral and soldiers injured]; D54/73 Mut Mao WRI, A4 [“Q: How often did K-1 call? A4: Sometimes once per day and sometimes once every two days. At that time, there were calls back and forth between Meas Mut, the commander of Division 164 and the Centre”]; D1.3.30.26 Confidential Telephone Communication from Regiment 63 to Grand Uncle (Nuon Chea), 15 Apr 1978; D1.3.12.20 (D4.1.639) Confidential Telephone Communication from Division 164 to Mut (Meas Muth), 12 Aug 1977 [with handwritten annotations by Khieu Samphan]. See also D98/1.2.47 Norng Sophang, T. 5 Sep 2012, 11.39.48-11.42.18 [“the air force, the infantry forces, as well as the navy – they had their encoding and decoding unit as well as the landlines and also telephone contact”].

D1.3.4.1 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976, EN 00234455 [letter concerning a soldier, Achar Kang’s, health situation]; D4.1.1010 Letter from Kan and Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother (Son Sen), 8 Dec 1978 [letter explaining journalist Elizabeth Becker’s requests].

D22.2.181 Meas Muth US POW/MIA Statement, EN 00249694 [“All communications between Ream/Kampong Som and Phnom Penh during the Mayaguez incident were conducted via messenger”].

D114/19.1 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [“I have mailed to you, Brother 89, the monthly report of Unit 164, through train”]; D1.3.30.2 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [“This monthly report of Unit 164 is to be submitted to Brother 89 by train”].

D4.1.1020 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976 [reporting on the number of people in the hospital, the capture of a motorboat carrying rice, and the need for interpreters for training]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976 [describing the military situation in Koh Kong and Koh Tang, and two traitors]; D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976 [Muth forwards an intercepted letter addressed to Sam-At, deputy secretary of Battalion 165, and asks Son Sen to seek advice for Angkar]; D1.3.4.1 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976 [reporting on a soldier, Achar Kang’s, health situation]; D4.1.637 Confidential Telephone Message from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978 [regarding fighting at Koh Tral and soldiers injured]; D54/23.3 Confidential Telephone Message from Mut (Meas Muth), 4 Jan 1978 [reporting on total number of arrested Vietnamese and failure to release Thai captives]; D54/73.1 Confidential Telephone Communication from Mut (Meas Muth), 1 Apr 1978 [describing arrests of Vietnamese and release of Thai prisoners, and requesting military equipment]; D1.3.34.28 Report from Sim to Division 164, 15 Sep 1977 [Copied to Brother 89 (Son Sen): regarding the capture of Thai boats].

D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976 [describing the military situation in Koh Kong and Koh Tang, and two traitors]; D4.1.572 Report from Roeun (Ung Ren) to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 25 Mar 1977 [detailing the situation with the enemy at the border]; D114/19.1 Report from Meas Muth to Son Sen (Brother 89), 5 Jan 1976 [discussing armed clashes on and around Koh Tral and Division 164 military deployment on Koh Ses, Koh Thmey, Koh Sampauch, Koh Ream and the presence of Meas Muth at Koh Rong and Koh Rong Krao at the time of the report]; D1.3.12.2 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Feb (year unknown: 1976, 1977 or 1978) [discussing Koh Pring forces firing at a Thai fishing boat, the capture of Thai boats, and flights of Vietnamese helicopters over Koh Tral / Phu Quoc].

D54/51.1 (D1.3.12.18) Telegram 09 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977 [reporting on the capture of Thai vessels off of Koh Kong and entering of Vietnamese fishing vessels near Koh Seh]; D1.3.12.3 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 22 Feb 1976 [reporting on the arrest of seven enemies at Sangvav]; D4.1.637 Confidential Telephone Message from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Apr 1978 [regarding fighting at Koh Tral and soldiers injured]; D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978 [regarding the maritime enemy situation]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram 44 from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976 [concerning the enemies including Thai nationals in the maritime boundary]; D1.3.12.18 Telegram 09 from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 May 1977 [discussing the movements of Thai and Vietnamese vessels]; D1.3.12.20 (D4.1.639) Confidential Telephone Communication from Division 164 to Mut (Meas Muth), 12 Aug 1977 [describing the capture of one boat with 4 Thai and 1 Khmer on board suspected of traitorous activities]; D1.3.8.4 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of 164 Comrades, 9 Sep 1976 [concerning “internal” and external enemies]; D234.2.1.46 DK Military Report from Euan to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 1 May 1976 [regarding internal “enemies”]; D1.3.34.28 Report from Sim to Division 164, 15 Sep 1977, [copied to Son Sen: reporting on the arrest of Thai fishing boats and killing of fishermen].

D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976 [Meas Muth forwards an intercepted letter addressed to Sam-At, deputy secretary of Battalion 165, and asks Son Sen, “As for this matter, please, Angkar, give advice and make decision because as [we] have seen it is fairly clear”];

D234/2.1.45 Report from Sok to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Jun 1977 [Committee of Division 170 reporting on, among other things, 11 internal “enemies”]; D234/2.1.46 Report from Euan to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 1 May 1976 [detailing arrests and confessions of internal “enemies”]; D234/2.1.48 Report from Ren (Ung Ren) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Jul 1977 [staff office reporting on, among other things, leadership, purges, the “national defence” work of Division 170, and the problem of some cadres being lazy and needing to be re-educated]; D10.1.98 Report from Roeun (Ung Ren) to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 25 Nov 1976 [Committee of Division 801 reporting on, among other things, external “enemies” indoctrinating some internal units]; D4.1.643 Report from Division 310 Committee to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Nov 1977 [regarding, among other things, subversive activities within Division 310]. See also D1.3.14.2 Telegram 83 from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977 [copied to Son Sen: reporting on, among other things, the discovery of internal “enemies”].

D1.3.30.2 Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [describing the fighting in Koh Ses and Koh Tral, and the rice supply at Koh Rong]; D234/2.1.45 Report from Sok to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Jun 1977 [Committee of Division 170 reporting on rice production and requests for Angkar to address a water problem]; D234/2.1.48 Report from Ren (Ung Ren) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 6 Jul 1977 [staff office reporting on, among other things, agricultural productivity]; D10.1.98 Report from Roeun (Ung Ren) to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 25 Nov 1976 [Committee of Division 801 reporting on, among other things, agricultural production].

D1.3.4.1 Report from Mut (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 19 Oct 1976 [reporting to Son Sen on a soldier, Achar Kang’s, health situation]; D4.1.1020 Report from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Feb 1976 [reporting health issues]; D10.1.97 Telegram from Thoeun to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Mar 1976 [concerning the health of combatants in Division 801].

D4.1.643 Report from Division 310 Committee to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 4 Nov 1977 [regarding, among other things, dam construction within unit 310]; D4.1.1014 Report from Oeun to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 26 May 1976 [concerning the construction of a canal and other works including forest clearing and land cultivation]; D1.3.34.10 Telegram from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 13 Aug 1976 [describing, among other things, installation of cannons on islands]. See also D1.3.14.2 Telegram 83 from Moeun to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 13 Jul 1977 [copied to Son Sen: reporting on, among other things, repairs].

D54/82 Hing Uch WRI, A6 [“Office 870 sent the instructional message directly to Division 164, and separately I received the forwarded instruction message from Division 164”]. See generally D98/3.1.307 Ung Ren, (TCW-754). T, 10 Jan 2013, 09.23.42-09.26.04 [“We knew of the instructions from the Upper Echelon through him [Division Secretary Saroeun], only through the meetings that he relayed those instructions to us”].

D1.3.2.2 Telegram 10 from Son Sen to Meas Muth, 4 Nov 1976 [detailing instructions including the absolute necessity to destroy the enemies entering DK waters or territories, the need to keep the recent arrests of those from the “West” secret and the need to strengthen communications].

D4.1.845 Lonh Dos WRI, A35 [explaining that a report from Division 164 to Son Sen was forwarded to Angkar because “every matter happening must be reported to Angkar”]; D4.1.240 Oeun Tan WRI, EN 00235133 [“I saw letters sent in from Son Sen. Letters sent in from the Zones and Sectors had to go to K-7 first; then they were brought to K-1, and my team took them to Pol Pot”]. See also D4.1.611 Norng Sophang WRI, EN 00334052 [“Son Sen had a telegraph for communicating directly with Yos place. His telegram came out in code number forms, so Yos, after receiving it, just delivered it directly to K-1. After that, Pon group translated it into the text letters. For the important directives and important issues, the inside group were the ones to translate them”]; D98/1.2.36 Oeun Tan (TCW-788) T, 13 Jun 2012, 15.48.20-15.51.08 [“Letters were sent from Son Sen [...] I brought them to Pol Pot”].

D1.3.14.1 Telegram from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 11 Jun 1976 [Meas Muth forwards an intercepted letter addressed to Sam-At, deputy secretary of Battalion 165, and asks Son Sen, “As for this matter, please, Angkar, give advice and make decision because as [we] have seen it is fairly clear”]; D1.3.12.20 (D4.1.639) Confidential Telephone Communication from Division 164 to Mut (Meas Muth), 12 Aug 1977 [report of arrest of a boat off of Koh Kong, which was forwarded to Angkar by Son Sen]; D234/2.1.44 Report from Oeun to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 16 Mar 1976 [“Now I have our brothers secretly watched clearly; then record the voice as proof to submit to Angkar [...] rice is available, but it is required to request through Angkar [...] I would like to request Angkar’s opinions”]; D10.1.98 Report from Roeun (Ung Ren) to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 25 Nov 1976 [“Anyone who is suspicious of being an enemy must absolutely be arrested [...] This is a report of Committee 801 regarding enemy activities and measures as stated above and we request that Uncle make remarks and comments. We look forward to receiving the Party's recommendations"; D4.1.1015 Report from Reuan to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 30 Mar 1977 ["As per Angkar's instruction, I request that Comrade Mao be assigned as replacement. I request Uncle to comment on Comrade Mao [...] I request Uncle to help make a decision [...] I request Uncle to comment and decide on this comrade [...] I request Uncle to make comments and judgments"]; D234/2.1.50 Report from Ren to the Office of the General Staff, 12 Mar 1977 ["This is proposed for Angkar to help resolve"]; D1.3.34.23 Telegram 28 from Soeung to Ankar, 12 Aug 1977 [reporting on an enemy jet airplane and asking for information from Angkar].

992 D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978 [Meas Muth reports to Son Sen about the arrests of Thai and Vietnamese boats]; D54/11 Meu Ret alias Meu Sareth WRI, A20 ["Q: Why was this reported to Son Sen? A20: Ta Mut had to report all these events, such as firing at and capturing Vietnamese boats, to upper echelon so that the upper echelon would take appropriate measures"]; D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A13 ["According to my knowledge about the command structures, Meas Mut was in the Centre echelon, so he had to report to his upper echelon — Son Sen, who was the General Staff"].

993 D98/3.1.178 Meas Voeun, T. 4 Oct 2012, 10.14.58-10.17.11 ["We cooperated with Division 3 at the regiment level. We got to know one another, so then we could familiarize ourselves with our task and their task and not to overlap our responsibility"]; D98/3.1.179 Meas Voeun, T. 8 Oct 2012, 11.16.46-11.19.35 ["My division patrolled from Koh Kong to Kaoh Sdach — that's to the North. And, as to the South, it was under the control of Division 3. But the division commander never communicated directly with me. Only the regiment or the battalion commander communicated with my group"].

994 D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A18 ["Because the West Zone was bordered by Thailand and the international waters, some parts of the sea borders between Cambodia and the international waters and Cambodia and Thailand were under the control of Division 1. The other parts of the borders were under the control of the navy"].

995 D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A5-6 ["During that time Infantry Division 1 was deployed at various places in Koh Kong [...] A6: My ship unit was not positioned in only one place in Koh Kong Town; we moved from place to place to defence against attack by Thai aircraft. Sometimes we were moored at Pory Lamdam while sometimes we were moored at Pory Av Yeay Saen. These two islands were in Koh Kong"]; D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A17 ["Division 1 headquarters was located in Banteay Longvaek; because Koh Kong was in the West Zone [...] One regiment, which had a battalion under my command, operated at Koh Kong. The other part [of Division 1] was stationed at the headquarters in Banteay Longvaek"].

996 D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A5, 7 ["Division 1 had their binoculars and radars to scan for illegal fishing boats. [...] A7: The radar and binocular station was under Division 1"].

997 D54/53 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 ["Yes, sharing information was very important for our operations to capture Thai and Vietnamese fishing boats"].

998 D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A12 ["During that time, Division 1 would report to the telegram office of the ship unit at Koh Kong through a voice radio system. The telegraph operators then reported on to Ta Mut, who in turn would issue his orders"]; D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A35 ["Yes I had to provide the information to Sim's unit when I saw any ship around 70 nautical kilometres or so or further. If I had not provided that information to his unit, I would have been scolded and blamed if any problems had occurred. After I had informed them, that unit would report to their upper echelon, Division 3, to get orders or instructions regarding the actions to be taken"].

999 D54/51 Meas Voeun WRI, A17 ["If there were any conflicts on the sea with another country, Division 1 would contact the navy to intervene and deal with the conflicts because they had warships, and we did not. Division 1 only had small boats for patrol and transport"]; D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A12 ["For your question about why Division 1 had to report the incidents to the telegram office of Division 164, this was because Division 1 had no fighting ships to handle such events"].

1000 D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A19 ["The military forces under Meas Mut piloted boats in cooperation with my unit in Koh Kong. My military forces were deployed at various islands in Koh Kong at the time. Therefore, when military units under Meas Mut's division came to Koh Kong by boat, we always cooperated with each other in our work in that area"].

1001 D54/34 Ing Chhon WRI, A2, 5 ["When the telegraph operators there received any orders from Ta Mut's place, those telegraph operators sent those orders to the ship commanders. [...] A5: When they [Division 1] located a target they sent the information to the ship unit, and then the ship unit reported on to Ta Mut by telegram. Ta Mut would then send his orders back to the ship commanders on how to deal with those fishing boats”].

1002 D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A3 [“We did not have authority to command the navy. If an incident occurred during our joint operations, Ta Soeung, who was commander of Division 1, would discuss it with Ta Mut before issuing orders to us to take our respective actions. My unit waited to get orders from our commanders, including Ta Soeung and Ta Mut”].

1003 D54/53 Meas Voeun WRI, A17-18 [“We [Division 1] sent those [captured Thai] fishermen to the Navy at Kampong Som Port. [...] A18: We informed Ta Soeung, and he informed the Navy before we sent them”].

1004 D54/50 Meas Voeun WRI, A20-21 [“Initially, Meas Mut communicated with Ta Soeun through radio. Then, Ta Soeun told me the vessels and military forces under Meas Mut would come to cooperate with my unit in Koh Kong [...] A21: I remember that they contacted each other only once in 1978”]. See also D54/53 Meas Voeun WRI, A1, 9 [“Ta Soeung instructed me to share the information [on sighting a boat] with Sim at Naval Division 3. [...] A9: I remember that event, the capture of the two boats at Koh Kong Krau. Before Sim went to capture those two boats, he told me by radio that he was leaving to conduct an operation to capture them because they had entered our territorial waters about 50 nautical kilometers from Koh Kong Krau. I replied saying I agreed with him. Then I changed my radio frequency to his so we would be able to communicate with each other throughout the operation. Then I informed my units on the different islands about the operation. I told the DK76 and 20 mm units on Koh Ya, and the 105mm, 75mm and 12.7 mm guns units and 60 mm and 80 mm mortar units on Koh Kong about the operation to avoid friendly fire incidents”].

1005 D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5, 16 [“Sometimes, he [Meas Muth] met with Ta Soeung to [...] give instructions on operations in Cambodian territorial waters. His naval forces had the authority to conduct operations anywhere in Cambodian territorial waters, and he may have had authority over other units operating along the Mekong River as well. [...] A16: I do not know if they met regularly or frequently; but I noticed they held meetings when there were problems at sea, for example when Thai fishing boats had entered Cambodia's territorial waters”]. See also D54/52 Meas Voeun WRI, A32 [“These meetings were conducted every day or every three days on Koh Kong Krau Island. The ships of Division 3 had been anchored next to Koh Kong Krau Island since early 1978. My unit was deployed throughout the entire surface of Koh Kong Krau Island at the time. The ships of the Division were anchored nearby”]; D98/3.1.179 Meas Voeun, T. 8 Oct 2012, 11.43.48-11.46.56 [“Actually, the head of the division did not come to see me, but they sent their people representing the regiment and also the battalion, so that we could understand one another and that we should refrain from firing at one another”].

1006 D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A4 [“Meas Mut was commander of Division 164, which was directly under the General Staff and the Centre. Division 164's status was different from that of my Division 1. As for me, I was only a member of the Division 1 committee, and my division was under the West Zone. My division Zone echelon and was lower than that of Meas Mut's Division, which was at Centre echelon”].

1007 D54/54 Meas Voeun WRI, A5 [“I noticed his work reflected the duties of a member of the General Staff Committee because he had the authority to advise other military units such as my Division 1 on maritime operations”].

1008 D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A1-2 [“As I remember, I attended only one meeting with Meas Mut, in which he announced the changing of division leadership; at that time he said, ‘Nhan will replace Rum in Division 117’. I remember attending the meeting, but I do not remember the date of the meeting [...] A2: Before Meas Mut walked into the meeting, he had [told] the messenger, and the other soldiers outside the meeting that ‘Your leaders are all traitors’”].

1009 D54/63 Moeng Vet WRI, A19 [“As far as I know, Meas Mut began to be involved in responsibility for the eastern border in 1978 when the Vietnamese soldiers were striking strongly”].

1010 D54/96 Teng Sarim WRI, A2 [“After defeating the Lon Nol regime in 1975, I was sent to guard along the Vietnamese border”], A4 [“I guard[ed] at the Vietnamese border until 1977”]; D114/246 Pol Nhorn WRI, A8 [“Q: After the liberation of Phnom Penh in April 1975, where did they assign you to go? A8: We liberated Takeo and then they had the forces leave Takeo. Then they sent us to the Vietnamese border”]; D114/287 Heang Reth WRI, A17 [“upon the arrival of the [DK] armed forces in Kampong Som, some of them were further sent to Krachak Ses and Poulo Wai islands. [...] At that time, Vietnam was not liberated [...] We had to occupy those islands because historically they belonged to Cambodia”]; D114/282 Ek Ny WRI, A21-22 [“The soldiers from the sector's army and Division 3 were sent to Koh Polou Wai Island, Koh Polou Wai Thmei (New Polou Wai) Island, Koh Polou Wai Chas (Old Polou Wai) Island, Koh Rong Sanloem, Koh Rong Thom (Big Rong) Island, Koh M'noas Island, and Koh Tang Island. [...] A22: They began sending them on 18 (April 1975)”; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A24-25 [“As I remember, right after the complete victory over Phnom Penh and Kampong Som Province they transported us by ship to guard the islands. Q: Immediately after the victory, correct? A25: Yes, correct”]; D54/28 Liet Lan WRI, A14 [“When Phnom Penh collapsed, my unit was dispatched to Ream. At that time my unit was merged with Division 3 under the command of Meas Mut. Only a day after our stay in Ream, we were dispatched to Koh Seh Island, and we stayed there for about one month”]; D54/47 Em Sun WRI, A8 [“I arrived in Kampong Som at around 6 p.m. on 18 April 1975. I stayed at Kampong Som Port for around one week, and later I was transferred to Koh Tang Island”], A47-48 [“Q: Can you recall the date when you were sent to Koh Tang Island? A47: It was perhaps on 26 or 27 April 1975. A48: [...] Around one week after we arrived on Koh Tang Island, Tak came on a BE boat, delivering some heavy weapons to us such as two DK-82 mm mortars, two DK-75 mm mortars, two DK-106 mm mortars, and two 12.7 mm machine guns”]; D54/20 Sam Som (Saom) WRI, A3 [“I was assigned to Koh Seh Island, and then I went to Koh Tang Island in June 1975”]; D54/38.1 Lun Seng DC-Cam Statement, EN 01072383, KH 00967310 [“after we ended the war on land on 17 April 1975, they told us to send troops there [...] They were deployed on various islands”]; D59/1/1.7a Ma Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969927-28, KH 00926305 [“Q: So after the fall of Phnom Penh on 17 April 1975, your force was sent to Kampong Som? A: Yes! [...] I reorganized the forces and made them ready for travelling to the island”], EN 00969933, KH 00926311 [“Q: Since the 1975 liberation you stayed only for a few days at Kang Keng before you were sent to the island? A: Yes!”]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432793 [“Phnom Penh was liberated on 17 April. Taking advantage of this period when we [in Vietnam] were concentrating on resolving pressing problems in the large cities right after they were liberated, the Pol Pot clique sent their troops [...] to seize and occupy our islands”].

1011

D234/2.1.1 SWB, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference, 7 Apr 1978, EN S 00010500-01, KH 00305306 [“On 4th May, 1975, Kampuchean troops landed on Phu Quoc island and on 10th May, 1975, they launched attacks from the mainland and from Hon Troc (Vai island) on Vietnam’s Tho Chu island and occupied it”]; D234/2.1.13 SRV Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419878, KH 00656202 [“As early as the beginning of May 1975, Kampuchea employed its armed forces in attacks on Phu Quoc and Tho Chu islands, during which more than 500 civilians were carried off”]; D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, Prime Minister Pham Van Dong Answers Interview by Viet Nam News Agency, EN 00196229, KH 00283132 [“On May 4, 1975 the Kampuchean armed forces attacked Phu Quoc island”], The Viet Nam-Kampuchea Border Question and the Policy of the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam for a Settlement of this Question, EN 00196233, KH 00283136 [“violations of Vietnamese territory committed by the Kampuchea side in early May 1975 when the latter ordered its armed forces to land on Phu Quoc Island and to attack Tho Chu Island”]; D69.1.30 Library of Congress Report, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, 4 Oct 1978, EN 00187387 [“April and May 1975: [...] The Cambodians (say the Vietnamese) attempt to seize Phu Quoc and Tho Chu Islands and kidnap 500 persons in the process”]; D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 13.44.10-13.48.37 [“[the Khmer Rouge] used the old regime’s patrol boat and armed men to go and seize the Phu Quoc and Tho Chau Islands”]; D69.1.36 Foreign Languages Publishing House, The Vietnam-Kampuchea Conflict (A Historical Record), EN 00187338 [“On May 4, [Kampuchean armed forces] landed on Phu Quoc Island, and on May 10, occupied Tho Chu Island, massacring many people and taking away 515 inhabitants”]; D234/2.1.11 Tuoi Tre News, A Deadly Landing by Khmer Rouge, 15 Jan 2014, EN 01022513-14, KH 01218829 [“The Khmer Rouge [...] sent troops to land on Tho Chu Island in the southwest of Vietnam and kidnapped all 513 inhabitants there in May, 1975”], EN 01022517, KH 01218833 [“all 513 people aboard the two fishing boats of the Khmer Rouge were later confirmed to have all been killed in Koh Tang”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192198, KH 00191318 [“Khmer Rouge launched a seaborne ground assault on [Phu Quoc Island] on May 4. Six days later, Khmer troops landed on Poulo Panjang Island (Tho Chu in Vietnamese and Koh Krachak Ses in Khmer) and evacuated at gunpoint five hundred Vietnamese inhabitants, who were never heard of again”]; D54/74.1.15 Khieu Samphan, Cambodia’s Recent History, EN 00103758, fn. 58 [“on May 10, 1975, a unit of the young Khmer naval army seized the Poulo Panjuang islands [Tho Chu]”]; D114/276.1.1 Tran Dai Quang, Tho Chau – the Kidnapped Island, 18 Jul 2016, EN 01507149, KH 01517418 [“May 1975 [...] Khmer Rouge troops occupied the islands of Tho Chau (Kien Giang Province) [...] Over 500 islanders were kidnapped and taken away”], EN 01507152, KH 01517422 [“on the night of May 23, 1975 [...] they took people away”]; D114/266.1.4 Nhan Dan, Initiators of the Massacre of the Kampuchean People and of the War Against Vietnam, 15 Jul 1978, EN 01502612, KH 01506908 [“Within just 13 days of seizing power Kampuchea’s new rulers betrayed the militant solidarity that had been forged [...] by ordering their troops to attack the Vietnamese islands of Tho

Chu and Phu Quoc, thus embarking on the cruel war against our people which has now been going on for over three years”]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432793 [“on 03 May the Pol Pot reactionary clique in Cambodia sent out troops that attacked and occupied the northern part of Phu Quoc Island, occupied Hon Ong [Grandfather Island] and Hon Ba [Island] (collectively known as Poulo Wai Island) and Tho Chu Island, and murdered more than 500 of our compatriots who were long-time residents of these islands”].

- 1012 D234/2.1.1 SWB, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference, 7 Apr 1978, EN S 00010501, KH 00305307 [“on 25th May, 1975, Vietnamese local armed forces were compelled to use their legitimate right of self-defence to drive the intruders out of Tho Chu island”]; D114/287 Heang Reth WRI, A17 [“After North Vietnam liberated South Vietnam, they sent their armed forces to fight us [DK forces] and occupy Krachak Ses and Poulo Wai islands. [...] they [...] opened attacks on Krachak Ses Island, captured us as prisoners of war and sent us to Koh Tral”]; D114/84 Ek Sophal WRI, A8 [“the armed forces who were sent to Koh Tral Island were surrounded by the Vietnamese soldiers and arrested. They became the prisoners of war”]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A29 [“on Koh Tral Island we had all become prisoners of war”]; D114/283 Ek Ny WRI, A12 [“[The Vietnamese] took our islands: Koh Krachak Seh Island and Koh Poulo Wai Island. They smashed two of our battalions”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192198, KH 00191318 [“Two weeks after the Khmer Rouge landing [on Tho Chu Island], the Vietnamese launched a counterattack, killing many Khmer soldiers and taking about three hundred prisoners”]; D114/276.1.3 Tran Dai Quang, Tho Chau - The Kidnapped Island: Failed Exchange, 20 Jul 2016, EN 01506918, KH 01517425 [“After the three-day battle, on May 27, 1975, the Vietnam People's Army rescued Tho Chau, killed nearly 200 people and captured over 300 Khmer Rouge alive. However, the task of rescuing over 500 Tho Chau islanders did not succeed”]; D69.1.36 Foreign Languages Publishing House, The Vietnam-Kampuchea Conflict (A Historical Record), EN 00187338 [“Vietnamese regional armed forces drove the aggressors out of Tho Chu Island”]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432794 [“Catching the enemy by surprise, our forces totally destroyed one battalion of Pol Pot's troops and captured 300 prisoners”].
- 1013 D54/74.1.15 Khieu Samphan, Cambodia's Recent History, EN 00103758, fn. 58 [“This triggered an immediate counter-attack by the Vietnamese forces that [...] led to the occupation of Poulo Wai Island”]; D4.1.988 Ieng Thirith Statement, 17-18 Nov 1979, EN 00418974-75, KH 00658249 [“In May 1975, [the Vietnamese] occupied the island of Poulo Way”]; D98/3.1.180 Meas Voeun, T. 9 Oct 2012, 09.16.58-09.19.41 [“Vietnamese soldiers attacked and seized control of [Poulo] Wai Island. That island was under the control of Muth”]; D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 09.34.11-09.36.16 [“the Vietnamese [...] also proceeded to Poulo Wai and controlled it for a few months”]; D234/2.1.93 Prum Sarat, T. 27 Jan 2016, 11.09.49-11.12.01 [“Vietnamese forces arrested 720 DK soldiers and detained them as prisoners of war in Kaoh Tral. [...] The arrests actually took place on the islands of Poulo Wai Chas and Poulo Wai Thmei [...] which [...] [were] part of the Kampuchean territorial waters”]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A13 [“we had not yet been stationed there for more than a few days, like on Koh Poulo Wai Island(s), when they [the Vietnamese] wanted to take our islands. [...] Vietnam came to commit aggression against our islands, opening fire on and even killing us in battles [...] they also captured Democratic Kampuchea troops and took them to put in jail”]; D114/261 Chum Chy WRI, A4 [“After period of combat that I guess was most probably a week, of making seven days of war with the Vietnamese, and on account of having no food or ammunition and of having many dead and also many injured, it had to be stipulated that we had lost the war with the Vietnamese on Koh Poulo Wai Island(s). At that time, they captured some troops [...] They were taken as prisoners of war [...] Later, the prisoners of war were [...] jailed on Koh Tral Island”]; A5 [“it [had] only just become June or something like that when the Vietnamese army came to attack Koh Poulo Wai Island(s)”]; D114/287 Heang Reth WRI, A17 [“After North Vietnam liberated South Vietnam, they sent their armed forces to fight us and occupy Krachak Ses and Poulo Wai islands”]; A29 [“Q: When you mentioned about the Vietnamese attacks and the reinforcement troops to intervene, to which island do you refer? A29: I refer to Poulo Wai Island”]; A41 [“Later on, Vietnamese troops took victory. They captured all our new and existing forces as prisoners of war, and brought us to Koh Tral”]; D114/186 Sath Chak WRI, A111 [“Vietnamese forces attacked Poulo Wai Island [...] they did not allow any Khmer to stay on it. It is true that the Vietnamese captured people from my unit”]; D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A11 [“more than 200 personnel were sent to defend Koh Poulo Wai Island because at that time the Vietnamese had control of the island”]; D54/78.1, D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968395-96, KH 00926622 [“The three islands were taken [...] Koh Krachak Seh [...] Koh Poulo Wai Chas and Koh Poulo Wai Thmei [...] It was not quite long after the Mayaguez incident”]; D114/27.1.1 New York Times, Vietnam Said to Capture an Island off

- Cambodia, 14 Jun 1975 ["An island off the coast of Cambodia was captured this week by Vietnamese troops [...] The battle was fought for Poulo Wai, a tiny rock island in the Gulf of Siam, about 60 miles from the Cambodian coast"]; D1.3.25.3 The Times of London, Vietnam and Cambodia in Fierce Clash, 14 Jun 1975 ["the Wai Islands had been overrun by Vietnam forces after six days of fighting"]; D114/276.1.3 Tran Dai Quang, Tho Chau - The Kidnapped Island: Failed Exchange, 20 Jul 2016, EN 01506918, KH 01517426 ["On June 5, 1975, Vietnamese troops opened fire on the Khmer Rouge on Hon Ong and Hon Ba [Poulo Wai islands]. [...] During the 10 days of fighting, the Vietnamese army destroyed two Khmer Rouge battalions, captured 320 prisoners"]; D1.3.17.1 Elizabeth Becker, When the War was Over: Cambodia and the Khmer Rouge Revolution, EN 00237903, KH 00232264 ["Vietnam then recaptured Puolo Wai"]; D1.3.25.4 Herald Tribune, Cambodians and Vietnamese Said to Battle Over Islands, 14-15 Jun 1975 ["the sharpest fighting reported so far took place Tuesday on Poulo Wai, a tiny island 60 miles offshore. [...] According to one account, [...] as many as 200 North Vietnamese regulars landed on the island"].
- 1014 D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 09.34.11-09.36.16 ["[the Vietnamese] also proceeded to Puolo Wai and controlled it for a few months before they returned it to the Khmer Rouge regime"], 13.57.46-14.00.18 ["[The Vietnamese] had captured Puolo Wai, which was a Cambodian island, and which they returned later on as a result of the negotiation"]; D54/105 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A4 ["the Vietnamese soldiers fought and took control of these two Poulo Wai Islands for three months"]; D114/264 Chum Chy WRI, A47 ["the international community had Vietnam return the old and new Koh Poulo Wai Islands urgently to Cambodia"]; D54/78.1, D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968396, KH 00926622 ["We went to the three islands immediately after their arrival, but the Yuon returned only two of them to us. [...] They did not return Koh Krachak Seh. [...] They returned only Koh Poulo Wai Chas and Koh Poulo Wai Thmei"].
- 1015 See, e.g., D4.1.237 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 2 Nov 1975, EN 00183414, KH 00019134 (Koh Thmei after mid-1975); D1.3.30.2 DK Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 (Koh Tral, Jan 1976); D234/2.1.141 Ma Chhoeun, T. 12 Dec 2016, 14.53.58-14.55.15 ["My battalion was based at Koh Seh and Koh Thmei"], 14.58.56-15.01.30 ["we remained there until 1978-79"], 15.05.00-15.06.30 ["the fighting took place at sea. [...] Usually, the Vietnamese forces attacked us first and we had to counterattack"] (May 1975-1978); D234/2.1.92 Prum Sarat, T. 26 Jan 2016, 10.42.02-10.43.34 (Koh Tral until late 1975); D114/19 Mak Chhoeun WRI, A23 ["We were ordered to fire when we encountered [Vietnamese boats on Koh Thmei Island]"], A24 ["At that time, when there was conflict between Vietnam and Cambodia, there was fighting on Koh Krachak Seh Island and Koh Poulo Wai Island"] (1975-1976); D54/93 Yem Sam On WRI, A2 ["Q: Could you describe what Division 3 did from 1975 to 1976? A2: [...] The other soldiers of Division 3 were stationed on the islands to defend the territorial waters"]; D59/1/1.7a Ma (Mak) Chhoeun DC-Cam Statement, EN 00969934-35, KH 00926310-11 (Koh Seh, Koh Tral 1975, Koh Thmei 1976); D54/78.1, D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968388, KH 00926615 ["Defence forces were deployed to Koh Poulo Wai Chas, Koh Poulo Wai Thmei, Koh Tang, Koh Prins, Koh Vear after being revised downward. Earlier, there were also defence forces on Koh Rong"] (1975-1976); D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192190, KH 00191310 ["The fall of Saigon and Phnom Penh was followed by bloody clashes between the victorious Vietnamese and Cambodian Communists over the control of islands in the Gulf of Thailand"].
- 1016 D69.1.36 Foreign Languages Publishing House, The Vietnam-Kampuchea Conflict (A Historical Record), EN 00187338 ["as early as May 1, 1975, the Kampuchean armed forces violated Vietnam's territory at several places along the border from Ha Tien to Tay Ninh"]; D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196229, KH 00283132 ["on May 8, 1975, [Kampuchean armed forces] encroached on Vietnamese territory at various places from Ha Tien to Tay Ninh"]; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 ["May 1975, when the Khmer Rouge attempted to seize [...] border provinces"].
- 1017 D4.1.866 Revolutionary Flag, Feb 1978, EN 00464060-61, KH 00064437 (Ratanakiri, Svay Rieng & Kampot, May 1975 onwards); D1.3.25.4 Los Angeles Times, Cambodians and Vietnamese Said to Battle Over Islands, 13 Jun 1975 ["Cambodian and Vietnamese forces have exchanged fire in a series of small-scale conflicts during the past month [...] some clashes have also taken place on the mainland, particularly in the Parrot's Beak border area, which once provided 'sanctuary' for Viet Cong troops during the war. [...] There has been no apparent pattern to these clashes, which have mostly involved exchanges of small-arms fire between little troop units"]; D1.3.25.5 New York Times, Vietnamese Forces Reported in Clash with Cambodians, 22 Jun 1975 ["some of the fighting occurred near the Parrot's Beak frontier of South Vietnam"]; D1.3.25.7 Facts on File World News Digest, Vietnamese, Thai Clashes, 26 Jul 1975 ["U.S. government

- officials reported June 21 that North and South Vietnamese troops had fought against Cambodian soldiers in a number of border areas, including the Parrot's Beak frontier of South Vietnam”].
- 1018 D4.1.237 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 2 Nov 1975, EN 00183413, KH 00019134 [“Forces in Ratanakiri must be sent quickly”]; D4.1.1000 Telegram from Angkar to Comrade Ya, 11 Nov 1975 [discussing a plan to mobilise 300-400 forces to attack the enemy and other forces for ambushes, and what methods and weapons to use].
- 1019 D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196223, KH 00283124 [“In December 1975, Kampuchean armed forces again attacked and occupied Vietnamese territory in the provinces of Gia Lai-Kontum and Darlac”]. EN 00196239, KH 00283144 [“the Kampuchean armed forces repeatedly intruded into Vietnamese territory from [...] even ten kms (as in the December 1975 attack on the Sa Thay River area, Gia Lai-Kontum province”]; D234/2.1.13 SRV Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419878, KH 00656202 [“In December 1975 Kampuchean armed forces again attacked and occupied Vietnamese territory in the provinces of Gia Lai-Kontum and Darlac”].
- 1020 D1.3.29.2 SWB, Pol Pot on the Conflict with Vietnam, 17 Jan 1978, EN S 00008671, KH 00224838 [“between 1975 and 1976, each month we suffered an average of more than 30 dead and wounded as a result of daily Vietnamese bombardment and strafing”]; D4.1.1029 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00713105, KH 00442396 [“In 1975 and 1976, Vietnam continued invading Cambodia”]; D234/2.1.7 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419870, KH 00591048 [“In 1975 and 1976, Vietnam has unceasingly carried out acts of aggression”]; D4.1.338 Telegram 34 from Chhean to Brother, 29 Apr 1977, EN 00305248, KH 00001282 [a letter issued on 2 April from the Vietnamese asserted that “Since December 1975, the Cambodian side had continuously stirred up various troubles including [...] attacking the Vietnam’s Radio Station 8”]; D1.3.34.1 Telegram from 05 to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 23 Jan 1976 [“In the night of 22 January 76, the Vietnamese secretly came to our camp at the front and at the back, attacking our patrol guards. [...] At 11 o’clock on this 23 January 76, they sent more troops to attack us again”] (O Vay, Northeast Zone); D1.3.34.2 Telegram 78 from But to M-870 and Brother Vi, 26 Jan 1976, EN 00182620-21, KH 00000709 [disagreements with a Vietnamese delegation regarding Saob Village, O Vay, and Route 19]; D1.3.34.3 Telegram from Chhin to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 8 Feb 1976 [“[the Vietnamese] had moved one kilometer into our territory. [...] Our soldiers ordered them to withdraw completely from that place but they have not done yet. [...] [we] are going to inspect the borderline. For the inspection, [we] shall go deep into the border”]; D1.3.34.4 Telegram from Ya to Respected Brother(s), 17 Feb 1976 (O Vay, Muy Chass Village); D1.3.34.5 Telegram from Chhin to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 29 Feb 1976 [“from 15 to 24 February 1976, 60 Sevens entered two kilometres into our territory right at Au Rang ... We smashed them all with grenades”] (Au Rang); D1.3.34.6 Telegram 25 from Ya to Respected Brother(s), 7 Mar 1976, EN 00183709, KH 00021466 [in a meeting with a Vietnamese delegation: “[They] raised the situation in Pho Muy-O Vay village, saying there have been mutual clashes and bloodshed. They said that the place [where the clashes happened] was in their territory, etc. [...] [They] raised the situation in 105 [Region 105] where fighting had occurred once again from 25 to 29 February. They said Cambodian side entered Group 7’s territory as far as about 4 to 5 kilometers, south of Dak Hut”] (Northeast Zone, O Vay, Dak Hut Vietnam); D4.1.234 Telegram from Chhin to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 3 Mar 1976, EN 00185238, KH 00052345 (28 February DK attacks into Vietnamese territory, O Hoch); D1.3.27.2 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 22 Feb 1976, EN 00182625, KH 00000713 (Ratanakiri, Svay Rieng, and Ka-am Samnar); D4.1.330 Telegram from Chhin to Say, 19 Feb 1976 (Au Hoch - Mondulkiri); D1.3.30.3 DK Report from Office S-21 to Angkar, 23 Mar 1976, EN 00323475, KH 00052906 (18 and 20 March shootings at the borders near Ka-am Samnar, Chrum, Ampilteuk, and Veal Sbov); D1.3.34.8 Telegram 21 from Chhon to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 21 Mar 1976 (Sector 24, East Zone); D4.1.66 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 11 Mar 1976, EN 00182636, KH 00000737 (Ratanakiri, Takeo, Kratie); D4.1.333 DK Report from Chhin to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 9 Mar 1976 [reporting that 240 well-armed Vietnamese forces are deployed along Au Dak Dam “And they told us that in four days they would be deploying on our soil five kilometres [away from their border]”] (Au Dak Dam); D1.3.27.3 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 26 Mar 1976, EN 00182657, KH 00000757 (Kbal Cham-East Zone; territorial waters); D1.3.27.6 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 14 May 1976, EN 00182693, KH 00000810 (eight clashes in Mondulkiri since March), EN 00182696, KH 00000813 (Ratanakiri); D1.3.29.4 DK Government Statement, 17 Apr 1978, EN 00305342, KH 00223154 [“why has Vietnam constantly waged criminal activities in an attempt to annihilate the leadership of Democratic Kampuchea? [...] It tried again in April and in September 1976”]; D1.3.12.7 DK Report, 31 Aug 1976, EN 00233966, KH 00021507 [in Sector 21: “July 12, 1976 [...] At the border of Tramaung, they fire and shell at our territory”; in Sector 23: “July 14,

- 1976: At the border near Veal Kradas and Krachas Veal, there is a sound of barking dogs and ox-carts moving [...] until the morning. [...] all of them are their soldiers. In the village, there are explosions and gunfire”] (East Zone); D1.3.27.14 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 7 Sep 1976, EN 00184780, KH 00083159 (small clashes in the East and Southwest Zones); D1.3.27.24 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 Dec 1976, EN 00923160-61, KH 00052333 (O Raing, Dak Dang, Pich Chenda-Mondulkiri); D234/2.1.6 Republic of France Consul General Letter, 20 Oct 1977, EN 00503975, KH 00492877 [“While it is likely that there were a number of small-scale border clashes throughout 1976, they have become more or less public knowledge chiefly because of the seriousness of this year’s incidents”]; D54/28 Liet Lan WRI, A17, A19 [“Q: [...] when did you fly to China? A17: It was in January 1976”], A19 [“The Cambodian Ambassador told us to study hard because there was fighting against the Vietnamese again along the Cambodian border”]; D32/7 Eng An alias Ou WRI, A41 [“Q: Can you recollect the year when your soldiers first attacked in Vietnamese territory? A41: It was probably in 1976”], A44 [“we attacked with 60 mm and 80 mm mortars from Ta Am village to Krasang and Tnaot villages”], A46 [“there were both soldiers and civilians [in the villages]”], A50 [“Within less than 10 days after the first attack, my company launched another attack and we succeeded. At that time, our companies launched the attack together and captured both villages”] (Kampong Cham); D114/223 Bon Pin WRI, A57-58 [“There were always combats along the border from late 1976 to 1979. [...] A58: Fighting into Vietnam territory took place at some sites”]; D98/3.1.155 Loek Sav SOAS/HRW Statement, EN 00352029, KH 00786160 [“The first clash with the Vietnamese was in late 1976 [...] in Bos Ta Kok, west of Beng and east of S’am. [...] The Vietnamese attacked on a small scale in Toek Chrov [...] Then, in early 1977 [...] the Zone ordered us to do counter-reconnaissance and counter-attack”] (Kampong Cham).
- 1021 D114/297.1.38 Sov Maing alias Sao Champi, T. 27 Oct 2016, 09.55.40-10.03.30 (Ou Reang District, Dam Dak).
- 1022 D234/2.1.122 Chhun Samorn, T. 28 Jun 2016, 09.40.12-09.43.50 [“We were sent to the border areas, especially when there were tense situations with Vietnam. [...] in 1976, the Khmer Rouge and Vietnamese soldiers fought each other fiercely [...] There was tense fighting between Khmer Rouge soldiers in Sector 23 and the Vietnamese soldiers in Svay Rieng, that was very tense fighting. [...] there were many casualties on both sides. [...] it was in Romeas Haek district of Svay Rieng province. The fighting took place in Doung village, Toul Prasat, Batras, Kaoh Kmas. It was a very fierce battle”], 13.38.29-13.41.03 [“in 1976; [...] the clashes between Cambodian and Vietnamese forces along the border became intense. And Vietnamese forces attacked the Khmer Rouge forces and at one point, they advanced into Svay Rieng province”].
- 1023 D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 11.22.14-11.24.32 [“the conflict started in 1976, since I was in Kiri Vong; however, it became intensified at a later stage in 1977”] (Kiri Vong District, Takeo Province).
- 1024 D1.3.27.2 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 22 Feb 1976 [“Comrade Khieu reported that since early February, Vietnam has acted strongly along our Eastern border, especially in Ratanakiri, Svay Rieng, and Ka-am Samna. They have entered and deployed 200 meters to three kilometers from the border, inside our territory”]; D1.3.30.3 DK Report from Office S-21 to Angkar, 23 Mar 1976, EN 00323475, KH 00052906 [“Vietnamese [...] intruded into our territory at a distance of 105 m from the border in Ka-am Samnor. Our brothers and sisters shot at them [...] On 18-3-76, in the morning, we were working at the riverside. A moment after we [had] drawn back, the Vietcong came and shot 8 rounds of M-79”] (Southwest Zone-Sector 25, Ka-am Samnar; border at Chrum, Ampilteuk, Veal Sbov); D1.3.34.9 Telegram from Office S-21 to Angkar, 23 Mar 1976 [“At 9:00 AM of 20-3-76, a platoon of Vietcong entered 150 meters deep from the border. They retreated after one hour of fighting”] (Southwest Zone-Sector 25, Ka-am Samnar).
- 1025 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341, KH 00052390 [Comrade Muth (Meas Muth): “Vietnam-the sea border. When we approach near to the sea demarcation line, they always open fire”]; D114/27.1.5 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00183971, KH 00052390 [Comrade Mut (Meas Muth): “For Vietnam, when we approached the maritime line, they always opened fire. Now we are also preparing for fight in case that they are approaching this line”]; D54/78.1, D59/1/1.12 Nob Hal DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968378-79, KH 00926607 [“Q: Approximately in which year did you go to Koh Tang? A: Approximately in late 1976”], EN 00968397, KH 00926623 [“Q: So when you arrived on Koh Tang, as for something like fishing boats from Thailand or Vietnam entering the marine territory, what measures did you take? A: We seized them”].
- 1026 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195348, KH 00052397 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “there has been some activity [...] at Koh Tral, related to the enemy to the east”].
- 1027 D69.1.21 Khieu Samphan Statement, 17 Apr 1978, EN 00280391, KH S 00704517 [“Vietnam ventured to launch a wide scale, barbaric and cruel war of aggression against Democratic Kampuchea. As such, from 17

April 1977 to 17 April 1978, especially from September 1977, [it] has been going on non-stop”; D234/2.1.7 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419873, KH 00591051 [“During Vietnamese invasions of Democratic Kampuchea’s territory in 1977”]; D234/2.1.4 Republic of France Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Circular Note No 210, 5 Jul 1977, EN 00751819, KH 00810726 [“The repeated references to the efforts of the revolutionary troops in ‘defending the land border’ (in the Kampot region, it is specified) and the maritime border, clearly indicate, for the first time, that incidents with Vietnam have occurred”]; D234/2.1.6 Republic of France Consul General Letter, 20 Oct 1977, EN 00503976, KH 00492878 [“Vietnamese authorities are no longer concealing the incidents pitting them against the Cambodians. The incidents flare up here and there at border posts along the whole frontier, from the high plateaux to the coastal area”]; D32/14 Long Sat WRI, A2 [“In 1977, military offensives were launched against Vietnam from many directions to warn Vietnam that Cambodia was not as weak as thought”]; D114/223 Bon Pin WRI, A57-58 [“There were always combats along the border from late 1976 to 1979. [...] A58: Fighting into Vietnam territory took place at some sites”]; D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A59 [“The fierce fighting between the Khmer Rouge and Vietnamese troops occurred in late 1977”]; D59/1/1.29 Nget Chanthau DC-Cam Statement, EN 00968433, KH 00733608 [“by 1977 there was a main movement and we had to fight against the Yuon from the South”].

1028 D54/87 Prum Sarat WRI, A129 confirming D59/1/1.8a Prum Sarat DC-Cam Statement, EN 00974207, KH 00926385 [“during the two-year period, we [the military] caught [Vietnamese] almost every month. They came to Koh Tang island and Koh Vai island”].

1029 D32/5 Kev Vichet alias Kev Sao WRI, A2 [“Q: What was your company’s number? A2: It was Company 47 of Battalion 103”], A7 [“It was at 1 a.m. on 1 January 1977. My company started launching an attack against Vietnam at Smach village within the Vietnamese territory”], A9 [“Later on, Vietnam sent their agents on bicycles to the place, and since we opened fire at them, they returned. After that they launched full-fledged counter-attacks against us with tanks, artilleries, aircrafts and the Vietnamese soldiers from Fortress 27”]; D32/11 Khieu Saran WRI, A3 [“Q: To your knowledge, was the attack on the Vietnamese [troops] in January 1977 restricted only in the East Zone’s sectors? A3: Yes. It was in the East Zone’s sectors along the border”], A5 [“The Democratic Kampuchea soldiers based in Kamchay Mea attacked the Vietnamese troops in the forests along the border in Tay Ninh province. The Vietnamese army counterattacked, advancing into the lower areas”], A9 [“The fighting was persistent from 1977 until May 1978 when I fled into the jungle. When I was in the jungle, I still heard the exchange of artillery and gunfire”]; D32/10 Khieu Saran WRI, A25 [“Q: When did the DK troops of the east zone invade Vietnam for the first time? A25: In early 1977”]; D98/3.1.155 Loek Sav SOAS/HRW Statement, EN 00352029, KH 00786160 [“in early 1977 [...] the Zone ordered us to do counter-reconnaissance and counter-attack. The reconnaissance went across the border in places”] (Kampong Cham).

1030 D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196227, KH 00283128-29 [“on the night of April 30th and on May 1st this year, large units of the Kampuchea armed forces with the strong support of artillery and mortars positioned on Kampuchean territory, crossed the border and launched simultaneous attacks on nearly all posts of the Vietnamese people armed security forces and on 13 of the 14 villages along the border in An Giang province”]; D234/2.1.1 SWB, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference, 7 Apr 1978, EN S 00010503, KH 00305311-12 [“April 1977 marked an increase in the Kampuchean authorities’ mobilization of a very large force, of many divisions with the strong support of artillery clusters based in Kampuchea, to carry out concerted attacks on almost all border areas, from Ha Tien in Kien Giang Province to Tay Ninh”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192272, KH 00191402 [“On the night of April 30, 1977, the Khmer Rouge had mounted attacks on a string of villages and townships in An Giang Province in the Mekong Delta, killing civilians and burning down houses. The attack on Tinh Bien township alone had caused about one hundred civilian deaths”]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier’s Life: A Memoir, EN 00432802 [“On the night of 30 April 1977 [...] Pol Pot sent seven battalions of his 2nd Infantry Division and local force units from his Southwestern Military Region to attack many areas in An Giang and Kien Giang Provinces. The focal point of the enemy’s attack was the Seven Mountains-Tinh Bien-An Giang area. The enemy massacred hundreds of civilians and burned down more than one hundred houses”].

1031 D1.3.25.15 New York Times, Refugees Report Clashes on Cambodia-Vietnam Line, 9 Aug 1977 (An Giang and Kien Giang); D234/2.1.6 Republic of France Consul General Letter, 20 Oct 1977, EN 00503973, KH 00492874 [“extremely serious incidents in May that pitted Vietnamese forces against Cambodian fighters in the Chau Doc region (Western Cochinchina) and, as reported, close to Ha Tien on the coast of the Gulf of Thailand and in the Highlands”]; D234/2.1.4 Republic of France Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Circular Note

No 210, 5 Jul 1977, EN 00751822, KH 00810729 ["between 14 and 16 June, there were violent clashes in Chau Doc province and near Ha Tien"]; D234/2.1.10 Facts on File World News Digest, Cambodia-Vietnam Border Clashes, 13 Aug 1977, EN 00166106, KH 00826226-27 ["Heavy fighting had raged along the Cambodian-Vietnamese border in May, forcing the Vietnamese to temporarily evacuate two of their southern frontier towns [...] Chau Doc was struck by two mortar shells [...] Chau Doc was vacuated May 17 after it was struck by gunfire that caused 40 casualties. [...] Ha Tien had been evacuated May 16 after a shelling attack and a ground thrust from Cambodia"]; D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725 ["Elements of the Khmer Rouge 2nd Division moved up as reinforcements, deploying in border areas west of Ha Tien, Tinh Bien and Chau Doc. The Vietnamese also reinforced, at the same time ordering the evacuation from these centres, and especially Ha Tien"]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432803 ["in 1977, from May to early June the enemy [Khmer Rouge] attacked and occupied a portion of our territory from Dong Thap down through An Giang to Kien Giang. [...] enemy forces from Kampot massed a large force that attacked Ha Tien, and one enemy attack column penetrated almost all the way to the Ha Tien Cement Factory"].

1032 D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196224, KH 00283138 ["On June 7, 1977, the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Viet Nam and the Government of the Socialist Republic of Viet Nam sent another letter to the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Kampuchea and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea proposing that meetings be held as early as possible between high-ranking leaders of the two Parties and the two Governments so as to solve the border issue between the two countries"]; D4.1.1078 SWB, Vietnamese Government Statement Rejects Cambodia's 'Distortion', 31 Dec 1977, EN S 00008732, KH S 00847598-99 ["Early in April 1976, the CPV Central Committee and the CPK Central Committee agreed that leadership of the two Parties would meet in June 1976"]; D234/2.1.1 SWB, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference, 7 Apr 1978, EN S 00010503, KH S 00305312 ["on 7th June 1977, the Central Committee of the CPV and the Government of the SRV sent a letter to the Central Committee of the CPK and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea, in which they expressed 'the sincere desire to rapidly settle the border question'"].

1033 D234/2.1.1 SWB, SRV Foreign Ministry Press Conference, 7 Apr 1978, EN S 00010504, KH 00305312 ["In their reply dated 18th June, 1977, the Central Committee of the CPK and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea held that a meeting was necessary, but they proposed to 'wait until the situation returns to normal and some time without further border clashes elapses ...' before any meeting to be held"]; D4.1.1078 SWB, Vietnamese Government Statement Rejects Cambodia's 'Distortion', 31 Dec 1977, EN S 00008732, KH S 00847597-98; D234/2.1.13 SRV Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419879, KH 00656203; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192277, KH 00191408-09.

1034 D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196224, KH 00283138 ["However, it was precisely at that time that Kampuchea increased its military attacks, its encroachments upon Vietnamese territory and its massacre of Vietnamese civilians"]; D234/2.1.13 SRV Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419879, KH 00656203; D4.1.1078 SWB, Vietnamese Government Statement Rejects Cambodia's 'Distortion', 31 Dec 1977, EN S 00008732-33, KH S 00847597-601; D114/29.1.1 Tea Tit WRI, EN 00284712 ["Ta Ngeach announced on 25 July 1977 an expansion of troops and started fighting the Vietnamese. The fighting with the Vietnamese happened continually until the troops were defeated and broken in late 1978"]; D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725 ["The heaviest fighting occurred in May and June"]; D1.3.25.15 New York Times, Refugees Report Clashes on Cambodia-Vietnam Line, 9 Aug 1977 ["Early in June, a number of villages northwest of Ha Tien on the Vinh Te Canal were captured by troops from Cambodia and were still held when the refugees left"].

1035 D1.3.25.59 FBIS, NCNA Cites Phnom Penh on SRV Bombing of Cambodia, 26 Jul 1978, EN 00166085-86, KH 00225470-71 ["The Vietnamese authorities have repeatedly sent aircraft to bomb and strafe villages in Kampuchea since early July and committed grave crimes, Radio Democratic Kampuchea reported today. [...] They sent aircraft on July 2, 3, 7 and 8, four each time, to bomb and strafe Sden, Som and Dah villages of Punnie Khenleap District along Highway 7. [...] On July 19 and 24, the Vietnamese authorities sent six and ten planes respectively to bomb Highway 10 in Svay Rieng Province"]; D4.1.1029 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00713106, KH 00442398 ["In June 1977, Vietnam was still invading the Kampuchean border"]; D1.3.30.21 DK Report from Region 21, 20-24 Jun 1977 [describing border clashes at Tramaung and Memut border, Tramaung District]; D69.1.23 News from Kampuchea, Statement by Ieng Sary, Minister of Foreign Affairs, 17 Mar 1978, EN S 00011306 ["at the beginning of July, 1977, Vietnam escalated its acts of aggression against Kampuchea”]; D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725 [“The flare-up in fighting came as result of a deliberate Vietnamese move designed to punish Khmer Rouge units for what one observer called ‘provocative patrols’”], EN 00168726 [“In the following month [July], the Vietnamese increased their reconnaissance intrusions into Cambodia. These were supplemented by occasional air strikes [by] helicopter gunships, U-17s and sometimes jets”]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432804 [“in mid-June 1977 we conducted a division-sized combined arms counterattack. [...] The 2nd Regiment quickly annihilated all enemy forces at Dam Chich and Vinh Dien Village, killing more than 200 enemy soldiers [...] We recovered the entire border area in Ha Tien”]; D234/2.1.3 Christian Science Monitor, Communist Neighbors Feuding?, 17 Aug 1977 [“Cambodians also are fighting a serious border dispute with Communist Vietnam. [...] The Cambodia-Vietnam fighting was highlighted last week when Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap paid visit to the troubled area and publicly ordered Vietnamese forces to ‘defend territorial waters, the national border, and offshore islands’”]; D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725 [“The scale and ferocity of the clashes dwarf any of the recent incidents along the Thailand-Cambodia or Thailand-Laos borders. Vietnamese and Cambodian regular force units in formations sometimes as large as 4,000 to 5,000 on both sides, have been fighting in the Ha Tien-Chau Doc sector of the Vietnam-Cambodia border. [...] Khmer Rouge units in Kompong Chhnang province have executed some 420 ethnic Vietnamese”].

1036

D1.3.34.24 Telegram 62 from Chhean to M-81, 12 Aug 1977, EN 01313132, KH 00001248 [“news was circulated that [...] Cambodian troops had killed 1,000 (one thousand) Vietnamese people in Ha Tien, Kien Giang province”]; D1.3.34.26 Telegram 68 from Chhean to M-81, 30 Aug 1977 (An Yang, Hien Yang, Long An and Tay Ninh provinces); D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196227, KH 00283129 and EN 00196235-39, KH 00283138-44 (An Giang, Long An, Tay Ninh, Kien Giang, Dong Thap; East Zone); D1.3.30.19 DK Report from Southwestern Zone to Angkar, 3 Jun 1977, EN 00185243, KH 00052825 (Takeo); D114/297.1.39 Ieng Phan, T. 31 Oct 2016, 09.55.03-10.00.47 (Takeo, Kampot provinces); D114/297.1.38 Sov Maing alias Sao Champi, T. 27 Oct 2016, 10.01.36-10.03.30 [“The fighting [...] became more intensified throughout 1977 and ’78”] (Dak Dam border - Mondulkiri); D1.3.30.7 DK Report from Roeun, 24 Mar 1977 (Stung Treng, Ratanakiri); D234/2.1.4 Republic of France Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Circular Note No 210, 5 Jul 1977, EN 00751822, KH 00810729 [“Fighting was also reported in the Cambodian province of Svay Rieng (the region known as Parrot’s Beak); the clashes left 400 people dead. Second, between 14 and 16 June, there were violent clashes in Chau Doc province and near Ha Tien”] (Svay Rieng, Chau Doc); D1.3.34.19 DK Report from Region 23, 14-18 Jun 1977 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.22 DK Report from Region 20, 17-25 Jun 1977 (Ponhea Kraek District, Sector 20 - Kampong Cham); D114/297.1.22 Moeng Vet, T. 26 Jul 2016, 15.29.14-15.33.55 (Kratie); D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 11.07.07-11.13.32, 11.14.40-11.19.12 (Ratanakiri, Mondulkiri, Kratie, Kampong Cham, Kampot, Takeo); D234/2.1.122 Chhun Samorn, T. 28 Jun 2016, 09.47.49-09.51.50 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D10.1.58 DK Report from Roeun to Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 24 Mar 77, EN 00538731, KH 00231377-78 (Northeast Zone-Steung Treng); D1.3.30.11 DK Report to M-870, Apr 1977 (East Zone); D1.3.34.17 Telegram 43 from Leu to Brother Reuan, 23 Apr 1977 (Sector 107 - Ratanakiri); D1.3.34.18 Telegram 54 from Chhan to M-870, 20 May 1977 (Mondulkiri); D234/2.1.2 DK Report from Sector 21, 20-21 May 1977 (East Zone); D1.3.30.20 DK Report from Sector 20, 8 Jun 1977 (East Zone); D1.3.34.20 Telegram 07 from Vi to Respected Brother, 15 Jun 1977 (Sector 107 - Ratanakiri); D234/2.1.8 Telegram 85 from Lin to M-870, 13 May 1977 [on 11 May 1977: “in the vicinity of Veal Roam, southwest of Wat Tnaot [...] the enemies started firing guns gradually”] (Ponhea Kraek District, Sector 20 - Kampong Cham); D1.3.30.21 DK Report from Region 21, 24 Jun 1977 (Sector 21 - East Zone); D1.3.34.29 Telegram 39 from Chhon to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 24 Sep 1977 (Daem Thngan); D1.3.34.30 Telegram 41 from Chhun to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 26 Sep 1977 (Svay Rieng); D234/2.1.13 SRV Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419878-79, KH 00656202-03 (Ha Tien to Tay Ninh, Chau Doc, Apr 1977; Kien Giang, An Giang, Dong Thap, Long An, Tay Ninh, Jun 1977); D234/2.1.15 Telegram 96 to Office 81, EN 00314585, KH 00002824 (Tay Ninh, Kien Giang, Sep 1977); D69.1.30 Library of Congress Report, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, 4 Oct 1978, EN 00187388 (Tay Ninh, Sep 1977; Kien Giang); D234/2.1.7 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419866-67, KH 00591044-45 (East Zone, Sep 1977; Svay Rieng, Nov 1977; Takeo, Dec 1977; everyday harassment in Ratanakiri, Mondulkiri, Kratie, Pray Veng, Kandal); D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196235-38, KH 00283138-43 (Kien Giang, An Giang, Dong Thap, Long An, Tay Ninh); D114/157.1.3 Chen Phat DC-Cam Statement, EN 01507019-20, KH 01197638-39 (Kratie, 1977);

- D114/157.1.4 Hao Ao DC-Cam Statement, EN 01507106-07, KH 01197698-99 (Kratie, 1977); D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725-26 [“the Vietnamese action appears to have been in response to a rising incidence of clashes all along the border—from the seaport of Ha Tien to remote stretches of Cambodia’s northeastern province of Ratanakiri. [...] From May 2 to 9, the Vietnamese air force struck at Cambodian artillery emplacements and military barracks up to 15 nautical miles inside the border east of Kompong Trach and other Cambodian centres”] (Ratanakiri, Mondulkiri, An Giang, Kien Giang, Quang Duc); D234/2.1.3 Christian Science Monitor, Communist Neighbors Feuding?, 17 Aug 1977 [“One area of reported confrontation is the northeast Cambodian Province of Ratanakiri”]; D1.3.25.14 Washington Post, Thai Says Cambodians Attack Vietnam, Laos, 7 Aug 1977 (Parrot’s Beak area - Svay Rieng, July 1977); D1.3.25.19 New York Times, Cambodia and Vietnam in Clashes on Border, 19 Sep 1977; D69.1.36 Foreign Languages Publishing House, The Vietnam-Kampuchea Conflict (A Historical Record), EN 00187340 (Kien Giang, Tay Ninh); D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier’s Life: A Memoir, EN 00432804-05 [“the situation in Dong Thap worsened. Enemy forces flooded across in the area of the Vinh Ba border crossing. They struck deep into our territory and captured and occupied a number of areas [...] After the tens situations in Kien Giang [...] The enemy massed a large force that attacked Ba Chuc”] (Dong Thap, An Giang, Kien Giang, Jun 1977).
- 1037 D234/2.1.12 Telegram 05 from San to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 9 Jun 1977 [“a Vietnamese fighter plane [...] fired and dropped bombs at that area”] (Au Leav-Ratanakiri); D1.3.25.14 Washington Post, Thai Says Cambodians Attack Vietnam, Laos, 7 Aug 1977 [““They even have planes bombing on both sides,” the [Thai Prime Minister Thanin Kraivichien] said”]; D64.1.34 Bangkok Post, Refugees Cite Major SRV-Cambodian Clashes, Reprisals, 1 Sep 1977, EN 00168725 [“From May 2 to 9, the Vietnamese air force struck at Cambodian artillery emplacements and military barracks up to 15 nautical miles inside the border east of Kompong Trach and other Cambodian centres. [...] the Vietnamese used captured American-built A-37s and F-5s along with Soviet-built MIG-21s. American-built helicopter gunships and U-17 fixed-wing aircrafts were also used in these attacks on Cambodian positions”].
- 1038 D1.3.12.21 SRV Ministry of Foreign Affairs Report, Jan 1978, EN 00196238, KH 00283143 [“These attacks began on the night of September 24. The Kampuchean armed forces, numbering about one division, supported by artillery, launched simultaneous attacks on several villages in the districts of Tan Bien, Chau Thanh and Ben Cau. [...] almost 1,000 civilians were killed or wounded”]; D234/2.1.6 Republic of France Consul General Letter, 20 Oct 1977, EN 00503975, KH 00492877 [“Go Dau Ha, a large town located en route to Phnom Penh and just a few kilometres from the border, was occupied for an entire night by the Khmer Rouge late in September: what allegedly resulted was a scene of horror. The few troops – including recruits from the South - that were stationed in this region and in Tay Ninh Province were unable to hold the fort”]; D234/2.1.135 Stephen Morris, T. 19 Oct 2016, 14.13.00-14.14.16; D98/1.2.5 Nayan Chanda, T. 26 May 2009, 10.04.02-10.07.11; D114/258 Lay Ean alias Oeun WRI, A89 [“the Vietnamese troops had advanced into Cambodia, so I was needed to fight them”], A107 [“[DK forces] used Cannons 105mm and 120mm and the infantry. At some battlefields, they used tanks”, A111-114 [“Q: Were the Vietnamese civilians or children attacked? A111: The prisoners of war and those who did not manage to escape were arrested and sent to Phnom Penh. Q: [...] you said that the Vietnamese houses, hospitals, and factories were burned to the ground. How did you know this? A112: I knew it because I fought all the way into Vietnam. Q: Did you see those Vietnamese houses, hospitals, and factories being burned down? A113: Yes, I did. [...] A114: It was Tay Ninh Province”]; D1.3.32.27 Leng Kim alias Kung Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00633861, KH 00054819 [“In 77 perhaps in late September or October, they took me to fight the Vietnamese inside Tay Ninh province. I joined in fighting at that time”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192378, KH 00191525 [“On the morning of September 26, [...] General Tran Van Tra, the commander of the Seventh Military Region, [...] was beside himself with rage. Two nights before, Khmer Rouge attackers had struck inside Tay Ninh Province, killing hundreds of civilians”]; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 [“in September [1977] [the Khmer Rouge] attacked villages in Vietnam’s Tay Ninh Province, killing hundreds of civilians”].
- 1039 D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400.
- 1040 D234/2.1.9 Telegram from DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs to Swedish-Kampuchea Friendship Association, 4 Mar 1978, EN 00717585, KH 00749404 [“In September 1977, the Vietnamese army invaded the area along National Road 7, capturing Nemot, Krek, Thum Stung and Pratheat, 30 km from the frontier. [...] In November 1977, the Vietnamese army launched its attack on Svay Rieng province and captured Chak and Prasaut, located 20 and [illegible] km, respectively, from the border”] (Svay Rieng, Kampong Cham – East Zone); D4.1.1029 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00713102-03, KH 00442393 (East Zone, Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.34 Telegram 55 from Chhon to M-870, 26 Oct 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D4.1.293 Telegram from On to M-870, 27 Oct 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.33 Telegram 56 from Chhon to M-870, 26 Oct 1977 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.35 Telegram 57 from Chhon to M-870, 27 Oct 1977 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.37 Telegram 59 to M-870, 28 Oct 1977, EN 00185187, KH 00020874 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.36 Telegram 61 from Chhon to M-870, 29 Oct 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.38 Telegram 60 from Chhon to M-870, 29 Oct 1977, EN 00185189, KH 00020875 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D4.1.295 Telegram 46 from Thuon to Yi via Office 870, 5 Nov 1977 (Svay Rieng); D4.1.294 Telegram 68 from Chhon to Pa, 6 Nov 1977 (Trapeang Phlong); D1.3.34.40 Telegram 69 to M-870, 6 Nov 1977 (Svay Rieng); D4.1.219 Telegram 76 from Chhon to M-870, 12 Nov 1977 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.41 Telegram 82 from Chhon to Brother Pol, 18 Nov 1977 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D4.1.296 Telegram 85 from Chhon to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 19 Nov 1977, EN 00335207, KH 00020866 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.29.1 DK Government Statement, 6 Jan 1978, EN 00337187-88, KH 00234027-29 (Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng); D234/2.1.7 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419866, KH 00591044 (East Zone - Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng); D4.1.617 DK Radio Broadcast, Past Year's National Defense Efforts Reviewed, 10 May 1978, EN 00294785, KH 00340543-44 (Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng); D234/2.1.6 Republic of France Consul General Letter, 20 Oct 1977, EN 00503973, KH 00492874 [“Serious clashes broke out in late September, lasting into the first two weeks of October at several points along the Cambodia-Vietnam border”]; D4.1.505 Sum Sokhan alias Sreang WRI, EN 00292864, KH 00282959 [“In the harvesting season (October) of 1977, they had me go fight the Vietnamese army [...] in Kampong Cham”]; D1.3.25.19 New York Times, Cambodia and Vietnam in Clashes on Border, 19 Sep 1977 (Prey Veng).

D4.1.988 Ieng Thirith Statement, 17-18 Nov 1979, EN 00418975, KH 00658249 [“the Hanoi authorities, in December 1977, launched their first undeclared large-scale war of aggression”]; D4.1.617 DK Radio Broadcast, Past Year's National Defense Efforts Reviewed, 10 May 1978, EN 00294785, KH 00340544 [“in November and December the Vietnamese forces invaded our territory in Svay Rieng, Kompong Cham Khang Kaeut, Takeo and Kampot”]; D1.3.29.1 DK Government Statement, 6 Jan 1978, EN 00337187-88, KH 00234027-29 (1 January attacks 30 km inside DK's border; December attacks in Takeo and Kampot provinces); D234/2.1.9 Telegram from DK Ministry of Foreign Affairs to Swedish-Kampuchea Friendship Association, 4 Mar 1978, EN 00717585, KH 00749404 [“In December 1977, the Vietnamese army again launched large-scale invasion of the districts of Koh Andet and Kirivong in Takeo province, and Kompong Trach district in Kampot province”] (Takeo, Kampot); D1.3.34.42 Telegram 85 from Chhon to M-870, 7 Dec 1977, EN 00183613, KH 00020864 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D4.1.298 Telegram 90 from Chhon to Office 870, 9 Dec 1977 (Ponhea Kraek District - Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.43 Telegram 91 from Chhon to M-870, 10 Dec 1977 (Svay Village - Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.44 Telegram 92 from Chhon to M-870, 12 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.45 Telegram 95 from Chhon to M-870, 13 Dec 1977 (Sector 24 - Prey Veng); D1.3.34.46 Telegram 96 from Chhon to M-870, 13 Dec 1977 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D4.1.328 Telegram 97 from Chhon to Beloved One, 17 Dec 1977, EN 00305390-91, KH 00020896-97 (Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D4.1.302 Telegram 27 from Kuon to Yi, 22 Dec 1977 (Route 14); D1.3.34.50 Telegram 68 from Kuon to Yi through 870, 22 Dec 1977 (Route 14, O Loem); D1.3.34.49 Telegram 05 to M-870, 22 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham – East Zone); D1.3.34.53 Telegram 06 from Phuong to M-870, 23 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.52 Telegram 07 from Phuong to M-870, 23 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.55 Telegram from Chhon to Brother Pa, 24 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.58 Telegram 09 from Phuong to Office 870, 24 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.54 Telegram 08 from Phuong to M-870, 24 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.56 Telegram 11 from Phuong to M-870, 27 Dec 1977 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.25.33 Khieu Samphan Statement, 30 Dec 1977, EN 00166065, KH 00229016 [“In December 1977 the Vietnamese Armed Forces launched another large-scale aggression offensive in Srok Kaoh Andet and Kirivong in Takeo Province, and in Srok Kompong Trach in Kampot Province to deliberately kill Cambodian people”] (Takeo, Kampot); D1.3.25.31 New York Times, Cambodia Cuts Ties with Vietnam, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00165995, KH 00645211 (Parrot's Beak - Svay Rieng); D4.1.225 Telegram 15 from Phuong to M-870, 1 Jan 1978 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D234/2.1.7 DK Government Statement, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00419866-67, KH 00591044-45 (Takeo, Kampot, Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.59 Telegram 17 from Phuong to M-870, 15 Jan 1978 (Kampong Cham – East Zone); D4.1.866 Revolutionary Flag, Feb 1978, EN 00464061, KH

1041

- 00064438 (Svay Rieng, Takeo, Kampot); D4.1.868 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1978, EN 00519839, KH 00064721 (Svay Rieng, Kampong Cham, Takeo, Kampot); D1.3.24.5 Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185325, KH 00064558 (Ratanakiri to Kampot, Dec 77); D114/297.1.39 Ieng Phan, T. 31 Oct 2016, 09.55.03-09.57.20 (Takeo); D114/209 Moeng Seng WRI, A59 ["The fierce fighting between the Khmer Rouge and Vietnamese troops occurred in late 1977"]; D98/1.1.8 Pol Nhan WRI, A6 ["I was sent to fight the Yuon in Kirivong district, Takeo province in December 1977"]; D1.3.25.30 The Times of London, Vietnam-Cambodia Fighting Reported, 29 Dec 1977 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.25.32 Associated Press, Cambodia Accuses Hanoi of Invasion, Breaks Ties, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00166126, KH 00282749 (Svay Rieng); D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678689, KH 00637926 ["Hanoi prepared for a major incursion in December that would involve thirty to sixty thousand troops with air, armor, and artillery support"]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432806 (Takeo).
- 1042 D4.1.866 Revolutionary Flag, Feb 1978, EN 00464061, KH 00064438 ["[The Yuon] invade kilometers and in some places tens of kilometers deep inside our territory, especially along Highway 7, in Svay Rieng in the East Zone"]; D1.3.29.1 DK Government Statement, 6 Jan 1978, EN 00337188, KH 00234028 ["In Svay Rieng province, the Vietnamese Army penetrated [...] 30 kilometres from the border"]; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 ["in late December [Vietnam] sent 58,000 reinforcements to Cambodia's Eastern Zone, penetrating up to twenty-five miles"]; D69.1.23 News from Kampuchea, Statement by Ieng Sary, Minister of Foreign Affairs, 17 Mar 1978, EN S 00011306 ["If the current border conflict was just an ordinary border conflict, why at the end of 1977 was the Vietnamese army up to 30 kilometres inside Kampuchea"].
- 1043 D4.1.298 Telegram 90 from Chhon to Office 870, 9 Dec 1977 ["The enemies have defeated us. [...] We also got hard hit by our enemies from the west and across Route 22 to the east. Though, we are fighting hard, we could no longer hold them back [...] The enemies used 50 tanks to attack us"] (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.48 Telegram 2 from Chhon to Respected Brothers, 22 Dec 1977 ["The enemy hit us strongly [...] killing many people and buffaloes. [...] every spearhead has been hit and broken by the enemy"] (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.55 Telegram from Chhon to Brother Pa, 24 Dec 1977 ["They attack and hit us one time after another from Da Village to Steung [...] the enemy number is more than usual"] (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192391-92, KH 00191540-41 ["Vietnamese forces backed by artillery barrages had gone into Cambodia like a knife through soft butter. Hundreds of Khmer soldiers were killed and wounded in the Vietnamese search-and-destroy operation. [...] There was only desultory opposition from the regional forces overwhelmed by the Vietnamese armor and firepower. [...] The leaders in Phnom Penh had been taken aback by the scale of Vietnamese attack and shocked by the rout of the forces in the Eastern Zone"].
- 1044 D69.1.5 Statement of the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Democratic Kampuchea, 31 Dec 1977; D69.1.7 Foreign Ministry Statement, 31 Dec 1977; D69.1.30 Library of Congress Report, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, 4 Oct 1978, EN 00187388; D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 11.32.58-11.36.03, 11.42.26-11.43.32, 14.27.20-14.30.50; D4.1.1114 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00209176, KH 00186202 ["the war with Vietnam was officially declared on 31 December 1977"]; D1.3.25.32 Los Angeles Times, Cambodia Accuses Hanoi of Invasion, Breaks Ties, 31 Dec 1977; D1.3.25.31 New York Times, Cambodia Cuts Ties with Vietnam, 31 Dec 1977; D69.1.4 Washington Post, Cambodia Cuts Diplomatic Ties with Vietnam, 31 Dec 1977; D1.3.25.34 Los Angeles Times, Cambodia's Admission of Vietnam Border War Anticlimactic, 1 Jan 1978; D1.3.25.35 Los Angeles Times, Ancient Enmities Seen Behind Cambodia-Vietnam Conflict, 27 Jan 1978 ["Broad-scale fighting ensued, and the two severed diplomatic relations Dec. 31"].
- 1045 D114/37.1.73 David Chandler, T. 6 Aug 2009, 15.02.39-15.05.26 ["after Vietnam's attack into Cambodia in late 1977 which was not publicized by either party, until they withdrew in January '78"]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678689, KH 00637927 ["On 6 January, the invading troops returned to Vietnamese territory"]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192398, KH 00191547 ["January 6 was declared to have gone into history as a red-letter day when an invasion by mighty Vietnam was cut to pieces by the Khmers"]; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 ["Vietnam's troops began withdrawing in January 1978"]; D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier's Life: A Memoir, EN 00432807 ["In early January 1978 we pulled our forces back to Vietnam"].
- 1046 D69.1.21 Khieu Samphan Statement, 17 Apr 1978, EN 00280391, KH S 00704517-18 ["fighting between us and Vietnam is fierce and persistent [...] This year, fighting has been fiercer than last year [...] As such, from 17 April 1977 to 17 April 1978, especially from September 1977, [the conflict] has been going on non-stop"]

[...] The victory of 6 January 1978 and the successive victories of February, March and April 1978 against Vietnam the aggressor”]; D1.3.25.40 SWB, Cambodia Reports Continued Vietnamese Bombing, 28 Mar 1978, EN S 00010448, KH 00701663 [“Since 6th January 1978, [...] the Vietnamese enemies have continued to shell our territory from their soil”]; D4.1.617 DK Radio Broadcast, Past Year’s National Defense Efforts Reviewed, 10 May 1978, EN 00294786, KH 00340545-46; D56/3.4, D54/112.3 Telegram from Mut (Meas Muth) copied to Uncle, Uncle Nuon, Brother Van, Documentation, 1 Apr 1978 [“The total number of the Yuons captured and shot [to] death from 27-3-78 to 30-3-78 were 120 heads”]; D234/2.1.135 Stephen Morris, T. 19 Oct 2016, 14.29.06-14.30.29, 14.43.41-15.03.10 [confirming that DK continued to attack Vietnam in early 1978]; D114/75 Sin Sisopha WRI, A92-93 [“I arrived at the battlefields on 1 January 1978 [...] I immediately engaged in the fighting [...] A93: I was there until 22 April 1978”]; D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A52 [“I battled with the Vietnamese troops from [19]77 to late [19]78 when they conquered Cambodia”]; D1.3.25.45 SWB, Cambodia’s Strategy of Defence Against Vietnam, 10 May 1978, EN 00003959, KH 00225460 [“During the period from 17th April 1977 to 17th April 1978, fighting took place continuously in small, medium and large-scale battles. The level of fighting actually increased this year”]; D1.3.25.52 New York Times, Attack on Cambodia Denied by Vietnam; Fighting Reported, 30 Jun 1978; D1.3.25.68 Washington Post, Border Clashes Signal Feared Vietnamese Drive, 22 Oct 1978; D69.1.30 Library of Congress Report, Vietnam-Cambodia Conflict, 4 Oct 1978, EN 00187388.

1047 D4.1.506 Sin Sot WRI, EN 00287356, KH 00282955 [“I worked [at the Kampong Chhnang airport] until early 1978; then they withdrew me, as well as many thousands of other people, to the border to fight the Vietnamese”]; D114/246 Pol Nhorn WRI, A33 [“It was probably in early 1978 [...] They sent our forces to fight to defend the border in Takeo Province. At that time, the Vietnamese encroached on our Khmer territory”].

1048 D1.3.29.2 SWB, Vietnamese Report of Cambodian Border Encroachments, 18 Jan 1978, EN S 00008675-76, KH 00224845-49 (Tay Ninh, Kon Tum, Gia Lai, An Giang, Dong Thap, Long An, Kieng Giang); D4.1.230 Telegram 15 from Chhon to Pa, 19 Jan 1978 (crossing over from Svay Rieng and Prey Veng); D4.1.313 Telegram 06 from Rom to General Staff, 2 Mar 1978 (Kampong Cham – East Zone); D1.3.34.65 Telegram 16 from 47 (Son Sen) to Brother 009, 20 Mar 1978 (Tay Ninh); D4.1.96 S-21 Notebook of Mam Nai alias Chan, 22 Mar 1978, EN 00184594, KH 00077852 (Peam, Bu Doc; Sector 23 - Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.67 Telegram 35 from Roeun to Grand Uncle 89 (Son Sen), 5 Apr 1978 (O Nang); D1.3.34.68 Telegram 18 from 47 (Son Sen) to Beloved and Respected Brother, 8 Apr 1978 (Dong Thap); D1.3.30.26 DK Report to Grand Uncle, 15 Apr 1978 (Tralaung Phos, Vinh Try; Tay Ninh); D1.3.25.55 FBIS, VNA Report of Rout of Invading Cambodian Troops Cited, 10 Jul 1978, EN 00166087, KH 00224284 (Tay Ninh); D4.1.232 Telegram 17 from Chhon to Brother Pa, 27 Jan 1978 (Kampong Rokar, Kampong Roteh, Thnoat to Camp 27, Prek Sla, Chi Peay); D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 09.52.02-10.00.48 confirming D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192407-09, KH 00191557-60 (Kien Giang-Ha Tien); D114/297.1.23 Moeng Vet, T. 27 Jul 2016, 11.27.23-11.28.50; D114/254 Sin Soth WRI, A47 [“Q: In which year, were you sent to engage in the fighting with the Vietnamese troops? A47: That was in 1978”], A61 [“We also fought in Tai Ninh”]; D114/246 Pol Nhorn WRI, A41 [“Q: Do you remember the year in which you were sent to fight along the border at the East Zone? A41: I don’t remember the month. Perhaps, it was in mid-1978”], A57 [“Q: How far did your forces encroach on Vietnamese land during the attack? A57: We just approached around, not far from, the border. I do not know how far it was from the border because that area was covered with forest”]; D69.2.1 Los Angeles Times, Cambodians Counterattack Into Vietnam, 16 Jan 1978 (An Giang, Kien Giang); D69.2.14 Los Angeles Times, Cambodian Forces Gain in Vietnam, Refugees Say, 27 Jan 1978 (Kien Giang); D4.1.315 SWB, Cambodian Incursions into Vietnam, 14-16 Mar 1978, EN S 00009944 (Kien Giang, Song Be); D69.1.17 Washington Post, Vietnam Claims Cambodia Is Attacking Along Coast, 17 Mar 1978 (Kien Giang); D69.1.22 SWB, Cambodian Incursions into Vietnam in April, 14 Apr 1978, EN S 00010393 (Song Be, An Giang, Tay Ninh); D1.3.25.49 Los Angeles Times, Vietnam-Cambodia Border War Subsides, 23 Jun 1978, EN 00166204, KH 00283019-20 (Tay Ninh, Kien Giang); D1.3.25.51 Washington Post, Vietnam Claims Major Victories In Border Fighting With Cambodia, 28 Jun 1978 (An Giang, Tay Ninh); D1.3.25.50, D69.2.16 New York Times, 60,000 Vietnamese Are Said to Invade Areas of Cambodia, 28 Jun 1978 (An Giang, Tay Ninh); D1.3.25.62 Los Angeles Times, Heavy Fighting Reported on Cambodia, Viet Border, 1 Aug 1978 (Kien Giang); D32/12.1 Pham Van Tra, A Soldier’s Life: A Memoir, EN 00432807 [“in mid-January, the enemy sent their troops across the border in a massive attack into Nhon Hoi and Khanh Binh Villages in Chau Doc District, An Giang Province. [...] Wherever they went, the Khmer Rouge soldiers shot and killed our people [...] with the massacre of more than three thousand of our citizens at Ba Chuc”]; D11/347 Saing Touch CPA, EN 01191854, KH 00989405 [“In 1977, I lived in Voat Thmei Village, [...] Ang Yang Province. In 1978, the Khmer Rouge fought against the Vietnamese troops. They then invaded my village and threatened to shoot those who refused to leave.” The applicant and other villagers were forcibly transferred to Cambodia] (An Giang).

1049 D54/6.1.12 Nayan Chanda, T. 25 May 2009, 09.52.02-10.00.48 confirming D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192407-09, KH 00191557-60, see also EN 00192492; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 [“in March, Cambodia launched another raid on Vietnam, killing hundreds or more civilians in the village of Ha Tien”]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678696, KH 00637943 [“On 14 March, DK troops invaded [...] Ha Tien, slaughtering and disembowelling up to a hundred peasants of both Vietnamese and Khmer origin”].

1050 D4.1.638, D1.3.34.64 Confidential Telephone Communication from Meas Muth to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 20 Mar 1978.

1051 D4.1.229 Telegram 12 from Chhon to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 15 Jan 1978, EN 00301417, KH 00020937 (Prey Veng); D4.1.231 Telegram 16 from Chhon to Par, 23 Jan 1978, EN 00182755, KH 00001052-53 (Svay Rieng); D4.1.233 Telegram 62 from Chhon to Par, 29 Jan 1978 (Chipeay-Krapeu, Daung, Kompong Kdei); D1.3.34.61 Telegram 11 from 47 (Son Sen) to Beloved and Respected Brother, 14 Feb 1978 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.34.65 Telegram 16 from 47 (Son Sen) to Brother 009, 20 Mar 1978 (Prey Chamkar, Tay Ninh airport and military training center); D4.1.316 Telegram 28 from Peam to Respected Representative of Angkar (Organisation), 23 Mar 1978 (Trapeang Phlong, Paung); D4.1.606 Telegram 18 from 47 (Son Sen) to Van, 8 Apr 1978 (Sector 24; Banteay Thmei; Tan Chau - An Giang; Dong Thap); D4.1.610 Telegram 02 from Mok to Brother Pol (Pol Pot), 8 Apr 1978 (Lork); D4.1.202 Telegram 02 from Pauk to Committee 870, 12 Apr 1978 (Prek Chor, Kampong Roka, O Pha-av, Khcheay Village, Kor Village); D1.3.30.27 DK Report from Unit 05 to Brother 009, 15 Apr 1978 (East Zone); D4.1.321 Telegram 05 from Pork (Ke Pauk) to Committee 870, 18 Apr 1978 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D69.1.21 Ieng Sary Statement, 17 Apr 1978, EN 00280400-01, KH 01507853-54 (Prey Veng, Kampot); D4.1.603 Telegram 55 from Sarun to Respected Brother, 24 Apr 1978 (Tes); D1.3.34.72 Telegram 20 to Respected and Beloved Brother, 26 Apr 1978 (Svay Rieng); D69.1.24 DK Report, May 1978, EN 00185207, KH 00021019 (Sector 23 (Svay Rieng), Sector 24 (Prey Veng)); D4.1.574, D1.3.34.74 Telegram 10 from Pok (Ke Pauk) to Committee 870, 4 May 1978 (Kampong Cham, Prey Veng); D4.1.575, D4.1.608 Telegram 11 from Pok (Ke Pauk) to Van, 6 May 1978 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.34.75 Telegram 11 from Pauk to Missed Brother, 6 May 1978 (Kampong Cham - East Zone), EN 00003537, KH 00003536; D1.3.34.76 Telegram 13 from Pauk to Committee 870, 9 May 1978 (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D10.1.8, D54/80.1.38 S-21 Notebook of Tuy and Hoeung Song Huor alias Pon, 11 May 1978, EN 00184491, KH 00077461 (Southwest Zone); D69.1.29 DK Government Statement, 1 Jul 1978, EN 00078180 (Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng); D54/105 Ek Ny (Ni) WRI, A18 [on or after mid-1978: “One day the Khmer Rouge held a meeting to tell us that the Vietnamese had entered and occupied Kratie province for more than one month”] (Kratie); D114/204 Suos Siyath WRI, A38 [“Vietnam invaded the country via Kratie, so we were sent there”] (Kratie); D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A53 [“I went [to Kratie Province] from late [19]77 to [19]78, when the Vietnamese troops [launched] their offensive attack into Cambodia”] (Kratie); D114/157.1.2 Sao Sau DC-Cam Statement, EN 01506966, KH 01197599 [“In 1978, the Vietnamese arrived in Kratie”] (Kratie); D1.3.25.49 Los Angeles Times, Vietnam-Cambodia Border War Subsides, 23 Jun 1978, EN 00166204-05, KH 00283019-20 [“The Vietnamese hold two sizable pieces of Cambodia [...] Parrot’s Beak in the Mekong Delta [...] [and] near the town of Mimot. It controls the border highway connecting Phnom Penh to the rubber plantation country in northeastern Cambodia. [...] air strikes are carried out with captured American F-5 jets frequently dropping the ‘cluster bombs’ [...] All the air strikes against Cambodian forces are mounted by the captured American F-5s”] (Svay Rieng, Kampong Cham); D1.3.25.50, D69.2.16 New York Times, 60,000 Vietnamese Are Said to Invade Areas of Cambodia, 28 Jun 1978 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.25.51 Washington Post, Vietnam Claims Major Victories in Border Fighting with Cambodia, 28 Jun 1978 (Svay Rieng); D1.3.25.52 New York Times, Attack on Cambodia Denied by Vietnam; Fighting Reported, 30 Jun 1978 [“more than 60,000 Vietnamese soldiers, supported by artillery and warplanes, began a deep thrust into Cambodia during the past two weeks”] (Kampong Cham - East Zone); D1.3.25.62 Los Angeles Times, Heavy Fighting Reported on Cambodia, Viet Border, 1 Aug 1978 [“Heavy fighting spearheaded by low-level air attacks has broken out at four points along the border between Vietnam and Cambodia [...] Much of the air activity has been carried out in support of Vietnamese ground forces that have penetrated into the area around Kompong Cham [...] The planes being

- used were described as American F-5 jet fighters and A-37 jets”] (Ratanakiri, Kampong Cham, Svay Rieng).
- 1052 D114/297.1.39 Ieng Phan, T. 31 Oct 2016, 10.05.18-10.07.46 [“I left Takeo province for Svay Rieng province in mid-1978”], 13.37.00-13.39.49 [in Svay Rieng: “the combat occurred on a daily basis until the time the Vietnamese forces came in large scale”]; D114/297.1.36 Chuon Thi, T. 25 Oct 2016, 14.33.26-14.35.12 [“It was two or three days after we arrived in June [in Svay Rieng] and then we started to fight”]; D4.1.553 Sreng Thi WRI, EN 00282225, KH 00270179 [“In mid 1978 [...] the war with Vietnam was intensifying”]; D114/75 Sin Sisophal WRI, A144 [“From late August to late December 1978, we fought against the Vietnamese soldiers every day”] (Kratie); D4.1.846 Ieng Phan WRI, A5, 7 [“When I arrived in Svay Rieng Province in mid 1978 [...] A7: [...] Many of my soldiers were killed and were captured by the Vietnamese at that time”]; D1.3.25.63 Los Angeles Times, Viet Premier Spurs Nation to Repel Cambodia, China, 2 Sep 1978 [“Vietnam and Cambodia have been engaged in a border conflict for three years and it has escalated sharply in recent months”]; D1.3.25.68 Washington Post, Border Clashes Signal Feared Vietnamese Drive, 22 Oct 1978 [“Vietnam’s volatile borders with Cambodia and China have become the scene of escalating skirmishes in the past two weeks”]; D1.3.25.70 Washington Post, Vietnam Offensive Reportedly Starts in Northeast Cambodia, 5 Dec 1978 [“Vietnamese troops began a strong drive today to cut off Cambodia’s vast northeast provinces”].
- 1053 D54/98 Heang Ret WRI, A36 [“Division 164 had to send some forces to help the forces who were stationed along the border. At that time, Meas Muth led more than half of the military forces from Regiments 61, 62, and 63 to fight the Vietnamese at the border [...] he went to the border around October 1978”].
- 1054 D54/100 Lay Boonhak WRI, A100, 137-138 [“the Vietnamese soldiers dropped bombs on Kampong Som in late 1978 [...] A137: As for the fighting at sea, they fought at night, and I heard the sound of weapons and saw the tracer fire in the sky. [...] A138: This fighting happened in late 1978 and early 1979”]; D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A30 [“In late [19]78, the Vietnam launched offensive attacks”] (Kratie); D114/52 Cheang Chuo WRI, A28 [“Division 117 started retreating from the Cambodian-Vietnamese border in approximately October 1978 because the Vietnamese soldiers attacked and pressured us in strength”] (Kratie).
- 1055 D32/9 Khieu Saran WRI, A3 [“In December 1978, I was sent to Military Zone 9 of the Vietnamese army and fought against Khmer Rouge forces in Takeo, Kampot and Kampong Speu”]; D114/112 Oem (Im) Sokhan WRI, A15 [“In late 1978 [...] the Vietnamese army was invading into our territory. We went into battle again and my unit were defeated near Pech Nil by the Vietnamese”] (Kampong Speu).
- 1056 D1.3.33.1 Telegram from Ieng Sary to the President of the UN Security Council, 31 Dec 1978, EN 00081489, KH 00224423-24 (Ratanakiri, Mondulkiri, Kratie, Kampong Cham); D4.1.988 Ieng Thirith Statement, 17-18 Nov 1979, EN 00418975, KH 00658250-51 [“on 25 December 1978 they [the Hanoi authorities] began their second war of aggression against Democratic Kampuchea on a far larger scale than the preceding one”]; D69.1.39 Ieng Sary Statement, 9 Oct 1979, EN 00633663, KH 00704469 [“On 25 December 1978, Christmas Day, the Hanoi authorities sent 120,000 soldiers, supported by several hundred tanks, heavy artillery and many planes and warships, to attack Kampuchea from all sides”]; D1.3.25.72 Washington Post, Vietnamese, Cambodians Report Heavy Fighting Following Lull, 30 Dec 1978 [“a new Vietnamese offensive began Christmas Day with supporting air attacks”]; D1.3.17.7 Stephen Morris, Why Vietnam Invaded Cambodia, EN 00078209, KH 00224333 [“on December 25, Hanoi launched an all-out offensive, using thirteen divisions, and over 150,000 troops”]; D1.3.17.8 Steven Ratner and Jason Abrams, Accountability for Human Rights Atrocities in International Law, EN 00396032, KH 00429400 [“Vietnam launched its massive invasion of Cambodia on December 25, 1978”]; D234/2.1.14 Gina Chon and Thet Sambath, Behind the Killing Fields, EN 00757541, KH 00858365 [“After months of escalating attacks, Vietnam had sent ten army divisions into Cambodia on December 25, 1978”].
- 1057 See, e.g., D114/149 Touch Chhum WRI, A30 [“In late [19]78, the Vietnam launched offensive attacks and we could not resist them”]; D114/75 Sin Sisophal WRI, A202-203 [“we were defeated by the Vietnamese soldiers [...] A203: It was on 27 December 1978”] (Kratie); D114/112 Im Sokhan WRI, A15 [“In late 1978 [...] the Vietnamese army was invading into our territory. We went into battle again and my unit were defeated near Pech Nil by the Vietnamese”] (Kampong Speu); D114/157.1.3 Chen Phat DC-Cam Statement, EN 01507042, KH 01197653 [“Q: When Vietnamese forces entered in 1979, what happened to our forces? [...] A: In 1979, almost all the forces were withdrawn from the border”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War After the War, EN 00192527-28, KH 00191686-87; D1.3.17.7 Stephen Morris, Why Vietnam Invaded Cambodia [“That [Vietnamese] force captured Phnom Penh on January 7, 1979”]; D234/2.1.14 Gina Chon and Thet Sambath, Behind the Killing Fields, EN 00757541, KH 00858365 [“the Vietnamese captured Phnom Penh on January 7, 1979. [...] The size of [Vietnam's] forces, along with their better-equipped troops overwhelmed the Khmer Rouge"; D1.3.25.73 Wall Street Journal, Vietnam Takes Cambodian Capital, Port but Guerilla War is Seen as Continuing, 8 Jan 1979 ["Vietnam [...] captured the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh, the main seaport of Kompong Som and many other major cities and towns"]; D1.3.25.74 Los Angeles Times, Cambodia Past: A Chronology, 8 Jan 1979 ["Jan. 7, 1979: The rebel front announces its forces had captured Phnom Penh"].

1058 D64.1.31 FBIS, Nuon Chea Speaks on Cambodian Army Anniversary, 16 Jan 1977, EN 00168467, KH 00679796 [at a mass rally in Phnom Penh marking the ninth anniversary of the Cambodian Revolutionary Army, Nuon Chea said: "after 1960 our Revolutionary Organization clearly decided that political action and armed violence must be used to overthrow and crush the enemy"]; D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491412, KH 00063023 ["The strategic line of the Party [...] was set in 1960 [...]. It was imperative to attack and bring down the feudalists, capitalists, and reactionaries in Kampuchea"]; D4.1.886 Revolutionary Flag, Sep-Oct 1976, EN 00450507, KH 00063066 ["The concrete experience of our revolutionary movement had taught us that we had to use political violence and armed violence to defeat the enemy"]; D4.1.864 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1977, EN 00486236, KH 00063148 ["The first form of struggle was to use revolutionary political violence and revolutionary armed violence. [...] This violence was the force to resist the enemy and strike the enemy"]; D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401491, KH 00063328 ["the Party must use revolutionary violence and must assemble the people to use revolutionary violence to oppose the reactionaries and the oppressor classes and to oppose the colonialists and imperialists. For self-defense and self-liberation it is imperative to use violence, whether political violence or armed violence"]; D69.1.42 Khieu Samphan, Considerations on the History of Cambodia, EN 00498231, KH 00380367 ["The new line of the new Party [...] specified that the 'exploiting classes' were the primary enemy of the Cambodian revolution and 'the tools of the American imperialists.' Thus, the Cambodian people had to smash the 'feudalist regime' whether by peaceful methods or by other methods"].

1059 See, e.g., D4.1.882 Revolutionary Flag, Feb-Mar 1976, EN 00517817, KH 00063192-93 ["The first meaning: Attacking and permanently liquidating the capitalist class, not letting them raise their heads again. [...] we see that in form the capitalist class has been brought down and dissolved, but the capitalist theme still exists. If it still exists within the ranks of our revolution and within the ranks of our people, and if we do not struggle to absolutely eradicate it, it will be able to strengthen and expand itself and within some period of time, whether five years, ten years, or longer, it will raise its head again; it will become counter-revolutionary revisionism"]; D4.1.863 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1977, EN 00476162, KH 00062884 ["Continue to attack and eradicate every type of stance of private ownership, petty bourgeois-capitalist-feudalist stances"]; EN 00476163, KH 00062887 ["The enemy is the imperialist aggressor and their servants of every type, the enemy that has the intent to expand and swallow our territory, the enemy that embeds and bores hole from within our revolutionary ranks; the enemy is the feudalist landowner-capitalist-classes; and the enemy is the various oppressor classes; the enemy is private ownership"]; D4.1.864 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1977, EN 00486228, KH 00063138 ["Kampuchean society was divided into five distinct classes: the working class, the peasant class, the petty bourgeoisie class, the capitalist class, and the feudalist class"]; EN 00486233, KH 00063145 ["Once we made the analysis of the contradictions within Kampuchean society, how did we determine who were the enemies of the revolution [...] and who were revolutionary forces? There were two enemies who had to be fought: the first was imperialism, particularly American imperialism. The second was the feudal class, the landowners, the reactionary compradors"]; D1.3.27.15 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting with the Organization's Office, 703 and S-21, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00178150 [Brother 89 (Son Sen) instructs: "Heighten the outlook of revolutionary vigilance in view of the increasingly very sharp contradictions and the ever strong class hatred of the enemies of the Kampuchean revolution"].

1060 See, e.g., D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478502, KH 00062993 ["One very important issue that has to be concentrated on is clearly unmasking again and again the 'CIA' and their agents, the 'KGB' and their agents, the territory-swallowing 'Y[uon]' and their running dogs [...] throughout the whole Army, and throughout the people and attacking and breaking the enemy politically and preventing them forever from sneaking into our Party, our Army, and our people"]; D4.1.896 Revolutionary Youth, Apr 1977, EN 00491127, KH 00376269 ["Absolutely determine to sweep clean the agents of 'CIA', 'KGB' and the running dog agents of the 'Yvon', who are the territory swallower burrowing within!"]; D1.3.24.5 Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185329, KH 00064562 ["anyone who has engaged in activities of service to the CIA or the Yvon since liberation has done so consciously and understanding what they are doing and must be penalized"]; EN 00185333, KH 00064566-67 ["The heads we must attack are CIA, Yvon and [KGB]. [...] 1.

Our sharpest attack is on the aggressive, territory-swallowing Yuon. 2. At the same time, we attack the CIA and KGB. We attack simultaneously, but we pay most attention to attacking the [Yuon] because they are the most noxious and acute”], EN 00185342, KH 00064578 [“Our duty is therefore is to attack absolutely, powerfully and successively these CIA, Yuon and KGB agents, to attack them and attack them again so that they are liquidated and successively liquidated again and again”]; D4.1.583 CPK Central Committee Directive, Guidance of the Central Committee of the CPK on the Party’s Policy towards Misled Persons who have joined the CIA, served as Yuon Agents, or joined the KGB and opposed the Party, Revolution, People and Democratic Kampuchea, 20 Jun 1978 [political guideline instructing cadres on who should be punished if they had joined the CIA, Vietnam, or KGB, using criteria such as what year they had joined and whether they had subsequently committed any traitorous or “opposing” activities].

1061 See, e.g., D1.3.8.4 Division 164 Meeting Minutes, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00657355, KH 00162489 [“Recently one soldier lieutenant [of the former regime] was discovered and arrested”], EN 00657356 [“The soldier elements must be rounded up”]; D98/3.1.130 Em Oeun, T. 23 Aug 2012, 14.35.53-14.37.54 [at a training course in Phnom Penh in 1975: “Q: When Mr. Nuon Chea made his speech, what was the content of such speech after Pol Pot? A: [...] he was talking about finding individuals who burrow within the Party [...] He said that as the leaders, or people in the leadership, we had to know people who were opposing the Party, who were infiltrating in the Party’s line. [...] I felt that Nuon Chea was referring to people who could have been the soldiers in the previous regimes, including Norodom Sihanouk and Lon Nol regimes, and also [...] those who graduated abroad”]; D4.1.509 Khoem Samhuon alias Tauch WRI, EN 00293365, KH 00287536 [“At that time in May 1975, I knew there was an order from the senior Son Sen, the supervisor, to arrest those who were high ranking civil servants of Lon Nol regime who denied leaving Phnom Penh city, and the patients who were Lon Nol soldiers being treated in Preah Ketomealea hospital”]; D1.3.33.4 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 24 Jun 2008, EN 00198221, KH 00197971 [“I cannot remember all the intellectuals returning from abroad that I received at S-21 but I know there were a number of them”]; D4.1.964 Ieng Sary DC-Cam Statement, 17 Dec 1996, EN 00417605-06, KH 00062460-61 [“as for soldiers that they took away and killed, what they decided or specified about the senior civil servants, I did not participate in that. [...] that was someone else’s decision. [...] It was decided afterwards, as far as I know, after 17 April, around the 20th as far as I know, meaning they decided to do whatever was required to keep that group from being able to rise up and oppose the revolution. From what I was told, that group had post-defeat plans, plans to kill the Khmer Rouge after they entered the city and then to take back power. [...] they said that when they had searched the houses of military officers, they were full of grenades and all kinds of weapons. That is, they were prepared to make a coup”]; D1.3.32.39 Sem Hoeun alias Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00876497-99, KH 00020579-81 [“We were sent to learn politics at the Olympic Stadium. [Participants] were from every province. They were all chiefs of battalions, regiments and sub-divisions. [...] [We learned] about the search for elements associated with political tendencies [...] for example, former soldiers and workers of the previous government. [...] If they were identified, they would be removed from their post. [...] Anyone found to have an association or an influence in the previous governments [...] would be removed and sent to Prey Sar Prison”], EN 00876501, KH 00020582 [“[Ieng Sary] came to Olympic Stadium in his capacity as Chief of Politics. He was the Head of the political School. [...] He talked about traitorous strings and reactionary political previous government tendencies. You would surely be removed should you be associated with any one of these categories”].

1062 See, e.g., D234/2.1.77 Seng (Sen) Srun, T. 14 Sep 2015, 11.27.48-11.30.20 [“the first targeted enemies of the Khmer Rouge were New People or 17 April People and those who had served in the Khmer Republic and royalist regimes. [...] New People, 17 April People, the former civil servants of the monarchy and republic regimes and even those who were working in different mobile units, were repressed, mistreated and arrested”], 15.27.15-15.29.37 [“The Pol Pot regime was a genocidal regime, so any other races than Khmer people would be considered their enemies, including the Cham people, the Vietnamese, the Chinese and even the New People, the ones that were liberated in 1975”]; D114/66 Chet Bunna WRI, A11 [“Based on what I knew, any civilians, who had made mistakes, and the 17 April-people were taken to be killed at that place [the durian plantation]”]; D54/26 Pak Sok WRI, A28 [“I asked the military who were minding ducks there [at a paddy field in the Ream area] about the disappearance of those people, and why I did not see them come to work. Those soldiers told me that all the 17 April people had been killed”]; D4.1.479 Sim Tun WRI, EN 00275112, KH 00212110 [in Kampong Chhnang Province: “In 1975, I saw them walking hundreds of people to be killed at Phnom Krech [...] without any interrogations. They were 17 April people and Lon Nol soldiers; [...] I participated [...] in walking those people to be killed at Phnom Krech. [...] upon reaching a distance of 200-300 meters from Phnom Krech, they began killing them one at a time”].

1063

See, e.g., D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491435, KH 00063055 [“It is imperative to concentrate on and strengthen and expand the issue of organization and purge our Army to make it clean and pure following the Party’s line. A strong Army is a clean Army. As long as it is clean, even if the numbers are few it will still be strong”]; D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478501, KH 00062992 [“The currently existing forces are the Party, the core organizations, the Army, the unions, the cooperatives, and so on. It is imperative to purge, to clean up, and to sweep clean the no-good elements and the enemy elements”]; D4.1.653 Revolutionary Flag, Jun 1977, EN 00446857-58, KH 00062803-04 [“the fight against the embedded enemies is not yet finished. Old remnants of the embedded enemies still remain, and they are even strengthening and expanding. [...] Whip up and educate the masses [...] inside the Revolutionary Army and among the people, and have them clearly see how the internal embedded enemies carry out their activities; have them absorb this so they will become an enemy-seeking and enemy-attacking force”]; D4.1.865 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1977, EN 00182549, KH 00064758 [“There are concealed enemies everywhere in our ranks, the Centre, the general staffs, the zones and the bases. It would be dangerous not to take measures”]; D1.3.24.4 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1977-Jan 1978, EN 00184301, KH 00064516 [“Enemies did try to come and smash our worker-peasant state power, but we successively attacked and overthrew and liquidated them [...]. This refers to enemies both within and without, but especially to the enemies within [...] We have also been able to defend the army. No the army of the Party has not suffered any losses, but rather has only been further strengthened and cleaned up. We eliminated the enemies who were boring from within the army and the dangerous elements in the army, thereby raising the quality of the army and making it better [...]. We seized great and systematic victories in 1977 by being able systematically to purge and sweep enemies cleanly away and basically to dig out their main roots. We put forward this plan at the end of 1976, and in early 1977 we had already been able to eliminate a portion of the enemies”]; D4.1.868 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1978, EN 00519842, KH 00064725 [CPK Secretary Pol Pot: “Enemies from near and far come to make propaganda and deceive and defraud us and frighten us, to make us fear the enemy. They must be eradicated. Do not let those germs bore inside among our people, our Party, our Army. We make our Army clean, our Party clean, our people clean, so that they can fight the enemy and defend Kampuchean territory, that is, defend the Kampuchean race”]; D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 30 Aug 1976, EN 00183968, KH 00052382 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “It is imperative to conduct further purges of no-good elements”]; D114/198 Pin Samoun (Sam Aun) WRI, A39-54 [the witness, a deputy company commander in Division 310, attended a month-long training session at Olympic Stadium in mid-1975 for all military divisions, ministries, and civil institutions under the Centre. Son Sen spoke there about the “screening and sorting” of enemies, such as army soldiers whose parents or relatives were affiliated with, inter alia, the Lon Nol government. They would be placed in a separate unit for those with “tendency”]. See also VIII.A. Purges within Division 164; VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes – Persecution on Political Grounds; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes – Persecution on Political Grounds; VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505.

1064

See, e.g., D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940354, KH 00052413 [“In our status as an army, we must know the subjects that we must attack, namely American imperialism, and the Vietnam revisionists and their traitorous henchmen”]; D114/297.1.20 Pak Sok, T. 16 Dec 2015, 13.31.00-13.38.32 [“I actually was a soldier in Division 164. After 1976, there was a training session, and they announced clearly about the hereditary enemy of the Khmer, that was ‘Yvon’. [...] They announced that all soldiers in division 164 needed to attend the training. [...] We were instructed to kill, even if it was a baby, because they are our hereditary enemy, so we must kill them. So it was the responsibility of each battalion that received exact instructions”]; D234/2.1.100 Alexander Hinton, T. 15 Mar 2016, 09.21.48-09.22.42 [“by and large, with the demographic estimates, you know, it’s thought that perhaps there were then, after this period of expulsions, 20,000 ethnic Vietnamese left in the country. And by the end of DK, virtually all of them are thought to have been killed”]; D11/160/4.2 Chau Ny, T. 23 May 2013, 10.28.14-10.30.01 [“for all those people who were Khmer Krom origins, they all died. I do not know the reason why they took revenge against the Khmer Krom people. Even the children, the innocent children, were also killed because of their Khmer Krom origins”]; D11/44/3.2 Thann Thim, T. 21 Apr 2015, 09.42.32-09.45.10 [“When I was living in Kiri Vong District, [...] Khmer Krom spoke with Vietnamese accent. They did not speak very clearly and Vietnamese also spoke Khmer unclearly and those people were considered Khmer Krom or Vietnamese. Those with fair complexion and spoke with accent would be considered Khmer Krom. They were taken away and disappeared, and I did not know whether these people were killed, they did not stay there after that time”]; D114/297.1.36 Nget Chat, T. 25 Oct 2016, 09.56.48-09.58.09 [“All the Khmer Krom were all collected and taken away”]; D1.3.33.3 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 7 Aug 2007, EN 00147526-27 [“Q: Were there just four foreigners at S 21? A: Yes, [...] Nuon Chea ordered them to be burned to ashes using vehicle tires. I do not remember the names, but there was an Englishman, an American, maybe an Australian, and another nationality I cannot remember. Q: Why did they arrest those foreigners? What had they come to do? A: They had entered Cambodian waters, and the naval unit arrested them and sent them to Nuon Chea. [...] By foreigners, I meant Caucasians”]; D54/102 Ek Ny (Ni) alias Euk WRI, A29 [“After they [Khmer Rouge] had captured two [...] fishing boats of the Thai, they took all the Thai fishermen to kill in [the durian plantation]. [...] During that time, when they had arrested the Vietnamese refugees, who were traveling by boat to seek asylum in the 3rd countries, they took those Vietnamese refugees to kill in that durian plantation also”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A61 [“Every two or three days I saw ten to fifteen Thai fishermen being killed. [...] If they were captured, they were killed: they were not kept alive”]. See also VIII.B. Crimes Committed Against those Captured by the DK Navy in Waters and on Islands Claimed by Democratic Kampuchea Arrests and Killings at Sea; VIII.G. Genocide of the Vietnamese.

1065

D1.3.27.15 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting with the Organization’s Office, 703 and S-21, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00178150, KH 00008503 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “Heighten the outlook of revolutionary vigilance in view of the increasingly very sharp contradictions and the ever strong class hatred of the enemies of the Kampuchean revolution”]; D4.1.583 CPK Central Committee Directive, Guidance of the Central Committee of the CPK on the Party’s Policy towards Misled Persons who have joined the CIA, served as Yuon Agents, or joined the KGB and opposed the Party, Revolution, People and Democratic Kampuchea, 20 Jun 1978, EN 00275219, KH 00079281-82 [the Central Committee declared it would eliminate “the resolute opposition group against the Party, Revolution, People and Democratic of Kampuchea who oppose successively as a network without changing their minds, who refuse to live with the Party, Revolution and People of Kampuchea; and instead, they resolutely bend down their heads crawling to serve the Yuon aggressor who swallows of the territory, the Soviet expansionist and its clique, the American imperialism and its clique”]; D1.3.22.1 CPK Statute, Jan 1976, art. 5, EN 00184034-36, KH 00053020-23 [“various criteria must be established as the factors for deliberation in selecting cadres into the various leadership committees of the Party. [These include:] [...] Must have a strong and correct stance of revolutionary vigilance, maintaining secrecy, and defending revolutionary forces at all times in all action, work, speech, attitude, in life, in every way, in short and long term both inside and outside the Party [...] Must have good, clean, and correct life morals, not corrupt or raffish, and not involved with the enemy”]; D4.1.45 Revolutionary Youth, Jan-Feb 1978, EN 00278714, KH 00063491 [“our present and future task is to constantly raise high our spirit of revolutionary vigilance”]; D4.1.77 CPK Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting Regarding Propaganda Works, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00182723, KH 00000845 [“Have more revolutionary vigilance, especially the enemies burrowing within, [...] Basically, enemies are destructed. Even so, they still attempt to destroy us. In terms of viewpoint and standpoint, we must be more vigilant”]; D4.1.986 FBIS, Khieu Samphan’s Speech at Anniversary Meeting, 15 Apr 1977, EN 00419513, KH 00292805 [“We must wipe out the enemy in our capacity as masters of the situation [...] we must further steel ourselves, remain alert, constantly maintain the spirit of revolutionary vigilance and continue to fight and suppress all stripes of enemy at all times”], EN 00419517 [“We must uphold our spirit of revolutionary vigilance at all times against the enemy from all quarters, both at home and abroad”]; D4.1.739 DK Government Meeting Minutes, First Meeting of the Council of Ministers, 22 Apr 1976, EN 00143467, KH 00072760 [“[The enemy’s] aim is to attack the leadership apparatus by dark means. Therefore, we must raise the spirit of revolutionary vigilance even higher”]; D4.1.865 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1977, EN 00182549-50, KH 00064759-60 [“[The] risky [cadres] must be purged. [...] the contemptible traitors who are concealed [from] within wear the label of the organization, too. [...] we have been able to sweep cleanly away more than 99% of the contemptible major concealed enemies boring [from] within. [...] we shouldn’t let the enemies strengthen and expand. There must be constant shock assaults”].

1066

See, e.g., D4.1.629 DC-Cam DK Prison List, 18 Feb 2008 [listing 196 known security centres and their locations during the DK period]; D4.1.1120 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, Diagram of Security Office Network, EN 00198898, KH 00198896 [showing that each zone, sector, and district had their own security offices in addition to special ones like S-21, totalling 196 offices throughout the country]; D10.1.64 Kaing

Guek Eav alias Duch Written Submission, 23 Nov 2009, para. 69, EN 00412111, KH 00404807 [“There were at least 196 Santebal Offices in the Democratic Kampuchea”], paras 70-72, EN 00412111, KH 00404807 [describing the organisational supervision of the security offices and how confessions were sent up the chain of command]; D4.1.462 Sum Alat alias Chhong Lat WRI, EN 00242126-27, KH 00196812-13 [detailing five security offices that he knew about: Prey Sloek security office also known as Kraing Tasam, security office 07 also known as Trapaing Chomg security office, security office at Tuol Tapev, Charoek security office, and the artillery security office known as mortar fort office in Pursat province]; D4.1.369 Chan Khan WRI, EN 00195544-45, KH 00186762-63 [regarding Office 13]; D4.1.1112 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 29 Apr 2008, EN 00185475-76, KH 00185467-68 [describing M-13 and S-21].

1067 See, e.g., D1.3.28.81 S-21 Interrogation Log, 21 Apr 1978 [list of 98 prisoners from all over the country who were interrogated at S-21 on 21 April 1978]; D4.1.495 Report from Chim in Trapeang Thom Thbounng Commune to the Party, 17 Sep 1977, EN 00363653-54, KH 00270984-85 [reporting on the torture and interrogation of prisoners]; D4.1.148 Reports from An at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre (Educational Office of District 105) to Party, Jul-Aug 1977, EN 00276593, KH 00082724 [handwritten annotation by Prak of Tor. 13 (Sector 13) instructing An, the Chairman of Kraing Ta Chan prison: “Please smash them all. On 7/8/77. Tor. 13; Prak”], EN 00276594, KH 00082725 [“It is okay to smash. 7/8/77; Tor. 13; Prak”], EN 00276596, KH 00082727 [instruction from District Secretary Kit to An which states: “Concerning the issue of all the prisoners who were arrested from Chieng Torng commune [...] they are to be interrogated in order to find out their whole networks, then smash them”]; D1.3.33.8 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 3 Oct 2007, EN 00149915 [“The CPK’s Special Branch was utterly unique. It did not employ any laws whatsoever. It relied exclusively on the Party line and the major and minor Party decisions issuing from the mouth of Pol Pot. [...] It employed exclusively criminal methods (torture to obtain responses, then smash; anyone arrested had to be smashed)”]; D4.1.1112 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 29 Apr 2008, EN 00185477, KH 00185470 [“the general principle in the security centres and in S-21 in particular was that all persons arrested had to be executed except for a few and only temporarily [...]. The only decision to be made was the timing of the execution”].

1068 D98/1.2.1 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 18 May 2009, 10.07.08-10.13.40 [“The word ‘smash’ mean[s] the person was not to be released. [...] this did not go through the judicial process because there was no law, no court, the Standing Committee govern[ed] all the three main powers”]; D4.1.1109 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 28 Mar 2008, EN 00177588, KH 00177581 [“the Party took all the important decisions, ruling the country in an exclusive and absolute manner [...] This meant that all the decisions of the Secretary or the deputy-secretary had to be respected and that those who did not respect them had to be eliminated [...] These principles were obviously not compatible with the existence of tribunals and procedural safeguards”]; D114/263 Chum Chy WRI, A2 [“Back then we had no courts nor codified rules of any importance. There were only orders”]; D54/7 Dol Song WRI, A17 [“At that time, anyone who committed mistakes would be arrested; there was no court to rule whether the person was innocent or guilty”]; D114/48 Sok Ngon WRI, A27 [“they call that regime a dictatorial regime: there were no courts or anything. Superiors had the power to pass judgment as they pleased”]; D1.3.30.28 UN Commission on Human Rights, Question of the Violation of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms in any part of the World, with Particular Reference to Colonial and other Dependent Countries and Territories, 30 Jan 1979, EN 00078660, KH 00294964 [“Chapter 7 of the Constitution of Democratic Kampuchea contains two brief articles concerning the administration of justice and the appointment of judges (article 9) and defining forms of punishment (article 10). However, it is alleged in the materials that there is a total absence of judicial process or courts in the country and punishment of offences tends to be entirely of a summary character”]; D1.3.17.9 Ysa Osman, Oukoubah: Justice for the Cham Muslims under the Democratic Kampuchea Regime, EN 00078543 [“in arresting and punishing people, the Khmer Rouge did not go through the process of obtaining a court decision, and thereby violated their own constitution. [...] low-level unit or base chiefs made arrests, while prison chiefs and their direct subordinates made all decisions on the torture, interrogation and killing of prisoners. All policies on the chain of command in such matters came from the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Kampuchea”].

1069 See, e.g., D4.1.148 Reports from An at Kraing Ta Chan Security Centre (Educational Office of District 105) to Party, Jul-Aug 1977, EN 00276596, KH 00082727 [instruction from District Secretary Kit to An which states: “Concerning the issue of all the prisoners who were arrested from Chieng Torng commune [...] they are to be interrogated in order to find out their whole networks, then smash them”]; D4.1.495 Correspondence from Chim in Trapeang Thom Thbounng Commune to the Party, 17 Sep 1977, EN 00363653-54, KH 00270984-85 [informs the Party that they brought in four people who had been implicated by Phuong the night before, and now, based on hot and cold methods of interrogation, one of the new arrestees implicated two more people as part of the “network”]; D4.1.1058 Chhaom Se WRI, A8 [“According to my observation, cadres with the rank of chief of regiments or above and senior cadres (at work) were removed because they had been implicated in the confessions at the General Staff”]; D4.1.805 Chhaom Se WRI, A6 [“The confessions-implications were from Phnom Penh, meaning that they were the confessions of the prisoners who had been interrogated in Phnom Penh. [...] they implicated 4 or 5 soldiers in Brigade 801. [...] There were 3 to 4 confessions. Those confessions were marked with red ink pen, saying that [the prisoners] with this name or that name must be examined because they were agents in the network”]; D1.3.32.17 Him Huy WRI, EN 00161598-99, KH 00146647 [“If prisoners implicated people from the 703rd, Duch had them arrested, interrogated, and killed”]; D4.1.250 Him Huy WRI, EN 00164451, KH 00164447 [“During a meeting, Duch told us that those from the 703rd who were working at S-21 and who had been implicated by prisoners from the 703rd had been arrested, interrogated, and killed in the S-21 compound”]; D4.1.1156 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, 15 Jul 2008, EN 00205162-63, KH 00205154 [“You have asked me the percentage of arrests carried out further to implication in confessions. I cannot answer that question. I know there were many. For example, Son Sen immediately had the persons implicated by Koy Thuon arrested. I protested, telling him it was unbelievable to arrest so many people, but he told me in a threatening tone: ‘this is the confession of the despicable Khuon (Koy Thuon)’. I was unable to oppose the arrest”]; D98/3.1.226 Laurence Picq WRI, EN 00323633, KH 00252159 [“It was common knowledge that persons implicated in three different confessions were arrested. Five implications were necessary for a couple”].

1070 D1.3.27.23 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics Officers of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 15 Dec 1976, EN 00233718, KH 00095514 [“Must screen dangerous elements out of the units. [...] The results of grasping the biographies this time were good, but there are still some comrades who are hiding their histories. Be most careful about those [whose] mothers and fathers were purged or whose siblings were purged”]; D11/54/3.1 Preap Sokhoeurn, T. 24 Oct 2016, 09.45.00-09.48.51 [“There were also two other women who were also in the cooperative [...]. Their husbands were accused of being linked to a network, they were arrested in 1975 or 1976, and in 1977, the wives were also identified, put in a truck and taken away to be killed. During the regime, they searched for people who were linked to a network and killed them all. [...] They did not spare any family members if they found out that they were related”]; D234/2.1.68 Elizabeth Becker, T. 10 Feb 2015, 10.51.34-10.52.18 [“everyone was accused through a network. And, as the killing snowballed, the networks exploded from adults having relationship with other adults to a network including the entire family”].

1071 D1.3.19.1 Decision of the Central Committee Regarding a Number of Matters, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809, KH 00003136 [granting “The right to smash, inside and outside the ranks” as follows: “If in the base framework, to be decided by the Zone Standing Committee. Surrounding the Center Office, to be decided by the Central Office Committee. Independent Sectors, to be decided by the Standing Committee. The Center Military, to be decided by the General Staff”]. See also D98/1.2.1 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 18 May 2009, 10.17.08-10.26.58 [referring to the 30 March 1976 decision: “this document, gives the right or delegates the power to make a decision to smash, to execute people, both within and outside the ranks to four groups of people. [...] the power delegated to the four groups was fully exercised. [...] through the period from the 30th March 1976 to the 7th January of 1979 the CPK implemented these organizational lines very strictly and fully”].

1072 See, e.g., D98/1.2.15 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 19 Mar 2012, 15.55.05-15.57.25 [“‘Smash’ means executed. You know they are used interchangeably because they’re the same terms. The ultimate goal is that the person is dead”]; D98/1.2.1 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 18 May 2009, 10.03.35-10.13.40 [“[people] were executed secretly without the knowledge of their family members. [...] The word ‘smash’ mean[s] the person was not to be released. [...] this did not go through the judicial process because there was no law, no court, the Standing Committee govern[ed] all the three main powers”]; D98/1.2.7 Craig Etcheson, T. 28 May 2009, 09.12.19-09.15.58 [“my understanding is that the Khmer word we translate in this court as smash, ‘komtik’ means a little bit more than just killing. Frequently, you will see this word translated not merely as ‘smash’, but rather as ‘smash to bits’ as in to smash into little pieces. [...] It involved not merely a physical smashing, but also a psychological smashing”]; D4.1.409 Chhouk Rin alias Sok WRI, EN 00268899, KH 00210214 [“The term ‘smash’ means ‘arrest and kill’].

1073 See, e.g., D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401501-02, KH 00063341 [“smashing espionage groups and smashing saboteurs that want to wreck and destroy our revolution, we will continue to smash the defeated enemy remnants to consolidate our victory. [...] the external enemies and the internal enemies still exist. [...] If we are constantly revolutionarily vigilant [...] the enemy will be unable to do anything”]; D4.1.653 Revolutionary Flag, Jun 1977, EN 00446862, KH 00062809 [“Attack the enemy, sweep clean the foreign agent enemies, the embedded enemies, the class enemies; don’t let them be able to keep trying to carry out activities, even a little”]; D1.3.24.5 Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185342, KH 00064578 [“Our duty is therefore is to attack absolutely, powerfully and successively these CIA, Yuon and KGB agents, to attack them and attack them again so that they are liquidated and successively liquidated again and again. Only if they are attacked in this manner will their veteran forces be completely smashed along with their remnant forces and their new forces. We find ourselves in a situation where we are on the offensive, have mastery and are advancing to trample the enemy and seize successive victories, whereas the enemy is being smashed to smithereens, scattered to the winds and liquidated”]; D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1978, EN 00428291, KH 00064487 [“During the first 6 months of 1978, our Party has impelled forward the countrywide movement to sweep cleanly away the concealed enemy boring from within, including in the Party, in the collective masses and in the Revolutionary Army, gaining a victory that is almost equal in meaning to the great victory of 17 April 1975”], EN 00428303, KH 00064501-02 [“in the great mass movement to attack and smash the aggressive, expansionist, territory-swallowing, genocidal Yuon enemy and in the great mass movement to sweep cleanly away the concealed enemies boring from within who are CIA agents, Yuon running dog agents and KGB agents, cooperatives throughout the country have played an important leading role”].

1074 See, e.g., D4.1.986 FBIS, Khieu Samphan’s Speech at Anniversary Meeting, 15 Apr 1977, EN 00419513, KH 000292805 [“We must wipe out the enemy in our capacity as masters of the situation, following the lines of domestic policy, foreign policy and military policy of our revolutionary organization. [...] we must further steel ourselves, remain alert, constantly maintain the spirit of revolutionary vigilance and continue to fight and suppress all stripes of enemy at all times”]; D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478496, KH 00062986 [excerpts from a speech given by “the Comrade Party Representative” on the second anniversary of the 17 April victory: “As for the enemies that are ‘CIA’, ‘KGB’, ‘Y[uan]’ agents, the cheap running dogs of the enemy that sneakily embedded inside our revolution and our revolutionary ranks, they are in a state of extreme loss of mastery because their major and intermediate apparatuses have fundamentally been smashed and the forces that remain have been fundamentally scattered, like rats being hit and falling from their nests into the water and being chased and struck by the people and annihilated. We must continue to strike them and trample them from our position of absolute advantage and must constantly be on the offensive against them during 1977 to smash them even more so they cannot raise their heads”]; D10.1.59 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1977, EN 00399235-36, KH 00062963-65 [text of the speech given by a “Party Organization Representative” (believed to be Nuon Chea) at the West Zone Cadre Conference on 25 July 1977: “In this Zone there are embedded enemies. In the Sectors there are embedded enemy elements. In the districts, there are also embedded enemy elements, and so on. After we seized victory throughout the country, they came to bore holes to seize state power back from us, Zone state power, Sector state power, District state power. [...] It is imperative to prepare forces to attack, attack and smash the enemy and the no-good elements embedded inside and controlling the cooperatives”]; D64.1.34 FBIS, Ieng Sary Hosts Banquet for Burmese Delegation - Ieng Sary Speech, 31 Aug 1977, EN 00168723 [“During the past 8 months our Cambodian people and Revolutionary Army have striven seethingly and arduously to increase production and successfully defend and protect our national independence, sovereignty and territorial integrity [...] by smashing all maneuvers of enemies of all stripes”].

1075 See, e.g., D1.3.27.1 CPK Standing Committee Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183403-04, KH 00019121-22 [discussing whether two comrades (Mean and Phan) should be considered enemies or not: “As for Comrade Mean, [...] Must be careful about speech that he is seen as a traitor which would lead him to not see the future. We will analyze the circumstances of his fleeing appropriately, and don’t disseminate it. [...] The matter of Comrade Phan must be kept really quiet; the reports must be analyzed because the spies give shifty responses. Finding his history through our own networks is better. Enemy networks cannot be believed. [...] But his activities must be watched”]; D4.1.77 CPK Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting Regarding Propaganda Works, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00182723, KH 00000845 [regarding the radio station: “Have more revolutionary vigilance, especially the enemies burrowing within, for fear that they may have laid bombs. So, guarding and check-in-and-out regime are needed. Basically, enemies are destructed. Even so they still attempt to destroy us. In terms of viewpoint and standpoint we must be more vigilant”]; D4.1.739 DK Government Meeting Minutes, First Meeting of the Council of Ministers, 22 Apr 1976, EN 00143467, KH 00072761 [“Defend the revolutionary state authority, the fruits of the revolution, defend the Party, the people, the Army, independence, sovereignty, etc, [against] every form of enemy activity, both overt and covert. We must always be in high revolutionary vigilance, always be in mastery”]; D1.3.27.15 DK Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting with the Organization’s Office, 703 and S-21, 9 Sep 1976, EN 00178150, KH 00008503 [in response to an unauthorised distribution of leaflets that criticised the Organisation, Brother 89 (Son Sen) speculated about who distributed them and what action to take: “This is not a problem coming from the outside. [...] The enemy wants us to no longer to trust units of 703 and 180. [...] These activities are part of an overall enemy plan. We have to be on guard against an enemy assassination of the Organization. [...] Heighten the outlook of revolutionary vigilance in view of the increasingly very sharp contradictions and the ever strong class hatred of the enemies of the Kampuchean revolution [...] As for Security, I suggest that it increase its surveillance of enemy situations”]; D4.1.1154 Ek Hen alias Chea WRI, EN 00205049-50, KH 00172064-65 [“In 1978, Nuon Chea also led a study meeting at Borei Keila, with about 500 people attending, workers and personnel. The content of the study meeting was about: [...] defending the territory so the Yuon would not invade; about the North Zone group’s treason; about Koy Thuon’s treason; not letting workers to join in the treason [...] he told us about the purge of those connected to Koy Thuon”]; D4.1.817 Bun Thien WRI, EN 00384406-08, KH 00368609-10 [“Q: What was discussed during the sector-level meeting at Phnom Kheng? A: The sector-level meeting was an annual meeting concluding the work done, with the presence of all commune secretaries, deputies and members. [...] We were told to observe if there was hidden enemy burrowing from inside. If there was such a case, we would have to report to the upper echelon. The hidden enemy burrowing from inside could be those who broke ploughs, hoes or carrying sticks, those who pretended to be sick, etc. The upper echelon emphasised that those who performed these activities were the hidden enemy burrowing from the inside; these activities were the obstacles for our revolutionary movement”].

1076

See, e.g., D4.1.872 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1975, EN 00495804, KH 00063242 [“the foreign affairs policies are always full of true elements of storming attack against the imperialist enemies, the storming attack against the feudalism, landlord and capitalist enemies. Therefore, if they are meticulously and properly enforced, neither the imperialist enemies nor the anti-Revolutionary classes can take any opportunity to fight back our Revolution”]; D1.3.24.2 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1976, EN 00268917, KH 00062910 [“we stand upon socialist revolution, continuing class struggle inside the national society, inside the ranks of the revolution, inside the Party, and inside the cooperatives and unions, inside the Revolutionary Army, until the forces of socialist revolution smash and scatter all opposing forces so that the country can be defended”]; D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491398, KH 00063005 [“The traitor strings that we smashed successively were organized traitor strings, systematic strings, that had existed since the national democratic revolution period. However, during that period, they could live with us. In socialist revolution, they were segregated out. 1976 was a year of these class combat inside our revolution and inside our Party. Many germs appeared. All the traitor strings appeared. [...] In summary, this year we wage socialist revolution profoundly to an important extent. This has emerged as a good factor in eradicating traitors embedded inside the Party, inside the Army, and among the people”]; D4.1.45 Revolutionary Youth, Jan-Feb 1978, EN 00278711, KH 00063486 [“every aggressive action and espionage activity to bore holes from within in attempts by the American imperialists and their servants to make coups against our Democratic Kampuchea has been repeatedly attacked, broken, defeated, and smashed to bits”]; D4.1.867 Revolutionary Flag, Mar 1978, EN 00504073, KH 00064457 [“The Center has studied and learned from the fighting during 1977. Our Party mastered attacking the internal enemies first. As for the external enemy, we fight them, but as for the internal enemy, we have fundamentally already smashed them. When the external enemy attacks, the internal enemy cannot raise their heads; they have no forces”]; D4.1.893 Revolutionary Youth, Oct 1978, EN 00539981, KH 00376478 [“We must always see the state of difficulty of the enemy, not in order to fear the enemy or to unreasonably over-evaluate them, but so that we will always have high revolutionary vigilance and be ready to smash their aggression and have advance mastery at all times”], EN 00539982, KH 00376479 [“Therefore, we revolutionary youth are joining the fight to smash the enemy on the forward battlefield strongly, and are joining the fight to sweep clean the embedded enemies boring holes from within”].

1077

See, e.g., D1.3.34.60 Telegram 00 from Division 164 Secretary Meas Mut to M-870, 31 Dec 1977, EN 00184995, KH 00001325 [“We who have the duty to defend the maritime spearhead would like to [...] Vow determination to fashion forces who are a tool absolutely to defend the Party, to defend the state power of the collective worker and peasants, and to defend the socialist Kampuchean motherland by sweeping cleanly away and without half-measures the uncover[ed] elements of the enemy, whether the Yuon or other enemies”]; D54/112.3 Report from Division 164 Secretary Meas Mut, 1 Apr 1978, EN 00183357, KH 00017026 [“The total number of the Yuons captured and shot [to] death from 27-3-78 to 30-3-78 were 120 heads”]; D4.1.578 Telegram 54 from Sarun to Nuon Chea, 23 Apr 1978, EN 00296220, KH 00017027 [report regarding the search for Yuon spies]; D1.3.14.3 Telegram 60 from North Zone Secretary Se to Committee 870, 5 Sep 1977, EN 00517923-24, KH 00069447-48 [“The situation of internal enemy: At the bases, offices, ministries, and military offices, we have uncovered many enemies who are burrowing from within either through the spying of their anti-revolution activities or through the implications. Those enemies who were former officials, policemen or soldiers of the previous regime were discovered one after another. Comparing to the earlier time, the number of enemies who are burrowing from within are decreasing and mainly only a few of their accessories are left under cover”]; D1.3.34.63 Telegram 313 from North Zone Secretary Se to Committee 870, 19 Mar 1978, EN 00436995-96, KH 00019202 [“Situation of the enemy burrowing from within: In this dry season, the remained enemies re-emerged and took actions against us in the worksites. These enemies contacted with the [former] policemen, sold[i]ers and government officials. They mingled themselves as the ‘New people’. After they acted against us, we knew them clearly and we systematically purged them. Right now, some police men, soldiers, and government officials escaped after more than 20 people were purged. More actions will be taken to arrest more people”]; D4.1.612 Telegram 324 from North Zone Secretary Se to Committee 870, 10 Apr 1978, EN 00340540, KH 00296229 [“The internal situation: [...] The situation is normal. We are continuing to purge the remaining group continuously, including those who oppose our revolution openly and secretly”].

1078 See, e.g., D98/1.2.1 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 18 May 2009, 13.53.18-14.02.07 [“[Koy Thuon’s] confessions made [...] the whole Standing Committee [...] arrest en masse people from the north. It’s a massive arrest. [...] So whether anyone would be arrested first, they conducted such a plan and the plans were initiated by the standing committee”]; D234/2.1.40 Nuon Chea Written Record of Adversarial Hearing, 19 Sep 2007, EN 00148699, KH 00148677 [“The Military Committee had the task of national defense and purging internal enemies”]; D4.1.828 Suon Kanil WRI, EN 00390076, KH 00373509 [Southwest forces took control of the committees ‘from the Sector down to the cooperative’, taking over ‘about 90% of the Central Zone [leadership]’]; D4.1.817 Bun Thien WRI, EN 00384404, KH 00368606 [in the Southwest Zone: “Generally, ‘they’ arrested leaders, senior cadres of the Khmer Rouge and women and men soldiers who were thought of as connected to traitors’ tendency, and put them there. Connection to traitors’ tendency means once their leader was arrested all the subordinates would be sent there”]; D114/140 Chea Phon WRI, A63 [in Battalion 303: “At that time, sailors from the zone came to replace us. They informed us that our superiors were traitors, and that the three commanders [...] had been sent to Koh Khyang Prison. After that, all of the naval forces were transferred to the mainland, and all of their belongings were assumed by the zone people. [...] Later the zone commander, Sy, announced at Longvek City Hall that all Sector 11 Forces were traitors. They also announced that our commanders were traitors. They added that if our superiors were traitors, we, their subordinates also had a tendency towards treachery. Then, they divided our unit into three different groups”]; D55/5 Chhaom Se WRI, A20 [in Sector 101, Northeast Zone: “in 1977, at the base there were traitorous elements, creating great commotion, then they began to reorganize the base. Elements accused of being traitors were called to Phnom Penh, but never seen to have returned”]; D4.1.1154 Ek Hen WRI, EN 00205049, KH 00172064 [“First they arrested the leaders, then any deputies and any members who had involvement with the North and East Zone networks whom they accused of treason. [...] Later on, they brought in the Southwest group of Ta Mok’s network to supervise the factory”]; D114/36.1.25 Ke Pauk Autobiography, EN 00089705-06, KH 00095552 [“In February 77, a security vehicle from Phnom Penh came to arrest the ministry secretaries, including the ministers of agriculture, industry, commerce, and public works. [...] Also in 77, a security vehicle from Phnom Penh came and arrested 5 or 6 people from the Dambon 41 committee, 5 or 6 from the Dambon 42 committees, and 5 or 6 from Dambon 43. After the Dambon committee members were all arrested, they arrested the heads of the dambon level ministries, since each dambon had its own ministries. A little later, a security vehicle came from Phnom Penh to arrest the zone military staff committee. In summary, the dambon and ministry cadres totaled 50 to 60 persons”].

1079 See, e.g., D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Brigades, Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Regiments, 2 Aug 1976, EN 00656578, KH 00052360 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “In carrying out the duty of defending the country, it is imperative to think in terms of fending off enemies both external and internal, but it is especially important to pay attention fending off the enemy that is burrowing from within. This means it is imperative to pay attention to purging no-good elements completely from the Party, the Core Organizations and our male and female combatants within the Revolutionary Army”]; D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 30 Aug 1976, EN 00183966, KH 000552381 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “Divisions are to examine and keep track of no-good elements. Organize for them to be administered separately”], EN 00183968, KH 00052382 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “It is imperative to conduct further purges of no-good elements. It is imperative to be absolute, but not leftist: are they supporters or not, and if they are not supporters is it because of not understanding or are they not supporters because they are opponents in league with the enemy?”]; D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940344, KH 00052407 [after explaining that Chakrei, Ya, Chhouk and Keo Meas were traitors and had been smashed, Bang 89 (Son Sen) said: “the important thing is precisely that our army be clean and pure [...] Concretely operationalizing revolutionary vigilance means having a firm grip on our units of organization, ensuring that the enemy is unable to bore from within, and doing whatever needs to be done to make our army clean”], EN 00940345, KH 00052408 [“It is imperative to educate the brothers and sisters so that they understand the state of contradictions arising from the enemies boring from within and from the enemies’ tricks, and to do so in such a way that this permeates all the way to the bottom. [...] It is imperative to purge absolutely no-good elements, but not to be left or right politically”], EN 00940346, KH 00052408 [Dim/Doem: “I would like to be in unity with Angkar’s presentation about the enemies’ internal and external situations [...] From an examination of my forces, some 90 to 95 per cent of them are reliable, those who are loyal to the Party. But if you want unsullied faith that the army is clean, it seems not yet to be clean, and it is imperative to follow up with more purges”], EN 00940350, KH 00052411 [Sou Met: “it is imperative to dare absolutely to conduct purges”], EN 00940350-51, KH 00052411 [“Comrade Mut [Meas Muth]: I would like to speak about the concern shown with the activities of the traitors within the Party, that this has been a great victory for our Party. This lesson has strengthened, to a further degree, the standpoint of revolutionary vigilance. We have been indoctrinated with the Party’s standpoint that a correct standpoint analyses these enemies as being American imperialists and revisionists with plans to attack our Revolution. As for the problem of the grasp on the unit of organization, cadre and combatants, it is not yet firm. No-good elements or enemies are still camouflaged and infiltrated in the rank and file. The most important factor is the grasp of the everyday ideology of the core organizations. It is imperative to make arrangements to take measures so as to seize the initiative in advance. On this I would like to be in total agreement and unity with the Party. Do whatever needs to be done in not allowing the situation to get out of hand and not to let them strengthen or expand themselves at all”]; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933835, KH 00052305 [“Comrade Maut: [...] a number of the cadres and combatants guarding the depots used to be with the traitors as their bodyguards for long. One platoon of depot units of organization has been purged, but they are not yet all gone or reliable”], EN 00933844, KH 00052311 [Brother 89 (Son Sen): “As for depots, it is imperative to be vigilant against those mixed up with traitorous elements, and they must be removed. Purge the insiders make them clean”].

See VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164; VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505.

See VIII.A. Purges Within Division 164; VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes – Persecution on Political Grounds; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes – Persecution on Political Grounds; VIII.I. Purge of Division 117 and Sector 505.

D54/74.1.12 Third Year Anniversary of the Organization of Peasant Cooperatives, 20 May 1976, EN 00636009, KH 00442209 [“in 1972-1973 the Party took measures to organize the people based on political consciousness in view of thwarting the economic power of land owners and capitalists, cut off private trading, control traders, dismantle the former means of production, establish new ones and organize cooperatives. Chief among the measures was the organization of cooperatives”]; D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491424, KH 00063040-41 [“This is a very important strategic line: control the people and seize the people [...] whatever side has the people, that side wins. [...] So then, in the work of defending the country at present and later on, it is important to have a grasp on the people. That is why the Party concentrates on grasping the cooperatives”].

D4.1.886 Revolutionary Flag, Sep-Oct 1976, EN 00450510, KH 00063069-70 [“1972: The Party made an assessment [...] and decided to close the markets”], EN 00450513, KH 00063075 [“we do not use currency. Currency is a most poisonous tool. It entices us at all times to return to private ownership. With currency we always want to buy this or buy that. Now no one thinks of spending money”]; D4.1.882 Revolutionary Flag, Feb-Mar 1976, EN 00517819, KH 00063195 [“we began waging socialist revolution in 1972, in particular 1973, by dissolving private commerce and then the State conducted commerce by itself and dissolved the markets”]; D64.1.27 FBIS, DK Media Reports, 4 May 1977, EN 00168146, KH 00679848 [“The population is organized into cooperatives responsible for distributing food, clothing and medical supplies. There is no money”]; D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401481-84, KH 00063316-19 [assessment of the situation the led up to the abolition of currency and private markets]; D4.1.444 Sao Sarun WRI, EN 00278694, KH 00251437 [at a May 1975 meeting at the Cambodian-Soviet friendship school, Nuon Chea and Pol Pot were presenters: “Both of them talked about political matters, cooperative organization, currency prohibition, market and monastery closings”]; D1.3.17.5 Nayan Chanda, Brother Enemy: The War after the War, EN 00192256, KH 00191385 [“In mid-1973, to strengthen the party’s territorial and economic control, private ownership of land and the use of money were abolished”].

1084 D54/74.1.14 David Chandler, Brother Number One, EN 00393010 [“In early 1973 Cambodian Communist troops attacked government units throughout the country to extend territorial control and to set their social programs in motion. [...] Measures adopted there included the introduction of cooperative farms, the forced movement of some of the population”]; D98/1.2.39 David Chandler, T. 19 Jul 2012, 11.18.34-11.23.39 confirming D54/74.1.14 David Chandler, Brother Number One, EN 00393014 [when CPK troops withdrew from Kampong Cham: “they rounded up several thousand local people to take with them”]; D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491424, KH 00063040 [describing cases of moving civilian populations out of urban areas: “The fighting in Banam in 1973. We took everyone in Banam Town, expelling the ethnic Vietnamese, the ethnic Chinese, the military, the police; we took everyone, drying up the people from the enemy. [...] We liberated Oudong in 1974. We pulled out all the people. [...] This is a very important strategic line: control the people and seize the people”].

1085 See, e.g., D54/74.1.12 Third Year Anniversary of the Organization of Peasant Cooperatives, 20 May 1976, EN 00636009, KH 00442208-10 [“the Party took measures to organize the people based on political consciousness in view of thwarting the economic power of land owners and capitalists”], EN 00636011, KH 00442216 [“Before the Party had organized the cooperatives country-wide, we had still not owned the economy in our liberated zones. The feudal-land owner and capitalist classes owned it; [...] The organization of the cooperatives had abolished an economy run by land owners and capitalists”], EN 00636015, KH 00442217 [“Through the peasant cooperatives, the Party not only attacked and demolished the feudal-land owner class, the Party also attacked capitalists in cities and rich peasants in rural areas. Feudal land-owners, rich peasants and the like were attacked and smashed”], EN 00636037, KH 00442241 [“The Party’s stance in the past, at present and in future is to eliminate absolutely all forms of private ownership”]; D4.1.886 Revolutionary Flag, Sep-Oct 1976, EN 00450511, KH 00063072 [“only by organizing cooperatives could we gain control of the economy [...] Actually, cooperatives are socialist in nature; they are socialist revolution. [...] When we made socialist revolution, we strengthened and expanded the collective regime and were able to entirely eradicate private ownership and the capitalist regime”]; D4.1.861 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00401478-84, KH 00063313-20.

1086 See, e.g., D4.1.195 Nuon Chea, Statement of the Communist Party of Kampuchea to the Communist Workers’ Party of Denmark, 30 Jul 1978, EN 00017002, KH 00224474 [“Immediately after liberation, we evacuated the cities. The CIA, KGB and Vietnamese agents there left for the countryside and were unable to implement the plan. [...] We have to continue to build and to defend our party, and our leadership, and to apprehend the people who have infiltrated our party”]; D4.1.37 DK Document Number 6: Follow-up of implementation of the political line in mobilizing the National Democratic Front Forces of the Party, 22 Sep 1975, EN 00244276, KH 00072404 [“The new worker forces that will join the cooperative from tomorrow shall be strengthened and expanded. Their spiritual and political trends shall be closely monitored”]; D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1978, EN 00428291-97, KH 00064487-95 [see article entitled “Pay Attention to Sweeping Out the Concealed Enemy Boring From Within Even More Absolutely Cleanly”]; D114/36.1.5 FBIS, Founding of Peasants’ Cooperatives Hailed, 19 May 1976, EN 00168018 [“This seething move to set up cooperatives throughout the country [...] allowed us to attack the enemy comprehensively and more vigorously than ever before -- militarily, politically, economically, socially and culturally. In brief, it allowed us to attack the enemy repeatedly, continuously and powerfully, in all fields, on all battlefronts throughout the nation, both at the front line and in the rear”]; D64.1.42 FBIS, Peasants Determined to Defend, Develop Country, 26 Feb 1978, EN 00169870 [“our cooperative peasants’ firm objective perception of independence, sovereignty and self-reliance is superior to [...] obstacles created by the enemies of all stripes, particularly the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese enemy, who are trying to hinder and obstruct our national construction efforts”]; D64.1.35 FBIS, Resolution Adopted, 15 Apr 1978, EN 00168819-20 [“we the representatives of all union workers, cooperative peasants and the three categories of the Revolutionary Army from all regions, sectors and districts throughout the country -- wish to voice our solemn pledge [...] To resolutely exterminate all agents of the expansionist, annexationist Vietnamese aggressors from our units and from Cambodian territory forever [...] To resolutely exterminate all CIA agents from our units and Cambodian territory forever”].

1087 See, e.g., D4.1.885 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1976, EN 00486746, KH 00063277 [“We fundamentally rely upon agriculture to get the agriculture capital to strengthen and expand industry [...] With [the revolutionary forces of the Party and the people] we are able to quickly transform our agriculture”]; D1.3.27.4 Statement of the Representative for Industrial Workers at the Opening of First Conference of the First Legislature of the People’s Representative Assembly of Kampuchea, 11-13 Apr 1976, EN 00184057, KH 00053618 [Resolution 3: “Resolved! To join in solidarity with all workers in order to go on the offensive to produce tools, machines and various materials, strongly, closely, in order to serve agricultural products and serve the livelihood of the people!”], Draft Decision of The First Conference of the First Legislature of the People’s Representative Assembly of Kampuchea, 13 Apr 1976, EN 00184070, KH 00053636 [Policy direction 3: “Further strengthen and expand the force of great national solidarity and the entire people to be on the offensive on every battlefield of production in every sector, especially in agriculture, aiming to produce the maximum amount of rice to solve and raise the livelihood of the people ever higher and ever faster, and along with this to push the building of our country even faster in a great and miraculous leap”]; D4.1.632 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00143489, KH 00143495 [“A number of specific discussions related to the offensive to achieve three tons per hectare in the strategy of 100 percent self-support and 30 percent support of Angkar”]; D4.1.38 CPK document, The Party’s Four-Year Plan to Build Socialism in All Fields, 1977-1980, as published in David Chandler et al., Pol Pot Plans the Future, EN 00104023, KH 00075827 [“Objectives: [...] To seek, gather, save, and increase capital from agriculture, aiming to rapidly expand our agriculture, our industry, and our defense rapidly”]; D4.1.871 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1978, EN 00488636, KH 00064615 [“In summary, we want to build our country very quickly, to build agriculture very quickly”]; D4.1.579 Telegram 04 from Central Zone Secretary Ke Pauk to Pol Pot, 2 Apr 1976, EN 00182658, KH 00000766 [“brother and sisters throughout the Zone, both young and old, are vigorously on the offensive building the new rice field dike system according to the goals set by Angkar”]; D1.3.27.4 Information Announcement of the First Conference of the First Legislature of the People’s Representative Assembly of Kampuchea, 14 Apr 1976, EN 00184076, KH 00053644 [“The Assembly approved unanimously the policy direction inside and outside the country so that it may be implemented [...] as follows: [...] Further strengthen and expand the force of great national solidarity and the entire people to be on the offensive on every battlefield of production in every sector, especially in agriculture, aiming to produce the maximum amount of rice to solve and raise the livelihood of the people ever higher and ever faster, and along with this to push the building of our country even faster in a great and miraculous leap”].

1088 See, e.g., in Phnom Penh: D98/3.1.250 Sar Kimlomouth, T. 4 Jun 2012, 13.43.14-13.44.51 [“I was told to move to a cooperative near the vicinity of Phnom Penh near Stung Meanchey area”]; the Old North/Central Zone: D98/3.1.280 Suon Kanil, T. 17 Dec 2012, 10.17.23-10.19.55 [“this 1st of January Dam is located at the Kampong Thma, which is in Baray district. The workers were brought in from various places. A lot of people were transferred to that worksite and they were placed in different cooperative[s]”]; D4.1.828 Suon Kanil alias Neang WRI, EN 00390076, KH 00373509 [“Southwest forces [took] control of the committees from the Sector down to the cooperative. [...] At that time the Southwest Zone forces took over about 90% of the Central Zone [leadership]”]; the Southwest Zone: D98/3.1.208 Pech Chim, T. 1 Jul 2013, 10.52.51-10.54.22 [“Q: On the 17th of April 1975, what position did you hold within District 105? A: I was [...] a member of the district committee, and I received people [...] from Phnom Penh for them to settle in the cooperative”], 13.38.08-13.40.32 [“There was a meeting at Popel commune [...] to receive those evacuees [...] And after we organized the cooperatives, we placed them in the cooperatives”]; D98/3.1.200 Ong Thong Hoeung, T. 9 Aug 2012, 11.29.14-11.31.12 [confirming that Ieng Sary said: “last week in Chhouk in Kampot province, I questioned the members of the cooperatives to know if they do indeed [...] have three meals a day”]; D98/3.1.250 Sar Kimlomouth, T. 4 Jun 2012, 13.41.47-13.43.14 [“Q: You said yesterday that you and your family were evacuated to a cooperative in Kien Svay. [...] A: Only a few weeks later, they formed the cooperative and we requested to stay in that cooperative”]; the West Zone: D98/1.2.17 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 21 Mar 2012, 09.33.14-09.35.35 [“Cooperatives were established at Peam Commune, Kampong Tralach District, Kampong Chhnang, and also in [...] Amleang Commune, Kampong Speu”]; D98/3.1.121 Khiev En, T. 1 Oct 2012, 09.32.14-09.34.26 [in Kampong Leang District: “I also saw the newcomers coming in my village as well and I learned from others that those people [were] evacuated from the provincial town to my district”, 09.38.32-09.40.50 [“There were cooperatives in the communes, so those new evacuees were admitted to those cooperatives”]; D54/18 Nou Saroeun alias Mea WRI, A11 [“That cooperative was located in Ream Commune, which is now Bet Trang Commune”]; D1.3.13.11 Sieng OCP Statement, EN 00217566 [“There were co-operatives at Ream which housed the wives and children of members of Division 164 along with army staff and ordinary people. There were thousands of people in the co-operatives”]; D1.3.13.8 Pen Sarin OCP Statement, EN 00217561 [“There were two co-operatives at Ream for the wives and children of the soldiers and workers. [...] [Pen Sarin] did not know the total number of persons in the co-operative, however there were between 50 and 100 April 17 people there. [...] The co-operative in Sihanoukville was in the current office of communications”]; the Northwest Zone: D11/160/4.1 Chau Ny, T. 23 Nov 2012, 12.01.27-12.05.15 [“When we got to Moung Ruessei district and when we got off the train, we were already [...] awaited by some people on some oxcarts where we would be taken to some cooperatives. [...] it was Ta Heuy cooperative [...] located in Chak Thum in the Moung Ruessei area of Battambang”]; D98/3.1.138 Lay Bony, T. 24 Oct 2012, 09.14.09-09.18.06 [“Q: At the cooperative at Pursat province, did you have enough food -- or was the food plentiful as they said? A: [...] from the beginning when I left Phnom Penh [...] whenever the rice transplant season came, it was the most difficult time concerning food. [...] At the Kaoh Chum Cooperative, [...] We were made to form groups, eating communally, like four cans of rice for a few people. And people would be tasked with working at different locations”]; the Northeast Zone: D98/3.1.131 Klan Fit, T. 6 Dec 2011, 15.48.31-15.51.22 [in Ta Lao Commune, Bar Keo District: “when I was appointed as the sub-district chief in 1976 there were cooperatives”]; D98/3.1.222 Rochoem Ton alias Phy Phuon, T. 31 July 2012, 11.33.35, 11.53.25; D98/1.2.32 Sao Sarun, T. 6 Jun 2012, 09.20.09-09.23.01 [“Q. In Mondulkiri province, when was the first time that cooperatives were created? A. It was around 1977”]; the East Zone: D98/1.2.29 Saut Toeung, T. 19 Apr 2012, 11.28.39-11.31.01 [“Q: Yesterday, you indicated that you escorted Nuon Chea to Battambang, Kampong Chhnang, Kampong Speu and the East Zone; [...] When you were on the trip with Nuon Chea to each area, what was your impression on the actual situation? A: I witnessed people transplant rice in the cooperatives”, 11.35.28 [“he met with many cooperative heads”]; D98/3.1.199 Ong Thong Hoeung, T. 8 Aug 2012, 15.52.37-15.55.55 [“we were taken to the Thai-Cambodian border. [...] we were instructed to walk on foot and to live in the cooperatives. So we were dispersed into various cooperatives. It was near the railway track in Romeas Haek”]; and the Kratie Special Sector (S05): D98/3.1.316 Yun Kim, T. 19 Jun 2012, 09.26.50-09.30.34 [“in 1973, Nuon Chea went to convene a meeting in Dar commune in Kratie district, and all the commune chiefs were gathered -- that is, all the commune chief of the Kratie province. [...] He told the meeting participants to implement the establishment of the cooperatives [...] he stated that the current situation in Cambodia due to the war-torn situation, due to the lack of instruments and tools, we should gather to collect the forces in the mutual assistance groups and the cooperatives so that we could survive”].

1089

See, e.g., D98/3.1.10 Bou Thon, T. 12 Aug 2009, 13.46.04-13.47.51 [“They had me farm wet and dry season rice at Boeng Bayap near Tuol Kok”]; D98/3.1.90 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 9 Jun 2009, 9.32.11-9.33.56 [“all the novice monks were evacuated to the countryside and they were forced to do farming”]; D98/3.1.138 Lay Bony, T. 24 Oct 2012, 09.39.21-09.41.35 [in Pursat Province, Northwest Zone: “At Kaoh Chum Cooperative, we were put into different groups [...] we had to work very hard; we did nothing but concentrate on farming”]; D10.1.60 Denise Affonco WRI, EN 00346934-35, KH 00349116-17 [“I knew that I was in the North West region [...] We began by clearing the land. Then we worked in the rice fields and milled rice. When there was no more work to be done on the farms, we were asked to build dykes and irrigate the paddies”]; D4.1.387 Pen Heng WRI, EN 00163697, KH 00163690 [at Prey Sar: “They had me work the rice fields, and working the rice fields was very hard work there. In the morning we began work at 4 on until 11 or 12 noon, when they had us eat. There was no rest after lunch; we continued working until 5 before stopping to eat. After the evening meal, they had us help pull seedlings for transplanting or carry soil to make ponds until 11 or 12 at night”]; D114/242 Prak Buny WRI, A9, 50-51 [“In 1975, I was 12 years old. I was gathered to work at a coconut plantation in Ream with many other children. [...] A50: We were sent to pick coconuts and then we were assigned to farm paddy with the youths. Q: Where were you sent to farm paddy? A51: I was sent to work near Kang Keng airfield”]; D4.1.817 Bun Thien WRI, EN 00384401, KH 00368603 [in Takeo Province, Southwest Zone: “they were assigned to work in various areas such as the farming unit; the canal-digging unit; the rice field workers unit”]; D114/260 Sorn Soth WRI, A40 [“After being removed from Koh Tang Island, I was assigned to farm rice throughout that period. [...] I farmed rice until 1979”]; D114/33 Hem Ang WRI, A17, 49 [“It was in 1976 that [my battalion was] demobilised from the military and assigned to work in different cooperatives with the civilians. They told us that our leaders were traitors [...] A49: [...] we were assigned to work in a group of six members, and we had to cut one hectare of grass per day”].

1090 See, e.g., D114/163 Chea Tha WRI, A19-20 [in a children’s unit at a salt farm in Kampot Province: “It was at the end of 1975. I was assigned to carry salt, dig salt and dig canals until my hands and legs were covered with wounds and bruises. [...] A20: [...] There were thousands of people”]; D114/162 Cheam Nha WRI, A44 [“Q: Could you please tell us how many workers there were at the salt farm? [...] A44: There were many people. There were probably hundreds of them. The workers there were mainly women. There were a few men. There were no soldiers, except women combatants”]; D4.1.538 Chum Lorn WRI, EN 00250066, KH 00241998 [in Kampong Kandal: “There were thousands of workers, all of whom were women. There were a few men in charge of the water pumps. Each unit had only one man. [...] At night, we carried salt from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m.; each team had to carry three tons, and if any of the workers did not come to work, the unit chief would go look for them at the places where they slept. The work of carrying salt had to be completed as designated before we could rest; we carried [salt] day and night”]; D4.1.561 Kem Nha WRI, EN 00282320, KH 00271423 [“Q: How many workers were at the Kampong Kandal salt fields? A: There were many, thousands, mostly women; there were also male workers, who were in charge of water pumps. [...] We worked seasonally. There was night-and-day work when there was a lot of salt to be harvested. During January and February, the work was night-and-day, without rest”]; D4.1.549 Ching Phoeun alias Uon Saroeun WRI, EN 00705442-43, KH 00251667-68 [at Traey Koh salt farm: “When it was about to rain and more salt accumulated, they had us work three days and nights in a row without any rest. [...] Q: How many workers were there at Traey Koh? A: I could not estimate the number. But there were three battalions [...]. There were three 100-member units [companies] in one battalion”].

1091 See, e.g., D234/2.1.17 Strengthening and Consolidating the Analysis of all Situations and Problems Based on the Stance of the Party’s Proletariat Class, EN 00716395-96, KH 00441897 [“Look at every zone, and in each working field, tens of thousands of our low and medium class peasants are working hard and happily to build millions of cubic meters of water basins, tens of kilometres of ditches and dams, and so on”]; D4.1.877 Revolutionary Youth, Jun 1976, EN 00583790, KH 00064081 [“our cooperatives went on offensives to put up dams, dig feeder canals, dig ponds, and dig many densely-located reservoirs to sort out the water issue to increase production”]; D4.1.989 Chea Sim Interview by Ben Kiernan, 3 Dec 1991, EN 00419370, KH 00713925-26 [“In 1976, start[ed] to build irrigation dams and canals throughout the country. This was a big offensive, concerted, simultaneous and nationwide”]; D64.1.27 FBIS, Lao Delegation Leader’s Speech, 4 May 1977, EN 00168124, KH 00679833 [“Wherever we went we saw tens of thousands of Cambodian sisters and people enthusiastically taking part in the great movement to build field embankment networks and dams and dig canals, ditches and medium-sized and large reservoirs, such as the ‘1 April’ reservoir and the ‘1 January’ dam”]; D11/255/3.1 Hun Sethany, T. 27 May 2015, 09.20.15-09.23.04 [at the 1 January Dam worksite: “there were tens of thousands of workers from the three sectors working at that construction site”]; D4.1.520 Ke Pich Vannak WRI, EN 00346149-50, KH 00340563 [the witness, Ke Pauk’s son, recalled: “The three Sector [secretaries] were in charge of gathering forces to build the 1st January Dam. According to the plan, each Sector had to send ten thousand people to join”]; D4.1.565 Saom Phan WRI, EN 00290358, KH 00279105 [“Tens of thousands of people participated in the construction of Trapeang Thma Dam. These people came from five districts: Phnom Srok District, Preah Neth Preah District, Serei Saophoan, Svay Chek, and Thma Puok. These five districts belonged to Sector 5 in the Northwest Zone”]; D114/240 Phin Venh WRI, A11, 16 [“they sent the children there to build the dam [...] A16: This dam was two kilometres long, and there were a lot of people who were working there, including children”]; D11/387 Sam Vuthy CPA, EN 01210491, KH 00991864 [“Comrade Lun forced all youths to dig a canal to generate water for dry season farming in the lower areas at Bet Trang Dam”].

1092 See, e.g., D1.3.27.1 Standing Committee Minutes, 9 Oct 1975, EN 00183401, KH 00019118 and EN 00183407, KH 00019125 [“As for the military airfields, we have plans to build at different sites”]; D4.1.508 Chan Man alias Chuop Sokhon WRI, EN 00292822-23, KH 00287526-27 [“In the rainy season in mid 1976, Lvey assigned me to supervise the airport construction at Kraing Leav of Kampong Chhnang province. [...] I saw tens of thousands of male and female military workers at the construction site”]; D4.1.1147 Kev Leou alias Kev Sophal WRI, EN 00205074, KH 00170620 [“My unit had just 400 persons remaining at that time, when they took [us] for tempering at Kampong Chhnang. There were other units as well, like the 450th Division [...] At meetings they said we had to be tempered because our leaders had been traitors”]; D4.1.511 Sem Hoeun WRI, EN 00290517, KH 00287558-59 [“Most of [the workers at the Kampong Chhnang airport] came from the Northern and Eastern Zones, for they were linked to political disloyalty. They were sent there to be tempered”]; D4.1.454 Koy Mon WRI, EN 00272717, KH 00195438 [“I was sent from Prey Sar to Kampong [Chhnang] in late 1977. They sent all soldiers from the subordinate zones of the central [committee]. They had us break the stone to construct the airport [...] After working there for about half month, I met a friend named Poen who was a commander of Division 502. [...] Poen secretly told me that we were affiliated with political tendency”]; D1.3.13.7 Pech Dari alias Ri OCP Statement, EN 00207715, KH 00657415 [“Division 502 was used to supervise ‘elements’ removed from other units that were sent to construct the Kampong Chhnang military airfield”]; D1.3.32.39 Sem Hoeun alias Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00876493-94, KH 00020576 [“At the end of 1976, I was sent to Kampong Chhnang. [...] I was sent there to build the Kampong Chhnang Airport. [...] In there we were forced to work without any proper rest because all of us had a traitorous political tendency”], EN 00876511-12, KH 00020591 [“They were sent from various zones and provinces. For example, accused people from the East Zone and Siem Reap were sent to that [Kampong Chhnang] correction camp. [...] Q: Were there many workers at the worksite? A: Yes, there were so many of them. There were about the content of three Divisions. It was so crowded. There were many thousands of them. Units full of them were working at different places at the worksite”]; D1.3.32.46 Som Sokhan DC-Cam Statement, EN 00874608, KH 00053992-93 [“we were accused of being traitors; therefore, we were sent to construct an airport in Kampong Chhnang. At that time, the alleged traitors were sent to construct that airport”], EN 00874633, KH 00054015-16 [“Q: According to your estimate, how many troops were there working at the Kampong Chhnang Airport worksite? A: I heard that there were 27,000 of them”]; D1.3.32.27 Leng Kim alias Kung Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00633899, KH 00054864 [“They took us to work at the [Kampong Chhnang] Airport because we had a tendency and our leaders were the traitors. [...] The leaders might be all imprisoned, but the rank and file troops were taken there. After we arrived there, we were organized into groups and cooperatives”].

1093

See, e.g., D2/7 Pen Sarin WRI, A10 [at the road construction site from Stung Hav to Kampong Som: “The construction of that road completed in 1976. I was a foreman there. The work was hard, but we had to endure it. We worked under rain and in the night from 9pm to 12am. They used the generator to illuminate the worksite. This road was 13 kilometers long. [...] It took six months to complete the construction of that road”]; D114/215 Meas Im WRI, A70 [“The first technical task was to construct the road from the oil factory to Stueng Hav. Second, was constructing the up-and-down road(s) in Stueng Hav Worksite and levelling things from the foot of the mountain to Stueng Hav beach to make it flat”]; D54/12 Pres Mean WRI, A13-14, 22 [“In late 1977, my biography was investigated, and they discovered that it was not good. So they seized my gun, removed me from the fishing unit, and had me be a worker carrying rocks. [...] A14: There was an order from a commander to send me and approximately 20 other soldiers to Stueng Hav. [...] A22: Each worker was required to dig a one-meter-deep hole in which explosives was put in and exploded to break rock. It wasn’t until 1977 or 1978 that China brought rock-drilling machines to Cambodia. They exploded rock after 5 p.m. and the next morning, they ordered the workers to carry rocks to be loaded on to trucks for transport and dumping to construct the harbour”]; D54/77 Uy Nhik WRI, A17, 23-24, 45 [“I was in the artillery unit until around late 1977, when the artillery unit was dissolved, and they sent me to work at a rock-breaking site to build a port at Stueng Hav. [...] A23: At that time, they transferred around 80% of the former soldiers of Battalion 386 from Sector 37 to work at a rock-breaking site at Stueng Hav because those soldiers were accused of being ‘no-good elements’. [...] A24: They accused people in Sector 37 of being ‘no-good elements’ because that area had been organised by Vietnam since 1970. Thus they accused us of having connections with the Vietnamese. [...] A45: Eighty percent of those transferred from Battalion 386 worked at the port dike”]; D54/105 Ek Ni WRI, A17 [“Then I was sent to work at Stueng Hav to break rock to be used for construction of Tumnob Rolok Dyke and a port for combat ships. They did not want to keep combat ships at civilian ports”]; D114/86 Chet Bunna WRI, A19 [“The port was called Tumnub Rolork, situated at Stung Hav. At the time I was sent there, all the workers at Stung Hav were assigned to break rocks at the quarries. In their plan, they planned to use those rocks to build a secret port where they could repair ships and keep weapons and ammunition”]; D114/104 Iem Phong WRI, A39 [“Later they demobilised me and gave me a machete to cut down trees for building houses, and they had me break rocks for building a port in Stueng Hav with the Chinese”].

1094

See, e.g., D4.1.877 Revolutionary Youth, Jun 1976, EN 00583811, KH 00064110 [“brothers and sisters in the mobile units have gone down to help the various cooperatives, especially to plow, harrow and transplant at any cooperatives that already have sufficient water or have enough seedlings to transplant”]; D4.1.653 Revolutionary Flag, Jun 1977, EN 00446863, KH 00062811 [“Our mobile units can be assigned anywhere to

- build reservoirs, plant potatoes, bananas, etc.”]; D10.1.59 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1977, EN 00399238, KH 00062967 [photo caption: “A Mobile Youth Unit of the Kampong Chhnang Sector on the offensive clearing grass in a potato farm south of Phnom Santouch”]; D4.1.894 Revolutionary Youth, Nov 1978, EN 00524167, KH 00376514 [“the youth in our mobile production units must go on the offensive to increase production of every kind, in particular to increase the production of rice constantly and mightily to get the greatest yields to achieve the annual plan of the Party completely successfully and to even go beyond that”].
- 1095 See, e.g., D4.1.37 DK Document Number 6: Follow-up of implementation of the political line in mobilizing the National Democratic Front Forces of the Party, 22 Sep 1975, EN 00244276-77, KH 00072406-07; D4.1.872 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1975, EN 00495826-27, KH 00063269; D1.3.24.2 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1976, EN 00268923-24, KH 00062917-18; D4.1.865 Revolutionary Flag, Oct-Nov 1977, EN 00182594, KH 00064822-23.
- 1096 See, e.g., D4.1.37 DK Document Number 6: Follow-up of implementation of the political line in mobilizing the National Democratic Front Forces of the Party, 22 Sep 1975, EN 00244276-77, KH 00072406-07 [discussing how to strengthen and expand new worker forces in the cooperatives, including organising livelihood meetings and training programs]; D4.1.904 The Building of the Ranks of Cadres: Party Directive, 20 Apr 1978 EN S 00010081-82, KH S 00658260-64 [instructing that new forces should be brought into each Party echelon, selected from the basic class and then assigned clearly-defined jobs in the cooperatives]. See also directives on the 3 ton per hectare policy: D1.3.19.1 Decision of the Central Committee Regarding a Number of Matters, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809, KH 00003136; D4.1.227 Telegram 254 from North Zone Secretary Se to Committee 870, EN 00182758, KH 00001061-62; D4.1.612 Telegram Number 324 From North Zone Secretary Se to Committee 870, 10 Apr 1978, EN 00340542, KH 00296230-31.
- 1097 See, e.g., D4.1.65 Minutes on the Standing [Committee’s] Visit to [North]west Zone, 20-24 Aug 1975, EN 00183001, KH 00008489 [“Collectives must be further strengthened and expanded”], EN 00183002-03, KH 00008490-91 [“Actual measures: [...] Pay more attention to collectives, both old and new compositions. Get districts and sub-districts informed and educate collectives on politics, consciousness and assignment. [...] The party direction is to diversify crops and build up the country. Work force must be allocated to those who have free land to plant and diversify crops”]; D4.1.93 Standing Committee Minutes, 22 Feb 1976, EN 00182546, KH 00000711 [“The opinions and instructions of Angkar: 1. Salt production: Propose pushing additional [production] from 50,000 to 60,000 tons”]; D4.1.817 Bun Thien WRI, EN 00384406-07 [“The sector-level meeting [at Phnom Kheng] was an annual meeting concluding the work done, with the presence of all commune secretaries, deputies and members. [...] The meeting was about politics, military, economics, social affairs, and culture [...] We were told to do both raining season farming and dry season farming. Q: Had you ever been told to implement a plan that required you to produce three tons of rice per hectare? A: Yes, I had, but not only to produce three tons of rice but to produce up to five tons. At that time, the plan was to farm rice in checked pattern in which there were dikes and double dikes to carry water”]; D4.1.521 Tep Poch WRI, EN 00351701, KH 00348840 [in S’Ang District: “I attended meetings with the district committee. The meetings were about the production of three tons of rice per hectare; and the people had to implement”], EN 00351703, KH 00348842 [“Q: At Baray District, did you ever attend meetings? A: I was invited to a meeting once. It was held in Chamkar Leu District of Kampong Cham. Oeun (Sector Secretary) chaired the meeting. At the meeting, the upper echelons set out plans for us to produce rice”]; D4.1.508 Chan Man alias Chuop Sokhon WRI, EN 00292825, KH 00287530 [“Q: What kinds of meetings were held at Kraing Leav airport construction site [in Kampong Chhnang]? [...] A: They held a weekly meeting [...] about construction plan and attended by chiefs of different units at the construction site. Then the chiefs disseminated and enforced those decisions in their groups”].
- 1098 See, e.g., D4.1.882 Revolutionary Flag, Feb-Mar 1976, EN 00517837, KH 00063219 [“According to the Party’s 1976 decision, our cooperatives must go on the offensive to increase production to get three tons per hectare on the average and in general, for one thing to sort out the livelihood of the people, but moreover to get the resources to defend and build the country quickly at great magnificent leap speed”], EN 00517840, KH 00063224 [“It is imperative to grasp the labor force in each cooperative tightly in hand”], EN 00517841, KH 00063225 [“When one cooperative has a lot of seedlings and cannot transplant them all or cannot transplant them in time, it is imperative to look at distributing them to other cooperatives that lack seedlings and not leave them to rot or leave them until they get old and damaged in the seedbeds before calling others”]; D4.1.862 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1977, EN 00478498, KH 00062987 [“In tandem with this, other units in frameworks throughout the country whether Zone, Sector, district, cooperative, military units, ministries, or offices must go on offensives to follow the patterns of the progressive units in order to achieve the entire 1977 Plan and even surpass the plan”]; D4.1.653 Revolutionary Flag, Jun 1977, EN 00446867, KH 00062816 [“So then it is imperative to make assessments: each ministry, each office, each worksite, each cooperative must move whatever manpower they can to increasing production. Do not scatter manpower”]; D4.1.867 Revolutionary Flag, Mar 1978, EN 00504079, KH 00064463 [“in each cooperative it is imperative to prepare a better organizational system in every field, in rice farming and in the cultivation of other crops, handicrafts, steel handicrafts, textile handicrafts, hospitals, medicine production sites, infant-care locations, child-care locations. We must better organize them”]; D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1978, EN 00428304-05, KH 00064503-04 [eliminating the classification of candidate and depositors in the cooperatives – now everyone is a full-rights member – and setting out characteristics to consider during the selection of cooperative committees].

1099 See, e.g., D64.1.25 FBIS, Need for Comprehensive Frugality Stressed, 15 Jan 1976, EN 00167833 [discussing the necessity of economising in every cooperative and revolutionary organisation], Radio Stresses Importance of Seed Selection, 21 Jan 1976, EN 00167846-47; D64.1.30 FBIS, Radio Comments on 1976 Results and 1977 Tasks, 27 Jan 1977, EN 00168403 [“From the start of 1976 and throughout the year, our brothers and sisters worked day and night in the drive to build irrigation canals, dikes and new field embankment networks in their attempt to solve the water supply problem for rice growing. [...] Those are the most brilliant examples that we admire and must try to emulate”], Radio Comments on '77 Political, Agricultural Tasks, 20 Feb 1977, EN 00168429 [“Our political tasks in 1977 consist of carrying on the offensive to defend and build our country and lead it toward progress by leaps and bounds by adhering to the main base – agriculture. [...] Our main task in 1977 is therefore to increase rice producing many times”]; D64.1.44 FBIS, Plans for Development of Advanced Cooperatives by 1980, 26 Oct 1978, EN 00170069.

1100 See, e.g., D98/1.2.39 David Chandler, T. 19 Jul 2012, 13.53.36–13.56.22 [“Q: Are you able to expand on this aphorism ‘keeping you is no gain, losing you is no loss’ -- how that was applied, if it was applied, and what effect, if any, it had in practice? A: The effect that it had in practice was to scare the people to whom it was directed, and this was the purpose of it. It was quoted so often [...] it rang in their ears: You are worthless, but if you want to survive, just work extremely hard, and we’ll decide from day to day what happens to you. It’s a terrifying slogan and [...] it was very, very widespread”]; D1.3.33.12 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch WRI, EN 00204293, KH 00187662-63 [“‘Better arrest ten people by mistake than free one wrongly.’ It was a legitimate accusation of my people, who suffered considerably from constant brutal arrests. Son Sen, and perhaps other Khmer Rouge leaders as well, used a phrase, ‘No gain in keeping, no loss in weeding out’”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A117 [“Sick people who could not work were taken to be killed. The slogan was ‘To keep you is no gain. To remove you is no loss!’”].

1101 D4.1.965 Meng-Try Ea and Sopheak Locung, Note takings (Khieu Samphan and Nuon Chea), 9-11 Jun 2006, EN 00000928, KH 00347036 [“In the cooperative people were not free but they had enough food to eat”]; D4.1.37 DK Document Number 6: Follow-up of implementation of the political line in mobilizing the National Democratic Front Forces of the Party, 22 Sep 1975, EN 00244276, KH 00072404 [“they have become the workers. [...] We can make every decision on what we want them to be. [...] they are under our organized control. Even Sihanouk does not enjoy full freedom”]; D69.1.42 Khieu Samphan, Considerations on the History of Cambodia from the Early Stage to the Period of Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00498302-03, KH 00380498-99 [“since the cooperatives had been first organized in 1971, the CPK had been able to [...] control the people [...] So then, some coercion was required for a while, coercion to work in a situation of lacking everything”].

1102 The Party’s “Four-Year Plan” called for producing 5.5 million tons of rice in 1977, 6.25 million tons in 1978, and 7 million tons in 1979, roughly tripling the average annual production of the 1960s. See D4.1.38 CPK document, The Party’s Four-Year Plan to Build Socialism in All Fields, 1977-1980, as published in David Chandler et al., Pol Pot Plans the Future, EN 00104025, KH 00075831-32; D1.3.17.2 Craig Etcheson, The Rise and Demise of Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00393208. Regarding the push to produce the high quotas, see: D4.1.875 Revolutionary Youth, Feb 1976, EN 00583759, KH 00063807 [“do everything so that our rice yields are not just three tons per hectare, but 4-5-6-7-8 tons per hectare. Working like this is what is called going on the offensive at great leap speed”]; D1.3.19.1 Decision of the Central Committee Regarding a Number of Matters, 30 Mar 1976, EN 00182809, KH 00003136 [“Objective [2]: To follow-up on plans closely and resolve problems in a timely manner in the goal of three tons per hectare”]; D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions, Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Regiments, 2 Aug 1976, EN 00656576-77, KH 00052358-59 [addresses strategies to achieve the 3 ton per hectare policy]; D1.3.27.11 DK Military Meeting Minutes,

- Minutes of the Meeting of the Committees Attached to Divisions and Independent Regiments*, 12 Aug 1976, EN 00183962, KH 00052362 [“2. Shortcomings: [...] The achievement of three tonnes per hectare of heavy paddy on Number One and Number Two Category soils is also not yet guaranteed”]; D4.1.78 Standing Committee Minutes, Minutes of Meeting on Health and Social Affairs, 10 Jun 1976, EN 00183369, KH 00017155 [the Party leadership reiterated that unless three tonnes per hectare were achieved, the Party would not be able to feed the people or defend the country]; D4.1.883 Revolutionary Flag, Apr 1976, EN 00517866-68, KH 00062766 [describes the struggle to reach the Party’s objective regarding paddy dike system goals, which started off slow because “we were building them too large, too beautiful, and had grasped the direction wrongly”; therefore, manpower was organized for maximum efficiency and leaders were directed to retain the water so that not one drop of water flows to the rivers; discusses the objective to accomplish three tons per hectare, making fertilizer and finding seeds to produce the highest yields while dealing with the shortage of hoes, hatchets, and “everything”]; D1.3.24.1 Revolutionary Youth, May 1976, EN 00357870-72, KH 00064005-09 [describes CPK’s objective for 1976 as to increase production of paddy to get three tons per hectare on the average and throughout Kampuchea and its relevance for the Party]; D4.1.921 DK Document Number 3: Examination of control and implementation of the policy line on restoring the economy and preparations to build the country in every sector, Sep 1975, EN 00523569, KH 00072367 and EN 00523574-75, KH 00072374-75 [acknowledges that they must “quickly prepare to transform from backward agriculture to modern within 10 to 15 years [...] we see that as being very fast [...] In 1977 we must ensure three tons per hectare. In North Vietnam they say that it will be another 40 years before they have water 100 percent mastered. In comparison to us, they take 30 years; we will solve it in ten. [...] Their harvest methods are [too slow]. [...] Estimates are that we may be able to sell two million tons of rice during 1977-1980, even more”].
- 1103 D234/2.1.33 Phnom Penh Rally Marks 17th April Anniversary, 16 Apr 1978, EN S 00010564 [Khieu Samphan told 20,000 workers and military forces to “strive for the fulfilment of the 1978 rice production plan by attaining the 3.5 ton-per-hectare and 7-ton-per-hectare targets at all costs”]. See also D4.1.45 Revolutionary Youth, Jan-Feb 1978, EN 00278727, KH 00063511 [“We must dare to sacrifice everything, no matter how much manpower is required, no matter how much ideological sacrifice is required, whether or not lives are lost in the labor”].
- 1104 See, e.g., D4.1.65 Minutes on the Standing [Committee’s] Visit to [North]west Zone, 20-24 Aug 1975, EN 00183001, KH 00008489 [“Collectives have pushed all new people out of cities especially the city of Phnom Penh and Battambang in Northwest Zone. Hundreds of thousands in Battambang have all kinds of bad composition. Collectives, however, have absorbed all of them, providing them food and arrang[ing] work for them to do”]; D69.1.42 Khieu Samphan, Considerations on the History of Cambodia, 2007, EN 00498281, KH 00380460-61 [Khieu Samphan acknowledges the rapid expansion of high-level cooperatives]; D4.1.882 Revolutionary Flag, Feb-Mar 1976, EN 00517828, KH 00063207-08 [“After the liberation of the entire country, immediately after the tens of thousands and hundreds of thousands of new evacuees from the various cities went to the rural base areas”], EN 00517837, KH 00063220 [“the nearly 3,000,000 people in the various cities were relocated to live and to increase production in the countryside”]; D4.1.784 Pech Chim WRI, EN 00379308, KH 00373392 [“There were so many people who were evacuated from Phnom Penh. They traveled on the road and stopped in any villages and communes they found along the road. So we had to gather them, organize and send them to different villages and communes”]; D4.1.587 Thiounn Prasith WRI, EN 00346944, KH 00348327 [“As for the displacement of people from towns, the [justifications were] the possible US bombings[,] also the need to fight the famine. More people were needed in the countryside for agricultural production”]; D4.1.447 Chak Muli WRI, EN 00288203, KH 00273429-30 [“Q: Did you know how many people were evacuated from the East Zone to Pursat Province? A: [I just] knew that there were thousands and hundreds thousands of people from the East Zone; but I did not know the actual number. [...] Upon their arrival, they were divided to the cooperatives”].
- 1105 See, e.g., D98/3.1.138 Lay Bony, T. 24 Oct 2012, 09.32.17-09.34.54 [“I [was] made to live in a private house assigned by the Khmer Rouge”]; D11/160/4.1 Or Ry, T. 23 Nov 2012, 09.19.38-09.20.51 [in Pursat Province, Northwest Zone: “They already built a long house for the families and we were put into one room”]; D4.1.816 Sao Hean WRI, A21 [in Takeo Province, Southwest Zone: “I saw there were many [17 April people] and that small thatch huts were built for them to live in one area”]; D114/33 Hem Ang WRI, A217 [in Cooperative 7, Sector 37: “I did not have any specific house. I was placed to live in one house for a few months. Then I was moved to live in another house for a few months”]; D4.1.552 Kev Ne WRI, EN 00327168, KH 00251678-79 [at the Kampong Kandal salt fields in Kampot Province, Southwest Zone: “They built long buildings for us to live in; they were surrounded by thatch walls. [...] Each unit of 50 had one long building to life in, and they slept in teams to make it easy for the team chiefs to inspect who went to work and who did not”].

1106 See, e.g., D4.1.965 Meng-Try Ea and Sopheak Loeung, Note takings (Khieu Samphan and Nuon Chea), 9-11 Jun 2006, EN 00000928, KH 00347036 [Khieu Samphan: “In the cooperative[s] people were not free”]; D11/61/3.1 Ry Pov, T. 12 Feb 2015, 11.02.28-11.03.24 [in Takeo Province, Southwest Zone: “At that time, when we were working at a worksite, even if we had to relieve ourselves, we had to inform our group chief or unit’s chief, to get their permission first. We had to tell them how long it would take. If we were longer than usual, then we were accused of having a psychological sickness”], 11.05.04-11.06.18 [“nobody dared to walk freely”]; D114/166 Phin Yeang WRI, A30 [“They did not allow us to walk freely. When we went anywhere, they chased us and brought us back”]; D114/33 Hem Ang WRI, A265, 267 [in Cooperative 7, Sector 37: “I did not go anywhere else as I knew that I did not have a right to move freely. [...] Q: Was it possible if you wanted to go outside the cooperative at night? A267: No. At night, we were not allowed to go anywhere”]; D114/53 Uk Sok WRI, A92 [in Kampong Som: “During that era, we dared not go any other places besides our designated place”].

1107 See, e.g., D114/162 Cheam Nha WRI, A43 [confirming that he told DC-Cam that the person in charge of the division set a production quota higher than the planned quota and that if anyone could not achieve the target quota they would be punished]; D10.1.65 Uk Phorn WRI, EN 00372930, KH 00368659 [“Upper-echelon set the quotas. Q: Did you lead the people to meet the quotas? A: Upper echelon did actually designate three tons, but we were unable to do that”]; D114/156 Soeng Noch WRI, A98 [“At the meetings they said, ‘Angkar has set a quota. Each person has to pick up 200 ripe coconut fruits per day.’ If we could not fulfil that quota, they would punish us by putting us to stand under the scorching sun or under the rain, or they would assign us to do hard labour”]; D4.1.560 Um Chi WRI, EN 00282347, KH 00271398 [“In digging the canal, they set a quota for each person to dig and carry 3 cubic meters of soil. Most people could not meet that quota; only about 30 percent could meet that quota”]; D4.1.549 Ching Phoeun alias Uon Saroeun WRI, EN 00705443, KH 00251668 [“A small ampok (field) with 10 meters wide and 20 meters long could produce about 2 to 3 tons of salt. They had us carry away all salt from the field within one day. If we could not finish it we had to work at night until we had finished”]; D4.1.538 Chum Lorn WRI, EN 00250066, KH 00241998 [“At night, we carried salt from 7 p.m. until 1 a.m.; each team had to carry three tons, and if any of the workers did not come to work, the unit chief would go look for them at the places where they slept. The work of carrying salt had to be completed as designated before we could rest; we carried [salt] day and night”]; D4.1.549 Ching Phoeun alias Uon Saroeun WRI, EN 00705442, KH 00251667 [“When it was about to rain and more salt accumulated, they had us work three days and nights in a row without any rest”]; D4.1.387 Pen Heng WRI, EN 00163697, KH 00163690 [“They had me work the rice fields, and working the rice fields was very hard work there. In the morning we began work at 4 on until 11 or 12 noon, when they had us eat. There was no rest after lunch; we continued working until 5 before stopping to eat. After the evening meal, they had us help pull seedlings for transplanting or carry soil to make ponds until 11 or 12 at night”]; D114/96 Cheng Laung WRI, A69 [“the people who worked at the dam construction worksite worked in hardship, for they had to work day and night”]; D114/198 Pin Sam Aun WRI, A152 [“We were not allowed to take a rest. We were supposed to work until we could no longer work”]; D114/121 Suon Phar WRI, A46 [“We worked all week and all month without rest, except when we had a meeting. In the meetings, they talked only about working hard”].

1108 See, e.g., D11/61/3.1 Ry Pov, T. 12 Feb 2015, 11.28.55-11.29.54 [in Takeo Province, Southwest Zone: “At that time men were separated from women, and we were put into different groups according to our age. For example, children will be grouped into the children’s unit and for the adults would be put into the adults group, and we could not live or mingle together”]; D234/2.1.132 Mom Vun, T. 16 Sep 2016, 14.24.54-14.29.35 [in Siem Reap Province, North Zone: “During Khmer Rouge regime, husbands and wives and children were all separated from each other. The children were in the children’s mobile unit. The mothers were in the female units and the husbands were in the male units and for the very small ones and infants they were with elderly women. [...] They put us to work in different locations and even our children, they were not allowed to come back home. They stayed at their worksites”]; D234/2.1.37 Kasumi Nakagawa, Gender-Based Violence during the Khmer Rouge Regime: Stories of Survivors from the Democratic Kampuchea (1975-1979), EN 00421891, KH 00738344 [“each family member was separated from each other to contribute to the revolutionary cause. Children were separated from their parents to work in mobile groups or as child soldiers”]; D234/2.1.34 Katrina Natale, ‘I Could Feel My Soul Flying Away From My Body’: A Study on Gender-Based Violence during Democratic Kampuchea in Battambang and Svay Rieng Provinces, EN

1109

00992134 ["Husbands, wives, parents and children were often separated into distinct work units or even moved to different geographic locations. [...] Although there was some variation in these practices, most notably on the basis of one's status in the regime and sometimes geographic location, family life as most Cambodians had known it was dramatically altered under Democratic Kampuchea"].

Through the use of criticism and self-criticism sessions to displace former belief systems: D54/74.1.12 Third Year Anniversary of the Organization of Peasant Cooperatives, 20 May 1976, EN 00636026, KH 00442230 ["The political-psychological, propaganda and educational affairs shall be extensive, detailed and carried out continuously. [...] short term one-to-two hour indoctrination sessions shall be organized frequently. Break time shall be used for recuperation and re-education"]; D234/2.1.99 Alexander Hinton, T. 14 Mar 2016, 15.15.14-15.17.50 ["the DK regime sought to establish a society and to reorganize society in such a manner that every single person would refashion, sharpen their consciousness and turn into a pure revolutionary citizen. [...] you can see it in the attempt to rusticate the population, [...] through the mechanism of criticism and self-criticism sessions, through re-education itself. [...] [T]he idea of criticism and self-criticism sessions came from the notion that revolutionary consciousness was in some sense unstable. It constantly had to be fashioned and re-fashioned and people had to get together and talk and look at their weaknesses, how they had been led astray. So it was an ongoing constant struggle"]; By prohibiting and/or trying to destroy sources of loyalty, attachment, and meaning: Family: D114/297.1.28 Chea Dieb, T. 30 Aug 2016, 15.13.40-15.16.17 [at a meeting in Phnom Penh in 1975, Khieu Samphan instructed "that we should not have any feelings towards our parents and that we should detach ourselves from our parents"], 15.16.17-15.19.38 ["As for the parents and siblings, we were completely detached from one another [...] Angkar said [...] we were under the supervision of Angkar, and that we should not look for the parents because Angkar was the parents"]; D234/2.1.116 Him Huy, T. 4 May 2016, 09.23.50-09.25.50 [the witness, a former guard at S-21, recalled: "During the study sessions [at S-21], there were many participants, including myself, [who were told] that we were the children of Angkar and not the children of our parents, although our mothers were the ones who bore [...] us, but it was Angkar who were our real parents and that we had to implement any instruction or activity imposed by Angkar"]; D1.3.17.1 Elizabeth Becker, When the War was Over: Cambodia and the Khmer Rouge Revolution, EN 00237929, KH 00232298-99 ["the Khmer Rouge were threatened by all expressions of love—between husband and wife, parents and children, friends and colleagues. Everyone had to renounce personal intimacies"], EN 00237930-31, KH 00232300 ["As in many societies relatively untouched by modernity, Cambodians are extremely attached to their families. That was the primary loyalty, certainly the most threatening to Angkar. Nearly all directives of the Khmer Rouge led somehow toward the dissolution of the family"]; D54/74.1.20 Philip Short, Pol Pot: The History of a Nightmare, EN 00396533 ["The family continued to exist but [...] [t]ies between individual family members were diluted within the larger community. 'Mothers should not get too entangled with their offspring,' Pol told the Central Committee"]; D234/2.1.37 Kasumi Nakagawa, Gender-Based Violence during the Khmer Rouge Regime: Stories of Survivors from the Democratic Kampuchea (1975-1979), EN 00421891, KH 00738344 ["One of the policies of the Angkar was to destroy traditional Cambodian family structure. For centuries, Cambodian people had established the close ties among family members with extended members and their livelihood was agriculture based. There was mutual trust between family members, and the community was strongly unified. The KR regime tried to destroy that traditional structure for the rapid achievement of the revolution"]; Religion: D98/1.2.40 David Chandler, T. 20 Jul 2012, 15.48.38-15.49.26 ["there's no religion that the Khmer Rouge didn't think was 'reactionary.' [...] in other words, the Constitution itself, by indirection, after first making phrase that would be pleasing to an overseas audience, then made it clear that there was really no patience or tolerance for religious activity"]; D234/2.1.100 Alexander Hinton, T. 15 Mar 2016, 11.13.26-11.15.21 [the DK regime's destruction of pagodas and Buddhist statues was "the crushing of something that was absolutely central to Cambodian ways of life"]; D11/91/3 Bun Sarouen, T. 3 Apr 2015, 10.38.36-10.39.58 ["I was absolutely torn because this was a sacred place and there were no longer any monks there and in the past there used to be celebrations, ceremonies but there were no longer any religious practice so I felt that I was completely deprived of any psychological base. In the past, we could go celebrate ceremonies in the pagoda but now there was no longer a place to do so and that was in fact incredible, it was an incredible regime"]; D11/523/3 Meu Peou, T. 29 Feb 2016, 09.29.41-09.33.44 ["My father died because he was a Cham person who adhered to his religious practice, and he didn't abandon his religion when he was forced by Angkar. [...] During the regime, there was no religion"]; D234/2.1.65 Cheang Sreimom, T. 29 Jan 2015, 10.58.35-11.01.45 ["It was said that there would not be religions [...] We [were] instructed not to believe in such Buddhism because [...] it was just a superstition"]; 13.48.23-13.56.33 [at district-level meetings at Angk Roka and Angk Roleay, the leaders emphasised that the people should not “pay respect to the Buddha statue which was just a piece of a concrete stone”]; The monarchy: D1.3.17.2 Craig Etcheson, The Rise and Demise of Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00393335-43 [see “To Kill Two Kings”]. By casting the CPK leadership as the anonymous, omnipresent, and all-powerful Angkar to foster fear, uncertainty, and submission: D234/2.1.65 Cheang Sreimom, T. 29 Jan 2015, 13.51.48-13.53.38 [“I did not know clearly the people who presided over the meeting as they were referred to as Angkar, but I didn’t know where that Angkar came from, we just knew that Angkar was from above”]; D234/2.1.100 Alexander Hinton, T. 15 Mar 2016, 11.23.44-11.24.50 [“Angkar was a way to displace blame so that when people were taking away people to kill, they say, ‘You’re going to go see Angkar’ and that was a way, of course, of displacing responsibility [...] so Angkar was feared in many different ways because Angkar could kill”]; D114/297.1.35 Peggy Levine, T. 12 Oct 2016, 09.18.44-09.20.25 [“the concept of Angkar [...] creates yet a whole other cosmological dimension of suspicion and dread”], 09.30.13-09.33.35 [“if deceased ancestors’ spirits roam, someone said to me, certainly Angkar must have the capacity to do the same”], 09.33.35-09.35.01 [“Some force was making things happen and creating chaos that people were trying to catch up with. [...] if you can’t make logical sense of something and there’s already a pre-existing foundational system by which people perceive roaming spirits, possessing spirits, transforming spirits, trickery spirits, spirits that could trick you, it made perfect sense that people would start to experience a particular kind of fear that was familiar to them when they couldn’t figure out what was going on. And the possibility of Angkar being some force that was hard to reckon with became larger over time”], 10.10.09-10.12.38 [“that subliminal Angkar fear [...] was omnipresent for them”], 10.22.28-10.23.48 [an interviewee told Levine: “Angkar could come out of the ground at any time; we’re not even safe today”]; D234/2.1.81 Prak Doeun, T. 2 Dec 2015, 11.18.16-11.20.35 [“I worked wherever I was assigned by Angkar. And nobody could protest that”]; D114/297.1.21 Pak Sok, T. 5 Jan 2016, 11.17.10-11.18.54 [“I tried to refashion myself in order to gain trust from Angkar”]; D11/523/3 Meu Peou, T. 29 Feb 2016, 09.16.51-09.18.47 [“I was at the mercy of Angkar [...] and I had to work according to the orders of Angkar”].

1110

Food rations for different categories of workers were specified in the Party’s planning documents, but the operational conditions imposed by the Party ensured that the actual rations provided to the workforce rarely reached the mandated levels. See, e.g., D4.1.38 CPK document, The Party’s Four-Year Plan to Build Socialism in All Fields, 1977-1980, as published in David Chandler et al., Pol Pot Plans the Future, EN 00104053-54, KH 00075906-10 [“The People’s Eating Regime” section plans for rations to include rice, side dishes and regular desserts, saying that cooking “tasty and high-quality food and desserts” is a high revolutionary duty]; D11/199/4 Em Oeun, T. 27 Aug 2012, 11.38.18-11.40.34 [recalling training from Khieu Samphan: “I still recall what he told us and the political lines at that time. They wanted to uncover the enemy burrowing from within, and in doing so, we had to assign much hard labour; we had to give them a lot of work, little food to eat so that they - so that we could uncover the enemies from within”]; D98/1.2.39 David Chandler, T. 19 Jul 2012, 13.44.28-13.46.01 [“they cut back on the amounts of rice that was supposed to be set aside for seeds and for feeding the population, in order to deliver a sufficient amount up the line. [...] All over the country, in all kinds of evidence you get, you’ve evidence of food supply going down, nutrition going down, starvation coming up, deaths from malnutrition going up, all connected, I think, to the kind of scare qualities of this 3 tons target”]; D11/160/4.1 Chau Ny, T. 23 Nov 2012, 14.06.40-14.07.25 [in Chak Thum cooperative, Battambang Province: “At that cooperative, a lot of people died of food shortages and starvation”]; D11/78/3 Soeun Sovandy, T. 4 Jun 2013, 11.34.01-11.35.52 [“as for our food ration, the watery gruel was purely water and if they saw us – some vegetable inside our gruel, then they would beat us. [...] They said that it serve us well when we came to the countryside enduring starvation. That’s what they mocked at us”]; D98/1.2.11 Romam Yun, T. 10 Jan 2012, 14.47.16-14.51.40 [“the food was not enough. Some people were hanging themselves because they could not really stand the situation. People at the sector zone or provincial level only pretended to say that people in the community were having decent lives, having enough food to eat but, in reality, it was not true because we could not really produce enough food, grow enough crops to feed the villagers”]; D98/3.1.198 Ong Thong Hoeung, T. 7 Aug 2012, 15.45.51-15.48.01 [“There was barely any fish in the soup, or in that gruel mixed with morning glory. It’s like the food we give pigs to eat”]; D54/36 Brak Sokha WRI, A12 [“The food regime was insufficient. Sometimes we had rice and other time we had gruel mixed with water lily or water convolvulus”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A114 [“Q: Did you receive enough food? A114: No, it was not enough. Each worker received a small bowl of rice served with fish soup. I was used to eating three to four bowls of rice per meal. It was insufficient, and we received that ration only two times per day-once at noon and once in the evening”]; D114/179 Snguon

Chhum WRI, A11 ["I received only a ladle of rice gruel per day (the witness used his hands to show the size of a small bowl)"]; D88.1.9 David Chandler, A History of Cambodia, EN 00817715 ["By early 1976, food was already scarce, since the surpluses from the first harvests had been gathered up to feed the army, to be stored, or to be exported. The situation deteriorated in 1977 and 1978 when much of the country was stricken with famine. Many survivors recall months of eating rice gruel without much else"]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678618, KH 00637743 ["In the Northwest, [the death toll] probably reached the tens of thousands in Region 5 alone. [...] Perhaps forty thousand people had perished throughout the Zone in 1976, mostly from starvation"], EN 00678719, KH 00638011 [in the Southwest Zone: "Twenty to thirty percent of the population died of starvation in 1977-78"].

1111 See, e.g., D4.1.537 Au Hau WRI, EN 00250047, KH 00239910 [in Baray District, Kampong Thom Province: "During the dam construction many people were sick due to lack of food and hygiene and the many flies. The illnesses included fevers, dysentery, cholera, etc. The majority of those who fell ill died. At that time, Zone and Sector medics came to examine the sick. They handed out rabbit-pellet medicine and bottled medicines to drink which had the nature of liquor. Those medicines were ineffective"]; D4.1.421 Chuch Punlork WRI, EN 00275403, KH 00221548-49 [at the Kamping Puoy Dam in Battambang Province: "Those putting up the dam did not have enough to eat, and had illness with no medications to treat them. [...] Deaths occurred every single day"]; D4.1.817 Bun Thien WRI, EN 00384408, KH 00368611 [in Sector 13, Takeo Province: "we were told to improve medical practices by means of collecting herbs and medicines and mixing them by ourselves. We must not ask for them from anywhere (self-reliant)"]; D46 Che Heap WRI, EN 00804120, KH 00804126 [at the Kampong Chhnang airport worksite: "there was no doctor we could call upon and we had to manage without any medical care"]; D10.1.70 Kim Saroeun alias Chhay Sambath WRI, EN 00375476, KH 00368630 ["There was not enough medicine in the [Sector 37] hospital. If there was any medicine, it was only for the troops"], EN 00375478, KH 00368632 [the witness had to help bury 25 to 30 bodies per day at the Sector 37 hospital: "Q: What did they die from? A: The deaths were from lack of food, overwork, illness, emaciation, swelling of the legs and face, and lack of medicines to treat them"]; D4.1.807 Ieng Chham alias Chhi WRI, A74-77.

1112 See, e.g., D4.1.986 FBIS, Khieu Samphan's Speech at Anniversary Meeting, 15 Apr 1977, EN 00419514, KH 00292807 ["Each construction site of a reservoir, canal or dam is manned by as many as 10,000, 20,000 or even 30,000 workers. For this reason, the work progresses quickly. [...] Have these achievements been made possible by machines? No, we have no machines. We do everything by mainly relying on the strength of our people"]; D4.1.873 Revolutionary Flag, Aug 1975, EN 00532694, KH 00399140 ["When there are no livestock, the brothers and sisters use their own manpower to pull the plows and harrows. When there is nothing to plow and harrow the ground to work the rice paddies, the brothers and sisters use hoes and their own two bare hands to dig and clear the ground and break it up until it is clean and rice can be planted"]; D4.1.50 Revolutionary Youth, Apr 1976, EN 00392436, KH 00064289 ["In the movement to put up new paddy dike systems and dig new feeder canals [...] our revolution is still poor and does not have the potential of sorting this out with all kinds of machinery. But, since our revolution has a solid mass outlook, we assembled the popular masses and mobilized the masses throughout the country to work night and day. Therefore, we were capable of doing it"]; D4.1.896 Revolutionary Youth, Apr 1977, EN 00491112, KH 00376249 ["We do not have any machinery and modern equipment, but we are able to rebuild our country quickly with both hands"]; D98/1.2.12 Prak Yut, T. 25 Jan 2012, 14.44.58-14.46.50 ["Q: Do you know how much time – or how a dam was built? A: Back then, there was no machine to build the dam; we used manpower, or people"].

1113 See, e.g., D4.1.869 Revolutionary Flag, Jul 1978, EN 00428297, KH 00064495 ["enemies of every type had even gone further to wreck the people's standard of living. They have starved the people and made them thirsty, caused them to have nothing to wear and no place to stay. They wreck water, wreck seed rice, wreck rice seedlings, wreck compost, wreck draught animals, wreck plows and harrows, wreck digging tools, wreck spoons, plates and pots, wreck everything, do whatever can be done as long as it makes our people hunger and have nothing to eat. The concealed enemies boring from within wreck the line of resolving the people's standard of living"]; D1.3.27.3 Standing Committee Minutes, 26 Mar 1976, EN 00182657, KH 00000756-57 [Nuon Chea demanded vigilance against escapees who did not return to their cooperatives, noting "The bases have taken measures on this problem already"]; D4.1.206 Telegram 242 from Nhim to Angkar 870, 11 May 1978, EN 00185215, KH 00021043 ["external enemies came in on May 5 and succeeded in encouraging and moving some people away with them. However, when they were trying to escape away with 40 people, we smashed all of them, with the only two that had escaped being under our further pursuit. In Region 5, 4 and 3, likewise, there were sort of people movements by enemies, though we smashed most of them. They could rarely make it to either escape or enter”; D1.3.34.11 Telegram 11 from Deum to Brother Mut (Meas Muth), 24 Sep 1976 [“in Riem and Baboh subdistricts [...] five of them fled into the forest, were pursued and arrested by us”]; D11/44/3.1 Iem Yen, T. 2 Apr 2015, 09.19.50-09.22.36 [“I was with the children’s unit, and due to the hard work condition, I ran away from the unit. And then the unit chief arrested me, and I meant I was then sent back to the children’s unit. And I was tortured there”]; D11/61/3.1 Ry Pov, T. 12 Feb 2015, 11.05.04-11.06.18 [“At that time everybody, including myself, trie[d] to abide by the organisation discipline and we did not dare to violate it as we were afraid that we would be taken away and killed”]; D234/2.1.41 Nuon Chea, T. 13 Dec 2011, 10.35.21-10.37.11 [“there were still bad elements in some of the cooperatives. They intended to destroy, the cooperatives. For example they destroyed [...] the utensils, for example the pots, the spoons, they destroyed them -- they threw them away at the Tonle Sap. And as a result in some cooperatives, there were shortages of those cutleries”]; D98/3.1.28 Chhouk Rin, T. 23 Apr 2013, 09.41.15-09.45.15 [“[a] mistake could be very minimal and people could be killed for committing such small wrongdoing, for example, like losing a hoe or breaking something. And people who attended study sessions would also be arrested after the sessions concluded, so all these made it reasonable to believe that we were fearful”]; D11/54/3.1 Preap Sokhoeurn, T. 24 Oct 2016, 15.24.14-15.26.14 [“the fear came from inside me because that’s what I observed. People made mistakes and they were arrested and taken away”]; D98/3.1.17 Chea Tha alias Chaol Sen WRI, EN 00327176, KH 00251660 [“Some [escapees] were captured, for instance in my unit one was captured. When they captured her, they withheld her food and sent her to the prisoner holding site at Phnom Sanlong and did not let her return to the unit”]; D4.1.484 Seng (Sen) Srun WRI, EN 00242087, KH 00218554 [“I knew that they would have killed any villager who ran away because I personally saw them kill a prisoner from the Ta Kot Worskite after he had [run] off a distance of about 100 meters in early 1976”]; D4.1.552 Kev Ne WRI, EN 00327168, KH 00251678 [“there were people who escaped, and they were chased down and brought back. About 20 people escaped from Kampong Kandal, and about seven of them drowned. The survivors were followed and captured at Noreay, and they were all put in Tracy Koh. [...] the only disappearances were those who escaped, and they were captured and taken to be reeducated at a different location”]; D10.1.45 Koam Yo WRI, EN 00275023, KH 00206412-13 [“I saw the killing of seven to eight year old children. [...] Those children were from the children unit, assigned to cut Tuntrean Khet leaves [...] The Khmer Rouge caught them while they went secretly to see their parents. [...] they were caught and sent back to Koh Kyang, where their bellies were cut open alive before other prisoners as a warning not to follow their example”]; D114/31 Moul Chhin WRI, A116 [“Escape from Preaek Chak worksite was rare. It was strictly controlled. Anyone who tried to escape and was captured was killed immediately”]; D114/163 Chea Tha WRI, A30 [at a salt farm in Kampot Province: “Q: So, if someone did not do their work well, they would be detained and sent to Sanlong Mountain. Prisoners who had made serious mistakes were killed. Is that correct? A30: Yes, it is”]; D114/85 Chet Bunna WRI, A5-6 [“if they were not fond of our behaviour or work, or if we complained about the work, they would immediately send us to Teuk Sab. [...] A6: While we were within this bad component unit, we were convinced that if we made even a minor mistake, we would immediately be taken to be punished”]; D114/33 Hem Ang WRI, A49, 68 [“We had itchy rashes all over our arms and legs, and we could not make any complaint because we were afraid of being taken to be killed. We only worked without daring to complain about anything. If we complained, we would lose our lives. [...] Q: What mistakes did the three people make that led to them being sent to Koh Khyang Island? A68: The cooperative chief reported that they did not work well, and in the end they were accused of being enemies”]; D4.1.889 Loeung Bunny WRI, EN 00384779, KH 00375539 [at Kasang Cooperative in Prey Nob District: “I know of a case of a young boy named Nuch; he was very hungry, and he stole food. The Khmer Rouge tied him and put him in a sack and threw him in a creek, but he survived and returned to the cooperative. The Khmer Rouge threw him again into the creek two or three times, he did not die, but finally the Khmer Rouge killed him with a sharpened wood stick [...] I witnessed that”]; D4.1.844 Prak Yut WRI, A29 [in Kampong Siem District, Kampong Cham Province: “bad persons were those who stole rice and other things from others, or stole foods to eat because they were hungry. [...] For the bad persons, we sent them to the commune so that [the commune] could reeducate them”]; D4.1.534 Sok Thul WRI, EN 00242361, KH 00238888 [in Svay Rieng Province: “According to what I saw, the people they arrested and brought in [to the security office] included both men and women. The majority of them had been arrested because they had stolen food to eat, stolen their own chickens to eat, and had been immoral. They were arrested, sent to the office, put in leg shackles, and interrogated. I heard screams during interrogations while I was walking tending cattle near that area”]; D46 Che Heap WRI, EN 00804119, KH

- 00204125 [“At a lifestyle meeting, the chairman of this meeting said that if anybody complained, they would be made to disappear. We were under threat even if we were caught talking about the lack of food”]; D4.1.848 Chhouk Rin WRI, A4 [“Nuon Chea explained that those who caused the damage of ploughshare, hoe, spoon and so on were considered as enemies because they wanted to destroy the Communist Party of Kampuchea. He taught how to follow the enemy’s trail and when we found one enemy we had to cleanse that enemy”]; D4.1.816 Sao Hean WRI, A42 [“Even people who had conflicts about not getting enough food or who had broken a spoon or a plough were considered to be enemies”].
- 1114 D1.3.27.12 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Division and Independent Regiment Secretary(s) and Deputy Secretary(s), 18 Aug 1976, EN 00234456-57, KH 00052376-77 [Brother 89 (Son Sen) sets out the Party’s plan regarding rice production for the army and the amount of land to be cultivated, to be implemented by a 40,000 person force; the plan is also broken down into quotas for each division].
- 1115 See, e.g., D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics [Chiefs] of Divisions and Regiments, 19 Sep 1976 [Commanders Sou Met (502), Meas Muth (164), Sokh (170), Pheap (488), Tal (290), Huy, Oeun (310), Suong (450), Pin (703), Hin, Sim (152), Tin, and Brother 81 (Seat Chhe) report, inter alia, on production efforts, including those falling short of the set quotas, food supplies getting close to running out, and illnesses affecting the people, with Sou Met specifically noting in his area that it is caused by the lack of hygiene at living sites; Brother 89 (Son Sen) then gives instructions on measures to implement going forward]; D1.3.27.22 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Plenary of the Brigade/Division Committees/Commanders, 21 Nov 1976 [Sou Met (502), Pin (703), Oeun (310), Sok (170), Suong (450), Tal (290), Nay (377); Meas Muth (164), Pheap (488), Sim (152), and Vin (75) report on production activities and projected shortages; the total shortage is estimated to be between 5,000-6,000 tons; Nat of the General Staff says the projections were not wrong, they just had no experience in crop collecting, which caused lower performance than projected; Brother 89 (Son Sen) then gives instructions regarding measures to implement in order to solve the shortages; Meas Muth specifically reports that to feed 12,000 persons in the military and civilians, his unit will be short by 310 tons of rice]; D1.3.27.23 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics Officers of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 15 Dec 1976 [Sou Met, Pin, Sokh, Savoeun, Voeung, Suong, Say, Soeun, Pheap, Sim, Nai, and Rin provide situation reports on activities in their areas, including production efforts and shortages; Son Sen (Brother 89) gives instructions, including “Any unnecessary work must be paused, even ongoing study must be postponed” so that harvesting is done in a timely way]; D1.3.8.2 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of all Division Committees, 1 Jun 1976 [Brother 89 (Son Sen) assigns production tasks and hears production activity reports from Tall (290), Pin (703), Sok (170), Oeun (310), Sou Met (502), Suong (450), Mut (Meas Muth) (164), Pheap (488), Chen, and Sim (152)]; D1.3.8.3 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of the Military Work in Kampong Som, 3 Aug 1976, EN 00234012, KH 00021496 [Comrade Mut (Meas Muth) reports that “One regiment (three battalions) are placed on Koh Wai, Koh Tang and Koh Rong, one battalion on Koh Seh, and one battalion on another island close to Koh Seh where there are over 100 hectares of cultivation land, a coffee farm and a rubber plantation. [...] People grow rice on islands and even plant fruit trees such as coconut, rambutan, durian”], EN 00234014-16, KH 00021499 [Comrade Secretary (Son Sen) says, “We have to strengthen and expand [the islands] by making [them] a farm of fruit trees, a plantation, a place for both military and economic benefits” and discusses crop planting and diversification that must be done]; D1.3.27.8 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Economics of Divisions, 16 May 1976, EN 00923159, KH 00088910; D1.3.8.7 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Regiments, 18 Oct 1976, EN 00877019, KH 00095531; D1.3.27.11 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of the Committees Attached to Divisions and Independent Regiments, 12 Aug 1976 [Brother 89 (Son Sen) discusses production falling short of the quotas and says it is “on account of leadership by Party members”]; D1.3.27.24 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Division 920 Comrades Say and Ren, 16 Dec 1976; D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions and Independent Regiments, 1 Mar 1977 [Sou Met, Chhin, Maut, Pheap, Yan, Sokh, Sim, Tal, Pin, Sao, and Rin report on the situations in their units, including production activities and shortages; Brother 89 (Son Sen) gives instructions for implementation]; D1.3.27.25 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Division 801, 16 Dec 1976, EN 00874987-88, KH 00052330-31; D1.3.19.2 Message to the Beloved Committees of Divisions and Regiments from Khieu of the General Staff, 3 Sep 1977 [instructing the divisions to storm attack rice cultivation “to ensure 100% completion of the plans” and encouraging them to do whatever can be done beyond the plans].

- ¹¹¹⁶ See, e.g., the evidence cited in fn. 1092 above. See also D1.3.30.9 DK Report, Joint Statistics of Armed Forces – March 1977, 7 Apr 1977 [noting there were 1,127 Division 310 forces and 1,526 Division 450 forces at Kampong Chhnang]; D4.1.504 Kev Kin WRI, EN 00290500, KH 00282941 [when the witness first arrived at the Kaing Leav airport in Kampong Chhnang, he was forced to dismantle houses, fell trees, and dig up tree stumps], EN 00290501, KH 00282943 [“From four thirty to five in the morning, the people at the construction site had to help people transplant rice seedlings at paddies near the airport every day in the rice seedling transplanting month. The work at the construction site started from seven until eleven, then rested to have meal and resumed from one in the afternoon until five in the evening. At night, we started from seven until ten thirty. The work was very difficult because it was hard labor work such as carrying cement and sand. We worked without rest because there were people inspecting the work”]; D4.1.508 Chan Man alias Chuop Sokhon WRI, EN 00292823, KH 00287527 [“At the beginning, those soldiers had to cut the trees, pull out tree bases and collect all plant roots, no matter it was as tiny as a piece of chopstick. [...] The work was divided and assigned into sections, including bulldozing, rock breaking, roots screening etc. They were the hardest and strictest works”]; D4.1.513 Khin Vat WRI, EN 00315914, KH 00304365 [at Kampong Chhnang Airport (late 1977): “I saw those soldiers dig out palm tree stumps, clear the forest, pour cement, blast rocks in the mountain, make caves on the mountain located east of the airport. I heard that the caves were to be for parking aircraft. Those working soldiers were both men and women. [...] Work was very hard because the upper echelon had ordered them to speed up the construction so that they could make use of the airport”]; D4.1.1151 Prak Yoeun alias Y WRI, EN 00223337, KH 00172081 [“In late 1977, they sent me to build the airfield at Kampong Chhnang. I lived and worked there until the fall in 1979. There, at first, they had some of us lay stone, and some break rocks. [...] The work there was day and night, [...] but there were two meals”]; D4.1.773 Tes Trech WRI, EN 00346979-80, KH 00342437 [“I was sent to Kampong Chhnang alone in approximately 1978. They had me make holes in the rock to put dynamites for the blasting in order to make caves for parking aircrafts, and the rocks were grinded for the airfield runways. [...] Sometimes they had me dig dirt at the airfield worksite. [...] We only had rice gruel twice a day and it was not enough. Each meal, a worker was given a small bowl of gruel”]; D4.1.505 Sum Sokhan alias Sreang WRI, EN 00292864-65, KH 00282959-60 [“I arrived at the construction site of the Kampong Chhnang airport in April 1978. [...] Regarding the work, in the morning we lined up to educate and [criticise] each other and exchange work experience. After that, we had to reach the workplace at six and started work [until] eleven; then we rested to eat gruel. We resumed work from one until five in the evening. Then we rested an hour to eat gruel. We resumed work from six to eleven. We had such work conditions every day without Saturday and Sunday. I saw the workers get sick because of starvation and die because of overwork”]; D1.3.32.39 Sem Hoeun alias Kim DC-Cam Statement, EN 00876511-12, KH 00020591 [“Q: And the people who were sent to the Kampong Chhnang worksite were all prisoners? A: Yes, all of them were prisoners. [...] They were sent from various zones and provinces. For example, accused people from the East Zone and Siem Reap were sent to that correction camp. They were ordered to break rocks”].
- ¹¹¹⁷ See, the evidence cited in the VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes - Enslavement; VIII.E. Stung Hav Worksites – 3. Crimes - Other Inhumane Acts; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes - Enslavement; VIII.F. Ream Area Worksites – 3. Crimes - Other Inhumane Acts (Inhumane Treatment) sections of this Submission.
- ¹¹¹⁸ D1.3.16.3 Norwegian Government, Submission of the Government of Norway under Commission on Human Rights Decision 9, 18 Aug 1978, EN 00087546, 00087561, 00087563-64, 00087566, 00087568-71; D1.3.30.28 UN Commission on Human Rights, Question of the Violation of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms in any part of the World, with Particular Reference to Colonial and other Dependent Countries and Territories, 30 Jan 1979, EN 00078652-53, 00078661, 00078663-64; D4.1.958 US State Department, Memoranda for the President: Life Inside Cambodia, 10 May 1976, EN 00495458, 00495464-65; D4.1.957 Telegram from the US Embassy in Bangkok to the US Secretary of State and various embassies, Khmer refugee walks out of Phnom Penh, 1975, EN 00495556-60; D114/36.1.13 Chicago Tribune, Cambodians Flee Red Invaders; it's clear 'some won't survive', 9 May 1975; D114/36.1.16 New York Times, Cambodia's Crime, 9 Jul 1975; D114/36.1.21 Washington Post, A Story of Terror in Cambodia, 10 May 1978; D114/36.1.22 New York Times, Refugees Depict Grim Cambodia Beset by Hunger, 2 May 1977.
- ¹¹¹⁹ See, e.g., D4.1.65 Minutes on the Standing [Committee's] Visit to [North]west Zone, 20-24 Aug 1975; D1.3.27.5 Standing Committee Minutes, 19-21 Apr 1976, EN 00183421, KH 00019147-48 [“The Standing Committee will go down to the bases in May [to] [...] Push early season rice, especially in the large zones like the Northwest, North, Southwest, and Siem Reap”]; D4.1.1142 Tha Sot WRI, EN 00226110, KH 00204742

["I took Nuon Chea to the provinces of Prey Veng, Svay Rieng, Siem Reap, Kampot, Battambang, Kampong Som, Takeo, Kratie, and Stoeung Treng to meet with the cadres and the soldier chiefs in order to disseminate and educate them the [party] policy. [...] He also went down to see the dam sites very often about five to six times per month. Nuon Chea saw the hardship of and the destitute [condition] of the people. I took Khieu Samphan who accompanied Prince Norodom Sihanouk to visit the provinces of Siem Reap, Battambang, Kampot and Kampong Som. I also drove uncle Pol Pot to see people building dams and digging canals. Sometimes, Nuon Chea went with Pol Pot"]; D4.1.240 Oeun Tan WRI, EN 00235131, KH 00231804 ["I escorted [Pol Pot] to Battambang, Takeo, Siemreap, Kampong Thom, Kampong Chhnang, Kampong Cham, and Kratie, to meet with Sector and Zone level leaders and to hold meetings with one another"]; D4.1.1149 Ros Suy WRI, EN 00205113, KH 00172051 ["Mr. Nuon Chea came to look at my work place. I knew that Khieu Samphan was startled to learn that cadre members did not have enough to eat, that they ate only gruel. Q: Did Nuon Chea ever speak about food and work conditions? A: He never asked; he just came to look at the warehouse (routine)"]; D54/17 Say Born WRI, A14-16 ["Q: You have identified the location of a brick kiln near Kang Keng Airport along the way to Ream. What do you know about that place? A14: It was a Division 164 labour site. I went there once in late 1975. I had some friends who worked there [...] A15: [...] the Commander of Division 164, Meas Mut, inspected the work there [...] A16: I asked my friend who was working there, 'Has Meas Mut ever come to see this place?' My friend said that he had come to look there"]; D4.1.850 Soutr Toeung WRI, EN 00414594-98, KH 00408435-40; D4.1.1133 Seng Lytheng WRI, EN 00223564, KH 00204025; D4.1.1140 Yim Laing WRI, EN 00204732, KH 00204727.

1120 See, e.g., D4.1.65 Minutes on the Standing [Committee's] Visit to [North]west Zone, 20-24 Aug 1975, EN 00182998, KH 00008485 ["remote districts are still in need and many are also suffering from diseases. New people lack both food and medicine"]; D4.1.76 Minutes of Council of Ministers' 2nd Meeting, 31 May 1976, EN 00182678-79, KH 00000790 ["Eating ration: [...] There were two places that were short of [ration], but were able to resolve [this issue] [...] Human diseases: Still existed"]; D4.1.78 Standing Committee Minutes, Minutes of Meeting on Health and Social Affairs, 10 Jun 1976, EN 00183369 ["Only if we could get 3 tons [of crops] per hectare, then should we [be] able to have enough food for the general public. [...] In brief, the health issue was too much alleviated if compared to last year. But still there was significant shortfall of medicine"].

1121 See, e.g., D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491400, KH 00063008 ["During 1976, we lacked food supplies, medicines"]; D1.3.24.5 Revolutionary Flag, May-Jun 1978, EN 00185337, KH 00064571-72 ["We cannot utilize the 1977 produce to serve popular livelihood 100%. In amount we were able to achieve 100% paddy production, but there is a lack of staple food. Medicines and clothing [...] This is a major deficiency of ours in terms of solving the popular livelihood"], EN 00185344, KH 00064581 ["to continue being attentive to resolving and raising popular livelihood, so that it undergoes a further increasing development in terms of food supply, clothing, health, shelter, and training and education. In places where there are shortages there absolutely [...] must be increasing develop[ment] to assure and guarantee things"].

1122 See, e.g., D4.1.579 Telegram 94 from Pok (Ke Pauk) to Brother Pol, 2 Apr 1976, EN 00182658-59, KH 00000766 [reporting "much fever and diarrhea" amongst people in the Zone, which was addressed by reducing work hours]; D4.1.224 Telegram 14 from Phuong to M 870, 31 Dec 1977 [reporting food shortages in cooperatives and worksites from Chhlong to Kroch Chhmar while enemy activity is cutting off road access]; D4.1.1039 Telegram from Lao to respected Brother, 15 Nov 1976, EN 00548800-01, KH 00021111 [reporting that in districts 21 and 22, "Rice production is not enough to feed people in the whole sector" and illnesses include malaria, stomachaches, blood in urine, and jaundice; in District 34 "It's tough" - the food shortage situation is severe - and illnesses include high temperature, diarrhea, and convulsions; in districts 82 and 83, three people receive one tin of rice per meal, the number of lepers has increased to more than 1,000]; D4.1.227 Telegram 254 from North Zone Secretary Sae to Committee 870, 10 Jan 1978, EN 00182758, KH 00001061-62 [reporting enemy destruction of production in Sector 103 and starvation in Preah Vihear sector caused by a poor harvest]; D4.1.899 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 16 May 1976, EN 00517911-13, KH 00376666-68 [various commanders report on the situation in their units, including Oeun (Div. 310), who reports that there are more than 800 sick people in his unit; Angkar acknowledges that the wrong drugs and dosages are being administered]; D1.3.30.2 Unit 164 Monthly Report from Muth (Meas Muth) to Brother 89 (Son Sen), 5 Jan 1976 [Meas Muth describes the fighting in Koh Ses and Koh Tral, and reports that the rice supply at Koh Rong is enough for six months but "these old rice grains are spoiled, discharging moldy stink", copying Brother 87 (Vorn Vet)]; D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of the Meeting of Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Divisions, Secretaries and Deputy Secretaries of Regiments, 2 Aug

- 1976, EN 00183959-60 [attendees report incidents of people who are unhappy, hopeless, tired and sick, have no time to rest, complain about lack of food, desert, and Brother 89 (Son Sen) discusses sorting out food supplies]; D4.1.522 Sou Souen WRI, EN 00360113, KH 00348830 [Ke Pauk's wife: "Cooperative chiefs and group leaders complained about not having enough to eat while produced a lot of rice. And I did report about these requests to the district committee and the district committee reported to the upper echelon; but the upper echelon did not respond. In the meantime, they were transporting rice away"]].
- 1123 D1.3.27.18 DK Military Meeting Minutes, Minutes of Meeting of Secretaries and Logistics [Chiefs] of Divisions and Regiments, 19 Sep 1976, EN 00195341, KH 00052391.
- 1124 D4.1.739 Presentation by the Comrade Party Secretary during the session of the first meeting of the Council of Ministers, 22 Apr 1976, EN 00143465, KH 00072757 ["we supplied 3,000 tons of rice as aid to the Soviets as well while in the condition of having just come out of a destructive war"]; D4.1.588 French Ministry of Foreign Affairs Memo, Cambodian Review, 11 May 1976, EN 00610832, KH 00522402 [reporting a 3,000 ton rice donation to Laos in December 1975]; D4.1.887 Revolutionary Flag, Nov 1976, EN 00455284-85, KH 00064966 ["We must export hundreds of thousands of tons of rice during 1976. Our being able to export rice like this after a war casts a tremendous influence in the international world"]; D4.1.903 Nuon Chea's Speech at Army Anniversary Meeting, 16 Jan 1977, EN S 00004076, KH 00649947 ["our people have enough to eat. [...] we have a surplus of more than 150,000 tons of rice for export. This means that we have completely fulfilled the 1976 plan"]; D4.1.38 CPK document, Preliminary Explanation Before Reading the Plan, 21 Aug 1976, as published in David Chandler et al., Pol Pot Plans the Future, EN 00104071 ["we must export large quantities of rice. In 1977 we plan to export between 800,000 and one million tons of padi"]; D4.1.986 FBIS, Khieu Samphan's Speech at Anniversary Meeting, 15 Apr 1977, EN 00419513, KH 00292805 ["we harvested a good crop for 1977. Now we can feed our people a sufficient ration allocated by the State. We even have a surplus of grain for export"]; D114/29.1.4 Ben Kiernan, The Pol Pot Regime, EN 00678692, KH 00637933 ["in 1978 Democratic Kampuchea officials claimed to have exported 100,000 tons of rice the previous year to rice-deficit countries such as Yugoslavia, Madagascar, and Hong Kong"]; D234/2.1.33 Phnom Penh Rally Marks 17th April Anniversary, 16 Apr 1978, EN S 00010560 [Khieu Samphan told 20,000 workers and military forces that "We [...] succeeded in achieving our food production plan and [...] exported more grain than in previous years. This has provided us more potentials for national construction, and is the result of our farming effort"]].
- 1125 D69.1.42 Khieu Samphan, Considerations on the History of Cambodia from the Early Stage to the Period of Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00498287, KH 00380472.
- 1126 D4.1.888 Revolutionary Flag, Dec 1976-Jan 1977, EN 00491435, KH 00063054 ["So then, the essence of socialist revolution and building socialism is the goal of building the country well, defending the country well, and sorting out the livelihood of the people quickly. We need from 15 to 20 million people to meet the needs of our land"]].
- 1127 D4.1.864 Revolutionary Flag, Sep 1977, EN 00486262-63, KH 00063183-84 ["we need to increase our Kampuchean population to 15 to 20 million over the next 10 years. [...] Today, our population, which is nearly eight million, falls short of the country's potential need, which is for more than 20 million people. Therefore, our aim is to increase the population as quickly as possible"]; D4.1.189 Ieng Sary Statement to the UN General Assembly, 11 Oct 1977, EN 00079815, paras 60 and 63, KH 00291027-28 ["We are endeavouring very rapidly to improve the living conditions and the health of our people because we need a population of 15 to 20 million in 10 years' time. [...] We have no reason to reduce the size of our population or to maintain it at its present level for, with close to 8 million inhabitants, our population is still far short of our country's capacity, which has a need of more than 20 million people. This is why our objective is to bring about a very rapid increase in our population"]; D4.1.1013 Pol Pot Statement at Meeting of CPK Central Committee Discussion with the Belgium-Cambodian Association Delegation, 5 Aug 1978, EN 00574566, KH 00106284 ["The Communist Party of Kampuchea and the Government of Democratic Kampuchea plan to increase the number of its population from 15 to 20 [million] within 10 to 15 years"]].
- 1128 D69.1.42 Khieu Samphan, Considerations on the History of Cambodia from the Early Stage to the Period of Democratic Kampuchea, EN 00498284, KH 00380467 [Pol Pot wanted the DK population to rise, "But how was this goal to be accomplished if the women's menstrual periods stopped due to hunger? The leadership saw this problem"]; D11/54/3.1 Kul Nem, T. 24 Oct 2016, 14.35.12-14.36.17 ["Such incident of having no children did not happen to only me, but also to other people. [...] we experienced miscarriages, one after another. Perhaps we were too exhausted as a result of hard work"]; D11/255/3.1 Hun Sethany, T. 27 May 2015, 14.40.06-14.43.20 ["Most female workers in my village had no menstrual cycle because they did not have enough food to eat”]; D1.3.17.1 Elizabeth Becker, When the War was Over: Cambodia and the Khmer Rouge Revolution, EN 00237929, KH 00232298 [“Many women stopped menstruating entirely, partly because of malnutrition, partly because of the trauma”].

1129

See VIII.H. Forced Marriage and Rape section.

1130

See their S-21 confessions: D4.1.22, D4.1.651 S-21 Confession of Chan Chakrey alias Nov Mean, 1 Jun 1976, EN 00183019-85 (Excerpts), KH 00030985-2842 [arrested on 19 May 1976]; D4.1.943 S-21 Confession of Suos Neou alias Chhouk alias Men alias VIII [arrested on 31 August 1976]; D10.1.120 S-21 Confession of Men San alias Ney Saran alias Achar Sieng alias Ya, KH 00009497-682, FR 00282377-90 (Excerpts) [arrested on 20 September 1976]; The confession of Keo Meas, Secretary of the Worker's Party of Kampuchea Centre, is not on Case File 003 [KH 00226710-28, EN 00284013, 00983407-24, FR 00294499].

1131

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940344, KH 00052407, FR 00334976 [Son Sen (Bang 89), after explaining that Chakrei, Ya, Chhouk and Keo Meas were traitors to Vietnam and had been smashed, said: “the important thing is precisely that our army be clean and pure [...] Concretely operationalizing revolutionary vigilance means having a firm grip on our units of organization, ensuring that the enemy is unable to bore from within, and doing whatever needs to be done to make our army clean”], EN 00940345, KH 00052408, FR 00334977 [“It is imperative to educate the brothers and sisters so that they understand the state of contradictions arising from the enemies boring from within and from the enemies' tricks, and to do so in such a way that this permeates all the way to the bottom. 3. It is imperative to purge absolutely no-good elements, but not to be left or right politically”]. See also D1.3.27.13 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 30 Aug 1976, EN 00183966, KH 000552381 [Son Sen: “Divisions are to examine and keep track of no-good elements. Organize for them to be administered separately”], EN 00183968, KH 00052382 [Son Sen: “It is imperative to conduct further purges of no-good elements. It is imperative to be absolute, but not leftist; are they supporters or not, and if they are not supporters is it because of not understanding or are they not supporters because they are opponents in league with the enemy?”]; on Chan Chakrei's alleged treason, See also: D1.3.27.17 Minutes of Meeting with Divisions 170 and 290, 16 Sep 1976 [meeting attended by Son Sen, Duch, Division 170 Secretary Sokh, and Division 290 Secretary Tal that agreed upon the arrests of 29 cadres from Division 170 and “Chakrey's wife and niece”]; D98/1.2.21 Kaing Guek Eav alias Duch, T. 29 Mar 2012, 09.06.02-09.11.58 [discussing meeting attended by Son Sen, Division Secretary Sokh and Duch: “The meeting was convened to discuss the people in Division 170 who were associates of Chan Chakrey [...] people in Division 170 were arrested”].

1132

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940340, KH 00052404, FR 00334974 [Dim / Doem, first reported two security incidents involving Division 164 combatants and four other arrests], EN 00940346, KH 00052408, FR 00334977 [Following Son Sen's advice, he concluded, “I would like to be in unity with Angkar's presentation about the enemies' internal and external situations [...] From an examination of my forces, some 90 to 95 per cent of them are reliable, those who are loyal to the Party. But if you want unsullied faith that the army is clean, it seems not yet to be clean, and it is imperative to follow up with more purges”]; EN 00940350, KH 00052411 [right before Meas Mut spoke, Sou Met underlined that “it is imperative to dare absolutely to conduct purges”].

1133

D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940350-51, KH 00052411, FR 00334980 [“Comrade Mut: I would like to speak about the concern shown with the activities of the traitors within the Party, that this has been a great victory for our Party. This lesson has strengthened, to a further degree, the standpoint of revolutionary vigilance. We have been indoctrinated with the Party's standpoint that a correct standpoint analyses these enemies as being American imperialists and revisionists with plans to attack our Revolution. As for the problem of the grasp on the unit of organization, cadre and combatants, it is not yet firm. No-good elements or enemies are still camouflaged and infiltrated in the rank and file. The most important factor is the grasp of the everyday ideology of the core organizations. It is imperative to make arrangements to take measures so as to seize the initiative in advance. On this I would like to be in total agreement and unity with the Party. Do whatever needs to be done in not allowing the situation to get out of hand and not to let them strengthen or expand themselves at all”]. See also D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933835, KH 00052305 [“Comrade Maut: [...] a number of the cadres and combatants guarding the depots used to be with the traitors as their bodyguards for long. One platoon of depot units of organization has been purged, but they are not yet all gone or reliable”] Son Sen responded to Meas Muth at EN 00933844, KH 00052311 [“4. As for depots, it is imperative to be vigilant against those mixed up with traitorous elements, and they must be removed. Purge the insiders make them clean”]; Even though Meas Muth did not attend the 2 August 1976 meeting, it is relevant to note what Son Sen mentioned as

- regards to the policy towards enemies as his views were disseminated to and agreed upon by Division and regiment commanders, and the minutes were undoubtedly communicated to Meas Muth: D1.3.27.10 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 2 Aug 1976, EN 00656578, KH 00052360 [“1. Must grasp firmly the country defence task which is our core task [...] 2. In carrying out the duty of defending the country, it is imperative to think in terms of fending off enemies both external and internal, but it is especially important to pay attention to purging no-good elements completely from the Party, the Core Organizations and our male and female combatants within the Revolutionary Army”].
- 1134 D1.3.27.20 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 9 Oct 1976, EN 00940355, KH 00052414, FR 00334983.
- 1135 D1.3.27.26 DK Military Meeting Minutes, 1 Mar 1977, EN 00933844, KH 00052310, FR 00323929 [“III. A Number of Miscellaneous Matters 1. In purging the army it is imperative to remove absolutely enemy elements. The liberals are to be rounded up and sent to do production as a single unit of organization. Those who owe things [to the enemy] must be re-educated and concentrated in one place” (emphasis added)].
